AN ACT

To assist in the enhancement of the security of Taiwan, and for other purposes.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

1 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

2 This Act may be cited as the “Taiwan Security En-
3 hancement Act”.

4 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

5 The Congress finds the following:

6 (1) Since 1949, the close relationship between 7 the United States and Taiwan has been of enormous 8 benefit to both societies.

9 (2) In recent years, Taiwan has undergone a 10 major political transformation, and Taiwan is today
11 a true multiparty democracy with a political system
12 separate from and totally unlike that of the People’s 13 Republic of China.

14 (3) The economy of Taiwan is based upon free 15 market principles and is separate and distinct from 16 the People’s Republic of China.

17 (4) Although on January 1, 1979, the United 18 States Government withdrew diplomatic recognition
19 of the government on Taiwan as the legitimate gov-20 ernment of China, neither at that time nor since has 21 the United States Government adopted a formal po-22 sition as to the ultimate status of Taiwan other than 23 to state that status must be decided by peaceful 24 means. Any determination of the ultimate status of 25 Taiwan must have the express consent of the people
26 on Taiwan.

1 (5) The People’s Republic of China refuses to 2 renounce the use of force against democratic Tai-3 wan.

4 (6) The Taiwan Relations Act has been instru-
5 mental in maintaining peace, security, and stability
6 in the Taiwan Strait and the Western Pacific since 7 its enactment in 1979.

8 (7) The Taiwan Relations Act (Public Law 96– 9 8) states that—

10 (A) peace and stability in the Taiwan
11 Strait area are in the political, security, and 12 economic interests of the United States and are 13 of international concern;

14 (B) the decision of the United States to es-
15 tablish diplomatic relations with the People’s 16 Republic of China rests upon the expectation 17 that the future of Taiwan will be determined by 18 peaceful means;

19 (C) the United States would consider any 20 effort to determine the future of Taiwan by 21 other than peaceful means, including boycotts
22 or embargoes, a threat to the peace and secu-
23 rity of the Western Pacific region and of grave
24 concern to the United States;

1 (D) the United States will maintain the ca-
2 pacity to resist any form of coercion that jeop-3 ardizes the security, or the social or economic 4 system, of the people of Taiwan; and

5 (E) the preservation and enhancement of 6 the human rights of all people on Taiwan are 7 objectives of the United States.

8 (8) The Taiwan Relations Act establishes on 9 the part of the United States a continuing connec-
10 tion with and concern for Taiwan and its people.
11 Continued adherence to the Act will help Taiwan to 12 maintain its democracy free of coercion and to safe-13 guard its people from the use of force against them.
14 Furthermore, the maintenance by Taiwan of forces 15 adequate for its defense is in the interest of the 16 United States in that it helps to maintain peace in 17 the Western Pacific region.

18 (9) The military modernization and weapons
19 procurement efforts by the People's Republic of 20 China, as documented in the February 1, 1999, re-21 port by the Secretary of Defense on "The Security 22 Situation in the Taiwan Strait", could threaten 23 cross-Strait stability and United States interests in 24 the Asia-Pacific region.

1 (10) The Taiwan Relations Act provides explicit
2 guarantees that the United States will make avail-3 able defense articles and services necessary in such 4 quantity as may be necessary to enable Taiwan to 5 maintain a sufficient self-defense capability.

6 (11) The Taiwan Relations Act requires timely 7 reviews by United States military authorities of Tai-8 wan's defense needs in connection with recommenda-
9 tions to the President and the Congress.

10 (12) Congress and the President are committed 11 by the Taiwan Relations Act to determine the nature
12 and quantity of Taiwan's legitimate self-defense 13 needs.

14 (13) It is the policy of the United States to re-15 ject any attempt to curb the provision by the United 16 States of defense articles and services legitimately
17 needed for Taiwan's self-defense.

18 (14) In accordance with the Taiwan Relations
19 Act, the United States has, since 1979, sold defen-20 sive weapons to Taiwan, and such sales have helped 21 Taiwan maintain its autonomy and freedom. The 22 Congress supports the continued provision of addi-
23 tional defense articles and defense services in ac-
24 cordance with the Taiwan Relations Act.

1 (15) It is in the national interest of the United 2 States to eliminate ambiguity and convey with clar-3 ity continued United States support for Taiwan, its 4 people, and their ability to maintain their democracy 5 free from coercion and their society free from the 6 use of force against them. Lack of clarity could lead 7 to unnecessary misunderstandings or confrontations
8 between the United States and the People’s Republic 9 of China, with grave consequences for the security of 10 the Western Pacific region.

11 (16) A possible consequence of such ambiguity
12 and lack of clarity was the People’s Republic of Chi-13 na’s decision to conduct military exercises and live
14 fire missile tests in the Taiwan Strait in March 15 1996, necessitating House Concurrent Resolution
16 148, approved by the House of Representatives by a 17 vote of 369–14 on March 19, 1996, and by the Sen-18 ate by a vote of 97–0 on March 21, 1996, which 19 stated that “the United States, in accordance with 20 the Taiwan Relations Act and the constitutional 21 process of the United States, and consistent with its 22 friendship with and commitment to the democratic 23 government and people of Taiwan, should assist in 24 defending them against invasion, missile attack, or 25 blockade by the People’s Republic of China.”. Imme-

1 diately following Congressional passage of House
2 Concurrent Resolution 148, the United States de-3 ployed on an emergency basis two aircraft carrier 4 battle groups to the Taiwan Strait, after which the 5 People's Republic of China ceased further planned 6 military exercises.

