14                   Theme Study Act”.

15                   SEC. 602. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.

16                   (a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

17                   (1) an important facet of the history of the 18                   United States is the story of how the United States
19                   was populated;

20                   (2) the migration, immigration, and settlement
21                   of the population of the United States—

22                   (A) is broadly termed the “peopling of 23                   America”; and

24                   (B) is characterized by—

1                   (i) the movement of groups of people
2                   across external and internal boundaries of 3                   the United States and territories of the 4                   United States; and

5                   (ii) the interactions of those groups
6                   with each other and with other populations;

7                   (3) each of those groups has made unique, im-
8                   portant contributions to American history, culture,
9                   art, and life;

10                  (4) the spiritual, intellectual, cultural, political,
11                  and economic vitality of the United States is a result
12                  of the pluralism and diversity of the American popu-13                  lation;

14                  (5) the success of the United States in embracing 15                  and accommodating diversity has strengthened the 16                  national fabric and unified the United States in its 17                  values, institutions, experiences, goals, and accom-
18                  plishments;

19                  (6)(A) the National Park Service’s official the-

22                  Study Act of 1990 (16 U.S.C. 1a–5 note; Public Law 23                  101–628), that “the Secretary shall ensure that the 24                  full diversity of American history and prehistory are 25                  represented” in the identification and interpretation

1       of historic properties by the National Park Service;
2       and

3               (B) the thematic framework recognizes that “peo-4       ple are the primary agents of change” and establishes 5       the theme of human population movement and 6       change—or “peopling places”—as a primary the-7       matic category for interpretation and preservation;
8       and

9               (7) although there are approximately 70,000 list-
10       ings on the National Register of Historic Places, sites 11       associated with the exploration and settlement of the 12       United States by a broad range of cultures are not 13       well represented.

14       (b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this title are—

15               (1) to foster a much-needed understanding of the 16       diversity and contribution of the breadth of groups
17       who have peopled the United States; and

18               (2) to strengthen the ability of the National Park

12 indigenous people who were followed by pioneers who 13 settled the Nation’s last frontier;

14 (2) the natural history and scenic splendor of the 15 region are equally outstanding; vistas of nature’s
16 power include evidence of earthquake subsidence, re-
17 cent avalanches, retreating glaciers, and tidal action
18 along Turnagain Arm, which has the world’s second

20 (3) the cultural landscape formed by indigenous 21 people and then by settlement, transportation, and

13 National Historic Trail, the Seward Highway Na-
14 tional Scenic Byway, and the Alaska Railroad Na-

19 routes in the region as part of the whole picture of 20 human history in the wider transportation corridor
21 including early Native trade routes, connections by 22 waterway, mining trail, and other routes;

23 (8) national heritage area designation also pro-
