

How can you learn about federal grants that might be available for your project?

Grants.gov is the main source to FIND and APPLY for federal grants. All federal agencies list grant opportunities and information on this site. Use the box below to view the most recent opportunities or visit Grants.gov to see all opportunities currently available.

{loadposition feedgrant}

What if you want to learn more about these grant programs?

The Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance provides detailed descriptions of grant and non-financial assistance programs of the federal government.

What is the best way to search for private grant opportunities?

The Foundation Center provides information about private funding sources, the grantseeking process, guidelines on writing a grant proposal, and contact information for State libraries with grants reference collections.

Are there foundations that focus on Vermont, specifically?

The Vermont Directory of Foundations contains information on grantmakers that are located in Vermont, in addition to those that are not located in the state but have a geographic focus that includes Vermont.

What grant programs offered by the State of Vermont might you qualify for?

Check Vermont.gov for a listing of state agencies and their grant opportunities.

Can the U.S. Department of Agriculture-Rural Development help you?

USDA-Rural Development provides millions of dollars annually for projects across Vermont. It funds a wide range of economic development projects, including broadband, business development, local water projects, and more. Check in with your local USDA-RD office to see if you qualify:

Brattleboro Area	(802) 257-7878
Montpelier Area	(802) 828-6031
St. Johnsbury	(802) 748-8746

Additional Resources:

Congressman Welch's Energy Resources Guide
Economic Recovery Resource Guide