7 (17) An earlier consequence of such ambiguity 8 and lack of clarity was the expressed surprise by the 9 People's Republic of China that Congress and the 10 American people fully supported President Lee
11 Teng-hui's private visit to his alma mater, Cornell
12 University, necessitating House Concurrent Resolu-
13 tion 53, approved by the House of Representatives 14 by a vote of 390–0 on May 2, 1995, and by the Sen-
15 ate by a vote of 97–1 on May 9, 1995, which stated 16 such support explicitly.

17 SEC. 3. TRAINING OF MILITARY OFFICERS AND SALE OF 18 DEFENSE ARTICLES AND SERVICES TO TAI-
19 WAN.

20 (a) TRAINING OF TAIWAN MILITARY OFFICERS.—
21 The Secretary of Defense and the Secretaries of the mili-
22 tary departments shall make every effort to reserve addi-
23 tional positions for Taiwan military officers at the Na-
24 tional Defense University and other professional military 25 education schools specified in section 2162(d) of title 10,

1 United States Code, and for prospective Taiwan military 2 officers at the United States Military Academy, the United 3 States Naval Academy, and the Air Force Academy.

4 (b) FOREIGN MILITARY SALES.—The Secretary of 5 State shall, when considering foreign military sales to 6 Taiwan—

7 (1) take into account the special status of Tai-8 wan, including the defense needs of Taiwan in re-9 sponse to the military modernization and weapons
10 procurement efforts by the People’s Republic of 11 China; and

12 (2) make every effort to ensure that Taiwan
13 has full and timely access to price and availability 14 data for defense articles and defense services.

15 SEC. 4. DETERMINATIONS OF DEFENSE NEEDS OF TAIWAN.

16 (a) INCREASE IN TECHNICAL STAFF OF THE AMER-17 ICAN INSTITUTE IN TAIWAN.—Upon the request of the

1 mit a report to Congress, in classified and unclassified
2 form—

3 (1) detailing each of Taiwan’s requests for pur-4 chase of defense articles and defense services during 5 the one-year period ending on the date of the report;

6 (2) describing the defense needs asserted by 7 Taiwan as justification for those requests; and 8 (3) describing the decision-making process used 9 to reject, postpone, or modify any such request.

10 SEC. 5. STRENGTHENING THE DEFENSE OF TAIWAN.

11 (a) MAINTENANCE OF SUFFICIENT SELF-DEFENSE
12 CAPABILITIES OF TAIWAN.—Congress finds that any de-13 termination of the nature or quantity of defense articles 14 or defense services to be made available to Taiwan that 15 is made on any basis other than section 3(b) of the Taiwan
16 Relations Act (22 U.S.C. 3302(b)), whether such alter-
17 native basis is the August 17, 1982, communique signed
18 with the People’s Republic of China, or any similar execu-
19 tive agreement, order, or policy, would violate the intent
20 of Congress in the enactment of such Act.

21 (b) COMBINED TRAINING AND PERSONNEL EX-22 CHANGE PROGRAMS.—Not later than 210 days after the 23 date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense

25 and arrangements for operational training and exchanges

1 of senior officers between the Armed Forces of the United 2 States and the armed forces of Taiwan for work in threat
3 analysis, doctrine, force planning, operational methods,
4 and other areas. At least 30 days prior to such implemen-
5 tation, the Secretary of Defense shall submit the plan to 6 Congress, in classified and unclassified form.

7 (c) REPORT REGARDING MAINTENANCE OF SUFFI-
8 CIENT SELF-DEFENSE CAPABILITIES.—Not later than 45
9 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, and annu-10 ally thereafter, the Secretary of Defense shall submit to 11 the Congress, in classified and unclassified form, an an-12 nual report on the security situation in the Taiwan Strait.
13 Such report shall include an analysis of the military forces 14 facing Taiwan from the People’s Republic of China, evalu-15 ating recent additions to the offensive military capability 16 of the People’s Republic of China. The report shall in-17 clude, but not be limited to, an analysis of the surface
18 and subsurface naval threats, the ballistic missile threat, 19 the air threat, and the threat to the military and civilian 20 communications links in Taiwan. The report shall include
21 a review of the steps taken by the armed forces of Taiwan 22 to address its security situation.

23 (d) COMMUNICATIONS BETWEEN UNITED STATES
24 AND TAIWAN MILITARY COMMANDS.—Not later than 180
25 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Sec-

1 retary of Defense shall certify to the Committee on Inter-
2 national Relations and the Committee on Armed Services
3 of the House of Representatives and the Committee on 4 Foreign Relations and the Committee on Armed Services
5 of the Senate that direct secure communications exist be-6 tween the armed forces of the United States and the 7 armed forces of Taiwan.

8 (e) RELATION TO ARMS EXPORT CONTROL ACT.—
9 Nothing in this section supersedes or modifies the applica-10 tion of section 36 of the Arms Export Control Act to the 11 sale of any defense article or defense service under this 12 section.

13 SEC. 6. REPORT REGARDING THE ABILITY OF THE UNITED

20 mittee on International Relations and the Committee on 21 Armed Services of the House of Representatives and the 22 Committee on Foreign Relations and the Committee on 23 Armed Services of the Senate a report in classified and 24 unclassified form on the ability of the United States to 25 successfully respond to a major contingency in the Asia-

1 Pacific region where United States interests on Taiwan
2 are at risk.

3 (b) CONTENTS.—The report described in subsection
4 (a) shall include—

5 (1) a description of planning on the national,

15 use the resources and expertise of the relevant unified 16 commands, military departments, the combat support
17 agencies, and the defense components of the intelligence 18 community, as required, and other such entities within the 19 Department of Defense as the Secretary considers nec-20 essary.

2000.
