Project Information

Name of Project: Readiness Center-Assembly Hall and Family Support Center

Project Description: The project is not currently programmed in the Future Years Defense Program (FYDP) for Army, National Guard Military Construction but has been identified by the Headquarters, Guam National Guard and the National Guard Bureau as a validated yet unfunded requirement. The project is designed to support the readiness needs of Guam National Guardsmen and their family members during deployments. The assembly area will provide a venue for the effective processing of Guardsmen for deployment and training. The assembly area and family readiness office will be combined to maximize use of the limited land area. The new facility will help the Guam National Guard meet the anticipated requirements associated with pre- and post-mobilization training at home station. The facility will also be available to service the needs of family members when the Guardsmen are on extended tours. The facility will help meet the increased demands placed on family readiness personnel.
