

November 6, 2003

The Conservative Viewpoint

Presented by Rep. Mike Pence (R-IN)

Banning partial-birth abortion should not be the last victory for the unborn.

- Banning partial-birth abortion is a tremendous victory for the unborn, protecting them from one of the most barbaric procedures that has ever been allowed in America.
- But more victories must be won to advance a culture in which life in America is defended at every stage of development.
- One such advancement would come by enacting the Unborn Victims of Violence Act, which would make a perpetrator of a violent attack on a pregnant mother guilty under the federal criminal code for two separate offenses—one against the mother and one against the unborn baby.
- Another such advancement would come by enacting the RU-486 Suspension and Review Act, which would immediately suspend the FDA's approval of the abortion drug RU-486 and indefinitely suspend the approval of RU-486 if it is determined that the FDA violated its own approval protocols for this awful drug.
- Clearly, the fight to protect the unborn must continue unabated.

---

For more information on the Partial-Birth Abortion Ban Act, contact the office of Rep. Steve Chabot (R-OH) at 202-225-2216. For more information on the Unborn Victims of Violence Act, contact the office of Rep. Melissa Hart (R-PA) at 202-225-2565. For more information on the RU-486 Suspension and Review Act, contact either the office of Rep. Jim DeMint (R-SC) at 202-225-6030 or the office of Rep. Roscoe Bartlett (R-MD) at 202-225-2721.