U.S. SENATOR FROM HAWAII

SENATOR INOUE HAILS “AMERICAN RECOVERY AND REINVESTMENT ACT OF 2009” CONFERENCE REPORT AS GOOD FOR AMERICA AND HAWAII

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 2009
(Updated 7/16/10)

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Washington, DC--Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman Daniel K. Inouye (D-Hawaii) today hailed the imminent passage by the U.S. Senate of the “American Recovery and Reinvestment Act” Conference Report as a crucial step on America and Hawaii’s road to economic recovery.

The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 combines tax relief and government spending for total investments of $787 billion for America’s working families, funding that will not only jump-start our economy and create jobs in the near-term, but also help to build the foundation for America’s economic growth for many years to come.

“As Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, working with the House and the Obama Administration, I tried my best to craft a compromise legislative package that will put people back to work, invest in critical infrastructure such as roads and schools, prevent cuts to basic services, reduce the tax burden on working families, and then to position our nation for the future in the areas of renewable energy and broadband connectivity that will help enable our economy to thrive once again,” stated Senator Inouye. “We will move for a final vote in the Senate today and it will be on President Obama’s desk for signature in the very near future.”

Inouye further stated, “Throughout this whirlwind of discussion and debate, compromise and concession on the stimulus plan in our nation’s capitol, I always had one eye firmly on my beloved Hawaii to be sure that we not only got at least our fair share, but have a strategic plan of action to compete for additional federal funds that we desperately need to put Hawaii back on more solid economic footing.”

What does this mean for Hawaii?

In the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009, there are four major areas of funding for Hawaii. They include: 1) formula based funds; 2) tax credits and benefits; 3) federal agency funding and competitive grant opportunities in areas such as highways, transit, ports, renewable energy and broadband infrastructure; and 4) authority for Hawaii agriculture disaster assistance and a Filipino World War II veterans equity compensation fund.

- 4) Formula-based funding is estimated at $773.6 million and this includes highway and transit, education and social services, housing and environment. An additional $1.16 billion is coming to Hawaii through specific federal agency projects or via competitive means. The total to date is $1.93 billion.

2) Tax benefits and credits to include: $400 for individuals and $800 for married couples under the Making Work Pay Tax Credit; $40 million per quarter for a total of $360 million over 27 months for additional Medicaid reimbursement to the State to help bear some of the health care cost; and approximately $30 million for extended unemployment benefits.

3) Federal agency funding and competitive grant opportunities in such areas as federal facility construction and upgrades, renewable energy investments, flood prevention and watershed projects, highways, transit, airport and harbor infrastructure, energy and broadband infrastructure.

4) The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to exercise his discretion to provide much needed crop disaster assistance to certain agricultural sectors, such as Hawaii sugar growers, which are not able to get crop insurance due to our unique growing cycles. Farmers hurt by prolonged vog will also be eligible for disaster assistance.

Authority is also included to direct previously appropriated funds in the amount of $198 million for one-time payments to eligible Filipino World War II veterans as a small token of our appreciation for their service to our nation. (See separate release.)

Set forth below is a listing of the funding for Hawaii:

Tax Cuts and Credits for Hawaii

In addition to the formula funds listed above, Hawaii will also qualify for a number of additional benefits in terms of tax credits and cuts for working families:

Unemployment Benefits in Hawaii. According to the U.S Department of Labor, Hawaii could receive approximately $30.7 million in new funding if Hawaii fully enacts the Unemployment Insurance modernization incentives that the legislation would provide. There are approximately 36,400 unemployed workers to be covered by extended unemployment insurance benefits.

Federal Medical Assistance Percentage (FMAP). The FMAP is the rate at which states are reimbursed for most Medicaid service expenditures. Under the temporary FMAP increase, Hawaii could receive about $40 million per quarter for a total of about $360 million over 9 quarters or 27 months.

Tax Relief for Hawaii Families and Businesses. The following are examples of tax provisions in the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 that will help Hawaii businesses and families, create jobs and get Hawaii's economy moving:

- Up to $400 for individuals and $800 for married couples for the Making Work Pay Tax Credit, with an estimated 490,000 eligible workers in Hawaii for an estimated $333 million in tax reductions. This will mean a take-home pay increase of about $65 a month for working families. (See Press Release dated April 1, 2009)
- $250 to Social Security beneficiaries, SSI recipients, and disabled veterans.
- $2,500 for 11,000 additional families in Hawaii that will qualify for the American Opportunity Tax Credit making college more affordable.
- An additional 14,000 Pell Grants will be awarded in Hawaii.
- An additional 86,000 residents would be protected from the Alternative Minimum Tax in 2009.
- Extended Homebuyer Tax Credit to both help aspiring homeowners and stabilize plummeting home prices.
- Extended Bonus Depreciation and Small Business Expensing through 2009, allowing businesses that make capital investments to immediately deduct one-half the cost. Small businesses can immediately deduct 100 percent of the cost of these investments.
- $48 million in guaranteed home loans from the U.S. Department of Agriculture for qualified families in rural areas. (See Press Release dated April 1, 2009)
- $9.8 million from the Tax Credit Assistance Program for Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Funding for Hawaii.
 - Ainakea Senior Residence, 30 units, Hawaii ($3.3 million)
 - Hale Wai Vista, 84 units, Honolulu ($1.8 million)
 - Kukui Gardens, 389 units, Honolulu ($4.8 million)

Authorities

Agriculture Disaster Assistance. Hawaii sugarcane growers have been unable to secure federal crop insurance because currently available sugarcane policies apply only to those sugarcane crops that are planted and harvested within a 12-month period. Hawaii has a crop cycle that is nearly 24 months (a crop model that enables economic viability due to higher yields over a longer production period when compared to 12-month sugarcane crops and economies associated with a single planting for a two-year period.) The provision included in the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 would give the Secretary of Agriculture the discretion to provide much needed crop insurance that is extended to producers of the same crop in other parts of the country. Farming practices differ in all regions of the country. This provision would ensure fairness and equitable treatment to those regions of the country that are unable to obtain assistance from the federal government. Farmers hurt by the prolonged vog are also eligible for disaster assistance.

Filipino World War II Veterans. Under the 2009 Continuing Resolution, the Congress appropriated $198 million for a one-time payment to eligible persons who served in the Philippines during World War II. The release of the appropriated funds is subject to authorization. The language included under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009, would direct and ensure that payments made from previously appropriated funds will be received by eligible Filipino World War II veterans.
