Project Information

Name of Project: Construct Library/Education Center

Project Description: It is expected that this project will be programmed in the Future Years Defense Program (FYDP) for Air Force Military Construction. The library and education center is required to provide sufficient space for all base library and support functions in addition to base education teaching and testing classrooms and associated administrative offices. The current library and education facility was originally designed and built as a dormitory in 1948 and has undergone limited renovations. It is unsuitable to meet current and projected requirements. PACAF evaluations indicate that the classroom space is inadequate to meet training requirements in a classroom setting and has limited capacity for Internet connections. Additional ISR/Strike missions at Andersen AFB have increased the requirement for graduate courses and a vocational/technical training program for military personnel to sustain personnel requirements on longer tours and missions.
