NEW HAMPSHIRE CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION ANNOUNCES LAW ENFORCEMENT AWARDS

Members of NH Law Enforcement Community Honored for Outstanding Performance at Concord Ceremony

WASHINGTON, DC – Senators John Sununu and Judd Gregg (R-NH) and Representatives Charles Bass and Jeb Bradley (R-NH) presented the Seventh Annual Congressional Law Enforcement Awards for outstanding service to New Hampshire officers at a ceremony on Sunday (10/17) evening at the Police Standards and Training facility in Concord.

“Although we work in Congress to pass legislation to protect individuals and families in their homes and communities, it is the law enforcement officers working on the front lines every day who take the necessary risks to ensure public safety,” said Sununu, Gregg, Bass, and Bradley, who are the Honorary Chairmen of the New Hampshire Congressional Law Enforcement Awards. “Each day, these brave men and women make extreme personal sacrifices and put themselves in harm’s way in order to administer the laws of our society. In so doing, they have earned – and deserve – our respect and gratitude. We believe that the Congressional Law Enforcement Awards are a fitting tribute to these dedicated men and women and a reminder to all of us of the important role they play in our lives.”

Rich Lougee, New Hampshire Project Director for Senator Judd Gregg, represented Senator Gregg at the ceremony.

Federal, state, county and local law enforcement agencies, government agencies, and citizens nominated law enforcement officers to be recognized for outstanding performance in the line of duty. An independent committee of local, county, and state enforcement officers served as judges for all nominees.

The delegation honored the following law enforcement officers with certificates of recognition:
