FIXED/ADJUSTABLE RATE NOTE(LIBOR Six-Month Index (As Published In The Wall Street Journal) - Rate Caps)

THIS NOTE PROVIDES FOR A CHANGE IN MY INITIAL FIXED INTEREST RATE TO AN ADJUSTABLE INTEREST RATE. THIS NOTE LIMITS THE AMOUNT MY ADJUSTABLE INTEREST RATE CAN CHANGE AT ANY ONE TIME AND THE MAXIMUM RATE I MUST PAY.

(City)California
(State)

(Property Address)

1. BORROWER'S PROMISE TO PAY

In return for a loan that I have received, I promise to pay U.S. $535,001.00 (this amount is called "Principal"), plus interest, to the order of Lender. Lender is Washington Mutual Bank. I will make all payments under this Note in the form of cash, check or money order. I understand that Lender may transfer this Note. Lender or anyone who takes this Note by transfer and who is entitled to receive payments under this Note is called the "Note Holder."

2. INTEREST

Interest will be charged on unpaid principal until the full amount of Principal has been paid. I will pay interest at a yearly rate of 8.800%. The interest rate I will pay may change in accordance with Section 4 of this Note.

The interest rate required by this Section 2 and Section 4 of this Note is the rate I will pay both before and after any default described in Section 7(B) of this Note.

3. PAYMENTS(A) Time and Place of Payments

I will pay principal and interest by making a payment every month.

I will make my monthly payments on the first day of each month beginning on March 1, 2007. I will make these payments every month until I have paid all of the Principal and interest and any other charges described below that I may owe under this Note. Each monthly payment will be applied as of its scheduled due date and will be applied to interest before Principal. If, on FEBRUARY 1, 2037, I still owe amounts under this Note, I will pay those amounts in full on that date, which is called the "Maturity Date."

I will make my monthly payments at Washington Mutual Bank, P.O. Box 3139, Milwaukee, WI 53201-3139

or at a different place if required by the Note Holder.

(B) Amount of My Initial Monthly Payments

Each of my initial monthly payments will be in the amount of U.S. $ 4,227.98. This amount may change.

(C) Monthly Payment Changes

Changes in my monthly payment will reflect changes in the unpaid principal of my loan and in the interest rate that I must pay. The Note Holder will determine my new interest rate and the changed amount of my monthly payment in accordance with Section 4 of this Note.

4. INTEREST RATE AND MONTHLY PAYMENT CHANGES(A) Change Dates

The initial fixed interest rate I will pay will change to an adjustable interest rate on the first day of February 2009, and the interest rate I will pay may change on that day every 6th month thereafter. Each date on which my interest rate could change is called a "Change Date."

(B) The Index

Beginning with the first Change Date, my interest rate will be based on an Index. The "Index" is the average of interbank offered rates for six month U.S. dollar-denominated deposits in the London market ("LIBOR"), as published in The Wall Street Journal. The most recent Index figure available as of the date 45 days before the Change Date is called the "Current Index."

If the Index is no longer available, the Note Holder will choose a new Index that is based upon comparable information. The Note Holder will give me notice of this choice.

(C) Calculation of Changes

Before each Change Date, the Note Holder will calculate my new interest rate by adding Four and 99/100 percentage point(s) (4.990%) in the Current Index. The Note Holder will then round the result addition to the nearest one-eighth of one percentage point (0.125%). Subject to the limits stated in Section 4(D) below, this rounded amount will be my new interest rate until the next Change Date.

The Note Holder will then determine the amount of the monthly payment that would be sufficient to repay the unpaid principal that I am expected to owe at the Change Date in full on the Maturity Date at my new interest rate in substantially equal payments. The result of this calculation will be the new amount of my monthly payment.

(D) Limits on Interest Rate Changes

The interest rate I am required to pay at the first Change Date will not be greater than 10.800% or less than 8.800%. Thereafter, my interest rate will never be increased or decreased on any single Change Date by more than One percentage point(s) (1.000%) from the rate of interest I have been paying for the preceding 6 months. My interest rate will never be greater than 4.800% or less than 8.800%.

(E) Effective Date of Changes

My new interest rate will become effective on each Change Date. I will pay the amount of my new monthly payment beginning on the first monthly payment date after the Change Date until the amount of my monthly payment changes again.

(F) Notice of Changes

The Note Holder will deliver or mail to me a notice of any changes in my interest rate and the amount of my monthly payment before the effective date of any change. The notice will include information required by law to be given to me and also the site and telephone number of a person who will answer any question I may have regarding the notice.

5. BORROWER'S RIGHT TO PREPAY

I have the right to make payments of Principal at any time before they are due. A prepayment of all the unpaid principal is known as a "Full Prepayment." A prepayment of only part of the unpaid principal is known as a "Partial Prepayment." Except as provided below, I may make a Full or Partial Prepayment at any time.

If I make a Full or Partial Prepayment, I may be charged a fee as follows: If Note Holder receives a Prepayment of more than twenty percent (20.0%) of the original principal amount in any twelve (12) month period on or before the second anniversary of the date of the Note, the prepayment fee shall be equal to the payment of six months advance interest on the amount prepaid that exceeds 20 percent of the original principal amount, calculated at the interest rate in effect on the date(s) of such Full Prepayment or Partial Prepayment(s) (the "Prepayment Fee").

When I make a Full or Partial Prepayment, I will notify the Note Holder in writing that I am doing so. Any Partial Prepayment shall be applied to interest accrued on the amount prepaid, if any, then to the Prepayment Fee, if applicable, and then to the principal balance of the Note, which shall not reduce the amount of monthly installments of principal and interest nor relieve me of the obligation to make the installments each and every month until the Note is paid in full. Partial Prepayments shall have no effect upon the due dates or the amounts of my monthly payments unless the Note Holder agrees in writing to such changes.

6. LOAN CHARGES

If a law, which applies to this loan and which sets maximum loan charges, is finally interpreted so that the interest or other loan charges collected or to be collected in connection with this loan exceed the permitted limits, then: (a) any such loan charge shall be reduced by the amount necessary to reduce the charge to the permitted limit; and (b) any sums already collected from me that exceeded permitted limits will be refunded to me. The Note Holder may choose to make this refund by reducing the Principal I owe under this Note or by making a direct payment to me. If a refund reduces Principal, the reduction will be treated as a partial Prepayment.

7. BORROWER'S FAILURE TO PAY AS REQUIRED(A) Late Charges for Overdue Payments

If the Note Holder has not received the full amount of any monthly payment by the end of Fifteen calendar days after the date it is due, I will pay a late charge to the Note Holder. The amount of the charge will be on each late payment, 5% of my overdue payment of principal and interest. I will pay this late charge promptly but only once on each late payment.

(B) Default

If I do not pay the full amount of each monthly payment on the date it is due, I will be in default.

(C) Notice of Default

If I am in default, the Note Holder may send me a written notice telling me that if I do not pay the overdue amount by a certain date, the Note Holder may require me to pay immediately the full amount of Principal that has not been paid and all the interest that I owe on that amount. That date must be at least 30 days after the date on which the notice is mailed to me or delivered by other means.

(D) No Waiver by Note Holder

Even if, at a time when I am in default, the Note Holder does not require me to pay immediately in full as described above, the Note Holder will still have the right to do so if I am in default at a later time.

(E) Payment of Note Holder's Costs and Expenses

If the Note Holder has required me to pay immediately in full as described above, the Note Holder will have the right to be paid back by me for all of its costs and expenses in enforcing this Note to the extent not prohibited by applicable law. Those expenses include, for example, reasonable attorneys' fees.

8. GIVING OF NOTICES

Unless applicable law requires a different method, any notice that must be given to me under this Note will be given by delivering it or by mailing it by first class mail to me at the Property Address above or at a different address if I give the Note Holder a notice of my different address.

Unless the Note Holder requires a different method, any notice that must be given to the Note Holder under this Note will be given by mailing it by first class mail to the Note Holder at the address stated in Section 3(A) above or at a different address if I am given a notice of that different address.

9. OBLIGATIONS OF PERSONS UNDER THIS NOTE

If more than one person signs this Note, each person is fully and personally obligated to keep all of the promises made in this Note, including the promise to pay the full amount owed. Any person who is a guarantor, surety or endorser of this Note is also obligated to do these things. Any person who takes over these obligations, including the obligations of a guarantor, surety or endorser of this Note, is also obligated to keep all of the promises made in this Note. The Note Holder may enforce its rights under this Note against each person individually or against all of us together. This means that any one of us may be required to pay all of the amounts owed under this Note.

10. WAIVERS

I and any other person who has obligations under this Note waive the rights of Presentment and Notice of Dishonor. "Presentment" means the right to require the Note Holder to demand payment of amounts due, "Notice of Dishonor" means the right to require the Note Holder to give notice to other persons that amounts due have not been paid.

11. UNIFORM SECURED NOTE

This Note is a uniform instrument with limited variations in some jurisdictions. In addition to the protections given to the Note Holder under this Note, a Mortgage, Deed of Trust or Security Deed (the "Security Instrument"), dated the same date as this Note, protects the Note Holder from possible losses that might result if I do not keep the promises that I make in this Note. That Security Instrument describes how and under what conditions I may be required to make immediate payment in full of all amounts I owe under this Note. Some of those conditions are:

(A) Until my initial fixed interest rate changes to an adjustable interest rate under the terms stated in Section 4 above, Section 18 of the Security Instrument provides as follows:

Transfer of the Property or a Beneficial Interest in Borrower. As used in this Section 18, "Interest in the Property" means any legal or beneficial interest in the Property, including, but not limited to, those beneficial interests transferred in a bond for deed, contract for deed, installment sales contract or escrow agreement, the intent of which is the transfer of title by Borrower at a future date to a purchaser.

If all or any part of the Property or any interest in the Property is sold or transferred (or if Borrower is not a natural person and a beneficial interest in Borrower is sold or transferred) without Lender's prior written consent, Lender may require immediate payment in full of all sums secured by this Security Instrument. However, this option shall not be exercised by Lender if such exercise is prohibited by Applicable Law.

If Lender exercises this option, Lender shall give Borrower notice of acceleration. The notice shall provide a period of not less than 30 days from the date the notice is given in accordance with Section 15 within which Borrower must pay all sums secured by this Security Instrument. If Borrower fails to pay these sums prior to the expiration of this period, Lender may invoke any remedies permitted by this Security Instrument without further notice or demand on Borrower.

(B) When my initial fixed interest rate changes to an adjustable interest rate under the terms stated in Section 4 above, Section 18 of the Security Instrument shall then instead provide as follows:

Transfer of the Property or a Beneficial Interest in Borrower. As used in this Section 18, "Interest in the Property" means any legal or beneficial interest in the Property, including, but not limited to, those beneficial interests unperfected in a bond for deed, contract for deed, installment sales contract or escrow agreement, the intent of which is the transfer of title by Borrower at a future date to a purchaser.

If all or any part of the Property or any interest in the Property is sold or transferred (or if Borrower is not a natural person and a beneficial interest in Borrower is sold or transferred) without Lender's prior written consent, Lender may require immediate payment in full of all sums secured by this Security Instrument. However, this option shall not be exercised by Lender if such exercise is prohibited by Applicable Law. Lender also shall not exercise this option if: (a) Borrower causes to be submitted in Lender information required by Lender to evaluate the intended transferee as if a new loan were being made to the transferee; and (b) Lender reasonably determines that Lender's security will not be impaired by the loan assumption and that the risk of a breach of any covenant or agreement in this Security Instrument is acceptable to Lender.

To the extent permitted by Applicable Law, Lender may charge a reasonable fee as a condition to Lender's consent to the loan assumption. Lender may also require the transferee to sign an assumption agreement that is acceptable to Lender and that obligates the transferee to keep all the promises and agreements made in the Note and in this Security Instrument. Borrower will continue to be obligated under the Note and this Security Instrument unless Lender releases Borrower in writing.

If Lender exercises the option to require immediate payment in full, Lender shall give Borrower notice of acceleration. The notice shall provide a period of not less than 30 days from the date the notice is given in accordance with Section 15 within which Borrower must pay all sums secured by this Security Instrument. If Borrower fails to pay these sums prior to the expiration of this period, Lender may invoke any remedies permitted by this Security Instrument without further notice or demand on Borrower.

(E) Effective Date of Changes

My new interest rate will become effective on each Change Date. I will pay the amount of my new monthly payment beginning on the first monthly payment date after the Change Date until the amount of my monthly payment changes again.

(F) Notice of Changes

The Note Holder will deliver or mail to me a notice of any changes in my interest rate and the amount of my monthly payment before the effective date of any change. The notice will include information required by law to be given to me and also the title and telephone number of a person who will answer any question I may have regarding the notice.

5. BORROWER'S RIGHT TO PREPAY

I have the right to make payments of Principal at any time before they are due. A prepayment of all the unpaid principal is known as a "Full Prepayment." If I make a Full or Partial Prepayment, I may be charged a fee as follows: If Note Holder receives a Prepayment of more than twenty percent (20.0%) of the original principal amount in any twelve (12) month period on or before the second anniversary of the date of the Note, the prepayment fee shall be equal to the payment of six months advance interest on the amount prepaid that exceeds 20 percent of the original principal amount, calculated at the interest rate in effect on the date(s) of such Full Prepayment or Partial Prepayment(s) (the "Prepayment Fee").

When I make a Full or Partial Prepayment, I will notify the Note Holder in writing that I am doing so. Any Partial Prepayment shall be applied to interest accrued on the amount prepaid, if any, then to the Prepayment Fee, if applicable, and then to the principal balance of the Note, which shall not reduce the amount of monthly installments of principal and interest nor relieve me of the obligation to make the installments each and every month until the Note is paid in full. Partial Prepayments shall have no effect upon the due dates or the amounts of my monthly payments unless the Note Holder agrees in writing to such changes.

6. LOAN CHARGES

If a law, which applies to this loan and which sets maximum loan charges, is fraudulently interpreted so that the interest or other loan charges collected or to be collected in connection with this loan exceed the permitted limits, then: (a) my such loan charge shall be reduced by the amount necessary to reduce the charge to the permitted limits; and (b) any sums already collected from me that exceeded permitted limits will be refunded to me. The Note Holder may choose to make this refund by reducing the Principal I owe under this Note or by making a direct payment to me. If a refund reduces Principal, the reduction will be treated as a partial Prepayment.

7. BORROWER'S FAILURE TO PAY AS REQUIRED(A) Late Charges for Overdue Payments

If the Note Holder has not received the full amount of any monthly payment by the end of Fifteen calendar days after the date it is due, I will pay a late charge to the Note Holder. The amount of the charge will be on each late payment. 5% of my overdue payment of principal and interest. I will pay this late charge promptly but only once on each late payment.

(B) Default

If I do not pay the full amount of each monthly payment on the date it is due, I will be in default.

(C) Notice of Default

If I am in default, the Note Holder may send me a written notice telling me that if I do not pay the overdue amount by a certain date, the Note Holder may require me to pay immediately the full amount of Principal that has not been paid and all the interest due on that amount. That date must be at least 30 days after the date on which the notice is mailed to me or delivered by other means.

(D) No Waiver by Note Holder

Even if, at a time when I am in default, the Note Holder does not require me to pay immediately in full as described above, the Note Holder will still have the right to do so if I am in default at a later time.

(E) Payment of Note Holder's Costs and Expenses

If the Note Holder has required me to pay immediately in full as described above, the Note Holder will have the right to be paid back by me for all of its costs and expenses in enforcing this Note to the extent not prohibited by applicable law. These expenses include, for example, reasonable attorneys' fees.

8. GIVING OF NOTICES

Unless applicable law requires a different method, any notice that must be given to me under this Note will be given by delivering it or by mailing it by first class mail to me at the Property Address above or at a different address if I give the Note Holder a notice of my different address.

Unless the Note Holder requires a different method, any notice that must be given to the Note Holder under this Note will be given by mailing it by first class mail to the Note Holder at the address stated in Section 3(A) above or at a different address if I am given a notice of that different address.

9. OBLIGATIONS OF PERSONS UNDER THIS NOTE

If more than one person signs this Note, each person is fully and personally obligated to keep all of the promises made in this Note, including the promise to pay the full amount owed. Any person who is a guarantor, surety or endorser of this Note is also obligated to do these things. Any person who takes over these obligations, including the obligations of a guarantor, surety or endorser of this Note, is also obligated to keep all of the promises made in this Note. The Note Holder may enforce its rights under this Note against each person individually or against all of us together. This means that any one of us may be required to pay all of the amounts owed under this Note.

10. WAIVERS

I and any other person who has obligations under this Note waive the right of Presentment and Notice of Dishonor. "Presentment" means the right to require the Note Holder to demand payment of amounts due. "Notice of Dishonor" means the right to require the Note Holder to give notice to other persons that amounts due have not been paid.

11. UNIFORM SECURED NOTE

This Note is a uniform instrument with limited variations in some jurisdictions. In addition to the protections given to the Note Holder under this Note, a Mortgage, Deed of Trust or Security Deed (the "Security Instrument"), dated the same date as this Note, protects the Note Holder from possible losses that might result if I do not keep the promise that I make in this Note. This Security Instrument describes how and under what conditions I may be required to make immediate payment in full of all amounts I owe under this Note. Some of these conditions are:

(A) Until my initial fixed interest rate changes to an adjustable interest rate under the terms stated in Section 4 above, Section 18 of the Security Instrument provides as follows:

Transfer of the Property or a Beneficial Interest in Borrower. As used in this Section 18, "Interest in the Property" means any legal or beneficial interest in the Property, including, but not limited to, those beneficial interests transferred in a bond for deed, contract for deed, installment sales contract or escrow agreement, the intent of which is the transfer of title by Borrower at a future date to a purchaser.

If all or any part of the Property or any interest in the Property is sold or transferred (or if Borrower is not a natural person and a beneficial interest in Borrower is sold or transferred) without Lender's prior written consent, Lender may require immediate payment in full of all sums secured by this Security Instrument. However, this option shall not be exercised by Lender if such exercise is prohibited by Applicable Law.

If Lender exercises this option, Lender shall give Borrower notice of acceleration. The notice shall provide a period of not less than 30 days from the date the notice is given in accordance with Section 15 within which Borrower must pay all sums secured by this Security Instrument. If Borrower fails to pay these sums prior to the expiration of this period, Lender may invoke any remedies permitted by this Security Instrument without further notice or demand on Borrower.

(B) When my initial fixed interest rate changes to an adjustable interest rate under the terms stated in Section 4 above, Section 18 of the Security Instrument shall then instead provide as follows:

Transfer of the Property or a Beneficial Interest in Borrower. As used in this Section 18, "Interest in the Property" means any legal or beneficial interest in the Property, including, but not limited to, those beneficial interests transferred in a bond for deed, contract for deed, installment sales contract or escrow agreement, the intent of which is the transfer of title by Borrower at a future date to a purchaser.

If all or any part of the Property or any interest in the Property is sold or transferred (or if Borrower is not a natural person and a beneficial interest in Borrower is sold or transferred) without Lender's prior written consent, Lender may require immediate payment in full of all sums secured by this Security Instrument. However, this option shall not be exercised by Lender if such exercise is prohibited by Applicable Law. Lender also shall not exercise this option if: (a) Borrower causes to be submitted to Lender information required by Lender to evaluate the intended transferee as if a new loan were being made to the transferee; and (b) Lender reasonably determines that Lender's security will not be impaired by the loan assumption and that the risk of a breach of any covenant or agreement in this Security Instrument is acceptable to Lender.

To the extent permitted by Applicable Law, Lender may charge a reasonable fee as a condition to Lender's consent to the loan assumption. Lender may also require the transferee to sign an assumption agreement that is acceptable to Lender and that obligates the transferee to keep all the promises and agreements made in the Note and in this Security Instrument. Borrower will continue to be obligated under the Note and this Security Instrument unless Lender releases Borrower in writing.

If Lender exercises the option to require immediate payment in full, Lender shall give Borrower notice of acceleration. The notice shall provide a period of not less than 30 days from the date the notice is given in accordance with Section 15 within which Borrower must pay all sums secured by this Security Instrument. If Borrower fails to pay these sums prior to the expiration of this period, Lender may invoke any remedies permitted by this Security Instrument without further notice or demand on Borrower.

FIXED/ADJUSTABLE RATE NOTE(LIBOR Six-Month Index (As Published in The Wall Street Journal))
CITY OF SACRAMENTO

THIS NOTE PROVIDES FOR A CHANGE IN MY INITIAL FIXED INTEREST RATE TO AN ADJUSTABLE INTEREST RATE. THIS NOTE LIMITS THE AMOUNT MY ADJUSTABLE INTEREST RATE CAN CHANGE AT ANY ONE TIME AND THE MAXIMUM RATE I MUST PAY.

January 4, 2007
(Date)Sacramento
(City)California
(State)

3622 West Curtis Drive, Sacramento, CA 95818

(Property Address)

1. BORROWER'S PROMISE TO PAY

In return for a loan that I have received, I promise to pay U.S. $ 535,001.00 (this amount is called "Principal"), plus interest, to the order of Lender. Lender is Washington Mutual Bank

I will make all payments under this Note in the form of cash, check or money order. I understand that Lender may transfer this Note. Lender or anyone who takes this Note by transfer and who is entitled to receive payments under this Note is called the "Note Holder."

2. INTEREST

Interest will be charged on unpaid principal until the full amount of Principal has been paid. I will pay interest at a yearly rate of 8.800 % . The interest rate I will pay may change in accordance with Section 4 of this Note.

The interest rate required by this Section 2 and Section 4 of this Note is the rate I will pay both before and after any default described in Section 7(B) of this Note.

3. PAYMENTS(A) Time and Place of Payments

I will pay principal and interest by making a payment every month.

I will make my monthly payments on the first day of each month beginning on March 1, 2007. I will make those payments every month until I have paid all of the Principal and interest and any other charges described below that I may owe under this Note. Each monthly payment will be applied as of its scheduled due date and will be applied to interest before Principal. If, on February 1, 2007, I still owe amounts under this Note, I will pay those amounts in full on that date, which is called the "Maturity Date."

or at a different place if required by the Note Holder.

(B) Amount of My Initial Monthly Payments

Each of my initial monthly payments will be in the amount of U.S. $ 4,227.98 . This amount may change.

(C) Monthly Payment Changes

Changes in my monthly payment will reflect changes in the unpaid principal of my loan and in the interest rate that I must pay. The Note Holder will determine my new interest rate and the changed amount of my monthly payment in accordance with Section 4 of this Note.

4. INTEREST RATE AND MONTHLY PAYMENT CHANGES(A) Change Dates

The initial fixed interest rate I will pay will change to an adjustable interest rate on the first day of February 2009 , and the interest rate I will pay may change on that day every 6th month thereafter. Each date on which my interest rate could change is called a "Change Date."

(B) The IndexBeginning with the first Change Date, my interest rate will be based on an Index. The "Index" is the average of interbank offered rates for six month U.S. dollar-denominated deposits in the London market ("LIBOR"), as published in The Wall Street Journal. The most recent Index figure available as of the date 45 days before the Change Date is called the "Current Index."

If the Index is no longer available, the Note Holder will choose a new Index that is based upon comparable information. The Note Holder will give me notice of this choice.

(C) Calculation of Changes

Before each Change Date, the Note Holder will calculate my new interest rate by adding Four and 99/100 percentage point(s) (4.990 %) to the Current Index. The Note Holder will then round the result additional to the nearest one-eighth of one percentage point (0.125%). Subject to the limits stated in Section 4(D) below, this rounded amount will be my new interest rate until the next Change Date.

The Note Holder will then determine the amount of the monthly payment that would be sufficient to repay the unpaid principal that I am expected to owe at the Change Date in full on the Maturity Date at my new interest rate in substantially equal payments. The result of this calculation will be the new amount of my monthly payment.

(D) Limits on Interest Rate Changes

The interest rate I am required to pay at the first Change Date will not be greater than 10.800 % or less than 8.800 % . Thereafter, my interest rate will never be increased or decreased on any single Change Date by more than One percentage point(s) (1.000 %) from the rate of interest I have been paying for the preceding 6 months. My interest rate will never be greater than 4.800 % or less than 8.800 % .

(E) Effective Date of Changes

My new interest rate will become effective on each Change Date. I will pay the amount of my new monthly payment beginning on the first monthly payment date after the Change Date until the amount of my monthly payment changes again.

(F) Notice of Changes

The Note Holder will deliver or mail to me a notice of any changes in my interest rate and the amount of my monthly payment before the effective date of any change. The notice will include information required by law to be given to me and also the title and telephone number of a person who will answer any question I may have regarding the notice.

5. BORROWER'S RIGHT TO PREPAY

I have the right to make payments of Principal at any time before they are due. A prepayment of all the unpaid principal is known as a "Full Prepayment." A prepayment of only part of the unpaid principal is known as a "Partial Prepayment." Except as provided below, I may make a Full or Partial Prepayment at any time.

If I make a Full or Partial Prepayment, I may be charged a fee as follows: If Note Holder receives a Prepayment of more than twenty percent (20.0%) of the original principal amount in any twelve (12) month period on or before the second anniversary of the date of the Note, the prepayment fee shall be equal to the payment of six months advance interest on the amount prepaid that exceeds 20 percent of the original principal amount, calculated at the interest rate in effect on the date(s) of such Full Prepayment or Partial Prepayment(s) (the "Prepayment Fee").

When I make a Full or Partial Prepayment, I will notify the Note Holder in writing that I am doing so. Any Partial Prepayment shall be applied to interest accrued on the amount prepaid, if any, then to the Prepayment Fee, if applicable, and then to the principal balance of the Note, which shall not reduce the amount of monthly installments of principal and interest nor relieve me of the obligation to make the installments each and every month until the Note is paid in full. Partial Prepayments shall have no effect upon the due dates or the amounts of my monthly payments unless the Note Holder agrees in writing to such changes.

6. LOAN CHARGES

If a law, which applies to this loan and which sets maximum loan charges, is finally interpreted so that the interest or other loan charges collected or to be collected in connection with this loan exceed the permitted limits, then: (a) any such loan charge shall be reduced by the amount necessary to reduce the charge to the permitted limits; and (b) any sums already collected from me that exceeded permitted limits will be refunded to me. The Note Holder may choose to make this refund by reducing the Principal I owe under this Note or by making a direct payment to me. If a refund reduces Principal, the reduction will be treated as a partial Prepayment.

7. BORROWER'S FAILURE TO PAY AS REQUIRED(A) Late Charges for Overdue Payments

If the Note Holder has not received the full amount of any monthly payment by the end of Fifteen calendar days after the date it is due, I will pay a late charge to the Note Holder. The amount of the charge will be on each late payment: 6% of my overdue payment of principal and interest. I will pay this late charge promptly but only once on each late payment.

(B) Default

If I do not pay the full amount of each monthly payment on the date it is due, I will be in default.

(C) Notice of Default

If I am in default, the Note Holder may send me a written notice telling me that if I do not pay the overdue amount by a certain date, the Note Holder may require me to pay immediately the full amount of Principal that has not been paid and all the interest that I owe on that amount. That date must be at least 30 days after the date on which the notice is mailed to me or delivered by other means.

(D) No Waiver by Note Holder

Even if, at a time when I am in default, the Note Holder does not require me to pay immediately in full as described above, the Note Holder will still have the right to do so if I am in default as a loan due.

(E) Payment of Note Holder's Costs and Expenses

If the Note Holder has required me to pay immediately in full as described above, the Note Holder will have the right to be paid back by me for all of its costs and expenses in enforcing this Note to the extent not prohibited by applicable law. Those expenses include, for example, reasonable attorneys' fees.

8. GIVING OF NOTICES

Unless applicable law requires a different method, any notice that must be given to me under this Note will be given by delivering it or by mailing it by first class mail to me at the Property Address above or at a different address if I give the Note Holder a notice of my different address.

Unless the Note Holder requires a different method, any notice that must be given to the Note Holder under this Note will be given by mailing it by first class mail to the Note Holder at the address stated in Section 3(A) above or at a different address if I am given a notice of that different address.

9. OBLIGATIONS OF PERSONS UNDER THIS NOTE

If more than one person signs this Note, each person is fully and personally obligated to keep all of the promises made in this Note, including the promise to pay the full amount owed. Any person who is a guarantor, surety or endorser of this Note is also obligated to do these things. Any person who takes over these obligations, including the obligations of a guarantor, surety or endorser of this Note, is also obligated to keep all of the promises made in this Note. The Note Holder may enforce its rights under this Note against each person individually or against all of us together. This means that any one of us may be required to pay all of the amounts owed under this Note.

10. WAIVERS

I and any other person who has obligations under this Note waive the rights of Presentment and Notice of Dishonor. "Presentment" means the right to require the Note Holder to demand payment of amounts due. "Notice of Dishonor" means the right to require the Note Holder to give notice to other persons that amounts due have not been paid.

11. UNIFORM SECURED NOTE

This Note is a uniform instrument with limited variations in some jurisdictions. In addition to the protections given to the Note Holder under this Note, a Mortgage, Deed of Trust or Security Deed (the "Security Instrument"), dated the same date as this Note, protects the Note Holder from possible losses that might result if I do not keep the promises that I make in this Note. That Security Instrument describes how and under what conditions I may be required to make immediate payment in full of all amounts I owe under this Note. Some of those conditions are:

(A) Until my initial fixed interest rate changes to an adjustable interest rate under the terms stated in Section 4 above, Section 18 of the Security Instrument provides as follows:

Transfer of the Property or a Beneficial Interest in Borrower. As used in this Section 18, "Interest in the Property" means any legal or beneficial interest in the Property, including, but not limited to, those beneficial interests transferred in a bond for deed, contract for deed, installment sales contract or escrow agreement, the intent of which is the transfer of title by Borrower at a future date to a purchaser.

If all or any part of the Property or any interest in the Property is sold or transferred (or if Borrower is not a natural person and a beneficial interest in Borrower is sold or transferred) without Lender's prior written consent, Lender may require immediate payment in full of all sums secured by this Security Instrument. However, this option shall not be exercised by Lender if such exercise is prohibited by Applicable Law.

If Lender exercises this option, Lender shall give Borrower notice of acceleration. The notice shall provide a period of not less than 30 days from the date the notice is given in accordance with Section 15 within which Borrower must pay all sums secured by this Security Instrument. If Borrower fails to pay these sums prior to the expiration of this period, Lender may invoke any remedies permitted by this Security Instrument without further notice or demand on Borrower.

(B) When my initial fixed interest rate changes to an adjustable interest rate under the terms stated in Section 4 above, Section 18 of the Security Instrument shall then instead provide as follows:

Transfer of the Property or a Beneficial Interest in Borrower. As used in this Section 18, "Interest in the Property" means any legal or beneficial interest in the Property, including, but not limited to, those beneficial interests transferred in a bond for deed, contract for deed, installment sales contract or escrow agreement, the intent of which is the transfer of title by Borrower at a future date to a purchaser.

If all or any part of the Property or any interest in the Property is sold or transferred (or if Borrower is not a natural person and a beneficial interest in Borrower is sold or transferred) without Lender's prior written consent, Lender may require immediate payment in full of all sums secured by this Security Instrument. However, this option shall not be exercised by Lender if such exercise is prohibited by Applicable Law. Lender also shall not exercise this option if: (a) Borrower causes to be submitted to Lender information required by Lender to evaluate the intended transferee as if a new loan were being made to the transferee; and (b) Lender reasonably determines that Lender's security will not be impaired by the loan assumption and that the risk of a breach of any covenant or agreement in this Security Instrument is acceptable to Lender.

To the extent permitted by Applicable Law, Lender may charge a reasonable fee as a condition in Lender's consent to the loan assumption. Lender may also require the transferee to sign an assumption agreement that is acceptable to Lender and that obligates the transferee to keep all the promises and agreements made in the Note and in this Security Instrument. Borrower will continue to be obligated under the Note and this Security Instrument unless Lender releases Borrower in writing.

If Lender exercises the option to require immediate payment in full, Lender shall give Borrower notice of acceleration. The notice shall provide a period of not less than 30 days from the date the notice is given in accordance with Section 15 within which Borrower must pay all sums secured by this Security Instrument. If Borrower fails to pay these sums prior to the expiration of this period, Lender may invoke any remedies permitted by this Security Instrument without further notice or demand on Borrower.

OCCUPANCY AGREEMENT

DATE: January 4, 2007
BORROWER: Laura Richardson

LOAN #:
PROPERTY ADDRESS: 3622 West Curtis Drive
Sacramento, CA 95818

The undersigned Borrower(s) of the above captioned property understand that one of the conditions of the loan is that Borrower(s) occupy the subject property and Borrower(s) do hereby certify as follows:

1. Borrower intends to occupy the property as Borrower's primary residence.
2. Borrower intends to occupy the property during the 12 month period immediately following the loan closing as the primary residence of the Borrower (i.e., the property will be "owner occupied").
3. If Borrower's intention changes prior to the loan closing, Borrower agrees to notify Lender immediately of that fact.
4. Borrower understands that Lender may not make the loan in connection with subject property without this Occupancy Agreement.
5. Borrower acknowledges Lender has relied upon the Borrower's representation of occupancy in securing said loan, the interest rate or funding said loan.

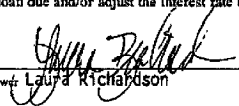

THE UNDERSIGNED BORROWER(S) ACKNOWLEDGES AND AGREES THAT:

1. ANY MISREPRESENTATION OF OCCUPANCY BY BORROWER(S);
2. BORROWER(S) FAILURE TO OCCUPY THE PROPERTY AS THE PRIMARY RESIDENCE (i.e. OWNER-OCCUPIED) DURING THE 12 MONTH PERIOD FOLLOWING THE LOAN CLOSING;

SHALL CONSTITUTE A DEFAULT UNDER THE NOTE AND SECURITY INSTRUMENT EXECUTED IN CONNECTION WITH SAID LOAN AND, UPON THE OCCURRENCE OF SAID DEFAULT, THE WHOLE SUM OF PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE PURSUANT TO SAID NOTE PLUS COSTS AND FEES SHALL BECOME IMMEDIATELY DUE AT THE OPTION OF THE HOLDER THEREOF AND/OR LENDER MAY ADJUST THE INTEREST RATE TO BE EQUIVALENT TO THAT OF A NON-OWNER OCCUPIED LOAN.

Borrower(s) understand that it is a Federal Crime punishable by fine or imprisonment or both to knowingly make any false statement concerning any of the above facts, as applicable under the provisions of Title 18 U.S.C., Sec. 1014.

I declare that the foregoing Agreement is true and correct and agree to said terms of Agreement allowing Lender discretion to call loan due and/or adjust the interest rate based upon any misrepresentation of occupancy.

RESIDENTIAL LEASE/RENTAL AGREEMENT
(For use in the State of California)

PARTIES: LANDLORD

Laura Reichard

TENANT(S)

Magorie Washington; Albigat Washington

PROPERTY ADDRESS:

717 E. Vernon St, Long Beach, Calif

1. RENTAL AMOUNT: Commencing 3rd of Month, 2005 TENANT agrees to pay LANDLORD the sum of $2250.00 per month in advance on the ___ day of each calendar month. Said rental payment shall be delivered by TENANT to LANDLORD or his designated agent to the following location:

Rent must be actually received by LANDLORD, or designated agent, in order to be considered in compliance with the terms of this agreement.

2. TERM: The premises are leased on the following lease term: (please check one item only) month to month (OR) until 20 20__.

3. SECURITY DEPOSITS: TENANT shall deposit with landlord the sum of $1500.00 as a security deposit to secure TENANT'S faithful performance of the terms of this lease. The security deposit shall not exceed two times the monthly rent. After all the TENANTS have vacated, leaving the premises vacant, the LANDLORD may use the security deposit for the cleaning of the premises, any unusual wear and tear to the premises or common areas, and any rent or other amounts owed pursuant to the lease agreement or pursuant to Civil Code Section 1950.5.

TENANT may not use said deposit for rent owed during the term of the lease. Within 21 days of the TENANT vacating the premises, LANDLORD shall furnish TENANT a written statement indicating any amounts deducted from the security deposit and returning the balance to the TENANT. If TENANT fails to furnish a forwarding address to LANDLORD, then LANDLORD shall send said statement and any security deposit refund to the leased premises.

4. INITIAL PAYMENT: TENANT shall pay the first month rent of $2250.00 and the security deposit in the amount of $1500.00 for a total of $3750.00. Said payment shall be made in the form of cash or cashier's check and is all due prior to occupancy.

5. OCCUPANTS: The premises shall not be occupied by any person other than those designated above as TENANT with the exception of the following named persons: _____

If LANDLORD, with written consent, allows for additional persons to occupy the premises, the rent shall be increased by $100 for each such person. Any person staying 14 days cumulative or longer, without the LANDLORD'S written consent, shall be considered as occupying the premises in violation of this agreement.

6. SUBLETTING OR ASSIGNING: TENANT agrees not to assign or sublet the premises, or any part thereof, without first obtaining written permission from LANDLORD.

7. UTILITIES: TENANT shall pay for all utilities and/or services supplied to the premises with the following exception: N/A

8. PARKING: TENANT ~~is~~ ^{is not} ~~is~~ ^{is not} (check one) assigned a parking space. If assigned a parking space it shall be designated as space # 111. TENANT may only park a vehicle that is registered in the TENANT'S name. TENANT may not assign, sublet, or allow any other person to use this space. This space is exclusively used for the parking of passenger automobiles by the TENANT. No other type of vehicle or item may be stored in this space without prior written consent of LANDLORD. TENANT may not wash, repair, or paint in this space or at any other common area on the premises.

Only vehicles that are operational and currently registered in the State of California may park in this space. Any vehicle that is leaking any substance must not be parked anywhere on the premises.

9. CONDITION OF PREMISES: TENANT acknowledges that the premises have been inspected. Tenant acknowledges that said premises have been cleaned and all items, fixtures, appliances, and appurtenances are in complete working order. TENANT promises to keep the premises in a neat and sanitary condition and to immediately reimburse landlord for any sums necessary to repair any item, fixture or appurtenance that needed service due to TENANT'S, or TENANT'S invitee, misuse or negligence.

TENANT shall be responsible for the cleaning or repair to any plumbing fixture where a stoppage has occurred. TENANT shall also be responsible for repair or replacement of the garbage disposal where the cause has been a result of bones, grease, pits, or any other item which normally causes blockage of the mechanism.

10. ALTERATIONS: TENANT shall not make any alterations to the premises, including but not limited to installing aerials, lighting fixtures, dishwashers, washing machines, dryers or other items without first obtaining written permission from LANDLORD. TENANT shall not change or install locks, paint, or wallpaper said premises without LANDLORD'S prior written consent. TENANT shall not place placards, signs, or other exhibits in a window or any other place where they can be viewed by other residents or by the general public.

11. LATE CHARGE/BAD CHECKS: A late charge of 5% of the current rental amount shall be incurred if rent is not paid when due.

If rent is not paid when due and landlord issues a 'Notice To Pay Rent Or Quit', TENANT must tender cash or cashier's check only. If TENANT tenders a check, which is dishonored by a banking institution, then TENANT shall only tender cash or cashier's check for all future payments. This shall continue until such time as written consent is obtained from LANDLORD. In addition, TENANT shall be liable in the sum of $10 for each check that is returned to LANDLORD because the check has been dishonored.

12. NOISE AND DISRUPTIVE ACTIVITIES: TENANT or his/her guests and invitees shall not disturb, annoy, endanger or inconvenience other tenants of the building, neighbors, the LANDLORD or his agents, or workmen nor violate any law, nor commit or permit waste or nuisance in or about the premises.

Further, TENANT shall not do or keep anything in or about the premises that will obstruct the public spaces available to other residents. Lounging or unnecessary loitering on the front steps, public balconies or the common hallways that interferes with the convenience of other residents is prohibited.

13. LANDLORD'S RIGHT OF ENTRY: LANDLORD may enter and inspect the premises during normal business hours and upon reasonable advance notice of at least 24 hours to TENANT. LANDLORD is permitted to make all alterations, repairs and maintenance that in LANDLORD'S judgment is necessary to perform. In addition LANDLORD has all right to enter pursuant to Civil Code Section 1954, if the work performed requires that TENANT temporarily vacate the unit, then TENANT shall vacate for this temporary period upon being served a 7 days notice by LANDLORD. TENANT agrees that in such event that TENANT will be solely compensated by a corresponding reduction in rent for those many days that TENANT was temporarily displaced. If the work to be performed requires the cooperation of TENANT to perform certain tasks, then those tasks shall be performed upon serving 24 hours written notice by LANDLORD. (EXAMPLE -removing food items from cabinets so that the unit may be sprayed for pests)

14. REPAIRS BY LANDLORD: Where a repair is the responsibility of the LANDLORD, TENANT must notify LANDLORD with a written notice stating what item needs servicing or repair. TENANT must give LANDLORD a reasonable opportunity to service or repair said item. TENANT acknowledges that rent will not be withheld unless a written notice has been served on LANDLORD giving LANDLORD a reasonable time to fix said item within the meaning of Civil Code Section 1942. Under no circumstances may TENANT withhold rent unless said item constitutes a substantial breach of the warranty of habitability as stated in Code of Civil Procedure Section 1174.2.

15. PETS: No dog, cat, bird, fish or other domestic pet or animal of any kind may be kept on or about the premises without LANDLORD'S written consent.

16. FURNISHINGS: No liquid filled furniture of any kind may be kept on the premises. If the structure was built in 1973 or later TENANT may possess a waterbed if he maintains waterbed insurance valued at $100,000 or more. TENANT must furnish LANDLORD with proof of said insurance. TENANT must use bedding that complies with the load capacity of the manufacturer. In addition, TENANT must also be in full compliance with Civil Code Section 1940.5. TENANT shall not install or use any washer, dryer, or dishwasher that was not already furnished with the unit.

17. INSURANCE: TENANT may maintain a personal property insurance policy to cover any losses sustained to TENANT'S personal property or vehicle. It is acknowledged that LANDLORD does not maintain this insurance to cover personal property damage or loss caused by fire, theft, rain, water overflow/leakage, acts of GOD, and/or any other causes.

It is acknowledged that LANDLORD is not liable for these occurrences. It is acknowledged that TENANT'S insurance policy shall solely indemnify TENANT for any losses sustained. TENANT'S failure to maintain said policy shall be a complete waiver of TENANT'S right to seek damages against LANDLORD for the above stated losses. The parties acknowledge that the premises are not to be considered a security building which would hold LANDLORD to a higher degree of care.

18. TERMINATION OF LEASE/RENTAL AGREEMENT: If this lease is based on a fixed term, pursuant to paragraph 2, then at the expiration of said fixed term this lease shall become a month to month tenancy upon the approval of LANDLORD.

Where said term is a month to month tenancy, either party may terminate this tenancy by the serving of a 30 day written notice.

19. POSSESSION: If premises cannot be delivered to TENANT on the agreed date due to loss, total or partial destruction of the premises, or failure of previous TENANT to vacate, either party may terminate this agreement upon written notice to the other party at their last known address. It is acknowledged that either party shall have no liability to each other except that all sums paid to LANDLORD will be immediately refunded to TENANT.

20. ABANDONMENT: It shall be deemed a reasonable belief by the LANDLORD that an abandonment of the premises has occurred where the, within the meaning of Civil Code Section 1951.2, where rent has been unpaid for 14 consecutive days and the TENANT has been absent from unit for 14 consecutive days. In that event, LANDLORD may serve written notice pursuant to Civil Code Section 1951.2. If TENANT does not comply with the requirements of said notice in 18 days, the premises shall be deemed abandoned.

21. WAIVER: LANDLORD'S failure to require compliance with the conditions of this agreement, or to exercise any right provided herein, shall not be deemed a waiver by LANDLORD of such condition or right. LANDLORD'S acceptance of rent with knowledge of any default under agreement by TENANT shall not be deemed a waiver of such default, nor shall it limit LANDLORD'S rights with respect to that or any subsequent right. It is further agreed between the parties that the payment of rent at any time shall not be a waiver to any UNLAWFUL DETAINER action unless LANDLORD in writing specifically acknowledges that this constitutes a waiver to the UNLAWFUL DETAINER action.

22. VALIDITY/SEVERABILITY: If any provision of this agreement is held to be invalid, such invalidity shall not affect the validity or enforceability of any other provision of this agreement.

23. ATTORNEY FEES: In the event action is brought by any party to enforce any terms of this agreement or to recover possession of the premises, the prevailing party shall recover from the other party reasonable attorney fees.

It is acknowledged, between the parties, that jury trials significantly increase the costs of any litigation between the parties. It is also acknowledged that jury trials require a longer length of time to adjudicate the controversy. On this basis, all parties waive their rights to have any matter settled by jury trial.

24. NOTICES: All notices to the tenant shall be deemed served upon mailing by first class mail, addressed to the tenant, at the subject premises or upon personal delivery to the premises whether or not TENANT is actually present at the time of said delivery. All notices to the landlord shall be served by mailing first class mail or by personal delivery to the manager's apartment or to: _____

25. PERSONAL PROPERTY OF TENANT: Once TENANT vacates the premises, all personal property left in the unit shall be stored by the LANDLORD for 18 days. If within that time period, TENANT does not claim said property, LANDLORD may dispose of said items in any manner LANDLORD chooses.

26. ADDITIONAL RENT: All items owed under this lease shall be deemed additional rent.

27. APPLICATION: All statements in TENANT'S application must be true or this will constitute a material breach of this lease.

28. ADDITIONAL TERMS:

29. ENTIRE AGREEMENT: The foregoing agreement, including any attachments incorporated by reference, constitute the entire agreement between the parties and supersedes any oral or written representations or agreements that may have been made by either party. Further, TENANT represents that TENANT has relied solely on TENANT'S judgment in entering into this agreement. TENANT acknowledges having been advised to consult with independent legal counsel before entering into this Agreement and has decided to waive such representation and advice. TENANT acknowledges that TENANT has read and understood this agreement and has been furnished a duplicate original.

RESIDENTIAL LEASE/RENTAL AGREEMENT

(For use in the State of California)

PARTIES: LANDLORD Laura Richardson
TENANT(S) ANGELA PARSONS
PROPERTY ADDRESS: 3603 S. PENNER ST., SAN PEDRO CA

1. RENTAL AMOUNT: Commencing Jan 3rd, 2007 TENANT agrees to pay LANDLORD the sum of $ 2000.00 per month in advance on the ___ day of each calendar month. Said rental payment shall be delivered by TENANT to LANDLORD or his designated agent to the following location:

Rent must be actually received by LANDLORD, or designated agent, in order to be considered in compliance with the terms of this agreement.

2. TERM: The premises are leased on the following lease term: (please check one item only) month to month (OR) ___ until ___ 20__.

3. SECURITY DEPOSITS: TENANT shall deposit with landlord the sum of $ 3500.00 as a security deposit to secure TENANT'S faithful performance of the terms of this lease. The security deposit shall not exceed two times the monthly rent. After all the TENANTS have vacated, leaving the premises vacant, the LANDLORD may use the security deposit for the cleaning of the premises, any unusual wear and tear to the premises or common areas, and any rent or other amounts owed pursuant to the lease agreement or pursuant to Civil Code Section 1980.5.

TENANT may not use said deposit for rent owed during the term of the lease. Within 21 days of the TENANT vacating the premises, LANDLORD shall furnish TENANT a written statement indicating any amounts deducted from the security deposit and returning the balance to the TENANT. If TENANT fails to furnish a forwarding address to LANDLORD, then LANDLORD shall send said statement and any security deposit refund to the leased premises.

4. INITIAL PAYMENT: TENANT shall pay the first month rent of $ 2000.00 and the security deposit in the amount of $ 3500.00 for a total of $ 5500.00. Said payment shall be made in the form of cash or cashier's check and is all due prior to occupancy.

5. OCCUPANTS: The premises shall not be occupied by any person other than those designated above as TENANT with the exception of the following named persons: _____

If LANDLORD, with written consent, allows for additional persons to occupy the premises, the rent shall be increased by $100 for each such person. Any person staying 14 days cumulative or longer, without the LANDLORD'S written consent, shall be considered as occupying the premises in violation of this agreement.

6. SUBLETTING OR ASSIGNING: TENANT agrees not to assign or sublet the premises, or any part thereof, without first obtaining written permission from LANDLORD.

7. UTILITIES: TENANT shall pay for all utilities and/or services supplied to the premises with the following exception: N/A

8. PARKING: TENANT ~~is~~ ^{is not} ~~has~~ ^{is} (check one) assigned a parking space. If assigned a parking space it shall be designated as space # 114. TENANT may only park a vehicle that is registered in the TENANT'S name. TENANT may not assign, sublet, or allow any other person to use this space. This space is exclusively used for the parking of passenger automobiles by the TENANT. No other type of vehicle or item may be stored in this space without prior written consent of LANDLORD. TENANT may not wash, repair, or paint in this space or at any other common area on the premises.

Only vehicles that are operational and currently registered in the State of California may park in this space. Any vehicle that is leaking any substance must not be parked anywhere on the premises.

9. CONDITION OF PREMISES: TENANT acknowledges that the premises have been inspected. Tenant acknowledges that said premises have been cleaned and all items, fixtures, appliances, and appurtenances are in complete working order. TENANT promises to keep the premises in a neat and sanitary condition and to immediately reimburse landlord for any sums necessary to repair any item, fixture or appurtenance that needed service due to TENANT'S, or TENANT'S invitee, misuse or negligence.

TENANT shall be responsible for the cleaning or repair to any plumbing fixture where a stoppage has occurred. TENANT shall also be responsible for repair or replacement of the garbage disposal where the cause has been a result of bones, grease, pits, or any other item which normally causes blockage of the mechanism.

10. ALTERATIONS: TENANT shall not make any alterations to the premises, including but not limited to installing aerials, lighting fixtures, dishwashers, washing machines, dryers or other items without first obtaining written permission from LANDLORD. TENANT shall not change or install locks, paint, or wallpaper said premises without LANDLORD'S prior written consent. TENANT shall not place placards, signs, or other exhibits in a window or any other place where they can be viewed by other residents or by the general public.

11. LATE CHARGE/BAD CHECKS: A late charge of 0% of the current rental amount shall be incurred if rent is not paid when due.

If rent is not paid when due and landlord issues a 'Notice To Pay Rent Or Quit', TENANT must tender cash or cashier's check only. If TENANT tenders a check, which is dishonored by a banking institution, then TENANT shall only tender cash or cashier's check for all future payments. This shall continue until such time as written consent is obtained from LANDLORD. In addition, TENANT shall be liable in the sum of $10 for each check that is returned to LANDLORD because the check has been dishonored.

12. NOISE AND DISRUPTIVE ACTIVITIES: TENANT or his/her guests and invitees shall not disturb, annoy, endanger or inconvenience other tenants of the building, neighbors, the LANDLORD or his agents, or workmen nor violate any law, nor commit or permit waste or nuisance in or about the premises.

Further, TENANT shall not do or keep anything in or about the premises that will obstruct the public spaces available to other residents. Lounging or unnecessary loitering on the front steps, public balconies or the common hallways that interferes with the convenience of other residents is prohibited.

13. LANDLORD'S RIGHT OF ENTRY: LANDLORD may enter and inspect the premises during normal business hours and upon reasonable advance notice of at least 24 hours to TENANT. LANDLORD is permitted to make all alterations, repairs and maintenance that in LANDLORD'S judgment is necessary to perform. In addition LANDLORD has all right to enter pursuant to Civil Code Section 1954. If the work performed requires that TENANT temporarily vacate the unit, then TENANT shall vacate for this temporary period upon being served a 7 days notice by LANDLORD. TENANT agrees that in such event that TENANT will be solely compensated by a corresponding reduction in rent for those many days that TENANT was temporarily displaced. 14. REPAIRS BY LANDLORD: Where a repair is the responsibility of the LANDLORD, TENANT must notify LANDLORD with a written notice stating what item needs servicing or repair. TENANT must give LANDLORD a reasonable opportunity to service or repair said item. TENANT acknowledges that rent will not be withheld unless a written notice has been served on LANDLORD giving LANDLORD a reasonable time to fix said item within the meaning of Civil Code Section 1942. Under no circumstances may TENANT withhold rent unless said item constitutes a substantial breach of the warranty of habitability as stated in Code of Civil Procedure Section 1174.2.

15. PETS: No dog, cat, bird, fish or other domestic pet or animal of any kind may be kept on or about the premises without LANDLORD'S written consent.

16. FURNISHINGS: No liquid filled furniture of any kind may be kept on the premises, if the structure was built in 1973 or later TENANT may possess a waterbed if he maintains waterbed insurance valued at $100,000 or more. TENANT must furnish LANDLORD with proof of said insurance. TENANT must use bedding that complies with the load capacity of the manufacturer. In addition, TENANT must also be in full compliance with Civil Code Section 1840.5. TENANT shall not install or use any washer, dryer, or dishwasher that was not already furnished with the unit.

17. INSURANCE: TENANT may maintain a personal property insurance policy to cover any losses sustained to TENANT'S personal property or vehicle. It is acknowledged that LANDLORD does not maintain this insurance to cover personal property damage or loss caused by fire, theft, rain, water overflow/leakage, acts of GOD, and/or any other causes.

It is acknowledged that LANDLORD is not liable for these occurrences. It is acknowledged that TENANT'S insurance policy shall solely indemnify TENANT for any losses sustained. TENANT'S failure to maintain said policy shall be a complete waiver of TENANT'S right to seek damages against LANDLORD for the above stated losses. The parties acknowledge that the premises are not to be considered a security building which would hold LANDLORD to a higher degree of care.

18. TERMINATION OF LEASE/RENTAL AGREEMENT: If this lease is based on a fixed term, pursuant to paragraph 2, then at the expiration of said fixed term this lease shall become a month to month tenancy upon the approval of LANDLORD.

Where said term is a month to month tenancy, either party may terminate this tenancy by the serving of a 30 day written notice.

19. POSSESSION: If premises cannot be delivered to TENANT on the agreed date due to loss, total or partial destruction of the premises, or failure of previous TENANT to vacate, either party may terminate this agreement upon written notice to the other party at their last known address. It is acknowledged that either party shall have no liability to each other except that all sums paid to LANDLORD will be immediately refunded to TENANT.

20. ABANDONMENT: It shall be deemed a reasonable belief by the LANDLORD that an abandonment of the premises has occurred where the, within the meaning of Civil Code Section 1981.2, where rent has been unpaid for 14 consecutive days and the TENANT has been absent from unit for 14 consecutive days. In that event, LANDLORD may serve written notice pursuant to Civil Code Section 1961.2. If TENANT does not comply with the requirements of said notice in 14 days, the premises shall be deemed abandoned.

21. WAIVER: LANDLORD'S failure to require compliance with the conditions of this agreement, or to exercise any right provided herein, shall not be deemed a waiver by LANDLORD of such condition or right. LANDLORD'S acceptance of rent with knowledge of any default under agreement by TENANT shall not be deemed a waiver of such default, nor shall it limit LANDLORD'S rights with respect to that or any subsequent right. If it is further agreed between the parties that the payment of rent at any time shall not be a waiver to any UNLAWFUL DETAINER action unless LANDLORD in writing specifically acknowledges that this constitutes a waiver to the UNLAWFUL DETAINER action.

B. BUYER'S RESPONSIBILITIES OR OBLIGATIONS: Buyer's responsibilities, including any obligations or obligations (other than obligations specified in a separate written agreement between Buyer and Seller, Buyer shall immediately be deemed to have (1) completed all Buyer investigations, and review of reports and other applicable information and disclosures pertaining to the real estate or the subject property; (2) received all reports and disclosures; and (3) approved all reports, responsibility and accuracy for the same or conditions, satisfactory to the satisfaction of, or to proceed with the transaction; and (4) approved all reports, responsibility and accuracy for the same or conditions, satisfactory to the satisfaction of, or to proceed with the transaction.

C. EFFICIENCY OF CANCELLATION OR RESCUE: Buyer or Seller shall retain the right to cancel or rescue the purchase agreement by giving written notice to the other party within the time specified in the purchase agreement. Buyer or Seller shall be responsible for any costs incurred by the other party in connection with the cancellation or rescue. Buyer or Seller shall be responsible for any costs incurred by the other party in connection with the cancellation or rescue. Buyer or Seller shall be responsible for any costs incurred by the other party in connection with the cancellation or rescue.

D. LIQUIDATED DAMAGES: If Buyer fails to complete this purchase because of Buyer's default, Seller shall retain, as liquidated damages, the deposit actually paid. If the Property is a dwelling with no more than four units, one of which Buyer intends to occupy, when the amount retained shall be no more than 3% of the purchase price. Any amount shall be returned to Buyer. Refunds of funds will require a check, signed release, instructions from both Buyer and Seller, including date and certificate of title.

BUYER AND SELLER SHALL SIGN A SEPARATE LIQUIDATED DAMAGES PROVISION FOR ANY NONRESIDENT REPORT. (S.A.R. FORM 102)

F. REMEDY/RESOLUTION: A. PROVIDED: Buyer and Seller agree to resolve any dispute or claim arising out of this Agreement, or any resulting transaction, before meeting to arbitrate or equal arbitration. Paragraphs 17000 and 17100 shall apply to mediation whether or not the Arbitration provision is selected. Mediators fees, if any, shall be shared equally among the parties involved. If for any dispute or claim which this agreement makes any party obligated to arbitrate or mediate, the party shall pay the fees through mediation, or refuse to mediate after a request has been made. The fee shall not be an offer to recover attorney fees, unless if they could otherwise be recovered. If not used in any such action, THIS MEDIATION PROVISION APPLIES NEVERTHELESS UNLESS THE ARBITRATION PROVISION IS SELECTED.

B. ARBITRATION OF DISPUTES: (1) Buyer and Seller agree that any dispute or claim in Law or equity arising between them out of this Agreement or any resulting transaction, which is not excluded through conditions, shall be decided by binding, binding arbitration, including the subject to paragraphs 17000 and 17100 below. The arbitrator shall be a retired judge or justice, or an attorney with at least 5 years of residential real estate Law experience, unless the parties mutually agree to a different arbitrator, who shall render an award in accordance with applicable California Law. The parties shall have the right to discovery in accordance with California Code of Civil Procedure 33222. In all other respects, the arbitration shall be conducted in accordance with Title 8 of Part 3 of the California Code of Civil Procedure. Judgment upon the award of the arbitrator(s) may be enforced in any court having jurisdiction. Interpretation of this agreement of arbitration shall be governed by the Federal Arbitration Act.

(2) EXCLUSION FROM REMEDY AND ARBITRATION: The following matters are excluded from resolution and settlement: (a) a dispute or contractual relationship or other matter or proceeding to enforce a claim of title, mortgage or real estate lien or to enforce a claim or California Civil Code 3171; (b) an arbitral decision rendered by the filing or enforcement of a member's lien; and (c) any matter that is within the jurisdiction of a court of law or equity. The filing of a court action to enforce the resolution of a matter of pending action, for action of enforcement, rescission, injunction, or other procedural remedy, shall not constitute a waiver of the remedy and arbitration provisions.

(3) WAIVER: Buyer and Seller agree to maintain and enforce deposit of estate funds in a trust of bank institution, established with 17A and 17B, and all other funds shall be held in trust or subject to order of court, in which a reasonable time after the deposit or claim is presented to finance. Any action by either or both parties to participate in production or assignment shall not apply to the Arbitration provisions of this Agreement.

NOTICE: BY INITIALING IN THE SPACE BELOW YOU ARE AGREEING TO HAVE ANY DISPUTE ARISING OUT OF THE MATTERS INCLUDED IN THE ARBITRATION OF DISPUTES PROVISION DECIDED BY NEUTRAL ARBITRATION AS PROVIDED BY CALIFORNIA LAW AND YOU ARE WAIVING UP ANY RIGHTS YOU MIGHT POSSESS TO HAVE THE DISPUTE LITIGATED IN A COURT OR JURY TRIAL. BY INITIALING IN THE SPACE BELOW YOU ARE GIVING UP YOUR JUDICIAL RIGHTS TO DISCOVERY AND APPEAL, UNLESS THOSE RIGHTS ARE EXPLICITLY PRESERVED IN THE ARBITRATION OF DISPUTES PROVISION. IF YOU REFUSE TO SIGN TO ARBITRATION AFTER AGREEING TO THIS PROVISION, YOU MAY BE COMPELLED TO ARBITRATE UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE CALIFORNIA CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE. YOUR AGREEMENT TO THE ARBITRATION PROVISION IS VOLUNTARY.

THE BUYER HAS READ AND UNDERSTANDS THE FOREGOING AND AGREES TO SUBMIT DISPUTED MATTERS OUT OF THE MATTERS INCLUDED IN THE ARBITRATION OF DISPUTES PROVISION TO NEUTRAL ARBITRATION.

POLICY OF TITLE INSURANCE ISSUED BY

STEWART TITLE GUARANTY COMPANY

SUBJECT TO THE EXCLUSIONS FROM COVERAGE, THE EXCEPTIONS FROM COVERAGE CONTAINED IN SCHEDULE B AND THE CONDITIONS AND STIPULATIONS, STEWART TITLE GUARANTY COMPANY, a Texas corporation, herein called the Company, insures, as of Date of Policy shown in Schedule A, against loss or damage, not exceeding the Amount of Insurance stated in Schedule A, sustained or incurred by the insured by reason of:

1. Title to the estate or interest described in Schedule A being vested other than as stated therein;
2. Any defect in or lien or encumbrance on the title;
3. Unmarketability of the title;
4. Lack of a right of access to and from the land;
5. The invalidity or unenforceability of the lien of the insured mortgage upon the title;
6. The priority of any lien or encumbrance over the lien of the insured mortgage;
7. Lack of priority of the lien of the insured mortgage over any statutory lien for services, labor or material:
 - (a) arising from any improvement or work related to the land which is contracted for or commenced prior to Date of Policy; or
 - (b) arising from an improvement or work related to the land which is contracted for or commenced subsequent to Date of Policy and which is financed in whole or in part by proceeds of the indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage which at Date of Policy the insured has advanced or is obligated to advance;
8. The invalidity or unenforceability of any assignment of the insured mortgage, provided the assignment is shown in Schedule A, or the failure of the assignment shown in Schedule A to vest title to the insured mortgage in the named insured assignee free and clear of all liens;
9. Any assessments for street improvements under construction or completed at Date of Policy not excepted in Schedule B which now have gained or hereafter may gain priority over the lien of the insured mortgage.

The Company will also pay the costs, attorneys' fees and expenses incurred in defense of the title or the lien of the insured mortgage, as insured, but only to the extent provided in the Conditions and Stipulations.

In witness whereof, Stewart Title Guaranty Company has caused this policy to be signed and sealed by its duly authorized officers as of Date of Policy shown in Schedule A.

EXCLUSIONS FROM COVERAGE

The following matters are expressly excluded from the coverage of this policy and the Company will not pay loss or damage, costs, attorneys' fees or expenses which arise by reason of:

1. (a) Any law, ordinance or governmental regulation (including but not limited to building and zoning laws, ordinances, or regulations) restricting, regulating, prohibiting or relating to (i) the occupancy, use, or enjoyment of the land; (ii) the character, dimensions or location of any improvement now or hereafter erected on the land; (iii) a separation in ownership or a change in the dimensions or area of the land or any parcel of which the land is or was a part; or (iv) environmental protection, or the effect of any violation of these laws, ordinances or governmental regulations, except to the extent that a notice of the enforcement thereof or a notice of a defect, lien or encumbrance resulting from a violation or alleged violation affecting the land has been recorded in the public records at Date of Policy;
 - (b) Any governmental police power not excluded by (a) above, except to the extent that a notice of the exercise thereof or a notice of a defect, lien or encumbrance resulting from a violation or alleged violation affecting the land has been recorded in the public records at Date of Policy;
2. Rights of eminent domain unless notice of the exercise thereof has been recorded in the public records at Date of Policy, but not excluding from coverage any taking which has occurred prior to Date of Policy which would be binding on the rights of a purchaser for value without knowledge.
3. Defects, liens, encumbrances, adverse claims or other matters:
 - (a) created, suffered, assumed or agreed to by the insured claimant;
 - (b) not known to the Company, not recorded in the public records at Date of Policy, but known to the insured claimant and not disclosed in writing to the Company by the insured claimant prior to the date the insured claimant became an insured under this policy;
 - (c) resulting in no loss or damage to the insured claimant;
 - (d) attaching or created subsequent to Date of Policy (except to the extent that this policy insures the priority of the lien of the insured mortgage over any statutory lien for services, labor or material); or
 - (e) resulting in loss or damage which would not have been sustained if the insured claimant had paid value for the insured mortgage.
4. Unenforceability of the lien of the insured mortgage because of the inability or failure of the insured at Date of Policy, or the inability or failure of any subsequent owner of the indebtedness, to comply with applicable taxing business laws of the state in which the land is situated;
5. Invalidity or unenforceability of the lien of the insured mortgage, or claim thereof, which arises out of the transaction evidenced by the insured mortgage and is based upon any or any consumer credit protection or truth in lending law;
6. Any statutory lien for services, labor or materials (or the claim of priority of any statutory lien for services, labor or materials over the lien of the insured mortgage) arising from an improvement or work related to the land which is completed for and commenced subsequent to Date of Policy and is not financed in whole or in part by proceeds of the indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage which at Date of Policy the insured has advanced or is obligated to advance;
7. Any claim, which arises out of the transaction creating the interest of the mortgagee insured by this policy, by reason of the operation of federal bankruptcy, state insolvency, or similar creditors' rights laws, that is based on:
 - (a) the transaction creating the interest of the insured mortgagee being deemed a fraudulent conveyance or fraudulent transfer; or
 - (b) the subordination of the interest of the insured mortgagee as a result of the application of the doctrine of equitable subordination; or
 - (c) the transaction creating the interest of the insured mortgagee being deemed a preferential transfer except where the preferential transfer results from the failure:
 - (i) to timely record the instrument of transfer; or
 - (ii) of such recordation to impart notice to a purchaser for value or a judgment or lien creditor.

CONDITIONS AND STIPULATIONS

1. DEFINITION OF TERMS.

The following terms when used in this policy mean:

(a) "insured": the insured named in Schedule A. The term "insured" also includes

(i) the owner of the indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage and each successor in ownership of the indebtedness except a successor who is an obligor under the provisions of Section 12(c) of these Conditions and Stipulations (reserving, however, all rights and defenses as to any successor that the Company would have had against any predecessor insured, unless the successor acquired the indebtedness as a purchaser for value without knowledge of the asserted defect, lien, encumbrance, adverse claim or other matter insured against by this policy as affecting title to the estate or interest in the land);

(ii) any governmental agency or governmental instrumentality which is an insurer or guarantor under an insurance contract or guaranty insuring or guaranteeing the indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage, or any part thereof, whether named as an insured hereinafter or not;

(iii) the parties designated in Section 2(a) of these Conditions and Stipulations;

(b) "insured claimant": an insured claiming loss or damage;

(c) "knowledge" or "knows": actual knowledge, not constructive knowledge or notice which may be imputed to an insured by reason of the public records as defined in this policy or any other records which impart constructive notice of matters affecting the land;

(d) "land": the land described or referred to in Schedule A, and improvements affixed thereto which by law constitute real property. The term "land" does not include any property beyond the lines of the area described or referred to in Schedule A, nor any right, title, interest, estate or easement in abutting streets, roads, avenues, alleys, lanes, ways or waterways, but nothing herein shall modify or limit the extent to which a right of access to and from the land is insured by this policy;

(e) "mortgage": mortgage, deed of trust, trust deed, or other security instrument;

(f) "public records": records established under state statutes at Date of Policy for the purpose of imposing constructive notice of matters relating to real property to purchasers for value and without knowledge. With respect to Section 1(a)(iv) of the Exclusions From Coverage, "public records" shall also include environmental protection liens filed in the records of the clerk of the United States district court for the district in which the land is located;

(g) "unmarketability of the title": an alleged or apparent matter affecting the title to the land, not excluded or excepted from coverage, which would entitle a purchaser of the estate or interest described in Schedule A or of the insured mortgage to be released from the obligation to purchase by virtue of a contractual condition requiring the delivery of marketable title.

2. CONTINUATION OF INSURANCE.

(a) After Acquisition of Title. The coverage of this policy shall continue in force as of Date of Policy in favor of (i) an insured who acquires all or any part of the estate or interest in the land by foreclosure, trustee's sale, conveyance in lieu of foreclosure, or other legal manner which discharges the lien of the insured mortgage; (ii) a transferee of the estate or interest so acquired from an insured corporation, provided the transferee is the parent or wholly owned subsidiary of the insured corporation, and their corporate successors by operation of law and not by purchase, subject to any rights or defenses the Company may have against any predecessor insured; and (iii) any governmental agency or governmental instrumentality which acquires all or any part of the estate or interest pursuant to a contract of insurance or guaranty insuring or guaranteeing the indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage.

(b) After Conveyance of Title. The coverage of this policy shall continue in force as of Date of Policy in favor of an insured only so long as the insured retains an estate or interest in the land, or holds an indebtedness secured by a purchase money mortgage given by a purchaser from the insured, or only so long as the insured shall have liability by reason of covenants of warranty made by the insured in any transfer or conveyance of the estate or interest. This policy shall not continue in force in favor of any purchaser from the insured of either (i) an estate or interest in the land, or (ii) an indebtedness secured by a purchase money mortgage given to the insured.

(c) Amount of Insurance: The amount of insurance after the acquisition or after the conveyance shall in neither event exceed the least of:

(i) the Amount of Insurance stated in Schedule A;

(ii) the amount of the principal of the indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage as of Date of Policy, interest thereon, expenses of foreclosure, amounts advanced pursuant to the insured mortgage to assure compliance with laws or to protect the lien of the insured mortgage prior to the time of acquisition of the estate or interest in the land and secured thereby and reasonable amounts expended to prevent deterioration of improvements, but reduced by the amount of all payments made; or

(iii) the amount paid by any governmental agency or governmental instrumentality, if the agency or instrumentality is the insured claimant, in the acquisition of the estate or interest in satisfaction of its insurance contract or guaranty.

3. NOTICE OF CLAIM TO BE GIVEN BY INSURED CLAIMANT.

The insured shall notify the Company promptly in writing (i) in case of any litigation as set forth in Section 4(a) below, (ii) in case knowledge shall come to an insured hereunder of any claim of title or interest which is adverse to the title to the estate or interest or the lien of the insured mortgage, as insured, and which might cause loss or damage for which the Company may be liable by virtue of this policy, or (iii) if title to the estate or interest or the lien of the insured mortgage, as insured, is rejected as unmarketable. If prompt notice shall not be given to the Company, then as to the insured all liability of the Company shall terminate with regard to the matter or matters for which prompt notice is required; provided, however, that failure to notify the Company shall in no case prejudice the rights of any insured under this policy unless the Company shall be prejudiced by the failure and then only to the extent of the prejudice.

The insurance afforded by this endorsement is only effective if the land is used or is to be used primarily for residential purposes.

The Company insures the insured against actual loss or damage sustained by reason of lack of priority of the lien of the insured mortgage over:

- (a) any environmental protection lien which, at the Date of Policy, is recorded in those public records established under state statutes at the Date of Policy for the purpose of imparting constructive notice of matters relating to real property to purchasers for value and without knowledge, or filed in the records of the clerk of the United States district court for the district in which the land is located, except as set forth in Schedule B; or
- (b) any environmental protection lien provided for by any state statute in effect at the Date of Policy, except environmental protection liens provided for by the following state statutes: NONE

For the purposes of this paragraph (b), a statute shall be deemed a "state statute" only insofar as it provides for an environmental protection lien arising or created by reason of matters other than those listed under "Excluded Matters" below.

EXCLUDED MATTERS

- I. plant diseases, pests, or rodents;
- II. water drainage or flood control, mining reclamation, weed abatement, or unfit buildings (where the applicable statutory provisions do not expressly relate to pollution or to hazardous or toxic wastes or substances);
- III. snow or ice removal
- IV. charges, taxes or assessments authorized by any state statute to be imposed by local political subdivisions or districts of the state (except where such charges, taxes or assessments, by express provisions of the applicable statute, relate to pollution or to hazardous or toxic wastes or substances).

This Endorsement is made a part of the policy and is subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof and of any prior Endorsement thereto. Except to the extent expressly stated, it neither modifies any of the terms and provisions of the policy and any prior Endorsements, nor does it extend the effective date of the policy and any prior Endorsements, nor does it increase the face amount thereof.

Signed under seal for the Company, but this Endorsement is to be valid only when it bears an authorized countersignature.

The Company hereby insures the owner of the indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage against actual loss or damage which the insured shall sustain by reason of:

1. The existence of any of the following:

- (a) "covenants", "conditions", or "restrictions" under which the lien of the mortgage referred to in Schedule A can be cut off, subordinated, or otherwise impaired;
- (b) Present violations on the land of any enforceable "covenants", "conditions", or "restrictions";
- (c) Except as shown in Schedule B, encroachments of buildings, structures, or improvements located on the land onto adjoining lands, or any encroachments onto the land of buildings, structures or improvements located on adjoining lands.

2. (a) Any future violations on the land of any "covenants", "conditions", or "restrictions" occurring prior to acquisition of title to the estate or interest referred to in Schedule A by the insured, provided such violations result in impairment or loss of the lien of the mortgage referred to in Schedule A, or result in impairment or loss of title to the estate or interest referred to in Schedule A if the insured shall acquire such title in satisfaction of the indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage;

- (b) Unmarketability of the title to the estate or interest referred to in Schedule A by reason of any violations on the land, occurring prior to acquisition of title to the estate or interest referred to in Schedule A by the insured, of any "covenants", "conditions", or "restrictions".

3. Damage to existing improvements, including lawns, shrubbery or trees

- (a) Which are located or encroach upon that portion of the land subject to any easement shown in Schedule B, which damage results from the exercise of the right to use or maintain such easement for the purposes for which the same was granted or reserved;
- (b) Resulting from the exercise of any right to use the surface of the land for the extraction or development of the minerals excepted from the description of the land or shown as a reservation in Schedule B.

4. Any final court order or judgment requiring removal from any land adjoining the land of any encroachment shown in Schedule B.

Wherever in this endorsement any or all of the words "covenants, conditions, or restrictions" appear, they shall not be deemed to refer to or include the terms "covenants", "conditions", or "restrictions" contained in any lease.

For purposes of this endorsement, the words "covenants", "conditions", or "restrictions" shall not be deemed to refer to or include any "covenants", "conditions", or "restrictions" relating to environmental protection, except to the extent that a notice of a violation or alleged violation affecting the land has been recorded in the public records at Date of Policy and is not excepted in Schedule B.

This endorsement is made a part of the policy and is subject to all of the terms and provisions thereof and of any prior endorsements thereto. Except to the extent expressly stated, it neither modifies any of the terms and provisions of the policy and any prior endorsements, nor does it extend the effective date of the policy and any prior endorsements, nor does it increase the face amount thereof.

4. DEFENSE AND PROSECUTION OF ACTIONS; DUTY OF INSURED CLAIMANT TO COOPERATE.

(a) Upon written request by the insured and subject to the options contained in Section 6 of these Conditions and Stipulations, the Company, at its own cost and without unreasonable delay, shall provide for the defense of an insured in litigation in which any third party asserts a claim adverse to the title or interest as insured, but only as to those stated causes of action alleging a defect, lien or encumbrance or other matter insured against by this policy. The Company shall have the right to select counsel of its choice (subject to the right of the insured to object for reasonable cause) to represent the insured as to those stated causes of action and shall not be liable for and will not pay the fees of any other counsel. The Company will not pay any fees, costs or expenses incurred by the insured in the defense of those causes of action which allege matters not insured against by this policy.

(b) The Company shall have the right, at its own cost, to institute and prosecute any action or proceeding or to do any other act which in its opinion may be necessary or desirable to establish the title to the estate or interest or the lien of the insured mortgage, as insured, or to prevent or reduce loss or damage to the insured. The Company may take any appropriate action under the terms of this policy, whether or not it shall be liable hereunder, and shall not thereby concede liability or waive any provision of this policy. If the Company shall exercise its rights under this paragraph, it shall do so diligently.

(c) Whenever the Company shall have brought an action or interposed a defense as required or permitted by the provisions of this policy, the Company may pursue any litigation to final determination by a court of competent jurisdiction and expressly reserves the right, in its sole discretion, to appeal from any adverse judgment or order.

(d) In all cases where this policy permits or requires the Company to prosecute or provide for the defense of any action or proceeding, the insured shall secure to the Company the right to so prosecute or provide defense in the action or proceeding, and all appeals therein, and permit the Company to use, at its option, the name of the insured for this purpose. Whenever requested by the Company, the insured, at the Company's expense, shall give the Company all reasonable aid (i) in any action or proceeding, securing evidence, obtaining witnesses, prosecuting or defending the action or proceeding, or effecting settlement, and (ii) in any other lawful act which in the opinion of the Company may be necessary or desirable to establish the title to the estate or interest or the lien of the insured mortgage, as insured. If the Company is prejudiced by the failure of the insured to furnish the required cooperation, the Company's obligations to the insured under the policy shall terminate, including any liability or obligation to defend, prosecute, or continue any litigation, with regard to the matter or matters requiring such cooperation.

5. PROOF OF LOSS OR DAMAGE.

In addition to and after the notices required under Section 3 of these Conditions and Stipulations have been provided the Company, a proof of loss or damage signed and sworn to by the insured claimant shall be furnished to the Company within 90 days after the insured claimant shall ascertain the facts giving rise to the loss or damage. The proof of loss or damage shall describe the defect in, or lien or encumbrance on the title, or other matter insured against by this policy which constitutes the basis of loss or damage and shall state, to the extent possible, the basis of calculating the amount of the loss or damage. If the Company is prejudiced by the failure of the insured claimant to provide the required proof of loss or damage, the Company's obligations to the insured under the policy shall terminate, including any liability or obligation to defend, prosecute, or continue any litigation, with regard to the matter or matters requiring such proof of loss or damage.

In addition, the insured claimant may reasonably be required to submit to examination under oath by any authorized representative of the Company and shall produce for examination, inspection and copying, at such reasonable times and places as may be designated by any authorized representative of the Company, all records, books, ledgers, checks, correspondence and memoranda, whether bearing a date before or after Date of Policy, which reasonably pertain to the loss or damage. Further, if requested by any authorized representative of the Company, the insured claimant shall grant its permission, in writing, for any authorized representative of the Company to examine, inspect and copy all records, books, ledgers, checks, correspondence and memoranda in the custody or control of a third party, which reasonably pertain to the loss or damage. All information designated as confidential by the insured claimant provided to the Company pursuant to this Section shall not be disclosed to others unless, in the reasonable judgment of the Company, it is necessary in the administration of the claim. Failure of the insured claimant to submit for examination under oath, produce other reasonably requested information or grant permission to secure reasonably necessary information from third parties as required in this paragraph, unless prohibited by law or governmental regulation, shall terminate any liability of the Company under this policy as to that claim.

6. OPTIONS TO PAY OR OTHERWISE SETTLE CLAIMS; TERMINATION OF LIABILITY.

In case of a claim under this policy, the Company shall have the following additional options:

(a) To Pay or Tender Payment of the Amount of Insurance or to Purchase the Indebtedness.

(i) to pay or tender payment of the amount of insurance under this policy together with any costs, attorneys' fees and expenses incurred by the insured claimant, which were authorized by the Company, up to the time of payment or tender of payment and which the Company is obligated to pay; or

(ii) to purchase the indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage for the amount owing thereon together with any costs, attorneys' fees and expenses incurred by the insured claimant which were authorized by the Company up to the time of purchase and which the Company is obligated to pay.

If the Company offers to purchase the indebtedness as herein provided, the owner of the indebtedness shall transfer, assign, and convey the indebtedness and the insured mortgage, together with any collateral security, to the Company upon payment therefor.

Upon the exercise by the Company of either of the options provided for in paragraphs (i) or (ii), all liability and obligations to the insured under this policy, other than to make the payment required in those paragraphs, shall terminate, including any liability or obligation to defend, prosecute, or continue any litigation, and the policy shall be surrendered to the Company for cancellation.

(b) To Pay or Otherwise Settle With Parties Other than the Insured or With the Insured Claimant.

(i) to pay or otherwise settle with other parties for or in the name of an insured claimant any claim insured against under this policy, together with any costs, attorneys' fees and expenses incurred by the insured claimant which were authorized by the Company up to the time of payment and which the Company is obligated to pay; or

(ii) to pay or otherwise settle with the insured claimant the loss or damage provided for under this policy, together with any costs, attorneys' fees and expenses incurred by the insured claimant which were authorized by the Company up to the time of payment and which the Company is obligated to pay.

Upon the exercise by the Company of either of the options provided for in paragraphs (i) or (ii), the Company's obligations to the insured under this policy for the claimed loss or damage, other than the payments required to be made, shall terminate, including any liability or obligation to defend, prosecute or continue any litigation.

7. DETERMINATION AND EXTENT OF LIABILITY.

This policy is a contract of indemnity against actual monetary loss or damage sustained or incurred by the insured claimant who has suffered loss or damage by reason of matters insured against by this policy and only to the extent herein described.

(a) The liability of the Company under this policy shall not exceed the least of:

(i) the Amount of Insurance stated in Schedule A, or, if applicable, the amount of insurance as defined in Section 2(c) of these Conditions and Stipulations;

(ii) the amount of the unpaid principal indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage as limited or provided under Section 8 of these Conditions and Stipulations or as reduced under Section 9 of these Conditions and Stipulations, at the time the loss or damage insured against by this policy occurs, together with interest thereon; or

(iii) the difference between the value of the insured estate or interest as insured and the value of the insured estate or interest subject to the defect, lien or encumbrance insured against by this policy.

(b) In the event the insured has acquired the estate or interest in the manner described in Section 2(c) of these Conditions and Stipulations or has conveyed the title, then the liability of the Company shall continue as set forth in Section 7(a) of these Conditions and Stipulations.

(c) The Company will pay only those costs, attorneys' fees and expenses incurred in accordance with Section 4 of these Conditions and Stipulations.

conditions and stipulations continued and concluded

8. LIMITATION OF LIABILITY.

(a) If the Company establishes the title, or removes the alleged defect, lien or encumbrance, or cures the lack of a right of access to or from the land, or cures the claim of unmarketability of title, or otherwise establishes the lien of the insured mortgage, all as insured, in a reasonably diligent manner by any method, including litigation and the completion of any appeals therefrom, it shall have fully performed its obligations with respect to that matter and shall not be liable for any loss or damage caused thereby.

(b) In the event of any litigation, including litigation by the Company or with the Company's consent, the Company shall have no liability for loss or damage until there has been a final determination by a court of competent jurisdiction, and disposition of all appeals therefrom, adverse to the title or to the lien of the insured mortgage, as insured.

(c) The Company shall not be liable for loss or damage to any insured for liability voluntarily assumed by the insured in settling any claim or suit without the prior written consent of the Company.

(d) The Company shall not be liable for: (i) any indebtedness created subsequent to Date of Policy except for advances made to protect the lien of the insured mortgage and secured thereby and reasonable amounts expended to prevent deterioration of improvements; or (ii) construction loan advances made subsequent to Date of Policy for the purpose of financing in whole or in part the construction of an improvement to the land which at Date of Policy were secured by the insured mortgage and which the insured was and continued to be obligated to advance on and after Date of Policy.

9. REDUCTION OF INSURANCE; REDUCTION OR TERMINATION OF LIABILITY.

(a) All payments under this policy, except payments made for costs, attorney's fees and expenses, shall reduce the amount of the insurance pro tanto. However, any payments made prior to the acquisition of title to the estate or interest as provided in Section 2(a) of these Conditions and Stipulations shall not reduce pro tanto the amount of the insurance afforded under this policy except to the extent that the payments reduce the amount of the indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage.

(b) Payment in part by any person of the principal of the indebtedness, or any other obligation secured by the insured mortgage, or any voluntary partial satisfaction or release of the insured mortgage, to the extent of the payment, satisfaction or release, shall reduce the amount of insurance pro tanto. The amount of insurance may thereafter be increased by accruing interest and advances made to protect the lien of the insured mortgage and secured thereby, with interest thereon, provided in no event shall the amount of insurance be greater than the Amount of Insurance stated in Schedule A.

(c) Payment in full by any person or the voluntary satisfaction or release of the insured mortgage shall terminate all liability of the Company except as provided in Section 2(a) of these Conditions and Stipulations.

10. LIABILITY NONCUMULATIVE.

If the insured acquires title to the estate or interest in satisfaction of the indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage, or any part thereof, it is expressly understood that the amount of insurance under this policy shall be reduced by any amount the Company may pay under any policy insuring a mortgage to which exception is taken in Schedule B or to which the insured has agreed, assumed, or taken subject, or which is hereafter executed by an insured and which is a charge or lien on the estate or interest described or referred to in Schedule A, and the amount so paid shall be deemed a payment under this policy.

11. PAYMENT OF LOSS.

(a) No payment shall be made without producing this policy for endorsement of the payment unless the policy has been lost or destroyed, in which case proof of loss or destruction shall be furnished to the satisfaction of the Company.

(b) When liability and the extent of loss or damage has been definitely fixed in accordance with these Conditions and Stipulations, the loss or damage shall be payable within 30 days thereafter.

12. SUBROGATION UPON PAYMENT OR SETTLEMENT.

(a) The Company's Right of Subrogation.

Whenever the Company shall have settled and paid a claim under this policy, all right of subrogation shall vest in the Company unaffected by any act of the insured claimant.

The Company shall be subrogated to and be entitled to all rights and remedies which the insured claimant would have had against any person or property in respect to the claim had this policy not been issued. If requested by the Company, the insured claimant shall transfer to the Company all rights and remedies against any person or property necessary in order to perfect this right of subrogation. The insured claimant shall permit the Company to sue, compromise or settle in the name of the insured claimant and to use the name of the insured claimant in any transaction or litigation involving these rights or remedies.

If a payment on account of a claim does not fully cover the loss of the insured claimant, the Company shall be subrogated to all rights and remedies of the insured claimant after the insured claimant shall have recovered its principal, interest, and costs of collection.

(b) The Insured's Rights and Limitations.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the owner of the indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage, provided the priority of the lien of the insured mortgage or its enforceability is not affected, may release or substitute the personal liability of any debtor or guarantor, or extend or otherwise modify the terms of payment, or release a portion of the estate or interest from the lien of the insured mortgage, or release any collateral security for the indebtedness.

When the permitted acts of the insured claimant occur and the insured has knowledge of any claim of title or interest adverse to the title to the estate or interest or the priority or enforceability of the lien of the insured mortgage, as insured, the Company shall be required to pay only that part of any losses insured against by this policy which shall exceed the amount, if any, lost to the Company by reason of the impairment by the insured claimant of the Company's right of subrogation.

(c) The Company's Rights Against Non-insured Obligors.

The Company's right of subrogation against non-insured obligors shall exist and shall include, without limitation, the rights of the insured to indemnities, guarantees, other policies of insurance or bonds, notwithstanding any terms or conditions contained in those instruments which provide for subrogation rights by reason of this policy.

The Company's right of subrogation shall not be avoided by acquisition of the insured mortgage by an obligor (except an obligor described in Section 1(a) (ii) of these Conditions and Stipulations) who acquires the insured mortgage as a result of an indemnity, guarantee, other policy of insurance, or bond and the obligor will not be an insured under this policy, notwithstanding Section 1(a)(i) of these Conditions and Stipulations.

13. ARBITRATION

Unless prohibited by applicable law, either the Company or the insured may demand arbitration pursuant to the Title Insurance Arbitration Rules of the American Arbitration Association. Arbitrable matters may include, but are not limited to, any controversy or claim between the Company and the insured arising out of or relating to this policy, any service of the Company in connection with its issuance or the breach of a policy provision or other obligation. All arbitrable matters when the Amount of Insurance is $1,000,000 or less shall be arbitrated at the option of either the Company or the insured. All arbitrable matters when the Amount of Insurance is in excess of $1,000,000 shall be arbitrated only when agreed to by both the Company and the insured. Arbitration pursuant to this policy and under the Rules in effect on the date the demand for arbitration is made or, at the option of the insured, the Rules in effect of Date of Policy shall be binding upon the parties. The award may include attorneys' fees only if the laws of the state in which the land is located permit a court to award attorneys' fees to a prevailing party. Judgment upon the award rendered by the Arbitrator(s) may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof.

The law of the situs of the land shall apply to an arbitration under the Title Insurance Arbitration Rules.

A copy of the Rules may be obtained from the Company upon request.

14. LIABILITY LIMITED TO THIS POLICY; POLICY ENTIRE CONTRACT.

(a) This policy together with all endorsements, if any, attached hereto by the Company is the entire policy and contract between the insured and the Company. In interpreting any provision of this policy, this policy shall be construed as a whole.

(b) Any claim of loss or damage, whether or not based on negligence, and which arises out of the status of the lien of the insured mortgage or of the title to the estate or interest covered hereby or by any action asserting such claim, shall be restricted to this policy.

(c) No amendment of or endorsement to this policy can be made except by a writing endorsed hereon or attached hereto signed by either the President, a Vice President, the Secretary, an Assistant Secretary, or validating officer or authorized signatory of the Company.

15. SEVERABILITY.

In the event any provision of this policy is held invalid or unenforceable under applicable law, the policy shall be deemed not to include that provision and all other provisions shall remain in full force and effect.

16. NOTICES, WHERE SENT.

All notices required to be given the Company and any statement in writing required to be furnished the Company shall include the number of this policy and shall be addressed to the Company at P.O. Box 2029, Houston, Texas 77252-2029. If you will send a copy of the policy, it will expedite and aid the prompt handling of claims hereunder.

In response to the above referenced application for a policy of life insurance, Stewart Title Guaranty Company hereby reports that it is proposed to issue, or cause to be issued, as of the date hereof, a Policy or Policies of Title Insurance describing the land and the assets or interest therein hereinafter set forth, marking against loss which may be sustained by reason of any defect, lien or encumbrance not shown referred to as an exception in Schedule B or not excluded from coverage pursuant to the printed Schedules, Conditions and Stipulations of said Policy forms.

The printed Exceptions and Exclusions from the coverage of said Policy or Policies are set forth in the attached list. Copies of the Policy forms should be read. They are available from the office which issued this report.

Please read the exceptions shown or referred to below and the exceptions and exclusions set forth in Exhibit "A" of this report carefully. The exceptions and exclusions are present to provide you with notice of an issue which are not covered under the terms of the life insurance policy and should be carefully examined.

It is important to note that this preliminary report is not a written representation as to the condition of title and may not list all liens, defects, and encumbrances affecting title to the land.

This report (and any supplements or amendments hereto) is issued solely for the purpose of facilitating the issuance of a policy of life insurance and no liability is assumed hereby. If it is desired that liability be assumed prior to the issuance of a policy of life insurance, a binder or contract must be prepared.

Trust Transfer Deed executed by Marc G. Helmer and Sharon L. Helmer, husband and wife as joint tenants to Mark S. Helmer and Sharon L. Helmer, trustees of the Helmer Family Revocable Trust recorded March 8, 2006, in Book 20060328, Page 582, Official Records.

Buyer's Note: If an All Risk Residential Owner's Policy is requested and if the property described herein is determined to be eligible for that policy, the following exceptions from coverage will appear in the policy:

1. Taxes or assessments which are not shown on files by the public records or by the records of any taxing authority.
2. (a) Water rights, claims or title to water; (b) reservation or exceptions in patents or in deeds authorizing the issuance thereof; (c) unperfected mining claims; whether or not the matters excluded under (a), (b) or (c) are shown by the public records.
3. Any rights, interests or claims of parties in possession of the land which are not shown by the public records.
4. Any encumbrances or liens not shown by the public records. This exception does not limit the lien coverage in item 2 of the Covered Title Policy.
5. Any facts about the land which a correct survey would disclose and which are not shown by the public records. This exception does not limit the forced removal coverage in item 12 of the Covered Title Policy.

Lender's Note: If a 1870 Altz Lender's Policy form has been requested, the policy, when and if approved for issuance, will either be endorsed to add the following language or an endorsement will be added to Schedule B, Part I as follows:

Any claim, which arises out of the transaction creating the interest of the mortgage insured by its policy, by reason of the operation of federal bankruptcy, state insolvency, or similar credit or rights laws, that is based on:

- (a) the transaction creating the interest of the insured mortgage being deemed a fraudulent conveyance or fraudulent transfer; or
- (b) the subordination of the interest of the insured mortgage as a result of the acquisition of the doctrine of equitable subordination; or
- (c) the transaction creating the interest of the insured mortgage being deemed a preferential transfer except where the preferential transfer results from the future.

- 6 Inevitably or unavailability of the lien of the insured mortgage, or claim thereof, which arises out of the transaction evidenced by the insured mortgage and is based upon usury or any equivalent credit protection or truth in lending law.
- 8 Any statutory lien for services, labor or materials (or the claim of priority of any statutory lien for services, labor or materials over the lien of the insured mortgage) existing from an improvement or work related to the land which is contracted for and determined subsequent to date of policy and is not insured in whole or in part by proceeds of the insurances secured by the insured mortgage which at date of policy the insured has advanced or is obligated to advance.
- 7 Any lien, which arises out of the transaction creating the interest of the mortgage insured by this policy, by reason of the operation of federal bankruptcy, state insolvency, or similar creditors' relief laws, and is based on:
 - (1) the transaction creating the interest of the insured mortgage being deemed a fraudulent conveyance or fraudulent transfer; or
 - (2) the substitution of the interest of the insured mortgage as a result of the application of the doctrine of equitable subordination; or
 - (3) the transaction creating the interest of the insured mortgage being deemed a preferential transfer; except where the preferential transfer results from the failure:
 - (a) to timely record the instrument of transfer; or
 - (b) of such recordation to impart notice to a purchaser for value or a judgment lien creditor.

The above policy forms may be issued to afford either standard coverage or extended coverage. In addition to the above exclusions from coverage, the scope of coverage in a standard coverage policy will also include the following General Exclusions:

Your house is your home. We want to keep it that way.

We need to talk -- call 1-866-926-8937 today.

You are going through tough times - we can help. In fact, we believe your home loan may be eligible for a loan modification program - we may be able to change the term of your loan, the interest rate, and maybe even the principal due date, to reduce the monthly payment to an amount you can afford.

Call us today at 1-866-926-8937 so we can help you turn things around. We'll discuss your current situation (outlined in the enclosed letter) and the options available to you. But we cannot stress enough that the longer you delay calling us, the fewer chances you may have to keep your home.

It will only take a few minutes on the phone - one of our Loan Specialists will work with you to determine the option that best fits your needs. There are several options available - call us now and let us see which one will work best for you.

We are committed to working with you to find a way to help you keep your home, but you must call us immediately at 1-866-926-8937 — the longer you delay, the fewer options you may have.

Homeowner's Assistance Department
 Washington Mutual
 1-866-926-8937

P. S. The enclosed legal letter outlines in detail, your current situation and the consequences that will occur unless we receive the required financial information from you and can approve you for a modification. Once you call us with the information needed, then we can work together to determine the option that will work best for you. We cannot guarantee that you will be approved, but your only chance of saving your home is by contacting us immediately. Please don't delay - call us now at 1-866-926-8937.

NOTICE OF COLLECTION ACTIVITY

RE:
 3622 W. Curtis Dr.
 Sacramento CA 95818

Dear Borrower:

The records of Washington Mutual Bank indicate that you have failed to make the required monthly payments under the terms of your Note ("Note") and related Mortgage or Deed of Trust, whichever is applicable ("Security Instrument") since 04/01/2009. As of today's date the total amount due and owing ("Total Amount Due") is:

Principal & Interest Payments:	$17070.32
Escrow:	$2470.44
Late Charges:	$1024.20
Outstanding Fees:	$21.70
Corporate Advance:	$11.00
Credits:	$3819.45

Total Amount Due: $16778.21

You may cure this default within thirty (30) days from date of letter. However, the amount that you owe may increase between the date of this letter and the date you reinstate the loan. This is because of interest, late charges, advances and other amounts that may continue to accrue or will be incurred. You will also owe the amount of any monthly or other payments and late charges that may fall due after the date of this letter. Therefore, you may not rely on the amount shown above to be sufficient to cure your loan delinquency after today. It is necessary for you to contact Washington Mutual at the address or telephone number on this letter to verify the exact amount necessary to cure your delinquency and reinstate your loan no more than 24 hours before you make any payment.

Failure to cure the default within the 30-day period may result in Washington Mutual Bank declaring the entire outstanding principal balance, accrued interest and any other fees and charges due under the terms of the Note and Security Instrument to be immediately due ("Acceleration"). If this amount is not immediately paid at such time, Washington Mutual Bank may exercise any and all remedies available under the terms of the Note and Security Instrument and applicable law, including the commencement of foreclosure proceedings which may result in the sale of your property.

After acceleration, you will have the right to assert any grounds you may have to prove the non-existence of a default. You may also reinstate your loan. In addition, you will have the right in any related foreclosure proceedings to assert any defense to acceleration, the foreclosure action and, if applicable, the eventual sale of your property pursuant to a court order or trustee power of sale.

Your prompt attention to this matter is required. Our goal is to help keep our customers in their homes with payments they can afford. You may contact our office to discuss your account status. The toll free number is 1-866-926-8937. A representative is available from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Eastern Time.

You can also find helpful resources and learn about alternatives to foreclosure by visiting our website: <http://www.Chase.com>

An important reminder for all our customers: As stated in the "Questions and Answers for Borrowers about the Homeowner Affordability and Stability Plan" distributed by the Obama Administration, "Borrowers should beware of any organization that attempts to charge a fee for housing counseling or modification of a delinquent loan, especially if they require a fee in advance." Washington Mutual offers loan modification assistance free of charge (i.e., no modification fee required). Please call us immediately at (866) 926-8937 to discuss your options. The longer you delay the fewer options you may have.

 Sacramento CA 95818

Dear Borrower:

The records of Washington Mutual Bank indicate that you have failed to make the required monthly payments under the terms of your Note ("Note") and related Mortgage or Deed of Trust, whichever is applicable ("Security Instrument") since 04/01/2009. As of today's date the total amount due and owing ("Total Amount Due") is:

Principal & Interest Payments:	$17070.32
Escrow:	$2470.44
Late Charges:	$1024.20
Outstanding Fees:	$21.70
Corporate Advance:	$11.00
Credits:	$3819.45

Total Amount Due: $16778.21

You may cure this default within thirty (30) days from date of letter. However, the amount that you owe may increase between the date of this letter and the date you reinstate the loan. This is because of interest, late charges, advances and other amounts that may continue to accrue or will be incurred. You will also owe the amount of any monthly or other payments and late charges that may fall due after the date of this letter. Therefore, you may not rely on the amount shown above to be sufficient to cure your loan delinquency after today. It is necessary for you to contact Washington Mutual at the address or telephone number on this letter to verify the exact amount necessary to cure your delinquency and reinstate your loan no more than 24 hours before you make any payment.

Failure to cure the default within the 30-day period may result in Washington Mutual Bank declaring the entire outstanding principal balance, accrued interest and any other fees and charges due under the terms of the Note and Security Instrument to be immediately due ("Acceleration"). If this amount is not immediately paid at such time, Washington Mutual Bank may exercise any and all remedies available under the terms of the Note and Security Instrument and applicable law, including the commencement of foreclosure proceedings which may result in the sale of your property.

After acceleration, you will have the right to assert any grounds you may have to prove the non-existence of a default. You may also reinstate your loan. In addition, you will have the right in any related foreclosure proceedings to assert any defense to acceleration, the foreclosure action and, if applicable, the eventual sale of your property pursuant to a court order or trustee power of sale.

This notice is of great importance since it affects your right to continue living in your home. If you do not understand the contents of this letter, obtain a translation immediately. If you do not contact our office toll free at (866) 926-8937 [TDD (904) 281-3935], you may lose your home.

Dear Laura Richardson:

We want to help you keep your home. If you missed your home loan payments because of a condition beyond your control (such as illness, loss of your job, or some other serious condition that temporarily made it impossible for you to make payments) please let us know, we may be able to offer you alternative options to foreclosure. To get the process started, please contact our homeownership preservation department toll-free 1-866-926-8937. We are also enclosing a Borrower Assistance Form. The Borrower Assistance Form asks you provide financial information to aid in our evaluation of your specific circumstances. It is important for you to complete and return the Borrower Assistance Form as soon as possible.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) provides the enclosure titled "Avoiding Foreclosure" which offers helpful information on counseling services available as well as answering many questions commonly asked. Foreclosure is a procedure in which your property is sold through auction to pay the outstanding debt owed on the loan. Therefore, it is important that you read the information carefully; it could assist you in preventing foreclosure.

For additional assistance and resources you should also contact HUD directly to find an approved Housing Counseling Agency closest to you. The toll-free number at HUD is (800)569-4287 [TDD (800)877-8339]. A counselor will review your financial situation and may be able to suggest how you can arrange to pay the overdue payment(s) and make timely mortgage loan payments in the future.

You are going through tough times - we can help. In fact, we believe your home loan may be eligible for a loan modification program - we may be able to change the term of your loan, the interest rate, and maybe even the principal due date, to reduce the monthly payment to an amount you can afford.

Call us today at 1-866-926-8937 so we can help you turn things around. We'll discuss your current situation (outlined in the enclosed letter) and the options available to you. But we cannot stress enough that the longer you delay calling us, the fewer chances you may have to keep your home.

It will only take a few minutes on the phone - one of our Loan Specialists will work with you to determine the option that best fits your needs. There are several options available - call us now and let us see which one will work best for you.

We are committed to working with you to find a way to help you keep your home, but you must call us immediately at 1-866-926-8937 — the longer you delay, the fewer options you may have.

P. S. The enclosed legal letter outlines in detail, your current situation and the consequences that will occur unless we receive the required financial information from you and can approve you for a modification. Once you call us with the information needed, then we can work together to determine the option that will work best for you. We cannot guarantee that you will be approved, but your only chance of saving your home is by contacting us immediately. Please don't delay - call us now at 1-866-926-8937.

NOTICE OF COLLECTION ACTIVITY

Dear Borrower:

The records of Washington Mutual Bank indicate that you have failed to make the required monthly payments under the terms of your Note ("Note") and related Mortgage or Deed of Trust, whichever is applicable ("Security Instrument") since 01/01/2009. As of today's date the total amount due and owing ("Total Amount Due") is:

Principal & Interest Payments:	$8535.16
Escrow:	$169.48
Late Charges:	$512.10
Outstanding Fees:	$0.00
Corporate Advance:	$0.00

Total Amount Due: $9216.74

You may cure this default within thirty (30) days from date of letter. However, the amount that you owe may increase between the date of this letter and the date you reinstate the loan. This is because of interest, late charges, advances and other amounts that may continue to accrue or will be incurred. You will also owe the amount of any monthly or other payments and late charges that may fall due after the date of this letter. Therefore, you may not rely on the amount shown above to be sufficient to cure your loan delinquency after today. It is necessary for you to contact Washington Mutual at the address or telephone number on this letter to verify the exact amount necessary to cure your delinquency and reinstate your loan no more than 24 hours before you make any payment.

Failure to cure the default within the 30-day period may result in Washington Mutual Bank declaring the entire outstanding principal balance, accrued interest and any other fees and charges due under the terms of the Note and Security Instrument to be immediately due ("Acceleration"). If this amount is not immediately paid at such time, Washington Mutual Bank may exercise any and all remedies available under the terms of the Note and Security Instrument and applicable law, including the commencement of foreclosure proceedings which may result in the sale of your property.

After acceleration, you will have the right to assert any grounds you may have to prove the non-existence of a default. You may also reinstate your loan. In addition, you will have the right in any related foreclosure proceedings to assert any defense to acceleration, the foreclosure action and, if applicable, the eventual sale of your property pursuant to a court order or trustee power of sale.

Your prompt attention to this matter is required. Our goal is to help keep our customers in their homes with payments they can afford. You may contact our office to discuss your account status. The toll free number is 1-866-926-8957. A representative is available from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Eastern Time.

You can also find helpful resources and learn about alternatives to foreclosure by visiting our website:

This notice is of great importance since it affects your right to continue living in your home. If you do not understand the contents of this letter, obtain a translation immediately. If you do not contact our office toll free at (866) 926-8937 [TDD (904) 281-3935], you may lose your home.

Dear Laura Richardson:

We want to help you keep your home. If you missed your home loan payments because of a condition beyond your control (such as illness, loss of your job, or some other serious condition that temporarily made it impossible for you to make payments) please let us know, we may be able to offer you alternative options to foreclosure. To get the process started, please contact our homeownership preservation department toll-free 1-866-926-8937. We are also enclosing a Borrower Assistance Form. The Borrower Assistance Form asks you provide financial information to aid in our evaluation of your specific circumstances. It is important for you to complete and return the Borrower Assistance Form as soon as possible.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) provides the enclosure titled "Avoiding Foreclosure" which offers helpful information on counseling services available as well as answering many questions commonly asked. Foreclosure is a procedure in which your property is sold through auction to pay the outstanding debt owed on the loan. Therefore, it is important that you read the information carefully; it could assist you in preventing foreclosure.

For additional assistance and resources you should also contact HUD directly to find an approved Housing Counseling Agency closest to you. The toll-free number at HUD is (800)569-4287 [TDD (800)877-8339]. A counselor will review your financial situation and may be able to suggest how you can arrange to pay the overdue payment(s) and make timely mortgage loan payments in the future.

Hello,

I am hoping that you can assist me with this Congressional complaint. I have called and left a message on her cell phone for her to call me. The situation as Jan describes it below is that the customer is attempting to bring the loan current. She is looking to obtain a reinstatement figure and prevent foreclosure. Can you please assist me with that?

Thanks.

Has called. She is attempting to reinstate her loan as she indicates she has the money and would like to stay with the payment plan she had before she had her problems. I understand from her that her problems began when she starting running for Congress- once she had just won the state assembly seat. The Congressional district she represents is San Pedro and Long Beach, CA. She believes there will be a foreclosure sale on the above referenced property on April 7, 2008. She wants to keep the house and again has indicated she has the $$ to pay the arrears and to pay this loan.

This one is sensitive. Contact numbers are: 562-7081- [redacted] cell, 202-225-7924 Congressional office, 310-538-1190- District office in CA. Please keep me posted. Thanks, J

Congresswoman Laura Richardson

Loan # [REDACTED]
Property address: 3622 W. Curtis Drive
Sacramento, CA 95818

Has called. She is attempting to reinstate her loan as she indicates she has the money and would like to stay with the payment plan she had before she had her problems. I understand from her that her problems began when she starting running for Congress- once she had just won the state assembly seat. The Congressional district she represents is San Pedro and Long Beach, CA. She believes there will be a foreclosure sale on the above referenced property on April 7, 2008. She wants to keep the house and again has indicated she has the $$ to pay the arrears and to pay this loan.

This one is sensitive. Contact numbers are: 662-706 [REDACTED] cell, 202-225-7924 Congressional office, 310-538-1190- District office in CA. Please keep me posted. Thanks, J

I have submitted the foreclosure hold for 60 days. Also, I emailed Fidelity to get the reinstatement figures good thru 4/30/08 as a rush. I should have them by EOB tomorrow.

Thanks.

Hello,

I am hoping that you can assist me with this Congressional complaint. I have called and left a message on her cell phone for her to call me. The situation as Jan describes it below is that the customer is attempting to bring the loan current. She is looking to obtain a reinstatement figure and prevent foreclosure. Can you please assist me with that?

Thanks.

Hi Terri-
Happy Almost Friday!!
Can I please get reinstatement figures for this loan as soon as possible? We need them good thru April 30 and it can include all fees and costs due.

Thank you! I appreciate you!

FEDEX SHIPPING LABEL

To prepare your package for shipment, you need to do the following:

1. Use the Print button in your browser to print this page to your laser printer.
2. Fold the first printed page in half and use as the shipping label. The second page is for your records, and contains both the terms and conditions of shipping, and information useful for tracking your package.
3. After printing the label, place it in a waybill pouch and affix it to your shipment so that the barcode portion of the label can be read and scanned.

Legal Terms and Conditions

Tendering packages by using this system constitutes your agreement to the service conditions for the transportation of your shipments as found in the applicable FedEx Service Guide, available upon request. FedEx will not be responsible for any claim in excess of the applicable declared value, whether the result of loss, damage, delay, non-delivery, misdelivery, or misinformation, unless you declare a higher value, pay an additional charge, document your actual loss and file a timely claim. Limitations found in the applicable FedEx Service Guide apply. Your right to recover from FedEx for any loss, including intrinsic value of the package, loss of sales, income interest, profit, attorney's fees, costs, and other forms of damage whether direct, incidental, consequential, or special is limited to the greater of $100 or the authorized declared value. Recovery cannot exceed actual documented loss. Maximum for items of extraordinary value is $500, e.g. jewelry, precious metals, negotiable instruments and other items listed in our Service Guide. Written claims must be filed within strict time limits, see applicable FedEx Service Guide. FedEx will not be liable for loss or damage to prohibited items in any event or for your acts or omissions, including, without limitation, improper or insufficient packaging, securing, marking or addressing, or the acts or omissions of the recipient or anyone else with an interest in the package. See the applicable FedEx Service Guide for complete terms and conditions. To obtain information regarding how to file a claim or to obtain a Service Guide, please call 1-800-GO-FEDEX (1-800-463-3339).

FEDEX SHIPPING LABEL

To prepare your package for shipment, you need to do the following:

1. Use the Print button in your browser to print this page to your laser printer.
2. Fold the first printed page in half and use as the shipping label. The second page is for your records, and contains both the terms and conditions of shipping, and information useful for tracking your package.
3. After printing the label, place it in a waybill pouch and affix it to your shipment so that the barcode portion of the label can be read and scanned.

Legal Terms and Conditions

Tendering packages by using this system constitutes your agreement to the service conditions for the transportation of your shipments as found in the applicable FedEx Service Guide, available upon request. FedEx will not be responsible for any claim in excess of the applicable declared value, whether the result of loss, damage, delay, non-delivery, misdelivery, or misinformation, unless you declare a higher value, pay an additional charge, document your actual loss and file a timely claim. Limitations found in the applicable FedEx Service Guide apply. Your right to recover from FedEx for any loss, including intrinsic value of the package, loss of sales, income interest, profit, attorney's fees, costs, and other forms of damage whether direct, incidental, consequential, or special is limited to the greater of $100 or the authorized declared value. Recovery cannot exceed actual documented loss. Maximum for items of extraordinary value is $500, e.g. jewelry, precious metals, negotiable instruments and other items listed in our Service Guide. Written claims must be filed within strict time limits, see applicable FedEx Service Guide. FedEx will not be liable for loss or damage to prohibited items in any event or for your acts or omissions, including, without limitation, improper or insufficient packaging, securing, marking or addressing, or the acts or omissions of the recipient or anyone else with an interest in the package. See the applicable FedEx Service Guide for complete terms and conditions.  - a. Servicing advances balances.
 - b. Potential reserve required for June close
 - c. Estimate of ongoing loss rate for future quarters
2. Berens will work with servicing team to assess current process

Please let me know if there are any questions or points of clarification. We will reconvene on Monday to get an update. Alison, please set a time before the Board meeting.

Re: Washington Mutual Loan Number:

Dear Ms. Richardson:

Your e-mail to Julie Mathis dated June 12, 2008 was forwarded to me. You indicated in your e-mail that you would be working on your Homeownership Preservation package over the June 14-15 weekend. I therefore expected to receive your updated financial information sometime on Monday. It is now Tuesday, and I still have not received anything from you, nor have you called to explain your delay.

As you know, in April, 2008, you contacted WaMu asking for the amount necessary to reinstate your loan. We sent you the reinstatement figures on April 17, 2008, along with a cover letter stating that we would postpone the foreclosure proceedings to June 4, 2008. Your property then went to foreclosure sale on May 7, 2008, where it was sold to the high bidder Red Rock Mortgage, Inc. At the time of the foreclosure sale, you were in default on your loan and there was not any loan workout or modification agreement in place between you and WaMu, as your prior request for a loan modification was denied.

Due in part to your comments to me that you fully intended to pay your obligation to WaMu, we honored our commitment to postpone the foreclosure sale by instructing the foreclosure trustee to record a Notice of Rescission of the foreclosure sale, thereby restoring legal title to the Property in your name.

Following the Notice of Rescission, we've had several telephone conversations where you reiterated your desire to fulfill your loan obligation. On May 28, 2008, Wendy Woodcock and I had a telephone conversation with you where we told you that you would have to send in updated financial information for review. We sent you the required forms on June 6, 2008, but they have not yet been completed and returned for our review.

Based on your most recent assurance that you would be working on providing the financial information over the June 14-15 weekend, we expect to have all of the information that we've requested by the end of the day on Friday, June 20, 2008. If we do not have all of the information requested, we will reschedule the foreclosure sale of your property.

Sincerely,

Ann Thorn

Calif. congresswoman's home threatened with repo

Thursday May 22, 11:49 am ET

by Don Thompson, Associated Press Writer

Calif. congresswoman's home threatened with repossession after she fails to pay mortgage

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) -- Rep. Laura Richardson has an unusual perspective on the housing foreclosure bills moving through Congress: One of her own homes was threatened with repossession after she failed to pay the mortgage.

Richardson, a Southern California Democrat, bought a two-story home in a leafy, upper-middle-class neighborhood of Sacramento in January 2007, just months after winning a seat in the state Assembly.

She bought the three-bedroom, 1 1/2-bath home in the state capital for $535,500. The bill collectors started knocking soon after, according to records reviewed Wednesday by The Associated Press.

The city utility department placed a lien on her property in June 2007 for $154 in unpaid bills, according to documents at the Sacramento County recorder's office. In December, she received a default notice on the mortgage from the collection agency of Washington Mutual Inc., her lender. At that point, she owed $18,356.

At the time, she had left the Legislature after a quick rise from the Long Beach City Council and moved to Washington after winning a special election to fill a vacant congressional seat. Richardson on Wednesday blamed the frequent job-shifting for financial problems related to the Sacramento property.

A default notice in March this year put the "unpaid balance and other expenses" at $578,384 and said her 1,639-square-foot house would be auctioned at a trustee sale.

County records show the property was sold to a company called Red Rock Mortgage Inc. of Sacramento for $388,000 -- although the county assessor's office continues to list Richardson as the owner. No listing could be found for Red Rock.

That sale was officially recorded Monday, according to the records. But Richards said the home was not in foreclosure and had not been seized.

"I have worked with my lender to complete a loan modification and have renegotiated the terms of the agreement -- with no special provisions," Richardson said in a statement Wednesday. "I fully intend to fulfill all financial obligations of this property."

Richardson's chief of staff, Kimberly Parker, told the AP that the mortgage on the home had been sold but that the house had not. The collection agency referred inquiries to Washington Mutual, which did not return a call.

CONFIDENTIAL

A real estate agent's lock box hung Wednesday from the front door of the 1926-vintage house.

Records at a Sacramento County tax office also show Richardson is delinquent in paying $8,950 in property taxes.

Richardson moved from the Long Beach City Council to her Assembly seat in 2006, and the next year won a special election to represent a heavily Democratic congressional district that includes Long Beach.

Congressional records show Richardson did not cast votes May 8 on three bills related to the Foreclosure Prevention Act. In her statement, she said she was away from Washington because of her father's funeral.

"I understand that these homeownership issues are a reflection of what many Americans are going through as they fight to keep their homes and to remain financially stable," Richardson said in her statement.

Associated Press writers Erica Werner in Washington and Samantha Young and Rich Pedroncelli in Sacramento contributed to this report.

- Ann. Advised of the cover letter + H/I grant on Sept.
Est. That was not the last conversation w/your office. I was of the understanding
I was on a repayment plan, resulting in the check I sent May 1st. The request that we pull all of the requisite notes to go over these with her.

us Ann went over the rescission process again to make sure she had a full understanding. Advised of the possibility that the 3rd party purchaser could file suit in return.

Cost Do you think it's possible to make the necessary happen without having to go to the next level?

us Ann advised after this has taken place, what are your intentions w/ this property? Another option is to stay in course, leaving the FE+ sale in place.

Cost. I would like to establish a repayment plan. I don't have another $13K or $37K, after having already sent you $12K back in March of early April or comm. I talked with Jan O'neal, I want to proceed with the repayment plan.

us Ann asked if she received the Cohen plan letter.

Cost I didn't realize you would return my money. I sent funds, not certified. I was away in Iraq & other places but had no understanding that the plan would continue, which is why I called Mrs. Qam.

Ann - Advised of the no deal.

Cost. I didn't understand the difference between the 100 and the repayment plan. I don't remember the name of the person that established the repayment plan. I just wanted to go back to the original plan and would like to do that now.

JPMC-001559

Us. Ann advised we will set up time to review the account so we can be prepared to set things on motion.

Cost Op. I'm just a little... I have to tell you I was my understanding that I had already qualified, and I don't want to go thru this again. My financial situation hasn't changed since October. →

I would have a serious problem if I qualified for something in March and then not qualify now. We've had these conversations before so you should be aware my situation hasn't changed since September.

10. Ann went over for loss of denial.

11. est. Lots where the problem occurred. I told you I didn't go through the full application process. I was told I would be sent an application I never received. I then contacted Jan Owen & during the conversation was of the understanding that the repayment plan had been re-established. All I'm asking is that Ann allow me to continue with the repayment plan & pay you back every time I owe.

12. Ann advised for reasons of the next steping Stone. I'm not sure of the timing.

Trustee Sale No. 723397CA Loan No.  Title Order No. M721884

IMPORTANT NOTICE
NOTICE OF DEFAULT AND ELECTION TO SELL UNDER DEED OF TRUST

IF YOUR PROPERTY IS IN FORECLOSURE BECAUSE YOU ARE BEHIND IN YOUR PAYMENTS, IT MAY BE SOLD WITHOUT ANY COURT ACTION. and you may have the legal right to bring your account in good standing by paying all of your past due payments plus permitted costs and expenses within the time permitted by law for reinstatement of your account, which is normally five business days prior to the date set for the sale of your property. No sale date may be set until three months from the date this notice of default may be recorded (which date of recordation appears on this notice).

This amount is $18,356.49 as of December 13, 2007 and will increase until your account becomes current.

While your property is in foreclosure, you still must pay other obligations (such as insurance and taxes) required by your note and deed of trust or mortgage. If you fail to make future payments on the loan, pay taxes on the property, provide insurance on the property, or pay other obligations as required in the note and deed of trust or mortgage, the beneficiary or mortgagee may insist that you do so in order to reinstate your account in good standing. In addition, the beneficiary or mortgagee may require as a condition to reinstatement that you provide reliable written evidence that you paid all senior liens, property taxes, and hazard insurance premiums.

Upon your written request, the beneficiary or mortgagee will give you a written itemization of the entire amount you must pay. You may not have to pay the entire unpaid portion of your account, even though full payment was demanded, but you must pay all amounts in default at the time payment is made. However, you and your beneficiary or mortgagee may mutually agree in writing prior to the time the notice of sale is posted (which may not be earlier than the end of the three-month period stated above) to, among other things, (1) provide additional time in which to cure the default by transfer of the property or otherwise; or (2) establish a schedule of payments in order to cure your default; or both (1) and (2).

Following the expiration of the time period referred to in the first paragraph of this notice, unless the obligation being foreclosed upon or a separate written agreement between you and your creditor permits a longer period, you have only the legal right to stop the sale of property by paying the entire amount demanded by your creditor.

To find out the amount you must pay, or to arrange for payment to stop the foreclosure, or if your property is in foreclosure for any other reason, contact: WASHINGTON MUTUAL BANK, FA at 7301 BAYMEADOWS WAY, JACKSONVILLE, FL 32256, (877) 926-8937.

If you have any questions, you should contact a lawyer or the governmental agency which may have insured your loan. Notwithstanding the fact that your property is in foreclosure, you may offer your property for sale, provided the sale is concluded prior to the conclusion of the foreclosure.

REMEMBER, YOU MAY LOSE LEGAL RIGHTS IF YOU DO NOT TAKE PROMPT ACTION. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT: CALIFORNIA RECONVEYANCE COMPANY is the duly appointed Trustee under a Deed of Trust dated 01/04/2007, executed by LAURA RICHARDSON, AN UNMARRIED WOMAN, as trustor, to secure obligations in favor of WASHINGTON MUTUAL BANK, as Beneficiary Recorded 01/10/2007, Book 20070110, Page 1818, Instrument of official records in the Office of the Recorder of SACRAMENTO County, California, as more fully described on said Deed of Trust. APN: 013-0303-001 Status: 3622 WEST CURTIS DRIVE, , SACRAMENTO, CA 95818 including the note(s) for the sum of $535,001.00 that the beneficial interest under said Deed of Trust and the obligations secured thereby are presently held by the beneficiary; that a breach of, and default in, the obligations for which said Deed of Trust is security has occurred in that the payment has not been made of: THE 08/01/2007 INSTALLMENT OF PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST AND ALL SUBSEQUENT MONTHLY INSTALLMENTS OF PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST; PLUS ANY ADDITIONAL ACCRUED AND UNPAID AMOUNTS INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, LATE CHARGES, ADVANCES, IMPOUNDS, TAXES, HAZARD INSURANCE, ADMINISTRATIVE FEES, INSUFFICIENT AND PARTIAL RETURN CHECK FEES; STATEMENT FEES, AND OBLIGATIONS SECURED BY PRIOR ENCUMBRANCES.

That by reason thereof, the present beneficiary under such Deed of Trust, has executed and delivered to said Trustee, a written Declaration and Demand for Sale, and has deposited with said duly appointed Trustee, such Deed of Trust and all documents evidencing the obligations secured thereby, and has declared and does hereby declare all sums secured thereby immediately due and payable and has elected and does hereby elect to cause the trust property to be sold to satisfy the obligations secured thereby.

Such term includes, but is not limited to, point-of-sale transfers, automated teller machine transactions, transfers initiated by telephone, wire transfers, and automated clearinghouse transfers.

(L) "Escrow Items" means those items that are described in Section 3.

(M) "Miscellaneous Proceeds" means any compensation, settlement, award of damages, or proceeds paid by any third party (other than insurance proceeds paid under the coverages described in Section 5) for: (i) damage to, or destruction of, the Property; (ii) condemnation or other taking of all or any part of the Property; (iii) conveyance in lieu of condemnation; or (iv) misrepresentations of, or omissions as to, the value and/or condition of the Property.

(N) "Mortgage Insurance" means insurance protecting Lender against the nonpayment of, or default on, the Loan.

(O) "Periodic Payment" means the regularly scheduled amount due for (i) principal and interest under the Note, plus (ii) any amounts under Section 3 of this Security Instrument.

(P) "RESPA" means the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act (12 U.S.C. Section 2601 et seq.) and its implementing regulation, Regulation X (24 C.F.R. Part 3500), as they might be amended from time to time, or any additional or successor legislation or regulation that governs the same subject matter. As used in this Security Instrument, "RESPA" refers to all requirements and restrictions that are imposed in regard to a "federally related mortgage loan" even if the Loan does not qualify as a "federally related mortgage loan" under RESPA.

(Q) "Successor in Interest of Borrower" means any party that has taken title to the Property, whether or not that party has assumed Borrower's obligations under the Note and/or this Security Instrument.

TRANSFER OF RIGHTS IN THE PROPERTY

This Security Instrument secures to Lender: (i) the repayment of the Loan, and all renewals, extensions and modifications of the Note; and (ii) the performance of Borrower's covenants and agreements under this Security Instrument and the Note. For this purpose, Borrower irrevocably grants and conveys to Trustee, in trust, with power of sale, the following described property located in the County of SACRAMENTO

TOGETHER WITH all the improvements now or hereafter erected on the property, and all easements, appurtenances, and fixtures now or hereafter a part of the property. All replacements and additions shall also be covered by this Security Instrument. All of the foregoing is referred to in this Security Instrument as the "Property."

BORROWER COVENANTS that Borrower is lawfully seized of the estate hereby conveyed and has the right to grant and convey the Property and that the Property is unencumbered, except for encumbrances of record. Borrower warrants and will defend generally the title to the Property against all claims and demands, subject to any encumbrances of record.

THIS SECURITY INSTRUMENT combines uniform covenants for national use and non-uniform covenants with limited variations by jurisdiction to constitute a uniform security instrument covering real property.

UNIFORM COVENANTS. Borrower and Lender covenant and agree as follows:

1. Payment of Principal, Interest, Escrow Items, Prepayment Charges, and Late Charges. Borrower shall pay when due the principal of, and interest on, the debt evidenced by the Note and any prepayment charges and late charges due under the Note. Borrower shall also pay funds for Escrow items pursuant to Section 3. Payments due under the Note and this Security Instrument shall be made in U.S.

currency. However, if any check or other instrument received by Lender as payment under the Note or this Security Instrument is returned to Lender unpaid, Lender may require that any or all subsequent payments due under the Note and this Security Instrument be made in one or more of the following forms, as selected by Lender: (a) cash; (b) money order; (c) certified check, bank check, treasurer's check or cashier's check, provided any such check is drawn upon an institution whose deposits are insured by a federal agency, instrumentally, or electronically; or (d) Electronic Funds Transfer.

Payments are deemed received by Lender when received at the location designated in the Note or at such other location as may be designated by Lender in accordance with the notice provisions in Section 15. Lender may return any payment or partial payment if the payment or partial payments are insufficient to bring the Loan current. Lender may accept any payment or partial payment insufficient to bring the Loan current, without waiver of any rights hereunder or prejudice to its rights to refuse such payment or partial payments in the future, but Lender is not obligated to apply such payments at the time such payments are accepted. If each Periodic Payment is applied as of its scheduled due date, then Lender need not pay interest on unapplied funds. Lender may hold such unapplied funds until Borrower makes payment to bring the Loan current. If Borrower does not do so within a reasonable period of time, Lender shall either apply such funds or return them to Borrower. If not applied earlier, such funds will be applied to the outstanding principal balance under the Note immediately prior to foreclosure. No offset or claim which Borrower might have now or in the future against Lender shall relieve Borrower from making payments due under the Note, and this Security Instrument or performing the covenants and agreements secured by this Security Instrument.

Z. Application of Payments or Proceeds. Except as otherwise described in this Section 2, all payments accepted and applied by Lender shall be applied in the following order of priority: (a) interest due under the Note; (b) principal due under the Note; (c) amounts due under Section 3. Such payments shall be applied to each Periodic Payment in the order in which it became due. Any remaining amounts shall be applied first to late charges, second to any other amounts due under this Security Instrument, and then to reduce the principal balance of the Note.

If Lender receives a payment from Borrower for a delinquent Periodic Payment which includes a sufficient amount to pay any late charge due, the payment may be applied to the delinquent payment and the late charge. If more than one Periodic Payment is outstanding, Lender may apply any payment received from Borrower to the repayment of the Periodic Payments if, and to the extent that, each payment can be paid in full. To the extent that any excess exists after the payment is applied to the full payment of one or more Periodic Payments, such excess may be applied to any late charges due. Voluntary prepayments shall be applied first to any prepayment charges and then as described in the Note.

Any application of payments, insurance proceeds, or Miscellaneous Proceeds to principal due under the Note shall not extend or postpone the due date, or change the amount, of the Periodic Payments.

3. Funds for Escrow Items. Borrower shall pay to Lender on the day Periodic Payments are due under the Note, until the Note is paid in full, a sum (the "Funds") to provide for payment of amounts due for: (a) taxes and assessments and other items which can attain priority over this Security Instrument as a lien or encumbrance on the Property; (b) leasehold payments or ground rents on the Property, if any; (c) premiums for any and all insurance required by Lender under Section 5; and (d) Mortgage Insurance premiums, if any, or any sums payable by Borrower to Lender in lieu of the payment of Mortgage Insurance premiums in accordance with the provisions of Section 10. These items are called "Escrow Items." At origination or at any time during the term of the Loan, Lender may require that Community Association Dues, Fees, and Assessments, if any, be escrowed by Borrower, and such dues, fees and assessments shall be an Escrow Item. Borrower shall promptly furnish to Lender all notices of amounts to be paid under this Section. Borrower shall pay Lender the Funds for Escrow Items unless Lender waives Borrower's obligation to pay the Funds for any or all Escrow Items. Lender may waive Borrower's obligation to pay to Lender Funds for any or all Escrow Items at any time. Any such waiver may only be in writing. In the event of such waiver, Borrower shall pay directly, when and where payable, the amounts due for any Escrow Items for which payment of Funds has been waived by Lender and, if Lender requires, shall furnish to Lender receipts evidencing such payment within such time period as Lender may require. Borrower's obligation to make such payments and to provide receipts shall for all purposes be deemed to be a covenant and agreement contained in this Security Instrument, as the phrase "covenant and agreement" is used in Section 3. If Borrower is obligated to pay Escrow Items directly, pursuant to a waiver, and Borrower fails to pay the amount due for an Escrow Item, Lender may exercise its rights under Section 9 and pay such amount and Borrower shall then be obligated under Section 9 to repay to Lender any such amount. Lender may revoke the waiver as to any of all Escrow Items at any time by a notice given in accordance with Section 15 and, upon such revocation, Borrower shall pay to Lender all Funds, and in such amounts, that are then required under this Section 3.

Lender may, at any time, collect and hold Funds in an amount (a) sufficient to permit Lender to apply the Funds at the time specified under RESPA, and (b) not to exceed the maximum amount a lender can require under RESPA. Lender shall estimate the amount of Funds due on the basis of current data and reasonable estimates of expenditures of future Escrow Items or otherwise in accordance with Applicable Law.

The Funds shall be held in an institution whose deposits are insured by a federal agency, insurably, or entity (including Lender, if Lender is an institution whose deposits are so insured) or in any Federal Home Loan Bank. Lender shall apply the Funds to pay the Escrow Items no later than the time specified under RESPA. Lender shall not charge Borrower for holding and applying the Funds, annually analyzing the escrow account, or verifying the Escrow Items, unless Lender pays Borrower interest on the Funds and Applicable Law permits Lender to make such a charge. Unless an agreement is made in writing or Applicable Law requires interest to be paid on the Funds, Lender shall not be required to pay Borrower any interest or earnings on the Funds. Borrower and Lender can agree in writing, however, that interest shall be paid on the Funds. Lender shall give to Borrower, without charge, an annual accounting of the Funds as required by RESPA.

If there is a surplus of Funds held in escrow, as defined under RESPA, Lender shall account to Borrower for the excess funds in accordance with RESPA. If there is a shortage of Funds held in escrow, as defined under RESPA, Lender shall notify Borrower as required by RESPA, and Borrower shall pay to Lender the amount necessary to make up the shortage in accordance with RESPA, but in no more than 12 monthly payments. If there is a deficiency of Funds held in escrow, as defined under RESPA, Lender shall notify Borrower as required by RESPA, and Borrower shall pay to Lender the amount necessary to make up the deficiency in accordance with RESPA, but in no more than 12 monthly payments.

Upon payment in full of all sums secured by this Security Instrument, Lender shall promptly refund to Borrower any Funds held by Lender.

4. Charges, Liens. Borrower shall pay all taxes, assessments, charges, fines, and impositions attributable to the Property which can attain priority over this Security Instrument, lesshold payments or ground rents on the Property, if any, and Community Association Dues, Fees, and Assessments, if any. To the extent that these items are Escrow Items, Borrower shall pay them in the manner provided in Section 3.

Borrower shall promptly discharge any lien which has priority over this Security Instrument unless Borrower: (a) agrees in writing to the payment of the obligation secured by the lien in a manner acceptable to Lender, but only so long as Borrower is performing such agreement; (b) contests the lien in good faith by, or defends against enforcement of the lien in, legal proceedings which in Lender's opinion operate to prevent the enforcement of the lien while those proceedings are pending, but only until such proceedings are concluded; or (c) secures from the holder of the lien an agreement satisfactory to Lender subordinating the lien to this Security Instrument. If Lender determines that any part of the Property is subject to a lien which can attain priority over this Security Instrument, Lender may give Borrower a notice identifying the lien. Within 10 days of the date on which that notice is given, Borrower shall satisfy the lien or take one or more of the actions set forth above in this Section 4.

Lender may require Borrower to pay a one-time charge for a real estate tax verification and/or reporting service used by Lender in connection with this Loan.

5. Property Insurance. Borrower shall keep the improvements now existing or hereafter erected on the Property insured against loss by fire, hazards included within the term "extended coverage," and any other hazards including, but not limited to, earthquakes and floods, for which Lender requires insurance. This insurance shall be maintained in the amounts (including deductible levels) and for the periods that Lender requires. What Lender requires pursuant to the preceding sentences can change during the term of the Loan. The insurance carrier providing the insurance shall be chosen by Borrower subject to Lender's right to disapprove Borrower's choice, which right shall not be exercised unreasonably. Lender may require Borrower to pay, in connection with this Loan, either: (a) a one-time charge for flood zone determination, certification and tracking services; or (b) a one-time charge for flood zone determination and certification services and subsequent charges each time remappings or similar changes occur which reasonably might affect such determination or certification. Borrower shall also be responsible for the payment of any fees imposed by the Federal Emergency Management Agency in connection with the review of any flood zone determination resulting from an objection by Borrower.

If Borrower fails to maintain any of the coverages described above, Lender may obtain insurance coverage, at Lender's option and Borrower's expense. Lender is under no obligation to purchase any particular type or amount of coverage. Therefore, such coverage shall cover Lender, but might or might not protect Borrower. Borrower's equity in the Property, or the contents of the Property, against any risk, hazard or liability and might provide greater or lesser coverage than was previously in effect. Borrower acknowledges that the cost of the insurance coverage so obtained might significantly exceed the cost of insurance that Borrower could have obtained. Any amounts disbursed by Lender under this Section 5 shall become additional debt of Borrower secured by this Security Instrument. These amounts shall bear interest at the Note rate from the date of disbursement and shall be payable, with such interest, upon notice from Lender to Borrower requesting payment.

All insurance policies required by Lender and renewals of such policies shall be subject to Lender's right to disapprove such policies, shall include a standard mortgage clause, and shall name Lender as mortgagee and/or as an additional loss payee and Borrower further agrees to generally assign rights to insurance proceeds to the holder of the Note up to the amount of the outstanding loan balance. Lender shall have the right to hold the policies and renewal certificates. If Lender requires, Borrower shall promptly give to Lender all receipts of paid premiums and renewal notices. If Borrower obtains any form of insurance coverage, not otherwise required by Lender, for damage to, or destruction of, the Property, such policy shall include a standard mortgage clause and shall name Lender as mortgagee and/or as an additional loss payee and Borrower further agrees to generally assign rights in insurance proceeds to the holder of the Note up to the amount of the outstanding loan balance.

In the event of loss, Borrower shall give prompt notice to the insurance carrier and Lender. Lender may make proof of loss if not made promptly by Borrower. Unless Lender and Borrower otherwise agree in writing, any insurance proceeds, whether or not the underlying insurance was required by Lender, shall be applied to restoration or repair of the Property, if the restoration or repair is economically feasible and Lender's security is not lessened. During such repair and restoration period, Lender shall have the right to hold such insurance proceeds until Lender has had an opportunity to inspect such Property to ensure the work has been completed to Lender's satisfaction, provided that such inspection shall be undertaken promptly. Lender may disburse proceeds for the repairs and restoration in a single payment or in a series of progress payments as the work is completed. Unless an agreement is made in writing or Applicable Law requires interest to be paid on such insurance proceeds, Lender shall not be required to pay Borrower any interest or earnings on such proceeds. Fees for public adjusters, or other third parties, retained by Borrower shall not be paid out of the insurance proceeds and shall be the sole obligation of Borrower. If the restoration or repair is not economically feasible or Lender's security would be lessened, the insurance proceeds shall be applied to the sum secured by this Security Instrument, whether or not then due, with the excess, if any, paid to Borrower. Such insurance proceeds shall be applied in the order provided for in Section 2.

If Borrower abandons the Property, Lender may file, negotiate and settle any available insurance claim and related matters. If Borrower does not respond within 30 days to a notice from Lender that the insurance carrier has offered to settle a claim, then Lender may negotiate and settle the claim. The 30-day period will begin when the notice is given. In either event, or if Lender acquires the Property under Section 22 or otherwise, Borrower hereby assigns to Lender (a) Borrower's rights to any insurance proceeds in an amount not to exceed the amounts unpaid under the Note or this Security Instrument, and (b) any other of Borrower's rights (other than the right to any refund of unearned premiums paid by Borrower) under all insurance policies covering the Property, insofar as such rights are applicable to the coverage of the Property. Lender may use the insurance proceeds either to repair or restore the Property or to pay amounts unpaid under the Note or this Security Instrument, whether or not then due.

6. Occupancy. Borrower shall occupy, establish, and use the Property as Borrower's principal residence within 60 days after the execution of this Security Instrument and shall continue to occupy the Property as Borrower's principal residence for at least one year after the date of occupancy, unless Lender otherwise agrees in writing, which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld, or unless extenuating circumstances exist which are beyond Borrower's control.

7. Preservation, Maintenance and Protection of the Property; Inspections. Borrower shall not destroy, damage or impair the Property, allow the Property to deteriorate or commit waste on the Property. Whether or not Borrower is residing in the Property, Borrower shall maintain the Property in order to prevent the Property from deteriorating or decreasing in value due to its condition. Unless it is determined pursuant to Section 5 that repair or restoration is not economically feasible, Borrower shall promptly repair the Property if damaged to avoid further deterioration or damage. If insurance or condemnation proceeds are paid in connection with damage to, or the taking of, the Property, Borrower shall be responsible for repairing or restoring the Property only if Lender has released proceeds for such purposes. Lender may disburse proceeds for the repairs and restoration in a single payment or in a series of progress payments as the work is completed. If the insurance or condemnation proceeds are not sufficient to repair or restore the Property, Borrower is not relieved of Borrower's obligation for the completion of such repair or restoration.

Lender or its agent may make reasonable entries upon and inspections of the Property. If it has reasonable cause, Lender may inspect the interior of the improvements on the Property. Lender shall give Borrower notice at the time of or prior to such an interior inspection specifying such reasonable cause.

8. Borrower's Loan Application. Borrower shall be in default if, during the Loan application process, Borrower or any persons or entities acting at the direction of Borrower or with Borrower's knowledge or consent gave materially false, misleading, or inaccurate information or statements to Lender (or failed to provide Lender with material information) in connection with the Loan. Material representations include, but are not limited to, representations concerning Borrower's occupancy of the Property as Borrower's principal residence.

9. Protection of Lender's Interest in the Property and Rights Under this Security Instrument. If (a) Borrower fails to perform the covenants and agreements contained in this Security Instrument, (b) there is a legal proceeding that might significantly affect Lender's interest in the Property and/or rights under this Security Instrument (such as a proceeding in bankruptcy, probate, for condemnation or forfeiture, for enforcement of a lien which may attain priority over this Security Instrument or to enforce laws or regulations), or (c) Borrower has abandoned the Property, then Lender may do and pay for whatever is reasonable or appropriate to protect Lender's interest in the Property and rights under this Security Instrument, including protecting and/or assessing the value of the Property, and securing and/or repairing the Property. Lender's actions can include, but are not limited to: (a) paying any sums secured by a lien which has priority over this Security Instrument; (b) appearing in court; and (c) paying reasonable attorneys' fees to protect its interest in the Property and/or rights under this Security Instrument, including its secured position in a bankruptcy proceeding. Securing the Property includes, but is not limited to, entering the Property to make repairs, change locks, replace or board up doors and windows, drain water from pipes, eliminate building or other code violations or dangerous conditions, and have utilities turned on or off. Although Lender may take action under this Section 9, Lender does not have to do so and is not under any duty or obligation to do so. It is agreed that Lender incurs no liability for not taking any or all actions authorized under this Section 9.

Any amounts disbursed by Lender under this Section 9 shall become additional debt of Borrower secured by this Security Instrument. These amounts shall bear interest at the Note rate from the date of disbursement and shall be payable, with such interest, upon notice from Lender to Borrower requesting payment.

If this Security Instrument is on a leasehold, Borrower shall comply with all the provisions of the lease. If Borrower acquires fee title to the Property, the leasehold and the fee title shall not merge unless Lender agrees to the merger in writing.

10. Mortgage Insurance. If Lender required Mortgage Insurance as a condition of making the Loan, Borrower shall pay the premiums required to maintain the Mortgage Insurance in effect. If, for any reason, the Mortgage Insurance coverage required by Lender ceases to be available from the mortgage insurer that previously provided such insurance and Borrower was required to make separately designated payments toward the premiums for Mortgage Insurance, Borrower shall pay the premiums required to obtain coverage substantially equivalent to the Mortgage Insurance previously in effect, at a cost substantially equivalent to the cost to Borrower of the Mortgage Insurance previously in effect, from an alternate mortgage insurer selected by Lender. If substantially equivalent Mortgage Insurance coverage is not available, Borrower shall continue to pay to Lender the amount of the separately designated payments that were due when the insurance coverage ceased to be in effect. Lender will accept, use and retain these payments as a non-refundable loss reserve in lieu of Mortgage Insurance. Such loss reserve shall be non-refundable, notwithstanding the fact that the Loan is ultimately paid in full, and Lender shall not be required to pay Borrower any interest or earnings on such loss reserve. Lender can no longer require loss reserve payments if Mortgage Insurance coverage (in the amount and for the period that Lender requires) provided by an insurer selected by Lender again becomes available, is obtained, and Lender requires separately designated payments toward the premiums for Mortgage Insurance. If Lender required Mortgage Insurance as a condition of making the Loan and Borrower was required to make separately designated payments toward the premiums for Mortgage Insurance, Borrower shall pay the premiums required to maintain Mortgage Insurance in effect, or to provide a non-refundable loss reserve, until Lender's requirement for Mortgage Insurance ends in accordance with any written agreement between Borrower and Lender providing for such termination or until termination is required by Applicable Law. Nothing in this Section 10 affects Borrower's obligation to pay interest at the rate provided in the Note.

Mortgage Insurance reimburses Lender (or any entity that purchases the Note) for certain losses it may incur if Borrower does not repay the Loan as agreed. Borrower is not a party to the Mortgage Insurance.

Mortgage Insurers evaluate their total risk on all such insurance in force from time to time, and may enter into agreements with other parties that share or modify their risk, or reduce losses. These agreements are on terms and conditions that are satisfactory to the mortgage insurer and the other party (or parties) to these agreements. These agreements may require the mortgage insurer to make payments using any source of funds that the mortgage insurer may have available (which may include funds obtained from Mortgage Insurance premiums).

As a result of these agreements, Lender, any purchaser of the Note, another insurer, any reinsurer, any other entity, or any affiliate of any of the foregoing, may receive (directly or indirectly) amounts that derive from (or might be characterized as) a portion of Borrower's payments for Mortgage Insurance, in exchange for sharing or modifying the mortgage insurer's risk, or reducing losses. If such agreement provides that an affiliate of Lender takes a share of the insurer's risk in exchange for a share of the premiums paid to the insurer, the arrangement is often termed "captive reinsurance." Further:

(a) Any such agreements will not affect the amounts that Borrower has agreed to pay for Mortgage Insurance, or any other terms of the Loan. Such agreements will not increase the amount Borrower will owe for Mortgage Insurance, and they will not entitle Borrower to any refund.

(U) Any such agreements will not affect the rights Borrower has - if any - with respect to the Mortgage Insurance under the Homeowner's Protection Act of 1998 or any other law. These rights may include the right to receive certain disclosures, to request and obtain cancellation of the Mortgage Insurance, to have the Mortgage Insurance terminated automatically, and/or to receive a refund of any Mortgage Insurance premiums that were unearned at the time of such cancellation or termination.

11. Assignment of Miscellaneous Proceeds; Forfeiture. All Miscellaneous Proceeds are hereby assigned and shall be paid to Lender.
If the Property is damaged, such Miscellaneous Proceeds shall be applied to restoration or repair of the Property, if the restoration or repair is economically feasible and Lender's security is not lessened. During such repair and restoration period, Lender shall have the right to hold such Miscellaneous Proceeds until Lender has had an opportunity to inspect such Property to ensure the work has been completed to Lender's satisfaction, provided that such inspection shall be undertaken promptly. Lender may pay for the repairs and restoration in a single disbursement or in a series of progress payments as the work is completed. Unless an agreement is made in writing or Applicable Law requires interest to be paid on such Miscellaneous Proceeds, Lender shall not be required to pay Borrower any interest or earnings on such Miscellaneous Proceeds. If the restoration or repair is not economically feasible or Lender's security would be lessened, the Miscellaneous Proceeds shall be applied to the sums secured by this Security Instrument, whether or not then due, with the excess, if any, paid to Borrower. Such Miscellaneous Proceeds shall be applied in the order provided for in Section 2.

In the event of a total taking, destruction, or loss in value of the Property, the Miscellaneous Proceeds shall be applied to the sums secured by this Security Instrument, whether or not then due, with the excess, if any, paid to Borrower.

In the event of a partial taking, destruction, or loss in value of the Property in which the fair market value of the Property immediately before the partial taking, destruction, or loss in value is equal to or greater than the amount of the sums secured by this Security Instrument immediately before the partial taking, destruction, or loss in value, unless Borrower and Lender otherwise agree in writing, the sums secured by this Security Instrument shall be reduced by the amount of the Miscellaneous Proceeds multiplied by the following fraction: (a) the total amount of the sums secured immediately before the partial taking, destruction, or loss in value divided by (b) the fair market value of the Property immediately before the partial taking, destruction, or loss in value. Any balance shall be paid to Borrower.

In the event of a partial taking, destruction, or loss in value of the Property in which the fair market value of the Property immediately before the partial taking, destruction, or loss in value is less than the amount of the sums secured immediately before the partial taking, destruction, or loss in value, unless Borrower and Lender otherwise agree in writing, the Miscellaneous Proceeds shall be applied to the sums secured by this Security Instrument whether or not the sums are then due.

If the Property is abandoned by Borrower, or if, after notice by Lender to Borrower that the Opposing Party (as defined in the next sentence) offers to make an award to settle a claim for damages, Borrower fails to respond to Lender within 30 days after the date the notice is given, Lender is authorized to collect and apply the Miscellaneous Proceeds either to restoration or repair of the Property or to the sums secured by this Security Instrument, whether or not then due. "Opposing Party" means the third party that owes Borrower Miscellaneous Proceeds or the party against whom Borrower has a right of action in regard to Miscellaneous Proceeds.

Borrower shall be in default if any action or proceeding, whether civil or criminal, is begun that, in Lender's judgment, could result in forfeiture of the Property or other material impairment of Lender's interest in the Property or rights under this Security Instrument. Borrower can cure such a default and, if acceleration has occurred, rescind as provided in Section 19, by causing the action or proceeding to be dismissed with a ruling that, in Lender's judgment, precludes forfeiture of the Property or other material impairment of Lender's interest in the Property or rights under this Security Instrument. The proceeds of any award or claim for damages that are attributable to the impairment of Lender's interest in the Property are hereby assigned and shall be paid to Lender.

All Miscellaneous Proceeds that are not applied to restoration or repair of the Property shall be applied in the order provided for in Section 2.

12. Borrower Not Released; Forbearance By Lender Not a Waiver. Extension of the time for payment or modification of amortization of the sums secured by this Security Instrument granted by Lender to Borrower or any Successor in Interest of Borrower shall not operate to release the liability of Borrower or any Successors in Interest of Borrower. Lender shall not be required to commence proceedings against any Successor in Interest of Borrower or to refuse to extend time for payment or otherwise modify authorization of the sums secured by this Security Instrument by reason of any demand made by the original Borrower or any Successors in Interest of Borrower. Any forbearance by Lender in exercising any right or remedy including, without limitation, Lender's acceptance of payments from third persons, entities or Successors in Interest of Borrower or in amounts less than the amount then due, shall not be a waiver of or preclude the exercise of any right or remedy.

13. Joint and Several Liability Co-signers, Successors and Assigns Bound. Borrower covenants and agrees that Borrower's obligations and liability shall be joint and several. However, any Borrower who co-signs this Security Instrument but does not execute the Note (a "co-signer"); (a) is co-signing this Security Instrument only to mortgage, grant and convey the co-signer's interest in the Property under the terms of this Security Instrument; (b) is not personally obligated to pay the sums secured by this Security Instrument; and (c) agrees that Lender and any other Borrower can agree to extend, modify, forbear or make any accommodations with regard to the terms of this Security Instrument of the Note without the co-signer's consent.

Subject to the provisions of Section 18, any Successor in Interest of Borrower who assumes Borrower's obligations under this Security Instrument in writing, and is approved by Lender, shall obtain all of Borrower's rights and benefits under this Security Instrument. Borrower shall not be released from Borrower's obligations and liability under this Security Instrument unless Lender agrees to such release in writing. The covenants and agreements of this Security Instrument shall bind (except as provided in Section 20) and benefit the successors and assigns of Lender.

14. Loan Charges. Lender may charge Borrower fees for services performed in connection with Borrower's default, for the purpose of protecting Lender's interest in the Property and rights under this Security Instrument, including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees, property inspection and valuation fees. In regard to any other fees, the absence of express authority in this Security Instrument to charge a specific fee in Borrower shall not be construed as a prohibition on the charging of such fee. Lender may not charge fees that are expressly prohibited by this Security Instrument or by Applicable Law.

If the Loan is subject to a law which sets maximum loan charges, and that law is finally interpreted so that the interest or other loan charges collected or to be collected in connection with the Loan exceed the permitted limits, then (a) any such loan charge shall be reduced by the amount necessary to reduce the charge to the permitted limit; and (b) any sums already collected from Borrower which exceeded permitted limits will be refunded to Borrower. Lender may choose to make the refund by reducing the principal owed under the Note or by making a direct payment to Borrower. If a refund reduces principal, the reduction will be treated as a partial prepayment without any prepayment charge (whether or not a prepayment charge is provided for under the Note). Borrower's acceptance of any such refund made by direct payment to Borrower will constitute a waiver of any right of action Borrower might have arising out of such overcharge.

15. Notices. All notices given by Borrower or Lender in connection with this Security Instrument must be in writing. Any notice to Borrower in connection with this Security Instrument shall be deemed to have been given to Borrower when mailed by first class mail or when actually delivered to Borrower's notice address if sent by other means. Notice to any one Borrower shall constitute notice to all Borrowers unless Applicable Law expressly requires otherwise. The notice address shall be the Property Address unless Borrower has designated a substitute notice address by notice to Lender. Borrower shall promptly notify Lender of Borrower's change of address. If Lender specifies a procedure for reporting Borrower's change of address, then Borrower shall only report a change of address through that specified procedure. There may be only one designated notice address under this Security Instrument at any one time. Any notice to Lender shall be given by delivering it or by mailing it by first class mail to Lender's address stated herein unless Lender has designated another address by notice to Borrower. Any notice in connection with this Security Instrument shall not be deemed to have been given to Lender until actually received by Lender. If any notice required by this Security Instrument is also required under Applicable Law, the Applicable Law requirement will satisfy the corresponding requirement under this Security Instrument.

16. Governing Law; Severability; Rules of Construction. This Security Instrument shall be governed by federal law and the law of the jurisdiction in which the Property is located. All rights and obligations contained in this Security Instrument are subject to any requirements and limitations of Applicable Law. Applicable Law might explicitly or implicitly allow the parties to agree by contract or it might be silent, but such silence shall not be construed as a prohibition against agreement by contract. In the event that any provision or clause of this Security Instrument or the Note conflicts with Applicable Law, such conflict shall not affect other provisions of this Security Instrument or the Note which can be given effect without the conflicting provision.

As used in this Security Instrument: (a) words of the masculine gender shall mean and include corresponding neuter words or words of the feminine gender; (b) words in the singular shall mean and include the plural and vice versa; and (c) the word "may" gives sole discretion without any obligation to take any action.

17. Borrower's Copy. Borrower shall be given one copy of the Note and of this Security Instrument.

18. Transfer of the Property or a Beneficial Interest in Borrower. As used in this Section 18, "interest in the Property" means any legal or beneficial interest in the Property, including, but not limited to, those beneficial interests reflected in a bond for deed, contract for deed, installment-sales contract or escrow agreement, the intent of which is the transfer of title by Borrower at a future date to a purchaser.

If all or any part of the Property or any interest in the Property is sold or transferred (or if Borrower is not a natural person and a beneficial interest in Borrower is sold or transferred) without Lender's prior written consent, Lender may require immediate payment in full of all sums secured by this Security Instrument. However, this option shall not be exercised by Lender if such exercise is prohibited by Applicable Law.

If Lender exercises this option, Lender shall give Borrower notice of acceleration. The notice shall provide a period of not less than 30 days from the date the notice is given in accordance with Section 15 within which Borrower must pay all sums secured by this Security Instrument. If Borrower fails to pay these sums prior to the expiration of this period, Lender may invoke any remedies permitted by this Security Instrument without further notice or demand on Borrower.

19. Borrower's Right to Reinstate After Acceleration. If Borrower meets certain conditions, Borrower shall have the right to have enforcement of this Security Instrument discontinued at any time prior to the earliest of: (a) five days before sale of the Property pursuant to any power of sale contained in this Security Instrument; (b) such other period as Applicable Law might specify for the termination of Borrower's right to reinstate; or (c) entry of a judgment enforcing this Security Instrument. Those conditions are that Borrower: (a) pays Lender all sums which then would be due under this Security Instrument and the Note as if no acceleration had occurred; (b) cures any default of any other covenants or agreements; (c) pays all expenses incurred in enforcing this Security Instrument, including, but not limited to, reasonable attorneys' fees, property inspection and valuation fees, and other fees incurred for the purpose of protecting Lender's interest in the Property and rights under this Security Instrument; and (d) takes such action as Lender may reasonably require to assure that Lender's interest in the Property and rights under this Security Instrument, and Borrower's obligation to pay the sums secured by this Security Instrument, shall continue unchanged. Lender may require that Borrower pay such reinstatement sums and expenses in one or more of the following forms, as selected by Lender: (a) cash; (b) money order; (c) certified check, bank check, treasurer's check or cashier's check, provided any such check is drawn upon an institution whose deposits are insured by a federal agency, instrumentality or entity; or (d) Electronic Funds Transfer. Upon reinstatement by Borrower, this Security Instrument and obligations secured hereby shall remain fully effective as if no acceleration had occurred. However, this right to reinstate shall not apply in the case of acceleration under Section 18.

20. Sale of Note; Change of Loan Servicer; Notice of Grievance. The Note or a partial interest in the Note (together with this Security Instrument) can be sold one or more times without prior notice to Borrower. A sale might result in a change in the entity (known as the "Loan Servicer") that collects Periodic Payments due under the Note and this Security Instrument and performs other mortgage loan servicing obligations under the Note, this Security Instrument, and Applicable Law. There also might be one or more changes of the Loan Servicer unrelated to a sale of the Note. If there is a change of the Loan Servicer, Borrower will be given written notice of the change which will state the name and address of the new Loan Servicer, the address to which payments should be made and any other information RESPA requires in connection with a notice of transfer of servicing. If the Note is sold and thereafter the Loan is serviced by a Loan Servicer other than the purchaser of the Note, the mortgage loan servicing obligations to Borrower will remain with the Loan Servicer or be transferred to a successor Loan Servicer and are not assumed by the Note purchaser unless otherwise provided by the Note purchaser.

Neither Borrower nor Lender may commence, join, or be joined to any judicial action (as either an individual litigant or the member of a class) that arises from the other party's actions pursuant to this Security Instrument or that alleges that the other party has breached any provision of, or any duty owed by reason of, this Security Instrument, until such Borrower or Lender has notified the other party (with such notice given in compliance with the requirements of Section 15) of such alleged breach and afforded the other party hereto a reasonable period after the giving of such notice to take corrective action, if Applicable Law provides a time period which must elapse before certain action can be taken, that time period will be deemed to be reasonable for purposes of this paragraph. The notice of acceleration and opportunity to cure given to Borrower pursuant to Section 22 and the notice of acceleration given to Borrower pursuant to Section 18 shall be deemed to satisfy the notice and opportunity to take corrective action provisions of this Section 20.

21. Hazardous Substances. As used in this Section 21: (a) "Hazardous Substances" are those substances defined as toxic or hazardous substances, pollutants, or wastes by Environmental Law and the following substances: gasoline, kerosene, other flammable or toxic petroleum products, toxic pesticides and herbicides, volatile solvents, materials containing asbestos or formaldehyde, and radioactive materials; (b) "Environmental Law" means federal laws and laws of the jurisdiction where the Property is located that relate to health, safety or environmental protection; (c) "Environmental Cleanup" includes any response action, remedial action, or removal action, as defined in Environmental Law; and (d) an "Environmental Condition" means a condition that can cause, contribute to, or otherwise trigger an Environmental Cleanup.

Borrower shall not cause or permit the presence, use, disposal, storage, or release of any Hazardous Substances, or threaten to release any Hazardous Substances, on or in the Property. Borrower shall not do, nor allow anyone else to do, anything affecting the Property (a) that is in violation of any Environmental Law, (b) which creates an Environmental Condition, or (c) which, due to the presence, use, or release of a Hazardous Substance, creates a condition that adversely affects the value of the Property. The preceding two sentences shall not apply to the presence, use, or storage on the Property of small quantities of Hazardous Substances that are generally recognized to be appropriate to normal residential uses and maintenance of the Property (including, but not limited to, hazardous substances in consumer products).

Borrower shall promptly give Lender written notice of (a) any investigation, claim, demand, lawsuit or other action by any governmental or regulatory agency or private party involving the Property and any Hazardous Substance or Environmental Law of which Borrower has actual knowledge, (b) any Environmental Condition, including but not limited to, any spillage, leaking, discharge, release or threat of release of any Hazardous Substance, and (c) any condition caused by the presence, use or release of a Hazardous Substance which adversely affects the value of the Property. If Borrower learns, or is notified by any governmental or regulatory authority, or any private party, that any removal or other remediation of any Hazardous Substance affecting the Property is necessary, Borrower shall promptly take all necessary remedial actions in accordance with Environmental Law. Nothing herein shall create any obligation on Lender for an Environmental Cleanup.

NON-UNIFORM COVENANTS. Borrower and Lender further covenant and agree as follows:

22. Acceleration; Remedies. Lender shall give notice to Borrower prior to acceleration following Borrower's breach of any covenant or agreement in this Security Instrument (but not prior to acceleration under Section 18 unless Applicable Law provides otherwise). The notice shall specify: (a) the default; (b) the action required to cure the default; (c) a date, not less than 30 days from the date the notice is given to Borrower, by which the default must be cured; and (d) that failure to cure the default on or before the date specified in the notice may result in acceleration of the sums secured by this Security Instrument and sale of the Property. The notice shall further inform Borrower of the right to reinstate after acceleration and the right to bring a court action to assert the non-existence of a default or any other defense of Borrower to acceleration and sale. If the default is not cured on or before the date specified in the notice, Lender at its option may require immediate payment in full of all sums secured by this Security Instrument without further demand and may invoke the power of sale and any other remedies permitted by Applicable Law. Lender shall be entitled to collect all expenses incurred in pursuing the remedies provided in this Section 22, including, but not limited to, reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of title evidence.

If Lender invokes the power of sale, Lender shall execute or cause Trustee to execute a written notice of the occurrence of an event of default and of Lender's election to cause the Property to be sold. Trustee shall cause this notice to be recorded in each county in which any part of the Property is located. Lender or Trustee shall mail copies of the notice as prescribed by Applicable Law to Borrower and to the other persons prescribed by Applicable Law. Trustee shall give public notice of sale to the persons and in the manner prescribed by Applicable Law. After the time required by Applicable Law, Trustee, without demand on Borrower, shall sell the Property at public auction to the highest bidder at the time and place and under the terms designated in the notice of sale in one or more parcels and in any order Trustee determines. Trustee may postpone sale of all or any parcel of the Property by public announcement at the time and place of any previously scheduled sale. Lender or its designee may purchase the Property at any sale.

Trustee shall deliver to the purchaser Trustee's deed conveying the Property without any covenant or warranty, expressed or implied. The recitals in the Trustee's deed shall be prima facie evidence of the truth of the statements made therein. Trustee shall apply the proceeds of the sale in the following order: (a) to all expenses of the sale, (including, but not limited to, reasonable Trustee's and attorneys' fees); (b) to all sums secured by this Security Instrument; and (c) any excess to the person or persons legally entitled to it.

23. Reconveyance. Upon payment of all sums secured by this Security Instrument, Lender shall request Trustee to reconvey the Property and shall surrender this Security Instrument and all notes evidencing debt secured by this Security Instrument to Trustee. Trustee shall reconvey the Property without warranty to the person or persons legally entitled to it. Lender may charge such person or persons a reasonable fee for reconveying the Property, but only if the fee is paid to a third party (such as the Trustee) for services rendered and the charging of the fee is permitted under Applicable Law. If the fee charged does not exceed the fee set by Applicable Law, the fee is conclusively presumed to be reasonable.

24. Substitute Trustee. Lender, at its option, may from time to time appoint a successor trustee to any Trustee appointed hereunder by an instrument executed and acknowledged by Lender and recorded in the office of the Recorder of the county in which the Property is located. The instrument shall contain the name of the original Lender, Trustee and Borrower, the book and page where this Security Instrument is recorded and the name and address of the successor trustee. Without conveyance of the Property, the successor trustee shall succeed to all the title, powers and duties conferred upon the Trustee herein and by Applicable Law. This procedure for substitution of trustee shall govern to the exclusion of all other provisions for substitution.

25. Statement of Obligation Fee. Lender may collect a fee not to exceed the maximum amount permitted by Applicable Law for furnishing the statement of obligation as provided by Section 2943 of the Civil Code of California.

BY SIGNING BELOW, Borrower accepts and agrees to the terms and covenants contained in this Security Instrument and in any Rider executed by Borrower and recorded with it.

FIXED/ADJUSTABLE RATE RIDER

THIS FIXED/ADJUSTABLE RATE RIDER is made on this 4th day of January 2007, and is incorporated into and shall be deemed to amend and supplement the Mortgage, Deed of Trust or Security Deed (the "Security Instrument") of the same date given by the undersigned ("Borrower") to secure Borrower's Fixed/Adjustable Rate Note (the "Note") to Washington Mutual Bank ("Lender") of the same date and covering the property described in the Security Instrument and located at: 3822 West Curtis Drive, Sacramento, CA 95818

[Property Address]

THE NOTE CONTAINS PROVISIONS ALLOWING FOR A CHANGE FROM THE INITIAL FIXED INTEREST RATE TO AN ADJUSTABLE INTEREST RATE AND FOR CHANGES IN THE MONTHLY PAYMENT. THE NOTE LIMITS THE AMOUNT BORROWER'S INTEREST RATE CAN CHANGE AT ANY ONE TIME AND THE MAXIMUM RATE BORROWER MUST PAY.

ADDITIONAL COVENANTS. In addition to the covenants and agreements made in the Security Instrument, Borrower and Lender further covenant and agree as follows:

A. INTEREST RATE AND MONTHLY PAYMENT CHANGES

The Note provides for an initial fixed interest rate of 8.600%. The Note provides for a change in the initial fixed interest rate to an adjustable interest rate and for changes in the monthly payments, as follows:

4. INTEREST RATE AND MONTHLY PAYMENT CHANGES

(A) Change Dates

The initial fixed interest rate Borrower will pay will change to an adjustable interest rate on the first day of February, 2009, and the interest rate Borrower will pay may change on that day every 6th month thereafter. Each date on which Borrower's interest rate could change is called a "Change Date."

(B) The Index

Beginning with the first Change Date, Borrower's interest rate will be based on an index. The "index" is the average of interbank offered rates for six month U.S. dollar-denominated deposits in the London market ("LIBOR"), as published in The Wall Street Journal. The most recent index figure available as of the date 45 days before the Change Date is called the "Current Index."

JPMC-001598
CONFIDENTIAL

CSOC.RICH.002490

If the Index is no longer available, the Note Holder will choose a new Index that is based upon comparable information. The Note Holder will give Borrower notice of this choice.

(C) Calculation of Changes

Before each Change Date, the Note Holder will calculate Borrower's new interest rate by adding Four and 99/100 percentage points (4.990 %) to the Current Index. The Note Holder will then round the result of this addition to the nearest one-eighth of one percentage-point (0.125 %). Subject to the limits stated in Section 4(D) below, this rounded amount will be Borrower's new interest rate until the next Change Date.

The Note Holder will then determine the amount of the monthly payment that would be sufficient to repay the unpaid principal that Borrower is expected to owe at the Change Date in full on the Maturity Date at Borrower's new interest rate in substantially equal payments. The result of this calculation will be the new amount of Borrower's monthly payment.

(D) Limits on Interest Rate Changes

The interest rate Borrower is required to pay at the first Change Date will not be greater than 10.800 % or less than 8.800 %. Thereafter, Borrower's interest rate will never be increased or decreased on any single Change Date by more than One percentage point(s) (1.000 %) from the rate of interest Borrower has been paying for the preceding months. Borrower's interest rate will never be greater than 14.800 % or less than 8.800 %.

(E) Effective Date of Changes

Borrower's new interest rate will become effective on each Change Date. Borrower will pay the amount of Borrower's new monthly payment beginning on the first monthly payment date after the Change Date until the amount of Borrower's monthly payment changes again.

(F) Notices of Changes

The Note Holder will deliver or mail to Borrower a notice of any changes in Borrower's interest rate and the amount of Borrower's monthly payment before the effective date of any change. The notice will include information required by law to be given to the Borrower and also the title and telephone number of a person who will answer any question Borrower may have regarding the notice.

B. TRANSFER OF THE PROPERTY OR A BENEFICIAL INTEREST IN BORROWER.

Covenant 18 of the Security Instrument is amended to read as follows:

(A) Until Borrower's initial fixed interest rate changes to an adjustable interest rate under the terms stated in Section A above, Covenant 18 of the Security Instrument provides as follows:

Transfer of the Property or a Beneficial Interest in Borrower. If all or any part of the Property or any interest in the Property is sold or transferred (or if Borrower is not a natural person and a beneficial interest in Borrower is sold or transferred) without Lender's prior written consent, Lender may require immediate payment in full of all sums secured by this Security Instrument. However, this option shall not be exercised by Lender if such exercise is prohibited Applicable Law.

If Lender exercises this option, Lender shall give Borrower notice of acceleration. The notice shall provide a period of not less than 30 days from the date the notice is given in accordance with Section 15 within which Borrower must pay all sums secured by this Security Instrument. If Borrower fails to pay these sums prior to the expiration of this period, Lender may invoke any remedies permitted by this Security Instrument without further notice or demand on Borrower.

(B) When Borrower's Initial fixed interest rate changes to an adjustable interest rate under the terms stated in Section A above, Covenant 18 of the Security Instrument shall then instead provide as follows:

Transfer of the Property or a Beneficial Interest in Borrower. As used in this Section 18, "Interest in the Property" means any legal or beneficial interest in the Property, including, but not limited to, those beneficial interests transferred in a bond for deed, contract for deed, installment sales contract or escrow agreement, the intent of which is the transfer of title by Borrower at a future date to a purchaser. If all or any part of the Property or any interest in the Property is sold or transferred (or if Borrower is not a natural person and a beneficial interest in Borrower is sold or transferred) without Lender's prior written consent, Lender may require immediate payment in full of all sums secured by this Security Instrument. However, this option shall not be exercised by Lender if such exercise is prohibited by Applicable Law. Lender also shall not exercise this option if: (a) Borrower causes to be submitted to Lender information required by Lender to evaluate the intended transferee as if a new loan were being made to the transferee; and (b) Lender reasonably determines that Lender's security will not be impaired by the loan assumption and that the risk of a breach of any covenant or agreement in this Security Instrument is acceptable to Lender.

To the extent permitted by Applicable Law, Lender may charge a reasonable fee as a condition to Lender's consent to the loan assumption. Lender also may require the transferee to sign an assumption agreement that is acceptable to Lender and that obligates the transferee to keep all the promises and agreements made in the Note and in this Security Instrument. Borrower will continue to be obligated under the Note and this Security Instrument unless Lender releases Borrower in writing.

If Lender exercises the option to require immediate payment in full, Lender shall give Borrower notice of acceleration. The notice shall provide a period of not less than 30 days from the date the notice is given in accordance with Section 15 within which Borrower must pay all sums secured by this Security Instrument. If Borrower fails to pay these sums prior to the expiration of this period, Lender may invoke any remedies permitted by this Security Instrument without further notice or demand on Borrower.

BY SIGNING BELOW, Borrower accepts and agrees to the terms and covenants contained in this Fixed/Adjustable Rate Rider.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

NOTICE OF DEFAULT AND ELECTION TO SELL UNDER DEED OF TRUST

IF YOUR PROPERTY IS IN FORECLOSURE BECAUSE YOU ARE BEHIND IN YOUR PAYMENTS, IT MAY BE SOLD WITHOUT ANY COURT ACTION, and you may have the legal right to bring your account in good standing by paying all of your past due payments plus permitted costs and expenses within the time permitted by law for reinstatement of your account, which is normally five business days prior to the date set for the sale of your property. No sale date may be set until three months from the date this notice of default may be recorded (which date of recordation appears on this notice).

This amount is $18,356.40 as of 12/13/2007 and will increase until your account becomes current.

While your property is in foreclosure, you still must pay other obligations (such as insurance and taxes) required by your note and deed of trust or mortgage. If you fail to make future payments on the loan, pay taxes on the property, provide insurance on the property, or pay other obligations as required in the note and deed of trust or mortgage, the beneficiary or mortgagee may insist that you do so in order to reinstate your account in good standing. In addition, the beneficiary or mortgagee may require as a condition to reinstatement that you provide reliable written evidence that you paid all senior liens, property taxes, and hazard insurance premiums.

Upon your written request, the beneficiary or mortgagee will give you a written itemization of the entire amount you must pay. You may not have to pay the entire unpaid portion of your account, even though full payment was demanded, but you must pay all amounts in default at the time payment is made. However, you and your beneficiary or mortgagee may mutually agree in writing prior to the time the notice of sale is posted (which may not be earlier than the end of the three-month period stated above) to, among other things, (1) provide additional time in which to cure the default by transfer of the property or otherwise; or (2) establish a schedule of payments in order to cure your default; or both (1) and (2).

Following the expiration of the time period referred to in the above paragraph of this notice, unless the obligation being foreclosed upon or a separate written agreement between you and your creditor permits a longer period, you have only the legal right to stop the sale of property by paying the entire amount demanded by your creditor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

NOTICE OF DEFAULT AND ELECTION TO SELL UNDER DEED OF TRUST

IF YOUR PROPERTY IS IN FORECLOSURE BECAUSE YOU ARE BEHIND IN YOUR PAYMENTS, IT MAY BE SOLD WITHOUT ANY COURT ACTION, and you may have the legal right to bring your account in good standing by paying all of your past due payments plus permitted costs and expenses within the time permitted by law for reinstatement of your account, which is normally five business days prior to the date set for the sale of your property. No sale date may be set until three months from the date this notice of default may be recorded (which date of recordation appears on this notice).

This amount is $18,356.40 as of 12/13/2007 and will increase until your account becomes current.

While your property is in foreclosure, you still must pay other obligations (such as insurance and taxes) required by your note and deed of trust or mortgage. If you fail to make future payments on the loan, pay taxes on the property, provide insurance on the property, or pay other obligations as required in the note and deed of trust or mortgage, the beneficiary or mortgagee may insist that you do so in order to reinstate your account in good standing. In addition, the beneficiary or mortgagee may require as a condition to reinstatement that you provide reliable written evidence that you paid all senior liens, property taxes, and hazard insurance premiums.

Upon your written request, the beneficiary or mortgagee will give you a written itemization of the entire amount you must pay. You may not have to pay the entire unpaid portion of your account, even though full payment was demanded, but you must pay all amounts in default at the time payment is made. However, you and your beneficiary or mortgagee may mutually agree in writing prior to the time the notice of sale is posted (which may not be earlier than the end of the three-month period stated above) to, among other things, (1) provide additional time in which to cure the default by transfer of the property or otherwise; or (2) establish a schedule of payments in order to cure your default; or both (1) and (2).

Following the expiration of the time period referred to in the above paragraph of this notice, unless the obligation being foreclosed upon or a separate written agreement between you and your creditor permits a longer period, you have only the legal right to stop the sale of property by paying the entire amount demanded by your creditor.

NOTICE OF RESCISSION OF TRUSTEE'S DEED UPON SALE

This Notice of Rescission is made on 05/30/2008 with respect to the following facts:

1. That CALIFORNIA RECONVEYANCE COMPANY, a California Corporation as the duly appointed trustee under that certain Deed of Trust dated 01/04/2007, and Recorded 01/10/2007, Book 20070110, Page 1818, Instrument naming LAURA RICHARDSON, AN UNMARRIED WOMAN as trustor and WASHINGTON MUTUAL BANK as beneficiary, securing a Promissory Note in the amount of $535,001.00.

2. The Deed of Trust encumbers the real property situated in the County of SACRAMENTO, State of CALIFORNIA, described as follows:

LOT 259 AS SHOWN ON THE OFFICIAL "PLAT OF SOUTH CURTIS OAKS SUBDIVISION-NOV. 6", FILED IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY RECORDER OF SACRAMENTO COUNTY, FEBRUARY 10, 1927 IN BOOK 19 OF MAPS, MAP NO. 18

A.P.N.:

Situs: 3622 WEST CURTIS DRIVE, SACRAMENTO, CA 95818

3. That by virtue of a Default under the terms of the Deed of Trust the Beneficiary did declare a default, as set forth in a Notice of Default and Election to Sell, which Notice was recorded in the Office of the County Recorder of SACRAMENTO, California.

4. On 05/07/2008, at 01:30 PM the property was purportedly sold to RED ROCK MORTGAGE, INC., being the highest bidder at such sale who bid the amount of $368,000.01.

5. The Trustee's Sale on 05/07/2008 is being rescinded at the request of the Beneficiary, as the Beneficiary had previously agreed to postpone the foreclosure sale to June 4, 2008. The Trustee's sale of 05/07/2008 is therefore null and void, and of no force and effect.

6. The express purpose for this Notice of Rescission is to return the priority and existence of all lien holders to the status quo ante that existed prior to the Trustee's Sale.

NOW, THEREFORE, THE UNDERSIGNED HEREBY RESCINDS THE TRUSTEE'S SALE AND PURPORTED TRUSTEE'S DEED UPON SALE AND HEREBY ADVISES ALL PERSONS, WHOMEVER AND WHATSOEVER LOCATED, THAT THE TRUSTEE'S DEED UPON SALE DATED 05/09/2008, FROM CALIFORNIA RECONVEYANCE COMPANY TO RED ROCK MORTGAGE, INC. AND RECORDED 05/19/2008 IN BOOK 20080519, PAGE 0487, OF OFFICIAL RECORDS OF SACRAMENTO COUNTY IS HEREBY RESCINDED AND SHALL HAVE NO FURTHER FORCE OR EFFECT WHATSOEVER.

After printing this label:

1. Use the 'Print' button on this page to print your label to your laser or inkjet printer.
2. Fold the printed page along the horizontal line.
3. Place label in shipping pouch and affix it to your shipment so that the barcode portion of the label can be read and scanned.

Warning: Use only the printed original label for shipping. Using a photocopy of this label for shipping purposes is fraudulent and could result in additional billing charges, along with the cancellation of your FedEx account number.

Use of this system constitutes your agreement to the service conditions in the current FedEx Service Guide, available on fedex.com. FedEx will not be responsible for any claim in excess of $100 per package, whether the result of loss, damage, delay, non-delivery, misdelivery, or misinformation, unless you declare a higher value, pay an additional charge, document your actual loss and file a timely claim. Limitations found in the current FedEx Service Guide apply. Your right to recover from FedEx for any loss, including intrinsic value of the package, loss of sales, income, interest, profit, attorney's fees, costs, and other forms of damage, whether direct, incidental, consequential, or special is limited to the greater of $100 or the authorized declared value. Recovery cannot exceed actual documented loss. Maximum for limits of extraordinary value is $500, e.g. jewelry, precious metals, negotiable instruments and other items listed in our Service Guide. Written claims must be filed within strict time limits, see current FedEx Service Guide.

Our Clients: Washington Mutual Bank ("WaMu") and California
Reconveyance Company ("CRC")
Real Property: 3622 W. Curtis Drive, Sacramento, CA (the "Property")
Borrower: Laura Richardson
Our File No.: WAS002-93

Dear Ms. Parkinson:

WaMu has considered Red Rock's counter offer to its recent settlement proposal and has rejected it. In accordance with Civil Code section 1058.5 (b) and the case authority contained in our prior letter, enclosed please find an unrecorded copy of the Notice of Rescission of the Trustee's Deed Upon Sale. I will send a copy of the recorded Notice of Rescission as soon as I receive it. The foreclosure trustee, California Reconveyance Company, is mailing to you separately a check in the sum of $391,190.06, which includes refund of Red Rock's purchase funds of $388,001.01, plus 10% interest thereon through June 6, 2008 totaling $3,189.05. I will email to you the tracking number for the overnight delivery package containing the check, once I have that information, so you can track the progress of the delivery.

Mr. York previously advised me that he had incurred expenses related to the Property. WaMu will reimburse Mr. York for his expenses if you will kindly provide an itemization of the expenses and receipts for the expenditures.

Please advise your client and his agents, contractors or employees, to remove themselves and their equipment from the premises and to lock the front door when they have vacated the Property. Please notify me in writing when the equipment has been removed and the premises are locked, so that WaMu can notify the borrower that the locks need to be changed. If you are willing to send the keys to our client, I will provide you with a billing number for overnight delivery service so you can return the keys at our expense.

If there is anything you wish to discuss regarding the transition and the removal of your client's equipment from the Property, please contact me so we can work together and avoid any miscommunication.

Thank you in advance for your continuing professional courtesy and cooperation in this matter. Should you have any questions, or concerns not addressed in this letter, please do not hesitate to contact the undersigned.

Very truly yours,

NOTICE OF RESCISSION OF TRUSTEE'S DEED UPON SALE

THIS IS TO CERTIFY THAT THIS IS A FULL TRUE AND CORRECT COPY OF THE ORIGINAL RECORDED IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY RECORDER ON: June 2, 2008 AS DOCUMENT NO: BK: 20080602 / PG: 885 BY: sj Khundy Vy FIDELITY NATIONAL DEFAULT SOLUTIONS

Trustee's No. 233297CA Loan No. [] The Order No. M21584

NOTICE OF RESCISSION OF TRUSTEE'S DEED UPON SALE

This Notice of Rescission is made on 05/02/2008 with respect to the following facts:

1. That CALIFORNIA RECONVEYANCE COMPANY, a California Corporation as the duly appointed trustee under a certain Deed of Trust dated 01/04/2007 and Recorded 01/10/2007 Book 20070110, Page 0174, Instrument naming LAVIRA RICHARDSON, AN UNMARRIED WOMAN as trustee and WASHINGTON MUTUAL BANK as beneficiary holding a Promissory Note in the amount of $536,001.00

2. The Deed of Trust encumbers the real property situated in the County of SACRAMENTO, State of CALIFORNIA, as follows:

LOT 289 AS SHOWN ON THE OFFICIAL "PLAT OF SOUTH CURTIS OAKS SUBDIVISION NO. 6" FILED IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY RECORDER OF SACRAMENTO COUNTY, FEBRUARY 10, 1927 IN BOOK 19 OF MAPS, MAP NO. 18

3. The property is located at 3622 WEST CURTIS DRIVE SACRAMENTO, CA 95818

3. That by virtue of a Default under the terms of the Deed of Trust the Beneficiary did declare a default, as set forth in a Notice of Default and Election to Sell which Notice was recorded in the Office of the County Recorder of Sacramento California

4. On 05/07/2008, at 01:30 PM the property was purportedly sold to RED ROCK MORTGAGE, INC being the highest bidder at such sale who bid the amount of $386,000.00

5. The Trustee's Sale on 05/07/2008 is being rescinded at the request of the Beneficiary as the Beneficiary had previously agreed to postpone the foreclosure sale to June 4, 2008. The Trustee's sale of 05/07/2008 is therefore null and void, and of no force and effect.

6. The express purpose for this Notice of Rescission is to return the priority and existence of all lien holders to the status quo ante that existed prior to the Trustee's Sale.

NOW THEREFORE THE UNDERSIGNED HEREBY RESCINDS THE TRUSTEE'S SALE AND PURPORTED TRUSTEE'S DEED UPON SALE AND HEREBY ADVISES ALL PERSONS, WHOMSOEVER AND WHATSOEVER RELATED THAT THE TRUSTEE'S DEED UPON SALE DATED 05/09/2008 FROM CALIFORNIA RECONVEYANCE COMPANY TO RED ROCK MORTGAGE INC AND RECORDED 05/19/2008 IN BOOK 200819, PAGE 0887, OF OFFICIAL RECORDS OF SACRAMENTO COUNTY IS HEREBY RESCINDED AND SHALL HAVE NO FURTHER FORCE OR EFFECT WHATSOEVER.

SETTLEMENT AND RELEASE AGREEMENT

This Settlement and Release Agreement ("Agreement") is entered into as of June 18, 2008, by and between Washington Mutual Bank, a federally chartered savings association ("WaMu"), California Reconveyance Company ("CRC"), James York ("York") and Red Rock Mortgage Inc. ("Red Rock"). York and Red Rock shall hereafter be collectively referred to as Red Rock. For purposes of this Agreement, the term "WaMu" shall also refer to all predecessors, successors, assigns and investors of WaMu, including, without limitation, any person or entity taking assignment of the Note and Deed of Trust originated by WaMu as described below, except as specifically identified herein. WaMu, CRC, York and Red Rock are at times referred to in this Agreement individually as a "Party" and, collectively, as the "Parties."

RECITALS

A. On or about January 4, 2007, WaMu made a loan to Laura Richardson, ("Richardson") evidenced by a promissory note in the sum of $535,001.00 (the "Note").

B. On or about January 4, 2007, Richardson executed and delivered to WaMu a Deed of Trust (the "WaMu Deed of Trust") securing the real property located at 3622 West Curtis Drive, Sacramento, California 95818 ("the Property"). On or about January 10, 2007, the WaMu Deed of Trust was recorded in the County Recorder's Office for Sacramento County, California at Book 20070110, Page 1818.

C. Richardson became delinquent on the Note and on December 14, 2007, WaMu caused CRC to record a Notice of Default against the Property at Book 20071214, Page 358. Thereafter, CRC recorded a Notice of Sale on March 19, 2008 setting the original sale date for the Property on April 7, 2008 at Book 2008-0319, Page 352. CRC conducted a foreclosure sale on May 7, 2008, and Red Rock was the highest bidder at the sale. On or about May 19, 2008, Red Rock recorded a Trustees Deed Upon Sale, which was recorded, at Book 20080519, Page 0487 in the Official Records of the Sacramento County Recorder.

D. Prior to the foreclosure sale through which Red Rock claims title to the Property, WaMu claims it had agreed in writing to provide Richardson with a postponement of the foreclosure sale to June 4, 2008. Red Rock acknowledges that it received a copy of said letter after the foreclosure sale. WaMu and CRC contend that as a result of their purported agreement to postpone the foreclosure sale to June 4, 2008, CRC did not have the requisite legal authority to proceed with the foreclosure sale on May 7, 2008, and that the sale to Red Rock was invalid and could be rescinded. On June 2, 2008, CRC recorded a Notice of Rescission of Trustee's Deed Upon Sale at Book 20080602, Page 0885 in the Official Records of the Sacramento County Recorder.

E. Red Rock disagrees that CRC had the right to rescind the foreclosure sale conducted on May 7, 2008. Red Rock claims the foreclosure sale was final and that it was a bona fide purchaser for value and that it was not aware of the postponement issue until after May 7, 2008. On June 12, 2008, Red Rock filed a lawsuit in Sacramento County

Superior Court under cause number 34-2008.00013081-CU-OR-GDS (the "Action") seeking, among other things, to quiet title to the Property in Red Rock's name.

F. The parties wish to resolve their differences and avoid further litigation over the nature and extent of WaMu's and CRC's rights to rescind the foreclosure sale conducted on May 7, 2008, to confirm title to the Property in favor of Richardson subject to the lien of WaMu, and to reimburse Red Rock for its out of pocket expenses related to the Property and incurred in the Action and any related claims for loss arising over the quieting of title to the Property and any claims Red Rock may have against WaMu, CRC, or their agents or employees related to the rescission of the Trustee's Deed Upon Sale to Red Rock, and any dispute over title to the Property prior, during and after the foreclosure sale conducted on May 7, 2008.

G. The Parties desire to rescind the effect of the foreclosure sale through this Agreement whereby WaMu will pay a settlement to Red Rock and Red Rock will execute and deliver to WaMu a quitclaim deed from Red Rock to Richardson. Red Rock further agrees that by executing this Agreement, it is disclaiming any interest in the Property.

H. The Parties desire to clarify and confirm how the title to the Property will be held, resolve their differences, and confirm their understanding of how the foreclosure sale will be rescinded. The parties are entering into this Agreement in order to avoid the costs and uncertainty of litigation and settle all alleged claims Red Rock has against WaMu or CRC, known and unknown arising from the May 7, 2008 foreclosure sale and the rescission of the foreclosure sale and restoration of the viability of the Note and WaMu's Deed of Trust against the Property.

AGREEMENT

The Parties, on behalf of themselves and on behalf of their respective principals, officers, directors, investors, parents, affiliates, employees, trustees, attorneys, agents, predecessors and successors, and on behalf of all other nonparties, in consideration of the premises set forth below, agree as follows:

1. OBLIGATIONS OF WaMu AND CRC.

1.1. WaMu agrees to pay the sum of $100,000.00 to Red Rock upon the execution of the Agreement by all Parties. The sum of $100,000.00 includes sums to reimburse Red Rock for any out of pocket expenses it has incurred related to the Property, any interest on the funds paid by Red Rock at the foreclosure sale on May 7, 2008, Red Rock's anticipated profits on the resale of the Property and any legal fees incurred by Red Rock prior to and after the Action was filed.

1.2. WaMu, contemporaneously with the payment of the sum of $100,000.00, shall also return the sum of $388,000.01 paid by Red Rock at the foreclosure sale conducted on May 7, 2008.

1.3. WaMu and CRC agree to execute this Agreement and be bound by the terms of the Agreement.

2. Obligations of Red Rock and York under this Agreement.

2.1. Red Rock agrees to be bound by the terms of this Agreement and execute the Agreement.

2.2. Red Rock agrees to accept the sum of $100,000.00, plus the return of the $388,000.01 paid at the foreclosure sale on May 7, 2008.

2.3. Upon execution of the Agreement Red Rock also agrees to contemporaneously execute a quitclaim deed in recordable form for the Property to Richardson in the form attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference as Exhibit A.

2.4. Red Rock warrants and represents that it has not encumbered or transferred the Property to any third party after May 7, 2008 to, and including, the date of the execution of this Agreement.

2.5. Red Rock shall immediately file a dismissal of the Action with prejudice:

2.6. Red Rock will deliver with its signatures to this Agreement all sets of the keys to the Property in its possession or control.

3. Release of All Claims.

3.1. Upon execution of this Agreement by the Parties, and performance of all acts required to be done by each of them under this Agreement, the Parties release each other and all who acted in concert or participation with them, their officers, directors, employees, agents, attorneys, investors, predecessors, successors, assigns, parents, affiliates, and all others (the "Related Parties") from and against all claims, causes of action, liabilities, demands, obligations, damages, costs, expenses, and attorneys' fees, of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, whether accrued or not yet accrued, based on, arising out of, or relating to the foreclosure sale of May 7, 2008, the delivery of the Trustee's Deed from CRC to the Red Rock on or about May 19, 2008, all claims alleged in the Action, and any claims of loss or reimbursement of expenses or legal fees, including interest on said sums, arising out of or relating to the foreclosure sale of May 7, 2008, and the rescission of the Trustees Deed Upon Sale by CRC.

3.2. In consideration of this Agreement, the Parties further waive and will not assert against the Related Parties, any claim, counterclaim, defense, offset, action, or cause of action under common law or any federal or state statute, rule, or regulation, that the Parties may have prior to the date of this Agreement, based on, arising out of, or relating to the foreclosure sale of May 7, 2008, and the delivery of the Trustee's Deed from CRC to Red Rock on or about May 19, 2008, including, but not limited to, all claims alleged in the Action and any claims of loss or reimbursement of expenses or legal fees, including interest on said sums, arising out of or relating to the purchase of the Property by Red Rock at the May 7, 2008 foreclosure sale and the rescission of the Trustees Deed Upon Sale by CRC.

4. Waiver of California Civil Code Section 1642.

4.1. It is the intention of the Parties to this Agreement that this Agreement shall be effective as a full and complete release of each and every claim that the Parties may have against each other and the Released Parties based on, arising out of, or relating to the foreclosure sale of May 7, 2008, the delivery of the Deed from CRC to the Red Rock on or about May 19, 2008, including, but not limited to, all claims alleged in the Action and any claims of loss or reimbursement of expenses or legal fees, including interest on said sums, arising out of or relating to the purchase of the Property by Red Rock and the rescission of the Trustees Deed Upon Sale by CRC, with the exception of obligations created under this Agreement.

4.2. The Parties acknowledge each of them have been advised, and is familiar with, Section 1542 of the California Civil Code, which provides as follows:

A general release does not extend to claims which the creditor does not know or suspect to exist in his or her favor at the time of executing the release, which if known by him or her must have materially affected his or her settlement with the debtor.

York Red Rock WMB CRC

4.3. The Parties waive and release any right, claim, or benefit which each of them now has or may have under Civil Code Section 1542 to the full extent that each of them may lawfully waive all such rights and benefits in connection with the claims released in the Agreement.

5. Time of the Essence. The Parties agree time is of the essence in the Agreement.

6. Assumption of Risk. Each Party expressly elects to assume all risks arising prior to this Agreement based on, arising out of, or relating to the foreclosure sale of May 7, 2008 and the delivery of the Deed from CRC to the Red Rock on or about May 19, 2008, including, but not limited to, all claims alleged in the Action and any claims of loss or reimbursement of expenses or legal fees, including interest on said sums, arising out of or relating to the purchase of the Property by Red Rock at the foreclosure sale of May 7, 2008 and the rescission of the Trustees Deed Upon Sale by CRC.

6.1. Each Party fully understands that the facts upon which this Agreement is executed may be found hereafter to be other than or different from the facts now believed by them and their attorneys (if any) to be true, and expressly accept to assume the risks of such possible differences and facts and agree that the Agreement shall remain effective notwithstanding any such difference in facts.

7. Governing Law. This Agreement is made and entered into in the State of California and shall be enforced and governed by the laws of the State of California.

8. No Admission of Liability. This Agreement is entered into solely as a settlement and compromise of disputed claims; this Agreement shall not be deemed to constitute an admission of guilt or liability by any Party.

9. Drafting Ambiguities. The terms of this Agreement are contractual in nature and are not merely recitals. This Agreement shall not be construed in favor of or against any Party to this Agreement, but shall be construed as if all Parties prepared the Agreement. If any term, provision, covenant, or condition to this Agreement is determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, void or unenforceable, the remainder of the provisions of this Agreement shall remain in full force and effect and shall in no way be affected, impaired, or invalidated, unless such invalid, void or unenforceable provision is determined to be material to this Agreement.

10. Entire Agreement. This Agreement, and all prior or contemporaneous agreements, understandings, representations and statements, whether oral or written, and whether by a Party or a Party's legal counsel, are merged herein. No modification, waiver, amendment, discharge, or change of this Agreement shall be valid unless the same is in writing and signed by all Parties hereto. This Agreement constitutes the entire Agreement between the Parties as to the subject matter contained in this Agreement.

11. Warranty of No Sale or Assignment. All Parties to this Agreement represent, agree, and warrant to each other that each has not sold, assigned, or otherwise transferred in any manner to any person or entity, any rights, duties, obligations, claims, causes of action or other interests which are the subject matter of this Agreement, either in whole or in part, and each agrees to indemnify and hold harmless each other from and against all claims of every nature whatsoever which are based on or arise out of or in any way relate to any such sale, assignment, or transfer.

12. Execution of Other Documents. The Parties agree to execute and deliver any and all further documents and shall do all acts which may be necessary and appropriate to fully implement the provisions of this Agreement within the time required by this Agreement.

13. Enforcement of the Agreement. In the event that any Party brings any action or proceeding against the other for the recovery of any sum due pursuant to this Agreement, or due to any provision of this Agreement, or for any other relief, declaratory or otherwise, including appeal, the prevailing Party in each such action or proceeding shall recover its reasonable attorneys' fees and all costs from other Party to the action or proceeding, and that the right to reasonable attorneys' fees and costs shall be enforceable whether or not the actual proceeding is prosecuted to final judgment.

14. Authority to Execute Agreement. Each individual signing this Agreement warrants and represents that the individual has full authority to execute the Agreement on behalf of the Party on whose behalf the individual signs.

15. Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, and the counterparts shall constitute one and the same document.

16. Costs and Attorneys' Fees. The Parties agree that they shall be responsible for their own respective costs and attorneys' fees in connection with the drafting and negotiation of this Agreement, except as the parties may otherwise agree in a separate writing.

17. Venue. Should any dispute arise between the Parties as to the meaning and interpretation of this Agreement or should any of the parties be required to take legal action to enforce the terms of this Agreement, venue for any dispute shall be in Sacramento County, California.

18. Attorney Review. The Parties hereby represent and warrant and in executing this Agreement, that they have relied upon legal advice from an attorney of their choice; that the terms of this Agreement have been read and its consequences have been completely explained to them by that attorney; and that they fully understand the terms of this Agreement. The Parties further represent and warrant that in executing this Agreement, they have not relied on any inducements, promises or representations made by the other party or any person serving another party.

19. Survivability of Agreement. Any and all executory provisions under the Agreement and the documents referred to herein shall survive consummation of the Agreement and shall continue in full force and effect until fully performed and satisfied.

20. Notices. All notices under the Agreement shall be in writing and shall be deemed effective on the date of delivery (if delivered personally and a receipt obtained therefore), or on the third calendar day after mailing if mailed by first-class mail, registered or certified, postage prepaid, and shall be addressed as follows or as may be amended by written communication pursuant to this paragraph:

21. Other Agreements with WaMu or CRC. Nothing contained herein shall effect, amend or modify any provision of any checking account, savings account, loan agreement, deed of trust, mortgage or any other contract or agreement between Red Rock or York and WaMu or CRC except as expressly set forth herein.

22. Taxes. WaMu makes no representation or warranty as to effect of this Agreement upon Red Rock's liabilities pursuant to federal, state or local tax laws, including, but not limited to, real property taxes or regulations. Red Rock acknowledges that any and all tax consequences of this Agreement are their sole responsibility.

23. Confidentiality. This Agreement and its terms as recited herein are and shall be treated as strictly confidential so that no Party, nor his, her, or its counsel may disclose the fact or the terms of, or the negotiation or circumstances surrounding the negotiation of, this Agreement to anyone, except with respect to any disclosure necessary to record any document with the Sacramento County Recorder; to an insurer for purposes of obtaining insurance; or to a tax preparer/accountant for tax or financial reporting purposes (however, upon disclosure for such tax or financial reporting purposes, the person making the disclosure shall advise the person to whom disclosure is made of this confidentiality provision). A Party may disclose the fact and terms of this Agreement in order to satisfy disclosure or reporting requirements imposed by law or to enforce the terms of this Agreement. In response to any inquiry by a non-party to this Agreement concerning the Agreement, the terms of this Agreement, the negotiation or circumstances surrounding the negotiation of this Agreement, whether such inquiry is formal, at a deposition, in any proceeding, or otherwise, a Party or counsel may respond only that the Action was resolved to the satisfaction of all Parties. Furthermore, the Parties and their respective counsel agree that they will not discuss with or disclose to any non-party to this Agreement the facts, circumstances and documents relating, giving rise to or alleged in the Action, except as may be required to be provided in connection with testimony under oath by judicial process, or as required by law. Breach or the threatened breach of this confidentiality clause shall entitle the non-breaching party to seek any remedy available under the law, including injunctive relief and/or damages. Any other provision of this paragraph notwithstanding, Red Rock is authorized to: (i) file a dismissal with prejudice in the Sacramento Superior Court, such as it is a part of the record in the Action and available for public inspection; and (ii) disclose the amounts received and all other terms of this settlement in connection with reporting and accounting requirements under the Internal Revenue Code.

IMPORTANT NOTICE
NOTICE OF DEFAULT AND ELECTION TO SELL UNDER DEED OF TRUST

IF YOUR PROPERTY IS IN FORECLOSURE BECAUSE YOU ARE BEHIND IN YOUR PAYMENTS, IT MAY BE SOLD WITHOUT ANY COURT ACTION, and you may have the legal right to bring your account in good standing by paying all of your past due payments plus permitted costs and expenses within the time permitted by law for reinstatement of your account, which is normally five business days prior to the date set for the sale of your property. No sale date may be set until three months from the date this notice of default may be recorded (which date of recordation appears on this notice).

This amount is $18,356.40 as of December 13, 2007 and will increase until your account becomes current.

While your property is in foreclosure, you still must pay other obligations (such as insurance and taxes) required by your note and deed of trust or mortgage. If you fail to make future payments on the loan, pay taxes on the property, provide insurance on the property, or pay other obligations as required in the note and deed of trust or mortgage, the beneficiary or mortgagee may insist that you do so in order to reinstate your account in good standing. In addition, the beneficiary or mortgagee may require as a condition to reinstatement that you provide reliable written evidence that you paid all senior liens, property taxes, and hazard insurance premiums.

Upon your written request, the beneficiary or mortgagee will give you a written itemization of the entire amount you must pay. You may not have to pay the entire unpaid portion of your account, even though full payment was demanded, but you must pay all amounts in default at the time payment is made. However, you and your beneficiary or mortgagee may mutually agree in writing prior to the time the notice of sale is posted (which may not be earlier than the end of the three-month period stated above) to, among other things, (1) provide additional time in which to cure the default by transfer of the property or otherwise; or (2) establish a schedule of payments in order to cure your default; or both (1) and (2).

Following the expiration of the time period referred to in the first paragraph of this notice, unless the obligation being foreclosed upon or a separate written agreement between you and your creditor permits a longer period, you have only the legal right to stop the sale of property by paying the entire amount demanded by your creditor.

To find out the amount you must pay, or to arrange for payment to stop the foreclosure, or if your property is in foreclosure for any other reason, contact: WASHINGTON MUTUAL BANK, FA at 7301 BAYMEADOWS WAY, JACKSONVILLE, FL 32256, (877) 926-8937.

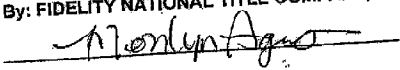

If you have any questions, you should contact a lawyer or the governmental agency which may have insured your loan. Notwithstanding the fact that your property is in foreclosure, you may offer your property for sale, provided the sale is concluded prior to the conclusion of the foreclosure.

REMEMBER, YOU MAY LOSE LEGAL RIGHTS IF YOU DO NOT TAKE PROMPT ACTION. SCHEDULE OF EXCLUSIONS FROM COVERAGE OF THIS GUARANTEE

1. Except to the extent that specific assurances are provided in Schedule A of this Guarantee, the Company assumes no liability for loss or damage by reason of the following:
 - (a) Defects, liens, encumbrances, adverse claims or other matters against the title, whether or not shown by the public records.
 - (b) (1) Taxes or assessments of any taxing authority that levies taxes or assessments on real property; or (2) Proceedings by a public agency which may result in taxes or assessments, or notices of such proceedings, whether or not the matters excluded under (1) or (2) are shown by the records of the taxing authority or by the public records.
 - (c) (1) Unpatented mining claims; (2) reservations or exceptions in patents or in Acts authorizing the issuance thereof; (3) water rights, claims or title to water, whether or not the matters excluded under (1), (2) or (3) are shown by the public records.
2. Notwithstanding any specific assurances which are provided in Schedule A of this Guarantee, the Company assumes no liability for loss or damage by reason of the following:
 - (a) Defects, liens, encumbrances, adverse claims or other matters affecting the title to any property beyond the lines of the land expressly described in the description set forth in Schedule A of this Guarantee, or title to streets, roads, avenues, lanes, ways or waterways to which such land abuts, or the right to maintain therein vaults, tunnels, ramps or any structure or improvements; or any rights or easements therein, unless such property, rights or easements are expressly and specifically set forth in said description.
 - (b) Defects, liens, encumbrances, adverse claims or other matters, whether or not shown by the public records; (1) which are created, suffered, assumed or agreed to by one or more of the Assured; (2) which result in no loss to the Assured; or (3) which do not result in the invalidity or potential invalidity of any judicial or non-judicial proceeding which is within the scope and purpose of the assurances provided.
 - (c) The identity of any party shown or referred to in Schedule A.
 - (d) The validity, legal effect or priority of any matter shown or referred to in this Guarantee.

GUARANTEE CONDITIONS AND STIPULATIONS

1. Definition of Terms.

The following terms when used in the Guarantee mean:

(a) the "Assured": the party or parties named as the Assured in this Guarantee, or on a supplemental writing executed by the Company.

(b) "land": the land described or referred to in Schedule A and improvements affixed thereto to which by law constitute real property. The term "land" does not include any property beyond the lines of the area described or referred to in Schedule A nor any rights, title, interest, estate or easement in adjoining streets, roads, avenues, alleys, lanes, ways or waterways.

(c) "mortgage": mortgage, deed of trust, trust deed, or other security instrument.

(d) "public records": records established under state statutes at Date of Guarantee for the purpose of imparting constructive notice of matters relating to real property to purchasers for value and without knowledge.

(e) "date": the effective date.

2. Notice of Claim to be Given by Assured Claimant.

An Assured shall notify the Company promptly in writing in case knowledge shall come to an Assured hereunder of any claim of title or interest which is adverse to the title to the estate or interest, as stated herein, and which might cause loss or damage for which the Company may be liable by virtue of this Guarantee. If prompt notice shall not be given to the Company, then all liability of the Company shall terminate with regard to the matter or matters for which prompt notice is required; provided, however, that failure to notify the Company shall in no case prejudice the rights of any Assured under this Guarantee unless the Company shall be prejudiced by the failure and then only to the extent of the prejudice.

3. No Duty to Defend or Prosecute.

The Company shall have no duty to defend or prosecute any action or proceeding to which the Assured is a party, notwithstanding the nature of any allegation in such action or proceeding.

4. Company's Option to Defend or Prosecute Actions; Duty of Assured Claimant to Cooperate.

Even though the Company has no duty to defend or prosecute as set forth in Paragraph 4 above:

(a) The Company shall have the right, at its sole option and cost, to institute and prosecute any action or proceeding, interpose a defense, as limited in (b), or to do any other act which in its opinion may be necessary or desirable to establish the title to the estate or interest as stated herein, or to establish the lien rights of the Assured, or to prevent or reduce loss or damage to the Assured. The Company may take any appropriate action under the terms of this Guarantee, whether or not it shall be liable hereunder, and shall not thereby concede liability or waive any provision of this Guarantee. If the Company shall exercise its rights under this paragraph, it shall do so diligently.

(b) If the Company elects to exercise its options as stated in Paragraph 5(a) the Company shall have the right to select counsel of its choice (subject to the right of such Assured to object for reasonable cause) to represent the Assured and shall not be liable for and will not pay the fees of any other counsel, nor will the Company pay any fees, costs or expenses incurred by an Assured in the defense of those causes of action which allege matters not covered by this Guarantee.

(c) Whenever the Company shall have brought an action or interposed a defense as permitted by the provisions of this Guarantee, the Company may pursue any litigation to final determination by a court of competent jurisdiction and expressly reserves the right, in its sole discretion, to appeal from an adverse judgment or order.

(d) In all cases where this Guarantee permits the Company to prosecute or provide for the defense of any action or proceeding, an Assured shall secure to the Company the right to so prosecute or provide for the defense of any action or proceeding, and all appeals therein, and permit the Company to use, at its option, the name of such Assured for this purpose. Whenever requested by the Company, an Assured, at the Company's expense, shall give the Company all reasonable aid in any action or proceeding, securing evidence, obtaining witnesses, prosecuting or defending the action or lawful act which, in the opinion of the Company may be necessary or desirable to establish the title to the estate or interest as stated herein, or to establish the lien rights of the Assured. If the Company is prejudiced by the failure of the Assured to furnish the required cooperation, the Company's obligations to the Assured under this Guarantee shall terminate.

5. Proof of Loss or Damage.

In addition to and after this notice required under Section 3 of these Conditions and Stipulations have been provided to the Company, proof of loss or damage signed and sworn to by the Assured shall be furnished to the Company within ninety (90) days after the Assured shall ascertain the facts giving rise to the loss or damage. The proof of loss or damage shall describe the matters covered by this Guarantee which constitute the basis of loss or damage and shall state, to the extent possible, the basis of calculating the amount of the loss or damage. If the Company is prejudiced by the failure of the Assured to provide the required proof of loss or damage, the Company's obligation to such Assured under the Guarantee shall terminate. In addition, the Assured may reasonably be required to submit to examination under oath by any authorized representative of the Company and shall produce for examination, inspection and copying, at such reasonable times and places as may be designated by any authorized representative of the Company, all records, books, ledgers, checks, correspondence and memoranda, whether bearing a date before or after Date of Guarantee, which reasonably pertain to the loss or damage. Further, if requested by any authorized representative of the Company, the Assured shall grant its permission, in writing, for any authorized representative of the Company to examine, inspect and copy all records, books, ledgers, checks, correspondence and memoranda in the custody or control of a third party, which reasonably pertain to the loss or damage. All information designated as confidential by the Assured provided to the Company pursuant to this Section shall not be disclosed to others unless, in the reasonable judgment of the Company, it is necessary in the administration of the claim. Failure of the Assured to submit for examination under oath, produce other reasonably requested information or grant permission to secure reasonably necessary information from third parties as required in the above paragraph, unless prohibited by law or governmental regulation, shall terminate any liability of the Company under this Guarantee to the Assured for that claim.

6. Options to Pay or Otherwise Settle Claims; Termination of Liability.

In case of a claim under this Guarantee, the Company shall have the following additional options:

(a) To Pay or Tender Payment of the Amount of Liability or to Purchase the Indebtedness.

The Company shall have the option to pay or settle or compromise for or in the name of the Assured any claim which could result in loss to the Assured within the coverage of this Guarantee, or to pay the full amount of this Guarantee or, if this Guarantee is issued for the benefit of a holder of a mortgage or a lienholder, the Company shall have the option to purchase the indebtedness secured by said mortgage or said lien for the amount owing thereon together with any costs, reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses incurred by the Assured claimant which were authorized by the Company up to the time of purchase.

Such purchase, payment or tender of payment of the full amount of the Guarantee shall terminate all liability of the Company hereunder. In the event after notice of claim has been given to the Company by the Assured the Company offers to purchase said indebtedness, the owner of such indebtedness shall transfer and assign said indebtedness, together with any collateral security, to the Company upon payment of the purchase price.

Upon the exercise by the Company of the option provided for in Paragraph (a) the Company's obligation to the Assured under this Guarantee for the claimed loss or damage, other than to make the payment required in that paragraph, shall terminate, including any obligation to continue the defense or prosecution of any litigation for which the Company has exercised its options under Paragraph 5, and the Guarantee shall be surrendered to the Company for cancellation.

(b) To Pay or Otherwise Settle With Parties Other Than the Assured or With the Assured Claimant.

To Pay or otherwise settle with other parties for or in the name of an Assured claimant any claim assured against under this Guarantee, together with any costs, attorneys' fees and expenses incurred by the Assured claimant which were authorized by the Company up to the time of payment and which the Company is obligated to pay.

Upon the exercise by the Company of the option provided for in Paragraph (b) the Company's obligation to the Assured under this Guarantee for the claimed loss or damage, other than to make the payment required in that paragraph, shall terminate including any obligation to continue the defense or prosecution of any litigation for which the Company has exercised its options under Paragraph 5.

7. Determination and Extent of Liability.

This Guarantee is a contract of indemnity against actual monetary loss or damage sustained or incurred by the Assured claimant who has suffered loss or damage by reason of reliance upon the assurances set forth in this Guarantee and only to the extent herein described, and subject to the exclusions stated in Paragraph 2.

The liability of the Company under this Guarantee to the Assured shall not exceed the least of:

(a) the amount of liability stated in Schedule A;

(b) the amount of the unpaid principal indebtedness secured by the mortgage of an Assured mortgagee, as limited or provided under Section 7 of these Conditions and Stipulations or as reduced under Section 10 of these Conditions and Stipulations, at the time the loss or damage assured against by this Guarantee occurs, together with interest thereon; or

(c) the difference between the value of the estate or interest covered hereby as stated herein and the value of the estate or interest subject to any defect, lien or encumbrance assured against by this Guarantee.

8. Limitation of Liability.

(a) If the Company establishes the title, or removes the alleged defect, lien or encumbrance, or cures any other matter assured against by this Guarantee in a reasonably diligent manner by any method, including litigation and the completion of any appeals therefrom, it shall have fully performed its obligations with respect to that matter and shall not be liable for any loss or damage caused thereby.

(b) In the event of any litigation by the Company or with the Company's consent, the Company shall have no liability for loss or damage until there has been a final determination by a court of competent jurisdiction, and disposition of all appeals therefrom, adverse to the title, as stated herein.

(c) The Company shall not be liable for loss or damage to any Assured for liability voluntarily assumed by the Assured in settling any claim or suit without the prior written consent of the Company.

9. Reduction of Liability or Termination of Liability.

All Payments under this Guarantee, except payments made for costs, attorneys' fees and expenses pursuant to paragraph 5 shall reduce the amount of liability pro tanto.

10. Payment of Loss.

(a) No payment shall be made without producing this Guarantee for endorsement of the payment unless the Guarantee has been lost or destroyed, in which case proof of loss or destruction shall be furnished to the satisfaction of the Company.

(b) When liability and the extent of loss or damage has been definitely fixed in accordance with these Conditions and Stipulations, the loss or damage shall be payable within thirty (30) days thereafter.

11. Subrogation Upon Payment or Settlement.

Whenever the Company shall have settled and paid a claim under this Guarantee, all right of subrogation shall vest in the Company unaffected by any act of the Assured claimant.

The Company shall be subrogated to and be entitled to all rights and remedies which the Assured would have had against any person or property in respect to the claim had this Guarantee not been issued. If requested by the Company, the Assured shall transfer to the Company all rights and remedies against any person or property necessary in order to perfect this right of subrogation. The Assured shall permit the Company to sue, compromise or settle in the name of the Assured and to use the name of the Assured in any transaction or litigation involving these rights or remedies.

If a payment on account of a claim does not fully cover the loss of the Assured the Company shall be subrogated to all rights and remedies of the Assured after the Assured shall have recovered its principal, interest, and costs of collection.

12. Arbitration.

Unless prohibited by applicable law, either the Company or the Assured may demand arbitration pursuant to the Title Insurance Arbitration Rules of the American Arbitration Association.

Arbitrable matters may include, but are not limited to, any controversy or claim between the Company and the Assured arising out of or relating to this Guarantee, any service of the Company in connection with its issuance or the breach of a Guarantee provision or other obligation. All arbitrable matters when the Amount of Liability is $1,000,000 or less shall be arbitrated at the option of either the Company or the Assured. All arbitrable matters when the amount of liability is in excess of $1,000,000 shall be arbitrated only when agreed to by both the Company and the Assured. The Rules in effect at Date Of Guarantee shall be binding upon the parties. The award may include attorneys' fees only if the laws of the state in which the land is located permits a court to award attorneys' fees to a prevailing party. Judgment upon the award rendered by the Arbitrator(s) may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof.

The law of the situs of the land shall apply to an arbitration under the Title Insurance Arbitration Rules.

A copy of the rules may be obtained from the Company upon request.

13. Liability Limited to This Guarantee; Guarantee Entire Contract.

(a) This Guarantee together with all endorsements, if any, attached hereto by the Company is the entire Guarantee and contract between the Assured and the Company. In interpreting any provision of this Guarantee, this Guarantee shall be construed as a whole.

(b) Any claim of loss or damage, whether or not based on negligence, or any action asserting such claim, shall be restricted to this Guarantee.

(c) No amendment of or endorsement to this Guarantee can be made except by a writing endorsed hereon or attached hereto signed by either the President, a Vice President, the Secretary, an Assistant Secretary, or validating officer or authorized signatory of the Company.

14. Notices, Where Sent.

All notices required to be given the Company and any statement in writing required to be furnished the Company shall include the number of this Guarantee and shall be addressed to

NOTICE OF RESCISSION OF TRUSTEE'S DEED UPON SALE

This Notice of Rescission is made on 05/30/2008 with respect to the following facts:

1. That CALIFORNIA RECONVEYANCE COMPANY, a California Corporation as the duly appointed trustee under that certain Deed of Trust dated 01/04/2007, and Recorded 01/10/2007, Book 20070110, Page 1818, Instrument naming LAURA RICHARDSON, AN UNMARRIED WOMAN as trustor and WASHINGTON MUTUAL BANK as beneficiary, securing a Promissory Note in the amount of $535,001.00.

2. The Deed of Trust encumbers the real property situated in the County of SACRAMENTO, State of CALIFORNIA, described as follows:

LOT 299 AS SHOWN ON THE OFFICIAL "PLAT OF SOUTH CURTIS OAKS SUBDIVISION NOV. 6", FILED IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY RECORDER OF SACRAMENTO COUNTY, FEBRUARY 10, 1927 IN BOOK 19 OF MAPS, MAP NO. 18

A.P.N.:

Situs: 3822 WEST CURTIS DRIVE, SACRAMENTO, CA 95818

3. That by virtue of a Default under the terms of the Deed of Trust the Beneficiary did declare a default, as set forth in a Notice of Default and Election to Sell, which Notice was recorded in the Office of the County Recorder of SACRAMENTO, California.

4. On 05/07/2008, at 01:30 PM the property was purportedly sold to RED ROCK MORTGAGE, INC., being the highest bidder at such sale who bid the amount of $388,000.01.

5. The Trustee's Sale on 05/07/2008 is being rescinded at the request of the Beneficiary, as the Beneficiary had previously agreed to postpone the foreclosure sale to June 4, 2008. The Trustee's sale of 05/07/2008 is therefore null and void, and of no force and effect.

6. The express purpose for this Notice of Rescission is to return the priority and existence of all lien holders to the status quo ante that existed prior to the Trustee's Sale.

NOW, THEREFORE, THE UNDERSIGNED HEREBY RESCINDS THE TRUSTEE'S SALE AND PURPORTED TRUSTEE'S DEED UPON SALE AND HEREBY ADVISES ALL PERSONS, WHOMEVER AND WHATSOEVER LOCATED, THAT THE TRUSTEE'S DEED UPON SALE DATED 05/09/2008, FROM CALIFORNIA RECONVEYANCE COMPANY TO RED ROCK MORTGAGE, INC AND RECORDED 05/19/2008 IN BOOK 20080519, PAGE 0487, OF OFFICIAL RECORDS OF SACRAMENTO COUNTY IS HEREBY RESCINDED AND SHALL HAVE NO FURTHER FORCE OR EFFECT WHATSOEVER.

Hello,

I am hoping that you can assist me with this Congressional complaint. I have called and left a message on her cell phone for her to call me. The situation as Jan describes it below is that the customer is attempting to bring the loan current. She is looking to obtain a reinstatement figure and prevent foreclosure. Can you please assist me with that?

Thanks.

Has called. She is attempting to reinstate her loan as she indicates she has the money and would like to stay with the payment plan she had before she had her problems. I understand from her that her problems began when she starting running for Congress- once she had just won the state assembly seat. The Congressional district she represents is San Pedro and Long Beach, CA. She believes there will be a foreclosure sale on the above referenced property on April 7, 2008. She wants to keep the house and again has indicated she has the $$$ to pay the arrears and to pay this loan.

This one is sensitive. Contact numbers are:

WaMu Focused News

1. Ex-WaMu workers tapped for their mortgage expertise
 June 10, 2008
 By BILL VIRGIN
 Seattle Post-Intelligencer

Rising defaults and delinquencies on loans, houses staying on the market longer and fetching less-than-hoped-for prices when they do sell, a weakening economy -- sounds like a great time for banks to get into or expand their presence in the mortgage business.

Yet several banks in this region are doing just that.

And they've got just the place to go to recruit people they need to increase the number of home loans they write: former Washington Mutual employees.

KeyBank became the latest to tap the pool of former WaMu home-loan personnel when it named Michael Taylor as its vice president and sales manager for its Northwest region; he had been regional manager for Washington Mutual's Eastern Washington, Idaho and Utah markets.

Taylor, in turn, has hired Ed Sauriol, a 16-year WaMu veteran, as producing sales manager for Key's South Puget Sound region.

That's just the start. Although Key started the year with 13 employees on its mortgage lending staff in Washington, Taylor says the bank is at 30 now and could be up to 50 by the end of the year "as long as I find the right talent."

Taylor and Key are hoping to generate home-loan business not only from its existing customers, but also from the contacts with real estate agents, builders and others in the community those recruits bring with them. Key wants to double its mortgage lending in the 13 states it operates in nationally, and triple its mortgage writing in Washington state.

Key's not alone, either in expanding home lending or recruiting former WaMu employees to accomplish that.

Wells Fargo & Co. opened a new downtown Seattle home-loan office with 31 employees, all from the same WaMu home-loan center.

Wells Fargo has also added 10 former WaMu employees on the Eastside, five in Bellingham, four in Mount Vernon and a couple in the South Sound area, according to spokeswoman Lara Underhill. JPMorgan Chase, meanwhile, has hired former WaMu mortgage staffers in Seattle, California and Utah.

Those employees are available because of WaMu's decision, announced in April, to close all of its free-standing home-loan centers -- 186 nationally, 23 in Washington -- and lay off 3,000 employees. WaMu plans to make home loans through its retail bank branches.

"These are experienced mortgage officers," Wells Fargo's Underhill says. "They're familiar with the market."

Less obvious is why Key, Wells and others would want to expand in home lending just now.

KeyBank's Taylor says that for all the bad news about the housing sector -- "the consumer has a feeling the mortgage business has shut down" -- there's still business to be done. Maybe even more business, he adds, with WaMu and others pulling back not just from retail lending, but also the wholesale business (loans written by brokers and other lenders).

 CONFIDENTIAL

Proprietary and Confidential - Do Not Copy

"It's creating some opportunity for us," Taylor said. "Even though the mortgage pie has shrunk, the number of hands in that pie has shrunk even further."

"We're still writing mortgages; we're still in business," adds JPMorgan Chase spokeswoman Christine Holevas. "People still want the American dream. They want to own their own home. We're helping them do so in a prudent manner."

Those banks say prudent lending in the past -- not loading up on the sorts of exotic and risky mortgages now going sour -- puts them in a position to expand now. Taylor says FHA lending programs are regaining favor. "It's old-school stuff," he says. Interest rates that are still attractive are driving business for new loans and refinancing activity.

Lenders are expanding in the Seattle area, he adds, because "we were never down as far as the national market. That doesn't mean we were without pain. But inventory is moving. ... We could potentially see a rebound this summer," although he's not predicting it will be substantial.

2. In an "extremely unusual" move, WaMu goes to bat for Rep. Richardson
Los Angeles Times

Just when you thought you were safe from news about U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson, Democrat of Long Beach: The Daily Breeze reports that her lender, Washington Mutual, is trying to help her get her foreclosed house back (That's the house at right, located in Sacramento).

The Breeze's Gene Maddaus: "The real estate broker who bought Rep. Laura Richardson's house at a foreclosure sale last month is accusing her of receiving preferential treatment because her lender has issued a notice to rescind the sale.

Neither Richardson nor WaMu would talk to Maddaus about the situation. Richardson has yet to answer L.A. Land's questions, posed in writing on May 22, about the Sacramento mortgage, and the modification to the mortgage she says she received from WaMu.

Catching up: I must confess I failed to post a story about Richardson's car troubles. Here's how the Long Beach Press-Telegram told it: "In 2005, when she was still on the Long Beach City Council, she left one mechanic in a lurch with an unpaid bill, then later had her badly damaged BMW towed to an auto body shop but didn't pay for any work and abandoned the car there, owners of the businesses said this week. The next day, Richardson began using a city-owned vehicle -- putting almost 31,000 miles on it in about a year -- and continued driving the car five days after she had left the council to serve in the state Assembly, city records show."

In a terrific example of public service journalism, though, the Press-Telegram did manage to get some money for the mechanic. It reports that Richardson paid the 2-year-old, $735 bill after the newspaper called seeking an interview about the unpaid debt.

More: "James York, owner of Red Rock Mortgage, said he would file a lawsuit against Richardson and her lender, Washington Mutual, by the end of the week, and has every intention of keeping the house. 'I'm just amazed they've done this,' York said. 'They never would have done this for anybody else.'"

Maddaus seeks out analysis from foreclosure expert Leo Nordine, who opines that a bank going to bat for a former homeowner in a situation such as this is "extremely unusual." "Unless [the borrower] filed bankruptcy beforehand, they'd never do it."

3. Overdraft and ATM Fees Rise, As Economy Slumps
June 2008
By Anthony Malakian
American Banker

Consumers are always wary of being nickel-and-dimed to death, and thanks to the current economic malaise, more banks are heading in that direction. Many of the biggest banks are raising fees for ATM usage and overdrafts, which analysts say isn't such a bad idea.

Bank of America recently raised its overdraft fee (also called NSF for non-sufficient funds) to $25 from $20 for the first day, and $35 for each subsequent day. First Horizon raised its NSF fee to $35 from $32. Washington Mutual upped its overdraft to $34 from $32 in most states. Citibank now also is charging a $3 ATM fee for non-customers, as is BofA, which raised its surcharge last July. Bank of the Sierra, a $1.3-billion-asset bank in Porterville, CA, hasn't joined the wave of increasing fees, but bank president and CEO James Holly acknowledges the changing attitude. "Years ago, if you overdrew your account, we couldn't wait to close your account and throw you out," says Holly, joking. "Now we have to go find those people and bring them in, because they are really valuable folks to have."

Robert Hammer, chairman and CEO of Thousand Oaks, CA-based bank advisory firm R.K. Hammer Investment Bankers, says banks should be mandated to raise fees. "Without a doubt, bank fees are rising, but you have to understand that rising risk in our industry today is indisputable," Hammer says. "In an environment of rising risk, you would expect fees of those risks to rise, too. It would be an abdication of responsibility for bank management to not have fees rising as well."

While some argue this promotes customer dissatisfaction, it doesn't seem to lead to attrition, says Greg Lowell, senior manager in the financial-services strategy group for research company Accenture. In a report to be released this month, Accenture found a 23 percent difference in customer satisfaction between banks that charged fees and those that didn't. Yet, 61 percent of customers said that if their bank charged a fee, they would continue to do business with it, only 12 percent less than those banks that wouldn't charge a fee for the service. "Our research does bear out that customers in retail banking do tend to stay with the bank, not necessarily out of a strong sense of loyalty, but out of a reluctance to make the move to another bank because of all the time and cost in making that happen," says Lowell. Certain fees really aggravate customers, such as customer-service fees, monthly service fees and product-purchase fees. Overdraft fees, on the other hand, were found to be somewhat accepted, because "people, for the most part, understand it's a fee related to a specific error on their part," Lowell says. Consumers also understand a fee for use of an ATM not connected to their bank. Lowell says banks need to understand how their customers view certain fees and not just make a "knee-jerk increase in fees" because BofA did.

Ed Woods, a senior analyst at Boston-based consultant Celent, agrees that not all fees are greeted with anger. "There are segments of the population that aren't adverse to paying late fees," he says. "What seems to be most important to them is to have the flexibility to get [the payment or take out money] when they want."

Ron Shevlin, senior analyst at Boston-based consultant Aite Group, says, though, banks do need to worry about silent attrition. While higher fees may not provoke a customer to leave his bank, he may not keep depositing money or buying new products, either. "In the short term, it seems like a great business move. The problem is that it leaves such a bad taste in the consumer's mouth," Shevlin says. "These are the kinds of things that over time build up dissatisfaction, but the bank won't see that in terms of a hit for at least a couple of quarters."

Shevlin adds that there is no reason to believe that fees will go back down, either. "If they were to spend the next year maintaining their retention rates in the face of increasing fees, the business will look at it and say, 'Why would we want to reduce the fees now?'" Shevlin says.

4. Lessons for Small Biz in Bank Blowups

Elizabeth Blackwell
June 10, 2008
TheStreet.com

No one piles CEOs these days, what with their stratospheric compensation, company-paid perks and golden parachutes. Even when they do get fired, they don't have to join the line at the local unemployment office.

Still, most of us wouldn't want to be running a major financial institution these days, when bank CEOs seem to be dropping left and right. Citigroup (C - Cramer's Take - Stockpickr) and Merrill Lynch (MER - Cramer's Take - Stockpickr) both gave their CEOs the boot late last year; this week, Wachovia (WAC - Cramer's Take - Stockpickr) did the same. Washington Mutual's (WAMU - Cramer's Take - Stockpickr) CEO got to keep his job -- barely -- but was forced to give up his chairman title, a move that was the result of pressure from shareholders.

All this fallout from the subprime mortgage mess may seem far removed from the average small business owner (unless your small business happens to be a title company or mortgage lender). But the lack of confidence in Wachovia's and Washington Mutual's leadership serves as a cautionary tale for anyone who runs a business, no matter what size.

It's not as if Wachovia's CEO was trolling suburban subdivisions, hustling no-interest loans to unqualified buyers. But the current mortgage meltdown is partially the result of incentives put in place by high-ranking executives. Those top dogs are now realizing that any shady dealings within their companies -- no matter how far removed from their corner offices -- can bring them down, too.

The lesson here is clear: If you give your employees incentives to cut corners, however unintentionally, their shoddy tactics can eventually be pinned on you. You need to know how your subordinates operate, because you may ultimately be the fall guy for their mistakes.

At Wachovia and other major banks, "Everyone had a cash incentive to approve loans, and that started at the top," says Tomas Norton of The Norton Group, which provides banking-related consulting and litigation support services. "A mindset based on volume went from the absolute top to the very bottom of the food chain."

Troubled Mentality

The repeal of the Glass-Steagall Act in 1999, which allowed commercial and investment banks to merge, was the beginning of what Norton points to as a change in mentality in the lending business. "It put an investment banker mentality into a commercial banking operation," he says. Mortgages became commodities that were packaged into securities. The more mortgages were approved, the more executive compensation soared.

CEOs, in search of the short-term profits that could boost stock prices, demanded more and more loans. And they didn't ask too many questions about how those mortgages were being approved.

For banks like Washington Mutual and Wachovia, the result was a disconnect between public perception and real-world tactics. To the general public, banks remained traditional, even conservative institutions. Bank branches continued to spring up in suburban subdivisions and big-city downtowns, creating the illusion that these banks were a part of the community.

But behind the scenes, banks were indulging in speculative, risky financial behavior. "They created the impression of community banking by having a branch on every corner," says Norton. "But they had no relationship with the customer. They wanted to get your loan, keep it for five minutes, then sell it off for short-term profits."

And they were willing to overlook all the warning signs, such as home buyers who didn't have enough income to pay off their loans. For a while it worked -- until the whole system fell apart.

Bank CEOs had a few great years, where they took credit for soaring stock prices and were compensated accordingly. And you could do the same, by overlooking red flags and making some short-term profits. But if you want your business to last, you'd better take a close look at how your employees are operating on your behalf.

Do you reward results, regardless of how they were obtained? Do you send the message -- overt or implied -- that you're always thinking short-term? For the banks, says Norton, "Compensation was based on approval. No one wanted to say no to loans." Are you willing to say no?

It's easy to think -- as the bank CEOs did -- that the folks in charge should focus on the big picture. But if they don't know exactly how the people at the bottom are operating, they won't stay on top very long.

FYI - It appears that Congresswoman Richardson has now engaged a spokesperson -- William Marshall. Among other things, he states that Ms. Richardson is awaiting clarification from WaMu as to whether she had secured new loan terms in time, but that she is still in fact the owner of her Sacramento home (though public records state otherwise).

I'll continue to let you know of any other new developments as reported by the media.

>Rep. Richardson defaulted on three Calif. home loans -- The Hill

>By Jared Allen

>The tale of Rep. Laura Richardson's (D) personal housing crisis got even more captivating Tuesday as her office said the freshman lawmaker defaulted on loans she took out for not just one, but three, California homes.

>The news of one of Richardson's properties recently being sold at auction captured widespread attention last week in the wake of the nation's housing crisis. But that was only part of the story.

>Richardson's office said Tuesday she has caught up on her payments and renegotiated the terms of loans she took out to purchase homes in San Pedro and Long Beach, Calif. Her office confirmed that the lawmaker defaulted on both of these homes and was risking foreclosure when she went months without making payments.

>A third home that Richardson borrowed heavily to move into in Sacramento was sold at auction earlier this month -- at a $150,000 loss to the bank that issued her the $535,000 loan.

>William Marshall, a spokesman for Richardson, said on Tuesday that she was still awaiting clarification from her lender, Washington Mutual, as to whether she had secured new loan terms in time and was still, in fact, the owner of the home.

>Richardson told The Associated Press on Friday that she was surprised to learn that the home was sold at the May 7 auction. She claimed that the sale never should have happened because she had renegotiated her loan to pay it off.

>Even as that was happening, ethics watchdogs were crying foul over Richardson's personal finances and questioning how she was able to lend her campaign to Congress $77,500 in the midst of multiple home loan defaults.

>Federal Election Commission (FEC) reports show that Richardson loaned her campaign a total of $77,500 — in three installments — between June and July of 2007.

>Richardson's year-end FEC filing showed that her campaign still had $331,000 worth of debt but $116,000 cash-on-hand.

>Marshall was unable to immediately answer questions about whether Richardson borrowed against any of her home equity — from homes she defaulted on — to finance her House campaign.

>But he did not dispute reports that Richardson had done the very same thing the year prior when she borrowed $100,000 against her Long Beach home — whose mortgage she later defaulted on — to loan to her campaign for the California General Assembly. She repaid that personal loan in its entirety, according to Los Angeles media outlets.

>Melanie Sloan, executive director of the Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington, criticized Richardson for falling deeper into debt while choosing to spend more than $77,500 of her own money on her campaign. She suggested that Richardson's actions only demonstrated her belief that winning a seat in Congress is more important than practicing personal fiscal responsibility.

>Sloan added Richardson should not be in the situation she is while making a congressional salary when homeowners around the country making $50,000 or less are struggling to pay their debts.>

>"Truthfully, it's appalling," Sloan said.

>Meredith McGehee, policy director for the Campaign Legal Center, said it would be reasonable for the FEC to look into the timing of the loan against the timeline of Richardson's home loan defaults.

>"In situations like this it's very important for whoever loaned her the money to demonstrate that they treated her equitably, not favorably," McGehee said. "Otherwise, you're getting into a situation of a corporate underwriting of a campaign."

>Richardson's FEC reports do not spell out the terms of her personal loans to her campaign.

>Richardson originally came under scrutiny last week when it was learned that a home she owned in Sacramento was sold at auction after it went into foreclosure.

>As well as her $535,000 home in Sacramento, a home that Richardson owned in San Pedro — which she borrowed $359,000 to obtain — went into default in September 2007 when she became more than $12,000 behind in her payments.

>In addition, Richardson's primary residence in Long Beach went into default just two months ago after she failed to make a payment for four months and owed nearly $20,000 on the property.

>Marshall declined to give details of the new loans that he said Richardson was able to secure.

>Richardson last week told reporters in California that her experience makes her particularly well-suited to help Congress legislate a solution to the nation's housing crisis, saying she hoped to testify before congressional committees on the issue.

>And when Congress returns following the Memorial Day recess, reconciling the House and Senate versions of the legislation designed to help the housing market rebound will be on the top of the

>Richardson did not vote on the version of the Foreclosure Prevention Act that passed the House, but said she missed the vote only because she was attending her father's funeral.

>Richardson was a member of the Long Beach City Council when she won a California General Assembly seat in November 2006, months before she purchased the home in Sacramento. She won the congressional seat the following year in the special election to replace the late Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald (D).

WASHINGTON -- As lawmakers look to piece together a housing-rescue package that President Bush can sign, a partisan feud has delayed the Senate confirmation of Steven Preston to be housing secretary.

The White House and Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid (D., Nev.) are accusing each other of renegeing on a deal that would have seen Mr. Preston confirmed Thursday as head of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

With lawmakers now in recess, the earliest Mr. Preston could be confirmed is in early June.

"This is pretty appalling given the situation we're in with housing," White House spokesman Tony Fratto said Friday. "We had a deal."

But Sen. Reid's office said the White House's failure to keep a Republican senator in line is to blame for the collapse of an agreement under which the Senate was to confirm Mr. Preston and 79 others. "This is what we get for trying to act with unusual speed and haste," Reid spokesman Jim Manley said, noting that Democrats agreed to move forward on Mr. Preston without a vote by the Senate Banking Committee.

The dispute, which emerged late Thursday, has an unlikely source: the Tennessee Valley Authority. Sen. Lamar Alexander (R., Tenn.), angry that Sen. Reid is blocking the reappointment of William H. Graves to the TVA board, put a hold Mr. Reid's choice for the board of the Institute of Peacc, Ikram U. Khan. That brought down the Reid-White House agreement. The institute is an independent, nonpartisan organization funded by Congress.

"There's only one senator holding up the housing secretary in the midst of a housing slump and that's the Democratic leader," Mr. Alexander said. "I have tried to be as polite as possible about this."

Mr. Preston, head of the Small Business Administration, was expected to breeze through the Senate confirmation process. Mr. Bush nominated him to succeed Alphonso Jackson, who stepped down in April amid controversy over the agency's awarding of contracts.

Housing woes mount for Rep. Laura Richardson

FORECLOSURE: South Bay Rep. Laura Richardson has three homes that have gone into default.

By Gene Maddaus, Staff Writer

Rep. Laura Richardson, who lost her Sacramento home in a recent foreclosure auction, has also defaulted on properties in Long Beach and San Pedro, records show.

Richardson, D-Long Beach, was able to bring her payments up to date on the Long Beach home relatively quickly, but the San Pedro property lingered in the foreclosure process for almost eight months, and still has a pending auction date.

In her first interview since the news broke Tuesday that her Sacramento home had been foreclosed, Richardson blamed the foreclosure on a miscommunication by her lender. She offered no apologies for failing to make payments on three separate homes and expressed no regret for failing to pay nearly $9,000 in property taxes.

In her only admission of fault, she said she could have acted more quickly to correct the situation.

"I should have moved forward in an earlier fashion," she said. "I acknowledge that. I intend never to conduct business in that fashion again."

Asked how she planned to reimburse the state for her unpaid property taxes, Richardson said, "I have financial obligations, and I will fulfill those financial obligations. - There will be no debts to the state of California."

In an hour-and-a-half interview in the offices of the Press-Telegram, Richardson declined to answer numerous detailed questions about her finances. For example, she refused to discuss the mortgage terms on the Sacramento house, refused to say how many payments she had made, and refused to say when she learned that the mortgage was in default.

A notice of default was issued in December, but Richardson offered no evidence that she had taken any remedial action before April. By then, the auction had already been scheduled for one month.

The home, which Richardson bought in January 2007 for $535,000, sold at auction on May 7 to a real estate investor for $388,000. The lender, Washington Mutual Bank, took a loss of nearly $200,000 on the deal, and the buyer, James York, agreed to pay her property tax bill.

Richardson said that she was not aware the home had sold until she was contacted by reporters this week. She produced correspondence from Washington Mutual Home Loans, dated April 17, that indicated her loan was reinstated and the auction would be put on hold until June 4.

She produced an e-mail, dated Thursday, indicating that she was trying to work with the lender to have the foreclosure rescinded.

A spokeswoman for Washington Mutual Bank, Sara Gaugl, declined to comment on the matter.

"We have not received consent from Ms. Richardson that would allow us to discuss her loan situation," Gaugl said.

County records indicate that the San Pedro home went into default in September 2007, at which point Richardson was behind on her payments by $12,410.71, and had made no payments since June.

A notice of trustee sale was issued on April 17, and an auction was scheduled for May 14 on the courthouse steps in Norwalk. The outstanding loan balance was $367,436, on an original 2005 loan of $359,000.

However, the auction was put on hold.

Richardson produced records from Wells Fargo Bank, which holds the note on her San Pedro home. That document, dated March 21, indicated that Richardson had qualified for a loan modification that would prevent the foreclosure from going forward.

Cal Western Reconveyance Corp., which was responsible for collecting the debt, confirmed This Sacramento home owned by Rep. Richardson was sold at auction.  that a hold had been placed on the auction, and the auction date had been postponed to July 14, pending a workout of the loan.

Again, Richardson produced no document to confirm that she took any remedial action on the San Pedro property before March.

The Long Beach home, which is Richardson's primary address, went into default on March 28. Richardson had not made a payment on the house since November, and owed $19,921.74 on the property. Three days later, the default was rescinded, indicating that Richardson had arranged to make the payments.

While Richardson did not apologize for her actions, she did attempt to explain them.

In 2005, Richardson was a Long Beach councilwoman and a staffer for Lt. Gov. Cruz Bustamante. She was elected to the Assembly in 2006 and then to Congress in 2007, to fill a seat vacated by the death of Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald.

Richardson loaned her Assembly campaign $100,000 in the summer of 2006, borrowing against the equity in her Long Beach home. After her election, she raised enough money to pay herself back, but immediately had to plow $77,500 in loans to her congressional campaign.

"I am not financially wealthy," she said. "I am not a millionaire. - Based upon what I was going through, changing four jobs in less than one year, I think any American would understand what that does in terms of a person's financial stability."

As a member of Congress, Richardson makes $169,300 a year. As a member of the Assembly, she made about $116,000, plus a per diem for living expenses in Sacramento.

When it was pointed out that the average American makes far less than that, Richardson responded, "The average American is not responsible for maintaining several households."

Richardson said she did not make an effort to sell the Sacramento home, even after she was elected to Congress, and still hoped to rent it out.

Richardson attempted to link her situation to the plight of others facing foreclosure, and said the experience would help make her a better advocate on foreclosure issues.

"I think this is what many Americans are unfortunately facing right now," she said. "I am concerned that I can take what I have learned from this to help somebody else. - Many people are one step away from issues that are life-changing moments. When a person moves across the country, that is a life-changing moment."

Richardson noted that unlike the state Legislature, the U.S. Congress does not provide for living expenses.

"On the federal level, there is no per diem," she said. "They don't pay for you to move."

Richardson is renting an apartment in the Washington, D.C., area. She declined to disclose or discuss her credit score.

She has begun to pay down her congressional campaign debt, and repaid herself $18,000 of the $77,500 in personal loans. She still owes $220,000 to her campaign consultant - which is unusual for a successful campaign - and about $330,000 overall.

CONFIDENTIAL

Richardson said she would advise anyone in her circumstance "to seek assistance immediately" and to maintain contact with their lenders.

She said she ultimately hopes to testify about her situation in front of the Senate, and will write to the president to urge him to sign a package of foreclosure legislation.

"We need to put a better process in place, so a person's home is not being sold up underneath them," she said. "We have to improve the way we respond to this crisis."

Housing relief: Help, but for how many?

Sponsors of the Senate's bipartisan mortgage bill say it will help 500,000 people. But an Oct. 1 start date means many homeowners could be out of luck.

By Jeanne Sabadi, CNNMoney.com senior writer
May 23, 2008: 10:39 AM EDT

NEW YORK (CNNMoney.com) -- When the Senate Banking Committee passed a housing bill intended to limit foreclosures, panel Chairman Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., said he expected the measure could help 500,000 borrowers stay in their homes.

While the bill could help a lot of people, it's unlikely to help 500,000.

The bill's key provision would allow the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) to insure up to $300 billion in new loans for at-risk borrowers if lenders agree to write down loan balances below the appraised value of borrowers' homes.

The Congressional Budget Office has not yet released its official estimates of the bill's FHA proposal.

But in analyzing the potential costs and reach of a similar proposal passed by the House in May, the CBO estimated that 500,000 borrowers may enter the program - and that 35% of them could still default. So the best estimate of the net number of borrowers who will stay in their homes under the program is 325,000.

That would reduce anticipated foreclosure filings by 8% over the next few years, according to an estimate from Goldman Sachs analyst Alec Phillips.

That's not the only factor that could reduce the number of homeowners helped by the Senate bill. In making its estimates, the CBO assumed a June 1 start date for the FHA program. But the Senate version of the legislation - considered more politically viable than the House bill - would start the program on Oct. 1.

That four-month difference is likely to flush from consideration a segment of the bill's immediate target group: the 1.5 million subprime borrowers with adjustable-rate mortgages (ARM) whose loans are scheduled to reset in 2008.

Come Oct. 1, many of those whose ARMs reset between January and May might have already had their homes repossessed or left them during the foreclosure process.

Typically foreclosure proceedings begin after a mortgage payment is 90 days past due. Homeowners who are unable to reach deals with their lenders for more affordable loans may lose their homes within three or four months after the 90-day delinquency period, said Rick Sharga, vice president of marketing for Realty Trac, which publishes foreclosure data.

CONFIDENTIAL

So those whose rate reset on Jan. 1 could lose their home by June or July. Likewise, anyone whose rate reset in February, March, and April could lose their homes before the new FHA program would go into effect. Some portion of those whose rates reset in May - one of the peak months for subprime ARM resets - could be in the same boat.

"The people the bill will most likely help are those resetting in the third quarter and beyond," Sharga said. "The people who reset in the first quarter will almost certainly be beyond help."

In some states, however, it takes as long as a year to go through the whole foreclosure process, giving some borrowers whose loans reset early in the year a potential chance to use the Senate-proposed version of the FHA program should it become law.

A congressional plan to limit foreclosures would have been most effective if it caught more subprime borrowers before their rates reset. That's because the repossession rate on homes of borrowers with subprime ARMs rises dramatically after reset, according to First American CoreLogic LoanPerformance data from the past decade. The same holds true when considering foreclosure filings and repossessions combined.

Of course, choosing a start date for the FHA program isn't just a matter of figuring out how to limit the maximum number of foreclosures. "There's upfront planning that needs to occur for this to be successful," said Jaret Seiberg, an analyst with the Stanford Group, a Washington policy research firm.

And then there's the political calculus. The bill has been the source of heated wrangling between Democrats and Republicans, which has delayed its path to enactment.

"At the end of the day you compromise to get legislation enacted. But it's better to start the program later than have it lie dead in the Senate." ■

CQ WEEKLY – WEEKLY REPORT
BANKING & FINANCIAL SERVICES
May 26, 2008 – Page 1415Senate and House Mortgage Bills Compared

By CQ Staff

The House passed mortgage relief legislation (HR 3221) on May 8, and the Senate Banking Committee approved its draft May 20. Following is a comparison of the bills.

FHA ExpansionSenate

Loan Guarantees: The Federal Housing Administration would provide up to $300 billion in new guarantees to help borrowers refinance loans. Lenders would accept a write-down of the current loan amount, receiving payment from the proceeds of the new loan. The loan amount could not exceed 90 percent of the appraised value of the property, and it would be a fixed-rate mortgage of at least 30 years. The FHA would collect an up-front premium of 3 percent of the new FHA loan to be paid from the proceeds of the new mortgage and an annual premium of 1.5 percent on the remaining balance of the loan.

Offset: The costs of the FHA program would be covered by a newly created affordable-housing trust fund. One hundred percent of those funds would go to the FHA program in 2009, 50 percent in 2010 and 25 percent in 2011.

Appreciation: Borrowers would be required to share accumulated equity with the government based on a five-year phased-in schedule, and half of any future appreciation if the home is sold.

Bulk Auctions: The creation of an auction mechanism to refinance eligible mortgages on a bulk basis would be allowed, if feasible.

House

Loan Guarantees: The FHA would provide the same guarantees as in the Senate bill. Existing lenders would have to take write-downs, receiving payment of no more than 85 percent of the property's current value. The new loan would have to have a loan-to-value ratio of no greater than 90 percent of property's current value, and it would have to be a fixed-rate mortgage.

Offsets: No offsets.

Appreciation: Participating borrowers who sell homes would have to pay the government whichever is greater: a fee equal to 3 percent of the original FHA loan balance or a percentage of future sale profits, ranging from 100 percent if the home was sold in the first year after refinancing to 50 percent if sold in the fourth year or later.

Bulk Auctions: The Federal Reserve Board would be required to conduct a study of the need for, and efficacy of, an auction, or bulk refinancing mechanism.

Fannie Mae/Freddie Mac Overhaul

SenateJPMC-001004
CONFIDENTIAL

Regulator: Fannie, Freddie and Federal Home Loan Banks would have a single federal regulator. The regulator could establish minimum capital requirements and temporarily raise their required capital levels. The measure also grants the regulator power to limit the size of the companies' retained mortgage portfolios, including ensuring that they have enough capital to support their holdings.

Trust Fund: An affordable-housing trust fund would be established, to be funded by Fannie, Freddie and Federal Home Loan Banks.

Loan Limits: The maximum conforming loan in high cost areas would be set at $550,000. It would prohibit the enterprises from holding loans purchased with principal obligations greater than the normal conforming limit on their portfolios, either as whole loans or mortgage-backed securities, except to the extent that such loans are held for the purposes of securitization.

House

Regulator: A single regulator would be established, with broad safety and soundness powers. The regulator could establish minimum capital requirements, require temporary increases in those capital levels and establish limits on the company's portfolios, all in accordance with a safety and soundness standard.

Trust Fund: Similar to Senate provision.

Loan Limits: Would make permanent increases in loan limits included in the economic stimulus law (PL 110-185), which were raised from $417,000 to either 125 percent of the median home price in the local market or $729,750, whichever is less.

Sources To Pay For FHA Financing Bill

By Bill Swindell
 May 23, 2008
 CongressDaily

House Financial Services Chairman Barney Frank suggested today other avenues to fund legislation for the Federal Housing Administration to guarantee up to $300 billion in new mortgages rather than diverting monies away from a new affordable-housing trust fund.

In particular, Frank said he would explore using extra revenue from lifting a cap on FHA reverse mortgages as an option to pay for the FHA refinancing proposal. "We'll find other sources," Frank said at housing conference sponsored by the American Bar Association. "I think ... there are other ways we can do it." As the foremost congressional advocate for expanding affordable housing, Frank's top priority is protecting the trust fund as the House and Senate near negotiations on a major housing-stimulus package.

The House has passed its package and the Senate will take up its measure after the Memorial Day recess. Both measures would take a portion of Fannie Mae's and Freddie Mac's assets and siphon them off for a new trust fund, which is estimated to receive about $500 million annually.

Both bills would allow FHA to guarantee new 30-year, fixed-rate mortgages for at-risk subprime borrowers, providing that their lenders voluntarily write down their current notes to below-market value. The Senate version narrowed the eligibility, bringing down its cost to $500 million, while the House version was more expansive, estimated to cost $1.7 billion by CBO.

But at the insistence of Senate Banking ranking member Richard Shelby, the Senate bill paid for the FHA refinancing plan by diverting the funds intended for the trust fund in its first few years of operation. That stance has forced Frank to examine other avenues to pay for the FHA refinancing plan as he gears up for conference negotiations. By lifting the cap on the FHA reverse-mortgage program, Frank said, the measure could bring in $300 million annually.

He noted that raising the FHA loan limit would raise tens of millions of dollars annually, and he wants the cap to go up to almost $730,000. Shelby opposes permanently raising the limit beyond $550,000. Frank will press his case by arguing that the House bill would allocate the first year of trust-fund monies to areas affected by 2005's Hurricane Katrina in an effort to help those communities rebuild, and is looking for allies in the Senate such as Sen. Mary Landrieu, D-La., who has been successful with various Senate bills in attaching Katrina-related language beneficial to her constituents. Shelby noted his state was also affected by Katrina. "We got a nationwide housing crisis here we're going to continue to deal with. We continue to deal with Katrina. We will because we care what happened in Louisiana, Mississippi and my state of Alabama," Shelby said Tuesday.

Wall St. Journal—5/27/08Cleanup Is No Easy Task*Three Tough Areas Face New Regulator
Of Fannie, FreddieBy DAVID REILLY and PETER EAVIS
May 27, 2008; Page C12

Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac may soon come under the thumb of a new, beefed-up regulator following a compromise reached last week between the White House and Congress on new housing legislation. Like any new sheriff, this one will want to clean up the town.

That means putting Fannie and Freddie on firmer financial footing so they can be strong enough to act when the housing market needs them. The current regulator, James Lockhart, says they are far from that now. In a recent speech, he said that Fannie and Freddie "have continued to be a point of vulnerability for the financial system because they are so highly leveraged relative to their risks."

It all gets down to Fannie and Freddie's balance sheets, specifically the amount of capital they have relative to the amount of assets they hold. Problem is, these balance sheets look something like the Augean Stables, and it would take a financial and political Hercules to clean them out. A look at three of the knottiest areas shows why.

Mirage Capital: Just like banks, Fannie and Freddie are judged by their regulatory capital. But regulatory capital at Fannie and Freddie is a mirage thanks in part to the inclusion of deferred tax assets.

These are essentially losses that can one day be used to offset future tax bills. These assets won't be much use if Fannie and Freddie need to come up with quick cash.

Banks, for example, only get to count a portion of these assets toward their regulatory capital. That should also be the case at Fannie and Freddie, especially since those tax assets recently ballooned. At the end of the first quarter, Fannie had deferred tax assets of $17.8 billion, equal to 45% of total shareholders' equity, while they were $16.6 billion at Freddie, slightly more than total equity.

To get to use these assets, which generally have lives of about 20 years, Fannie will need to generate about $50 billion in profit and Freddie about $47 billion. Between 2003 and 2007, Fannie posted net income of $19.7 billion while Freddie's total profit was $7.4 billion.

When it becomes unlikely that a company will use their deferred tax assets, they often write down a portion of them. Fannie and Freddie have yet to do so.

A Freddie Mac spokesman said, "We feel very comfortable about how we're operating our business under the current regulatory environment." A Fannie Mac spokesman declined to comment.

Lost Losses: The accounting rules say you don't need to actually post a loss to get a deferred tax asset. Those losses can be unrealized and are accounted for on the balance sheet. But companies can't delay the inevitable; eventually, unrealized losses must hit profits.

CONFIDENTIAL

At the end of the first quarter, about $5.4 billion of Fannie's $9.3 billion in unrealized losses on some debt securities were older than 12 months. Freddie had $13.2 billion of unrealized losses more than 12 months old. A new regulator should press Fannie and Freddie to recognize at least a portion of these losses, whose age suggests they are more than temporary.

Doing so would hit profit and reduce regulatory capital. Already some other financial firms, such as American International Group Inc., have begun to recognize such losses.

Bad Debt: Another area requiring action is the reserves Fannie and Freddie take against bad loans. These act as a balance-sheet buffer against losses from defaults, and they are a big concern for bank regulators, particularly when defaults are rising.

Past-due loans are soaring at Fannie and Freddie, but it doesn't look like they have increased loan-loss reserves at a brisk-enough pace. Freddie, for instance, had $22.8 billion of nonperforming assets at the end of the first quarter, up from $18.5 billion at the end of 2007. Freddie's loan-loss reserve of $3.9 billion is equivalent to 17.1% of first-quarter nonperforming assets. Analysts estimate that Fannie's reserve was equal to about 16% of its past-due loans in the first quarter.

When a standard mortgage goes into delinquency, analysts say lenders should reserve between 20% and 40% of the value of the loan. With Fannie and Freddie's loan-loss reserves apparently below these levels, a new regulator should want more protection against credit problems.

A regulator that pursues these kinds of changes, and thereby strengthening Fannie and Freddie, could at least be one positive to emerge from the housing crisis.

Washington Post—5/24/08Commentary*Looser Credit on the Way In 'Declining' Markets?By Kenneth R. Harney
Saturday, May 24, 2008; F01

Could the mortgage industry scrap its controversial practice of listing hundreds of local real estate markets as "declining" -- and restricting lending there through higher down payments or credit scores?

The two biggest players in the home mortgage field, Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, did precisely that last week. Reversing its policy of penalizing buyers in troubled real estate markets with five-percentage-point higher down payments, Fannie Mae switched to a policy of requiring the same minimum down payments irrespective of location. Freddie Mac spokesman Brad German said his company will be "suspending" its declining-markets policy indefinitely, too.

Starting June 1, mortgage applicants who are underwritten by Fannie Mac's automated system online will qualify for a 3 percent minimum down payment, wherever the property is. Borrowers whose applications require "manual" underwriting will have a 5 percent minimum.

Under Fannie Mae's previous system, applicants buying houses in designated declining markets had to contribute five percentage points extra in upfront equity compared with borrowers in nondeclining areas.

Freddie Mac did not use a list of specific areas designated as declining; it relied instead on lenders to flag applications using appraisal data or home-price indexes. For those applicants, it also required the same increase in equity contributions upfront.

Critics, including the National Association of Realtors and consumer advocacy groups, had charged that Fannie Mae's policy served to further depress sales and real estate values in areas tainted as declining.

Critics also argued that many metropolitan markets experiencing price decreases contain submarkets performing relatively well and do not deserve to be underwritten as high risk.

Marianne Sullivan, Fannie Mae's senior vice president for single-family credit and risk management, said the policy reversal was possible because of improvements to the company's automated underwriting system allowing it to "assess each loan more precisely" wherever the property is.

The change was welcomed by national real estate and housing groups. Dick Gaylord, president of the National Association of Realtors, said the termination of a policy that "stigmatized" certain communities will "help stabilize the credit markets."

David Berenbaum, executive vice president of the National Community Reinvestment Coalition, said his group hopes the revised policies will be "a model for others to follow."

Whether that happens anytime soon is far from certain. Almost all private mortgage insurers, which provide loss protection to lenders on loans with low down payments, have adopted highly restrictive policies affecting Zip codes or metropolitan areas they designate as distressed or declining.

MGIC, the largest-volume mortgage insurer, recently expanded its list of distressed markets along with a series of cutbacks on specific types of low-equity loans. As of June 1, MGIC will not insure mortgages on condominium units in Florida. It has also abandoned cash-out refinancings and loans on investment properties.

PMI Group, another major insurer, has banned cash-out refis and investor loans in areas it judges to be distressed. Genworth Financial will not consider applications on second homes anywhere in Florida. AIG United Guaranty no longer will write insurance on condominiums in any of hundreds of Zip codes around the country that are on its declining-markets list.

Asked whether his firm might reevaluate its declining markets restrictions in light of the abrupt changes at Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, Terry Souers, a spokesman for Genworth Financial's mortgage insurance unit, said, "We're aware of their actions and will take them into consideration to see if additional steps are necessary."

But Michael J. Zimmerman, senior vice president for investor relations at MGIC, said his company has no immediate plans to abandon declining-market restrictions.

"We're not contemplating any changes," he said. MGIC, which reported a $1.4 billion loss for the fourth quarter of 2007 and a $34 million loss for the first quarter of this year, has been hit hard by claims following foreclosures and extended delinquencies in once-booming housing markets.

What's the trend here? Fannie Mae's and Freddie Mac's policy switches should open the door to some additional low-down-payment mortgages -- and home sales -- in areas once tagged as declining.

But without the participation of private mortgage insurers -- who report solely to stock market investors rather than Congress -- many borrowers will probably have to turn to the Federal Housing Administration, which accepts 3 percent down and does not have declining-market restrictions.

Strong Growth Seen in GSEs' Portfolios

American Banker | Tuesday, May 27, 2008

By Kate Berry

Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac on Friday reported strong growth in their mortgage portfolios though Fannie's delinquency rate rose to its highest point in a year.

Fannie's portfolio grew at an annual rate of 9.8% last month to $728.4 billion, while Freddie's grew at an annual rate of 42.2% to $737.5 billion, its strongest growth rate in a year.

Fannie's total book of business — the portfolio plus mortgages it guarantees for other investors — grew 6.7% in April, to $3 trillion, and Freddie's rose 4.7%, to $2.2 trillion.

Mortgage bond and other guarantees rose for Fannie at an annual rate of 7.2% in April, to $2.5 trillion, and for Freddie at a 7.8% pace, to $1.8 trillion. According to Freddie, the two GSEs' combined mortgage-backed securities issuance rose 8%, to $99 billion in April.

Fannie's delinquency rate rose 5 basis points from February, to 1.15% in March, the most recent month for which figures were available. Freddie's delinquencies rose 3 basis points over the same period, to 0.77%.

UPDATE 1-RESEARCH ALERT-Lehman widens 2008 loss view for GSEs

Reuters

May 27 (Reuters) - Lehman Brothers widened its 2008 loss estimates for Freddie Mac (FRF.N: Quote, Profile, Research) and Fannie Mae (FNM.N: Quote, Profile, Research), saying Freddie Mac and Fannie Mae businesses will be characterized by surging revenue on the positive side and credit costs on the negative side in the near term.

If Congress imposes a fee on government-sponsored enterprises (GSEs) to support affordable housing as contemplated in the House & Senate GSE Reform bills, Lehman said it would cost Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac roughly 30 cents a share annually.

Lehman sees a loss of $1.65 per share for Freddie Mac compared with its prior view of a loss of $1.50 per share. For Fannie Mae, it widened its 2008 loss-per-share estimate to $2.39 from its prior view of $2.23.

Lehman said as credit costs normalize, rising revenues should support significant earnings power and expects robust balance sheet growth from Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac over the next few years.

For Freddie Mac, it sees 14 percent year-over-year growth in 2008, 10 percent in 2009, and 8 percent in 2010.

For Fannie Mae, it sees 17 percent year-over-year growth in 2008, with 9 percent growth in both 2009 and 2010.

Lehman has an "overweight" rating on both Freddie Mac and Fannie Mae. It has a price target of $45 on Freddie Mac and a target of $46 on Fannie Mae.

While Freddie Mac closed at $25.73 Friday on the New York Stock Exchange, Fannie Mae shares closed at $27.59. (Reporting by Jennifer Robin Raj in Bangalore; Editing by Jarshad Kakkrakandy)

Slower FHLB Advance Growth May Signal Crunch Is Easing

American Banker | Tuesday, May 27, 2008

By Steven Sloan

WASHINGTON — The heyday for Home Loan bank advances may be coming to an end.

While first-quarter earnings increased at eight of the 12 Federal Home Loan banks, the rate of growth for advances slowed to just 4.3%.

The Federal Home Loan Bank of San Francisco provides a good example.

While it continued to outpace its peers — net income grew 69% during the quarter, to $240 million — the San Francisco bank said three large members reduced their borrowings. The bank's overall advances fell 1%, to $248.4 billion.

The advance business has been booming since the credit crunch hit in August and many financial institutions turned to the Home Loan banks as sources of quick, cheap liquidity. The system's advance business grew 36.6% in 2007.

In interviews and in quarterly reports released this month, some of the banks cited the slowdown as a sign that the credit crunch is easing.

"It appears to be stabilizing," said Dave Fisher, the chief operating officer at the Federal Home Loan Bank of Topeka, whose advances dropped 4.8% during the quarter, to $30.5 billion. "We're seeing advances ... plateauing a bit."

But during the first quarter, three banks' advances declined and five others had single-digit growth. Advance growth remained robust at the Cincinnati, Dallas, Des Moines, and Indianapolis banks.

The Federal Home Loan Bank of Atlanta said advances rose 6.5%, to $152.1 billion, during the three months that ended March 31, and in its quarterly report it said, "If credit market disruptions continue to settle, the bank does not expect that new advance activity will continue to increase at the 2007 rate."

Richard Dorfman, the Atlanta bank's chief executive, insisted in an interview that advances remain more attractive than other potential sources of liquidity.

"Price for value, this is a great deal," he said. "What you're buying is certainty of availability" of funds.

Though advance volumes may level off, Jim Vogel, the head of fixed-income research at First Horizon National Corp.'s FTN Financial Markets Corp., said demand among larger members will remain strong.

"We see the large banks still in sort of a scramble mode," he said. "They are not in a rebalancing mode just yet."

JPMC-001013
CONFIDENTIAL

That seemed to be playing out at the Federal Home Loan Bank of Dallas, where Wachovia Corp. increased its borrowings by 23.2% from yearend, to $21.3 billion.

Overall the Home Loan banks' net income grew to $697 million in the quarter, and assets grew 4%, to $1.32 trillion. Total capital rose 4.2% from yearend, to $55.9 billion.

As expected, the Chicago bank showed significant weaknesses as it trudged forward as an independent institution. It attempted to merge with the Dallas Home Loan bank, but last month both parties walked away from negotiations. The Chicago bank said then that it would report a $78 million loss for the first quarter, and end purchases under its troubled Mortgage Partnership Finance program after July 31. The Chicago bank offered more details on the extent of its problems in its quarterly report.

"The size of our MPF assets is disproportionate relative to our overall balance sheet," the bank said in its filing. "Also, the process of funding 15- to 30-year fixed assets with voluntary capital stock and shorter-term consolidated obligations, in combination with hedging strategies, proved to be challenging and, ultimately expensive, especially from a risk management standpoint."

The MPF portfolio, which was $34.5 billion on March 31, is expected to decline roughly 7% to 9% during the year, according to the quarterly report.

Still, there were positive signs emerging from Chicago. The Home Loan bank said nearly 75% of its 831 members borrowed advances during the quarter, sending the business up 8.1% from yearend, to $32.7 billion.

The Federal Home Loan Bank of Cincinnati, typically one of the stronger banks, reported earnings fell 23.1% during the quarter, to $49.3 million, on a debt restructuring charge.

As interest rates declined in recent months, the Cincinnati bank elected to refinance $7 billion of debt into bonds with a lower rate, which resulted in a one-time cost of $7 million.

Advances were up 15.8% from yearend, to $61.7 billion. National City Corp., which has struggled to find liquidity in recent months, became the Cincinnati bank's second-largest borrower, with advances totaling $6.4 billion, up 36% from yearend.

Earnings at the Topeka bank fell 28% during the first quarter, to $23.6 million, but Mr. Fisher attributed that to accounting rules governing its derivative portfolio.

"I'd characterize it as more of an accounting issue than a true economic value issue," he said, noting that net interest income rose 10% in the quarter.

Mortgages Without U.S. Backing Start to Rise

By FLOYD NORRIS

THE private mortgage market in the United States — almost moribund in the wake of the subprime crisis that bankrupted some lenders last year — is showing small signs of revival.

In the first quarter of this year, there were $116 billion in private mortgage loans, loans not issued or insured by the federal government or a government-sponsored entity. That was up from $84 billion in the final quarter of 2007, according to a survey of lenders by Inside Mortgage Finance, a newsletter.

In the wake of the collapse of the private mortgage securitization market in the second half of last year, few banks were willing to make loans that they could not sell, primarily to the government-sponsored enterprises Fannie Mac and Freddie Mac. Those agencies are private companies, but they have a limited right to borrow from the Treasury, and investors generally assume that the federal government will bail them out if they get into serious trouble.

The agencies' share of the mortgage market rose to a record 75.6 percent in the final quarter of 2007. Add in the 1.3 percent share for Department of Veterans Affairs loans, and the 4.5 percent share for the Federal Housing Administration, and the share of truly private mortgage loans fell to a record low of 18.6 percent.

In the first quarter, the private share recovered to 24.2 percent, meaning that in a country that considers itself the bastion of private enterprise, three of four new home loans had some sort of government-related guarantee.

"There are more banks and other lenders increasing their portfolio lending," said Guy D. Cecala, the publisher of Inside Mortgage Finance. "At year-end, banks were reluctant to do any portfolio lending." Portfolio lending refers to an institution's making a loan and holding on to it, rather than selling it either as a mortgage or as part of a securitization package.

Much of that private lending appears to be in jumbo mortgages, which are too large to be bought by the agencies. The limit had been $417,000, but Congress has raised it temporarily, with differing limits in various areas.

There is still a great reluctance to grant mortgages to subprime borrowers. Mr. Cecala estimated that $10 billion in subprime loans were made in the first quarter, a little less than in the final three months of 2007. In 2005 and 2006, about one in five dollars lent went to subprime borrowers, with a peak volume of $625 billion in 2005.

While there is a little more private lending activity, the private mortgage securitization market continues to shrink. Investors have not yet been reassured that new securitizations will be safer than the disastrous ones from 2006 and early 2007.

A look at the total volume of mortgage loans helps to explain how the mess was created. In 2003, with interest rates at very low levels, a record $3.9 trillion in mortgage loans were made, most of them for refinancing. When interest rates edged up the next year, it seemed reasonable to expect a big falloff, but the decline was only 26 percent.

Mr. Cecala said that the mortgage industry, having greatly expanded to deal with the wave of refinancings, looked for ways to keep lending. The availability of alternative products, allowing larger loans relative to value, or giving borrowers the option to make very low payments for a limited time, grew. That easy credit helped to push home prices up, until they peaked in 2006.

Now, with mortgage defaults rising, Congress is expected to enact housing legislation to permit the F.H.A. to guarantee refinancing loans to homeowners in danger of losing their homes. A Senate committee approved a bill this week to allow such guarantees, but only if the loan amount was reduced to a figure lower than the current value of the home. Such a reduction would cause a loss for the original lender, but that loss might be smaller than it would be with the alternative: the house goes into foreclosure.

Home Sales Rise in Hard-Hit AreasBuyers Snatch Up*Foreclosed Properties*After Big Price Cuts

By JAMES R. HAGERTY

May 27, 2008; Page A3

Home sales are rising in some U.S. metropolitan areas where lenders have slashed prices on foreclosed properties.

Generally, home sales remain weak. The National Association of Realtors reported last week that sales of previously occupied homes in April were down about 18% from the already depressed year-earlier level.

But sales are up sharply in some of the areas hit hardest by foreclosures and falling prices. They include: Las Vegas; Sacramento, Calif.; Fort Myers, Fla.; and inner-city Detroit.

Though Americans remain wary of further drops in housing prices, the data from these areas show that some buyers are trolling for bargains. Sellers "have moved into the acceptance mode" and are pricing homes more realistically, says Thomas Lawler, a housing economist in Leesburg, Va. "I think it is the first stage of good news for the market."

Lenders' inventory of foreclosed homes has steadily increased in the past couple of years and is believed to total around half a million homes. Many lenders initially were slow to slash prices, partly because they hoped to avoid huge losses. But more lenders have been capitulating as it becomes clear that delays often merely result in lower proceeds and higher costs for taxes, insurance and upkeep.

That doesn't mean housing is poised for a quick recovery. In much of the U.S., there is still a huge glut of homes for sale, and foreclosures continue to dump more property on the market. Realtors reported that the number of single-family homes on the market in April was enough to last 10.7 months at the current sales rate, the highest since 1985. During the housing boom of the first half of this decade, the supply typically was four to five months.

For the first four months of this year, home sales in Detroit, excluding suburbs, totaled 3,360, up 48% from a year earlier, according to the Michigan Association of Realtors. The average price dropped 56% to just $20,514. That average is so low because many of the sales involve decrepit homes in neighborhoods with few jobs.

CONFIDENTIAL

Most of the recent sales in Detroit involve investors buying foreclosed homes, says Carl Williams, president of the local association of Realtors. The homes are selling, he says, because "the prices are dirt cheap."

Sales of "normal" homes, those that haven't been foreclosed, remain very slow, Mr. Williams says. Still, he sees it as a good sign that lenders are finding buyers for the foreclosed homes. To the extent that investors can renovate and find tenants for vacant houses, neighborhoods can start to heal.

In California's Sacramento County, sales of single-family homes totaled 1,669 in April, up 41% from a year earlier, according to DataQuick Information Systems, a research firm. The median sales price was $226,250, down 34%.

Alan Wagner, president of the Sacramento Association of Realtors, says the rise reflects more aggressive pricing by lenders. "They've got to liquidate inventory. They're taking that house and dropping $100,000 off the price, and all of a sudden they've got multiple offers," he says. Some homes that sold for more than $400,000 a couple years ago now go for $225,000 to $260,000, Mr. Wagner says.

That means some renters previously priced out of the market finally can afford homes -- if they can qualify for mortgages. That has become much tougher because lenders have tightened standards, but Mr. Wagner says the growing availability of U.S.-insured loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration is helping.

In the Las Vegas area, sales of single-family homes in April were up 30% from a year earlier. The Greater Las Vegas Association of Realtors says properties being sold by lenders account for more than half of recent sales.

Case-Shiller: House Prices Fall 14%

New-Home Sales Post April Increase

By DONNA KARDOS

May 27, 2008 10:27 a.m.

The S&P/Case-Shiller home-price indexes, a closely watched gauge of U.S. home prices, saw prices fall further in the first quarter amid the continued deterioration of home prices as the subprime-loan meltdown weighs on the sector.

Meanwhile, new-home sales rose in April but failed to meet expectations because the government revised lower the level of demand for the previous month.

In the first quarter, the Case-Shiller indexes showed home prices across the country fell 14% from a year earlier, representing the largest drop in the 20-year history of the indexes. From the fourth quarter, prices fell 6.7%.

"The steep downturn in residential real estate continues," David M. Blitzer, chairman of S&P's index committee, said. He added, "There are very few silver linings that one can see in the data. Most of the nation appears to remain on a downward path."

According to the indexes, released by ratings firm Standard & Poor's, home prices in 10 major metropolitan areas fell 15% in March from a year earlier and 2.4% from February.

In 20 major metropolitan areas, home prices dropped 14% from a year earlier and 2.2% from February.

Charlotte and Dallas managed to avoid March-over-February drops in prices, with Charlotte clocking out 0.2% growth and Dallas posting a 1.1% increase. Charlotte also reported a 0.8% rise year-over-year, as -- for the third month in a row -- it remained the only city to post annual growth.

Las Vegas was the weakest market, posting a 26% drop in March from the prior year, followed by 25% and 23% drops in Miami and Phoenix, respectively. Las Vegas and Miami had been the weakest markets in January and February.

Las Vegas and Miami also were the biggest decliners month-on-month, posting 4.4% and 4.5% drops, respectively.

According to a separate measure released last week by the Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight, home prices fell an average of 1.7% nationwide in the first quarter from the final three months of 2007. The decline was the largest in the index's 17-year history. The index differs from the Case-Shiller index in several ways; notably, Ofheo data excludes homes with jumbo mortgages.

Earlier this month, the Commerce Department offered the latest sign that the struggling U.S. housing market may hold back economic growth for much of the year. While home construction unexpectedly jumped 2.5% in April follows months of bad weather that held back many builders, permits declined 8.9% from March to an annual rate of 1.43 million, marking the largest percentage drop since a 24% tumble in February 1990. Permits are now down 41% from their

CONFIDENTIAL

2005 peak. Housing permits, which are down 28% from a year ago, predict the market's direction better than housing starts.

Meanwhile, the National Association of Home Builders also said earlier this month that home builders' confidence has fallen substantially, to match the lowest point in the latest economic cycle. The meltdown in subprime loans is expected to continue weighing on the sector, and high inventories will need to be worked off.

New Home Sales Increase

Sales of single-family homes increased by 3.3% last month to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 526,000, the Commerce Department said Tuesday. Year over year, new-home sales were 42% lower than the level in April 2007. March new-home sales fell 11.0% to an annual rate of 509,000; originally, the government said March sales dropped by 8.5% to 526,000. Economists had forecast an April sales rate of 533,000.

The median price of a new home increased by 1.5% to $246,100 in April from $242,500 in April 2007. The average price climbed by 3.0% to $321,000 from $311,700 a year earlier. In March, the median price was $225,500 and the average was $291,500. The increase in prices may be positive for future sales; declining prices have been stopping consumers from buying homes as they wait for still-lower prices.

Inventories fell to an estimated 456,000 homes for sale at the end of April, down from March's 467,000. The ratio of new houses for sale to houses sold fell in April to 10.6 from 11.1 in March. Originally, the government estimated the March ratio at 11.0.

Regionally last month, new-home sales increased 5.8% in the Midwest, 41.7% in the Northeast, and 8.3% in the West. Sales fell 2.4% in the South. An estimated 47,000 homes were actually sold in April, down from 49,000 in March, based on figures not seasonally adjusted.

Housing
Government's Housing Price Index
Records Largest Decline in 17 Years

Home purchase data compiled by the Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight (OFHEO) shows that home prices fell 3.1 percent between the first quarter of 2007 and first quarter of 2008—the largest annual decline in the 17-year history of the Housing Price Index (HPI).

The seasonally-adjusted, purchase-only index also revealed a 1.7 percent decline since the fourth quarter of 2007, exceeding the previous quarterly decline of 1.4 percent. OFHEO said prices fell in 43 states, with California and Nevada registering quarterly declines of more than 8 percent.

Florida had a quarterly decline of 6.3 percent, followed by Arizona, where home prices depreciated 4.1 percent in the first three months of 2008. Four other states experienced quarterly declines of more than 3 percent: Michigan, Connecticut, Hawaii, and Maryland.

"These substantial home price declines bring positive and negative news," OFHEO Director James Lockhart said in May 22 statement. "For homeowners and financial market observers, these declines spell further erosion in home equity levels and potentially more trouble for mortgage markets. To prospective home buyers who have been shut out of home ownership because of affordability constraints, these declines may be welcome news, as are continued low mortgage rates."

The all-transactions HPI, which includes home appraisal data in refinancings, showed less weakness than the purchase-only index. The all-transactions index fell 0.2 percent in the first quarter of 2008 and remains flat over a four-quarter period, according to OFHEO.

Results 'Muted' Compared to Other Indexes

Both indexes are based on conforming loans up to $417,000 backed by the government-sponsored housing enterprises Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. The results are "much more muted" than indexes that account for larger or riskier types of loans, OFHEO said.

"Homes financed with prime, conforming mortgages continue to hold up better than those financed with other types of mortgages, a phenomenon we've been observing for the last several quarters," Lockhart said.

The Standard & Poor's/Case-Shiller index, which tracks home prices in the 20 largest metropolitan areas, recently reported an average home price decline of more than 12 percent. Las Vegas fared poorest in the year-over-year measure, posting a 22.8 percent decline over the last 12 months, with Miami second worst among the 20 cities, declining 21.7 percent in that period (83 DER EE-2, 4/30/08 B3).

In contrast, the government index showed a 12 percent annual decline for Las Vegas and five percent decline for Miami. The metropolitan statistical areas (MSAs) with the sharpest annual depreciation in the HPI were Merced, Calif., which posted a 24.7 percent drop, followed by Stockton, Calif., at 21.5 percent, and Modesto, Calif., at 21 percent.

Although every region of the country experienced home price declines in the first quarter of 2008, the HPI did reveal significant increases in some states. Wyoming, Utah, Montana, Texas, and Alabama all recorded quarterly home price appreciation of more than four percent, according to the federal index.

Recent borrowers hit problems earlier

By Norma Cohen, Economics Correspondent
 Published: May 27 2008 03:00 | Last updated: May 27 2008 03:00

Homebuyers have been at the epicentre of the credit crunch since it hit last autumn. Mortgage approvals for new homes have slumped as lenders rushed to withdraw products, tighten terms and raise interest rates in silent recognition that cut-throat competition had previously prompted at least some banks and building societies to suspend their more sober risk assessment.

But although the market for mortgage-backed securities has nearly come to a standstill, there has been little evidence to justify a market panic.

Now, the release of data for loans supporting mortgage-backed securities rated by Standard & Poor's for the first quarter of 2008 offers a fuller picture of how homebuyers with a chequered credit history are holding up.

So far, the data show, only a tiny fraction of prime borrowers have fallen behind in their mortgages and that the rate of delinquency - defined as arrears of more than 30 days - is no higher than that in 2006.

But credit market conditions are beginning to weigh on borrowers. Already, the data suggest a stratifying market with rapidly deteriorating finances for home-buyers with a patchy credit history.

Prime borrowers able to refinance are doing so in droves, leaving those who owe more relative to the value of their property and their annual income to revert to higher interest rates.

Overall, more than a fifth of sub-prime borrowers have fallen behind on their mortgages, as have 2.41 per cent of prime borrowers.

Significantly, the S&P report notes, borrowers who first took out sub-prime mortgages in 2007 are paying off their loans far more slowly than those who borrowed in earlier years when refinancing was more available.

Sean Hannigan, a director and credit analyst at S&P, said the terms of sub-prime loans, including those with relatively low upfront rates, are typically so punitive that even if borrowers need to pay a penalty, it is worth their while to refinance as soon as possible.

But tighter credit standards mean that only 10 per cent of the borrowers who took out loans last year have managed to refinance within nine months of taking the mortgage compared with more than 20 per cent of borrowers whose loans originated in 2005. Overall, the rate at which recent borrowers are prepaying their sub-prime loans is well below the average prepayment rate, which was 24.07 per cent in the first quarter of 2007.

 CONFIDENTIAL

The slowing of prepayment rates may also suggest that sharp house price inflation, which improved the position of earlier borrowers with poor credit, is no longer helping recent borrowers.

In addition, the data suggest more recent borrowers are running into financing difficulties earlier in their mortgages. Sub-prime loans made in 2006 are showing delinquency rates of about 27 per cent less than two years after they were first made and those made in 2007 are already trending above that rate.

Among prime borrowers, delinquency and repossession rates remain very low. However, S&P drew attention to some striking differences in performance of loans depending on from which bank they originated. While loans originated by Halifax had a repossession rate of about 0.12 per cent as of March, those of Bank of Scotland had a repossession rate of 0.20 per cent while those originated by Northern Rock had a rate of 0.425 per cent.

Commentary*Drastic action may be needed if housing slump worsensBy Thorold Barker
May 24, 2008
Financial Times

The US has already faced its black swan event. A roughly 15 per cent slump in house prices across the country since the boom ended is something that many senior risk managers and, clearly, rating agencies thought could never happen. It helped turn credit markets upside down during a dramatic repricing of risk, before they regained some semblance of normality. But what if the swan turns out to be an even rarer shade, say pink - and home prices continue to slump even beyond the levels that bruised investors have priced in?

The head of a US bank outlined to me, calmly, the doomsday scenario. It goes something like this: the overhang of US houses on the market is already at an elevated 11 months' worth of sales. To bring it down to a more normal level of about five months, transaction rates would have to rise significantly, or houses worth almost $600bn would need to disappear from the market. The problem is that buyers are unlikely to rush in if they think that their dream house will get even cheaper. Also, most people require mortgage financing. And banks, bruised by the credit dislocation and facing balance sheet constraints, are still wary about lending to all but the safest borrowers whose mortgages can be guaranteed by the likes of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. So there is the risk of a downward spiral. Inventories could remain stubbornly high, or even rise as buyers stay on the sidelines and lenders remain cautious. That could be exacerbated if rising oil prices sap consumer spending power further and inflation concerns push long-term Treasury yields, and hence mortgage rates, higher.

In that case, the economy could take a nasty hit as consumers feel more pain and the banks take bigger bad debt hits on their loan portfolios. Meanwhile, credit markets could be in for another dose of volatility as investors reset their house price expectations even lower. Think what might happen if mortgage giants Fannie and Freddie started taking even bigger losses. A further leg down in housing could also tip Bank of America into losing its nerve and looking to find a way to avoid buying troubled Countrywide, formerly the country's biggest mortgage originator.

It is possible that the housing risks are not as dire as the national home price measures suggest. After all, while certain once-booming markets such as Florida and California are in freefall, other states have suffered less. But policymakers and bankers are right to remain nervous. We are already in uncharted territory when it comes to the scale of nominal house price declines. The RPX Index, which measures prices per square foot and has fallen almost 15 per cent from the peak, is signalling that prices will fall roughly a quarter before they bottom out. Consumers are also behaving very differently from previous cycles, not least in their willingness to simply walk away from loans that are underwater.

So far, the response of policymakers to support the housing market feels like the first efforts of the Fed when confronted by the credit crisis: helpful, but unlikely to end the problem. After numerous attempts to inject liquidity into the banking sector, the Fed only restored a semblance of stability when it was forced to bail out Bear Stearns and effectively guarantee that big US investment banks would be able to access funding when necessary.

The same could apply to housing. Schemes from Washington so far to ease the pain have included the Treasury's "Hope Now" initiative to try reducing the impact of home loan resets and looser capital requirements for Fannie and Freddie to allow them to take on more mortgage business. The Senate tried this week to go a step further by agreeing a plan under which the Federal Housing Administration would insure certain mortgages, as long as banks were first willing to take a loss and reset the debt burden of the borrower concerned.

While potentially helpful, none really addresses the scale of the problem. Unless signs of housing stability appear, the government will have to consider more drastic steps to underpin home prices.

In fact, perhaps the expectation of such a response, if things get much worse, is one factor underpinning the fragile calm in today's markets.

Fed Keeps Watch on Wall St. -- From the Inside

By Neil Irwin
 Washington Post Staff Writer
 Tuesday, May 27, 2008; D01

In the two months since the government rescue of Bear Stearns, the Federal Reserve has built on the fly a new system of monitoring investment banks, radically redefining the central bank's role overseeing Wall Street.

New York Fed employees are working inside major investment banks every day, alongside the Securities and Exchange Commission staff members who are the firms' main regulators. The Fed employees are trying to gather information the central bank can use to make sure the billions of dollars it is lending the investment firms, through a special emergency loan program enacted in March, are not being put at undue risk.

This new approach, which is still at a relatively small scale, offers a window into how the nation's system of regulating financial firms might evolve as policymakers sift through the financial wreckage of the past nine months.

The Bush administration has proposed that the Fed become an all-purpose guarantor of the financial system, with the power to poke its head into any company that poses risks -- not just the large commercial banks it now supervises. Congress is likely to consider legislation overhauling financial regulation next year.

"Bear Stearns has forced an issue that we should have been thinking about anyway," said Douglas Elmendorf, a senior fellow at the Brookings Institution. "The issue isn't just that the Fed did this thing in March. It's that the Fed did what it did in March because investment banks posed risks to the overall financial system and the economy."

But it also creates risks. With the Fed having made emergency funds available to investment banks, lenders and those who work with them might become complacent about risks, expecting a government bailout if anything goes wrong. That could destabilize the financial system further.

"Once the Fed starts investigating and looking at the risks that they're taking, the market could back off and say, 'Well, the Fed's in there, so there can't be much risk,' " said Peter J. Wallison, who studies financial regulation at the American Enterprise Institute.

The Fed currently lacks the legal authority to order investment banks to strengthen risk control systems or change their accounting for exposure to complicated derivatives. The SEC has those powers, though its historical mission has been to ensure that investors are protected, not to protect the integrity of the financial system as a whole.

On March 16, the Fed backed the emergency acquisition of Bear Stearns by putting $30 billion (since changed to $29 billion) in public funds at risk and opened an emergency lending window that last week lent $14.2 billion to investment firms.

Both actions, meant to prevent panic from causing a cascade of failures that could have had a catastrophic impact on markets and the world economy, defied 90 years of precedent, insinuating the central bank into the workings of Wall Street as never before.

Fed leaders concluded that they would have to step up their involvement in Wall Street, if only to make sure that those loans were likely to be paid back. So it insisted that banks, in exchange for the new lending, open up about the details of their operations -- a deal that the investment firms readily agreed to.

They have not, however, reached any firm conclusions about what form the ultimate regulation of the financial system ought to take and are not presuming that the improvised system established in the past two months will expand and become permanent once Congress acts.

In the meantime, a special unit has been created in the New York Fed, answering directly to President Timothy F. Geithner. Information about its operations is closely held by Geithner and other senior employees in New York, such that even Federal Reserve governors and presidents of other regional Fed banks know little about what the new unit is doing.

The unit is composed of individuals from the bank supervision staff, whose normal work is to regulate commercial banks; the markets group, which monitors the behavior of all sorts of financial markets watching out for threats to their functioning; and the legal department.

The Fed staffers accompany SEC regulators in frequent visits to the major investment banks Goldman Sachs, Morgan Stanley, Merrill Lynch and Lehman Brothers. They typically speak to risk managers, auditors, comptrollers and sometimes senior executives.

"What they're doing is not so much regulation, telling the banks what to do, as the Fed is saying, 'I'm lending you money, I'm doing my due diligence,'" said Ernest Patrikis, a partner at law firm Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman and a former senior official at the New York Fed.

In the past, collaboration between the Fed and the SEC has been more haphazard. Officials of the two organizations would frequently talk on the phone and meet every few weeks to discuss risks being taken by Wall Street firms, over lunch in the cafeteria at the vault-like headquarters of the New York Fed, for example, or on a balcony there overlooking the narrow streets of lower Manhattan.

As concern grew about the risks taken by hedge funds in 2006, Fed officials and their SEC counterparts had a series of discussions in which each side explained to the other how the institutions they directly supervise -- commercial banks for the Fed and investment banks for the SEC -- measure and manage the risks they are taking by lending to hedge funds.

Now, the interaction is more constant. The SEC is crafting a formal memorandum of understanding that lays out their roles, but it is in an early stage. It will mainly seek to formalize the information-sharing and cooperation that is occurring already, SEC officials have said.

"The collaboration is wide open," said Robert L.D. Colby, deputy director of the SEC's market regulation division. "We're essentially operating as if we're all within one agency. We are telling them what we know and how we think, and they're reflecting back what they know and want to learn. You don't always ask the same questions, and sometimes you get information the other might not have picked up."

Greenspan warns of 'greater than 50% probability' of US recession

By Krishna Guha in Washington
 Published: May 27 2008 03:00 | Last updated: May 27 2008 03:00

The US is still more likely than not to have a recession in spite of the relative stabilisation in the economy in recent weeks, Alan Greenspan has told the Financial Times.

The former chairman of the Federal Reserve said: "I still believe there is a greater than 50 per cent probability of recession." But, he said, "that probability has receded a little and I think the probability of a severe recession has come down markedly".

His comments, in an interview with the FT, come as a counter to the increasing optimism in some quarters. In the past six weeks, most economists have scaled back their estimates of the likelihood of a US recession following a better-than-expected jobs report and stronger business activity surveys. Many now think the US will narrowly dodge outright economic contraction.

The former Fed chief also said it was "too soon to tell" whether the worst of the financial crisis was over, as this would depend on what happened to house prices.

Mr Greenspan estimates that house prices will fall by another 10 per cent from their February levels, for a total peak-to-trough decline of about 25 per cent.

If the economy is weak and the market overshoots, house prices could decline by another 5 per cent, he says.

"Such house price declines imply a major contraction in the level of equity in owner-occupied homes, the ultimate collateral for mortgage-backed securities," he said.

Mr Greenspan said it was still not clear whether big financial institutions had taken all the writedowns they would need to take on higher rated tranches of mortgage-backed credit products.

He admitted he was puzzled by recent economic data that suggest the economy stopped deteriorating around March. "A recession is characterised by significant discontinuities in the data," he said. "It started off that way - there was a period of sharp discontinuity from December to March. But then it stopped."

Mr Greenspan believes there is a "tug of war" taking place in the economy, with financial sector stress pulling one way and strong corporate liquidity pulling the other. Corporate liquidity is being eroded, but only gradually.

"No one knows how this tug of war will end - specifically, whether the financial crisis will end before it drags down the real economy."

Greenspan urges policymakers to focus on banks' capitalisation

By Krishna Guha in Washington
 Published: May 27 2008 03:00 | Last updated: May 27 2008 03:00

Central banks should be wary of trying to deal more aggressively with future asset price bubbles in case they suppress innovation and growth, Alan Greenspan has warned.

"If we want rapid growth in productivity, innovation, standards of living, we may have to accept that there will be periods of turmoil," the former chairman of the US Federal Reserve told the Financial Times.

Rather than try to suppress bubbles, he said, policymakers should ensure that financial institutions were well enough capitalised to withstand the hit from bursting bubbles as well as other shocks.

Mr Greenspan backed efforts to develop countercyclical capital rules that would force banks to hold more capital in good times than bad.

Such rules might make it less likely that asset price and credit booms would feed each other, as they did during the housing upturn.

But he said this would be difficult to implement in practice because "we are never certain where we are in the cycle".

His comments come as Ben Bernanke, his successor, and other Fed officials are rethinking the "Greenspan doctrine" that central banks cannot do much about bubbles and should focus on cleaning up the mess when they burst.

They are re-evaluating the evidence on asset prices and monetary policy. But they are most interested in using enhanced regulatory powers to tackle bubbles - particularly those associated with credit booms.

Mr Greenspan said he was not against revisiting the issues. But he cautioned against assuming that it would be possible to find a better way to operate in the future.

Mr Greenspan believes that bubbles are fundamentally rooted not in specific market failures but in the human psychology of greed and fear.

They are very difficult to diagnose in real time, he said. "Is there a bubble today in food, energy, gold, currencies?" he asked. "If so, what specifically should we do about it?"

The former Fed chief said he would be "fully supportive" of "leaning against the wind" with interest rates when asset prices are rising rapidly if someone could provide a credible framework for doing so. But he said: "I have just not seen any evidence that it is feasible."

On the regulatory side, "I have no doubt that we can very effectively quash a bubble," he said. It was a question of the costs involved. "What price do you pay in terms of suppressed economic activity?" he asked. "There were no bubbles in the Soviet Union."

Bubbles, Mr Greenspan argued, were often the by-products of innovation - such as the commercialisation of the Internet in the 1990s, or advances in housing finance in the 2000s.

JPMC-001029

To ask regulators to suppress bubbles would be to ask them either to prevent innovation or to second-guess the value the market puts on it.

"Micro-moddling undermines the basic function of a financial system - that is to direct the savings of society towards its most productive capital investments," he said.

Mr Greenspan was also sceptical about Treasury proposals to give the Fed overall responsibility for market stability along with "macro-prudential" authority to alter market behaviour it deems poses a risk to financial stability.

Financial crises "of necessity are unanticipated - if they are not, they are arbitraged away", he said. "We have many international financial stability forums and none of them anticipated the problems of August 9 2007."

Mr Greenspan said the most sensible thing to do was "to increase the capacity of our financial institutions to absorb shocks in general. That means more capital".

He added the market was already demanding higher capital on the part of financial institutions in the wake of the crisis. Regulators should allow this market-led process to run its course before deciding to what extent to raise regulatory capital.

But it would in principle make sense to vary the amount of regulatory capital that banks needed to hold at different stages of the economic cycle, he said.

"I have always been in favour of counter-cyclical capital requirements," Mr Greenspan said. "There are virtually no bad loans made at the bottom of the cycle. The bad loans are all made at the top."

In any event, Mr Greenspan said, "I think the probability of sparking another bubble in the next 10 years is very low."

Bubbles, he said, required low long-term interest rates, low inflation and macroeconomic stability. They were "a feature of the disinflationary period that followed the end of the cold war".

Mr Greenspan believes that period is over.

European Commission Moves to Boost
Banking, Securities, Insurance Supervision

BRUSSELS—The European Commission May 23 launched a process to bolster the supervision of the banking, securities, and insurance sectors in order to improve their capacity to monitor cross-border activities as a way to prevent the kind of credit crisis that has rocked financial markets over the past eight months.

The new initiative by the Commission, which is a follow-up to plans outlined by EU finance ministers in recent months, calls for enhanced responsibilities for the Committee of European Banking Supervisors, the Committee of European Securities Regulators, and the Committee of European Insurance and Occupational Pensions Supervisors.

These three committees were set up in 2001 as a way to help advise the Commission and EU member states and implement regulations for major legislative initiatives in their respective sectors.

"The financial turmoil has shown that we need to upgrade the current supervisory architecture by implementing a series of practical, incremental and result-oriented initiatives that will strengthen European supervisory and stability arrangements," said Internal Market Commissioner Charlie McCreevy. "Clarifying and reinforcing the role of the Committee of Supervisors by amending their constituting decisions is a necessary step in this direction. It will lead to a more cost-effective supervisory framework and to better financial stability monitoring."

'College of Supervisors.'

In addition, the Commission announced it will propose in the coming months a "College of Supervisors" designed to deal with the complex issues that are involved in monitoring the 40 large financial service institutions in the EU that currently operate in more than one EU member state.

"Strengthening financial supervisory cooperation between the member states of Europe is key," McCreevy said at a speech delivered later in the day at a conference in Ireland. "It is absolutely essential if we are to successfully manage, for example, the inevitable fall out that would happen in the event at some future date of the threat of failure of a systemically important cross-border EU financial institution.

"If the recent credit market turmoil—and in particular the run on Northern Rock in Britain and on IKB in Germany alerted us to anything it alerted to us just how interconnected the world's capital markets are and to the importance in cross-border cooperation in the regulation, oversight and supervision of financial institutions," McCreevy continued.

McCreevy added that fortunately neither Northern Rock nor IKB had cross-border operations, but if they did the EU was severely unprepared to deal with the situation.

"Who would have decided on the need (or otherwise) for supervisory intervention?" McCreevy said. "Who would have telephoned whom? Which supervisor would have had access to which information on which to make sound decisions? Who would have led the intervention? Which authority would have guaranteed which deposits?"

"To these questions, I am afraid there were—and are—no clear answers," McCreevy added. "Anybody who thinks this could be done by member states acting alone is not living in the real world."

As part of its move to enhance financial market supervision the Commission will accept comments on a consultation document it has published as part of its new initiative announced May 23.

National City Agrees to $4.6 Million Settlement Over HUD Loans, DOJ Says

LANSING, Mich.—National City Mortgage Inc. agreed to pay $4.6 million to settle allegations that it misrepresented the status of 58 loans when it submitted them for federal endorsement, the Justice Department said May 22.

According to the department, the loans were in default when National City submitted them to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for insurance endorsement.

National City has so-called "direct endorsement" authority, allowing it to make loans to low- and moderate-income borrowers who might not otherwise be able to meet loan requirements. HUD requires lenders with this authority to certify, when submitting loans for insurance coverage more than 60 days from closing, that the loans are not more than 30 days past due. The 58 loans covered by the settlement, the government said, were already in default prior to their submission.

"The FHA's [Federal Housing Administration] mortgage insurance program obviously cannot function when a lender misrepresents the status of 58 loans in order to put the government on the hook," said U.S. Attorney Stephen J. Murphy, who announced the settlement in Detroit.

A spokeswoman for Miamisburg, Ohio-based National City said the company has "refuted the government's allegations and denied any liability."

"National City Mortgage has a long history as a responsible lender with the FHA for more than 50 years," said the spokeswoman, Kelly Wagner Amen. The loans covered by the settlement, she told BNA May 23, represent less than one-tenth of one percent of the FHA loans submitted during the audit period in question, May 2002 through April 2004.

The agreement "has absolutely no impact on our role as an FHA lender, and in fact, our relationship with the FHA has grown," Amen said.

The case was handled by the Justice Department and the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of Michigan, with help from the Office of the Inspector General of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Vallejo, Calif. files for bankruptcy

The San Francisco Bay area suburb of about 120,000 residents votes for protection to deal with their budget deficit caused by soaring employee costs, declining tax revenue.

Last Updated: May 23, 2008: 5:40 PM EDT

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP) -- The city of Vallejo filed for bankruptcy protection Friday to deal with a ballooning budget deficit caused by soaring employee costs and declining tax revenue.

The San Francisco Bay-area suburb of about 120,000 residents became the largest California city to seek bankruptcy protection.

Mayor Osby Davis said the city's attorneys filed papers seeking Chapter 9 bankruptcy protection in federal court in Sacramento.

"We've exhausted all avenues at this point, and this is all we had left," Davis said. "I had hoped to avoid it all the way up until yesterday. It's something we can't avoid ... We can't pay our bills."

Vallejo will ask the judge to set a June 9 deadline for creditors to challenge the filing, said Marc Levinson, the city's bankruptcy attorney. If there are no objections, the city automatically enters bankruptcy protection.

The seven-member City Council voted to authorize the city manager to file for bankruptcy protection on May 6 after months of failed negotiations with its police and firefighters unions.

After that vote, city officials and union representatives continued to meet in hopes of reaching a last-minute deal to stave off the bankruptcy filing, but the two sides couldn't come to an agreement.

Vallejo, a mostly working-class city about 30 miles northeast of San Francisco, faces a $16 million budget deficit in its fiscal year starting July 1.

The foreclosure crisis and economic downturn have caused a sharp decline in revenue from sales tax, property tax and development fees.

Many officials and residents blame Vallejo's chronic financial problems on labor contracts that they say provide overly generous pay and benefits to the city's police officers and firefighters. Those city workers comprise about three-quarters of Vallejo's general fund.

The unions say compensation for Vallejo's public safety employees is in line with that of other Bay Area cities, and blame the fiscal crisis on government mismanagement and poor decisions by previous city councils.

Union representatives did not have an immediate comment on Friday's filing, but they previously said they would challenge it and argue that the city isn't insolvent. They say city officials rejected offers of salary cuts that would help solve the financial crisis.

In addition to being the largest California city to file for bankruptcy protection, Vallejo is the first to do so because its revenues cannot cover expenses, experts say.

Orange County filed for bankruptcy protection in 1994 after it lost money in a series of bad investments; the Southern California town of Desert Hot Springs filed in 2001 after losing a lawsuit.

Some officials worry that seeking bankruptcy protection could damage the city's reputation and ability to attract residents and businesses, but others say the city could eventually emerge stronger and more financially secure.

"The mismanagement of the city for so long has tarnished our reputation, not bankruptcy," said Councilwoman Stephanie Gomes. "Bankruptcy gives us the opportunity to fix that mismanagement and put a long-term plan in place to ensure true growth and recovery." ■

Accounting

FASB Issues Standard Clarifying Accounting For Financial Guarantee Insurance Contracts

NORWALK, Conn.—The Financial Accounting Standards Board May 23 issued a new standard that changes current practice in accounting for financial guarantee insurance contracts, including how it relates to recognition and measurement of premium revenue and claim liabilities.

FASB issued Statement No. 163, Accounting for Financial Guarantee Insurance Contracts, which clarifies how FASB Statement No. 60, Accounting and Reporting by Insurance Enterprises, applies to financial guarantee insurance contracts issued by insurance enterprises.

Typically, financial guarantee insurance enhances the marketability of financial instruments such as asset-backed securities, since it covers losses from such financial transactions.

In addition, such insurance contracts guarantee that investors in debt instruments, such as municipal bonds, receive timely payment of principal and interest if there is a default.

FASB Project Manager Mark Trench said that recently there have been concerns about the financial health of financial guarantee insurers. Thus, the new standard is expected to increase comparability in financial reporting of financial guarantee insurance contracts and to improve transparency to such financial statements.

Trench said the standard is a major step toward ending inconsistencies in practice that made it difficult for investors to receive comparable information about an insurance enterprise's claim liabilities.

Split Effective Date

FASB split the effective date of the standard requiring disclosures regarding an insurance enterprise's risk-management activities to be effective the first period beginning after May 23, 2008.

An enterprise must disclose the risk-management activities it uses to evaluate credit deterioration in its insured financial obligations and the insurance enterprise's surveillance or watch list, FASB said.

The remaining statement is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years beginning after Dec. 15, 2008, and all interim periods within those fiscal years.

This includes a requirement to recognize a claim liability prior to an event of default (insured event) when there is evidence that credit deterioration has occurred in an insured financial obligation.

Goal of Reducing Diversity

Since 2005, FASB has been working on a project to reduce diversity in practice in the way financial guarantee insurance contracts are accounted for by insurance enterprises.

The board said that the diversity resulted in differences in the recognition and measurement of claim liabilities and could lead to different financial statement information for similar transactions.

On April 18, 2007, FASB issued an exposure draft with a 60-day comment period and wrapped up redeliberations earlier this year.

Changes Current Practice

Under Statement 163, the changes to current practice in accounting for financial guarantee insurance contracts relate to recognition and measurement of premium revenue and claim liabilities, FASB said.

Similarly to the premium revenue recognition approach for a short-duration insurance contract in Statement 60, the premium revenue recognition approach links premium revenue recognition to the amount of insurance protection and the period in which it is provided, according to a summary of the standard.

This means that the amount of insurance protection provided is assumed to be a function of the insured principal amount outstanding, since the premium received requires the insurance enterprise to stand ready to protect holders of an insured financial obligation from loss due to default over the period of the insured financial obligation.

In addition, the recognition approach for a claim liability requires that an insurance enterprise recognize a claim liability when the insurance enterprise expects that a claim loss will exceed the unearned premium revenue.

This is based on the present value of expected net cash outflows to be paid under the insurance contract discounted using a risk-free rate.

Moreover, the standard requires an insurance enterprise to measure the claim liability equal to the present value of expected net cash outflows.

Expected net cash outflows are probability weighted cash flows that reflect the likelihood of all possible outcomes for payments by the insurance enterprise under the insurance contract.

Amends Existing Accounting

Statement 165 amends the following standards: FASB Statement No. 107, Disclosures about Fair Value of Financial Instruments (paragraph 8(c)), Statement 133 (paragraph 10(c)); FASB Interpretation No. 45, Guarantor's Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees, Including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness of Others (paragraph 6(d)).

Moreover, it nullifies EITF Issue No. 85-20, "Recognition of Fees for Guaranteeing a Loan."

Muni-Bond Bidders A Rarer Commodity

Thinner Market
 May Hurt Pricing, Reduce Liquidity
 By STAN ROSENBERG

As if investors in the municipal-bond market didn't have enough to worry about, concerns are now rising that the secondary market, where institutional investors trade large blocks of bonds, is becoming concentrated in fewer hands.

That poses a threat to market liquidity and could skew prices on outstanding debt.

"If you have a $10 million block, there are less people to quote it," said Evan Rourke, a municipal portfolio manager at M.D. Sass & Co. in New York.

Fewer bidders means a loss of depth on the bid side, said Gary Pollack, head of fixed-income trading at Deutsche Bank Wealth Management, also in New York.

"On a good day, you may get 20 bidders. Now, that universe has shrunk by two," Mr. Pollack said, referring to the exit of Bear Stearns Cos. and UBS AG from the muni markets.

"So on a not-so-good day, you may not get enough bidders to justify selling." He said he hasn't seen that happen yet, but he termed it "a risk."

An inability to move large bond lots raises the possibility that evaluations received by mom-and-pop investors, the backbone of the $2.6 trillion muni market, may not be as accurate as they should be.

Thin market conditions raise the possibility prices and benchmark-price indicators "may be more subject to the influence, intentional or not, of single trades or investment programs," wrote Matt Fabian, senior analyst at Concord, Mass.-based Municipal Market Advisors, in a report.

With the number of major dealers shrinking -- there are only 10 to 12 major market makers in the municipal market -- these factors take on greater significance in the absence of alternative bidders.

Hedge funds that used to play one end of the municipal yield curve against the other were badly burned and have become much less influential in the market. "They're neutral at best, net sellers at worst," Mr. Rourke said.

Insurers that have suffered losses elsewhere on their balance sheets, while still expected to be in the market, could see a diminished need for tax exemption. That would leave municipal-bond mutual funds, which have recently experienced large inflows, to operate at their own pace, according to Mr. Rourke.

At the same time, a number of the remaining dealer firms have lightened their positions as they continue to experience balance-sheet funding constraints.

"The announced sale or closure of UBS's municipal department, sharp losses at [insurer] AIG, and potential cost-cutting at Citigroup all imply a reduced bid-side and or excess secondary supply over at least the next few quarters," Mr. Fabian wrote.

Treasuries Revive

Treasuries got a new lease on life Friday thanks to falling stocks, weak housing data and positioning leading into the long weekend.

Bond markets are closed Monday for Memorial Day.

The rally helped Treasuries recoup some losses after two days of selloffs. The benchmark 10-year note was up 23/32 point, or $7.1875 for every $1,000 invested. Its yield fell to 3.833% from 3.919%.

FGIC Posts Loss on Exposure To Asset-Backed CDOs

By LAVONNE KUYKENDALL and DONNA KARDOS

FGIC Corp. swung to a first-quarter loss on the impact from the bond insurer's exposure to collateralized-debt obligations of asset-backed securities, though they were largely offset by big gains on credit-protection contracts.

The parent of Financial Guaranty Insurance Co. reported a net loss of $33.4 million, compared with year-earlier net income of $68.5 million.

The latest results include a $1.56 billion gain from new accounting rules that change the way companies place market values on assets that don't have hard prices. FGIC's gain was due to the market's perception of the company's nonperformance risk. The gain compared with $1.4 billion in mark-to-market losses on those derivatives.

Revenue more than doubled to $288.2 million from $126.8 million amid the gains.

Pretax loss and loss-adjustment expenses soared to $279.2 million from $1.2 million amid continued deterioration in the performance of certain residential-mortgage- and asset-backed CDOs written primarily the past three years. FGIC noted any claims relating to the transactions "will be made over a period of years" and the reserves don't reflect any effects of loss-mitigation efforts.

Net premiums written plunged 64%, while net premiums earned slid 0.7%.

FGIC has been losing money on CDOs backed by subprime-mortgage-backed securities. Earlier this month, the firm said it received interest from a range of strategy partners regarding a plan to split its bond-insurance business into public and private units.

FGIC earlier this year filed a lawsuit against Deutsche Industriebank, or IKB, and Calyon Credit Agricole CIB, its counterparties in a CDO transaction that exposes FGIC to $1.875 billion in potential losses. Resolution of the suit could result in "material" adjustments to FGIC's related loss reserves, the company said in its earnings report.

Earlier this month, PMI Group Inc. wrote off its remaining value of its 42% stake in FGIC as it questioned the bond insurer's future.

Auction-Rate Securities Give Firms Grief

Companies Struggle to Come to Terms
With Writing Down Troubled Holdings

By LIZ RAPPAPORT
May 27, 2008; Page C1

The credit crisis is receding, but hundreds of U.S. companies still are struggling to clean up the problems caused by auction-rate securities.

A review of first-quarter earnings reports showed that more than 400 companies, including Google Inc., Bed Bath & Beyond Inc. and Starbucks Corp., held at least $30 billion in the securities, instruments they once thought were as dependable as cash.

Some companies have had to scramble for funds in the months since the market froze up in February. The securities also are creating an accounting problem for businesses not used to pricing complicated securities. While some companies have written down the value of their auction-rate holdings, many others haven't, even though market prices have fallen substantially.

CFOs Learn the Lesson

"There is not a CFO in the world that hasn't had a significant lesson on what auction-rate securities are this year," says Dario Sacomani, chief financial officer at Sunnyvale, Calif., semiconductor company Spansion Inc., which held $122 million in such illiquid securities that it hadn't marked down at the end of the quarter.

According to a study of earnings reports conducted by securities-valuation firm Pluris Valuation Advisors L.L.C., 402 public companies disclosed that they held variations of auction-rate securities. Half had written down the value of their holdings. Of those that did, the average markdown was 13.2%, the study shows.

Individuals and companies bought auction-rate debt from municipalities, charitable organizations, student lenders and closed-end mutual funds.

The securities are long-term debt with short-term features. Their interest rates are meant to reset in weekly or monthly auctions conducted by Wall Street brokers. Buyers were attracted to their relatively high yields and a promise from Wall Street of an easy exit from the instruments.

But in February, auctions failed to attract sufficient bidders. Wall Street firms stopped supporting the market, causing it to freeze up.

Spansion cites the high quality of government-guaranteed student loans that are collateral for the securities it holds as one reason it hasn't taken a charge. Another reason, Mr. Sacomani says, is that the company doesn't need to access the cash immediately.

"This is triple-A," he says.

Still, Moody's Investors Service cut the company's credit rating in late March to the lower rungs of junk with a negative outlook, and to the lowest possible liquidity rating, which is a measure of a company's access to cash.

Hands Tied

JPMC-001041
CONFIDENTIAL

"It hampers your financial flexibility," says Gregory Fraser, senior analyst at Moody's, a unit of Moody's Corp. He says the company would have to take a "substantial discount" to sell its securities.

About 25% of the $330 billion auction-rate market has been bought back by municipalities or refinanced with a different type of debt, says Alex Roeber, fixed-income analyst at J.P. Morgan Chase & Co. Those left, he adds, probably aren't worth their face value.

Barry Silbert, who runs the Restricted Securities Trading Network, which has arranged 200 auction-rate bond sales, says sellers have taken discounts ranging from 2% for municipal debt to 30% for student-loan-backed bonds.

Salt Lake City self-storage company Extra Space Storage Inc. sold its securities at the end of February at a 10.6% discount to their face value.

Biotech pharmaceutical company ImClone Systems Inc. took an $85 million impairment charge in the first quarter, $69 million of which came from auction-rate securities it marked down by 43%.

Bed Bath & Beyond, the home-furnishing retailer, took a temporary 2.2% markdown on $327 million of the securities; Google a 4.2% markdown on $260 million of the securities; and Jet Blue Airways Corp. a 3.4% impairment on $324 million of the debt. Starbucks took no impairment on $70.5 million of such debt.

Commentary
Fair GameGauging the Big Bets of a Hot HandBy GRETCHEN MORGENSON

COME hell, high water, credit crisis or asbestos claims, Fairfax Financial Holdings is that rarity — an insurance company whose shares have stood tall through it all. Even as the Standard & Poor's insurance composite index has fallen 17.6 percent this year, Fairfax's stock is down just 2.1 percent.

Based in Toronto and led by V. Prem Watsa, founder and chief executive, Fairfax seems especially good at navigating the credit shoals. It is a big player in credit derivatives — instruments that have recently burned larger and more established rivals like A.I.G. and Warren E. Buffett's Berkshire Hathaway. Indeed, while both of those companies have lately recorded huge losses on credit default swaps — insurance contracts that allow investors to bet for or against a corporation's bonds — Fairfax has reported immense gains in this arena.

During 2007 and the first quarter this year, Fairfax said it realized $420 million in gains on credit default swaps, helping to propel earnings to records. Fairfax earned $1.1 billion on revenue of $7.5 billion in 2007, up from $227 million earned on $6.8 billion in revenue in 2006. The company has a market capitalization of $5.39 billion, and its stock, at $280.25 a share, trades at a 10 percent premium to its book value.

A tour through Fairfax's financial statements, however, raises questions about both the company's reliance on derivatives gains and its insurance operations. Of special note is Fairfax's unit in Europe that consists of underwriting businesses that the firm is in the process of abandoning. (In the insurance world, operations like these are known as "runoff" units.)

Fairfax's investment portfolio totaled $18.6 billion at the end of the first quarter. Since its inception in 1985, it has returned an average 9.5 percent a year on its investments, earning Mr. Watsa quite a nickname: the Warren Buffett of Canada.

The insurance business hasn't been hot lately for Fairfax, so its investment returns have come in handy. Citing extreme competition in the industry, Fairfax reported consolidated net premiums of $4.5 billion in 2007, a decline of 6.1 percent from 2006. And in the first quarter of 2008, the company reported an underwriting loss of $7.7 million versus a profit of almost $50 million a year earlier.

Better to focus on its credit derivative book. Most of those bets have been made against financial companies and have benefited from huge losses incurred by banks, securities firms and bond guarantors like M.B.I.A.

GREG TAYLOR, Fairfax's chief financial officer, says he expects the gains to continue. "We do not think the credit crisis is winding down," he said in an e-mail exchange. "In fact, the recession may well magnify the stresses on the credit markets."

JPMC-001043
CONFIDENTIAL

Plenty of derivative bets remain on the company's books, even after recent sales. Unrealized gains on the company's credit default swaps stood at $960 million at the end of 2007, and in the first quarter, mark-to-market gains on its credit default swaps were $467 million.

That's a lot of lettuce. Still, credit default swaps are notoriously volatile, and whether the company will be able to cash in these chips is an open question. Indeed, on May 1, Fairfax cautioned that swaps worth $991 million at the end of the first quarter had fallen to $685 million as of April 25.

Sean Egan, managing director of Egan-Jones Ratings, an independent ratings firm, said investors should be wary of counting on these gains because it is not clear who is on the other side of Fairfax's swap trades.

"The visibility on counterparties has been and remains very poor," Mr. Egan said. "You don't know whether there are hedge funds on the other side with minimal capital levels or whether they are solid credible counterparties. These are massive positions, and Fairfax should provide additional information to give comfort to investors."

Given the volatility in these instruments, he added, "investors would have to assume that investment gains realized by the company are unlikely to remain at the same level that have been reported to date."

Absent Fairfax's investment income, he noted, the company's pretax earnings would have totaled $520 million in 2007, not the $2.16 billion it recorded — quite a swing, but not one that seems to worry the folks at Fairfax.

Mr. Taylor says he believes Fairfax has the right bets on. "We continue to believe that these positions will be valuable in protecting our companies against the continuing credit market conditions," he said.

Maybe so. But even with the juicy derivatives gains, at the end of the first quarter Fairfax's cash and cash equivalents had fallen to $3.1 billion, down 46 percent from the end of 2006.

And claims payments may well rise in the company's European runoff operations, a unit that has enjoyed improved results. These operations involve nSpire Re, an Ireland-based reinsurer, and include long-term claims associated with asbestos maladies.

European runoff turned in a pretax loss of $900,000 last year, well below the 2006 losses of $501 million and the $262 million lost in 2005. Fairfax cited "reduced claims in Europe" as one of the reasons for the improvement; losses on claims fell to $16.5 million last year, down from losses of $39.7 million in 2006 and $247 million in 2005.

But this reduction in losses may relate to a temporary claims-paying holiday at Sphere Drake Insurance, a Fairfax affiliate in Britain that has been in runoff since 1999. The holiday is a result of a "solvent scheme of arrangement," a legal proceeding in which creditors and insurance companies consolidate certain claims and liquidate them at an agreed-upon price.

While the workout goes on, Sphere Drake doesn't pay on the claims under consolidation. Once the process is complete, the company must pay on all claims approved by the court overseeing the deal.

CONFIDENTIAL

SPHERE DRAKE has been involved in two such proceedings since 2005, both of which contributed to the improvement in results at the European runoff unit in 2006 and last year. Under the first, Sphere Drake paid $35 million to settle claims, Mr. Taylor said.

A second solvent scheme of arrangement was approved by the court early last November; the filing date for claims, May 6, has passed. While the claims holiday is over, it still isn't clear what payments will be required under the arrangement.

Fairfax is on the hook for whatever claims Sphere Drake has to pay, yet details relating to that particular possibility aren't disclosed in Fairfax's filings.

Mr. Taylor said that was because the proceedings have no impact on his company's operations, adding that the claims will be immaterial. He said he expects the claims consolidated in the most recent solvent scheme of arrangement to be paid later this year or in early 2009.

Shareholders will have to hope the Mr. Taylor is right and that the claims don't turn out to be whoppers. If they are, Fairfax's finances might get squeezed.

Indeed, while some liken Mr. Watsa to Mr. Buffett, the Berkshire Hathaway model consists of a company generating profits through careful insurance underwriting and perspicacious investing. At Fairfax, the underwriting cushion would seem not so plump should Mr. Watsa's hot investment hand go cold.

Finding Potential for Debt in Distress

By NORM ALSTER

THE credit crisis and economic slowdown have sunk billions of dollars of debt into distressed status — deep in the junk-bond pile. Money managers have traditionally profited in such markets by buying debt on the cheap.

Individual investors can get into the game indirectly, through a small number of mutual funds, including BlackRock High Yield, Mutual Recovery and Northeast Investors Trust, which hold some distressed debt.

“Right now, we think there is going to be tremendous opportunity over the next 12 to 18 months,” said James Keenan, manager of BlackRock High Yield, which has returned 0.41 percent in 2008 and 7.15 percent, annualized, over the last three years, according to Morningstar. (All figures are through Thursday.)

Mr. Keenan foresees raising the fund’s current investment in distressed debt to 10 to 15 percent of assets, from the current 2 to 3 percent, as opportunities arise.

Distressed debt is often defined as the obligations of companies in default or perilously close to it. The term may also be used for debt paying a very high yield — 10 percentage points more than 10-year Treasuries.

Investing in such debt is risky, but handsome profits can be made by converting it into equity ownership as restructured companies leave bankruptcy.

The sharp rise in interest rates on lower-rated debt issues in recent months probably presages a rising tide of defaults, said Kenneth Emery, director of default research at the Moody’s Corporation.

“Historically, there’s a tight correlation between high-yield spreads and default rates,” Mr. Emery said. Already, the global pool of distressed bonds and bank loans is approaching $600 billion, he said.

Little cash has actually been drawn down to buy distressed debt thus far. “There have been a lot of funds raised,” said Michael Embler, chief investment officer for the Mutual Series funds of Franklin Templeton. “Most of the money has not been deployed.”

Oaktree Capital Management, based in Los Angeles, is a longtime investor in distressed debt. The firm has unspecified billions invested in such debt, said Howard S. Marks, its chairman, with $10 billion more ready to be deployed.

The question for Mr. Marks and others is when to start buying in earnest. Early buyers risk “catching a falling knife,” in market parlance, if prices keep tumbling. But late buyers risk losing out on the best deals and the best returns. “We think we have to catch a falling knife,” Mr. Marks said.

CONFIDENTIAL

Other deep-pocketed buyers seem to be coming to the same conclusion. For example, the Blackstone Group, the big private equity group, has been finding good investments in distressed debt. Stephen A. Schwarzman, the chairman and chief executive, said in a recent conference call.

At Mutual, Mr. Embler is waiting for some of the debt that financed buyouts in the last year to tumble into distressed status.

"There was a tremendous amount of leverage in those buyouts," he said. "Some of them will hit the wall."

Just nine months ago, Mutual Recovery held virtually no distressed debt, but with recent purchases of leveraged-buyout-related bank loans, it now has "5 to 10 percent" of its portfolio in the lowest-rated obligations, he said. "We do think there will be more opportunities in the next 6 to 12 months," he added.

The fund is down 4.31 percent this year and has returned 6.33 percent, annualized, over the last three years.

ALSO prepared to buy, but not convinced that prices have bottomed, is Bruce H. Monrad, who manages the $1.5 billion Northeast Investors Trust fund with his father, Ernest E. Monrad. The fund is up 0.14 percent this year and has returned 5.59 percent, annualized, over the last three years.

"We're still in the very early innings," he said. "We're probably going to see 30 percent of the total junk bond market default over the next five years. And yet fewer than 30 percent of junk bond issues are selling at distressed prices. There may still be a lot of overpriced junk."

The Northeast fund holds debt from one issuer — the Trump casino empire — that produced a big payday in the past. After Trump Hotels and Casino Resorts filed for bankruptcy in 2004, Northeast received a package of stock and bonds in the restructured company, Trump Entertainment Resorts. Northeast sold the stock but still holds some bonds, whose current yield is roughly 14 percent.

In terms of the broader credit market, Mr. Marks of Oaktree Capital said he saw a possible silver lining in the current situation, at least for investors in distressed debt.

"This could be the biggest credit crisis of our lives," he said. "And if it is, that argues for higher returns."

Moody's fiasco: The cover-up?

The Moody's (MCO) mess keeps getting even more strange. Rival Standard & Poor's put Moody's debt ratings on watch late Thursday, after Moody's shares suffered two days of selling on the heels of a Financial Times report that the company issued the wrong ratings on some risky paper and then changed its rating criteria to avoid a downgrade.

"The CreditWatch listing reflects recent press reports regarding potential problems with analytical models and methodologies used in Moody's process for rating European constant-proportion debt obligations (CPDOs)," S&P wrote. "While the specific potential business and financial impact to Moody's is currently uncertain, this comes at a time when expected declines in revenue and cash flow at Moody's in 2008 are expected to meaningfully reduce flexibility in the company's leverage profile. These concerns are exacerbated by the potential impact of the previously mentioned press reports."

Of course, S&P is very much in the same bind as Moody's. While some observers were questioning the safety of CPDOs when they were first issued - Fitch, for instance, declined to rate them - S&P was the first firm to rate CPDOs, giving them the sought-after triple-A designation. "We think focusing on programming errors diverts attention away from the core issue here," CreditSights analyst David Watts wrote Friday, Reuters reports. "Rating a CPDO requires predicting 11 different variables 10 years into the future with a high degree of accuracy. A skill we are not convinced that anyone possesses."

Moody's responded to the FT article by hiring lawyers at Sullivan & Cromwell to conduct an external investigation. But at Naked Shorts, Greg Newton writes that the firm is possibly conflicted by its representation of Moody's in class-action lawsuits, and sees the Moody's response as fitting into a greater pattern of financial firms washing their hands of their bubble-era misdeeds. "While the old firm of Thain, Pandit, Blankfein & Fuld debate whether the credit crisis is in its seventh or eighth inning, NakedShorts would suggest an alternative analogy," he writes: "We've done the crime, here comes the cover-up."

UBS Foresees More Subprime-Related Losses

By BLOOMBERG NEWS

UBS, the European bank hardest hit by the collapse of the subprime housing market in the United States, fell the most in more than two months in Swiss trading on Monday after it said it may face more losses from mortgage securities. UBS declined 5.8 percent to 28.20 francs in Zurich, and has dropped 43 percent this year, cutting its market value to 61.4 billion francs ($59.9 billion). UBS, in a prospectus for a 16 billion-franc rights offer to shareholders, said the bank's losses on residential and commercial real-estate securities outside the United States "could increase in the future." UBS is seeking to replenish capital after about $38 billion in write-downs related to the subprime crisis.

Lost Opportunities Haunt Final Days of Bear Stearns

Executives Bickered Over Raising Cash, Cutting Mortgages

By KATE KELLY
 May 27, 2008; Page A1

Twelve hours after agreeing to sell Bear Stearns Cos. for $2 a share, Alan Schwartz wearily made his way to the company gym for a much-needed workout.

It was 6:45 a.m., March 17, and Bear Stearns's chief executive had slept little since hammering out the ugly details of his fire-sale deal with J.P. Morgan Chase & Co.

When Mr. Schwartz, already dressed in his business suit, trudged into the locker room, Alan Mintz, still in his sweaty gym clothes, made a beeline for the boss.

"How could this happen to 14,000 employees?" demanded the 46-year-old senior trader, thrusting his face uncomfortably close to Mr. Schwartz's. "Look in my eyes, and tell me how this happened!"

Two and a half months later, Mr. Schwartz still isn't quite sure. To Mr. Mintz and others, he has blamed a market tsunami he didn't see coming. He told a Senate committee last month: "I just simply have not been able to come up with anything, even with the benefit of hindsight, that would have made a difference."

But many who lived through the seven tense months before the deal say Bear Stearns imploded because it was at war with itself. Buffeted by the most treacherous market forces in a generation and hobbled by indecision, the firm's leaders missed opportunities that might have been able to save the 85-year-old brokerage.

Those missteps are expected to have a lasting impact beyond the people who once worked at Bear Stearns or owned its stock. Unlike Wall Street meltdowns in decades past -- from Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc. to Long-Term Capital Management -- the Bear Stearns collapse spurred direct intervention from the Federal Reserve. That step is likely to increase the central bank's role in solving future financial catastrophes and bring securities firms further regulation in the bargain.

As shareholders prepare to approve the deal on Thursday -- at a price that angry investors forced up to about $10 a share -- interviews with more than two dozen current and former Bear Stearns executives, directors, traders and others involved in the action paint the first detailed picture of the fractious last weeks before the Fed helped underwrite J.P. Morgan's purchase of the trading powerhouse.

Months before regulators pressured the firm to sell itself, nervous traders futilely begged Mr. Schwartz and his predecessor, James Cayne, to raise more cash and slash Bear Stearns's huge inventory of mortgages and the bonds that backed them.

 CONFIDENTIAL

At least six efforts to raise billions of dollars -- including selling a stake to leveraged-buyout titan Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co. -- fizzled as either Bear Stearns or the suitors turned skittish. And repeated warnings from experienced traders, including 59-year Bear Stearns veteran Alan "Ace" Greenberg, to unload mortgages went unheeded.

Top executives resisted, in part, because they were concerned the moves would upset the delicate calculus of appearances and perceptions that is as important on Wall Street as dollars and cents. If Bear Stearns betrayed weakness, they worried, skittish customers would pull their money out of the firm, and other financial institutions would refuse to trade with it.

Instead of managing these fickle forces, though, a brokerage whose culture and fortune were rooted in the trading floor's steely manipulation of risk was swamped by them.

Early Warnings

An early harbinger of the debacle to come appeared the first Friday in August. Bear Stearns executives hosted a conference call that day meant to reassure investors. The brokerage's stock had fallen sharply after the late-July collapse of two internal hedge funds tied to subprime mortgages, home loans made to the riskiest borrowers.

Mr. Cayne and his top financial lieutenants touted the firm's strong cash holdings -- $11.4 billion, according to company officials -- and new longer-term borrowing agreements. They also pointed out that Bear Stearns itself actually had few subprime holdings. But executives' comments about the bleak state of the market for interest-bearing securities stoked investors' fears, helping spur a broad rout in stocks and driving Bear Stearns's own shares to a 12-month low of $106.55.

Later that day, word leaked out that Warren Spector, Bear Stearns's co-president and chief of the division that oversaw the two failed hedge funds, was being forced out by Mr. Cayne.

Amid the mounting bad news, a lifeline appeared: Mr. Schwartz, then Bear Stearns's co-president, and Henry Kravis, KKR's fearsome founder, had a conversation about the buyout firm possibly purchasing 20% of Bear Stearns.

By Sunday, Bear Stearns's sleek, black tower in midtown Manhattan bustled with activity.

About 8:30 a.m., a team from KKR assembled in the investment-banking department on the 43rd floor to begin dissecting the firm's books. Buying a piece of Bear Stearns was attractive to KKR as an entree into the lucrative brokerage business at a time when prices were cheap. For Bear Stearns, it was a chance to raise $2 billion or more in capital and gain a crucial seal of approval by putting an éminence grise like Mr. Kravis on its board -- a move Mr. Schwartz hoped would silence Bear Stearns's critics.

Within two weeks, though, the talks would fall apart because each side had concerns. Among other things, Messrs. Schwartz and Cayne feared a deal might turn off Bear Stearns clients that competed with KKR.

While Bear Stearns's mortgage team fielded questions from KKR that Sunday, the firm's risk officers were meeting in the sixth-floor executive offices with staffers from the Securities and Exchange Commission. The regulators had traveled from Washington to make sure Bear Stearns had access to the day-to-day loans it needed to fund its trading operation. After scrutinizing the firm's $400 billion balance sheet well into the afternoon, the regulators agreed to reconvene with Bear Stearns managers for daily briefings until the market crisis passed.

Elsewhere in the building that afternoon, Bear Stearns's board was deliberating over Mr. Spector's resignation. Not everyone was convinced it was the right move -- including Mr. Schwartz, who had expressed his objections privately to Mr. Cayne. But Mr. Cayne was adamant.

The collapse of the hedge funds had exposed the then-73-year-old CEO to criticism inside and outside of the company for being disengaged and for brushing off warning signs. Early on, he seemed unconcerned. Mr. Cayne said the funds weren't Bear Stearns's money: It belonged to big institutions, wealthy individuals and lenders who all knew the risks going in. Soon, though, the lenders forced Bear Stearns to extend one of the portfolios $1.6 billion of its own money to keep it afloat.

A glib and gruff former scrap-iron salesman from Chicago with a penchant for cigars, golf and cards, Mr. Cayne had often taken off Thursday afternoons and Fridays that summer to play golf near his New Jersey vacation home. In mid-July, when the funds were melting down, both he and Mr. Spector had spent more than a week in Nashville, Tenn., competing in a bridge tournament. Mr. Cayne, who declined to be interviewed for this article, was said by people close to him to be particularly angry that Mr. Spector, who with his partners won the event, had been away from the office at such a sensitive time.

Bear Stearns's board -- 12 men largely handpicked by Mr. Cayne -- approved Mr. Spector's departure. Mr. Schwartz, a longtime investment banker more accustomed to rubbing shoulders with clients like Walt Disney Co.'s Robert Iger than to monitoring trades or capital levels, was named sole president.

Messrs. Spector and Schwartz had been promoted to co-presidents and co-chief operating officers in 2001. Mr. Cayne, the CEO, had leaned on them to keep their divisions running smoothly.

Now, Mr. Schwartz, a former star pitcher at Duke University, had to carry a heavier burden. At age 57, he had little experience in the bond and mortgage businesses that made up an outsized share of Bear Stearns's revenue. But he decided to manage the firm's capital-market division himself rather than hiring a replacement for Mr. Spector.

Mr. Schwartz moved to tighten oversight of the company's trading. He also began keeping daily tabs on the bond markets. Several times a week, he sat down with traders who had bet a lot of the firm's money, questioning them about strategy and results.

In the weeks after rejecting KKR's approach, Bear Stearns received other offers of capital. J. Christopher Flowers, a former Goldman Sachs Group Inc. partner, had met with some of Bear Stearns's senior managers about the possibility of taking a 20% stake. But the meeting left Bear Stearns's representatives concerned that Mr. Flowers simply was trying to gauge their desperation. The next day, they told the Flowers team they weren't interested.

Instead, Bear Stearns executives began working on what Messrs. Schwartz and Cayne saw as a more compelling option: a joint venture with Citic Securities Co. They reasoned a deal with the

CONFIDENTIAL

Chinese investment bank would bring in money and help increase Bear Stearns's miniscule presence in Asia. Smarting from criticism of his hands-off style, Mr. Cayne spent the Labor Day weekend on a whirlwind trip to Beijing to discuss terms with Citic executives.

Into early autumn, the mortgage market continued to slump. Housing prices had plunged, and most major financial firms were slashing the value they placed on holdings backed by home loans.

Bear Stearns -- with its immense stockpile of mortgages and related securities -- was particularly vulnerable. Despite months of price declines, those holdings were valued at about $56 billion -- a large portfolio for a firm its size. Still, SEC staffers -- who now were phoning in for weekly Wednesday-evening conference calls with the firm -- appeared comfortable. By Thanksgiving, some senior regulators were calling in less frequently.

'We've Got to Cut!'

Inside Bear Stearns, though, skirmishes about its mortgage holdings at times grew heated. Some veteran traders insisted that Tom Marano, the head of mortgages, needed to trim his portfolio. Among them were Wendy de Monchaux, who as head of proprietary trading invested Bear Stearns's own money, and Steve Meyer, co-head of stock sales and trading.

"Cut the positions, and we'll live to play another day," Ms. de Monchaux said often, invoking one of the firm's venerable maxims. But Mr. Schwartz, still boning up on the details of the mortgage markets, urged caution.

For some of the assets, the market was frozen, Mr. Schwartz reasoned, so selling was out of the question. On others, he had mixed feelings. He didn't want to unload tens of billions of dollars worth of valuable mortgages and related bonds at distressed prices, creating steeper losses.

Mr. Schwartz believed the portfolio at least should be better protected from further price declines. Spearheaded by Mr. Marano, a bearded 46-year-old trader with a Grateful Dead tattoo on his right shoulder, the mortgage team unfurled a hedging strategy known as "the chaos trade."

The trade was a deeply pessimistic bet -- essentially a method for making money if the mortgage and financial markets cratered. The traders bet that the ABX, a family of indexes made up of securities backed by subprime mortgages, would fall. They made similar moves on indexes tracking securities backed by commercial mortgages. Finally, they placed a series of bets that the stocks of major financial companies with exposure to mortgages, including Wells Fargo & Co., Countrywide Financial Corp. and Washington Mutual Inc., would decrease in value as well.

Late in September, with Bear Stearns and other financial stocks rallying, members of the firm's executive and risk committees gathered in Mr. Cayne's smoky, dark and secluded sixth-floor offices to discuss the hedges. Negotiations for Allianz SE's Pacific Investment Management Co. to take a nonequity stake of as much as 10% in Bear Stearns had recently fallen apart. That cost the brokerage a chance for capital and a coveted endorsement of Bear Stearns's creditworthiness.

Mr. Cayne had just returned from the hospital where he'd been treated for an infection, and he looked thin and drawn. Mr. Greenberg, the firm's storied trader and former CEO, took center stage. As head of the risk committee, he had been reviewing the Wells Fargo and other negative stock bets. He wasn't happy. The financial-stock hedges were too risky, he warned, and should be closed out immediately. Moreover, he wanted the mortgage inventory slashed.

"We've got to cut!" Mr. Greenberg demanded. Ms. de Monchaux and Mr. Meyer concurred.

Oklahoma-bred and Missouri-educated, Mr. Greenberg was the embodiment of the "PSDs" -- poor, smart employees with a deep desire to get rich, upon whom the firm had been built. Mr. Greenberg, who ran the firm for 15 years before Mr. Cayne nudged him aside, was known on Wall Street for his voluminous memos, in the voice of a fictional character, urging traders on issues large ("it doesn't pay to get too arrogant") and small (save paper clips to cut costs).

But it was Mr. Greenberg's trading style that had most defined Bear Stearns: Sell losing trading positions -- quickly. Mr. Greenberg still recalled what his father, an Oklahoma City clothier, told him: "If something isn't moving, sell it today because tomorrow it will be worth less."

The hedges had made close to half a billion dollars and stood to make more as the stocks continued to fall. But since they had first employed the chaos trade, Mr. Marano and his team had been hectoring almost daily by complaining phone calls from colleagues. Some of Bear Stearns's more superstitious traders even objected to the strategy's name: They were tempting fate by invoking chaos.

Faced with the fierce divide among his top executives, Mr. Schwartz, who was generally supportive of the chaos trade, decided to abandon it. He wanted specific pessimistic plays that would offset specific optimistic bets, rather than the broader hedges Mr. Marano had employed. Frustrated, Mr. Marano ordered the trades undone.

As October dawned, Messrs. Cayne and Schwartz had high hopes that a deal with Citic would bolster Bear Stearns's fortunes. On Oct. 22, Bear Stearns announced a joint venture in Asia that included a $1 billion cross-investment between the two companies. If regulators approved, Bear Stearns could count on getting $1 billion in the first half of 2008. But it would spend the same amount over a longer period for a complementary stake in Citic.

Investors weren't impressed. Bear Stearns shares rose meagerly but backtracked days later.

Over the next few weeks, Bear Stearns's competitors disclosed losses from bad mortgage-related bets. Merrill Lynch & Co. announced a loss amid write-downs of $8 billion; Morgan Stanley revealed losses of nearly $4 billion.

To outsiders, it was beginning to look as if Bear Stearns had navigated the crisis relatively deftly. Inside the firm, that view wasn't as prevalent. Its mortgage holdings were still hefty, and its bond business was reeling.

The firm continued to explore ways to raise money, hiring investment banker Gary Parr of Lazard Ltd. to try to bolster the firm's prime-brokerage business, which handled trading and lending to hedge funds and other big clients. Mr. Schwartz had also discussed a merger with hedge fund Fortress Investment Group.

Neither effort would bear fruit.

Time to Move On

JPMC-001054
CONFIDENTIAL

In late November and early December, tension mounted as Bear Stearns executives contemplated a bonus pool down significantly from a year earlier. Executives in the stock division blamed their counterparts in bonds.

"Why should we pay those guys anything?" Mr. Meycr, the stock sales and trading executive, at one point demanded in a compensation meeting.

Things only got testier when Bear Stearns announced abysmal fourth-quarter results on Dec. 20. Dragged down by a drop in the value of its mortgage inventory, the company reported its first quarterly deficit since it opened for business in 1923. The bond division, always the firm's cash cow, had a loss of $1.5 billion for the quarter.

At lunchtime the next day, as employees prepared for the holidays, Bear Stearns received bleak news. An email from Pimco, the influential bond fund, said it had become uneasy about the financial sector in general. And the fund wanted to immediately unwind several billion dollars of trades it had agreed to with Bear Stearns.

"This doesn't make any sense," Jim Egan, Bear Stearns's co-head of global sales, said in a hastily arranged conference call with William De Leon, a Pimco risk manager, and William Powers, a Bear Stearns alumnus and Pimco managing director. How could a snap decision throw cold water on such a longstanding relationship with such little warning? If Pimco planned to take such drastic action, Mr. Egan and his colleagues added, the decision should be made "corner office to corner office."

Messrs. De Leon and Powers ultimately agreed to hold off on dramatic moves until January, when they'd have a chance to sit down with senior Bear Stearns executives. But before hanging up, Mr. Powers issued a stern, if familiar, warning: "You need to raise equity," he said.

Many Bear Stearns veterans began pushing hard for Mr. Cayne's ouster, arguing the firm needed a more engaged leader. The dissatisfaction had been building since the summer. It grew after a Nov. 1 story in The Wall Street Journal documenting Mr. Cayne's frequent absences from the office for golf and bridge during the worst of the summer's hedge-fund crisis. The article also mentioned that Mr. Cayne had used marijuana in the past. He told employees in an email the same day that he hadn't "engaged in inappropriate conduct."

Mr. Schwartz was reluctant to push Mr. Cayne out. He had led the company through some great years, Mr. Schwartz believed, and could be trusted to step down on his own.

"Stand calm," he told the protesters. "We've got it under control."

Several top managers began joking that they should hold a sit-in in Mr. Schwartz's 42nd-floor office until he agreed to unseat Mr. Cayne as CEO.

Investors were growing impatient, too. Bear Stearns's fourth-largest shareholder -- Bruce Sherman, chief executive of money manager Private Capital Management Inc. -- was agitating for a change at the top.

Shortly after the New Year, Mr. Schwartz stopped by Mr. Cayne's office. The pressure inside and outside of the firm for his departure had become too great, he told his boss. It was time to move on.

How J.P. Morgan Does 'Merger in Reverse'Fast Work to Absorb*Bear Stearns Comes*After Hurried Deal

By ROBIN SIDEL

NEW YORK -- A few days after J.P. Morgan Chase & Co. agreed to buy Bear Stearns Cos. in a frantic deal that saved the 85-year-old investment bank from bankruptcy, J.P. Morgan executives began scrambling to figure out exactly what they were getting.

One of the first items on the to-do list: Spurred into action by a phone call from Frank Bisignano, J.P. Morgan's chief administrative officer, workers ran fiber-optic cables under the streets of Manhattan, connecting the computer systems at Bear's headquarters on Madison Avenue with J.P. Morgan's on Park Avenue a few blocks away.

That gave J.P. Morgan access to everything from Bear's employee directory to its massive mortgage portfolio.

It took just two days in mid-March for the second-largest U.S. bank in stock-market value (behind Bank of America Corp.) to hammer out a takeover agreement for Bear Stearns. Now J.P. Morgan is moving with similar speed to complete the deal and absorb Bear.

The gargantuan effort involves hundreds of J.P. Morgan executives and bankers but is tricky because Bear's sudden collapse left almost no time for J.P. Morgan to perform due diligence, which takes weeks or months under normal circumstances.

"It's hard to do a merger in reverse," said Bill Winters, co-head of J.P. Morgan's investment bank, into which Bear is being integrated.

Because of Bear's shaky financial condition, J.P. Morgan can dive more deeply into the investment bank's operations than regulators usually allow before an acquisition is completed. With the fiber-optic cables installed, J.P. Morgan executives got unfettered access to Bear's profit-and-loss statements at the end of each day, although Bear employees can't peer into J.P. Morgan's books.

J.P. Morgan isn't allowed yet to make trading decisions for Bear because the two firms remain separate legal entities. But Bear's sales force already is distributing research from J.P. Morgan's stock analysts to Bear clients.

The bank also is being permitted to unload some of the risk taken on by Bear's trading businesses. Bank officials are aggressively unwinding some of those positions and expect to reduce the amount of Bear's risk-weighted assets to $150 billion by the end of June from $225 billion in March. Much of that is from Bear's mortgage-trading business, where risk-weighted assets will be slashed from $73 billion to $20 billion.

"We would not have done [the deal] if we didn't think it made sense, but we are bearing an awful lot of risk," J.P. Morgan Chairman and Chief Executive Officer James Dimon said this month. J.P. Morgan essentially assumed responsibility for Bear's operations when the acquisition agreement was struck, with the Federal Reserve backstopping the deal by funding a maximum of $29 billion in potential Bear losses on various types of securities.

The initial integration push is likely to be done within the next week, when the $1.5 billion takeover is due to close. But the meetings, paperwork and long nights will drag on for months as J.P. Morgan tries to make the most out of the businesses and employees at Bear that it wants to keep.

So far, J.P. Morgan estimates it will cost $9 billion to cover items such as severance, litigation, restructuring and losses sustained by Bear since mid-March.

J.P. Morgan has come a long way from the culture clash and paralyzed decision-making that plagued Chase Manhattan Corp.'s purchase of J.P. Morgan & Co. in 2000. The bank now is known for its laser-like focus on making its acquisitions pay off. Mr. Dimon and a team of longtime lieutenants have relentlessly slashed costs and combined disparate technology systems since the 2004 takeover of Bank One Corp. for $58 billion. That deal brought Mr. Dimon to J.P. Morgan.

While the purchase price this time is small, with Bear costing the equivalent of roughly one month of 2007 earnings at J.P. Morgan, there is little margin for error. Integration stumbles may trigger more defections by Bear customers, worsen the morale of Bear employees still reeling from the firm's abrupt demise and hurt Mr. Dimon's reputation as the rescuer of Wall Street.

Much of the integration is being led by Mr. Winters and Steve Black, the other investment bank co-head at J.P. Morgan. By the time the process is done, about half of Bear's nearly 14,000 employees may be laid off, people familiar with the situation say. So far, J.P. Morgan has offered jobs to 6,500 Bear employees.

J.P. Morgan executives refer to about 3,500 of those employees as "drag and drop," meaning they are part of Bear's prime brokerage and clearing businesses that J.P. Morgan intends to absorb in full. J.P. Morgan is eager to incorporate these businesses because it doesn't have them on its own.

The fate of another several hundred Bear workers, most in technology and operations, hasn't been decided yet. About 2,000 of the 180,000 employees at J.P. Morgan are likely to lose their jobs as part of the Bear purchase, because of overlap.

Among the few members of Bear's upper echelon expected to join J.P. Morgan is Alan "Ace" Greenberg, the firm's 80-year-old former chairman and still an active broker. Alan Schwartz, one of Wall Street's top media bankers and now Bear's CEO, may also wind up joining J.P. Morgan as a top rainmaker, or deal generator, people familiar with the situation say.

On a recent Wednesday at 5 p.m., about three dozen people streamed into a J.P. Morgan conference room for a weekly firmwide update on the integration. Thick packets detailed the status of every business, from interest-rate trading to emerging markets to investment banking. Color-coded boxes on each page indicated the progress so far: red for critical issues, amber for caution or green for smooth sailing. Most of the boxes were green.

"Our challenge is the spaghetti of systems. There is a lot of stuff still to be done for Day 1," said Carlos Hernandez, J.P. Morgan's head of global equities. Another executive noted that his unit wouldn't be hiring many Bear employees but had helped some of them get jobs with J.P. Morgan clients. The group also got an update on a bent pipe that was causing flooding at Bear's headquarters.

Freddie Mac's Triad Split May Snag Start-Up Insurer

American Banker | Friday, May 23, 2008

By Harry Terris

Freddie Mac's decision to stop buying loans insured by Triad Guaranty Inc., pending an appeal, shows there is a limit to how much forbearance the government-sponsored enterprises are willing to give ailing mortgage insurers.

The move might also complicate Triad's negotiations with Lightyear Capital LLC, a private-equity firm, to create a new company that would assume much of Triad's staff and operations, leaving the insurer's portfolio to run off.

Triad, a Winston-Salem, N.C., company, said last week that it plans to appeal Freddie's decision to suspend its status "as an approved mortgage insurer" and that the appeal is due Thursday. It said the GSE is continuing to buy mortgages insured by Triad for now and that the decision "should not have any immediate adverse impact on Triad's ability to write new mortgage insurance."

James Brender, an analyst at Standard & Poor's Corp., said the potential loss of Freddie's business could make it harder for the proposed start-up to get off the ground quickly.

"There are a number of parties that are looking at starting [mortgage insurer]s, and ... one of Lightyear's advantages" was that "they were partnering with someone that allowed them to enter the market quicker," Mr. Brender said. "That advantage is now partially deteriorated," he said.

Mark Tonnesen, Triad's chief executive, said in an interview Friday, "The two issues — that is, the approval of the new company and the situation with Triad — are separate. Yet they're integrated. We will make sure that Freddie, Fannie, our regulators understand the separateness of the two initiatives as well as the way in which they're integrated. We think that the integration of the two is supportive of both, both in Triad's ability to help the new company be successful and the new company's ability to help Triad be successful."

"What's critical right now is that we have no cessation of business," he said, "that we continue to be approved mortgage insurers for both Fannie and Freddie."

Freddie would not elaborate on Triad's disclosure. Lightyear would not discuss the matter Friday. In an interview in early May after the negotiations with Triad were disclosed, David Glenn, a Lightyear partner, said, "We still have a very big interest in how that old book performs because our customers have an interest in that old book."

In February, Freddie said it was relaxing its requirements for mortgage insurers eligible to cover the loans it buys. The move came about two months before S&P downgraded three large mortgage insurers below AA-minus, historically viewed as the minimum rating level needed to operate freely.

CONFIDENTIAL

In a conference call this month, Mr. Tomnesen explained the rationale for cutting the insurers slack: "Our customers are astute enough to understand that continuing to do business and write profitable business onto the Triad Guaranty books today is in their best interest because those profits will accumulate to pay future claims."

But the GSEs have kept open a range of options. Fannie Mae has said it is evaluating on a "case-by-case basis" whether to keep doing business with insurers that have been downgraded below AA and that it would consider canceling policies and replacing a downgraded insurer with another provider.

Mr. Brender said the company that the investor group led by Lightyear is contemplating starting up could rapidly capture new business volume by reinsuring Triad policies. But if Triad is unable to write business, "it will take time for the [new company] to get licensed in all the states, for the [new company] to go through the process with the ratings agencies, with Freddie Mac."

Triad's volume of new insurance policies has already fallen sharply. According to the newsletter Inside Mortgage Finance, its market share dropped 7.7 percentage points from a year earlier, to 2.7%, in the first quarter.

Mr. Brender said, "There's probably about five or six points of" loan-by-loan "market share up for grabs now that Triad's in runoff. Whether that's absorbed completely by the other players or" a new company will be "tough to say."

Ranieri Begins Fund to Buy Home Loans

Bloomberg News | Tuesday, May 27, 2008

Lewis Ranieri, the mortgage bond pioneer, is seeking $1 billion to buy residential mortgages.

His Selene Residential Mortgage Opportunity Fund LP raised $151 million from investors in New York, Ohio, and Pennsylvania as of April 15, according to a regulatory filing. Mr. Ranieri, 61, is among the fund's managing partners.

"Our plan is to raise $1 billion and buy delinquent mortgages that we will recast and refinance and try to keep the borrower in the house without a foreclosure," said David Creamer, a Selene managing partner and the former chairman of GMAC Commercial Mortgage Corp. (now Capmark Financial Group Inc.).

Mr. Ranieri helped turn Salomon Brothers Inc. (now a part of Citigroup Inc.) into Wall Street's most profitable firm in the 1980s by packaging mortgages into securities. He moved into the chief executive slot last week at Franklin Bank Corp. in Houston, succeeding Anthony Nocella, after an internal probe found accounting errors related to real-estate loans.

Contractors Are Kept Busy Maintaining Abandoned Homes

By VIKAS BAJAJ

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — The house on East 24th Street was the worst of the six that David Law and Trey McCallister worked on the other day here. The front door had been kicked in so many times that the dead bolt was exposed and bent. Trash littered the front and back yards. A copper pipe was gone.

“Somebody has been trying to destroy this place,” said Mr. McCallister, eyeing the door.

But the two men have seen far worse as they go from one deserted house to another in northern Florida, where the foreclosure crisis has struck particularly hard.

Mortgage companies hire contractors like these men to inspect and maintain houses that once-proud owners can no longer afford and no one else wants. These days, business is brisk.

These contractors and thousands like them see first hand the detritus of the subprime era: peeling paint, gutted interiors, family dogs left behind to starve, overgrown lawns infested with snakes.

In Florida, the crisis can seem overwhelming at times.

It can take months, even years, for some homes to wind through foreclosure in the backlogged local courts.

The longer a home sits vacant, the more vulnerable it becomes.

After a few months, the Florida weather starts to take a toll. Mold and mildew creep. Algae chokes forsaken swimming pools. Sometimes vandals strike. And sometimes wiring or plumbing just give out.

The home on East 24th Street has been vacant for several years, said Gloria Roberts, a next-door neighbor.

Another home that Mr. McCallister and Mr. Law visited in the affluent Sawgrass golf community in the oceanside city of Ponte Vedra Beach was last occupied in December 2006, according to a neighbor there.

Local and state governments have become concerned about the upkeep of foreclosed homes, which can drag down real estate values in neighborhoods and provide havens for drug users and gangs. Over the last year, localities have stepped up code enforcement by levying fines on mortgage companies for the degradation of homes they are repossessing.

The problem of vacant homes is all the more striking when considered against predictions by economists that a couple of million more homes will enter foreclosure in the next two years, said Cheryl Lang, president of Integrated Mortgage Solutions, a company based in Houston that contracts with Mr. McCallister and Mr. Law on behalf of mortgage companies.

CONFIDENTIAL

"We still have two million more people that need to go through this process," she said. "That's like the entire town of Tampa going through foreclosure."

Nearly 3 percent of homes that were once occupied by their owners in the country were vacant in March. That is up from less than 2 percent three years ago and is the highest since the Census Bureau began publishing the number in 1956.

For people like Mr. McCallister and Mr. Law, the surge in foreclosure has been good for business. Tim Doehner, executive director of the National Association of Mortgage Field Services, a trade association based in Ohio, estimates that most of his members have doubled their revenue in the last year. Individual contractors can bill as much as $5,000 every two weeks, said Jimmy Lyons, one of the partners in the firm, Landwise Inspection Services of Lake City, Fla., that Mr. McCallister and Mr. Law work for.

But the rising price of diesel fuel, wood and other supplies cuts sharply into their earnings. Mr. Law said he often spent $140 a day filling his pickup truck, which tows a large trailer that carries a riding lawnmower and other supplies. The contractors cannot easily pass rising costs to lenders because they work under contracts or, in the case of some loans, at rates set by federal agencies.

Still, business is growing and drawing in newcomers.

Mr. Lyons, a former deputy sheriff, entered the home inspection business years ago but branched out into field service work for mortgage companies two years ago when a friend suggested the housing boom would soon give way to a housing bust.

Back then, "I just couldn't see it," Mr. Lyons, 56, said. "It fell exactly like he said it would."

After a quarter century in law enforcement, he still looks and plays the part of the easygoing rural county sheriff and is a reserve officer in Columbia County west of Jacksonville. At one home this month, he scrambled through an open window when the door was bolted while his younger colleagues looked on in amazement.

Mr. Law left a field sales job with the Kellogg Company, the cereal maker, to join Landwise, because he said he was tired of the corporate world. He said taking care of vacant houses could be grueling but also rewarding and allowed him to work by himself, which he said he enjoyed. He often works seven days a week because his employer is often flooded with orders.

"It occupies a lot of my time," he said and added with a laugh, "I don't have much of a life outside of this."

When he arrives at houses, Mr. Law reaches for his digital camera and starts snapping pictures to document his presence and problems that need attention. Mortgage companies require before and after photos to be sent to them electronically before paying for work done to the home.

If it is their first visit to a vacant home, the contractors change the locks on at least one door so the mortgage company can have access. They use locksmith's tools to gain entry to the house, though on some occasions they use open windows, as Mr. Lyons recently did. The contractors board up broken windows, cut the grass and record significant damage. Depending on the extent of the destruction, mortgage companies will commission the contractors to repair the home.

CONFIDENTIAL

At the home on 24th Street, Mr. McCallister, 39, who had worked in the timber business until last year, wedged open the back door with pliers and Mr. Law installed a new lock. The interior of the house was mostly empty and musty. The outside was another story. A large tree branch shared the back yard with an empty propane tank, Styrofoam containers and food wrappers.

After surveying the trash and photographing it, Mr. Law and Mr. McCallister concluded they could not cut the grass without cleaning up the yard. They would have to ask the mortgage company whether it wanted them to remove the trash and how much it would pay for the work.

Contractors say the damage at vacant homes can be significant, though it is not always clear who the culprit is. It could be an angry homeowner upset about losing a home, but it also could be vandals and thieves scouring homes for copper plumbing, which they can sell. To limit losses, a few mortgage companies are making offers called "cash for keys" to delinquent borrowers if they leave their homes quickly and in good shape.

Two of the six homes the contractors visited in the Jacksonville area appeared to be pristine. The two also had for-sale signs from real estate agents, suggesting the borrowers were trying to sell but could not find a buyer before they had to leave.

For the contractors, foreclosures can strike close to home. Mr. Law recently inspected a home across the street from his residence and Mr. McCallister was sent to a home formerly occupied by a family whose daughter was friends with one of his three daughters.

"I was fortunate that everyone was gone," Mr. McCallister said, so he did not have to see his daughter's friend.

In most cases, the contractors do not interact with the homeowners, but sometimes the contractors are present during evictions that are conducted by county sheriffs. Mr. McCallister recalled the eviction of a 60-year-old man who had misread his eviction notice and thought he had one more week to leave.

"He fell down on the floor and started crying," Mr. McCallister said. "We gave him 24 hours and he had his stuff moved out and he found another place to live."

In their work, the contractors come across the everyday debris of human life, from old microwave ovens to couches and a child's cherry-red tricycle. Sometimes they discover abandoned pets. Mr. Law recently found three kittens that he took to a friend who is an animal lover.

Though homes were found for all three of the kittens, many other pets meet a worse fate. Ms. Lang of Integrated Mortgage Solutions has started a nonprofit group, No Paws Left Behind, to find homes for abandoned pets and to offer help with pets to homeowners in foreclosure. She said contractors working for her company had found abandoned animals from birds to horses.

While business may be good for firms like hers, Ms. Lang said it was difficult not to be disenchanted when the housing bust is seen from the street level, as many of her contractors do. Just a few years ago, policy makers and the mortgage industry were celebrating record home ownership rates in the country — a sign that the American dream was within reach for a large majority of the population.

Speaking on the phone two days after Mr. Law and Mr. McCallister's visit to the home on 24th Street, she said the home's condition stuck with her.

"Somewhere along the line someone wrote that property off," she said. "There were birthdays celebrated there and anniversaries and there were lives that were lived there. And now the door is bolted shut."

Auto Industry Feels the Pain of Tight Credit

By ERIC DASH

The auto industry is getting sideswiped by the housing crisis.

Auto lenders and banks, closing their wallets, have prevented hundreds of thousands of consumers from obtaining the financing for a car. Home equity loans, which had been used in at least one of every nine deals, when lenders were more generous, are no longer a source of easy money for many prospective buyers. And used-car prices have fallen nearly 6 percent as repossessed cars and gas-guzzling trucks and S.U.V.'s flood auction lots.

Those forces, on top of the softening economy, are putting enormous pressure on the American auto industry as it faces what may be its worst year in more than a decade. About 15 million vehicles are expected to be sold in 2008, down from 16.2 million last year, as sales reach the lowest levels since 1995, according to the marketing firm J. D. Power & Associates.

The impact on the broader American economy could be profound. Not only is the car a consumer's biggest purchase after the home, but the auto industry remains one of nation's most important economic engines. With less money available to bolster the industry's growth, the businesses that support it are also facing the prospect of a sharp slowdown.

"It is a bleak picture, and it all hinges on the availability of financing," said William Ryan, a financial analyst at Portales Partners who has followed the auto business for years. "The whole universe related to the auto industry is touched in some way — parts suppliers, manufacturers, salespeople, trucking people, the paint and metals industries. Even semiconductors."

Within the auto sector, problems stemming from the continuing tightening of credit have already started to spread. Auto lenders like Chase, Capital One and GMAC are finding it harder and more expensive to obtain money for loans. Profits also look dimmer as the lenders absorb losses from defaults and pull back from making new loans.

Car dealers and manufacturers will probably face months of weaker profits as they offer more incentives to sell new vehicles. Luxury car sales, which provide outsize profits for auto companies, are off 13 percent from last year, according to the Autodata research firm. And consumers, facing potentially higher mortgage payments and $4-a-gallon gas, are delaying purchases of midmarket cars.

"The housing crisis, defined with the credit crisis, has really knocked consumers back on their heels," said Michael J. Jackson, the chairman of AutoNation, the largest automobile retailer.

But the auto industry may not suffer the same severe downturn as the housing sector. One reason is that auto lenders have long issued loans expecting that vehicles, as collateral for the loans, start to lose value as soon as they are driven off the lot. In contrast, mortgage lenders during the housing boom believed that home prices would keep rising.

Still, the parallels are striking. Easy money and lax underwriting helped extend a boom for automakers from 2005 to early 2007. With Detroit pumping out new cars, consumers were encouraged to buy even though they might not have needed a new vehicle.

 CONFIDENTIAL

Now, just as in the housing sector, the auto industry is suffering, too.

Borrowers are falling behind on their car payments at a rate faster than in other recent downturns. And losses are considerably worse. Auto lenders sustained losses on about 3.4 percent of their loans in the first quarter, a rate about 30 percent higher than in 2002, according to data from Moody's Economy.com. Even some of the most creditworthy borrowers are stressed.

Recently there have been a few small signs of improvement. But auto lenders have struggled to find investors willing to buy packages of new loans. Just as in the mortgage markets, a sterling credit rating — the bond insurer's seal of approval — is no longer trusted.

"It's a challenge, but it's not a crisis," said William F. Muir, president of GMAC, the financing arm of General Motors that is now operated as a joint venture.

As the pool of money available to auto lenders has dried up, they have cut back on making new loans. Since late last year, nearly every auto finance company has tightened its lending standards. They are forcing borrowers to put more money down. They are also demanding higher monthly payments and requiring stronger credit records and more stringent documentation.

Subprime auto lenders have been forced to pull back the most. AmeriCredit, a big subprime finance company, said it would issue about $3 billion in new auto loans this year, compared with $9.2 billion in 2007. That translates into around 340,000 fewer vehicles being financed this year. But lenders catering to less risky borrowers are also retrenching.

"Capital One is pulling back, Citi is pulling back, HSBC and Wells Fargo are pulling back," said Mr. Ryan, the analyst. So are the finance entities that serve the major automakers, like GMAC, Chrysler Financial and Ford Motor Credit. "What you are seeing at AmeriCredit is probably happening everywhere else, but probably to a lesser degree."

Many dealers say that buyers who would have been shoo-ins for a loan a year ago are now being turned away. Ken Somerville, business manager at Pedigo Chevrolet in Indianapolis, said the tougher standards were having a "significant impact" on his ability to help customers get financing and close a sale.

"Chances are, if we can't help them, they've already been somewhere else that couldn't either," he said.

Some of the biggest drops in car sales have been in areas where home prices have fallen most sharply. The housing boom created thousands of jobs, robust consumer confidence and strong demand for pickup trucks. Today, that has all vanished.

As home values have declined, millions of consumers have maxed out on home equity debt. In hot markets like California, nearly 30 percent of all consumers tapped into the value of their homes to help finance their new cars, according to CNW Marketing Research. In Florida, about 20 percent used home equity loans. New car sales in both states are down about 7 percent.

Those areas are also seeing surges in repossessed vehicles. Bill Glover, a veteran repo man in Fort Meyers, Fla., says he has recovered more than 100 cars a week since October, doubling his usual business. "I'm picking up 2008s already," he said.

 CONFIDENTIAL

In the past, Mr. Glover mostly took back cars from borrowers with sketchy credit who habitually fell behind on their car payments. But that circle has widened. "Lately what we're picking up is crew-cab pickup trucks," Mr. Glover said, "and anything having to do with construction."

The rise in recovered vehicles, along with tighter loan terms and weak demand from buyers, has put pressure on the used-car market too. In April, sale prices dropped 5.9 percent from a year earlier, with S.U.V.'s and pickup trucks plummeting even more, according to the Manheim Used Vehicle Value index, a widely followed measure that was not adjusted for seasonal differences. Prices had been rising for more than four years until last fall.

Analysts say there are few signs that this downward spiral will end soon. At the Midwest Auto Auction lot in the Detroit suburbs, there were plenty of deals one recent Friday morning.

Drivers shuffled more than 180 vehicles across the auction lot in two lines as the auctioneer, Ed Dunn, wearing an ivory cowboy hat from his perch above the floor, bellowed their make, model and year.

The first car up for sale was a 2007 Lincoln MKZ luxury sedan with leather seats, which had been repossessed by a local credit union. But there were no bids. So Mr. Dunn lowered the starting price again and again.

At long last, somebody bid $13,200 for the car. Sold? Sure. But at roughly $10,000 below its Kelley Blue Book value.

 Education Department Commits to Buy
 Student Loans From Worried Lenders

The Bush administration has offered to come to the rescue of student lenders on the verge of exiting the market by committing to purchase loans from the lenders for the 2008-2009 academic year.

The offer, announced in a letter May 21 by Secretary of Education Margaret Spellings, also includes a facility for providing short-term liquidity to lenders lacking access to affordable capital due to disruptions in the credit markets.

"Currently, some lenders do not have access to funds at a cost that justifies originating new loans," the Education Department said in its announcement. "Our plan is designed to provide viability in the marketplace for those lenders who step up and make loans in this difficult environment."

The department said in addition, that it was committed to continue working with lenders "to explore ways to reengage capital markets; a strengthened lender-of-last-resort program to help insure students against shifting market forces; and increased Direct Loan capacity should it be needed to serve as an extra cushion for students."

Spellings, in her letter, said, "Over the past several months, I have worked closely with Secretary [Henry] Paulson and others in the Administration to closely monitor events in the federal student loan market and actively engage the student loan community on our mutual goal of ensuring continued access to federal student loans for students and families.

"At the same time, while offering these short-term solutions, we can also consider this a teachable moment that speaks to broader, long-term flaws in our complex and outdated financial system. This system has been crying out for reform for years, and especially in light of the ever-increasing cost higher education, students and families are counting on us to provide it," Spellings wrote.

Terms to Be Set

Final terms and conditions for the loan purchase program will be published in the Federal Register, the department said, along with the methodology for determining cost neutrality. "The Department will offer to purchase new loans from lenders participating in the Federal Family Education Loan Program at a price designed to ensure that lenders will be able to recoup their investments," the department said.

The department said it would also purchase participation interests in pools of loans made by lenders for the 2008-09 academic year. The department will hold these participation interests up to Sept. 30, 2009. These participation interests will be priced to yield the department the commercial paper rate plus 50 basis points.

If necessary, the department said it would provide federal advances to guaranty agencies so that they can make lender-of-last-resort loans to students who are otherwise unable to obtain conventional loans.

"Although our goal is to keep the use of the lender-of-last-resort program at an absolute minimum, the Department has taken the prudent steps necessary to ensure that the program can accommodate a larger volume of loans if needed," the department said.

Loan Programs Will Leave Some Students Behind

By Jane Bryant Quinn
 Sunday, May 25, 2008; F01

How bad is the student loan market, really? That depends on who you are.

Traditional, dependent students, with creditworthy families, should find enough money for school year 2008-09 without much trouble, although they will probably pay higher fees than they did last year.

Independent students with modest credit histories and no co-signer will have a harder time, especially if they are starting their freshman year.

Students attending for-profit career schools and some community colleges may have to scramble.

Parents with minor delinquencies will be allowed to borrow through the federal program, but those caught in the foreclosure trap will be shut out.

About 70 private and nonprofit lenders -- including one-third of the top 100 -- have quit offering government-insured loans through the Federal Family Education Loan Program, or FFEL. FFEL includes Stafford loans (for students) and PLUS loans (for parents). The lenders can't raise all the money they need to keep their programs going at a profit because of the turmoil in credit markets. A new federal program is stepping into the breach, but it won't help everyone.

About 1,990 lenders remain in the market, a few big but most of them small. College financial aid officers will expand the list of banks and other sources they work with. The aid office should be your first call when you are rounding up money. Schools need to find you a loan so that you can pay the tuition.

Still, some families who typically borrow through FFEL -- especially parent loans -- are going to be squeezed out, says Mark Kantrowitz of FinAid.org, a leading site for information on scholarships and loans.

The government also runs a Direct Loan Program. It lets parents and students borrow directly from the Education Department, bypassing the banks. About 1,100 schools already participate in Direct Loan. Because of the failures in the private market, about 350 have newly applied to join. If your school offers this option, all students can borrow the maximum allowed.

It's borrowers in the private, FFEL market who might face rejection. Here's who is at risk:

- Students with low credit scores -- lower than 650 or even 700 (out of a maximum 850). They probably have too much credit card debt or several missed payments. Last year, they could get a loan. Not this year.
- New borrowers. They stand last in line. Lenders with limited funds will first use the money to get current borrowers through school. If they graduate, they're more likely to repay their loans.
- Students at schools with high default rates -- typically, two-year for-profit colleges, online schools or community colleges serving lower-income people. The students may be smart and ambitious but they will be tainted by the place where they have chosen to study. Two-year loans are also less profitable for the banks.

Parents with "adverse credit histories." Federal low-interest plus loans require a credit check, even in the Direct Loan Program. They're allowed a few late payments but a foreclosure or bankruptcy will keep them out of the program for the next five years. That endangers the future education of children as young as 13.

Formerly, money was plentiful for student loans. Lenders bundled them into AAA-rated securities and sold them to investors. But the market has turned a cold shoulder to FFEL loans originated since Oct. 1, Kantrowitz says. The cost of funds is now running too high to make them profitable.

A new law lets the government buy FFEL student loans from the lenders that originated them. That will inject money into the market, to be used for creating additional loans.

The government said last week what it would pay FFEL lenders who want to participate. The program has to operate at no cost to taxpayers, which means that the offer is pretty low.

It might induce lenders with no other source of funds to keep making student loans while waiting for the financial markets to recover, says Harrison Wadsworth, special counsel to the Consumer Bankers Association. At the bigger banks, they're still running the numbers to see if the aid is enough to make their programs profitable.

The banks have yet another gripe. Effective last October, Congress raised the fees paid by private lenders to participate in FFEL and reduced government subsidies. The banks are using the credit squeeze to argue that they should get their subsidies back. On this point, Congress shouldn't budge. Big lenders didn't start leaving the program until the markets went bad. When they recover, the current level of subsidies will be enough.

What will students pay this year?

If their schools switched to direct loans, they will owe higher fees than FFEL lenders charged last year -- typically 2 percent. The upside is that interest rates on subsidized Stafford loans, for needy students, will drop to 6 percent on July 1, compared with 6.8 percent previously.

FFEL lenders that previously charged no upfront fees may be raising them to 2 percent.

Students who need to borrow more than FFEL turn to banks for "alternative" loans, where rates run up to 15 percent, depending on credit scores. There, the government won't help. You are on your own.

This Hits Home

Foreclosure is a complicated business. Just ask Rep. Laura Richardson, a first-term Democrat from Long Beach, Calif.

It's unclear just what happened but the local press reported that Washington Mutual Inc. was pursuing Rep. Richardson for as much as $578,384 in unpaid debt on a home in Sacramento, and that the house was sold by auction May 7 for $388,001.

The next day the House voted on housing-rescue legislation, but Rep. Richardson did not vote. The local press said she recused herself due to her personal housing problems.

But in a statement Wednesday, Rep. Richardson denied the recusal, and said she missed the vote to attend her father's funeral. She also denied Wamu had foreclosed on her.

"The residential property in Sacramento California is not in foreclosure and has not been seized by the bank," she said in a statement. "I have worked with my lender to complete a loan modification and have renegotiated the terms of the agreement — with no special provisions. I fully intend to fulfill all financial obligations of this property."

Surprise Question

Federal Reserve Board Gov. Kevin Warsh thought he would end on an easy note in the Q&A after a speech Wednesday. He was wrong.

Mr. Warsh called on Karen Thomas, the director of government relations at the Independent Community Bankers of America. Since she had sat at his table during the Exchequer Club luncheon, Mr. Warsh apparently thought their pleasantries had earned him a softball.

But Ms. Thomas zinged him by asking what the Fed is doing to prevent its examiners from going overboard and forcing community banks to cut back on lending.

Mr. Warsh quipped: "Karen and I had a really nice discussion over lunch about all sorts of things. ... For the final question I figured I would call on someone who might save me.

"That apparently didn't work as well as I would have liked," he said to laughter.

Mr. Warsh did answer the question, and arguably to Ms. Thomas' liking.

"We've been very focused on trying to make sure that credit is available," he said, noting that most community banks steered clear of the exotic products that examiners are targeting for extra scrutiny.

Supervisors' Slate

The Conference of State Bank Supervisors announced its 2008-2009 board and officers and installed them Wednesday. North Dakota Commissioner of Financial Institutions Timothy J. Karsky is the new chairman, taking over from Jeffrey C. Vogel, the Wyoming state banking commissioner.

North Carolina Commissioner of Banks Joseph A. Smith Jr. is chairman-elect, meaning he is in line to lead the group next year.

Thomas B. Gronstal, the Iowa superintendent of banking, was elected vice chairman and Louisiana Commissioner of Financial Institutions John P. Ducrest was installed as the board's secretary.

Massachusetts Commissioner of Banks Steven L. Antonakes retained his role as treasurer.

Other appointments included Cordell G. Lawrence, executive director of the Kentucky Office of Financial Institutions, as co-chair of CSBS' Bankers Advisory Board. The banker co-chairman is Donald A. Pape, the chairman of Republic Bank and Trust in Norman, Okla. Maryland Office of Financial Regulation Commissioner Sarah Bloom Raskin was elected chairman of the CSBS Legislative Committee.

FYI, below. The latest Richardson update.....

By Paul Eakins, Staff Writer

LONG BEACH - Car trouble takes on a new meaning when it comes to financially distressed Congresswoman Laura Richardson.

In 2005, when she was still on the Long Beach City Council, she left one mechanic in a lurch with an unpaid bill, then later had her badly damaged BMW towed to an auto body shop but didn't pay for any work and abandoned the car there, owners of the businesses said this week.

The next day, Richardson began using a city-owned vehicle - putting almost 31,000 miles on it in about a year - and continued driving the car five days after she had left the council to serve in the state Assembly, city records show.

Richardson, 46, didn't return phone calls seeking comment this week.

These are just the newest revelations of Richardson's ongoing financial problems and instances of her unpaid debts.

Last month, it was reported that Richardson's Sacramento home, where she had lived during her brief Assembly stint before moving on to Congress, had fallen into foreclosure and been sold at auction. Further investigation revealed she had defaulted on that house and two others in Long Beach and San Pedro a total of eight times since 2004.

Meanwhile, Richardson was lending money to her campaigns as she embarked on an unprecedented rise to power from council to Assembly to Congress in one year. On Tuesday, she won the Democratic nomination to serve her first full, two-year term in Congress, and she is unchallenged in the November general election.

Unpaid and abandoned

Richardson's car problems all started with a shimmy.

In October 2005, her 1999 four-door 740iL BMW had an odd vibration in the front, so she took it to Signal Hill Foreign Auto Service, according to Leo Labreche, the shop owner.

Mechanics there fixed the car and replaced some worn parts, but when Richardson picked up her vehicle, she said she didn't have the money to pay the $735 bill, Labreche said. Because Richardson was a council member, Labreche let her take the car, assuming that she was good for the money, he said.

"She had picked the car up and was going to come back and pay the bill, and she never did," Labreche said.

Labreche said he spent months leaving messages on Richardson's cell phone voice mail, then he got a collection agency involved, but still the bill went unpaid.

"I couldn't get through to her, and then when the collection agency couldn't do anything, I thought, 'There's nothing I'm going to be able to do,'" Labreche said.

But on Tuesday, after the Press-Telegram requested an interview with Richardson to discuss the 2 1/2-year-old unpaid bill, she went to the auto shop and paid Labreche, he said.

Similarly, Richardson last week paid off a $150 printing bill owed to a local company following published reports about the debt.

Richardson also settled a bill Tuesday with another mechanic, Alvin's Auto Body in Signal Hill, only this time she came out ahead, in a sense.

About one month after Richardson had taken her BMW to Labreche for work, she got into a car accident that tore up the front left corner of her car, leaving it undriveable.

She initially had it towed back to Labreche for repairs, even though she still owed him money. But Labreche doesn't do auto body work.

So the car was sent to Alvin's Auto Body, which received the BMW on Nov. 17, 2005, according to owner Bob Lillegard.

But Lillegard never heard from Richardson or her insurance company, he said.

"I'd call her office, and they'd say she was too busy," Lillegard said. "I couldn't get through to her."

The BMW's extensive damage would have cost about $9,000 to repair, Lillegard said, which he suggested might have been more than the car was worth. The "Kelley Blue Book" Web site says a 1999 740iL BMW with standard options and 100,000 miles has a retail value of about $15,000 today.

In December 2005, Lillegard filed for a mechanic's lien on Richardson's car to pay the towing, storage and administrative costs, he said. Lillegard said the lien was finalized in February 2006 and he sold the car to a junkyard, though a few days later - too late - Richardson sent him money to put toward the bill.

The junkyard bought the BMW for $3,500, so Lillegard took the $2,100 he said was owed him, and when Richardson went to the body shop on Tuesday, he paid her the difference, he said.

A city ride

After the accident that led to Richardson abandoning her car, she apparently was without transportation.

So, on Nov. 18, one day after her BMW was towed to Lillegard's shop, she checked out a city-owned Toyota Prius to use for her council business, according to city Fleet Services Bureau records cited by city spokeswoman Meredith Reynolds.

Reynolds said that the Prius was issued to Richardson that day, and that it was returned more than a year later, a few days after Richardson had ended her council tenure.

In a letter acquired by the Press-Telegram from then-City Manager Jerry Miller to Richardson dated Dec. 5, 2006, Miller asks Richardson to return her city vehicle, identified as a Prius.

According to the letter, Richardson's last day as a council member was Dec. 3, 2006. She was sworn into the Assembly the following day.

City Fleet Services records show that Richardson turned in the car on Dec. 8, 2006, Reynolds said.

During the one year and almost three weeks that Richardson had the Prius, she drove it 30,920 miles, Reynolds said. That amounts to an average of more than 80 miles per day, or about 2,400 miles per month, for Richardson's part-time council job in a 50-square-mile city.

By comparison, the only other two council members who used city vehicles during part or all of the same time period averaged 300 miles per month in one case and less than 400 miles per month in the other, according to figures provided by Reynolds.

Council members can either use their own vehicles for council business and receive a monthly car allowance from the city, or they may use city vehicles. However, city policy doesn't allow city vehicles to be used for personal use.

Richardson has never been shy about using city cars.

In 2001 and 2002, she had the highest vehicle expenses of any council member, in part by putting nearly 7,000 personal miles on her car in 2002. At the time, she and other council members told the Press-Telegram that they hadn't been aware of the no-personal-use rule.

In 2003, Richardson had been using a gas-guzzling Ford Expedition owned by the city, but switched to a Toyota Solara to save money. She told the Press-Telegram then that she soon would stop using a city vehicle altogether and would switch to a monthly car allowance.

She scrapped that effort in 2005 when she left her BMW at the auto body shop and again got behind the wheel of a city car.

We may learn more about Rep. Laura Richardson's (D-Calif.) home foreclosure problems Monday, when House members' annual financial reports are scheduled to be released.

Richardson filed her report on time rather than seeking an extension, her spokesman, William Marshall, tells On the Hill. But Marshall says he can "neither confirm nor deny" whether the disclosure report will reflect the full extent of the beleaguered congresswoman's financial woes, which include foreclosure on one home and loan defaults on two others.

Marshall declined to answer questions about how Richardson, who won a special election last August, wound up in such dire straits. She lost her Sacramento home to foreclosure after failing to make payments, at the same time that she reportedly owed Sacramento County some $9,000 in property taxes and defaulted on loans six times on two other California homes.

In the meantime, however, Richardson rose in one year from Long Beach councilwoman to state assemblywoman to a member of the U.S. Congress.

According to the Long Beach Press-Telegram, Richardson also failed to pay hundreds of dollars worth of car repairs to one mechanic, then ultimately abandoned the car at another auto body shop.

Yesterday, the story took a new twist. The Los Angeles Times reported that the home Richardson lost in foreclosure could be returned to her, because the lender, Washington Mutual <script:void(0)>, filed a letter of rescission of the foreclosure sale and asked the new owner for the keys back.

"They took the property back, and they didn't even send back the money," the new owner, real estate investor James York, told the Times. "It's clear what's happening is Ms. Richardson is abusing her political power and using it for her own political needs," he said. "You don't have to be smart to understand what's happening."

Richardson isn't saying anything. Referring to the congresswoman's lender, her spokesman told us, "This is about Washington Mutual. <script:void(0)>." He urged us to call Washington Mutual <script:void(0)> for comment. But a Washington Mutual <script:void(0)> spokeswoman told us she couldn't comment on the foreclosure sale because Congresswoman Richardson "has not provided us with authorization to publicly discuss her loan."

The left-leaning watchdog group Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington calls Richardson a "deadbeat congresswoman."

All:

So you are aware, I just received a call from a producer with CNN re: Congresswoman Richardson's "debacle." Apparently, CNN's Campbell Brown plans to discuss the Congresswoman's situation during tomorrow's 8 p.m Eastern broadcast.

The producer said she's been tasked with cross-checking the accuracy of Ms. Richardson's statements with WaMu, at which point I informed her that we have not received consent from Ms. Richardson that would allow us to discuss her loan situation.

At that point, she informed me that CNN has talked with a forensic accountant. Based on his/her analysis of Ms. Richardson's financial situation, the accountant has "determined" that the Congresswoman probably shouldn't have qualified for the (WaMu) loan in the first place.

I'll keep you informed as I learn more. I expect to receive an update from CNN tomorrow.

Best,

Sara

I have checked with Kim, we tried to work a modification, unfortunately she had a deficit monthly of over $2,100. We placed the original foreclosure sale date on hold for 30 days in April. The loan went to sale on 5/7/08, third party outbid.

Sara, please feel free to give Kim or I a call if you need to discuss.

Brad -

Please see the article embedded below for more detail, but long story short, Congresswoman Laura Richardson appears to have defaulted on her WaMu loan (second home) and on March 19, a notice was filed with the county that her property would be sold at auction.

Congresswoman Richardson initially declined to comment, however, Jan Owen has learned from the Congresswoman that she plans to communicate to The Washington Post that she has established a repayment plan with WaMu.

Would you please look into Congresswoman Richardson's situation as soon as possible so that we understand the facts? Her loan number is [REDACTED]

Many thanks,

Sara

Foreclosure tale shows that nobody is immune from crisis

By Anthony York (published Tuesday, May 20, 2008)

As the real estate market softened in 2007, the new owner of a three-bedroom, 1,600-square-foot house in Sacramento's Curtis Park neighborhood ran into trouble. The house that was purchased for $535,000 in January had lost equity. The owner fell behind in her payments, and eventually, the bank seized the home.

What makes this story different from the thousands like it is that the owner of this house was a member of Congress.

The story of the foreclosure of Long Beach Democrat Laura Richardson's Sacramento home is a tale of a real estate market gone sour. It is also an illustration of how far many candidates will go to seek elected office, even if it means quite literally mortgaging their own financial future.

While being elevated to Congress in a 2007 special election, Richardson apparently stopped making payments on her new Sacramento home, and eventually walked away from it, leaving nearly $600,000 in unpaid loans and fees.

Richardson's decision to let the house slip into foreclosure was set in motion by an unlikely chain of events, only some of which had to do with Sacramento's crumbling real estate market. Richardson was elected to the Assembly in November 2006, and purchased her new capital home two months later. But in April 2007, Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald succumbed to cancer, creating a Congressional vacancy in Richardson's district.

Richardson declared her candidacy for the seat, and soon found herself locked in a hotly contested, and very expensive race for Congress against state Sen. Jenny Oropeza, D-Long Beach.

While her campaign heated up, Richardson's house slipped into default. Richardson fell behind on her mortgage payments as she loaned her Congressional campaign $60,000 - money that has begun to be paid back to Richardson personally from her campaign account, according to records from the Center for Responsive Politics.

Richardson's opponent, Oropeza, loaned herself $115,000 for her run against Richardson. Oropeza's Congressional committee still shows nearly $200,000 in debt.

Richardson declined to comment for this story.

But tax records at the Sacramento County assessor's office show that in January 2007, Richardson took out a mortgage for the entire sale price of the house -- $535,000. The mortgage amount was equal to the sale price of the home, meaning she was able to buy the house without a down payment, even though the housing market was beginning to turn.

A March 19, 2008 notice of trustee's sale indicates that the unpaid balance of Richardson's loan, which is held by Washington Mutual, is more than $578,000 - $40,000 more than the original mortgage.

The Curtis Park house is not Richardson's primary residence. She also owns a four-bedroom house in Long Beach, in her Congressional district. Real estate records show she purchased that house in 1999 for $135,000. An estimate from Zillow.com puts the current value of that house at $474,000.

Like many homes that have gone through foreclosure, Richardson's new residence quickly became an eyesore. With Richardson gone, upkeep on the home lapsed, and neighbors began to get angry.

"The neighbors are extremely unhappy with her," said Sharon Helmar, who sold the home to Richardson. "She didn't mow the lawn or take out the garbage while she was there. We lived there for a long time, 30 years, and we had to hide our heads whenever we came back to the neighborhood."

Helmar and her husband, Mark, sold the Curtis Park home to Richardson because Sharon's arthritis required the couple to move into a one-story house. With the area's real estate market slowing down, the house remained on the market for months, and the Helmars, who lived in the house for more than 30 years, were getting desperate to sell.

Helmer said that she has never met Richardson personally, but dealt with Richardson through her realtor. The Helmars wound up giving Richardson $15,000 toward closing costs, she said.

And she is still angry over what happened to a home that clearly she never really wanted to leave. "It's kind of silly. You would think people who are making decisions for others would be able to make good decisions for themselves," she said. "She should have known what she could afford and not afford. In this neighborhood, you just don't do that."

While Richardson walked away from her loan, she bested Oropeza in a June special election, and moved on to Congress. As a member of Congress, Richardson has been asked to vote on legislation pertaining to the spike in foreclosures around the country.

On the biggest pieces of legislation having to do with government bailouts for people whose homes have entered foreclosure, Richardson has recused herself. She did not vote on legislation by Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass, which would direct $2.7 billion in government funds to help an estimated 500,000 homeowners who are at risk of foreclosure.

Richardson also did not vote on a measure by Rep. Maxine Waters, D-Los Angeles, that would give local governments $15 billion to purchase, rehab and resell foreclosed properties.

While Richardson walked away from her bank loan, she has begun to pay herself back for the money she personally invested in her initial race. Records show that Richardson spent $587,000 out of her Congressional campaign committee since declaring her Congressional candidacy through March of this year. Of those expenditures, Richardson has spent $18,000 of that money to begin repaying herself for the money Richardson loaned to her campaign.

According to documents at the Sacramento County Clerk's office, Richardson first received a default notice in late 2007. By December 2007, less than a year after Richardson purchased the house, she was behind in her payments by more than $18,000.

Three months later, on March 19, a notice was filed with the county that Richardson's property would be sold at auction. According to the documents, the unpaid balance and other charges Richardson owed the bank was $587,384.

Additionally, here are a few statements Congresswoman Richardson issued on Saturday rather than interviewing for the LA Times article:

* "As I noted in my statements earlier this week, due to multiple job changes, divorce, illness/death, and nine campaigns over the last ten years, these major life-changing moments have come at great personal expense and at challenging financial strain," Richardson said in a statement Saturday.

* "Instead of politicizing a personal housing crisis (two personal properties that are current and the third that is being challenged by my lender questioning the validity of its sale), I have been transparent with this matter and share with my constituents the anguish that the housing industry is in a severe crisis," Richardson said.

* (Other commentary) Richardson has acknowledged using her money to finance her campaigns and falling behind in mortgage payments. She claimed her Sacramento house was sold into foreclosure without her knowledge, contending she had renegotiated her loan to pay it off.

Buyer sues Calif. congresswoman over foreclosure

By JULIET WILLIAMS Associated Press Writer
 Article Launched: 06/13/2008 05:40:18 PM PDT

SACRAMENTO-A Sacramento investor who bought the foreclosed home of Rep. Laura Richardson has filed a lawsuit against the congresswoman and her bank for rescinding the sale.

James York claims Richardson used her influence as a congresswoman to force Washington Mutual Inc. and a subsidiary to back out of the sale.

York, who operates Red Rock Mortgage Inc., bought the foreclosed home in an upper-middle class Sacramento neighborhood at auction in May for $388,000 after Richardson failed to make her mortgage payments.

In the lawsuit filed in Sacramento County Superior Court, York is seeking to have the house returned to him, as well as punitive damages and costs. He also claims the bank acted with malice after the legitimate sale of the house.

The Associated Press obtained a copy of his lawsuit on Friday, the day the defendants were served.

Richardson, a Democrat from Long Beach, previously told the AP that the house was sold without her knowledge and after the bank agreed to hold off on any action until at least June.

She bought the house in January 2007 for $535,000, a few months after she was elected to the state Assembly. She took out an adjustable-rate mortgage with an interest rate that could vary between 8.8 percent and 14 percent, according to documents filed with York's lawsuit.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, said the congresswoman had not been notified of the lawsuit. He declined further comment.

In an interview Friday with the AP, York said he believes Washington Mutual's trustee rescinded the sale solely because Richardson is a member of Congress. He said the savings and loan would not have done that for an average person.

York said he tried to negotiate a settlement but was rebuffed.

"They rescinded the notice of trustee sale and put it back in her name before even telling me," he said. "It's not a difficult case. It's a valid sale."

A spokeswoman for Washington Mutual, Sara Gaugl, said the company would have no comment because Richardson had not authorized it to speak about her case.

Richardson, 46, was a member of the Long Beach City Council when she won the Assembly seat in November 2006, months before she bought the three-bedroom, 1 1/2-bath Sacramento home. She won the congressional seat the next year in a special election to replace the late Juanita Millender-McDonald.

Richardson has acknowledged turmoil in her life during the short time she went from the city council to the state Assembly to Congress. She said she used her own money to finance her campaigns and fell behind in mortgage and property tax payments.

A default notice sent in March put her unpaid balance on the 1,600-square-foot home at $578,384.

Richardson's financial troubles appear to run deeper, however. The Long Beach Press-Telegram has reported that Richardson has two other homes in San Pedro and Long Beach that have fallen into default six times. Five of the defaults, totaling nearly $71,000, occurred in the last 13 months.

The newspaper also reported that Richardson has a history of not paying other bills, including failure to pay for car repairs and campaign fliers.

The congresswoman told the AP she believed she had worked out a deal with Washington Mutual to renegotiate her loan on the Sacramento home and pay it off. She also said she intended to pay the nearly $9,000 in delinquent property taxes.

In the notice of rescission filed as an exhibit in York's lawsuit, the trustee company acknowledges it "had previously agreed to postpone the foreclosure sale until June 4, 2008."

Meanwhile, York said in the lawsuit that he has already started making repairs to the house, including painting, restoring the floors, landscaping and general clean-up that have "significantly increased its value."

He argues it would be unfair to give the house back to Richardson in better condition than she lost it. The amount of money he has spent on the repairs was not specified.

Richardson makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

The home, built in 1926, is in Sacramento's Curtis Park, a desirable, upper middle-class neighborhood near downtown that sits under a canopy of decades-old trees.

Not long after getting to Congress, Richardson voted in favor of the Mortgage Forgiveness Debt Relief Act of 2007, which subsequently became law. It allows homeowners to escape paying income taxes on debts forgiven by a lender, as happens in foreclosure. She has said she would like to testify before Congress as someone victimized by the nation's mortgage crisis.

York notes in his lawsuit that the house now has a cloud over it-making it more difficult to sell if it is eventually returned to him.

"If I had known it was this congresswoman's house, I probably never would have bought it," York said in the telephone interview.

Buyer sues Calif. congresswoman over foreclosure

By JULIET WILLIAMS - 18 hours ago

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - An investor who bought a congresswoman's foreclosed home filed a lawsuit against the legislator and her bank for rescinding the sale.

James York had purchased the home at auction in May for $388,000 after Rep. Laura Richardson failed to make her mortgage payments. He claims Richardson used her influence as a congresswoman to force Washington Mutual Inc. and a subsidiary to later back out of the sale.

"They rescinded the notice of trustee sale and put it back in her name before even telling me," York said. "It's not a difficult case. It's a valid sale."

His lawsuit in Sacramento County Superior Court seeks to have the house returned to him, as well as punitive damages and costs.

Richardson, a Democrat from Long Beach, bought the house in January 2007 for $535,000. She previously told The Associated Press that it was sold without her knowledge and after the bank agreed to delay action.

The lawsuit was served to the defendants Friday.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, said the congresswoman had not seen it and declined to comment. A spokeswoman for Washington Mutual, Sara Gaugl, said the company would have no comment because Richardson had not authorized it to speak about her case.

Richardson mum in the face of mounting pressure

By Jared Allen

Posted: 06/13/08 11:50 AM [ET]

Embattled Rep. Laura Richardson (D-Calif.) remained mum on Friday following more news about her personal housing crisis and a warning from House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) to put her fiscal house back in order.

Richardson, who has dodged repeated calls for information regarding her multiple defaults on three home mortgages and her financial disclosure reports, failed to report a heavily indebted mortgage on her initial 2007 financial statement.

Official financial reports for House members will be released on Monday, and it remains to be seen if Richardson's official report will have been amended from the one she previously filed.

However, Pelosi issued a warning to Richardson on Thursday that she risks whatever repercussions may come from failing to disclose her assets and liabilities to the letter of the law.

"Every member of Congress is responsible for living up to the highest ethical standard, to having the fullest disclosure of his or her assets, as is required by law," Pelosi said at her weekly news conference. "And many people in our country are caught in a foreclosure crisis. Members of Congress maybe are as well."

After falling too far behind on mortgage payments on a home she purchased in Sacramento in January 2007, Richardson was forced to watch the home sold at auction last month.

In the aftermath, it was revealed that Richardson has defaulted on mortgages for three California homes since 1999.

According to records pulled from Los Angeles and Sacramento counties, Richardson has defaulted five separate times on her primary residence in Long Beach, a home she purchased in 1999 and refinanced in the summer of 2006 for a new $446,250 mortgage.

The prior summer, Richardson took out a loan from Wells Fargo, in the amount of $359,000, to purchase a second home in San Pedro.

After defaulting twice - in September 2007 and again in January - and owing $367,436 on an original loan of $369,000, Richardson received notice from her lender in April that her San Pedro home was going to be sold at auction. According to reports, that auction is scheduled for July 14.

But it is Richardson's Sacramento home that has garnered the most attention, and places her in the most immediate risk as a member of Congress who is bound by federal law to disclose certain assets and liabilities.

According to Richardson's 2007 financial disclosure statement - which she filed in February - she failed to report her Sacramento home mortgage as a liability even though she owed $40,000 more than she paid for the home, which was purchased in January of that year.

By the end of 2007 - which marks the end of the 2007 financial disclosure reporting period - Richardson had accumulated $575,000 in total debt after failing to make payments on her original $535,000 mortgage, according to Sacramento County records.

Financial disclosure laws require members of Congress to report home mortgages as liabilities if indebtedness exceeds the purchase prices of the item, and congressional ethics and finance experts have said that, on a plain reading of the law, Richardson was required to disclose such an indebted mortgage as a liability.

Under the section of the report for liabilities, Richardson simply lists, "N/A."

A senior House Democrat close to leadership on Thursday afternoon said he had spoken to Richardson about the matter and she had assured him that, with regard to her Sacramento home, the "bank screwed up."

On Wednesday the Los Angeles Times reported that James York, the real estate investor who bought Richardson's Sacramento home at a May 7 auction for $388,000, is now claiming that Richardson's lender, Washington Mutual, reclaimed the property on behalf of Richardson. York had recorded the deed on May 19 and had begun renovations, the Times reported.

"They took the property back, and they didn't even send back the money," York was quoted in the Times. "It's clear what's happening is Ms. Richardson is abusing her political power and using it for her own political needs."

Pelosi comments on Laura Richardson defaults

By Erica Werner The Associated Press

<http://www.daillybreeze.com/cl_9564107>

WASHINGTON - House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, asked Thursday about fellow California Democratic Rep. Laura Richardson's multiple home defaults, said that "every member of Congress is responsible for living up to the highest ethical standards."

Pelosi said she was not familiar with the details of the controversy surrounding Richardson, who won a special election last year to replace the late Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald in the 37th Congressional District in Long Beach.

But every lawmaker must make "the fullest disclosure of his or her assets as is required by law," Pelosi said.

"Many people in our country are caught in the foreclosure crisis. Members of Congress maybe are as well," she added.

Late last month reports emerged that Richardson, a former state Assemblywoman and member of the Long Beach City Council, had lost her Sacramento home to foreclosure and has two other homes in Southern California that have fallen into default six times.

Last week the Long Beach Press-Telegram reported that Richardson had also left car repair bills unpaid.

Richardson easily won her Democratic primary June 3 and is running unopposed in the November general election, although at least one of her Democratic primary opponents is making plans to challenge her as a write-in candidate.

Richardson defended herself after the first reports of the foreclosure on her Sacramento home, saying it never should have happened and she'd worked out a deal with her lender to buy it back. However the purchaser of the property, James York of Red Rock Mortgage in Sacramento, complained in published reports this week that Richardson had been given favorable terms because she's a congresswoman and that he planned to sue over the issue.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, had no immediate comment Thursday.

California Assembly Speaker Karen Bass, D-Los Angeles, also addressed the Richardson situation Thursday during a visit to Washington. Bass and other Assembly leaders had endorsed Richardson's congressional bid but Bass told reporters she'd had no idea about Richardson's financial issues.

Richardson had a quick rise in politics, moving from the Long Beach City Council to a state Assembly seat in 2006 and to Congress the next year.

"Given the rapid pace of all of that I can understand the financial difficulties, but now more is coming out," Bass said. She said she'd hoped while in Washington to talk to Richardson about the situation but hadn't had the opportunity.

Richardson's loan was subprime - Press Telegram (Long Beach)

By Gene Maddaus, Staff Writer

Rep. Laura Richardson took out a subprime loan to buy her Sacramento house, suggesting she probably was a poor credit risk even before her recent string of loan defaults.

Richardson, D-Long Beach, has defaulted on all three of her homes, and lost the one in Sacramento in a foreclosure auction. She is now engaged in a legal battle with the new owner of the home, after her lender, Washington Mutual Bank, filed to rescind the sale.

James York, owner of Red Rock Mortgage Inc., filed a lawsuit on Thursday against Richardson and Washington Mutual, contesting the foreclosure rescission.

Included in the suit was Richardson's deed of trust, which contains the terms of her home loan. The no-money-down loan was issued for $535,000 in January 2007. It was adjustable after two years, with an introductory rate of 8.8 percent.

"That's a subprime loan," said Jon Nastro, a real estate broker in nearby Elk Grove. "Those are the ones we're taking back now."

Richardson previously declined to disclose her loan terms.

The average prime mortgage rate at the time was 6.22 percent, according to Freddie Mac.

Without further information, it is difficult to tell whether Richardson's subprime loan terms were the result of a poor credit history, lack of income documentation, or both.

Richardson was an assemblywoman at the time the loan was issued, with an annual salary of $113,000. She also collected $28,365 in per diem for living expenses in Sacramento during the nine months she served in the Legislature. She now earns $169,300 as a member of Congress and rents an apartment in Washington, D.C.

Before her election in 2006, Richardson earned $80,000 as a legislative director for Lt. Gov. Cruz Bustamante and $28,000 as a Long Beach city councilwoman, according to a congressional financial disclosure form.

Richardson also owns two homes in San Pedro and Long Beach. In 2006, she took out an equity loan against the Long Beach home to finance her run for the Legislature.

Richardson has defaulted at least eight times on the three properties since 2004 - six times in the last 14 months. She had also failed to pay smaller debts to a mechanic and a printing shop until reporters began inquiring about them.

Richardson's staffers were unavailable for comment on Friday.

Buyer sues Calif. congresswoman over foreclosure

By JULIET WILLIAMS Associated Press Writer
 Article Launched: 06/13/2008 05:40:18 PM PDT

SACRAMENTO-A Sacramento investor who bought the foreclosed home of Rep. Laura Richardson has filed a lawsuit against the congresswoman and her bank for rescinding the sale.

James York claims Richardson used her influence as a congresswoman to force Washington Mutual Inc. and a subsidiary to back out of the sale.

York, who operates Red Rock Mortgage Inc., bought the foreclosed home in an upper-middle class Sacramento neighborhood at auction in May for $388,000 after Richardson failed to make her mortgage payments.

In the lawsuit filed in Sacramento County Superior Court, York is seeking to have the house returned to him, as well as punitive damages and costs. He also claims the bank acted with malice after the legitimate sale of the house.

The Associated Press obtained a copy of his lawsuit on Friday, the day the defendants were served.

Richardson, a Democrat from Long Beach, previously told the AP that the house was sold without her knowledge and after the bank agreed to hold off on any action until at least June.

She bought the house in January 2007 for $535,000, a few months after she was elected to the state Assembly. She took out an adjustable-rate mortgage with an interest rate that could vary between 8.8 percent and 14 percent, according to documents filed with York's lawsuit.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, said the congresswoman had not been notified of the lawsuit. He declined further comment.

In an interview Friday with the AP, York said he believes Washington Mutual's trustee rescinded the sale solely because Richardson is a member of Congress. He said the savings and loan would not have done that for an average person.

York said he tried to negotiate a settlement but was rebuffed.

"They rescinded the notice of trustee sale and put it back in her name before even telling me," he said. "It's not a difficult case. It's a valid sale."

A spokeswoman for Washington Mutual, Sara Gaugi, said the company would have no comment because Richardson had not authorized it to speak about her case.

Richardson, 46, was a member of the Long Beach City Council when she won the Assembly seat in November 2006, months before she bought the three-bedroom, 1 1/2-bath Sacramento home. She won the congressional seat the next year in a special election to replace the late Juanita Millender-McDonald.

Richardson has acknowledged turmoil in her life during the short time she went from the city council to the state Assembly to Congress. She said she used her own money to finance her campaigns and fell behind in mortgage and property tax payments.

A default notice sent in March put her unpaid balance on the 1,600-square-foot home at $578,384.

Richardson's financial troubles appear to run deeper, however. The Long Beach Press-Telegram has reported that Richardson has two other homes in San Pedro and Long Beach that have fallen into default six times. Five of the defaults, totaling nearly $71,000, occurred in the last 13 months.

The newspaper also reported that Richardson has a history of not paying other bills, including failure to pay for car repairs and campaign filers.

The congresswoman told the AP she believed she had worked out a deal with Washington Mutual to renegotiate her loan on the Sacramento home and pay it off. She also said she intended to pay the nearly $9,000 in delinquent property taxes.

In the notice of rescission filed as an exhibit in York's lawsuit, the trustee company acknowledges it "had previously agreed to postpone the foreclosure sale until June 4, 2008."

Meanwhile, York said in the lawsuit that he has already started making repairs to the house, including painting, restoring the floors, landscaping and general clean-up that have "significantly increased its value."

He argues it would be unfair to give the house back to Richardson in better condition than she lost it. The amount of money he has spent on the repairs was not specified.

Richardson makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

The home, built in 1926, is in Sacramento's Curtis Park, a desirable, upper middle-class neighborhood near downtown that sits under a canopy of decades-old trees.

Not long after getting to Congress, Richardson voted in favor of the Mortgage Forgiveness Debt Relief Act of 2007, which subsequently became law. It allows homeowners to escape paying income taxes on debts forgiven by a lender, as happens in foreclosure. She has said she would like to testify before Congress as someone victimized by the nation's mortgage crisis.

York notes in his lawsuit that the house now has a cloud over it-making it more difficult to sell if it is eventually returned to him.

"If I had known it was this congresswoman's house, I probably never would have bought it," York said in the telephone interview.

Richardson mum in the face of mounting pressure

By Jared Allen
Posted: 06/13/08 11:50 AM [ET]
Embattled Rep. Laura Richardson (D-Calif.) remained mum on Friday following more news about her personal housing crisis and a warning from House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) to put her fiscal house back in order.

Richardson, who has dodged repeated calls for information regarding her multiple defaults on three home mortgages and her financial disclosure reports, failed to report a heavily indebted mortgage on her initial 2007 financial statement.

Official financial reports for House members will be released on Monday, and it remains to be seen if Richardson's official report will have been amended from the one she previously filed.

However, Pelosi issued a warning to Richardson on Thursday that she risks whatever repercussions may come from failing to disclose her assets and liabilities to the letter of the law.

"Every member of Congress is responsible for living up to the highest ethical standard, to having the fullest disclosure of his or her assets, as is required by law," Pelosi said at her weekly news conference. "And many people in our country are caught in a foreclosure crisis. Members of Congress maybe are as well."

After falling too far behind on mortgage payments on a home she purchased in Sacramento in January 2007, Richardson was forced to watch the home sold at auction last month.

In the aftermath, it was revealed that Richardson has defaulted on mortgages for three California homes since 1999.

According to records pulled from Los Angeles and Sacramento counties, Richardson has defaulted five separate times on her primary residence in Long Beach, a home she purchased in 1999 and refinanced in the summer of 2006 for a new $446,250 mortgage.

The prior summer, Richardson took out a loan from Wells Fargo, in the amount of $359,000, to purchase a second home in San Pedro.

But it is Richardson's Sacramento home that has garnered the most attention, and places her in the most immediate risk as a member of Congress who is bound by federal law to disclose certain assets and liabilities.

According to Richardson's 2007 financial disclosure statement - which she filed in February - she failed to report her Sacramento home mortgage as a liability even though she owed $40,000 more than she paid for the home, which was purchased in January of that year.

By the end of 2007 - which marks the end of the 2007 financial disclosure reporting period - Richardson had accumulated $575,000 in total debt after failing to make payments on her original $535,000 mortgage, according to Sacramento County records.

Financial disclosure laws require members of Congress to report home mortgages as liabilities if indebtedness exceeds the purchase prices of the item, and congressional ethics and finance experts have said that, on a plain reading of the law, Richardson was required to disclose such an indebted mortgage as a liability.

Under the section of the report for liabilities, Richardson simply lists, "N/A."

A senior House Democrat close to leadership on Thursday afternoon said he had spoken to Richardson about the matter and she had assured him that, with regard to her Sacramento home, the "bank screwed up."

On Wednesday the Los Angeles Times reported that James York, the real estate investor who bought Richardson's Sacramento home at a May 7 auction for $388,000, is now claiming that Richardson's lender, Washington Mutual, reclaimed the property on behalf of Richardson. York had recorded the deed on May 19 and had begun renovations, the Times reported.

"They took the property back, and they didn't even send back the money," York was quoted in the Times. "It's clear what's happening is Ms. Richardson is abusing her political power and using it for her own political needs."

Pelosi comments on Laura Richardson defaults

<http://www.presstelegram.com/ci_9366009>

Richardson, D-Long Beach, was able to bring her payments up to date on the Long Beach home relatively quickly, but the San Pedro property lingered in the foreclosure process for almost eight months, and still has a pending auction date. County records indicate that the San Pedro home went into default in September 2007, at which point Richardson was behind on her payments by $12,410.71, and had made no payments since June. A notice of trustee sale was issued on April 17, and an auction was scheduled for May 14 on the courthouse steps in Norwalk. The outstanding loan balance was $367,436, on an original 2005 loan of $359,000.

However, the auction was put on hold.

Richardson produced records from Wells Fargo Bank, which holds the note on her San Pedro home.

That document, dated March 21, indicated that Richardson had qualified for a loan modification that would prevent the foreclosure from going forward. Cal Western Reconveyance Corp., which was responsible for collecting the debt, confirmed that a hold had been placed on the auction, and the auction date had been postponed to July 14, pending a workout of the loan.

<<http://thehill.com/leading-the-news/mortgage-non-disclosure-is-trouble-for-richardson-2008-06-02.html>>

In September of that year, Richardson also let her San Pedro home slip into default when she fell $12,410 behind on her payments.

In January 2008 Richardson defaulted on the San Pedro home a second time, and in April - with Richardson owing $367,436 on an original loan of $359,000 - Wells Fargo Bank issued a notice of trustee sale of the home. Records indicate that the home is still scheduled to be sold at a July 14 auction.

Ask the congresswoman: Your questions for U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson I'm overdue for a session of "Ask the blogger," so here goes. Today, something completely different: Instead of your questions for me, I'd like to hear your questions for U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson, the triple-default Democrat from Long Beach.

I sent her office a list of questions in late May (you can see my questions by clicking at the bottom of this post) and haven't heard back, so I'm giving up and turning to you: submit your best (serious) questions for U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson, I'll sort through them and send them along to her congressional office. Fire away.

(Sent by e-mail on June 10 to Kimberly Parker, chief of staff to U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson) Kimberly: I'm still interested in answers to the questions below, which I first submitted to the congresswoman's office on May 22:

Questions from Peter Viles at the Los Angeles Times:

What kind of mortgage did the congresswoman take on the Sacramento home? (Adjustable Rate Mortgage, Option ARM, 30-year-fixed, etc.)

What was the amount of the loan and the interest rate?

Who was the original lender?

Did she take out one loan or more than one loan?

Did she make a down payment? If so, how much?

A published report quotes the seller of the house saying that Ms. Richardson received $15,000 from the seller for closing costs. Is this accurate?

What were her monthly payments on the mortgage?

How many payments did she make on the mortgage?

When did she begin missing payments on the mortgage, and why?

When and how did she contact the lender to discuss a loan modification?

Did she contact the lender herself, or did a member of her staff contact the lender?

Documents indicate the amount she owed on the loan was eventually greater than the initial value of the loan itself. Can you explain why the amount she owed increased?

When did she and the lender agree to a loan modification? And what is the exact nature of the loan modification? What is the new interest rate, the new principal amount, and the new monthly payment? How many payments has the congresswoman made on the loan modification?

Thanks.

Peter Viles

Disclosure Offers No Insight on Lawmaker's Home Woes

Sarah Lueck reports on Congress.

Trackback URL: <<http://blogs.wsj.com/washwire/2008/06/16/disclosure-offers-no-insight-on-lawmakers-home-woes/trackback/>>

House members' annual financial-disclosure forms were released Monday, but the one submitted by California Democratic Rep. Laura Richardson provided no information about her recent mortgage woes.

Multiple accounts have been reported recently <<http://www.latimes.com/news/local/politics/cal/la-me-richardson11-2006jun11,0,3078049.story>> on Richardson's financial troubles, which includes a foreclosure on one of her California homes and defaults on two others.

On the section labeled "Liabilities," Richardson's form says only "N/A." There's no mention of the balance of $578,384 that Richardson reportedly owes on a Sacramento home she purchased in January 2007. It recently was sold at auction to a mortgage lender for $388,000, according to the Associated Press.

Members of Congress are not required to report mortgages on their residences, unless the property is the source of rental or investment income. They are, however, required to disclose a mortgage debt or other type of loan when it exceeds the purchase price of the item.

Richardson's form is dated May 19 and covers calendar year 2007. She is among dozens of lawmakers who requested extra time to file information on their assets, debts, travel and income—possibly a sign that more details are on the way. Her new deadline is Monday, June 16. A spokesman didn't immediately return calls for comment.

Richardson told the AP in a May interview that her financial trouble was partly the result of using her own money for her recent run for her House seat. She said she renegotiated her loan and will pay it off, along with nearly $9,000 in delinquent property taxes. "I'm a single woman who had four employment changes in less than four months," Richardson told the AP. "I had to figure out just like every other American how I could restructure the obligations that I had with the income I had."

Richardson's loan was subprime - Press Telegram (Long Beach)

By Gene Maddaus, Staff Writer

Rep. Laura Richardson took out a subprime loan to buy her Sacramento house, suggesting she probably was a poor credit risk even before her recent string of loan defaults.

Richardson, D-Long Beach, has defaulted on all three of her homes, and lost the one in Sacramento in a foreclosure auction. She is now engaged in a legal battle with the new owner of the home, after her lender, Washington Mutual Bank, filed to rescind the sale.

James York, owner of Red Rock Mortgage Inc., filed a lawsuit on Thursday against Richardson and Washington Mutual, contesting the foreclosure rescission.

Included in the suit was Richardson's deed of trust, which contains the terms of her home loan. The no-money-down loan was issued for $535,000 in January 2007. It was adjustable after two years, with an introductory rate of 8.8 percent.

"That's a subprime loan," said Jon Nastro, a real estate broker in nearby Elk Grove. "Those are the ones we're taking back now."

Richardson previously declined to disclose her loan terms.

The average prime mortgage rate at the time was 6.22 percent, according to Freddie Mac.

Without further information, it is difficult to tell whether Richardson's subprime loan terms were the result of a poor credit history, lack of income documentation, or both.

Richardson was an assemblywoman at the time the loan was issued, with an annual salary of $113,000. She also collected $28,365 in per diem for living expenses in Sacramento during the nine months she served in the Legislature. She now earns $169,300 as a member of Congress and rents an apartment in Washington, D.C.

Before her election in 2006, Richardson earned $80,000 as a legislative director for Lt. Gov. Cruz Bustamante and $28,000 as a Long Beach city councilwoman, according to a congressional financial disclosure form.

Richardson also owns two homes in San Pedro and Long Beach. In 2006, she took out an equity loan against the Long Beach home to finance her run for the Legislature.

Richardson has defaulted at least eight times on the three properties since 2004 - six times in the last 14 months. She had also failed to pay smaller debts to a mechanic and a printing shop until reporters began inquiring about them.

Richardson's staffers were unavailable for comment on Friday.

Buyer sues Calif. congresswoman over foreclosure

By JULIET WILLIAMS Associated Press Writer

Article Launched: 06/13/2008 05:40:18 PM PDT

SACRAMENTO-A Sacramento investor who bought the foreclosed home of Rep. Laura Richardson has filed a lawsuit against the congresswoman and her bank for rescinding the sale.

James York claims Richardson used her influence as a congresswoman to force Washington Mutual Inc. and a subsidiary to back out of the sale.

York, who operates Red Rock Mortgage Inc., bought the foreclosed home in an upper-middle class Sacramento neighborhood at auction in May for $388,000 after Richardson failed to make her mortgage payments.

In the lawsuit filed in Sacramento County Superior Court, York is seeking to have the house returned to him, as well as punitive damages and costs. He also claims the bank acted with malice after the legitimate sale of the house.

The Associated Press obtained a copy of his lawsuit on Friday, the day the defendants were served.

Richardson, a Democrat from Long Beach, previously told the AP that the house was sold without her knowledge and after the bank agreed to hold off on any action until at least June.

She bought the house in January 2007 for $535,000, a few months after she was elected to the state Assembly. She took out an adjustable-rate mortgage with an interest rate that could vary between 8.8 percent and 14 percent, according to documents filed with York's lawsuit.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, said the congresswoman had not been notified of the lawsuit. He declined further comment.

In an interview Friday with the AP, York said he believes Washington Mutual's trustee rescinded the sale solely because Richardson is a member of Congress. He said the savings and loan would not have done that for an average person.

York said he tried to negotiate a settlement but was rebuffed.

"They rescinded the notice of trustee sale and put it back in her name before even telling me," he said. "It's not a difficult case. It's a valid sale."

A spokeswoman for Washington Mutual, Sara Gaugi, said the company would have no comment because Richardson had not authorized it to speak about her case.

Richardson, 46, was a member of the Long Beach City Council when she won the Assembly seat in November 2006, months before she bought the three-bedroom, 1 1/2-bath Sacramento home. She won the congressional seat the next year in a special election to replace the late Juanita Millender-McDonald.

Richardson has acknowledged turmoil in her life during the short time she went from the city council to the state Assembly to Congress. She said she used her own money to finance her campaigns and fell behind in mortgage and property tax payments.

A default notice sent in March put her unpaid balance on the 1,600-square-foot home at $578,384.

Richardson's financial troubles appear to run deeper, however. The Long Beach Press-Telegram has reported that Richardson has two other homes in San Pedro and Long Beach that have fallen into default six times. Five of the defaults, totaling nearly $71,000, occurred in the last 13 months.

The newspaper also reported that Richardson has a history of not paying other bills, including failure to pay for car repairs and campaign fliers.

The congresswoman told the AP she believed she had worked out a deal with Washington Mutual to renegotiate her loan on the Sacramento home and pay it off. She also said she intended to pay the nearly $9,000 in delinquent property taxes.

In the notice of rescission filed as an exhibit in York's lawsuit, the trustee company acknowledges it "had previously agreed to postpone the foreclosure sale until June 4, 2008."

Meanwhile, York said in the lawsuit that he has already started making repairs to the house, including painting, restoring the floors, landscaping and general clean-up that have "significantly increased its value."

He argues it would be unfair to give the house back to Richardson in better condition than she lost it. The amount of money he has spent on the repairs was not specified.

Richardson makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

The home, built in 1926, is in Sacramento's Curtis Park, a desirable, upper middle-class neighborhood near downtown that sits under a canopy of decades-old trees.

Not long after getting to Congress, Richardson voted in favor of the Mortgage Forgiveness Debt Relief Act of 2007, which subsequently became law. It allows homeowners to escape paying income taxes on debts forgiven by a lender, as happens in foreclosure. She has said she would like to testify before Congress as someone victimized by the nation's mortgage crisis.

York notes in his lawsuit that the house now has a cloud over it-making it more difficult to sell if it is eventually returned to him.

"If I had known it was this congresswoman's house, I probably never would have bought it," York said in the telephone interview.

Associated Press Writer Erica Werner in Washington, D.C., contributed to this report.

Richardson mum in the face of mounting pressure

By Jared Allen

Posted: 06/13/08 11:50 AM [ET]

Embattled Rep. Laura Richardson (D-Calif.) remained mum on Friday following more news about her personal housing crisis and a warning from House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) to put her fiscal house back in order.

Richardson, who has dodged repeated calls for information regarding her multiple defaults on three home mortgages and her financial disclosure reports, failed to report a heavily indebted mortgage on her initial 2007 financial statement.

Official financial reports for House members will be released on Monday, and it remains to be seen if Richardson's official report will have been amended from the one she previously filed.

However, Pelosi issued a warning to Richardson on Thursday that she risks whatever repercussions may come from failing to disclose her assets and liabilities to the letter of the law.

"Every member of Congress is responsible for living up to the highest ethical standard, to having the fullest disclosure of his or her assets, as is required by law," Pelosi said at her weekly news conference. "And many people in our country are caught in a foreclosure crisis. Members of Congress maybe are as well."

After falling too far behind on mortgage payments on a home she purchased in Sacramento in January 2007, Richardson was forced to watch the home sold at auction last month.

In the aftermath, it was revealed that Richardson has defaulted on mortgages for three California homes since 1999.

According to records pulled from Los Angeles and Sacramento counties, Richardson has defaulted five separate times on her primary residence in Long Beach, a home she purchased in 1999 and refinanced in the summer of 2006 for a new $446,250 mortgage.

The prior summer, Richardson took out a loan from Wells Fargo, in the amount of $359,000, to purchase a second home in San Pedro.

After defaulting twice - in September 2007 and again in January - and owing $367,436 on an original loan of $359,000, Richardson received notice from her lender in April that her San Pedro home was going to be sold at auction. According to reports, that auction is scheduled for July 14.

But it is Richardson's Sacramento home that has garnered the most attention, and places her in the most immediate risk as a member of Congress who is bound by federal law to disclose certain assets and liabilities.

According to Richardson's 2007 financial disclosure statement - which she filed in February - she failed to report her Sacramento home mortgage as a liability even though she owed $40,000 more than she paid for the home, which was purchased in January of that year.

By the end of 2007 - which marks the end of the 2007 financial disclosure reporting period - Richardson had accumulated $575,000 in total debt after failing to make payments on her original $535,000 mortgage, according to Sacramento County records.

Financial disclosure laws require members of Congress to report home mortgages as liabilities if indebtedness exceeds the purchase prices of the item, and congressional ethics and finance experts have said that, on a plain reading of the law, Richardson was required to disclose such an indebted mortgage as a liability.

Under the section of the report for liabilities, Richardson simply lists, "N/A."

A senior House Democrat close to leadership on Thursday afternoon said he had spoken to Richardson about the matter and she had assured him that, with regard to her Sacramento home, the "bank screwed up."

On Wednesday the Los Angeles Times reported that James York, the real estate investor who bought Richardson's Sacramento home at a May 7 auction for $388,000, is now claiming that Richardson's lender, Washington Mutual, reclaimed the property on behalf of Richardson. York had recorded the deed on May 19 and had begun renovations, the Times reported.

"They took the property back, and they didn't even send back the money," York was quoted in the Times. "It's clear what's happening is Ms. Richardson is abusing her political power and using it for her own political needs."

Pelosi comments on Laura Richardson defaults

By Erica Werner The Associated Press

<http://www.dailybreeze.com/ci_9564107>

WASHINGTON - House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, asked Thursday about fellow California Democratic Rep. Laura Richardson's multiple home defaults, said that "every member of Congress is responsible for living up to the highest ethical standards."

Pelosi said she was not familiar with the details of the controversy surrounding Richardson, who won a special election last year to replace the late Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald in the 37th Congressional District in Long Beach.

But every lawmaker must make "the fullest disclosure of his or her assets as is required by law," Pelosi said.

"Many people in our country are caught in the foreclosure crisis. Members of Congress maybe are as well," she added.

Late last month reports emerged that Richardson, a former state Assemblywoman and member of the Long Beach City Council, had lost her Sacramento home to foreclosure and has two other homes in Southern California that have fallen into default six times.

Last week the Long Beach Press-Telegram reported that Richardson had also left car repair bills unpaid.

Richardson easily won her Democratic primary June 3 and is running unopposed in the November general election, although at least one of her Democratic primary opponents is making plans to challenge her as a write-in candidate.

Richardson defended herself after the first reports of the foreclosure on her Sacramento home, saying it never should have happened and she'd worked out a deal with her lender to buy it back. However the purchaser of the property, James York of Red Rock Mortgage in Sacramento, complained in published reports this week that Richardson had been given favorable terms because she's a congresswoman and that he planned to sue over the issue.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, had no immediate comment Thursday.

California Assembly Speaker Karen Bass, D-Los Angeles, also addressed the Richardson situation Thursday during a visit to Washington. Bass and other Assembly leaders had endorsed Richardson's congressional bid but Bass told reporters she'd had no idea about Richardson's financial issues.

Richardson had a quick rise in politics, moving from the Long Beach City Council to a state Assembly seat in 2006 and to Congress the next year.

"Given the rapid pace of all of that I can understand the financial difficulties, but now more is coming out," Bass said. She said she'd hoped while in Washington to talk to Richardson about the situation but hadn't had the opportunity.

Good morning,
 Embedded below is the article we were expecting from Gene Maddaus. York claims that we've given Ms. Richardson preferential treatment and as reported in the article, plans to file a lawsuit against Richardson and WaMu by the end of the week.

Broker alleges loan favoritism - Press- Telegram (Long Beach)

By Gene Maddaus Staff Writer

June 9, 2008

The real estate broker who bought Rep. Laura Richardson's house at a foreclosure sale last month is accusing her of receiving preferential treatment because her lender has issued a notice to rescind the sale.

James York, owner of Red Rock Mortgage, said he would file a lawsuit against Richardson and her lender, Washington Mutual, by the end of the week, and has every intention of keeping the house.

"I'm just amazed they've done this," York said. "They never would have done this for anybody else."

York bought the Sacramento home at a foreclosure auction on May 7 for $388,000.

Richardson had not been making payments on the property for nearly a year, and had also gone into default on her two other houses in Long Beach and San Pedro.

Richardson, D-Long Beach, has said that the auction should never have been held, because she had worked out a loan modification agreement with her lender beforehand and had begun making payments.

Richardson left nearly $9,000 in unpaid property taxes on the home, which she bought in January 2007 for $535,000, shortly after being elected to the Assembly.

Washington Mutual has declined to comment on the specifics of Richardson's case, because she has not waived her privacy rights.

In a statement, spokeswoman Sara Gaugt said the company is "committed to treating all of our customers with the same level of consideration and fairness."

Washington Mutual filed a notice of rescission of the foreclosure sale on June 2.

That puts the bank squarely at odds with York, who has already put money into cleaning up the house and preparing it for resale.

"They owe me the property," York said. "The sale was a good sale."

York said an ordinary person would be unlikely to get the kind of consideration that Richardson has received from her bank.

"They wouldn't even get a phone call back," he said. "They would laugh at somebody who would call and say, 'We had some kind of agreement.' They wouldn't give you 10 cents worth of time."

Leo Nordine, a Hemosa Beach real estate broker who specializes in foreclosed homes, agreed that the rescission was out of the ordinary.

"It's extremely unusual," he said.

"Unless (the borrower) filed bankruptcy beforehand, they'd never do it."

Richardson's staff did not return a call on Monday.

Dustin Hobbs, a spokesman for the California Mortgage Bankers Association, said that while foreclosure rescissions are rarely publicized, they are becoming more common as the rate of foreclosures increases.

"Generally it is going to result in a legal battle," he said.

"Basically you're saying, 'We're willing to fight for our borrower.'"

Hobbs said a lender would be unlikely to go to bat for a borrower who has shown no ability to make future payments.

But if the foreclosure was the result of a temporary hardship or a paperwork mix-up, the lender has every incentive to restore the loan.

"Lenders are concerned about keeping borrowers in homes no matter who they are," he said.

The tax line was updated to the higher amount after the modification was completed. Neither Escrow Analysis nor Loss Mit had any way of knowing this increase was going to take place. The modification and the subsequent analysis was based on the amounts the Tax Dept. had loaded on the line at the time of the modification.

The escrow account is correct. When the modification occurred, the amount on the tax lines were $508.41. The account was analyzed with this information on 9/22/08 effective 10/08. (All appeared correct. Escrow funding had the over/short at $0.00; which is expected on modifications.) The monthly escrow payment was $84.74. The total payment was $4352.32.

When the taxes were paid in 11/08, the line was updated to the billed amount of $2930.67. (I believe this is an automated process within the Tax Dept.) This disbursement created a large escrow shortage; which triggered an off cycle analysis. The analysis was performed on 11/20/08 effective 1/09. The monthly escrow payment increased from $84.74 to $488.45; in addition, there was an escrow shortage of $4440.81 being collected at $370.07 per month. The total payment increased from $4352.32 to $5126.10.

On 2/2/09, I was contacted by ECC and asked to make an exception for the homeowner and accept the old payment amount ($4352.32) for 1/09-2/09 and to run a new analysis with a 36 month escrow shortage spread effective for 3/09. I adjusted the payment on PCH1 to the old amount for 1/09-2/09.

On 2/3/09, I ran the new analysis with the effective date of 3/09 and a 36 month escrow shortage spread. The new payment amount is now $4885.19 beginning 3/09.

Please let me know if you need any additional information.

Hi Michelle,

You helped with researching this escrowed property tax bill in July 2008 and since then we have a portion of the tax bill (which I have attached from NETRonline.com). I noticed on TAX2 we last paid $2,930.67 and the second portion is $2,930.67 which is due 3/09. This appears on ANA1 making the new escrow payment effective 3/09 $488.45 and total payment will be $4,885.19 (PCH2/hpmt).

Would you mind researching to make sure we have escrowed the right amount to cover this mortgagor's taxes? The mortgagor has received notification that her escrow is too low to cover her taxes.

Darlene/Todd-----

This is a Congresswoman that we did a modification on several months ago. She was a non-escrowed account and we ended up paying her delinquent taxes but I can not remember all the details. Her analysis now is increasing her payment by $500 and I need some details from taxes on the situation.

Can you please let me know what you can find.....

Thanks.

The tax line was updated to the higher amount after the modification was completed. Neither Escrow Analysis nor Loss Mit had anyway of knowing this increase was going to take place. The modification and the subsequent analysis was based on the amounts the Tax Dept. had loaded on the line at the time of the modification.

The escrow account is correct. When the modification occurred, the amount on the tax lines were $508.41. The account was analyzed with this information on 9/22/08 effective 10/08. (All appeared correct. Escrow funding had the over/short at $0.00; which is expected on modifications.) The monthly escrow payment was $84.74. The total payment was $4352.32.

When the taxes were paid in 11/08, the line was updated to the billed amount of $2930.67. (I believe this is an automated process within the Tax Dept.) This disbursement created a large escrow shortage, which triggered an off cycle analysis. The analysis was performed on 11/20/08 effective 1/09. The monthly escrow payment increased from $84.74 to $488.45; in addition, there was an escrow shortage of $4440.81 being collected at $370.07 per month. The total payment increased from $4352.32 to $5126.10.

On 2/2/09, I was contacted by ECC and asked to make an exception for the homeowner and accept the old payment amount ($4352.32) for 1/09-2/09 and to run a new analysis with a 36 month escrow shortage spread effective for 3/09. I adjusted the payment on PCH1 to the old amount for 1/09-2/09.

On 2/3/09, I ran the new analysis with the effective date of 3/09 and a 36 month escrow shortage spread. The new payment amount is now $4885.19 beginning 3/09.

Please let me know if you need any additional information.

Dena,

Can you please help us with the issue below on this loan? We just modified the loan and it appears we did not collect enough escrow funding nor is the monthly escrow payment correct.

Hi Michelle,

You helped with researching this escrowed property tax bill in July 2008 and since then we have a portion of the tax bill (which I have attached from NETRonline.com). I noticed on TAX2 we last paid $2,930.67 and the second portion is $2,930.67 which is due 3/09. This appears on ANA1 making the new escrow payment effective 3/09 $488.45 and total payment will be $4,885.19 (PCH2/hpmt).

Would you mind researching to make sure we have escrowed the right amount to cover this mortgagor's taxes? The mortgagor has received notification that her escrow is too low to cover her taxes.

Thank you,

Brad -
Please see the article embedded below for more detail, but long story short, Congresswoman Laura Richardson appears to have defaulted on her WaMu loan (second home) and on March 19, a notice was filed with the county that her property would be sold at auction.

Congresswoman Richardson initially declined to comment, however, Jan Owen has learned from the Congresswoman that she plans to communicate to The Washington Post that she has established a repayment plan with WaMu.

Would you please look into Congresswoman Richardson's situation as soon as possible so that we understand the facts? Her loan number is [REDACTED]

Many thanks,

Sara

Foreclosure tale shows that nobody is immune from crisis

By Anthony York (published Tuesday, May 20, 2008)

As the real estate market softened in 2007, the new owner of a three-bedroom, 1,600-square-foot house in Sacramento's Curtis Park neighborhood ran into trouble. The house that was purchased for $535,000 in January had lost equity. The owner fell behind in her payments, and eventually, the bank seized the home.

What makes this story different from the thousands like it is that the owner of this house was a member of Congress.

The story of the foreclosure of Long Beach Democrat Laura Richardson's Sacramento home is a tale of a real estate market gone sour. It is also an illustration of how far many candidates will go to seek elected office, even if it means quite literally mortgaging their own financial future.

While being elevated to Congress in a 2007 special election, Richardson apparently stopped making payments on her new Sacramento home, and eventually walked away from it, leaving nearly $600,000 in unpaid loans and fees.

Richardson's decision to let the house slip into foreclosure was set in motion by an unlikely chain of events, only some of which had to do with Sacramento's crumbling real estate market. Richardson was elected to the Assembly in November 2006, and purchased her new capital home two months later. But in April 2007, Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald succumbed to cancer, creating a Congressional vacancy in Richardson's district.

Richardson declared her candidacy for the seat, and soon found herself locked in a hotly contested, and very expensive race for Congress against state Sen. Jenny Oropeza, D-Long Beach.

While her campaign heated up, Richardson's house slipped into default. Richardson fell behind on her mortgage payments as she loaned her Congressional campaign $60,000 - money that has begun to be paid back to Richardson personally from her campaign account, according to records from the Center for Responsive Politics.

Richardson's opponent, Oropeza, loaned herself $115,000 for her run against Richardson. Oropeza's Congressional committee still shows nearly $200,000 in debt.

Richardson declined to comment for this story.

But tax records at the Sacramento County assessor's office show that in January 2007, Richardson took out a mortgage for the entire sale price of the house -- $535,000. The mortgage amount was equal to the sale price of the home, meaning she was able to buy the house without a down payment, even though the housing market was beginning to turn.

A March 19, 2008 notice of trustee's sale indicates that the unpaid balance of Richardson's loan, which is held by Washington Mutual, is more than $578,000 - $40,000 more than the original mortgage.

The Curtis Park house is not Richardson's primary residence. She also owns a four-bedroom house in Long Beach, in her Congressional district. Real estate records show she purchased that house in 1999 for $135,000. An estimate from Zillow.com puts the current value of that house at $474,000.

Like many homes that have gone through foreclosure, Richardson's new residence quickly became an eyesore. With Richardson gone, upkeep on the home lapsed, and neighbors began to get angry.

"The neighbors are extremely unhappy with her," said Sharon Helmar, who sold the home to Richardson. "She didn't mow the lawn or take out the garbage while she was there. We lived there for a long time, 30 years, and we had to hide our heads whenever we came back to the neighborhood."

Helmar and her husband, Mark, sold the Curtis Park home to Richardson because Sharon's arthritis required the couple to move into a one-story house. With the area's real estate market slowing down, the house remained on the market for months, and the Helmars, who lived in the house for more than 30 years, were getting desperate to sell.

Helmar said that she has never met Richardson personally, but dealt with Richardson through her realtor. The Helmars wound up giving Richardson $15,000 toward closing costs, she said.

And she is still angry over what happened to a home that clearly she never really wanted to leave. "It's kind of silly. You would think people who are making decisions for others would be able to make good decisions for themselves," she said. "She should have known what she could afford and not afford. In this neighborhood, you just don't do that."

While Richardson walked away from her loan, she bested Oropeza in a June special election, and moved on to Congress. As a member of Congress, Richardson has been asked to vote on legislation pertaining to the spike in foreclosures around the country.

On the biggest pieces of legislation having to do with government bailouts for people whose homes have entered foreclosure, Richardson has recused herself. She did not vote on legislation by Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass, which would direct $2.7 billion in government funds to help an estimated 500,000 homeowners who are at risk of foreclosure.

Richardson also did not vote on a measure by Rep. Maxine Waters, D-Los Angeles, that would give local governments $15 billion to purchase, rehab and resell foreclosed properties.

While Richardson walked away from her bank loan, she has begun to pay herself back for the money she personally invested in her initial race. Records show that Richardson spent $587,000 out of her Congressional campaign committee since declaring her Congressional candidacy through March of this year. Of those expenditures, Richardson has spent $18,000 of that money to begin repaying herself for the money Richardson loaned to her campaign.

According to documents at the Sacramento County Clerk's office, Richardson first received a default notice in late 2007. By December 2007, less than a year after Richardson purchased the house, she was behind in her payments by more than $18,000.

Three months later, on March 19, a notice was filed with the county that Richardson's property would be sold at auction. According to the documents, the unpaid balance and other charges Richardson owed the bank was $587,384.

Debate intensifies over Richardson default

A Long Beach congresswoman who walked away from a $535,000 mortgage in Sacramento said in a written statement distributed by her office that she owns the home, but financial documents show the house was sold at public auction and has been in the possession of the buyer for weeks.

Embedded below is Congresswoman Laura Richardson's statement to the media for your reference.
CONGRESSWOMAN LAURA RICHARDSON
 For Immediate Release
 May 21, 2008

The story published in the Capitol Weekly regarding residential property that I own in Sacramento requires clarification.

Within a 12-month period last year (2007-2008), I was a member of Long Beach City Council, the District Director for California Lt. Gov. Cruz Bustamante, a member of the California State Legislature, and, now a member of Congress. While the transitioning has impacted me personally, the residential property in Sacramento California is not in foreclosure and has NOT been seized by the bank.

I have worked with my lender to complete a loan modification and have renegotiated the terms of the agreement -- with no special provisions. I fully intend to fulfill all financial obligations of this property. On two housing bills that were cited by the Capitol Weekly, the allegation is that I recused myself from these votes. I did not. I was absent from Washington, D.C., and my duties in the House of Representatives due to the untimely death of my father and his subsequent funeral in California. I understand that these homeownership issues are a reflection of what many Americans are going through as they fight to keep their homes and to remain financially stable.

Calif. congresswoman's home threatened with repossession after she fails to pay mortgage

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) -- Rep. Laura Richardson has an unusual perspective on the housing foreclosure bills moving through Congress: One of her own homes was threatened with repossession after she failed to pay the mortgage.

Richardson, a Southern California Democrat, bought a two-story home in a leafy, upper-middle-class neighborhood of Sacramento in January 2007, just months after winning a seat in the state Assembly.

She bought the three-bedroom, 1 1/2-bath home in the state capital for $535,500. The bill collectors started knocking soon after, according to records reviewed Wednesday by The Associated Press.

The city utility department placed a lien on her property in June 2007 for $154 in unpaid bills, according to documents at the Sacramento County recorder's office. In December, she received a default notice on the mortgage from the collection agency of Washington Mutual Inc., her lender. At that point, she owed $18,356.

At the time, she had left the Legislature after a quick rise from the Long Beach City Council and moved to Washington after winning a special election to fill a vacant congressional seat. Richardson on Wednesday blamed the frequent job-shifting for financial problems related to the Sacramento property.

A default notice in March this year put the "unpaid balance and other expenses" at $578,384 and said her 1,639-square-foot house would be auctioned at a trustee sale.

County records show the property was sold to a company called Red Rock Mortgage Inc. of Sacramento for $388,000 -- although the county assessor's office continues to list Richardson as the owner. No listing could be found for Red Rock.

That sale was officially recorded Monday, according to the records. But Richards said the home was not in foreclosure and had not been seized.

"I have worked with my lender to complete a loan modification and have renegotiated the terms of the agreement -- with no special provisions," Richardson said in a statement Wednesday. "I fully intend to fulfill all financial obligations of this property."

Richardson's chief of staff, Kimberly Parker, told the AP that the mortgage on the home had been sold but that the house had not. The collection agency referred inquiries to Washington Mutual, which did not return a call.

A real estate agent's lock box hung Wednesday from the front door of the 1926-vintage house.

Records at a Sacramento County tax office also show Richardson is delinquent in paying $8,950 in property taxes.

Richardson moved from the Long Beach City Council to her Assembly seat in 2006, and the next year won a special election to represent a heavily Democratic congressional district that includes Long Beach.

Congressional records show Richardson did not cast votes May 8 on three bills related to the Foreclosure Prevention Act. In her statement, she said she was away from Washington because of her father's funeral.

"I understand that these homeownership issues are a reflection of what many Americans are going through as they fight to keep their homes and to remain financially stable," Richardson said in her statement.

Associated Press writers Erica Werner in Washington and Samantha Young and Rich Pedroncelli in Sacramento contributed to this report.

Subject: Congresswoman's Financial Report: This Won't Be Pretty.

FYI, below. It appears that the House members' annual financial reports are scheduled to be released on Monday, which may include specific information about Ms. Richardson's home loan issues.

Just so you are aware, I communicated to Mary Ann that I couldn't discuss Ms. Richardson's loan situation (not foreclosure sale).

I'll let you know if I receive any media calls today.

Congresswoman's Financial Report: This Won't Be Pretty.

Mary Ann Akers And Paul Kane

12 June 2008

The Washington Post

We may learn more about Rep. Laura Richardson's (D-Calif.) home foreclosure problems Monday, when House members' annual financial reports are scheduled to be released.

Richardson filed her report on time rather than seeking an extension, her spokesman, William Marshall, tells On the Hill. But Marshall says he can "neither confirm nor deny" whether the disclosure report will reflect the full extent of the beleaguered congresswoman's financial woes, which include foreclosure on one home and loan defaults on two others.

Marshall declined to answer questions about how Richardson, who won a special election last August, wound up in such dire straits. She lost her Sacramento home to foreclosure after failing to make payments, at the same time that she reportedly owed Sacramento County some $9,000 in property taxes and defaulted on loans six times on two other California homes.

In the meantime, however, Richardson rose in one year from Long Beach councilwoman to state assemblywoman to a member of the U.S. Congress.

According to the Long Beach Press-Telegram, Richardson also failed to pay hundreds of dollars worth of car repairs to one mechanic, then ultimately abandoned the car at another auto body shop.

Yesterday, the story took a new twist. The Los Angeles Times reported that the home Richardson lost in foreclosure could be returned to her, because the lender, Washington Mutual <javascript:void(0);>, filed a letter of rescission of the foreclosure sale and asked the new owner for the keys back.

"They took the property back, and they didn't even send back the money," the new owner, real estate investor James York, told the Times. "It's clear what's happening is Ms. Richardson is abusing her political power and using it for her own political needs," he said. "You don't have to be smart to understand what's happening."

Richardson isn't saying anything. Referring to the congresswoman's lender, her spokesman told us, "This is about Washington Mutual. <javascript:void(0);>" He urged us to call Washington Mutual <javascript:void(0);> for comment. But a Washington Mutual <javascript:void(0);> spokeswoman told us she couldn't comment on the foreclosure sale because Congresswoman Richardson "has not provided us with authorization to publicly discuss her loan."

The left-leaning watchdog group Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics In Washington calls Richardson a "deadbeat congresswoman."

Ms. Thorn,

Due to the numerous issues that have surrounded my agreement and the improper sale of my property, I am working with my original broker to complete the application accurately. I am limited to his availability therefore it is taking longer than I expected. I advised Ms. Mathis of my delay via email and was told you would be notified.

I was quite surprised with your attached letter that requires submittal by Friday which I do not believe was expressed before. If you recall, it was I, that suggested we begin the process prior to the completion of the recission not WAMU.

I will meet your deadline; however, in the future clear indications of time deadlines is needed.

 Subject: Congresswoman's Home Sold in Foreclosure Auction
 Date: Thu May 22 2008 12:29:24 EDT

FYI. Please see bolded text below.

Congresswoman's Home Sold in Foreclosure Auction - WSJ
 Congress has turned its attention to solving the foreclosure crisis even as one of its members has lost a home in a foreclosure auction.

The Sacramento home of Rep. Laura Richardson was sold in a public auction two weeks ago for $388,000. The Southern California Democrat bought the house for $635,000 with no money down in January 2007 and owed nearly $575,000 to Washington Mutual when the mortgage was sold earlier this month at a significant loss to Red Rock Mortgage Inc.

Rep. Richardson, a former Long Beach city council member, bought the home after winning a seat in California's state assembly. She maintains her primary residence, a four-bedroom home, in her Long Beach district. Months later, Rep. Richardson ran in a hard-fought election for the congressional seat, which was vacated when the late Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald died from cancer. To fund that campaign, Rep. Richardson lent herself more than $75,000 and stopped making payments on the Sacramento home around the same time.

The story was first reported by the Capitol Weekly, a Sacramento publication.

Rep. Richardson said in a statement Wednesday that the home is not in foreclosure and had not been seized by the bank. "I have worked with my lender to complete a loan modification and have renegotiated the terms of the agreement - with no special provisions. I fully intend to fulfill all financial obligations of this property."

But James York, the Sacramento broker who bought Richardson's house at auction, told the Long Beach Press-Telegram that he planned to resell the home. The three-bedroom, 1.5-bathroom house sits on a 1,600 square foot parcel.

Richardson didn't vote on the housing rescue deal that passed the House of Representatives two weeks ago and in a statement attributed her absence to her father's funeral. But Richardson did vote last fall in favor of the Mortgage Forgiveness Debt Relief Act, which passed and prevents the federal government from charging income tax on debt forgiven as a consequence of foreclosure. -Nick Timiraos

Title: Congresswoman defaults on (mortgage) loanSource: Long Beach (Calif.) Press-TelegramURL Source: <<http://www.presstelegram.com>>Published: May 22, 2008Author: (unknown)Post Date: 2008-05-22 12:35:46 by gjc11733 Comments
 Rep. Laura Richardson lost her Sacramento home in a foreclosure auction two weeks ago, and left behind nearly $9,000 in unpaid property taxes. Richardson, D-Long Beach, appears to have made only a few payments on the house, which she bought in January 2007 for $535,000.
 After buying the home, Richardson hardly had time to live in it. Three months later, Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald died and Richardson - then a freshman member of the state Assembly - launched a campaign to replace her in Congress.
 Richardson won the election, pouring in $77,500 in personal loans to her own campaign. Around the same time, she stopped making payments on the Sacramento house. The bank issued a default notice in December, and the home was sold at a public auction on May 7 for $388,000.
 Richardson declined Wednesday to be interviewed about the foreclosure, which was first revealed in Capitol Weekly, a Sacramento-based publication. But in a statement, Richardson denied that the home was in foreclosure and said it had not been seized by the bank.
 "I have worked with my lender to complete a loan modification and have renegotiated the terms of the agreement - with no special provisions," Richardson said in the statement. "I fully intend to fulfill all financial obligations on the property."
 That would come as a surprise to James York, the Sacramento real estate broker who bought Richardson's house at auction. York specializes in buying and selling foreclosed homes, and said he eventually intends to resell Richardson's home, which overlooks a park in an upscale neighborhood. York produced a trustee's deed confirming that his company, Red Rock Mortgage Inc., owns the house. York said the house was relatively clean when he found it, at least compared with other foreclosed homes, though the garage was "full of trash to the ceiling." Workers have been cleaning it out and tending to the yard, which had been left unmowed for months.
 When he bought the house at 3622 W. Curtis Drive, York assumed responsibility for Richardson's unpaid property tax bill of $8,950.79.
 "Tell Laura I'd be happy to have her pay my property tax," York said.
 The real loser in the deal was Washington Mutual Bank, which issued Richardson a $535,000 loan with no money down in January 2007. By the time the default notice was issued, Richardson was underwater on the loan. She owed about $575,000, including $18,000 in missed payments. Washington Mutual ended up writing off nearly $200,000 of that debt to get rid of the home.
 "They took a beating," York said.
 The previous owner of the home, Sharon Helmar, said the neighbors were "appalled" that Richardson was not maintaining the lawn. Another neighbor said that until recently the grass was about a foot high. "It's kind of heartbreaking to see something you've worked on for 30 years be left and not taken care of," Helmar said. "You would have thought someone like that would have been a little more responsible."

The home is only a few minutes' drive from the Capitol. It is about 1,600 square feet, and has three bedrooms and 1 1/2 baths. It sits on a corner facing Curtis Park. "It's your typical 1920s house," she said. "Hardwood floors, wallpaper. It's not huge, but it served us for a lot of years."

The neighborhood is known as affluent and politically liberal. A mayoral candidate lives nearby, and a former state senator lives three doors down.

"It is a very stable neighborhood," said Charlene Singley, the Realtor who sold the home to Richardson. "It has been affected by the downturn, however, because it is in the older, more established area of Sacramento, and it is close to the downtown urban core. It is one of the few neighborhoods that has not been hit as hard."

Singley was surprised to hear that the home had gone into foreclosure.

Although Richardson did not pay her property taxes or the balance of her loan, she has begun repaying the loans that she issued to her own political campaign.

Richardson, a former Long Beach city councilwoman, still owns a home in Long Beach.

One of Richardson's first votes upon arriving in Congress last fall was on the Mortgage Forgiveness Debt Relief Act of 2007. The bill helped homeowners by preventing the federal government from charging income tax on debt forgiven in a foreclosure, such as the $200,000 forgiven in Richardson's foreclosure.

Joining 385 of her colleagues, Richardson voted aye.

 Subject: Update: Congresswoman obtains spokesperson

All:
 FYI - it appears that Congresswoman Richardson has now engaged a spokesperson -- William Marshall. Among other things, he states that Ms. Richardson is awaiting clarification from WaMu as to whether she had secured new loan terms in time, but that she is still in fact the owner of her Sacramento home (though public records state otherwise).

I'll continue to let you know of any other new developments as reported by the media.

Rep. Richardson defaulted on three Calif. home loans - The Hill
 By Jared Allen
 05/27/08

The tale of Rep. Laura Richardson's (D) personal housing crisis got even more captivating Tuesday as her office said the freshman lawmaker defaulted on loans she took out for not just one, but three, California homes.

The news of one of Richardson's properties recently being sold at auction captured widespread attention last week in the wake of the nation's housing crisis. But that was only part of the story.

Richardson's office said Tuesday she has caught up on her payments and renegotiated the terms of loans she took out to purchase homes in San Pedro and Long Beach, Calif. Her office confirmed that the lawmaker defaulted on both of these homes and was risking foreclosure when she went months without making payments.

A third home that Richardson borrowed heavily to move into in Sacramento was sold at auction earlier this month - at a $150,000 loss to the bank that issued her the $535,000 loan.

William Marshall, a spokesman for Richardson, said on Tuesday that she was still awaiting clarification from her lender, Washington Mutual, as to whether she had secured new loan terms in time and was still, in fact, the owner of the home.

Richardson told The Associated Press on Friday that she was surprised to learn that the home was sold at the May 7 auction. She claimed that the sale never should have happened because she had renegotiated her loan to pay it off.

Even as that was happening, ethics watchdogs were crying foul over Richardson's personal finances and questioning how she was able to lend her campaign to Congress $77,500 in the midst of multiple home loan defaults.

Federal Election Commission (FEC) reports show that Richardson loaned her campaign a total of $77,500 - in three installments - between June and July of 2007.

Richardson's year-end FEC filing showed that her campaign still had $331,000 worth of debt but $116,000 cash-on-hand.

Marshall was unable to immediately answer questions about whether Richardson borrowed against any of her home equity - from homes she defaulted on - to finance her House campaign.

But he did not dispute reports that Richardson had done the very same thing the year prior when she borrowed $100,000 against her Long Beach home - whose mortgage she later defaulted on - to loan to her campaign for the California General Assembly. She repaid that personal loan in its entirety, according to Los Angeles media outlets.

Melanie Sloan, executive director of the Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington, criticized Richardson for falling deeper into debt while choosing to spend more than $77,500 of her own money on her campaign. She suggested that Richardson's actions only demonstrated her belief that winning a seat in Congress is more important than practicing personal fiscal responsibility.

Sloan added Richardson should not be in the situation she is while making a congressional salary when homeowners around the country making $50,000 or less are struggling to pay their debts.

"Truthfully, it's appalling," Sloan said.

Meredith McGehee, policy director for the Campaign Legal Center, said it would be reasonable for the FEC to look into the timing of the loan against the timeline of Richardson's home loan defaults.

"In situations like this it's very important for whoever loaned her the money to demonstrate that they treated her equitably, not favorably," McGehee said. "Otherwise, you're getting into a situation of a corporate underwriting of a campaign."

Richardson's FEC reports do not spell out the terms of her personal loans to her campaign.

Richardson originally came under scrutiny last week when it was learned that a home she owned in Sacramento was sold at auction after it went into foreclosure.

As well as her $535,000 home in Sacramento, a home that Richardson owned in San Pedro - which she borrowed $359,000 to obtain - went into default in September 2007 when she became more than $12,000 behind in her payments.

In addition, Richardson's primary residence in Long Beach went into default just two months ago after she failed to make a payment for four months and owed nearly $20,000 on the property. Marshall declined to give details of the new loans that he said Richardson was able to secure.

Richardson last week told reporters in California that her experience makes her particularly well-suited to help Congress legislate a solution to the nation's housing crisis, saying she hoped to testify before congressional committees on the issue.

And when Congress returns following the Memorial Day recess, reconciling the House and Senate versions of the legislation designed to help the housing market rebound will be on the top of the agenda.

Richardson did not vote on the version of the Foreclosure Prevention Act that passed the House, but said she missed the vote only because she was attending her father's funeral.

Richardson was a member of the Long Beach City Council when she won a California General Assembly seat in November 2006, months before she purchased the home in Sacramento. She won the congressional seat the following year in the special election to replace the late Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald (D).

 Subject: Update York Comment Re: Sale

All -
 Please see below - York has now publicly offered to resell the home for $535,000 -- the same price Richardson paid for it in 2007. I will scan recent coverage in an effort to uncover additional info and will route to the team in advance of tomorrow's meeting. It also appears that Richardson has refrained from making further comments at this time.

L.A. Land: latimes.com <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/>>

Buyer of Rep. Laura Richardson's house: Sho "walked away" <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/buyer-of-rep-la.html>>

The Wall Street Journal quotes the buyer of U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson's Sacramento house as saying she walked away from the house, and can have it back if she wants it -- for the same price she paid for it in 2007.

Richardson (pictured) has denied a published report that her house went into foreclosure, <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/report-lender-t.html>> saying she worked with her lender to renegotiate her mortgage.

But James York, the Sacramento broker listed on public documents as the new buyer of the home, tells the Journal's "Developments" blog the congresswoman walked away from the mortgage: "She's walked away from the property," he said. "I would be happy to resell her the home for the $535,000."

That would represent a tidy profit for York, who reportedly bought the Richardson house at auction for $388,000.

Richardson's office has not answered questions about the Sacramento home. In a statement Wednesday, the Democrat from Long Beach said the house "is not in foreclosure" and that she had reached an agreement with her lender on a loan modification.

 Subject: Congresswoman's Financial Report: This Won't Be Pretty.
 Date: Thu Jun 12 2008 11:30:16 EDT
 Attachments:

FYI, below. It appears that the House members' annual financial reports are scheduled to be released on Monday, which may include specific information about Ms. Richardson's home loan issues.

Just so you are aware, I communicated to Mary Ann that I couldn't discuss Ms. Richardson's loan situation (not foreclosure sale).

I'll let you know if I receive any media calls today.

Congresswoman's Financial Report: This Won't Be Pretty.

Mary Ann Akers And Paul Kane

12 June 2008

The Washington Post

We may learn more about Rep. Laura Richardson's (D-Calif.) home foreclosure problems Monday, when House members' annual financial reports are scheduled to be released.

Richardson filed her report on time rather than seeking an extension, her spokesman, William Marshall, tells On the Hill. But Marshall says he can "neither confirm nor deny" whether the disclosure report will reflect the full extent of the beleaguered congresswoman's financial woes, which include foreclosure on one home and loan defaults on two others.

Marshall declined to answer questions about how Richardson, who won a special election last August, wound up in such dire straits. She lost her Sacramento home to foreclosure after failing to make payments, at the same time that she reportedly owed Sacramento County some $9,000 in property taxes and defaulted on loans six times on two other California homes.

In the meantime, however, Richardson rose in one year from Long Beach councilwoman to state assemblywoman to a member of the U.S. Congress.

According to the Long Beach Press-Telegram, Richardson also failed to pay hundreds of dollars worth of car repairs to one mechanic, then ultimately abandoned the car at another auto body shop.

Yesterday, the story took a new twist. The Los Angeles Times reported that the home Richardson lost in foreclosure could be returned to her, because the lender, Washington Mutual <javascript:void(0)>, filed a letter of rescission of the foreclosure sale and asked the new owner for the keys back.

"They took the property back, and they didn't even send back the money," the new owner, real estate investor James York, told the Times. "It's clear what's happening is Ms. Richardson is abusing her political power and using it for her own political needs," he said. "You don't have to be smart to understand what's happening."

Richardson isn't saying anything. Referring to the congresswoman's lender, her spokesman told us, "This is about Washington Mutual. <javascript:void(0)>." He urged us to call Washington Mutual <javascript:void(0)> for comment. But a Washington Mutual <javascript:void(0)> spokeswoman told us she couldn't comment on the foreclosure sale because Congresswoman Richardson "has not provided us with authorization to publicly discuss her loan."

Hi Wonza,
 There were two checks returned 4/21/08 for delinquent property taxes $3109.81 + $405.49. This loan went to fc sale which has been rescinded and we will be modifying this loan. Who can send the task to set up the escrow for these taxes and possibly research if those taxes are still delinquent since the checks came back from Sacramento County?

Thanks,

Savannah Rogers

All:
 As expected, coverage on Congresswoman Richardson's financial situation has continued to evolve after it was reported on Friday that she has defaulted on other loans -- including her primary residence. I'm forwarding the blog posting embedded below in particular, as it reflects the current viewpoint among other journalists and links to key articles/postings published to date.

UPDATED: A Congressional Speculator? - Calculated Risk
 by Tanta
<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/congressional-speculator.html>

This is an update to post below on Rep. Laura Richardson's foreclosure woes.

Gene Maddaus of the Daily Breeze <http://www.dailybreeze.com/ci_9366061> kindly forwarded today's additions to the saga. There are not two, but three homes owned by Richardson in foreclosure. And yes, she appears to have cashed out her primary residence back in 2006 to fund her campaign for State Assembly. So it looks like a pattern.

I have been watching the story of Representative Laura Richardson and her foreclosure woes for a while now, while heretofore hesitating to post on it. For one thing, the original story--a member of Congress losing her expensive second home to foreclosure--had that kind of celebrity car-crash quality to it that I'm not especially interested in for the purposes of this blog. For another thing, posting about anything even tangentially related to politics invites the kind of comments that personally bore me to tears.

All that is still true, but the story has taken such an unfortunate turn that I feel obligated to weigh in on it. Specifically, Rep. Richardson is threatening us <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126>:

Rather than shy away from voting on mortgage-related bills, Richardson said her experiences could help her craft legislation to make sure others don't experience what she did. For example, she sees a need to add steps to inform property owners before their property can be sold.

"We have to ensure that lenders and lenders have the tools with proper timing to resolve this," she said.

If Rep. Richardson is going to base legislative proposals on her own experience, then it matters to the rest of us what that experience was. So click the link below if you can stand to hear about it.

The story was originally reported in the Sacramento Capitol Weekly <http://www.capitolweekly.net/article.php?_adctid=v%7Cjq2q43wvsi855o%7Cx4vss6731uskip&issuelid=x4tyolqkrlw0m0&xid=x4ptlrmv0w0r6x>, and picked up by the Wall Street Journal <<http://blogs.wsj.com/developments/2008/05/22/congresswomans-home-sold-in-foreclosure>> auction/>, and thence covered by a number of blogs, with the storyline being that Rep. Richardson "walked away" from her home, a second home she purchased in Sacramento after being elected to the State Assembly. The "walk away" part came from a remark made by the real estate investor who purchased the home at the foreclosure auction, not Rep. Richardson or anyone who could be expected to understand her financial situation, but that didn't stop the phrase "walk away" from headlining <<http://globeconomicanalysis.blogspot.com/2008/05/congresswoman-walk-away.html>> blog <<http://optionarmageddon.blogspot.com/2008/05/update-on-walk-away-congresswoman.html>> posts <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/buyer-of-rep-la.html>>.

Rep. Richardson has variously claimed at different times that the house was not in foreclosure, that she had worked out a modification with the lender, and that the lender improperly foreclosed after having agreed to accept her payments. Frankly, unless and until Rep. Richardson gives her lender, Washington Mutual, permission to tell its side of the story--I'm not holding my breath on that--we're unlikely to be able to sort out this mess of claims to my satisfaction, at least.

It's possible that WaMu screwed this up--that it accepted payments on a workout plan with the understanding that foreclosure was "on hold" and then sold the property at auction the next week anyway. It's possible that Richardson's version of what went on is muddled, too. Without some more hard information I'm not inclined to assume the servicer did most of the screwing up, if for no other reason that we didn't find out until late yesterday, courtesy of the L.A. Land <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/richardson-says.html>> and Foreclosure Truth <<http://www foreclosuretruth.com/blog/sear/foreclosure-crisis-gets-personal-rep-laura-richardson>> blogs, that Richardson's other home--her primary residence--was also in foreclosure proceedings as recently as March of this year, a detail that as far as I can tell Richardson never disclosed in all the previous discussion of the facts surrounding the foreclosure of her second home.

What part of this I am most interested in, right now, is the question of what in the hell exactly Richardson was thinking when she bought the Sacramento home in the first place. Since the story is quite complex, let's get straight on a few details. Richardson was a Long Beach City Council member who was elected to the state legislature in November of 2006. In January of 2007 she purchased a second home in Sacramento, presumably to live in during the Assembly session. In April 2007, the U.S. Congressional Representative from Richardson's district died, and Richardson entered an expensive race for that seat, winning in a special election in August of 2007. By December 2007 the Sacramento home was in default, and it was foreclosed in early May of 2008. The consensus in the published reports seems to be that Richardson spent what money she had on her campaign, not her bills.

According to the AP <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126> Richardson, 46, makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

It seems to me that all this focus on what happened after she bought the Sacramento home--running for the suddenly-available Congressional seat, changing jobs, etc.--is obscuring the issue of the original transaction.

In November of 2006, Richardson already owned a home in Long Beach. As a newly-elected state representative, she would have been required to maintain her principal residence in her district, but she would also have had to make some arrangements for staying in Sacramento during Assembly sessions, given the length of the commute from L.A. County to the state capitol. She seems to have told the AP reporter that "Lawmakers are required to maintain two residences while other people don't have to," which is not exactly the way I'd have put it. Lawmakers are required to maintain one primary residence (which need not be owned) in their district. They are not required to buy a home at the capitol (of California or the U.S.); many legislators do rent. Richardson is a single woman with no children, yet she felt "required" to purchase a 3-bedroom, 1 1/2 bathroom home in what sounds like one of Sacramento's pricier neighborhoods for $535,500, with no downpayment and with $15,000 in closing cost contributions from the property seller. (The NAR median price in Sacramento in the first quarter of 2007 was $385,300 <http://www.usatoday.com/money/economy/housing/2008-05-13-q1-homeprices_N.htm>.)

I have no idea what loan terms Richardson got for a 100% LTV second home purchase in January 2007, but I'm going to guess that if she got something like a 7.00% interest only loan (without additional mortgage insurance), she got a pretty darn good deal. If she got that good a deal, her monthly interest payment would have been $3123.75. Assuming taxes and insurance of 1.50% of the property value, her total payment would have been $3793.13.

The AP reports that Richardson's salary as a state representative was $113,000 in 2007, and she received $20,000 in per diem payments (which are, of course, intended to offset the additional expense of traveling to and staying in the Capitol during sessions). I assume the per diem is non-taxable, so I'll gross it up to $25,000. That gives me an annual income of $138,000 or a gross monthly income of $11,500.

The total payment on the second home, then, with my sunny assumptions about loan terms, comes to 33% of Richardson's gross income. I have no idea what the payment is for her principal residence in Long Beach. I have no idea what other debt she might have. I am ignoring her congressional race and job changes and all that because at the point she took out this mortgage, that was all in the future and Richardson didn't know that the incumbent would die suddenly and all that. I'm just trying to figure out what went through this woman's mind when she decided it was a wise financial move to spend one-third of her pre-tax income on a second home. (There's no point trying to figure out what went through the lender's mind at the time. There just isn't.)

Now, Richardson has this <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126> to say about herself:

"I'm Laura Richardson. I'm an American, I'm a single woman who had four employment changes in less than four months," Richardson told the AP. "I had to figure out just like every other American how I could restructure the obligations that I had with the income I had."

Yeah, well, I'm Tarta, I'm an American, I'm a single woman, and I say you're full of it. You need to show us what your plan for affording this home was before the job changes, girlfriend. You might also tell me why you felt you needed such an expensive second home when you had no money to put down on it or even to pay your own closing costs. As it happens, the Mercury News/AP <http://www.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9337369?click_check=1> reported that by June of 2007--five months after purchase--you had a lien filed for unpaid utility bills. You didn't budget for the lights?

But what are we going to get? We're going to get Richardson all fired up in Congress about tinkering with foreclosure notice timing, which is last I knew a question of state, not federal, law, and which has as far as I can see squat to do with why this loan failed.

Quite honestly, if WaMu did give Richardson some loan modification deal, I'd really like to know what went through the Loss Mit Department's collective and individual minds when they signed off on that. Sure, Richardson's salary went up to $170,000 when she became a member of the U.S. Congress, but what does she need a home in Sacramento for after that? Where's she going to live in Washington, DC? And, well, her principal residence was also in the process of foreclosure at the same time. I suppose I might have offered a short sale or deed-in-lieu here, but a modification? Why would anybody do that? Because she's a Congresswoman?

I'm quite sure Richardson wants to be treated like just a plain old American and not get special treatment. Well, I was kind of hard on a plain old American the other day who wrote a "hardship letter" <<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/how-not-to-write-hardship-letter.html>> that didn't pass muster with me. I feel obligated to tell Richardson that she sounds like a real estate speculator who bought a home she obviously couldn't afford, defaulted on it, and now wants WaMu to basically subsidize her Congressional campaign by lowering her mortgage payment or forgiving debt. And that's.

... disgusting. At the risk of sounding like Angelo.

I know some of you are thinking that maybe poor Ms. Richardson got taken advantage of by some fast-talking REALTOR who encouraged her to buy more house than she could afford.

According to Pete Viles at L.A. Land <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/land/2008/05/us-rep-laura-ri.html>>, She likes the Realtors, and they like her. She filed financial disclosure forms with the House Ethics Committee reporting the National Assn. of Realtors flew her to Las Vegas in November to help swear in the new president of the association, Realtor Dick Gaylord of Long Beach.

In suggested remarks* at the NAR gathering, also filed with the House, Richardson's script read: "I might be one of the newest members of Congress but I am not a new member of the REALTOR Party. When I needed help to win a tough primary, REALTORS stood up and backed me even though I was the underdog."

--Real estate industry professionals have given her $39,500 in campaign contributions in the current election cycle, according to Open Secrets.

No wonder she's blaming the lender.

UPDATED: A Congressional Speculator? - Calculated Risk
by Tanta
<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/congressional-speculator.html>

This is an update to post below on Rep. Laura Richardson's foreclosure woes.

Gene Maddaus of the Daily Breeze <http://www.dailybreeze.com/cj_9366061> kindly forwarded today's additions to the saga. There are not two, but three homes owned by Richardson in foreclosure. And yes, she appears to have cashed out her primary residence back in 2006 to fund her campaign for State Assembly. So it looks like a pattern.

I have been watching the story of Representative Laura Richardson and her foreclosure woes for a while now, while heretofore hesitating to post on it. For one thing, the original story--a member of Congress losing her expensive second home to foreclosure--had that kind of celebrity car-crash quality to it that I'm not especially interested in for the purposes of this blog. For another thing, posting about anything even tangentially related to politics invites the kind of comments that personally bore me to tears.

All that is still true, but the story has taken such an unfortunate turn that I feel obligated to weigh in on it. Specifically, Rep. Richardson is threatening us <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126>:

Rather than shy away from voting on mortgage-related bills, Richardson said her experiences could help her craft legislation to make sure others don't experience what she did. For example, she sees a need to add steps to inform property owners before their property can be sold.

"We have to ensure that lenders and lenders have the tools with proper timing to resolve this," she said.

If Rep. Richardson is going to base legislative proposals on her own experience, then it matters to the rest of us what that experience was. So click the link below if you can stand to hear about it.

The story was originally reported in the Sacramento Capitol Weekly <http://www.capitolweekly.net/article.php?_adctid=v%7Cjq2q43wvsl855o%7Cx4vss6731usktp&issueld=x4yolqkrw0m0&xid=x4pfrmv0w0r6x>, and picked up by the Wall Street Journal <<http://blogs.wsj.com/developments/2008/05/22/congresswomans-home-sold-in-foreclosure-auction/>>, and thence covered by a number of blogs, with the storyline being that Rep. Richardson "walked away" from her home, a second home she purchased in Sacramento after being elected to the State Assembly. The "walk away" part came from a remark made by the real estate investor who purchased the home at the foreclosure auction, not Rep. Richardson or anyone who could be expected to understand her financial situation, but that didn't stop the phrase "walk away" from headlining <<http://globaleconomicanalysis.blogspot.com/2008/05/congresswoman-walks-away.html>> blog <<http://optionarmageddon.blogspot.com/2008/05/update-on-walk-away-congresswoman.html>> posts <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/aland/2008/05/buyer-of-rep-la.html>>.

Rep. Richardson has variously claimed at different times that the house was not in foreclosure, that she had worked out a modification with the lender, and that the lender improperly foreclosed after having agreed to accept her payments. Frankly, unless and until Rep. Richardson gives her lender, Washington Mutual, permission to tell its side of the story--I'm not holding my breath on that--we're unlikely to be able to sort out this mess of claims to my satisfaction, at least.

It's possible that WaMu screwed this up--that it accepted payments on a workout plan with the understanding that foreclosure was "on hold" and then sold the property at auction the next week anyway. It's possible that Richardson's version of what went on is muddled, too. Without some more hard information I'm not inclined to assume the servicer did most of the screwing up, if for no other reason that we didn't find out until late yesterday, courtesy of the L.A. Land <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/aland/2008/05/richardson-says.html>> and Foreclosure Truth <<http://www foreclosuretruth.com/blog/sean/foreclosure-crisis-gets-personal-rep-laura-richardson>> blogs, that Richardson's other home--her primary residence--was also in foreclosure proceedings as recently as March of this year, a detail that as far as I can tell Richardson never disclosed in all the previous discussion of the facts surrounding the foreclosure of her second home.

What part of this I am most interested in, right now, is the question of what in the hell exactly Richardson was thinking when she bought the Sacramento home in the first place. Since the story is quite complex, let's get straight on a few details. Richardson was a Long Beach City Council member who was elected to the state legislature in November of 2006. In January of 2007 she purchased a second home in Sacramento, presumably to live in during the Assembly session. In April 2007, the U.S. Congressional Representative from Richardson's district died, and Richardson entered an expensive race for that seat, winning in a special election in August of 2007. By December 2007 the Sacramento home was in default, and it was foreclosed in early May of 2008. The consensus in the published reports seems to be that Richardson spent what money she had on her campaign, not her bills.

According to the AP <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126>: Richardson, 46, makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

It seems to me that all this focus on what happened after she bought the Sacramento home—running for the suddenly-available Congressional seat, changing jobs, etc.—is obscuring the issue of the original transaction.

In November of 2006, Richardson already owned a home in Long Beach. As a newly-elected state representative, she would have been required to maintain her principal residence in her district, but she would also have had to make some arrangements for staying in Sacramento during Assembly sessions, given the length of the commute from L.A. County to the state capitol. She seems to have told the AP reporter that "Lawmakers are required to maintain two residences while other people don't have to," which is not exactly the way I'd have put it. Lawmakers are required to maintain one primary residence (which need not be owned) in their district. They are not required to buy a home at the capitol (of California or the U.S.); many legislators do rent. Richardson is a single woman with no children, yet she felt "required" to purchase a 3-bedroom, 1 1/2 bathroom home in what sounds like one of Sacramento's pricier neighborhoods for $535,500, with no downpayment and with $15,000 in closing cost contributions from the property seller. (The NAR median price in Sacramento in the first quarter of 2007 was $365,300 <http://www.usatoday.com/money/economy/housing/2008-05-13-q1-homeprices_N.htm>.)

I have no idea what loan terms Richardson got for a 100% LTV second home purchase in January 2007, but I'm going to guess that if she got something like a 7.00% interest only loan (without additional mortgage insurance), she got a pretty darn good deal. If she got that good a deal, her monthly interest payment would have been $3123.75. Assuming taxes and insurance of 1.50% of the property value, her total payment would have been $3793.13.

The AP reports that Richardson's salary as a state representative was $113,000 in 2007, and she received $20,000 in per diem payments (which are, of course, intended to offset the additional expense of traveling to and staying in the Capitol during sessions). I assume the per diem is non-taxable, so I'll gross it up to $25,000. That gives me an annual income of $138,000 or a gross monthly income of $11,500.

The total payment on the second home, then, with my sunny assumptions about loan terms, comes to 33% of Richardson's gross income. I have no idea what the payment is for her principal residence in Long Beach. I have no idea what other debt she might have. I am ignoring her congressional race and job changes and all that because at the point she took out this mortgage, that was all in the future and Richardson didn't know that the incumbent would die suddenly and all that. I'm just trying to figure out what went through this woman's mind when she decided it was a wise financial move to spend one-third of her pre-tax income on a second home. (There's no point trying to figure out what went through the lender's mind at the time. There just isn't.)

Now, Richardson has this <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126> to say about herself:

"I'm Laura Richardson. I'm an American, I'm a single woman who had four employment changes in less than four months," Richardson told the AP. "I had to figure out just like every other American how I could restructure the obligations that I had with the income I had."

Yeah, well, I'm Tanla, I'm an American, I'm a single woman, and I say you're full of it. You need to show us what your plan for affording this home was before the job changes, girlfriend. You might also tell me why you felt you needed such an expensive second home when you had no money to put down on it or even to pay your own closing costs. As it happens, the Mercury News/AP <http://www.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9337389?nclick_check=1> reported that by June of 2007--five months after purchase--you had a lien filed for unpaid utility bills. You didn't budget for the lights?

But what are we going to get? We're going to get Richardson all fired up in Congress about tinkering with foreclosure notice timing, which is last I knew a question of state, not federal, law, and which has as far as I can see equal to do with why this loan failed.

Quite honestly, if WaMu did give Richardson some loan modification deal, I'd really like to know what went through the Loss Mit Department's collective and individual minds when they signed off on that. Sure, Richardson's salary went up to $170,000 when she became a member of the U.S. Congress, but what does she need a home in Sacramento for after that? Where's she going to live in Washington, DC? And, well, her principal residence was also in the process of foreclosure at the same time. I suppose I might have offered a short sale or deed-in-lieu here, but a modification? Why would anybody do that? Because she's a Congresswoman?

I'm quite sure Richardson wants to be treated like just a plain old American and not get special treatment. Well, I was kind of hard on a plain old American the other day who wrote a "hardship letter <<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/how-not-to-write-hardship-letter.html>>" that didn't pass muster with me. I feel obligated to tell Richardson that she sounds like a real estate speculator who bought a home she obviously couldn't afford, defaulted on it, and now wants WaMu to basically subsidize her Congressional campaign by lowering her mortgage payment or forgiving debt. And that's... disgusting. At the risk of sounding like Angelo.

I know some of you are thinking that maybe poor Ms. Richardson got taken advantage of by some fast-talking REALTOR who encouraged her to buy more house than she could afford.

According to Pete Viles at L.A. Land <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/land/2008/05/us-rep-laura-r.html>>. She likes the Realtors, and they like her. She filed financial disclosure forms with the House Ethics Committee reporting the National Assn. of Realtors flew her to Las Vegas in November to help swear in the new president of the association, Realtor Dick Gaylord of Long Beach.

In suggested remarks* at the NAR gathering, also filed with the House, Richardson's script read: "I might be one of the newest members of Congress but I am not a new member of the REALTOR Party. When I needed help to win a tough primary, REALTORS stood up and backed me even though I was the underdog."

--Real estate industry professionals have given her $39,500 in campaign contributions in the current election cycle, according to Open Secrets.

No wonder she's blaming the lender.

As it happens, the Mercury News/AP <http://www.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/cj_9337389?nclck=1> reported that by June of 2007—five months after purchase—you had a lien filed for unpaid utility bills. You didn't budget for the lights?

But what are we going to get? We're going to get Richardson all fired up in Congress about tinkering with foreclosure notice timing, which is last I knew a question of state, not federal, law, and which has as far as I can see squat to do with why this loan failed.

Quite honestly, if WaMu did give Richardson some loan modification deal, I'd really like to know what went through the Loss Mit Department's collective and individual minds when they signed off on that. Sure, Richardson's salary went up to $170,000 when she became a member of the U.S. Congress, but what does she need a home in Sacramento for after that? Where's she going to live in Washington, DC? And, well, her principal residence was also in the process of foreclosure at the same time. I suppose I might have offered a short sale or deed-in-lieu here, but a modification? Why would anybody do that? Because she's a Congresswoman?

I'm quite sure Richardson wants to be treated like just a plain old American and not get special treatment. Well, I was kind of hard on a plain old American the other day who wrote a "hardship letter <<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/how-not-to-write-hardship-letter.html>>" that didn't pass muster with me. I feel obligated to tell Richardson that she sounds like a real estate speculator who bought a home she obviously couldn't afford, defaulted on it, and now wants WaMu to basically subsidize her Congressional campaign by lowering her mortgage payment or forgiving debt. And that's . . . disgusting. At the risk of sounding like Angelo.

I know some of you are thinking that maybe poor Ms. Richardson got taken advantage of by some fast-talking REALTOR who encouraged her to buy more house than she could afford.

According to Pete Viles at L.A. Land <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/land/2008/05/us-rep-laura-ri.html>>. She likes the Realtors, and they like her. She filed financial disclosure forms with the House Ethics Committee reporting the National Assn. of Realtors flew her to Las Vegas in November to help swear in the new president of the association, Realtor Dick Gaylord of Long Beach.

In suggested remarks* at the NAR gathering, also filed with the House, Richardson's script read: "I might be one of the newest members of Congress but I am not a new member of the REALTOR Party. When I needed help to win a tough primary, REALTORS stood up and backed me even though I was the underdog."

...Real estate industry professionals have given her $39,500 in campaign contributions in the current election cycle, according to Open Secrets.

No wonder she's blaming the lender.

All:
As expected, coverage on Congresswoman Richardson's financial situation has continued to evolve after it was reported on Friday that she has defaulted on other loans -- including her primary residence. I'm forwarding the blog posting embedded below in particular, as it reflects the current viewpoint among other journalists and links to key articles/postings published to date.

UPDATED: A Congressional Speculator? - Calculated Risk
by Tanta
<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/congressional-speculator.html>

This is an update to post below on Rep. Laura Richardson's foreclosure woes.

Gene Maddaus of the Daily Breeze <http://www.dailybreeze.com/ci_9366061> kindly forwarded today's additions to the saga. There are not two, but three homes owned by Richardson in foreclosure. And yes, she appears to have cashed out her primary residence back in 2006 to fund her campaign for State Assembly. So it looks like a pattern.

I have been watching the story of Representative Laura Richardson and her foreclosure woes for a while now, while heretofore hesitating to post on it. For one thing, the original story--a member of Congress losing her expensive second home to foreclosure--had that kind of celebrity car-crash quality to it that I'm not especially interested in for the purposes of this blog. For another thing, posting about anything even tangentially related to politics invites the kind of comments that personally bore me to tears.

All that is still true, but the story has taken such an unfortunate turn that I feel obligated to weigh in on it. Specifically, Rep. Richardson is threatening us <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126>:

Rather than shy away from voting on mortgage-related bills, Richardson said her experiences could help her craft legislation to make sure others don't experience what she did. For example, she sees a need to add steps to inform property owners before their property can be sold.

"We have to ensure that lenders and lenders have the tools with proper timing to resolve this," she said.

If Rep. Richardson is going to base legislative proposals on her own experience, then it matters to the rest of us what that experience was. So click the link below if you can stand to hear about it.

The story was originally reported in the Sacramento Capitol Weekly <http://www.capitolweekly.net/article.php?_adctid=v%7Cjg2q43wvst855o%7Cx4vss6731uskip&issuelid=x4tyolqkrhw0m0&xid=x4ptlmv0w0r6x>, and picked up by the Wall Street Journal <<http://blogs.wsj.com/developments/2008/05/22/congresswomans-home-sold-in-foreclosure-auction/>>, and thence covered by a number of blogs, with the storyline being that Rep. Richardson "walked away" from her home, a second home she purchased in Sacramento after being elected to the State Assembly. The "walk away" part came from a remark made by the real estate investor who purchased the home at the foreclosure auction, not Rep. Richardson or anyone who could be expected to understand her financial situation, but that didn't stop the phrase "walk away" from headlining <<http://globaleconomicanalysis.blogspot.com/2008/05/congresswoman-walks-away.html>> blog <<http://optionarmageddon.blogspot.com/2008/05/update-on-walk-away-congresswoman.html>> posts <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/buyer-of-rep-a.html>>.

Rep. Richardson has variously claimed at different times that the house was not in foreclosure, that she had worked out a modification with the lender, and that the lender improperly foreclosed after having agreed to accept her payments. Frankly, unless and until Rep. Richardson gives her lender, Washington Mutual, permission to tell its side of the story--I'm not holding my breath on that--we're unlikely to be able to sort out this mess of claims to my satisfaction, at least.

It's possible that WaMu screwed this up--that it accepted payments on a workout plan with the understanding that foreclosure was "on hold" and then sold the property at auction the next week anyway. It's possible that Richardson's version of what went on is muddled, too. Without some more hard information I'm not inclined to assume the servicer did most of the screwing up, if for no other reason that we didn't find out until late yesterday, courtesy of the L.A. Land <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/richardson-says.html>> and Foreclosure Truth <<http://www foreclosuretruth.com/blog/sean/foreclosure-crisis-gets-personal-rep-laura-richardson>> blogs, that Richardson's other home--her primary residence--was also in foreclosure proceedings as recently as March of this year, a detail that as far as I can tell Richardson never disclosed in all the previous discussion of the facts surrounding the foreclosure of her second home.

What part of this I am most interested in, right now, is the question of what in the hell exactly Richardson was thinking when she bought the Sacramento home in the first place. Since the story is quite complex, let's get straight on a few details. Richardson was a Long Beach City Council member who was elected to the state legislature in November of 2006. In January of 2007 she purchased a second home in Sacramento, presumably to live in during the Assembly session. In April 2007, the U.S. Congressional Representative from Richardson's district died, and Richardson entered an expensive race for that seat, winning in a special election in August of 2007. By December 2007 the Sacramento home was in default, and it was foreclosed in early May of 2008. The consensus in the published reports seems to be that Richardson spent what money she had on her campaign, not her bills.

According to the AP <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126>: Richardson, 46, makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

It seems to me that all this focus on what happened after she bought the Sacramento home—running for the suddenly-available Congressional seat, changing jobs, etc.—is obscuring the issue of the original transaction.

In November of 2006, Richardson already owned a home in Long Beach. As a newly-elected state representative, she would have been required to maintain her principal residence in her district, but she would also have had to make some arrangements for staying in Sacramento during Assembly sessions, given the length of the commute from L.A. County to the state capitol. She seems to have told the AP reporter that "Lawmakers are required to maintain two residences while other people don't have to," which is not exactly the way I'd have put it. Lawmakers are required to maintain one primary residence (which need not be owned) in their district. They are not required to buy a home at the capitol (of California or the U.S.); many legislators do rent. Richardson is a single woman with no children, yet she felt "required" to purchase a 3-bedroom, 1 1/2 bathroom home in what sounds like one of Sacramento's pricier neighborhoods for $535,500, with no downpayment and with $15,000 in closing cost contributions from the property seller. (The NAR median price in Sacramento in the first quarter of 2007 was $385,300 <http://www.usatoday.com/money/economy/housing/2008-05-13-q1-homeprices_N.htm>.)

I have no idea what loan terms Richardson got for a 100% LTV second home purchase in January 2007, but I'm going to guess that if she got something like a 7.00% interest only loan (without additional mortgage insurance), she got a pretty darn good deal. If she got that good a deal, her monthly interest payment would have been $3123.75. Assuming taxes and insurance of 1.50% of the property value, her total payment would have been $3793.13.

The AP reports that Richardson's salary as a state representative was $113,000 in 2007, and she received $20,000 in per diem payments (which are, of course, intended to offset the additional expense of traveling to and staying in the Capitol during sessions). I assume the per diem is non-taxable, so I'll gross it up to $25,000. That gives me an annual income of $138,000 or a gross monthly income of $11,500.

The total payment on the second home, then, with my sunny assumptions about loan terms, comes to 33% of Richardson's gross income. I have no idea what the payment is for her principal residence in Long Beach. I have no idea what other debt she might have. I am ignoring her congressional race and job changes and all that because at the point she took out this mortgage, that was all in the future and Richardson didn't know that the incumbent would die suddenly and all that. I'm just trying to figure out what went through this woman's mind when she decided it was a wise financial move to spend one-third of her pre-tax income on a second home. (There's no point trying to figure out what went through the lender's mind at the time. There just isn't.)

Now, Richardson has this <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126> to say about herself:

"I'm Laura Richardson. I'm an American, I'm a single woman who had four employment changes in less than four months," Richardson told the AP. "I had to figure out just like every other American how I could restructure the obligations that I had with the income I had."

Yeah, well, I'm Tanta, I'm an American, I'm a single woman, and I say you're full of it. You need to show us what your plan for affording this home was before the job changes, girlfriend. You might also tell me why you felt you needed such an expensive second home when you had no money to put down on it or even to pay your own closing costs. As it happens, the Mercury News/AP <http://www.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9337389?nckick_check=1> reported that by June of 2007--five months after purchase--you had a lien filed for unpaid utility bills. You didn't budget for the lights?

But what are we going to get? We're going to get Richardson all fired up in Congress about tinkering with foreclosure notice timing, which is last I knew a question of state, not federal, law, and which has as far as I can see squat to do with why this loan failed.

Quite honestly, if WaMu did give Richardson some loan modification deal, I'd really like to know what went through the Loss Mit Department's collective and individual minds when they signed off on that. Pelosi comments on Laura Richardson defaults
 <http://www.dailybreeze.com/ci_9564107>

WASHINGTON - House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, asked Thursday about fellow California Democratic Rep. Laura Richardson's multiple home defaults, said that "every member of Congress is responsible for living up to the highest ethical standards."
 Pelosi said she was not familiar with the details of the controversy surrounding Richardson, who won a special election last year to replace the late Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald in the 37th Congressional District in Long Beach.
 But every lawmaker must make "the fullest disclosure of his or her assets as is required by law," Pelosi said.

"Many people in our country are caught in the foreclosure crisis. Members of Congress maybe are as well," she added.

Late last month reports emerged that Richardson, a former state Assemblywoman and member of the Long Beach City Council, had lost her Sacramento home to foreclosure and has two other homes in Southern California that have fallen into default six times.

Last week the Long Beach Press-Telegram reported that Richardson had also left car repair bills unpaid.

Richardson easily won her Democratic primary June 3 and is running unopposed in the November general election, although at least one of her Democratic primary opponents is making plans to challenge her as a write-in candidate.

Richardson defended herself after the first reports of the foreclosure on her Sacramento home, saying it never should have happened and she'd worked out a deal with her lender to buy it back. However the purchaser of the property, James York of Red Rock Mortgage in Sacramento, complained in published reports this week that Richardson had been given favorable terms because she's a congresswoman and that he planned to sue over the issue.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, had no immediate comment Thursday.

California Assembly Speaker Karen Bass, D-Los Angeles, also addressed the Richardson situation Thursday during a visit to Washington. Bass and other Assembly leaders had endorsed Richardson's congressional bid but Bass told reporters she'd had no idea about Richardson's financial issues.

Richardson had a quick rise in politics, moving from the Long Beach City Council to a state Assembly seat in 2006 and to Congress the next year.

"Given the rapid pace of all of that I can understand the financial difficulties, but now more is coming out," Bass said. She said she'd hoped while in Washington to talk to Richardson about the situation but hadn't had the opportunity.

Debate intensifies over Richardson home default

By Anthony York <http://www.capitolweekly.net/author.php?_adctlid=v%7Cjq2q43wvsl8550%7Cx4xst9degisvl5&xid=2> (published Thursday, May 22, 2008)

A Long Beach congresswoman who fell behind in her payments on a $535,000 mortgage in Sacramento said in a written statement that she owns the home, but financial documents show the house was sold at public auction and has been in the possession of the buyer for weeks.

The auction for Rep. Laura Richardson's house, in Sacramento's Curtis Park neighborhood, took place on May 7. The transaction was detailed in public records filed with the county.

Richardson, a Democrat, a former Assembly member who was elected to the House last year, bought the 1,600-square-foot, three-bedroom house in January 2007, but soon fell behind in the payments.

The story of Richardson's Sacramento home is more than a tale of a real estate market gone sour. It is also an illustration of how far many candidates will go to seek elected office, even if it means quite literally mortgaging their own financial future.

While being elevated to Congress in a 2007 special election, Richardson apparently stopped making payments on her new Sacramento home, leaving nearly $600,000 in unpaid loans and fees, including nearly $9,000 in property taxes.

Richardson's decision to allow the loan to slide into default was set in motion by an unlikely chain of events, only some of which had to do with Sacramento's crumbling real estate market. Richardson was elected to the Assembly in November 2006, and purchased her new capital home two months later. But in April 2007, Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald succumbed to cancer, creating a Congressional vacancy in Richardson's district.

Richardson declared her candidacy for the seat, and soon found herself locked in a hotly contested, and very expensive race for Congress against state Sen. Jenny Oropeza, D-Long Beach.

While her campaign heated up, Richardson's house slipped into default. Richardson fell behind on her mortgage payments as she loaned her Congressional campaign $60,000 - money that has begun to be paid back to Richardson personally from her campaign account, according to records from the Center for Responsive Politics.

Richardson's opponent, Oropeza, loaned herself $115,000 for her run against Richardson. Oropeza's Congressional committee still shows nearly $200,000 in debt.

<http://www.capitolweekly.net/fs/ads:click/jq684y1dcexctdf/vv2ycn780aseo1/us/inpage2/x4xyj7ak13khov?_adctid=v%7Cjq2q43wvsI855o%7Cx4xst9degisv15>

Richardson declined requests over several days to discuss her real estate transaction. She also was not immediately available to comment Thursday, according to her office.

In a carefully written statement released Wednesday evening, she challenged Capitol Weekly's story about "the residential property that I own in Sacramento," and said that it had not been subjected to foreclosure. She also said that she renegotiated a loan in connection with the transaction, but did not provide details.

"I have worked with my lender to complete a loan modification and have renegotiated the terms of the agreement -- with no special provisions. I fully intend to fulfill all financial obligations of this property," she said.

But financial records on file with the county show that Richardson does not own the home. The house was sold on May 7 at a public foreclosure auction for $388,001.

That auction originally had been scheduled for April 7, but was delayed a month, said James York, a Sacramento real estate broker who purchased the house from the trustee, the California Reconveyance Company. That transaction was officially recorded on May 9, and the deed transfer and sale were recorded on May 19. Documents associated with the transaction can be viewed here. <http://www.capitolweekly.net/fs/global:file/article/jq2q6aq0qasen6_files/file/d/x4vrvhwqm2okig?_adctid=v%7Cjq2q43wvsI855o%7Cx4xst9degisv15>

"It was a foreclosure auction. I took possession of the house as of May 7," said York, who has conducted numerous similar purchases, according to county records. (York is not related to the author of this article).

York, whose firm specializes in foreclosure sales, said that Richardson did not participate in the transaction, that the house had been vacant for some time and that he paid the funds to California Reconveyance, which handles foreclosure property and is owned by Washington Mutual, the original lender.

The sale forced the bank to "take a $200,000 write-off," York noted. In an earlier interview with the Daily Breeze of Torrance, which reported a detailed account of the transaction, he said the bank "took a beating."

Tax records at the Sacramento County assessor's office show that in January 2007, Richardson took out a mortgage for the entire sale price of the house -- $535,000. The mortgage amount was equal to the sale price of the home, meaning she was able to buy the house without a down payment. At the time, the housing market was beginning to turn, but the severest impacts had not yet been felt. No-interest, "jumbo" loans--those more than $417,000--were still available from some lenders.

Richardson received a default notice in late 2007. By December 2007, less than a year after Richardson purchased the house, she was behind in her payments by more than $18,000.

Three months later, on March 19, 2008, a notice was filed with the county that Richardson's property would be sold at auction on April 7. According to the documents, the unpaid balance and other charges Richardson owed the bank was $587,384.

The March 19 notice of trustee's sale also described the unpaid balance of Richardson's loan, held by Washington Mutual, at more than $578,000 - $40,000 more than the original mortgage. Tax records show $8,950 in unpaid property taxes.

The Curtis Park house is not Richardson's primary residence. She also owns a four-bedroom house in Long Beach, in her congressional district. Real estate records show she purchased that house in 1999 for $135,000. An estimate from Zillow.com puts the current value of that house at $474,000.

Like many homes that have gone through foreclosure, Richardson's new residence quickly became an eyesore. With Richardson gone, upkeep on the home lapsed, and neighbors began to get angry.

"The neighbors are extremely unhappy with her," said Sharon Helmar, who sold the home to Richardson. "She didn't mow the lawn or take out the garbage while she was there. We lived there for a long time, 30 years, and we had to hide our heads whenever we came back to the neighborhood."

Helmar and her husband, Mark, sold the Curtis Park home to Richardson because Sharon's arthritis required the couple to move into a one-story house. With the area's real estate market slowing down, the house remained on the market for months, and the Helmars, who lived in the house for more than 30 years, were getting desperate to sell.

Helmar said that she has never met Richardson personally, but dealt with Richardson through her realtor. The Helmars wound up giving Richardson $15,000 toward closing costs, she said.

And she is still angry over what happened to a home that clearly she never really wanted to leave. "It's kind of silly. You would think people who are making decisions for others would be able to make good decisions for themselves," she said. "She should have known what she could afford and not afford. In this neighborhood, you just don't do that."

While Richardson walked away from her loan, she bested Oropeza in a June special election, and moved on to Congress. As a member of Congress, Richardson has been asked to vote on legislation pertaining to the spike in foreclosures around the country.

On the biggest pieces of legislation having to do with government bailouts for people whose homes have entered foreclosure, Richardson did not vote. She also did not vote on legislation by Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass, which would direct $2.7 billion in government funds to help an estimated 500,000 homeowners who are at risk of foreclosure. Richardson said she missed the votes because of the death of her father.

Richardson did not vote on a measure by Rep. Maxine Waters, D-Los Angeles, that would give local governments $15 billion to purchase, rehab and resell foreclosed properties.

While Richardson walked away from her bank loan, she has begun to pay herself back for the money she personally invested in her initial race. Records show that Richardson spent $587,000 out of her congressional campaign committee since declaring her congressional candidacy through March of this year. Of those expenditures, Richardson has spent $18,000 of that money to begin repaying herself for the money Richardson loaned to her campaign.

- ¶ WASHINGTON (AP) _ California Congresswoman Laura Richardson claims the foreclosure auction of her Sacramento house was improper and contrary to a written agreement she had with her lender.
- ¶ In a lengthy interview with The Associated Press on Friday, the Southern California Democrat struck back against several days of negative publicity over reports she defaulted on her mortgage. Her house was sold at auction earlier this month.
- ¶ Richardson said that sale never should have happened and that she has renegotiated her loan to pay it off.
- ¶ She insisted that she is not getting special terms because she's a congresswoman.
- ¶ In fact, Richardson said the experience has allowed her to relate to the thousands of other Americans _ including many in her Los Angeles-area district _ confronted with foreclosures. She even wants to testify before Congress about it.

Sara, thank you for calling us back earlier this evening.

As it happens, our reporter in Washington who covers California's congressional delegation was on the phone with Laura Richardson while you and I were talking. In brief, Richardson is blaming WaMu. She claims she did not know her Sacramento house was being sold at auction and says WaMu told her no action would be taken on it until sometime next month.

She also claims to have documentation to support this claim but has yet to provide it to us.

We'll be moving a story based on Richardson's comments shortly.

Because AP did not have her statement when we spoke previously, I wanted to give WaMu an opportunity to respond.

We'll be sending our story in takes (individual bites will move before the final writethru), and I can send you those so you can see exactly what Richardson claims.

Regards,

Tom

Embedded below is Congresswoman Laura Richardson's statement to the media for your reference.
 CONGRESSWOMAN LAURA RICHARDSON

For Immediate Release
 May 21, 2008

The story published in the Capitol Weekly regarding residential property that I own in Sacramento requires clarification.

Within a 12-month period last year (2007-2008), I was a member of Long Beach City Council, the District Director for California Lt. Gov. Cruz Bustamante, a member of the California State Legislature, and, now a member of Congress. While the transitioning has impacted me personally, the residential property in Sacramento California is not in foreclosure and has NOT been seized by the bank. I have worked with my lender to complete a loan modification and have renegotiated the terms of the agreement – with no special provisions. I fully intend to fulfill all financial obligations of this property. On two housing bills that were cited by the Capitol Weekly, the allegation is that I recused myself from these votes. I did not. I was absent from Washington, D.C., and my duties in the House of Representatives due to the untimely death of my father and his subsequent funeral in California. I understand that these homeownership issues are a reflection of what many Americans are going through as they fight to keep their homes and to remain financially stable.

 Please see below - York has now publicly offered to resell the home for $535,000 -- the same price Richardson paid for it in 2007. I will scan recent coverage in an effort to uncover additional info and will route to the team in advance of tomorrow's meeting. It also appears that Richardson has refrained from making further comments at this time.

Buyer of Rep. Laura Richardson's house: She "walked away" <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/buyer-of-rep-la.html>>

The Wall Street Journal quotes the buyer of U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson's Sacramento house as saying she walked away from the house, and can have it back if she wants it -- for the same price she paid for it in 2007.

Richardson (pictured) has denied a published report that her house went into foreclosure, <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/report-lender-l.html>> saying she worked with her lender to renegotiate her mortgage.

But James York, the Sacramento broker listed on public documents as the new buyer of the home, tells the Journal's "Developments" blog the congresswoman walked away from the mortgage: 'She's walked away from the property,' he said. 'I would be happy to resell her the home for the $535,000.'

That would represent a tidy profit for York, who reportedly bought the Richardson house at auction for $388,000.

Richardson's office has not answered questions about the Sacramento home. In a statement Wednesday, the Democrat from Long Beach said the house "is not in foreclosure" and that she had reached an agreement with her lender on a loan modification.

 Calif. congresswoman's home threatened with repo

Calif. congresswoman's home threatened with repossession after she fails to pay mortgage
 SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) -- Rep. Laura Richardson has an unusual perspective on the housing foreclosure bills moving through Congress: One of her own homes was threatened with repossession after she failed to pay the mortgage.

Richardson, a Southern California Democrat, bought a two-story home in a leafy, upper-middle-class neighborhood of Sacramento in January 2007, just months after winning a seat in the state Assembly. She bought the three-bedroom, 1 1/2-bath home in the state capital for $535,500. The bill collectors started knocking soon after, according to records reviewed Wednesday by The Associated Press. The city utility department placed a lien on her property in June 2007 for $154 in unpaid bills, according to documents at the Sacramento County recorder's office. In December, she received a default notice on the mortgage from the collection agency of Washington Mutual Inc., her lender. At that point, she owed $18,356.

Congresswoman's Home Sold in Foreclosure Auction - WSJ

Congress has turned its attention to solving the foreclosure crisis even as one of its members has lost a home in a foreclosure auction.

The Sacramento home of Rep. Laura Richardson was sold in a public auction two weeks ago for $388,000. The Southern California Democrat bought the house for $535,000 with no money down in January 2007 and owed nearly $575,000 to Washington Mutual when the mortgage was sold earlier this month at a significant loss to Red Rock Mortgage Inc.

Rep. Richardson, a former Long Beach city council member, bought the home after winning a seat in California's state assembly. She maintains her primary residence, a four-bedroom home, in her Long Beach district. Months later, Rep. Richardson ran in a hard-fought election for the congressional seat, which was vacated when the late Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald died from cancer. To fund that campaign, Rep. Richardson lent herself more than $75,000 and stopped making payments on the Sacramento home around the same time.

The story was first reported by the Capitol Weekly, a Sacramento publication.

Rep. Richardson said in a statement Wednesday that the home is not in foreclosure and had not been seized by the bank. "I have worked with my lender to complete a loan modification and have renegotiated the terms of the agreement - with no special provisions. I fully intend to fulfill all financial obligations of this property."

But James York, the Sacramento broker who bought Richardson's house at auction, told the Long Beach Press-Telegram that he planned to resell the home. The three-bedroom, 1.5-bathroom house sits on a 1,600 square foot parcel.

Richardson didn't vote on the housing rescue deal that passed the House of Representatives two weeks ago and in a statement attributed her absence to her father's funeral. But Richardson did vote last fall in favor of the Mortgage Forgiveness Debt Relief Act, which passed and prevents the federal government from charging income tax on debt forgiven as a consequence of foreclosure. -Nick Timiraos

Paul and Don -

Gene Maddaus posted an update to his earlier articles about an hour ago - see below. The story, which focuses on the validity of the foreclosure sale, includes numerous comments made by James York re: his current position.

In part, he says he's going to hang on to the house and would be surprised if WaMu sues to get it back. He then goes on to say that in this particular case, there isn't anything for WaMu to gain on the backside except for a congresswoman's good will.

Ann: You should also be aware that Richardson described her agreement with WaMu as a loan modification, and said she had begun making payments on it. I know that you've already discussed this with her directly, but wanted to give you a heads up.

Richardson faces fight for house

SOUTH BAY: Odds seem to be against the congresswoman getting her auctioned home back.

By Gene Maddaus

05/27/2008 11:38:22 PM PDT

South Bay Rep. Laura Richardson will face an uphill fight as she tries to reclaim her Sacramento house, which was sold in a foreclosure auction three weeks ago.

Richardson, a first-year Democrat, said last week that she is working with her lender to try to rescind the auction on the grounds that it was held in error.

A real estate broker, James York, bought the house May 7 for $388,000. Richardson argues that she had previously made an agreement with her lender, Washington Mutual, to reinstate her loan, which should make the auction invalid.

But several attorneys said Tuesday that the law in such cases is stacked in favor of the buyer at a foreclosure auction. Only in rare cases can an auction be overturned.

"It's gonna be very, very hard - even if the sale itself was improper - to get the sale reversed," said Richard Timan, an attorney who has handled similar cases. "People who don't make payments are not beloved by judges."

York said Tuesday that he plans on hanging on to the house and would be surprised if Washington Mutual sues to get it back.

"I'm not too worried about it," he said. "Once you get the deed, it's pretty much a done deal."

In California, two appellate decisions from 2005 deal with such cases.

In Melendrez v. D&I Investment Inc., the court held that a foreclosure sale was valid, even though the Melendrez family, of Watsonville, believed it had agreed to a repayment plan and had begun making payments.

"The Melendrez family had the same claim as the congresswoman does," said Timan, the plaintiff's attorney on the case, "which is that they had actually worked out a deal with the bank, and the bank hadn't documented it properly."

But all that mattered to the appellate court in that case was that D&I Investment was a "bona fide purchaser" - meaning, essentially, that the company bought the house in a fair auction, without committing fraud. The auction was upheld.

The other case, Bank of America v. La Jolla Group II, offers a ray of hope for Richardson. In that case, the Selesia family of Fresno fell behind on a loan with Bank of America. Before an auction was held, the family paid the entire arrearage on the loan. But the auction was erroneously held anyway, and the La Jolla Group II purchased the property.

The court voided the auction.

"Now it opens up the door for almost any sale to be challenged," said Susan Moore, who argued the case for the La Jolla Group II. "The trend seems to be moving more towards favoring the homeowner."

Richardson - who has also defaulted on her two other homes in Long Beach and San Pedro - described her agreement with Washington Mutual as a loan modification, and she said she had begun making payments on it.

Glenn Wechsler, who argued for Bank of America, noted that his case was limited to a reinstatement in which the entire arrearage was paid. He said he was unaware of a precedent that dealt directly with Richardson's circumstances.

But he said that often borrowers think they have an agreement to stop a foreclosure, when they don't. Assuming York is a bona fide purchaser, a judge will start from the "conclusive presumption" that the foreclosure sale was valid, Wechsler said.

York said the Bank of America case does not apply because Richardson did not pay off the entire arrearage.

"I know that for a fact," he said. "If I knew that she sent the money in on time, I would probably be thinking something different. But I know she didn't send it."

Additionally, he said he did not see why Washington Mutual would want to sue him to get the loan back.

"When the market was sky high, we would end up in lawsuits because there was equity in all the homes, and there's actually something to gain," he said. "In this case, there isn't anything to gain on the backside, except for a congresswoman's good will."

Without a reinstatement, Richardson will be unable to repay the $9,000 in back taxes on the property.

As it stands, York has assumed responsibility for Richardson's tax bill.

 FYI - It appears that Congresswoman Richardson has now engaged a spokesperson -- William Marshall. Among other things, he states that Ms. Richardson is awaiting clarification from WaMu as to whether she had secured new loan terms in time, but that she is still in fact the owner of her Sacramento home (though public records state otherwise).

I'll continue to let you know of any other new developments as reported by the media.

Rep. Richardson defaulted on three Calif. home loans - The Hill
 By Jared Allen
 05/27/08

The tale of Rep. Laura Richardson's (D) personal housing crisis got even more captivating Tuesday as her office said the freshman lawmaker defaulted on loans she took out for not just one, but three, California homes.

The news of one of Richardson's properties recently being sold at auction captured widespread attention last week in the wake of the nation's housing crisis. But that was only part of the story.

Richardson's office said Tuesday she has caught up on her payments and renegotiated the terms of loans she took out to purchase homes in San Pedro and Long Beach, Calif. Her office confirmed that the lawmaker defaulted on both of these homes and was risking foreclosure when she went months without making payments.

A third home that Richardson borrowed heavily to move into in Sacramento was sold at auction earlier this month - at a $150,000 loss to the bank that issued her the $535,000 loan.

William Marshall, a spokesman for Richardson, said on Tuesday that she was still awaiting clarification from her lender, Washington Mutual, as to whether she had secured new loan terms in time and was still, in fact, the owner of the home.

Richardson told The Associated Press on Friday that she was surprised to learn that the home was sold at the May 7 auction. She claimed that the sale never should have happened because she had renegotiated her loan to pay it off.

Even as that was happening, ethics watchdogs were crying foul over Richardson's personal finances and questioning how she was able to lend her campaign to Congress $77,500 in the midst of multiple home loan defaults.

Federal Election Commission (FEC) reports show that Richardson loaned her campaign a total of $77,500 - in three installments - between June and July of 2007.

Richardson's year-end FEC filing showed that her campaign still had $331,000 worth of debt but $116,000 cash-on-hand.

Marshall was unable to immediately answer questions about whether Richardson borrowed against any of her home equity - from homes she defaulted on - to finance her House campaign.

But he did not dispute reports that Richardson had done the very same thing the year prior when she borrowed $100,000 against her Long Beach home - whose mortgage she later defaulted on - to loan to her campaign for the California General Assembly. She repaid that personal loan in its entirety, according to Los Angeles media outlets.

Melanie Sloan, executive director of the Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington, criticized Richardson for falling deeper into debt while choosing to spend more than $77,500 of her own money on her campaign. She suggested that Richardson's actions only demonstrated her belief that winning a seat in Congress is more important than practicing personal fiscal responsibility.

Sloan added Richardson should not be in the situation she is while making a congressional salary when homeowners around the country making $50,000 or less are struggling to pay their debts.

"Truthfully, it's appalling," Sloan said.

Meredith McGehee, policy director for the Campaign Legal Center, said it would be reasonable for the FEC to look into the timing of the loan against the timeline of Richardson's home loan defaults.

"In situations like this it's very important for whoever loaned her the money to demonstrate that they treated her equitably, not favorably," McGehee said. "Otherwise, you're getting into a situation of a corporate underwriting of a campaign."

Richardson's FEC reports do not spell out the terms of her personal loans to her campaign.

Richardson originally came under scrutiny last week when it was learned that a home she owned in Sacramento was sold at auction after it went into foreclosure.

As well as her $535,000 home in Sacramento, a home that Richardson owned in San Pedro - which she borrowed $359,000 to obtain - went into default in September 2007 when she became more than $12,000 behind in her payments.

In addition, Richardson's primary residence in Long Beach went into default just two months ago after she failed to make a payment for four months and owed nearly $20,000 on the property. Marshall declined to give details of the new loans that he said Richardson was able to secure.

Richardson last week told reporters in California that her experience makes her particularly well-suited to help Congress legislate a solution to the nation's housing crisis, saying she hoped to testify before congressional committees on the issue.

And when Congress returns following the Memorial Day recess, reconciling the House and Senate versions of the legislation designed to help the housing market rebound will be on the top of the agenda.

Richardson did not vote on the version of the Foreclosure Prevention Act that passed the House, but said she missed the vote only because she was attending her father's funeral.

Richardson was a member of the Long Beach City Council when she won a California General Assembly seat in November 2006, months before she purchased the home in Sacramento. She won the congressional seat the following year in the special election to replace the late Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald (D).

UPDATED: A Congressional Speculator? - Calculated Risk
by Tanta
<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/congressional-speculator.html>

This is an update to post below on Rep. Laura Richardson's foreclosure woes.

Gene Maddaus of the Daily Breeze <http://www.dailybreeze.com/cj_9366061> kindly forwarded today's additions to the saga. There are not two, but three homes owned by Richardson in foreclosure. And yes, she appears to have cashed out her primary residence back in 2006 to fund her campaign for State Assembly. So it looks like a pattern.

I have been watching the story of Representative Laura Richardson and her foreclosure woes for a while now, while heretofore hesitating to post on it. For one thing, the original story--a member of Congress losing her expensive second home to foreclosure--had that kind of celebrity car-crash quality to it that I'm not especially interested in for the purposes of this blog. For another thing, posting about anything even tangentially related to politics invites the kind of comments that personally bore me to tears.

All that is still true, but the story has taken such an unfortunate turn that I feel obligated to weigh in on it. Specifically, Rep. Richardson is threatening us <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/cj_9363126>:

Rather than shy away from voting on mortgage-related bills, Richardson said her experiences could help her craft legislation to make sure others don't experience what she did. For example, she sees a need to add steps to inform property owners before their property can be sold.

"We have to ensure that lenders and lenders have the tools with proper timing to resolve this," she said.

If Rep. Richardson is going to base legislative proposals on her own experience, then it matters to the rest of us what that experience was. So click the link below if you can stand to hear about it.

The story was originally reported in the Sacramento Capitol Weekly <http://www.capitolweekly.net/article.php?_adctid=v%7Cq2q43wvs855o%7Cx4vss6731uskip&issuelid=x4tyolqkrw0m0&xid=x4ptirmv0w0r6x>, and picked up by the Wall Street Journal <<http://blogs.wsj.com/developments/2008/05/22/congresswomans-home-sold-in-foreclosure-auction/>>, and thence covered by a number of blogs, with the storyline being that Rep. Richardson "walked away" from her home, a second home she purchased in Sacramento after being elected to the State Assembly. The "walk away" part came from a remark made by the real estate investor who purchased the home at the foreclosure auction, not Rep. Richardson or anyone who could be expected to understand her financial situation, but that didn't stop the phrase "walk away" from headlining <<http://globeconomicanalysis.blogspot.com/2008/05/congresswoman-walks-away.html>> blog <<http://optionamageddon.blogspot.com/2008/05/update-on-walk-away-congresswoman.html>> posts <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/buyer-of-rep-la.html>>.

Rep. Richardson has variously claimed at different times that the house was not in foreclosure, that she had worked out a modification with the lender, and that the lender improperly foreclosed after having agreed to accept her payments. Frankly, unless and until Rep. Richardson gives her lender,

Washington Mutual, permission to tell its side of the story--I'm not holding my breath on that--we're unlikely to be able to sort out this mess of claims to my satisfaction, at least.

It's possible that WaMu screwed this up--that it accepted payments on a workout plan with the understanding that foreclosure was "on hold" and then sold the property at auction the next week anyway. It's possible that Richardson's version of what went on is muddled, too. Without some more hard information I'm not inclined to assume the servicer did most of the screwing up. If for no other reason that we didn't find out until late yesterday, courtesy of the L.A. Land <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laand/2008/05/richardson-says.html>> and Foreclosure Truth <<http://www.foreclosuretruth.com/blog/seen/foreclosure-crisis-gets-personal-rep-laura-richardson>> blogs, that Richardson's other home--her primary residence--was also in foreclosure proceedings as recently as March of this year, a detail that as far as I can tell Richardson never disclosed in all the previous discussion of the facts surrounding the foreclosure of her second home.

What part of this I am most interested in, right now, is the question of what in the hell exactly Richardson was thinking when she bought the Sacramento home in the first place. Since the story is quite complex, let's get straight on a few details. Richardson was a Long Beach City Council member who was elected to the state legislature in November of 2006. In January of 2007 she purchased a second home in Sacramento, presumably to live in during the Assembly session. In April 2007, the U.S. Congressional Representative from Richardson's district died, and Richardson entered an expensive race for that seat, winning in a special election in August of 2007. By December 2007 the Sacramento home was in default, and it was foreclosed in early May of 2008. The consensus in the published reports seems to be that Richardson spent what money she had on her campaign, not her bills.

According to the AP <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126>: Richardson, 46, makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

It seems to me that all this focus on what happened after she bought the Sacramento home--running for the suddenly-available Congressional seat, changing jobs, etc.--is obscuring the issue of the original transaction.

In November of 2006, Richardson already owned a home in Long Beach. As a newly-elected state representative, she would have been required to maintain her principal residence in her district, but she would also have had to make some arrangements for staying in Sacramento during Assembly sessions, given the length of the commute from L.A. County to the state capitol. She seems to have told the AP reporter that "Lawmakers are required to maintain two residences while other people don't have to," which is not exactly the way I'd have put it. Lawmakers are required to maintain one primary residence (which need not be owned) in their district. They are not required to buy a home at the capitol (of California or the U.S.); many legislators do rent. Richardson is a single woman with no children, yet she felt "required" to purchase a 3-bedroom, 1 1/2 bathroom home in what sounds like one of Sacramento's pricier neighborhoods for $535,500, with no downpayment and with $15,000 in closing cost contributions from the property seller. (The NAR median price in Sacramento in the first quarter of 2007 was $365,300 <http://www.usatoday.com/money/economy/housing/2008-05-13-q1-homeprices_N.htm>.)

I have no idea what loan terms Richardson got for a 100% LTV second home purchase in January 2007, but I'm going to guess that if she got something like a 7.00% interest only loan (without additional mortgage insurance), she got a pretty darn good deal. If she got that good a deal, her monthly interest payment would have been $3123.75. Assuming taxes and insurance of 1.50% of the property value, her total payment would have been $3793.13.

The AP reports that Richardson's salary as a state representative was $113,000 in 2007, and she received $20,000 in per diem payments (which are, of course, intended to offset the additional expense of traveling to and staying in the Capitol during sessions), I assume the per diem is non-taxable, so I'll gross it up to $25,000. That gives me an annual income of $138,000 or a gross monthly income of $11,500.

The total payment on the second home, then, with my sunny assumptions about loan terms, comes to 33% of Richardson's gross income. I have no idea what the payment is for her principal residence in Long Beach. I have no idea what other debt she might have. I am ignoring her congressional race and job changes and all that because at the point she took out this mortgage, that was all in the future and Richardson didn't know that the incumbent would die suddenly and all that. I'm just trying to figure out what went through this woman's mind when she decided it was a wise financial move to spend one-third of her pre-tax income on a second home. (There's no point trying to figure out what went through the lender's mind at the time. There just isn't.)

Now, Richardson has this <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126> to say about herself:

"I'm Laura Richardson. I'm an American, I'm a single woman who had four employment changes in less than four months," Richardson told the AP. "I had to figure out just like every other American how I could restructure the obligations that I had with the income I had."

Yeah, well, I'm Tanta, I'm an American, I'm a single woman, and I say you're full of it. You need to show us what your plan for affording this home was before the job changes, girlfriend. You might also tell me why you felt you needed such an expensive second home when you had no money to put down on it or even to pay your own closing costs. As it happens, the Mercury News/AP <http://www.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9337389?nclck_check=1> reported that by June of 2007--five months after purchase--you had a lien filed for unpaid utility bills. You didn't budget for the lights?

But what are we going to get? We're going to get Richardson all fired up in Congress about linking with foreclosure notice timing, which is last I knew a question of state, not federal, law, and which has as far as I can see squat to do with why this loan failed.

Quite honestly, if WaMu did give Richardson some loan modification deal, I'd really like to know what went through the Loss Mit Department's collective and individual minds when they signed off on that. Sure, Richardson's salary went up to $170,000 when she became a member of the U.S. Congress, but what does she need a home in Sacramento for after that? Where's she going to live in Washington, DC? And, well, her principal residence was also in the process of foreclosure at the same time. I suppose I might have offered a short sale or deed-in-lieu here, but a modification? Why would anybody do that? Because she's a Congresswoman?

I'm quite sure Richardson wants to be treated like just a plain old American and not get special treatment. Well, I was kind of hard on a plain old American the other day who wrote a "hardship letter <<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/how-not-to-write-hardship-letter.html>>" that didn't pass muster with me. I feel obligated to tell Richardson that she sounds like a real estate speculator who bought a home she obviously couldn't afford, defaulted on it, and now wants WaMu to basically subsidize her Congressional campaign by lowering her mortgage payment or forgiving debt. And that's... disgusting. At the risk of sounding like Angelo.

I know some of you are thinking that maybe poor Ms. Richardson got taken advantage of by some fast-talking REALTOR who encouraged her to buy more house than she could afford.

According to Pete Viles at L.A. Land <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/us-rop-laura-ri.html>>, She likes the Realtors, and they like her. She filed financial disclosure forms with the House Ethics Committee reporting the National Assn. of Realtors flew her to Las Vegas in November to help swear in the new president of the association, Realtor Dick Gaylord of Long Beach.

In suggested remarks* at the NAR gathering, also filed with the House, Richardson's script read: "I might be one of the newest members of Congress but I am not a new member of the REALTOR Party.

When I needed help to win a tough primary, REALTORS stood up and backed me even though I was the underdog."

—Real estate industry professionals have given her $39,500 in campaign contributions in the current election cycle, according to Open Secrets.

No wonder she's blaming the lender.

Brad -

Please see the article embedded below for more detail, but long story short, Congresswoman Laura Richardson appears to have defaulted on her WaMu loan (second home) and on March 19, a notice was filed with the county that her property would be sold at auction.

Congresswoman Richardson initially declined to comment, however, Jan Owen has learned from the Congresswoman that she plans to communicate to The Washington Post that she has established a repayment plan with WaMu.

Would you please look into Congresswoman Richardson's situation as soon as possible so that we understand the facts? Her loan number is [REDACTED]

Many thanks,

Sara

Foreclosure tale shows that nobody is immune from crisis

By Anthony York (published Tuesday, May 20, 2008)

As the real estate market softened in 2007, the new owner of a three-bedroom, 1,600-square-foot house in Sacramento's Curtis Park neighborhood ran into trouble. The house that was purchased for $535,000 in January had lost equity. The owner fell behind in her payments, and eventually, the bank seized the home.

What makes this story different from the thousands like it is that the owner of this house was a member of Congress.

The story of the foreclosure of Long Beach Democrat Laura Richardson's Sacramento home is a tale of a real estate market gone sour. It is also an illustration of how far many candidates will go to seek elected office, even if it means quite literally mortgaging their own financial future.

While being elevated to Congress in a 2007 special election, Richardson apparently stopped making payments on her new Sacramento home, and eventually walked away from it, leaving nearly $600,000 in unpaid loans and fees.

Richardson's decision to let the house slip into foreclosure was set in motion by an unlikely chain of events, only some of which had to do with Sacramento's crumbling real estate market. Richardson was elected to the Assembly in November 2006, and purchased her new capital home two months later. But in April 2007, Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald succumbed to cancer, creating a Congressional vacancy in Richardson's district.

Richardson declared her candidacy for the seat, and soon found herself locked in a hotly contested, and very expensive race for Congress against slate Sen. Jenny Oropeza, D-Long Beach.

While her campaign heated up, Richardson's house slipped into default. Richardson fell behind on her mortgage payments as she loaned her Congressional campaign $60,000 - money that has begun to be paid back to Richardson personally from her campaign account, according to records from the Center for Responsive Politics.

Richardson's opponent, Oropeza, loaned herself $115,000 for her run against Richardson. Oropeza's Congressional committee still shows nearly $200,000 in debt.

Richardson declined to comment for this story.

But tax records at the Sacramento County assessor's office show that in January 2007, Richardson took out a mortgage for the entire sale price of the house -- $535,000. The mortgage amount was equal to the sale price of the home, meaning she was able to buy the house without a down payment, even though the housing market was beginning to turn.

A March 19, 2008 notice of trustee's sale indicates that the unpaid balance of Richardson's loan, which is held by Washington Mutual, is more than $578,000 --$40,000 more than the original mortgage.

The Curtis Park house is not Richardson's primary residence. She also owns a four-bedroom house in Long Beach, in her Congressional district. Real estate records show she purchased that house in 1999 for $135,000. An estimate from Zillow.com puts the current value of that house at $474,000

Like many homes that have gone through foreclosure, Richardson's new residence quickly became an eyesore. With Richardson gone, upkeep on the home lapsed, and neighbors began to get angry.

"The neighbors are extremely unhappy with her," said Sharon Helmar, who sold the home to Richardson. "She didn't mow the lawn or take out the garbage while she was there. We lived there for a long time, 30 years, and we had to hide our heads whenever we came back to the neighborhood."

Helmar and her husband, Mark, sold the Curtis Park home to Richardson because Sharon's arthritis required the couple to move into a one-story house. With the area's real estate market slowing down, the house remained on the market for months, and the Helmars, who lived in the house for more than 30 years, were getting desperate to sell.

Helmar said that she has never met Richardson personally, but dealt with Richardson through her realtor. The Helmars wound up giving Richardson $15,000 toward closing costs, she said.

And she is still angry over what happened to a home that clearly she never really wanted to leave. "It's kind of silly. You would think people who are making decisions for others would be able to make good decisions for themselves," she said. "She should have known what she could afford and not afford. In this neighborhood, you just don't do that."

While Richardson walked away from her loan, she bested Oropeza in a June special election, and moved on to Congress. As a member of Congress, Richardson has been asked to vote on legislation pertaining to the spike in foreclosures around the country.

On the biggest pieces of legislation having to do with government bailouts for people whose homes have entered foreclosure, Richardson has recused herself. She did not vote on legislation by Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass, which would direct $2.7 billion in government funds to help an estimated 500,000 homeowners who are at risk of foreclosure.

Richardson also did not vote on a measure by Rep. Maxine Waters, D-Los Angeles, that would give local governments $15 billion to purchase, rehab and resell foreclosed properties.

While Richardson walked away from her bank loan, she has begun to pay herself back for the money she personally invested in her initial race. Records show that Richardson spent $587,000 out of her Congressional campaign committee since declaring her Congressional candidacy through March of this year. Of those expenditures, Richardson has spent $18,000 of that money to begin repaying herself for the money Richardson loaned to her campaign.

According to documents at the Sacramento County Clerk's office , Richardson first received a default notice in late 2007. By December 2007, less than a year after Richardson purchased the house, she was behind in her payments by more than $18,000.

Three months later, on March 19, a notice was filed with the county that Richardson's property would be sold at auction. According to the documents, the unpaid balance and other charges Richardson owed the bank was $587,384.

FYI, below. The latest Richardson update.....

By Paul Eakins, Staff Writer

LONG BEACH - Car trouble takes on a new meaning when it comes to financially distressed Congresswoman Laura Richardson.

In 2005, when she was still on the Long Beach City Council, she left one mechanic in a lurch with an unpaid bill, then later had her badly damaged BMW towed to an auto body shop but didn't pay for any work and abandoned the car there, owners of the businesses said this week.

The next day, Richardson began using a city-owned vehicle - putting almost 31,000 miles on it in about a year - and continued driving the car five days after she had left the council to serve in the state Assembly, city records show.

Richardson, 46, didn't return phone calls seeking comment this week.

Those are just the newest revelations of Richardson's ongoing financial problems and instances of her unpaid debts.

Last month, it was reported that Richardson's Sacramento home, where she had lived during her brief Assembly stint before moving on to Congress, had fallen into foreclosure and been sold at auction.

Further investigation revealed she had defaulted on that house and two others in Long Beach and San Pedro a total of eight times since 2004.

Meanwhile, Richardson was lending money to her campaigns as she embarked on an unprecedented rise to power from council to Assembly to Congress in one year. On Tuesday, she won the Democratic nomination to serve her first full, two-year term in Congress, and she is unchallenged in the November general election.

Unpaid and abandoned

Richardson's car problems all started with a shimmy.

In October 2005, her 1999 four-door 740iL BMW had an odd vibration in the front, so she took it to Signal Hill Foreign Auto Service, according to Leo Labreche, the shop owner.

Mechanics there fixed the car and replaced some worn parts, but when Richardson picked up her vehicle, she said she didn't have the money to pay the $735 bill, Labreche said. Because Richardson was a council member, Labreche let her take the car, assuming that she was good for the money, he said.

"She had picked the car up and was going to come back and pay the bill, and she never did," Labreche said.

Labreche said he spent months leaving messages on Richardson's cell phone voice mail, then he got a collection agency involved, but still the bill went unpaid.

"I couldn't get through to her, and then when the collection agency couldn't do anything, I thought,

'There's nothing I'm going to be able to do,'" Labreche said.

But on Tuesday, after the Press-Telegram requested an interview with Richardson to discuss the 2 1/2-year-old unpaid bill, she went to the auto shop and paid Labreche, he said.

Similarly, Richardson last week paid off a $150 printing bill owed to a local company following published reports about the debt.

Richardson also settled a bill Tuesday with another mechanic, Alvin's Auto Body In Signal Hill, only this time she came out ahead, in a sense.

About one month after Richardson had taken her BMW to Labreche for work, she got into a car accident that tore up the front left corner of her car, leaving it undriveable.

She initially had it towed back to Labreche for repairs, even though she still owed him money. But Labreche doesn't do auto body work.

So the car was sent to Alvin's Auto Body, which received the BMW on Nov. 17, 2005, according to owner Bob Lillegard.

But Lillegard never heard from Richardson or her insurance company, he said.

"I'd call her office, and they'd say she was too busy," Lillegard said. "I couldn't get through to her."

The BMW's extensive damage would have cost about $9,000 to repair, Lillegard said, which he suggested might have been more than the car was worth. The "Kelley Blue Book" Web site says a 1999 740iL BMW with standard options and 100,000 miles has a retail value of about $15,000 today.

In December 2005, Lillegard filed for a mechanic's lien on Richardson's car to pay the towing, storage and administrative costs, he said. Lillegard said the lien was finalized in February 2006 and he sold the car to a junkyard, though a few days later - too late - Richardson sent him money to put toward the bill.

The junkyard bought the BMW for $3,500, so Lillegard took the $2,100 he said was owed him, and when Richardson went to the body shop on Tuesday, he paid her the difference, he said.

A city ride

After the accident that led to Richardson abandoning her car, she apparently was without transportation.

So, on Nov. 18, one day after her BMW was towed to Lillegard's shop, she checked out a city-owned Toyota Prius to use for her council business, according to city Fleet Services Bureau records cited by city spokeswoman Meredith Reynolds.

Reynolds said that the Prius was issued to Richardson that day, and that it was returned more than a year later, a few days after Richardson had ended her council tenure.

In a letter acquired by the Press-Telegram from then-City Manager Jerry Miller to Richardson dated Dec. 5, 2006, Miller asks Richardson to return her city vehicle, identified as a Prius.

According to the letter, Richardson's last day as a council member was Dec. 3, 2006. She was sworn into the Assembly the following day.

City Fleet Services records show that Richardson turned in the car on Dec. 8, 2006, Reynolds said.

During the one year and almost three weeks that Richardson had the Prius, she drove it 30,920 miles, Reynolds said. That amounts to an average of more than 80 miles per day, or about 2,400 miles per month, for Richardson's part-time council job in a 50-square-mile city.

By comparison, the only other two council members who used city vehicles during part or all of the same time period averaged 900 miles per month in one case and less than 400 miles per month in the other, according to figures provided by Reynolds.

Council members can either use their own vehicles for council business and receive a monthly car allowance from the city, or they may use city vehicles. However, city policy doesn't allow city vehicles to be used for personal use.

Richardson has never been shy about using city cars.

In 2001 and 2002, she had the highest vehicle expenses of any council member, in part by putting nearly 7,000 personal miles on her car in 2002. At the time, she and other council members told the Press-Telegram that they hadn't been aware of the no-personal-use rule.

In 2003, Richardson had been using a gas-guzzling Ford Expedition owned by the city, but switched to a Toyota Solara to save money. She told the Press-Telegram then that she soon would stop using a city vehicle altogether and would switch to a monthly car allowance.

She scrapped that effort in 2005 when she left her BMW at the auto body shop and again got behind the wheel of a city car.

 Subject: Richardson Coverage: Calculated Risk Blog

All:
 As expected, coverage on Congresswoman Richardson's financial situation has continued to evolve after it was reported on Friday that she has defaulted on other loans -- including her primary residence. I'm forwarding the blog posting embedded below in particular, as it reflects the current viewpoint among other journalists and links to key articles/postings published to date.

UPDATED: A Congressional Speculator? - Calculated Risk
 by Tanta
<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/congressional-speculator.html>

This is an update to post below on Rep. Laura Richardson's foreclosure woes.

Gene Maddaus of the Daily Breeze <http://www.dailybreeze.com/ci_9366061> kindly forwarded today's additions to the saga. There are not two, but three homes owned by Richardson in foreclosure. And yes, she appears to have cashed out her primary residence back in 2006 to fund her campaign for State Assembly. So it looks like a pattern.

I have been watching the story of Representative Laura Richardson and her foreclosure woes for a while now, while heretofore hesitating to post on it. For one thing, the original story--a member of Congress losing her expensive second home to foreclosure--had that kind of celebrity car-crash quality to it that I'm not especially interested in for the purposes of this blog. For another thing, posting about anything even tangentially related to politics invites the kind of comments that personally bore me to tears.

All that is still true, but the story has taken such an unfortunate turn that I feel obligated to weigh in on it. Specifically, Rep. Richardson is threatening us <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126>:

Rather than shy away from voting on mortgage-related bills, Richardson said her experiences could help her craft legislation to make sure others don't experience what she did. For example, she sees a need to add steps to inform property owners before their property can be sold.

"We have to ensure that lenders and lendees have the tools with proper timing to resolve this," she said.

If Rep. Richardson is going to base legislative proposals on her own experience, then it matters to the rest of us what that experience was. So click the link below if you can stand to hear about it.

The story was originally reported in the Sacramento Capitol Weekly <http://www.capitolweekly.net/article.php?_adctid=v%7Cjg2q43wvsi655o%7Cx4vss6731uskip&issuelid=x4tyolqkriw0m0&xid=x4ptlrrw0w0r6x>, and picked up by the Wall Street Journal <<http://blogs.wsj.com/development/2008/05/22/congresswomans-home-sold-in-foreclosure-auction/>>, and thence covered by a number of blogs, with the storyline being that Rep. Richardson "walked away" from her home, a second home she purchased in Sacramento after being elected to the State Assembly. The "walk away" part came from a remark made by the real estate investor who purchased the home at the foreclosure auction, not Rep. Richardson or anyone who could be expected to understand her financial situation, but that didn't stop the phrase "walk away" from headlining <<http://globeconomicanalysis.blogspot.com/2008/05/congresswoman-walks-away.html>> blog <<http://optionarmageddon.blogspot.com/2008/05/update-on-walk-away-congresswoman.html>> posts <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laand/2008/05/buyer-of-rep-la.html>>.

Rep. Richardson has variously claimed at different times that the house was not in foreclosure, that she had worked out a modification with the lender, and that the lender improperly foreclosed after having agreed to accept her payments. Frankly, unless and until Rep. Richardson gives her lender, Washington Mutual, permission to tell its side of the story--I'm not holding my breath on that--we're unlikely to be able to sort out this mess of claims to my satisfaction, at least.

It's possible that WaMu screwed this up--that it accepted payments on a workout plan with the understanding that foreclosure was "on hold" and then sold the property at auction the next week anyway. It's possible that Richardson's version of what went on is muddled, too. Without some more hard information I'm not inclined to assume the servicer did most of the screwing up, if for no other reason that we didn't find out until late yesterday, courtesy of the L.A. Land <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laand/2008/05/richardson-says.html>> and Foreclosure Truth <<http://www foreclosuretruth.com/blog/sean/foreclosure-crisis-gets-personal-rep-laura-richardson>> blogs, that Richardson's other home--her primary residence--was also in foreclosure proceedings as recently as March of this year, a detail that as far as I can tell Richardson never disclosed in all the previous discussion of the facts surrounding the foreclosure of her second home.

What part of this I am most interested in, right now, is the question of what in the hell exactly Richardson was thinking when she bought the Sacramento home in the first place. Since the story is quite complex, let's get straight on a few details. Richardson was a Long Beach City Council member who was elected to the state legislature in November of 2006. In January of 2007 she purchased a second home in Sacramento, presumably to live in during the Assembly session. In April 2007, the U.S. Congressional Representative from Richardson's district died, and Richardson entered an expensive race for that seat, winning in a special election in August of 2007. By December 2007 the Sacramento home was in default, and it was foreclosed in early May of 2008. The consensus in the published reports seems to be that Richardson spent what money she had on her campaign, not her bills.

According to the AP <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126>: Richardson, 46, makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

It seems to me that all this focus on what happened after she bought the Sacramento home--running for the suddenly-available Congressional seat, changing jobs, etc.--is obscuring the issue of the original transaction.

In November of 2006, Richardson already owned a home in Long Beach. As a newly-elected state representative, she would have been required to maintain her principal residence in her district, but she would also have had to make some arrangements for staying in Sacramento during Assembly sessions, given the length of the commute from L.A. County to the state capitol. She seems to have told the AP reporter that "Lawmakers are required to maintain two residences while other people don't have to," which is not exactly the way I'd have put it. Lawmakers are required to maintain one primary residence (which need not be owned) in their district. They are not required to buy a home at the capitol (of California or the U.S.); many legislators do rent. Richardson is a single woman with no children, yet she felt "required" to purchase a 3-bedroom, 1 1/2 bathroom home in what sounds like one of Sacramento's pricier neighborhoods for $535,500, with no downpayment and with $15,000 in closing cost contributions from the property seller. (The NAR median price in Sacramento in the first quarter of 2007 was $365,300 <http://www.usatoday.com/money/economy/housing/2008-05-13-q1-homeprices_N.htm>.)

I have no idea what loan terms Richardson got for a 100% LTV second home purchase in January 2007, but I'm going to guess that if she got something like a 7.00% interest only loan (without additional mortgage insurance), she got a pretty darn good deal. If she got that good a deal, her monthly interest payment would have been $3123.75. Assuming taxes and insurance of 1.50% of the property value, her total payment would have been $3793.13.

The AP reports that Richardson's salary as a state representative was $113,000 in 2007, and she received $20,000 in per diem payments (which are, of course, intended to offset the additional expense of traveling to and staying in the Capitol during sessions). I assume the per diem is non-taxable, so I'll gross it up to $25,000. That gives me an annual income of $138,000 or a gross monthly income of $11,500.

The total payment on the second home, then, with my sunny assumptions about loan terms, comes to 33% of Richardson's gross income. I have no idea what the payment is for her principal residence in Long Beach. I have no idea what other debt she might have. I am ignoring her congressional race and job changes and all that because at the point she took out this mortgage, that was all in the future and Richardson didn't know that the incumbent would die suddenly and all that. I'm just trying to figure out what went through this woman's mind when she decided it was a wise financial move to spend one-third of her pre-tax income on a second home. (There's no point trying to figure out what went through the lender's mind at the time. There just isn't.)

Now, Richardson has this <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126> to say about herself:

"I'm Laura Richardson. I'm an American, I'm a single woman who had four employment changes in less than four months," Richardson told the AP. "I had to figure out just like every other American how I could restructure the obligations that I had with the income I had."

Yeah, well, I'm Tanta, I'm an American, I'm a single woman, and I say you're full of it. You need to show us what your plan for affording this home was before the job changes, girlfriend. You might also tell me why you felt you needed such an expensive second home when you had no money to put down on it or even to pay your own closing costs. As it happens, the Mercury News/AP <http://www.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9337389?nclck_check=1> reported that by June of 2007--five months after purchase--you had a lien filed for unpaid utility bills. You didn't budget for the lights?

But what are we going to get? We're going to get Richardson all fired up in Congress about tinkering with foreclosure notice timing, which is last I knew a question of state, not federal, law, and which has as far as I can see squat to do with why this loan failed.

Quite honestly, if WaMu did give Richardson some loan modification deal, I'd really like to know what went through the Loss Mit Department's collective and individual minds when they signed off on that. Sure, Richardson's salary went up to $170,000 when she became a member of the U.S. Congress, but what does she need a home in Sacramento for after that? Where's she going to live in Washington, DC? And, well, her principal residence was also in the process of foreclosure at the same time. I suppose I might have offered a short sale or deed-in-lieu here, but a modification? Why would anybody do that? Because she's a Congresswoman?

I'm quite sure Richardson wants to be treated like just a plain old American and not get special treatment. Well, I was kind of hard on a plain old American the other day who wrote a "hardship letter" <<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/how-not-to-write-hardship-letter.html>>" that didn't pass muster with me. I feel obligated to tell Richardson that she sounds like a real estate speculator who bought a home she obviously couldn't afford, defaulted on it, and now wants WaMu to basically subsidize her Congressional campaign by lowering her mortgage payment or forgiving debt. And that's . . . disgusting. At the risk of sounding like Angelo.

I know some of you are thinking that maybe poor Ms. Richardson got taken advantage of by some fast-talking REALTOR who encouraged her to buy more house than she could afford.

According to Pete Viles at L.A. Land <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laaland/2008/05/us-rep-laura-ri.html>>, She likes the Realtors, and they like her. She filed financial disclosure forms with the House Ethics Committee reporting the National Assn. of Realtors flew her to Las Vegas in November to help swear in the new president of the association, Realtor Dick Gaylord of Long Beach.

In suggested remarks* at the NAR gathering, also filed with the House, Richardson's script read: "I might be one of the newest members of Congress but I am not a new member of the REALTOR Party. When I needed help to win a tough primary, REALTORS stood up and backed me even though I was the underdog."

—Real estate industry professionals have given her $39,500 in campaign contributions in the current election cycle, according to Open Secrets.

No wonder she's blaming the lender.

Brad -

Please see the article embedded below for more detail, but long story short, Congresswoman Laura Richardson appears to have defaulted on her WaMu loan (second home) and on March 19, a notice was filed with the county that her property would be sold at auction.

Congresswoman Richardson initially declined to comment, however, Jan Owen has learned from the Congresswoman that she plans to communicate to The Washington Post that she has established a repayment plan with WaMu.

Would you please look into Congresswoman Richardson's situation as soon as possible so that we understand the facts? Her loan number is [REDACTED]

Many thanks,

Sara

Foreclosure tale shows that nobody is immune from crisis

By Anthony York (published Tuesday, May 20, 2008)

As the real estate market softened in 2007, the new owner of a three-bedroom, 1,600-square-foot house in Sacramento's Curtis Park neighborhood ran into trouble. The house that was purchased for $535,000 in January had lost equity. The owner fell behind in her payments, and eventually, the bank seized the home.

What makes this story different from the thousands like it is that the owner of this house was a member of Congress.

The story of the foreclosure of Long Beach Democrat Laura Richardson's Sacramento home is a tale of a real estate market gone sour. It is also an illustration of how far many candidates will go to seek elected office, even if it means quite literally mortgaging their own financial future.

While being elevated to Congress in a 2007 special election, Richardson apparently stopped making payments on her new Sacramento home, and eventually walked away from it, leaving nearly $600,000 in unpaid loans and fees.

Richardson's decision to let the house slip into foreclosure was set in motion by an unlikely chain of events, only some of which had to do with Sacramento's crumbling real estate market. Richardson was elected to the Assembly in November 2006, and purchased her new capital home two months later. But in April 2007, Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald succumbed to cancer, creating a Congressional vacancy in Richardson's district.

Richardson declared her candidacy for the seat, and soon found herself locked in a hotly contested, and very expensive race for Congress against state Sen. Jenny Oropeza, D-Long Beach.

While her campaign heated up, Richardson's house slipped into default. Richardson fell behind on her mortgage payments as she loaned her Congressional campaign $60,000 - money that has begun to be paid back to Richardson personally from her campaign account, according to records from the Center for Responsive Politics.

Richardson's opponent, Oropeza, loaned herself $115,000 for her run against Richardson. Oropeza's Congressional committee still shows nearly $200,000 in debt.

Richardson declined to comment for this story.

But tax records at the Sacramento County assessor's office show that in January 2007, Richardson took out a mortgage for the entire sale price of the house -- $535,000. The mortgage amount was equal to the sale price of the home, meaning she was able to buy the house without a down payment, even though the housing market was beginning to turn.

A March 19, 2008 notice of trustee's sale indicates that the unpaid balance of Richardson's loan, which is held by Washington Mutual, is more than $578,000 --$40,000 more than the original mortgage.

The Curtis Park house is not Richardson's primary residence. She also owns a four-bedroom house in Long Beach, in her Congressional district. Real estate records show she purchased that house in 1999 for $135,000. An estimate from Zillow.com puts the current value of that house at $474,000

Like many homes that have gone through foreclosure, Richardson's new residence quickly became an eyesore. With Richardson gone, upkeep on the home lapsed, and neighbors began to get angry.

"The neighbors are extremely unhappy with her," said Sharon Helmar, who sold the home to Richardson. "She didn't mow the lawn or take out the garbage while she was there. We lived there for a long time, 30 years, and we had to hide our heads whenever we came back to the neighborhood."

Helmar and her husband, Mark, sold the Curtis Park home to Richardson because Sharon's arthritis required the couple to move into a one-story house. With the area's real estate market slowing down, the house remained on the market for months, and the Helmars, who lived in the house for more than 30 years, were getting desperate to sell.

Helmar said that she has never met Richardson personally, but dealt with Richardson through her realtor. The Helmars wound up giving Richardson $15,000 toward closing costs, she said.

And she is still angry over what happened to a home that clearly she never really wanted to leave. "It's kind of silly. You would think people who are making decisions for others would be able to make good decisions for themselves," she said. "She should have known what she could afford and not afford. In this neighborhood, you just don't do that."

While Richardson walked away from her loan, she bested Oropeza in a June special election, and moved on to Congress. As a member of Congress, Richardson has been asked to vote on legislation pertaining to the spike in foreclosures around the country.

On the biggest pieces of legislation having to do with government bailouts for people whose homes have entered foreclosure, Richardson has recused herself. She did not vote on legislation by Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass, which would direct $2.7 billion in government funds to help an estimated 500,000 homeowners who are at risk of foreclosure.

Richardson also did not vote on a measure by Rep. Maxine Waters, D-Los Angeles, that would give local governments $15 billion to purchase, rehab and resell foreclosed properties.

While Richardson walked away from her bank loan, she has begun to pay herself back for the money she personally invested in her initial race. Records show that Richardson spent $587,000 out of her Congressional campaign committee since declaring her Congressional candidacy through March of this year. Of those expenditures, Richardson has spent $18,000 of that money to begin repaying herself for the money Richardson loaned to her campaign.

According to documents at the Sacramento County Clerk's office , Richardson first received a default notice in late 2007. By December 2007, less than a year after Richardson purchased the house, she was behind in her payments by more than $18,000.

Three months later, on March 19, a notice was filed with the county that Richardson's property would be sold at auction. According to the documents, the unpaid balance and other charges Richardson owed the bank was $587,384.

All - we just received a call from a reporter indicating that Congresswoman Richardson has said that she was not properly notified by WaMu that her home was going into default.

I'm looking to see if she made an official statement....

Good morning,
 Embedded below is the article we were expecting from Gene Maddaus. York claims that we've given Ms. Richardson preferential treatment and as reported in the article, plans to file a lawsuit against Richardson and WaMu by the end of the week.

Broker alleges loan favoritism - Press- Telegram (Long Beach)

By Gene Maddaus Staff Writer

June 9, 2008

The real estate broker who bought Rep. Laura Richardson's house at a foreclosure sale last month is accusing her of receiving preferential treatment because her lender has issued a notice to rescind the sale.

James York, owner of Red Rock Mortgage, said he would file a lawsuit against Richardson and her lender, Washington Mutual, by the end of the week, and has every intention of keeping the house.

"I'm just amazed they've done this," York said. "They never would have done this for anybody else."

York bought the Sacramento home at a foreclosure auction on May 7 for $388,000.

Richardson had not been making payments on the property for nearly a year, and had also gone into default on her two other houses in Long Beach and San Pedro.

Richardson, D-Long Beach, has said that the auction should never have been held, because she had worked out a loan modification agreement with her lender beforehand and had begun making payments.

Richardson left nearly $9,000 in unpaid property taxes on the home, which she bought in January 2007 for $535,000, shortly after being elected to the Assembly.

Washington Mutual has declined to comment on the specifics of Richardson's case, because she has not waived her privacy rights.

In a statement, spokeswoman Sara Gaugl said the company is "committed to treating all of our customers with the same level of consideration and fairness."

Washington Mutual filed a notice of rescission of the foreclosure sale on June 2.

That puts the bank squarely at odds with York, who has already put money into cleaning up the house and preparing it for resale.

"They owe me the property," York said. "The sale was a good sale."

York said an ordinary person would be unlikely to get the kind of consideration that Richardson has received from her bank.

"They wouldn't even get a phone call back," he said. "They would laugh at somebody who would call and say, 'We had some kind of agreement.' They wouldn't give you 10 cents worth of time."

Leo Nordine, a Hermosa Beach real estate broker who specializes in foreclosed homes, agreed that the rescission was out of the ordinary.

"It's extremely unusual," he said.

"Unless (the borrower) filed bankruptcy beforehand, they'd never do it."

Richardson's staff did not return a call on Monday.

Dustin Hobbs, a spokesman for the California Mortgage Bankers Association, said that while foreclosure rescissions are rarely publicized, they are becoming more common as the rate of foreclosures increases.

"Generally it is going to result in a legal battle," he said.

"Basically you're saying, 'We're willing to fight for our borrower.'"

Hobbs said a lender would be unlikely to go to bat for a borrower who has shown no ability to make future payments.

But if the foreclosure was the result of a temporary hardship or a paperwork mix-up, the lender has every incentive to restore the loan.

"Lenders are concerned about keeping borrowers in homes no matter who they are," he said.

In advance of Ann's discussion tomorrow with Ms. Richardson, I wanted to make you aware of the blog posting embedded below (thanks for forwarding, Paul). Unfortunately, some reporters are jumping to the conclusion that Ms. Richardson was able to secure a loan modification agreement with WaMu, despite her current financial standing.

Ann, please let us know how things go tomorrow (if you two are able to connect), and whether Ms. Richardson is expected to qualify for a workout based on the financial information provided. If we hear from Ms. Richardson, I will schedule a call tomorrow mid-day so that we can quickly touch base and discuss next steps.

Best,

Sara

Richardson Update: This Workout Smells - Calculated Risk (Blog)
 by Tanta
 June 10, 2008
 <<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/>>

Our soberer readers (I know we have them) will remember California Congresswoman Laura Richardson (D-Speculator), who is facing foreclosure proceedings on three homes. The uproar began with the foreclosure of sale her unoccupied "second home" in Sacramento, which Richardson claimed was an "error" on WaMu's part, since (she claimed) she had worked out a last-minute modification agreement with WaMu the week before the sale.

According to the Daily Breeze, WaMu has filed paperwork to rescind the foreclosure sale, and the man who bought the home is not happy:

The real estate broker who bought Rep. Laura Richardson's house at a foreclosure sale last month is accusing her of receiving preferential treatment because her lender has issued a notice to rescind the sale.

James York, owner of Red Rock Mortgage, said he would file a lawsuit against Richardson and her lender, Washington Mutual, by the end of the week, and has every intention of keeping the house.

"I'm just amazed they've done this," York said. "They never would have done this for anybody else."

York bought the Sacramento home at a foreclosure auction on May 7 for $388,000. Richardson had not been making payments on the property for nearly a year, and had also gone into default on her two other houses in Long Beach and San Pedro.

Richardson, D-Long Beach, has said that the auction should never have been held, because she had worked out a loan modification agreement with her lender beforehand and had begun making payments.

Richardson continues to refuse to authorize WaMu to release any information on her case, although frankly I'm not sure if I were WaMu I'd want to talk about it. This smells terrible, indeed. Perhaps reporters could simply ask some general questions of WaMu about its foreclosure workout policies. Like:

* How often are modifications or repayment plans offered to owners of vacant investment properties with no or negative equity that have never been listed or rented?

* How often are modifications offered to borrowers with two other properties currently in foreclosure?

* How often are modifications arranged in the week before the scheduled trustee's sale, following nearly a year of no contact?

* Does WaMu's policy on modifications make any reference to requiring a "commitment to homeownership" on the borrower's part? How, normally, is that established?

* Does WaMu's policy on modifications make any reference to establishing that the borrower does not display a "disregard for debt obligations"? How, normally, is that established?

If, for instance, we had some evidence that stifling creditors and getting the taxpayers to subsidize her financial imprudence was, like, a pattern of Richardson's long before the house payments went into default, would that, like, indicate that her mortgage problems may not have much to do with "extenuating circumstances"?

WaMu may not be able to read a credit report, but the Press-Telegram ferreted this out:

In 2005, when she was still on the Long Beach City Council, she left one mechanic in a lurch with an unpaid bill, then later had her badly damaged BMW towed to an auto body shop but didn't pay for any work and abandoned the car there, owners of the businesses said this week.

The next day, Richardson began using a city-owned vehicle - putting almost 31,000 miles on it in about a year - and continued driving the car five days after she had left the council to serve in the state Assembly, city records show. . . .

Labreche said he spent months leaving messages on Richardson's cell phone voice mail, then he got a collection agency involved, but still the bill went unpaid. . . .

In December 2005, Lillegard filed for a mechanic's lien on Richardson's car to pay the towing, storage and administrative costs, he said. Lillegard said the lien was finalized in February 2006 and he sold the car to a junkyard, though a few days later - too late - Richardson sent him money to put toward the bill.

So in January of 2007, WaMu gave Richardson a 100% loan to purchase a second home, when her credit report would have shown recent derogatories related to the car repair bills, plus the payments on two other homes, on a State Assembly salary that I can't quite see being equal to her existing debts, let alone a new house payment. In other words, she got your basic subprime loan that relied on nothing other than a fervent belief in endless house price appreciation--in January of 2007. Or else she got a loan because she's a VIP.

I continue to want to know why WaMu is bailing out a deadbeat and a speculator at the expense of a good-faith buyer of a foreclosure property, and wasting operational capacity on a deal like this instead of working with struggling owner-occupants who might actually pay back the modified loan. I will leave it to the citizens of California to explain why you want this woman anywhere near fiscal, budgetary, or housing policy power.

(Hat tip to Brian!)

FYI, below. The latest Richardson update.....

37th District Rep. Laura Richardson left car bills unpaid - Long Beach Press-Telegram

By Paul Eakins, Staff Writer

LONG BEACH - Car trouble takes on a new meaning when it comes to financially distressed Congresswoman Laura Richardson.

In 2005, when she was still on the Long Beach City Council, she left one mechanic in a lurch with an unpaid bill, then later had her badly damaged BMW towed to an auto body shop but didn't pay for any work and abandoned the car there, owners of the businesses said this week.

The next day, Richardson began using a city-owned vehicle - putting almost 31,000 miles on it in about a year - and continued driving the car five days after she had left the council to serve in the state Assembly, city records show.

Richardson, 46, didn't return phone calls seeking comment this week.

These are just the newest revelations of Richardson's ongoing financial problems and instances of her unpaid debts.

Last month, it was reported that Richardson's Sacramento home, where she had lived during her brief Assembly stint before moving on to Congress, had fallen into foreclosure and been sold at auction.

Further investigation revealed she had defaulted on that house and two others in Long Beach and San Pedro a total of eight times since 2004.

Meanwhile, Richardson was lending money to her campaigns as she embarked on an unprecedented rise to power from council to Assembly to Congress in one year. On Tuesday, she won the Democratic nomination to serve her first full, two-year term in Congress, and she is unchallenged in the November general election.

Unpaid and abandoned

Richardson's car problems all started with a shimmy.

In October 2005, her 1999 four-door 740iL BMW had an odd vibration in the front, so she took it to Signal Hill Foreign Auto Service, according to Leo Labreche, the shop owner.

Mechanics there fixed the car and replaced some worn parts, but when Richardson picked up her vehicle, she said she didn't have the money to pay the $735 bill, Labreche said. Because Richardson was a council member, Labreche let her take the car, assuming that she was good for the money, he said.

"She had picked the car up and was going to come back and pay the bill, and she never did," Labreche said.

Labreche said he spent months leaving messages on Richardson's cell phone voice mail, then he got a collection agency involved, but still the bill went unpaid.

"I couldn't get through to her, and then when the collection agency couldn't do anything, I thought,

"There's nothing I'm going to be able to do," Labreche said.

But on Tuesday, after the Press-Telegram requested an interview with Richardson to discuss the 2 1/2-year-old unpaid bill, she went to the auto shop and paid Labreche, he said.

Similarly, Richardson last week paid off a $150 printing bill owed to a local company following published reports about the debt.

Richardson also settled a bill Tuesday with another mechanic, Alvin's Auto Body in Signal Hill, only this time she came out ahead, in a sense.

About one month after Richardson had taken her BMW to Labreche for work, she got into a car accident that tore up the front left corner of her car, leaving it undriveable.

She initially had it towed back to Labreche for repairs, even though she still owed him money. But Labreche doesn't do auto body work.

So the car was sent to Alvin's Auto Body, which received the BMW on Nov. 17, 2005, according to owner Bob Lillegard.

But Lillegard never heard from Richardson or her insurance company, he said.

"I'd call her office, and they'd say she was too busy," Lillegard said. "I couldn't get through to her."

The BMW's extensive damage would have cost about $9,000 to repair, Lillegard said, which he suggested might have been more than the car was worth. The "Kelley Blue Book" Web site says a 1999

740iL BMW with standard options and 100,000 miles has a retail value of about $15,000 today.

In December 2005, Lillegard filed for a mechanic's lien on Richardson's car to pay the towing, storage and administrative costs, he said. Lillegard said the lien was finalized in February 2006 and he sold the car to a junkyard, though a few days later - too late - Richardson sent him money to put toward the bill.

The junkyard bought the BMW for $3,500, so Lillegard took the $2,100 he said was owed him, and when Richardson went to the body shop on Tuesday, he paid her the difference, he said.

A city ride

After the accident that led to Richardson abandoning her car, she apparently was without transportation.

So, on Nov. 18, one day after her BMW was towed to Lillegard's shop, she checked out a city-owned

Toyota Prius to use for her council business, according to city Fleet Services Bureau records cited by city spokeswoman Meredith Reynolds.

Reynolds said that the Prius was issued to Richardson that day, and that it was returned more than a year later, a few days after Richardson had ended her council tenure.

In a letter acquired by the Press-Telegram from then-City Manager Jerry Miller to Richardson dated

Dec. 5, 2006, Miller asks Richardson to return her city vehicle, identified as a Prius.

According to the letter, Richardson's last day as a council member was Dec. 3, 2006. She was sworn into the Assembly the following day.

City Fleet Services records show that Richardson turned in the car on Dec. 8, 2006, Reynolds said.

During the one year and almost three weeks that Richardson had the Prius, she drove it 30,920 miles,

Reynolds said. That amounts to an average of more than 80 miles per day, or about 2,400 miles per month, for Richardson's part-time council job in a 60-square-mile city.

By comparison, the only other two council members who used city vehicles during part or all of the same time period averaged 800 miles per month in one case and less than 400 miles per month in the other, according to figures provided by Reynolds.

Council members can either use their own vehicles for council business and receive a monthly car allowance from the city, or they may use city vehicles. However, city policy doesn't allow city vehicles to be used for personal use.

Richardson has never been shy about using city cars.

In 2001 and 2002, she had the highest vehicle expenses of any council member, in part by putting nearly 7,000 personal miles on her car in 2002. At the time, she and other council members told the Press-Telegram that they hadn't been aware of the no-personal-use rule.

In 2003, Richardson had been using a gas-guzzling Ford Expedition owned by the city, but switched to a Toyota Solara to save money. She told the Press-Telegram then that she soon would stop using a city vehicle altogether and would switch to a monthly car allowance.

She scrapped that effort in 2005 when she left her BMW at the auto body shop and again got behind the wheel of a city car.

Richardson, D Long Beach, was able to bring her payments up to date on the Long Beach home relatively quickly, but the San Pedro property lingered in the foreclosure process for almost eight months, and still has a pending auction date. County records indicate that the San Pedro home went into default in September 2007, at which point Richardson was behind on her payments by $12,410.71, and had made no payments since June. A notice of trustee sale was issued on April 17, and an auction was scheduled for May 14 on the courthouse steps in Norwalk. The outstanding loan balance was $367,436, on an original 2005 loan of $359,000.

However, the auction was put on hold.

Richardson produced records from Wells Fargo Bank, which holds the note on her San Pedro home. That document, dated March 21, indicated that Richardson had qualified for a loan modification that would prevent the foreclosure from going forward.

Cal Western Reconveyance Corp., which was responsible for collecting the debt, confirmed that a hold had been placed on the auction, and the auction date had been postponed to July 14, pending a workout of the loan.

<<http://theniil.com/leading-the-news/mortgage-non-disclosure-is-trouble-for-richardson-2008-06-02.html>>

In September of that year, Richardson also let her San Pedro home slip into default when she fell $12,410 behind on her payments.

In January 2008 Richardson defaulted on the San Pedro home a second time, and in April - with Richardson owing $367,436 on an original loan of $359,000 - Wells Fargo Bank issued a notice of trustee sale of the home. Records indicate that the home is still scheduled to be sold at a July 14 auction.

Representative had history of missed loan payments

By Gene Maddaus Staff Writer

Article Launched: 05/29/2008

Rep. Laura Richardson, whose housing woes have been national news for the past week, defaulted a total of eight times on three properties since 2004, a thorough review of county records indicates. Records show she has defaulted five times on her primary residence in Long Beach - including three in the last year, as she diverted her private resources into her campaign for Congress.

Richardson's housing troubles are more extensive than previously reported, and include two defaults from 2004, when she was a Long Beach city councilwoman.

Her habit of missing payments caught up with her earlier this month, when her Sacramento home was sold at a foreclosure auction. Richardson has said she will try to reacquire that property, but the real estate broker who bought it is refusing to give it back, and the law appears to favor his position.

The newly discovered property records indicate that Richardson was already behind on her payments on her Long Beach house before Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald died in April 2007. The veteran congresswoman's death opened up the seat for Richardson.

Richardson received a default notice on May 10, 2007, indicating she was $12,326.78 behind on her Long Beach home. She had not made a payment since January, when she bought her Sacramento home with no money down for $535,000.

The loan against the Long Beach property was issued the previous summer, when Richardson refinanced for a sum of $446,250.

The original loan, issued in 1999, was for $108,000.

Richardson took $100,000 of the proceeds from the refinancing, and lent it to her 2006 Assembly campaign. After winning the election, she raised some money to pay back the loan, but then turned around and put $77,500 into her congressional campaign.

Richardson made a payment on the Long Beach property in May, and the default was rescinded. But she immediately stopped making payments again and a second default notice, for $15,101, was issued in October.

Once again, Richardson made a payment on the arrearage but stopped making further payments. The loan defaulted again in March, at which point she owed $19,921.74.

The default notice was withdrawn again a few days later, and Richardson says she is now current on the Long Beach loan.

Richardson also defaulted twice on the original loan on the Long Beach property in 2004, in the wake of her divorce. She was $8,376.49 behind on her payments in March 2004. She caught up, but quickly fell behind again and by September owed $5,815.73. That arrearage was later repaid, and Richardson was able to stay current on the house until 2007.

Last summer and fall, Richardson defaulted twice on her San Pedro property. The first time, in September 2007, she owed $12,410.71. She made a payment and was able to get that notice rescinded, but stopped making payments again, and a new default notice was issued in January. That default led to a notice that an auction would be held on May 14. Before it got to that point, Richardson said she was able to negotiate a loan modification, and that auction has been put on hold until July.

Richardson has also stiff-armed smaller creditors.

In August 2007, she walked into Sir Speedy Printing in Signal Hill, and made a rush order for 380 invitations announcing her election to Congress.

The print shop dropped other orders and staffers put in overtime to meet the request. The order was filled on time the next day, but Richardson never paid the $150 invoice, said the print shop's owner, Allen McLean.

McLean said he and his wife call about once a month to try to collect the debt, but are always told by staffers that Richardson doesn't have the money.

"It's just irritating," he said. "She's not just doing this to the big guys. She's doing it to the small guys, too."

David, John and Steve:

So you are aware, earlier this evening Congresswoman Richardson talked with a number of media outlets including the Associated Press. As outlined in the AP article embedded below, she's claiming that the foreclosure auction of her Sacramento home was "improper" and contrary to a written agreement she had with WaMu. She also said that we've taken initial steps to rescind the foreclosure action given that she had an "agreement."

Legal, HL PR., Corp. Comm., Servicing and GIR will stay closely aligned as this situation continues to evolve. After discussing this afternoon, we unfortunately are still limited on what we can disclose about Ms. Richardson's loan situation (outside of public record) given that she's won't provide her consent. We have and will continue to emphasize that fact to the media, and will point them back to the public record, which indicates a history of default.

We'll continue to update you on new developments, however in the interim, please let us know if you have any questions.

Best,

Sara

AP Interview: Calif. congresswoman says home sale 'improper'

By ERICA WERNER Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) _ Rep. Laura Richardson claimed Friday that her Sacramento home was sold into foreclosure without her knowledge and contrary to an agreement with her lender.

Proprietary and Confidential - Do Not Copy

She said that she is like any other American suffering in the mortgage crisis and wants to testify to Congress about her experience as lawmakers craft a foreclosure-prevention bill.

In a lengthy interview with The Associated Press on Friday night, the Southern California Democrat struck back against several days of negative publicity over reports she defaulted on her mortgage, allowing the house to be sold at auction.

Richardson, elected in a special election last August, acknowledged turmoil in her life in the months after an incumbent's death in April opened up the Los Angeles-area House seat.

She used her money to finance her campaign and fell behind in mortgage payments. But Richardson said that makes her like other Americans who have to deal with a sudden death or birth that throws a wrench into their finances.

Now, Richardson said, she has renegotiated her loan to pay it off and promised to fully comply with all its terms. She also said she will pay nearly $9,000 in delinquent property taxes.

She insisted she's not getting special terms because she's a congresswoman.

"I'm Laura Richardson. I'm an American, I'm a single woman who had four employment changes in less than four months," Richardson told the AP. "I had to figure out just like every other American how I could restructure the obligations that I had with the income I had."

Richardson was a member of the Long Beach City Council when she won a California state Assembly seat in November 2006, months before she bought the three-bedroom, 1½-bath Sacramento home. She won the congressional seat the next year in the special election to replace the late Juanita Millender-McDonald.

The problem is that the 1,600-square-foot home she bought for $535,500 in January 2007 was sold at auction earlier this month to a Sacramento mortgage lender, who paid $388,000. The sale was officially recorded on Monday, according to documents on file with the Sacramento County Recorder's Office.

A default notice sent to Richardson in March put her unpaid balance at $578,984.

Richardson, 46, makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

Although others struggling with mortgages make far less, Richardson said it was "very misleading" to compare her earnings to the national median household income of around $50,000. The reason: Lawmakers are required to maintain two residences while other people don't have to, she said.

Others also don't have to depend on winning an election to ensure their livelihood, she said.

Richardson provided AP with an April letter that appears to be from Washington Mutual Home Loans telling her there was a hold on foreclosure sales on her property until June 4 of this year.

She said she got another letter asking for payments May 2 and paid them, but did not know the sale was going to happen five days later.

Richardson also provided an e-mail dated Thursday she said was from Washington Mutual that appeared to acknowledge an agreement "to facilitate the rescission of foreclosure sale."

She did not provide documentation of the structure of her new loan.

A Washington Mutual spokeswoman, Sara Gaugl, told AP earlier in the day that the company had "not received consent from Ms. Richardson that would allow us to discuss her loan situation."

Washington Mutual did not respond to a later inquiry seeking comment on Richardson's claims.

Meanwhile, the current owner of the property told AP that his ownership of the house is not in doubt.

James York, owner of Red Rock Mortgage Inc. of Sacramento, declined to discuss any possible negotiations that might be ongoing.

"I've taken possession on the home," York said. "I've been working on it, fixing it up. It had been vacant. It was in cleaner and in better repair than most foreclosures."

The home, built in 1926, is in Sacramento's Curtis Park, a desirable, upper middle-class neighborhood near downtown that sits under a canopy of decades-old trees.

Not long after getting to Congress, Richardson voted in favor of the Mortgage Forgiveness Debt Relief Act of 2007, which subsequently became law. It allows homeowners to escape paying income taxes on debts forgiven by a lender, as happens in foreclosure.

Richardson was absent earlier this month for votes on the Foreclosure Prevention Act, which she said was because of her father's funeral. But she could have another opportunity to vote on the foreclosure package as the House is expected to bring it back up in June once agreement is reached in the Senate.

In most cases, congressional ethics rules don't prevent lawmakers from voting on legislation that might affect or help them economically. Such votes are essentially impossible to avoid.

Rather than shy away from voting on mortgage-related bills, Richardson said her experiences could help her craft legislation to make sure others don't experience what she did. For example, she sees a need to add steps to inform property owners before their property can be sold.

"We have to ensure that lenders and lenders have the tools with proper timing to resolve this," she said.

Melanie Sloan, executive director of the Washington-based Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics, criticized Richardson for falling deeper into debt while choosing to spend more than $75,000 of her own money on her campaign, suggesting that it's more important to win a seat in Congress than to be fiscally responsible, a point Richardson disputed.

Sloan also said Richardson should not be in the situation she is while making a congressional salary, when homeowners around the country making $50,000 or less are struggling to pay their debts.

"Truthfully, it's appalling," Sloan said.

Sara, thank you for calling us back earlier this evening.

As it happens, our reporter in Washington who covers California's congressional delegation was on the phone with Laura Richardson while you and I were talking. In brief, Richardson is blaming WaMu. She claims she did not know her Sacramento house was being sold at auction and says WaMu told her no action would be taken on it until sometime next month.

She also claims to have documentation to support this claim but has yet to provide it to us.

We'll be moving a story based on Richardson's comments shortly.

Because AP did not have her statement when we spoke previously, I wanted to give WaMu an opportunity to respond.

We'll be sending our story in takes (individual bites will move before the final write-thru), and I can send you those so you can see exactly what Richardson claims.

Regards,

Tom

Good evening -

As an update to our call late this afternoon, Gene Maddaus, the reporter with the Daily Breeze, said he just finished a 90-minute interview with the Congresswoman and wanted to provide us with the opportunity to clear up some statements Ms. Richardson made with regard to her loan and WaMu.

I informed Gene that we have not received consent from Ms. Richardson that would allow us to discuss the specifics of her loan situation, and I expect to be quoted as such.

Gene then shared a few comments made by the Congresswoman. Her position appears to be that she had been in contact with WaMu representatives both verbally and via email and believes she worked out an agreement that would bring her loan current.

She also mentioned that she was "taken aback" to learn that the house had been sold "right from under her" because she had made an arrangement to prevent the foreclosure sale. She then went on to say that WaMu has taken action to attempt to rescind the foreclosure action, presumably because there was an agreement in place and foreclosure sale proceedings were improperly held.

Though the reporter said he understood our position in terms of providing specifics, he asked if there was any information we could provide about WaMu's process around rescinding foreclosed properties. Given that we haven't yet moved forward with that process (to my knowledge), and that we haven't received consent from Ms. Richardson, I don't believe there is much more we can disclose at this time. Paul/Don - please let me know otherwise.

I believe the story will run tonight - the reporter indicated that he will be finishing up shortly.

Rep's got expensive wheels
 By Gene Maddaus, Staff Writer
 Article Launched: 06/29/2008

Taxpayers pay for Rep. Laura Richardson's car lease.

When she arrived in Congress last fall, Rep. Laura Richardson sought out a vehicle that would match her newfound status.

She settled on a 2007 Lincoln Town Car - the choice of many representatives who lease their vehicles at taxpayers' expense. But hers was distinct: at $1,300 a month, it was the most expensive car in the House of Representatives.

Richardson, a Democrat who represents Carson, has since become known for defaulting on two home loans and losing a third house - in an upscale neighborhood in Sacramento - at a foreclosure auction. But her history with vehicles has been similarly fraught. When she was a councilwoman in Long Beach, she crashed her BMW, abandoned it at a body shop, failed to pay a prior repair bill, and then racked up 30,000 miles on a city-owned hybrid in one year - apparently violating a policy against personal use of city cars.

In her brief stint in the Assembly, she leased a 2002 Lincoln LS for $304 a month - all but $36 of it paid for by the state. So Richardson was already well versed in the use of government vehicles when she got to Washington.

A protege of Rep. Maxine Waters - she calls Waters "Big Mama" and herself "Little Mama" - Richardson has worked to cultivate an image of success since arriving in Congress last fall. That effort evidently included a major upgrade of her publicly funded car.

About 130 representatives leased cars last year, according to a report compiled earlier this year by Taxpayers for Common Sense. Most were in the range of $400 to $800 per month.

Richardson's 2007 lease costs show up on a more recent congressional spending report, because she did not pay the bill until February. According to the report, her first bill was for $1,299, and covered a one-month period from mid-October to mid-November. She then paid a prorated amount of $2,035 for the 45-day period from mid-November to the end of the year.

That makes her lease $300 more expensive than the costliest car in the Taxpayers for Common Sense report. As of last winter, the newest member of Congress had far and away the most expensive car in the House of Representatives.

"A $1,300 lease is a gold-plated lease," said Keith Ashdown, chief investigator for the watchdog group. "Because it's federal money and not their personal money, they're not looking for the best value."

Rep. Diane Watson, D-Los Angeles, also leases a 2007 Lincoln Town Car, but she pays only $666 per month for it.

According to a former staff member, Richardson insisted that her Lincoln be specially customized, which may explain the high cost.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, initially stated that Richardson is paying only $940 per month for her Town Car, but gave no documentation of that. After he was presented with the expense report showing the $1,300 lease amount, he declined to answer further questions.

"No comment," he said.

Richardson got the car from a local Enterprise Rent-a-Car office for her use when she needed to travel around her congressional district. The cost would not have been affected by her personal credit history, because it was paid for by the federal government. The price tag also did not include insurance, which Richardson agreed to pay for on her own.

At 8:30 p.m. April 3, a staff member was driving the car on the San Diego (405) Freeway, when he got into a crash. According to a California Highway Patrol report, the staffer, Henry Rogers, reported being struck in the rear by a white sport utility vehicle. The impact caused him to spin out and hit the center median and left major damage to the left rear of the Town Car.

The CHP report gives no information about the insurance on the car, other than to say that it was a "rental." But Richardson's subsequent actions suggest that Rogers may not have been listed as an eligible driver on her insurance policy.

According to the former staffer, after the crash Richardson required her district employees to buy additional insurance so they could legally drive the Lincoln. The former staff member did not want to be identified out of fear of jeopardizing future employment prospects.

Another former staffer said Rogers was not forced to pay for the damage to the car, but did not know how the issue was resolved.

Rogers referred questions about the crash to Richardson's spokesman, who did not return a call about the crash on Friday.

Richardson did not report the crash to Enterprise, but it is not clear that she was required to, given that she was self-insured.

Records also indicate that Richardson owes $83 for illegally parking the Town Car in Long Beach. The ticket was issued Jan. 23, in the amount of $40, but has since doubled because it was not paid on time. Richardson also owes $9,000 in property taxes on the Sacramento home, which she is trying to get back. The new owner of the home has sued her and her lender, Washington Mutual, after the bank moved to rescind the foreclosure sale.

"She's got bigger problems than what she's leasing," said Ashdown of the Taxpayers for Common Sense.

Pelosi comments on Laura Richardson defaults
 By Erica Werner The Associated Press
 <http://www.dailybreeze.com/ci_9564107>

WASHINGTON - House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, asked Thursday about fellow California Democratic Rep. Laura Richardson's multiple home defaults, said that "every member of Congress is responsible for living up to the highest ethical standards."
 Pelosi said she was not familiar with the details of the controversy surrounding Richardson, who won a special election last year to replace the late Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald in the 37th Congressional District in Long Beach.
 But every lawmaker must make "the fullest disclosure of his or her assets as is required by law," Pelosi said.

"Many people in our country are caught in the foreclosure crisis. Members of Congress maybe are as well," she added.

Late last month reports emerged that Richardson, a former state Assemblywoman and member of the Long Beach City Council, had lost her Sacramento home to foreclosure and has two other homes in Southern California that have fallen into default six times.

Last week the Long Beach Press-Telegram reported that Richardson had also left car repair bills unpaid.

Richardson easily won her Democratic primary June 3 and is running unopposed in the November general election, although at least one of her Democratic primary opponents is making plans to challenge her as a write-in candidate.

Richardson defended herself after the first reports of the foreclosure on her Sacramento home, saying it never should have happened and she'd worked out a deal with her lender to buy it back. However the purchaser of the property, James York of Rod Rock Mortgage in Sacramento, complained in published reports this week that Richardson had been given favorable terms because she's a congresswoman and that he planned to sue over the issue.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, had no immediate comment Thursday.

California Assembly Speaker Karon Bass, D-Los Angeles, also addressed the Richardson situation Thursday during a visit to Washington. Bass and other Assembly leaders had endorsed Richardson's congressional bid but Bass told reporters she'd had no idea about Richardson's financial issues.

Richardson had a quick rise in politics, moving from the Long Beach City Council to a state Assembly seat in 2006 and to Congress the next year.

"Given the rapid pace of all of that I can understand the financial difficulties, but now more is coming out," Bass said. She said she'd hoped while in Washington to talk to Richardson about the situation but hadn't had the opportunity.

FYI, below. The latest Richardson update.....

By Paul Eakins, Staff Writer

LONG BEACH - Car trouble takes on a new meaning when it comes to financially distressed Congresswoman Laura Richardson.

In 2005, when she was still on the Long Beach City Council, she left one mechanic in a lurch with an unpaid bill, then later had her badly damaged BMW towed to an auto body shop but didn't pay for any work and abandoned the car there, owners of the businesses said this week.

The next day, Richardson began using a city-owned vehicle - putting almost 31,000 miles on it in about a year - and continued driving the car five days after she had left the council to serve in the state Assembly, city records show.

Richardson, 46, didn't return phone calls seeking comment this week.

These are just the newest revelations of Richardson's ongoing financial problems and instances of her unpaid debts.

Last month, it was reported that Richardson's Sacramento home, where she had lived during her brief Assembly stint before moving on to Congress, had fallen into foreclosure and been sold at auction. Further investigation revealed she had defaulted on that house and two others in Long Beach and San Pedro a total of eight times since 2004.

Meanwhile, Richardson was lending money to her campaigns as she embarked on an unprecedented rise to power from council to Assembly to Congress in one year. On Tuesday, she won the Democratic nomination to serve her first full, two-year term in Congress, and she is unchallenged in the November general election.

Unpaid and abandoned

Richardson's car problems all started with a shimmy.

In October 2005, her 1999 four-door 740iL BMW had an odd vibration in the front, so she took it to Signal Hill Foreign Auto Service, according to Leo Labreche, the shop owner.

Mechanics there fixed the car and replaced some worn parts, but when Richardson picked up her vehicle, she said she didn't have the money to pay the $735 bill, Labreche said. Because Richardson was a council member, Labreche let her take the car, assuming that she was good for the money, he said.

"She had picked the car up and was going to come back and pay the bill, and she never did," Labreche said.

Labreche said he spent months leaving messages on Richardson's cell phone voice mail, then he got a collection agency involved, but still the bill went unpaid.

"I couldn't get through to her, and then when the collection agency couldn't do anything, I thought, 'There's nothing I'm going to be able to do,'" Labreche said.

But on Tuesday, after the Press-Telegram requested an interview with Richardson to discuss the 2 1/2-year-old unpaid bill, she went to the auto shop and paid Labreche, he said.

Similarly, Richardson last week paid off a $150 printing bill owed to a local company following published reports about the debt.

Richardson also settled a bill Tuesday with another mechanic, Alvin's Auto Body in Signal Hill, only this time she came out ahead, in a sense.

About one month after Richardson had taken her BMW to Labreche for work, she got into a car accident that tore up the front left corner of her car, leaving it undriveable.

She initially had it towed back to Labreche for repairs, even though she still owed him money. But Labreche doesn't do auto body work.

So the car was sent to Alvin's Auto Body, which received the BMW on Nov. 17, 2005, according to owner Bob Lillegard.

But Lillegard never heard from Richardson or her insurance company, he said.

"I'd call her office, and they'd say she was too busy," Lillegard said. "I couldn't get through to her."

The BMW's extensive damage would have cost about $9,000 to repair, Lillegard said, which he suggested might have been more than the car was worth. The "Kelley Blue Book" Web site says a 1999 740iL BMW with standard options and 100,000 miles has a retail value of about $15,000 today.

In December 2005, Lillegard filed for a mechanic's lien on Richardson's car to pay the towing, storage and administrative costs, he said. Lillegard said the lien was finalized in February 2006 and he sold the car to a junkyard, though a few days later - too late - Richardson sent him money to put toward the bill.

The junkyard bought the BMW for $3,500, so Lillegard took the $2,100 he said was owed him, and when Richardson went to the body shop on Tuesday, he paid her the difference, he said.

A city ride

After the accident that led to Richardson abandoning her car, she apparently was without transportation.

So, on Nov. 18, one day after her BMW was towed to Lillegard's shop, she checked out a city-owned Toyota Prius to use for her council business, according to city Fleet Services Bureau records cited by city spokeswoman Meredith Reynolds.

Reynolds said that the Prius was issued to Richardson that day, and that it was returned more than a year later, a few days after Richardson had ended her council tenure.

In a letter acquired by the Press-Telegram from then-City Manager Jerry Miller to Richardson dated Dec. 5, 2006, Miller asks Richardson to return her city vehicle, identified as a Prius.

According to the letter, Richardson's last day as a council member was Dec. 3, 2006. She was sworn into the Assembly the following day.

City Fleet Services records show that Richardson turned in the car on Dec. 8, 2006, Reynolds said.

During the one year and almost three weeks that Richardson had the Prius, she drove it 30,920 miles, Reynolds said. That amounts to an average of more than 80 miles per day, or about 2,400 miles per month, for Richardson's part-time council job in a 50-square-mile city.

By comparison, the only other two council members who used city vehicles during part or all of the same time period averaged 900 miles per month in one case and less than 400 miles per month in the other, according to figures provided by Reynolds.

Council members can either use their own vehicles for council business and receive a monthly car allowance from the city, or they may use city vehicles. However, city policy doesn't allow city vehicles to be used for personal use.

Richardson has never been shy about using city cars.

In 2001 and 2002, she had the highest vehicle expenses of any council member, in part by putting nearly 7,000 personal miles on her car in 2002. At the time, she and other council members told the Press-Telegram that they hadn't been aware of the no-personal-use rule.

In 2003, Richardson had been using a gas-guzzling Ford Expedition owned by the city, but switched to a Toyota Solara to save money. She told the Press-Telegram then that she soon would stop using a city vehicle altogether and would switch to a monthly car allowance.

She scrapped that effort in 2005 when she left her BMW at the auto body shop and again got behind the wheel of a city car.

Subject: Richardson Statement (Draft)

Good evening.

As an update to my note from earlier this morning, Gene Maddaus is in the process of writing yet another story on Ms. Richardson's financial situation. His questions are outlined below and his deadline is 5 p.m. on Monday.

Here is a first cut at a draft (and brief) response to Gene's questions. Looking forward to your thoughts/edits/revisions.

My preference continues to be that we attempt to limit WaMu's inclusion in the coverage to the extent possible. However, given that the Notice of Rescission has been sent for recording, it is likely that we'll receive additional media inquiries related to that action on Monday or Tuesday. And at that point, I think we should be prepared to expand our current statement (as appropriate).

Response:

We aren't in a position to discuss the specifics of Ms. Richardson's loan situation as we have not received any authorization from her to do so.

More broadly, if a loan has gone to foreclosure sale in error, we will honor commitments made to the customer and take appropriate measures to rectify the situation.

As a matter of policy, we don't comment on litigation. However, as you would expect, the conditions in which a lender would seek to rescind a foreclosure sale are driven by the specific facts of each case.

Best,

Sara

Subject: RE: follow-up

1. Is WaMu aware of situations in which WaMu loans have been foreclosed improperly, either because a loan modification was signed prior to the auction or for some other reason, and if so, what steps is WaMu taking to correct that problem? Would a borrower in that situation be entitled to a refund of any payments made on the loan modification?
2. If WaMu determines that a WaMu loan was foreclosed improperly, will WaMu, as a general practice, sue to overturn the foreclosure? Has that ever happened and if so what was the outcome?
3. Without violating Congresswoman Laura Richardson's privacy rights, can WaMu state unequivocally that Ms. Richardson has received no preferential treatment in the handling of her loan, and will not receive any preferential treatment in the future?
4. Has Ms. Richardson allowed WaMu to discuss her case publicly? (If yes, there will be some other questions.)

 Richardson mum in the face of mounting pressure

By Jared Allen

Posted: 06/13/08 11:50 AM [ET]

Embattled Rep. Laura Richardson (D-Calif.) remained mum on Friday following more news about her personal housing crisis and a warning from House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) to put her fiscal house back in order. Richardson, who has dodged repeated calls for information regarding her multiple defaults on three home mortgages and her financial disclosure reports, failed to report a heavily indebted mortgage on her initial 2007 financial statement. Official financial reports for House members will be released on Monday, and it remains to be seen if Richardson's official report will have been amended from the one she previously filed. However, Pelosi issued a warning to Richardson on Thursday that she risks whatever repercussions may come from failing to disclose her assets and liabilities to the letter of the law. "Every member of Congress is responsible for living up to the highest ethical standard, to having the fullest disclosure of his or her assets, as is required by law," Pelosi said at her weekly news conference. "And many people in our country are caught in a foreclosure crisis. Members of Congress maybe are as well." After falling too far behind on mortgage payments on a home she purchased in Sacramento in January 2007, Richardson was forced to watch the home sold at auction last month. In the aftermath, it was revealed that Richardson has defaulted on mortgages for three California homes since 1999. According to records pulled from Los Angeles and Sacramento counties, Richardson has defaulted five separate times on her primary residence in Long Beach, a home she purchased in 1999 and refinanced in the summer of 2006 for a new $446,250 mortgage. The prior summer, Richardson took out a loan from Wells Fargo, in the amount of $359,000, to purchase a second home in San Pedro. After defaulting twice - in September 2007 and again in January - and owing $367,436 on an original loan of $359,000, Richardson received notice from her lender in April that her San Pedro home was going to be sold at auction. According to reports, that auction is scheduled for July 14. But it is Richardson's Sacramento home that has garnered the most attention, and places her in the most immediate risk as a member of Congress who is bound by federal law to disclose certain assets and liabilities. According to Richardson's 2007 financial disclosure statement - which she filed in February - she failed to report her Sacramento home mortgage as a liability even though she owed $40,000 more than she paid for the home, which was purchased in January of that year. By the end of 2007 - which marks the end of the 2007 financial disclosure reporting period - Richardson had accumulated $575,000 in total debt after failing to make payments on her original $535,000 mortgage, according to Sacramento County records. Financial disclosure laws require members of Congress to report home mortgages as liabilities if indebtedness exceeds the purchase prices of the item, and congressional ethics and finance experts have said that, on a plain reading of the law, Richardson was required to disclose such an indebted mortgage as a liability. Under the section of the report for liabilities, Richardson simply lists, "N/A." A senior House Democrat close to leadership on Thursday afternoon said he had spoken to Richardson about the matter and she had assured him that, with regard to her Sacramento home, the "bank screwed up." On Wednesday the Los Angeles Times reported that James York, the real estate investor who bought Richardson's Sacramento home at a May 7 auction for $388,000, is now claiming that Richardson's lender, Washington Mutual, reclaimed the property on behalf of Richardson. York had recorded the deed on May 19 and had begun renovations, the Times reported. "They took the property back, and they didn't even send back the money," York was quoted in the Times. "It's clear what's happening is Ms. Richardson is abusing her political power and using it for her own political needs."

Pelosi comments on Laura Richardson defaults
By Erica Werner The Associated Press

<http://www.dailybreeze.com/cl_9564107>

WASHINGTON - House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, asked Thursday about fellow California Democratic Rep. Laura Richardson's multiple home defaults, said that "every member of Congress is responsible for living up to the highest ethical standards."

Pelosi said she was not familiar with the details of the controversy surrounding Richardson, who won a special election last year to replace the late Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald in the 37th Congressional District in Long Beach.

But every lawmaker must make "the fullest disclosure of his or her assets as is required by law," Pelosi said.

"Many people in our country are caught in the foreclosure crisis. Members of Congress maybe are as well," she added.

Late last month reports emerged that Richardson, a former state Assemblywoman and member of the Long Beach City Council, had lost her Sacramento home to foreclosure and has two other homes in Southern California that have fallen into default six times.

Last week the Long Beach Press-Telegram reported that Richardson had also left car repair bills unpaid.

Richardson easily won her Democratic primary June 3 and is running unopposed in the November general election, although at least one of her Democratic primary opponents is making plans to challenge her as a write-in candidate.

Richardson defended herself after the first reports of the foreclosure on her Sacramento home, saying it never should have happened and she'd worked out a deal with her lender to buy it back. However the purchaser of the property, James York of Red Rock Mortgage in Sacramento, complained in published reports this week that Richardson had been given favorable terms because she's a congresswoman and that he planned to sue over the issue.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, had no immediate comment Thursday.

California Assembly Speaker Karen Bass, D-Los Angeles, also addressed the Richardson situation Thursday during a visit to Washington. Bass and other Assembly leaders had endorsed Richardson's congressional bid but Bass told reporters she'd had no idea about Richardson's financial issues.

Richardson had a quick rise in politics, moving from the Long Beach City Council to a state Assembly seat in 2006 and to Congress the next year.

"Given the rapid pace of all of that I can understand the financial difficulties, but now more is coming out," Bass said. She said she'd hoped while in Washington to talk to Richardson about the situation but hadn't had the opportunity.

Savannah and I just spoke to Ms. Richardson, she agrees to the modification terms. I advised her the loan will not reflect current until we receive the signed documents.

Ms. Richardson wants to know if her rights to the property have been restored and if the locks were changed how she can get into the property. She also wants to coordinate a press release with Sara, I provided her with Sara's phone number.

Thanks.

Okay good. I looked at Savannah's numbers and the math adds up, so you're good to go forward and prepare the mod documents based on these numbers. If not already done, I recommend someone make a call to Richardson to inform her that the taxes are included (capitalized) in the MOD and documents are on the way. From her e-mail to Julie and Ann yesterday she is inquiring about the taxes.

Hi Wanza,

There were two checks returned 4/21/08 for delinquent property taxes $8109.81 + $405.49. This loan went to fc sale which has been rescinded and we will be modifying this loan. Who can send the task to set up the escrow for these taxes and possibly research if those taxes are still delinquent since the checks came back from Sacramento County?

Ask the congresswoman: Your questions for U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson
 I'm overdue for a session of "Ask the blogger," so here goes. Today, something completely different:
 Instead of your questions for me, I'd like to hear your questions for U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson, the triple-default Democrat from Long Beach.

I sent her office a list of questions in late May (you can see my questions by clicking at the bottom of this post) and haven't heard back, so I'm giving up and turning to you: submit your best (serious) questions for U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson, I'll sort through them and send them along to her congressional office. Fire away.

(Sent by e-mail on June 10 to Kimberly Parker, chief of staff to U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson)

Kimberly: I'm still interested in answers to the questions below, which I first submitted to the congresswoman's office on May 22:

Questions from Peter Viles at the Los Angeles Times:

What kind of mortgage did the congresswoman take on the Sacramento home? (Adjustable Rate Mortgage, Option ARM, 30-year-fixed, etc.)

What was the amount of the loan and the interest rate?

Who was the original lender?

Did she take out one loan or more than one loan?

Did she make a down payment? If so, how much?

A published report quotes the seller of the house saying that Ms. Richardson received $15,000 from the seller for closing costs. Is this accurate?

What were her monthly payments on the mortgage?

How many payments did she make on the mortgage?

When did she begin missing payments on the mortgage, and why?

When and how did she contact the lender to discuss a loan modification?

Did she contact the lender herself, or did a member of her staff contact the lender?

Documents indicate the amount she owed on the loan was eventually greater than the initial value of the loan itself. Can you explain why the amount she owed increased?

When did she and the lender agree to a loan modification? And what is the exact nature of the loan modification? What is the new interest rate, the new principal amount, and the new monthly payment?

How many payments has the congresswoman made on the loan modification?

Thanks.

Peter Viles

Disclosure Offers No Insight on Lawmaker's Home Woes

Sarah Luock reports on Congress.

Trackback URL: <<http://blogs.wsj.com/washwire/2008/06/16/disclosure-offers-no-insight-on-lawmakers-home-woes/trackback/>>

House members' annual financial-disclosure forms were released Monday, but the one submitted by California Democratic Rep. Laura Richardson provided no information about her recent mortgage woes.

Multiple accounts have been reported recently <http://www.latimes.com/news/local/politics/cal/la-me-richardson11-2008jun11_0,3078049.story> on Richardson's financial troubles, which includes a foreclosure on one of her California homes and defaults on two others.

On the section labeled "Liabilities," Richardson's form says only "N/A." There's no mention of the balance of $578,384 that Richardson reportedly owes on a Sacramento home she purchased in January 2007. It recently was sold at auction to a mortgage lender for $388,000, according to the Associated Press.

Members of Congress are not required to report mortgages on their residences, unless the property is the source of rental or investment income. They are, however, required to disclose a mortgage debt or other type of loan when it exceeds the purchase price of the item.

Richardson's form is dated May 19 and covers calendar year 2007. She is among dozens of lawmakers who requested extra time to file information on their assets, debts, travel and income—possibly a sign that more details are on the way. Her new deadline is Monday, June 16. A spokesman didn't immediately return calls for comment.

Richardson told the AP in a May interview that her financial trouble was partly the result of using her own money for her recent run for her House seat. She said she renegotiated her loan and will pay it off, along with nearly $9,000 in delinquent property taxes. "I'm a single woman who had four employment changes in less than four months," Richardson told the AP. "I had to figure out just like every other American how I could restructure the obligations that I had with the income I had."

Richardson's loan was subprime - Press Telegram (Long Beach)

By Gene Maddaus, Staff Writer

Rep. Laura Richardson took out a subprime loan to buy her Sacramento house, suggesting she probably was a poor credit risk even before her recent string of loan defaults.

Richardson, D-Long Beach, has defaulted on all three of her homes, and lost the one in Sacramento in a foreclosure auction. She is now engaged in a legal battle with the new owner of the home, after her lender, Washington Mutual Bank, filed to rescind the sale.

James York, owner of Red Rock Mortgage Inc., filed a lawsuit on Thursday against Richardson and Washington Mutual, contesting the foreclosure rescission.

Included in the suit was Richardson's deed of trust, which contains the terms of her home loan. The no-money-down loan was issued for $535,000 in January 2007. It was adjustable after two years, with an introductory rate of 8.8 percent.

"That's a subprime loan," said Jon Nastro, a real estate broker in nearby Elk Grove. "Those are the ones we're taking back now."

Richardson previously declined to disclose her loan terms.

The average prime mortgage rate at the time was 6.22 percent, according to Freddie Mac.

Without further information, it is difficult to tell whether Richardson's subprime loan terms were the result of a poor credit history, lack of income documentation, or both.

Richardson was an assemblywoman at the time the loan was issued, with an annual salary of $113,000. She also collected $28,365 in per diem for living expenses in Sacramento during the nine months she served in the Legislature. She now earns $169,300 as a member of Congress and rents an apartment in Washington, D.C.

Before her election in 2006, Richardson earned $80,000 as a legislative director for Lt. Gov. Cruz Bustamante and $28,000 as a Long Beach city councilwoman, according to a congressional financial disclosure form.

Richardson also owns two homes in San Pedro and Long Beach. In 2006, she took out an equity loan against the Long Beach home to finance her run for the Legislature.

Richardson has defaulted at least eight times on the three properties since 2004 - six times in the last 14 months. She had also failed to pay smaller debts to a mechanic and a printing shop until reporters began inquiring about them.

Richardson's staffers were unavailable for comment on Friday.

Buyer sues Calif. congresswoman over foreclosure

By JULIET WILLIAMS Associated Press Writer

Article Launched: 06/13/2008 05:40:18 PM PDT

SACRAMENTO-A Sacramento investor who bought the foreclosed home of Rep. Laura Richardson has filed a lawsuit against the congresswoman and her bank for rescinding the sale.

James York claims Richardson used her influence as a congresswoman to force Washington Mutual Inc. and a subsidiary to back out of the sale.

York, who operates Red Rock Mortgage Inc., bought the foreclosed home in an upper-middle class Sacramento neighborhood at auction in May for $388,000 after Richardson failed to make her mortgage payments.

In the lawsuit filed in Sacramento County Superior Court, York is seeking to have the house returned to him, as well as punitive damages and costs. He also claims the bank acted with malice after the legitimate sale of the house.

The Associated Press obtained a copy of his lawsuit on Friday, the day the defendants were served.

Richardson, a Democrat from Long Beach, previously told the AP that the house was sold without her knowledge and after the bank agreed to hold off on any action until at least June.

She bought the house in January 2007 for $535,000, a few months after she was elected to the state Assembly. She took out an adjustable-rate mortgage with an interest rate that could vary between 8.8 percent and 14 percent, according to documents filed with York's lawsuit.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, said the congresswoman had not been notified of the lawsuit. He declined further comment.

In an interview Friday with the AP, York said he believes Washington Mutual's trustee rescinded the sale solely because Richardson is a member of Congress. He said the savings and loan would not have done that for an average person.

York said he tried to negotiate a settlement but was rebuffed.

"They rescinded the notice of trustee sale and put it back in her name before even telling me," he said. "It's not a difficult case. It's a valid sale."

A spokeswoman for Washington Mutual, Sara Gaugi, said the company would have no comment because Richardson had not authorized it to speak about her case.

Richardson, 46, was a member of the Long Beach City Council when she won the Assembly seat in November 2006, months before she bought the three-bedroom, 1 1/2-bath Sacramento home. She won the congressional seat the next year in a special election to replace the late Juanita Millender-McDonald.

Richardson has acknowledged turmoil in her life during the short time she went from the city council to the state Assembly to Congress. She said she used her own money to finance her campaigns and fell behind in mortgage and property tax payments.

A default notice sent in March put her unpaid balance on the 1,600-square-foot home at $578,384.

Richardson's financial troubles appear to run deeper, however. The Long Beach Press-Telegram has reported that Richardson has two other homes in San Pedro and Long Beach that have fallen into default six times. Five of the defaults, totaling nearly $71,000, occurred in the last 13 months.

The newspaper also reported that Richardson has a history of not paying other bills, including failure to pay for car repairs and campaign filers.

The congresswoman told the AP she believed she had worked out a deal with Washington Mutual to renegotiate her loan on the Sacramento home and pay it off. She also said she intended to pay the nearly $9,000 in delinquent property taxes.

In the notice of rescission filed as an exhibit in York's lawsuit, the trustee company acknowledges it "had previously agreed to postpone the foreclosure sale until June 4, 2008."

Meanwhile, York said in the lawsuit that he has already started making repairs to the house, including painting, restoring the floors, landscaping and general clean-up that have "significantly increased its value."

He argues it would be unfair to give the house back to Richardson in better condition than she lost it. The amount of money he has spent on the repairs was not specified.

Richardson makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

The home, built in 1926, is in Sacramento's Curtis Park, a desirable, upper middle-class neighborhood near downtown that sits under a canopy of decades-old trees.

Not long after getting to Congress, Richardson voted in favor of the Mortgage Forgiveness Debt Relief Act of 2007, which subsequently became law. It allows homeowners to escape paying income taxes on debts forgiven by a lender, as happens in foreclosure. She has said she would like to testify before Congress as someone victimized by the nation's mortgage crisis.

York notes in his lawsuit that the house now has a cloud over it-making it more difficult to sell if it is eventually returned to him.

"If I had known it was this congresswoman's house, I probably never would have bought it," York said in the telephone interview.

Associated Press Writer Erica Werner in Washington, D.C., contributed to this report.

Richardson mum in the face of mounting pressure

By Jared Allen

Posted: 06/13/08 11:50 AM [ET]

Embattled Rep. Laura Richardson (D-Calif.) remained mum on Friday following more news about her personal housing crisis and a warning from House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) to put her fiscal house back in order.

Richardson, who has dodged repeated calls for information regarding her multiple defaults on three home mortgages and her financial disclosure reports, failed to report a heavily indebted mortgage on her Initial 2007 financial statement.

Official financial reports for House members will be released on Monday, and it remains to be seen if Richardson's official report will have been amended from the one she previously filed.

However, Pelosi issued a warning to Richardson on Thursday that she risks whatever repercussions may come from failing to disclose her assets and liabilities to the letter of the law.

"Every member of Congress is responsible for living up to the highest ethical standard, to having the fullest disclosure of his or her assets, as is required by law," Pelosi said at her weekly news conference. "And many people in our country are caught in a foreclosure crisis. Members of Congress maybe are as well."

After falling too far behind on mortgage payments on a home she purchased in Sacramento in January 2007, Richardson was forced to watch the home sold at auction last month.

In the aftermath, it was revealed that Richardson has defaulted on mortgages for three California homes since 1999.

According to records pulled from Los Angeles and Sacramento counties, Richardson has defaulted five separate times on her primary residence in Long Beach, a home she purchased in 1999 and refinanced in the summer of 2006 for a new $446,250 mortgage.

The prior summer, Richardson took out a loan from Wells Fargo, in the amount of $359,000, to purchase a second home in San Pedro.

After defaulting twice - in September 2007 and again in January - and owing $367,436 on an original loan of $359,000, Richardson received notice from her lender in April that her San Pedro home was going to be sold at auction. According to reports, that auction is scheduled for July 14.

But it is Richardson's Sacramento home that has garnered the most attention, and places her in the most immediate risk as a member of Congress who is bound by federal law to disclose certain assets and liabilities.

According to Richardson's 2007 financial disclosure statement - which she filed in February - she failed to report her Sacramento home mortgage as a liability even though she owed $40,000 more than she paid for the home, which was purchased in January of that year.

By the end of 2007 - which marks the end of the 2007 financial disclosure reporting period - Richardson had accumulated $575,000 in total debt after failing to make payments on her original $535,000 mortgage, according to Sacramento County records.

Financial disclosure laws require members of Congress to report home mortgages as liabilities if indebtedness exceeds the purchase prices of the item, and congressional ethics and finance experts have said that, on a plain reading of the law, Richardson was required to disclose such an indebted mortgage as a liability.

Under the section of the report for liabilities, Richardson simply lists, "N/A."

A senior House Democrat close to leadership on Thursday afternoon said he had spoken to Richardson about the matter and she had assured him that, with regard to her Sacramento home, the "bank screwed up."

On Wednesday the Los Angeles Times reported that James York, the real estate investor who bought Richardson's Sacramento home at a May 7 auction for $388,000, is now claiming that Richardson's lender, Washington Mutual, reclaimed the property on behalf of Richardson. York had recorded the deed on May 19 and had begun renovations, the Times reported.

"They took the property back, and they didn't even send back the money," York was quoted in the Times. "It's clear what's happening is Ms. Richardson is abusing her political power and using it for her own political needs."

Pelosi comments on Laura Richardson defaults

By Erica Werner The Associated Press

<http://www.dailybreeze.com/c/_9564107>

WASHINGTON - House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, asked Thursday about fellow California Democratic Rep. Laura Richardson's multiple home defaults, said that "every member of Congress is responsible for living up to the highest ethical standards."

Pelosi said she was not familiar with the details of the controversy surrounding Richardson, who won a special election last year to replace the late Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald in the 37th Congressional District in Long Beach.

But every lawmaker must make "the fullest disclosure of his or her assets as is required by law," Pelosi said.

"Many people in our country are caught in the foreclosure crisis. Members of Congress maybe are as well," she added.

Late last month reports emerged that Richardson, a former state Assemblywoman and member of the Long Beach City Council, had lost her Sacramento home to foreclosure and has two other homes in Southern California that have fallen into default six times.

Last week the Long Beach Press-Telegram reported that Richardson had also left car repair bills unpaid.

Richardson easily won her Democratic primary June 3 and is running unopposed in the November general election, although at least one of her Democratic primary opponents is making plans to challenge her as a write-in candidate.

Richardson defended herself after the first reports of the foreclosure on her Sacramento home, saying it never should have happened and she'd worked out a deal with her lender to buy it back. However the purchaser of the property, James York of Red Rock Mortgage in Sacramento, complained in published reports this week that Richardson had been given favorable terms because she's a congresswoman and that he planned to sue over the issue.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, had no immediate comment Thursday.

California Assembly Speaker Karen Bass, D-Los Angeles, also addressed the Richardson situation Thursday during a visit to Washington. Bass and other Assembly leaders had endorsed Richardson's congressional bid but Bass told reporters she'd had no idea about Richardson's financial issues.

Richardson had a quick rise in politics, moving from the Long Beach City Council to a state Assembly seat in 2006 and to Congress the next year.

"Given the rapid pace of all of that I can understand the financial difficulties, but now more is coming out," Bass said. She said she'd hoped while in Washington to talk to Richardson about the situation but hadn't had the opportunity.

As discussed on this morning's call, embedded below are links to articles that include comments made by both Mathews and Davis.

Additionally, here are a few statements Congresswoman Richardson issued on Saturday rather than interviewing for the LA Times article:

* "As I noted in my statements earlier this week, due to multiple job changes, divorce, illness/death, and nine campaigns over the last ten years, these major life-changing moments have come at great personal expense and at challenging financial strain," Richardson said in a statement Saturday.

* "Instead of politicizing a personal housing crisis (two personal properties that are current and the third that is being challenged by my lender questioning the validity of its sale), I have been transparent with this matter and share with my constituents the anguish that the housing industry is in a severe crisis," Richardson said.

* (Other commentary) Richardson has acknowledged using her money to finance her campaigns and falling behind in mortgage payments. She claimed her Sacramento house was sold into foreclosure without her knowledge, contending she had renegotiated her loan to pay it off.

A House Seat Won, a House Lost, and a House Leader Divided
 By Jeffrey H. Birnbaum

 <http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2008/06/23/AR2008062301797_pf.html?nav=rss_opinion/columns>
 Every once in a while, events move fast in the nation's capital.
 Last week, Error! Hyperlink reference not valid. <<http://www.washingtonpost.com/ac2/related/topic/Stany+Hoyer?tid=informline>>, through a spokeswoman, said it might be a good idea for the ethics committee to look into some financial missteps by Rep. Laura Richardson (D-Calif.) that have been highlighted in the press.

This week -- tomorrow, in fact -- Hoyer is scheduled to host a fundraising reception for Richardson to help pay her campaign's substantial debt.

Whoa!

Richardson was elected to the House last August in a special election to replace the late Democratic Rep. Error! Hyperlink reference not valid. <<http://www.washingtonpost.com/ac2/related/topic/Juanita+Millender-McDonald?tid=informline>>.

Subsequently, Richardson lost her Sacramento home to foreclosure after failing to make payments. She also reportedly owed Error! Hyperlink reference not valid. <<http://www.washingtonpost.com/ac2/related/topic/Sacramento+County?tid=informline>> about $9,000 in property taxes and defaulted on loans six times on two other California homes.

On top of that, according to the Long Beach Press-Telegram, Richardson failed to pay an auto mechanic for hundreds of dollars' worth of car repairs and then abandoned the car at another body shop.

None of this was detailed -- as some of it probably should have been, according to critics -- on Richardson's legally mandated financial disclosure forms.

The liberal watchdog group Error! Hyperlink reference not valid. <<http://www.washingtonpost.com/ac2/related/topic/Citizens+for+Responsibility+and+Ethics+in+Washington?tid=informline>> (CREW) dubbed Richardson a "deadbeat congresswoman" and filed a complaint. Both Hoyer and Error! Hyperlink reference not valid. <<http://www.washingtonpost.com/ac2/related/topic/John+Boehner?tid=informline>> said that Richardson's woes might merit an ethics inquiry.

"Mr. Hoyer has always said the ethics committee should look at anything that's raised in the public sphere," Hoyer spokeswoman Stacey Farnen Bernards said last week. "That gives people the confidence that the House is policing itself."

But Hoyer's policy didn't deter him from going ahead with the fundraiser to help his beleaguered colleague pay off the $330,000 she owed as of last month. The event is scheduled from 5:30 to 7 tomorrow evening, in rented space at a private residence on Error! Hyperlink reference not valid. <<http://www.washingtonpost.com/ac2/related/topic/Capitol+Hill?tid=informline>>.

Hoyer's invitation seeks contributions of between $1,000 and $5,000 from political action committees, which are pools of money filled by individuals and used by corporations, industries and labor unions to donate to the coffers of lawmakers they wish to assist.

Probably a lot of PACs will pay up. Pleasing the House's majority leader is something political action committees are usually eager to do.

But help for Richardson?

CREW's executive director, Error! Hyperlink reference not valid. <<http://www.washingtonpost.com/ac2/related/topic/Melanie+Sloan?tid=informline>>, thinks Hoyer's effort takes him in the wrong direction. "I'd prefer to see a member file an ethics complaint against Richardson rather than help retire her campaign debt," Sloan said in an e-mail.

Richardson's office did not return a telephone call seeking comment. Hoyer is not deterred and defends his decision to help Richardson. "There is no allegation of wrongdoing," Bernards said. "Mr. Hoyer feels comfortable supporting Representative Richardson as a fellow House Democrat."

FYI.

Richardson's loan was subprime - Press Telegram (Long Beach)

By Gene Maddaus, Staff Writer

Rep. Laura Richardson took out a subprime loan to buy her Sacramento house, suggesting she probably was a poor credit risk even before her recent string of loan defaults.

Richardson, D-Long Beach, has defaulted on all three of her homes, and lost the one in Sacramento in a foreclosure auction. She is now engaged in a legal battle with the new owner of the home, after her lender, Washington Mutual Bank, filed to rescind the sale.

James York, owner of Red Rock Mortgage Inc., filed a lawsuit on Thursday against Richardson and Washington Mutual, contesting the foreclosure rescission.

Included in the suit was Richardson's deed of trust, which contains the terms of her home loan. The no-money-down loan was issued for $535,000 in January 2007. It was adjustable after two years, with an introductory rate of 8.8 percent.

"That's a subprime loan," said Jon Nastro, a real estate broker in nearby Elk Grove. "Those are the ones we're taking back now."

Richardson previously declined to disclose her loan terms.

The average prime mortgage rate at the time was 6.22 percent, according to Freddie Mac.

Without further information, it is difficult to tell whether Richardson's subprime loan terms were the result of a poor credit history, lack of income documentation, or both.

Richardson was an assemblywoman at the time the loan was issued, with an annual salary of $113,000. She also collected $28,365 in per diem for living expenses in Sacramento during the nine months she served in the Legislature. She now earns $169,300 as a member of Congress and rents an apartment in Washington, D.C.

Before her election in 2006, Richardson earned $80,000 as a legislative director for Lt. Gov. Cruz Bustamante and $28,000 as a Long Beach city councilwoman, according to a congressional financial disclosure form.

Richardson also owns two homes in San Pedro and Long Beach. In 2006, she took out an equity loan against the Long Beach home to finance her run for the Legislature.

Richardson has defaulted at least eight times on the three properties since 2004 - six times in the last 14 months. She had also failed to pay smaller debts to a mechanic and a printing shop until reporters began inquiring about them.

Richardson's staffers were unavailable for comment on Friday.

Buyer sues Calif. congresswoman over foreclosure

By JULIET WILLIAMS Associated Press Writer
Article Launched: 06/13/2008 05:40:18 PM PDT

SACRAMENTO-A Sacramento investor who bought the foreclosed home of Rep. Laura Richardson has filed a lawsuit against the congresswoman and her bank for rescinding the sale.

James York claims Richardson used her influence as a congresswoman to force Washington Mutual Inc. and a subsidiary to back out of the sale.

York, who operates Red Rock Mortgage Inc., bought the foreclosed home in an upper-middle class Sacramento neighborhood at auction in May for $388,000 after Richardson failed to make her mortgage payments.

In the lawsuit filed in Sacramento County Superior Court, York is seeking to have the house returned to him, as well as punitive damages and costs. He also claims the bank acted with malice after the legitimate sale of the house.

The Associated Press obtained a copy of his lawsuit on Friday, the day the defendants were served.

Richardson, a Democrat from Long Beach, previously told the AP that the house was sold without her knowledge and after the bank agreed to hold off on any action until at least June.

She bought the house in January 2007 for $535,000, a few months after she was elected to the state Assembly. She took out an adjustable-rate mortgage with an interest rate that could vary between 8.6 percent and 14 percent, according to documents filed with York's lawsuit.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, said the congresswoman had not been notified of the lawsuit. He declined further comment.

In an interview Friday with the AP, York said he believes Washington Mutual's trustee rescinded the sale solely because Richardson is a member of Congress. He said the savings and loan would not have done that for an average person.

York said he tried to negotiate a settlement but was rebuffed.

"They rescinded the notice of trustee sale and put it back in her name before even telling me," he said. "It's not a difficult case. It's a valid sale."

A spokeswoman for Washington Mutual, Sara Gaugl, said the company would have no comment because Richardson had not authorized it to speak about her case.

Richardson, 46, was a member of the Long Beach City Council when she won the Assembly seat in November 2006, months before she bought the three-bedroom, 1 1/2-bath Sacramento home. She won the congressional seat the next year in a special election to replace the late Juanita Millender-McDonald.

Richardson has acknowledged turmoil in her life during the short time she went from the city council to the state Assembly to Congress. She said she used her own money to finance her campaigns and fell behind in mortgage and property tax payments.

A default notice sent in March put her unpaid balance on the 1,600-square-foot home at $578,384.

Richardson's financial troubles appear to run deeper, however. The Long Beach Press-Telegram has reported that Richardson has two other homes in San Pedro and Long Beach that have fallen into default six times. Five of the defaults, totaling nearly $71,000, occurred in the last 13 months.

The newspaper also reported that Richardson has a history of not paying other bills, including failure to pay for car repairs and campaign fliers.

The congresswoman told the AP she believed she had worked out a deal with Washington Mutual to renegotiate her loan on the Sacramento home and pay it off. She also said she intended to pay the nearly $9,000 in delinquent property taxes.

In the notice of rescission filed as an exhibit in York's lawsuit, the trustee company acknowledges it "had previously agreed to postpone the foreclosure sale until June 4, 2008."

Meanwhile, York said in the lawsuit that he has already started making repairs to the house, including painting, restoring the floors, landscaping and general clean-up that have "significantly increased its value."

He argues it would be unfair to give the house back to Richardson in better condition than she lost it. The amount of money he has spent on the repairs was not specified.

Richardson makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

The home, built in 1926, is in Sacramento's Curtis Park, a desirable, upper middle-class neighborhood near downtown that sits under a canopy of decades-old trees.

Not long after getting to Congress, Richardson voted in favor of the Mortgage Forgiveness Debt Relief Act of 2007, which subsequently became law. It allows homeowners to escape paying income taxes on debts forgiven by a lender, as happens in foreclosure. She has said she would like to testify before Congress as someone victimized by the nation's mortgage crisis.

York notes in his lawsuit that the house now has a cloud over it-making it more difficult to sell if it is eventually returned to him.

"If I had known it was this congresswoman's house, I probably never would have bought it," York said in the telephone interview.

Richardson mum in the face of mounting pressure

By Jared Allen
 Posted: 06/13/08 11:50 AM [ET]
 Embattled Rep. Laura Richardson (D-Calif.) remained mum on Friday following more news about her personal housing crisis and a warning from House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) to put her fiscal house back in order.

Richardson, who has dodged repeated calls for information regarding her multiple defaults on three home mortgages and her financial disclosure reports, failed to report a heavily indebted mortgage on her initial 2007 financial statement.

Official financial reports for House members will be released on Monday, and it remains to be seen if Richardson's official report will have been amended from the one she previously filed.

However, Pelosi issued a warning to Richardson on Thursday that she risks whatever repercussions may come from failing to disclose her assets and liabilities to the letter of the law.

"Every member of Congress is responsible for living up to the highest ethical standard, to having the fullest disclosure of his or her assets, as is required by law," Pelosi said at her weekly news conference. "And many people in our country are caught in a foreclosure crisis. Members of Congress maybe are as well."

After falling too far behind on mortgage payments on a home she purchased in Sacramento in January 2007, Richardson was forced to watch the home sold at auction last month.

In the aftermath, it was revealed that Richardson has defaulted on mortgages for three California homes since 1999.

According to records pulled from Los Angeles and Sacramento counties, Richardson has defaulted five separate times on her primary residence in Long Beach, a home she purchased in 1999 and refinanced in the summer of 2006 for a new $446,250 mortgage.

The prior summer, Richardson took out a loan from Wells Fargo, in the amount of $359,000, to purchase a second home in San Pedro.

After defaulting twice - in September 2007 and again in January - and owing $367,436 on an original loan of $359,000, Richardson received notice from her lender in April that her San Pedro home was going to be sold at auction. According to reports, that auction is scheduled for July 14.

But it is Richardson's Sacramento home that has garnered the most attention, and places her in the most immediate risk as a member of Congress who is bound by federal law to disclose certain assets and liabilities.

According to Richardson's 2007 financial disclosure statement - which she filed in February - she failed to report her Sacramento home mortgage as a liability even though she owed $40,000 more than she paid for the home, which was purchased in January of that year.

By the end of 2007 - which marks the end of the 2007 financial disclosure reporting period - Richardson had accumulated $575,000 in total debt after failing to make payments on her original $535,000 mortgage, according to Sacramento County records.

Financial disclosure laws require members of Congress to report home mortgages as liabilities if indebtedness exceeds the purchase prices of the item, and congressional ethics and finance experts have said that, on a plain reading of the law, Richardson was required to disclose such an indebted mortgage as a liability.

Under the section of the report for liabilities, Richardson simply lists, "N/A."

A senior House Democrat close to leadership on Thursday afternoon said he had spoken to Richardson about the matter and she had assured him that, with regard to her Sacramento home, the "bank screwed up."

On Wednesday the Los Angeles Times reported that James York, the real estate investor who bought Richardson's Sacramento home at a May 7 auction for $388,000, is now claiming that Richardson's lender, Washington Mutual, reclaimed the property on behalf of Richardson. York had recorded the deed on May 19 and had begun renovations, the Times reported.

"They took the property back, and they didn't even send back the money," York was quoted in the Times. "It's clear what's happening is Ms. Richardson is abusing her political power and using it for her own political needs."

Pelosi comments on Laura Richardson defaults

By Erica Werner The Associated Press

<http://www.daillybreeze.com/cj_9564107>

WASHINGTON - House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, asked Thursday about fellow California Democratic Rep. Laura Richardson's multiple home defaults, said that "every member of Congress is responsible for living up to the highest ethical standards."

Pelosi said she was not familiar with the details of the controversy surrounding Richardson, who won a special election last year to replace the late Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald in the 37th Congressional District in Long Beach.

But every lawmaker must make "the fullest disclosure of his or her assets as is required by law," Pelosi said.

"Many people in our country are caught in the foreclosure crisis. Members of Congress maybe are as well," she added.

Late last month reports emerged that Richardson, a former state Assemblywoman and member of the Long Beach City Council, had lost her Sacramento home to foreclosure and has two other homes in Southern California that have fallen into default six times.

Last week the Long Beach Press-Telegram reported that Richardson had also left car repair bills unpaid.

Richardson easily won her Democratic primary June 3 and is running unopposed in the November general election, although at least one of her Democratic primary opponents is making plans to challenge her as a write-in candidate.

Richardson defended herself after the first reports of the foreclosure on her Sacramento home, saying it never should have happened and she'd worked out a deal with her lender to buy it back. However the purchaser of the property, James York of Red Rock Mortgage in Sacramento, complained in published reports this week that Richardson had been given favorable terms because she's a congresswoman and that he planned to sue over the issue.

Richardson's spokesman, William Marshall, had no immediate comment Thursday.

California Assembly Speaker Karen Bass, D-Los Angeles, also addressed the Richardson situation Thursday during a visit to Washington. Bass and other Assembly leaders had endorsed Richardson's congressional bid but Bass told reporters she'd had no idea about Richardson's financial issues.

Richardson had a quick rise in politics, moving from the Long Beach City Council to a state Assembly seat in 2006 and to Congress the next year.

"Given the rapid pace of all of that I can understand the financial difficulties, but now more is coming out," Bass said. She said she'd hoped while in Washington to talk to Richardson about the situation but hadn't had the opportunity.

1. AP Interview: Calif. congresswoman says home sale 'improper'
 By ERICA WERNER
 24 May 2008
 Associated Press Newswires

Rep. Laura Richardson claimed Friday that her Sacramento home was sold into foreclosure without her knowledge and contrary to an agreement with her lender. She said that she is like any other American suffering in the mortgage crisis and wants to testify to Congress about her experience as lawmakers craft a foreclosure-prevention bill. In a lengthy interview with The Associated Press on Friday night, the Southern California Democrat struck back against several days of negative publicity over reports she defaulted on her mortgage, allowing the house to be sold at auction.

Richardson, elected in a special election last August, acknowledged turmoil in her life in the months after an incumbent's death in April opened up the Los Angeles-area House seat.

She used her money to finance her campaign and fell behind in mortgage payments. But Richardson said that makes her like other Americans who have to deal with a sudden death or birth that throws a wrench into their finances.

Now, Richardson said, she has renegotiated her loan to pay it off and promised to fully comply with all its terms. She also said she will pay nearly $9,000 in delinquent property taxes.

She insisted she's not getting special terms because she's a congresswoman.

"I'm Laura Richardson. I'm an American, I'm a single woman who had four employment changes in less than four months," Richardson told the AP. "I had to figure out just like every other American how I could restructure the obligations that I had with the income I had."

Richardson was a member of the Long Beach City Council when she won a California state Assembly seat in November 2006, months before she bought the three-bedroom, 1 1/2-bath Sacramento home. She won the congressional seat the next year in the special election to replace the late Juanita Millender-McDonald.

The problem is that the 1,600-square-foot home she bought for $535,500 in January 2007 was sold at auction earlier this month to a Sacramento mortgage lender, who paid $388,000. The sale was officially recorded on Monday, according to documents on file with the Sacramento County Recorder's Office. A default notice sent to Richardson in March put her unpaid balance at $578,384.

Richardson, 46, makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

Although others struggling with mortgages make far less, Richardson said it was "very misleading" to compare her earnings to the national median household income of around $50,000. The reason:

Lawmakers are required to maintain two residences while other people don't have to, she said.

Others also don't have to depend on winning an election to ensure their livelihood, she said.

Richardson provided AP with an April letter that appears to be from Washington Mutual Home Loans telling her there was a hold on foreclosure sales on her property until June 4 of this year.

She said she got another letter asking for payments May 2 and paid them, but did not know the sale was going to happen five days later.

Richardson also provided an e-mail dated Thursday she said was from Washington Mutual that appeared to acknowledge an agreement "to facilitate the rescission of foreclosure sale."

She did not provide documentation of the structure of her new loan.

A Washington Mutual spokeswoman, Sara Gaugl, told AP earlier in the day that the company had "not received consent from Ms. Richardson that would allow us to discuss her loan situation."

Asked later to respond to Richardson's specific comments, she reiterated that the savings and loan could not discuss the matter without the congresswoman's consent.

Meanwhile, the current owner of the property told AP that his ownership of the house is not in doubt. James York, owner of Red Rock Mortgage Inc. of Sacramento, declined to discuss any possible negotiations that might be ongoing.

"I've taken possession on the home," York said. "I've been working on it, fixing it up. It had been vacant. It was in cleaner and in better repair than most foreclosures."

The home, built in 1926, is in Sacramento's Curtis Park, a desirable, upper middle-class neighborhood near downtown that sits under a canopy of decades-old trees.

Not long after getting to Congress, Richardson voted in favor of the Mortgage Forgiveness Debt Relief Act of 2007, which subsequently became law. It allows homeowners to escape paying income taxes on debts forgiven by a lender, as happens in foreclosure.

Richardson was absent earlier this month for votes on the Foreclosure Prevention Act, which she said was because of her father's funeral. But she could have another opportunity to vote on the foreclosure package as the House is expected to bring it back up in June once agreement is reached in the Senate. In most cases, congressional ethics rules don't prevent lawmakers from voting on legislation that might affect or help them economically. Such votes are essentially impossible to avoid.

Rather than shy away from voting on mortgage-related bills, Richardson said her experiences could help her craft legislation to make sure others don't experience what she did. For example, she sees a need to add steps to inform property owners before their property can be sold.

"We have to ensure that lenders and borrowers have the tools with proper timing to resolve this," she said.

Melanie Sloan, executive director of the Washington-based Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics, criticized Richardson for falling deeper into debt while choosing to spend more than $75,000 of her own money on her campaign -- suggesting that it's more important to win a seat in Congress than to be fiscally responsible, a point Richardson disputed.

Sloan also said Richardson should not be in the situation she is while making a congressional salary, when homeowners around the country making $60,000 or less are struggling to pay their debts.

"Truthfully, it's appalling," Sloan said.

2. Was Lawmaker Foreclosed On?

By Jennifer Harmon

26 May 2008

National Mortgage News

LONG BEACH, CA -- The Press-Telegram here said that Rep. Laura Richardson made only a few payments on the Sacramento house she bought in 2007, failed to pay property taxes, defaulted on the mortgage and lost the house to foreclosure. The Press-Telegram also reported that Rep. Richardson's lender, Washington Mutual, took a loss of nearly $200,000 when it sold the house at a public auction on May 7.

"They took a beating," James York, the Sacramento real estate broker who said he bought the house at a foreclosure auction, told the Press-Telegram.

The report is based on public documents the newspaper published on its website, and in an interview with Mr. York. It is at odds with Rep. Richardson's statement, in which the Long Beach Democrat said she had worked out a loan modification with her lender, and would "fulfill all financial obligations" on the property.

According to the Press-Telegram, "Rep. Laura Richardson lost her Sacramento home in a foreclosure auction two weeks ago, and left behind nearly $9,000 in unpaid property taxes. Rep. Richardson, D-

Long Beach, appears to have made only a few payments on the house, which she bought in January 2007 for $535,000."

The newspaper's report - that the house was foreclosed and an auction took place - appears to conflict with Rep. Richardson's statement that the house "is not in foreclosure." Her office has not responded to a request from the Los Angeles Times for additional information about her mortgage and loan modification. The Press-Telegram said she declined to be interviewed about the controversy. The newspaper's report also calls into question her statement that she had worked out a loan modification with her lender and would fulfill all financial obligations related to the property. The Press-Telegram reports that the house sold for only $388,000, far below the $574,000 owed on the property, and that the new owner, Mr. York, "assumed responsibility for Ms. Richardson's unpaid property tax bill of $8,950.79."

3. IRS Rule Aids Loan Mods

By Brian Collins

26 May 2008

National Mortgage News

WASHINGTON -- Servicers of residential mortgage-backed securities no longer have to wait for a borrower to miss a payment or even ask for help before they can offer the homeowner a loan modification, according to an Internal Revenue Service ruling.

The new IRS ruling encourages servicers to identify and assist borrowers that have a high risk of eventual foreclosure.

And it allows servicers to be proactive in preventing widespread foreclosures without jeopardizing the tax status of the Real Estate Mortgage Investment Corp.

"This is an important change that will allow more homeowners who may potentially get into trouble to have their loans modified prior to default," said Anne Canfield, executive director of the Consumer Mortgage Coalition.

In an example discussed in Revenue Procedure (2008-28), the servicer can elect to reduce the interest rate and principal on a loan for a borrower who has not responded to letters or phone calls and without the benefit of updated individual information.

The IRS recognizes that servicers have developed sophisticated programs to identify borrowers likely to default by using data such as high loan-to-value ratios, declining credit scores, falling house prices or approaching interest rate resets.

"Once the servicer forms a reasonable belief that there is significant risk of foreclosure," then they can go ahead and contact the borrower before any payment goes late," IRS associate counsel Susan Baker told this newspaper.

In December, the IRS issued a revenue ruling to facilitate a Hope Now initiative for "fast-tracking" of subprime adjustable-rate borrowers into a refinancing or loan mod.

It allowed the servicers to quickly identify borrowers facing a reset and fast-tracking them into a loan modification where the starter rate is frozen for five years.

This Hope Now "teaser freezer" initiative has had limited success and the revenue ruling addressed a very narrow set of facts.

Revenue Procedure 2008-28 is not limited to subprime ARMs or freezing the interest rate. It permits interest rate and principal reductions. It seems to build on a March 2007 IRS ruling that allows servicers to modify commercial real estate loans in REMICs if default is "reasonably foreseeable."

Washington Mutual executive William Longbrake said last week the latest IRS ruling appears to be a "clarification" of the March 2007 ruling on CMBS. "Although the IRS guidance only addresses commercial real estate REMICs, it can be reasonably inferred that comparable treatment would be given to residential real estate REMICs," Mr. Longbrake said in a publication.

Richardson escapes $400 property bill - The Daily Breeze

By Gene Maddaus

August 21, 2008

In a statement, Rep. Laura Richardson, D-Long Beach, disavowed any responsibility for the current upkeep of the home, because she said it still has not been transferred back to her.

Rep. Laura Richardson caught a break on Wednesday when code enforcement officers decided not to bill her for boarding up the garage door on her vacant Sacramento home.

The city decided it would be too much trouble to determine who owned the property last month, when code enforcement officers were called out to deal with a "public nuisance."

After Richardson stopped making payments on the home, it was sold to an investor at a foreclosure auction. But the property was returned to Richardson in June, after her bank rescinded the sale.

In a statement, Richardson, D-Long Beach, disavowed any responsibility for the current upkeep of the home, because she said it still has not been transferred back to her.

"Congresswoman Richardson is fully prepared, WHEN full transfer of the property is made and reinstated, to manage and maintain the Sacramento property," said her spokesman, William Marshall.

Richardson's statement conflicts with available public records, which state that she has had the title to the property since June 2.

Richardson bought the home in January 2007 upon being elected to the Assembly. But after she won a seat in Congress a few months later, neighbors noticed that property was left vacant and had been poorly maintained.

Sacramento police were called to the home on July 21 because the garage door was open, suggesting a possible break-in. The police called code enforcement officials, who brought in a contractor to board up the door.

Code enforcement officers also found rotting food on the ground, which might attract rodents, as well as junk and debris in the yard.

In such cases, the homeowner gets a bill from the city. Ron O'Connor, the code enforcement operations manager, said the city would also charge $250 for night service, plus the cost of the contractor, bringing the total to perhaps $400.

Apparently relying on county property records, the city sent a notice of a "public nuisance" to Red Rock Mortgage, the real estate firm that bought the property at auction.

Richardson did not learn about the notice until last week.

James York, the owner of Red Rock Mortgage, sued Richardson and Washington Mutual after the auction was rescinded, arguing that he was the rightful owner of the property. As part of the suit, York filed a notice of pending litigation on the property, which clouded Richardson's title.

York later settled the lawsuit for an undisclosed sum. On July 11, 10 days before the apparent break-in, York's attorney signed notices to withdraw the lawsuit and the notice of litigation from the property, thereby relinquishing York's claim on it.

O'Connor said it was unclear from information available to him who owned the property on July 21.

But Richardson had the title to the property once the sale was rescinded on June 2. Were it otherwise, she would have had to sue York to get the house back - not vice versa.

In order to resolve the ownership of the property, O'Connor said he would have to spend $100 for a title search, which would take three weeks.

"It's not worth it," he said. "I'm just going to get rid of it."

O'Connor said that Richardson would still be sent a notice to comply with the code violations, but would not be required to pay for the board-up.

In another development, Washington Mutual paid Richardson's outstanding property tax bill of $9,000 on July 31. No public records explain why the bank would do that, though it is possible that the tax bill was added to Richardson's loan balance in a refinancing.

So you are aware, I just received a call from a producer with CNN re: Congresswoman Richardson's "debacle." Apparently, CNN's Campbell Brown plans to discuss the Congresswoman's situation during tomorrow's 8 p.m Eastern broadcast.

The producer said she's been tasked with cross-checking the accuracy of Ms. Richardson's statements with WaMu, at which point I informed her that we have not received consent from Ms. Richardson that would allow us to discuss her loan situation.

At that point, she informed me that CNN has talked with a forensic accountant. Based on his/her analysis of Ms. Richardson's financial situation, the accountant has "determined" that the Congresswoman probably shouldn't have qualified for the (WaMu) loan in the first place.

I'll keep you informed as I learn more. I expect to receive an update from CNN tomorrow.

Best,

Sara

David, John and Steve:

So you are aware, earlier this evening Congresswoman Richardson talked with a number of media outlets including the Associated Press. As outlined in the AP article embedded below, she's claiming that the foreclosure auction of her Sacramento home was "improper" and contrary to a written agreement she had with WaMu. She also said that we've taken initial steps to rescind the foreclosure action given that she had an "agreement."

Legal, HL PR., Corp. Comm., Servicing and GIR will stay closely aligned as this situation continues to evolve. After discussing this afternoon, we unfortunately are still limited on what we can disclose about Ms. Richardson's loan situation (outside of public record) given that she's won't provide her consent. We have and will continue to emphasize that fact to the media, and will point them back to the public record, which indicates a history of default.

We'll continue to update you on new developments, however in the interim, please let us know if you have any questions.

Best,

Sara

AP Interview: Calif. congresswoman says home sale 'improper'

By ERICA WERNER Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) _ Rep. Laura Richardson claimed Friday that her Sacramento home was sold into foreclosure without her knowledge and contrary to an agreement with her lender.

She said that she is like any other American suffering in the mortgage crisis and wants to testify to Congress about her experience as lawmakers craft a foreclosure-prevention bill.

In a lengthy interview with The Associated Press on Friday night, the Southern California Democrat struck back against several days of negative publicity over reports she defaulted on her mortgage, allowing the house to be sold at auction.

Richardson, elected in a special election last August, acknowledged turmoil in her life in the months after an incumbent's death in April opened up the Los Angeles-area House seat.

She used her money to finance her campaign and fell behind in mortgage payments. But Richardson said that makes her like other Americans who have to deal with a sudden death or birth that throws a wrench into their finances.

Now, Richardson said, she has renegotiated her loan to pay it off and promised to fully comply with all its terms. She also said she will pay nearly $9,000 in delinquent property taxes.

She insisted she's not getting special terms because she's a congresswoman.

"I'm Laura Richardson. I'm an American, I'm a single woman who had four employment changes in less than four months," Richardson told the AP. "I had to figure out just like every other American how I could restructure the obligations that I had with the income I had."

Richardson was a member of the Long Beach City Council when she won a California state Assembly seat in November 2006, months before she bought the three-bedroom, 1½-bath Sacramento home. She won the congressional seat the next year in the special election to replace the late Juanita Millender-McDonald.

The problem is that the 1,600-square-foot home she bought for $535,500 in January 2007 was sold at auction earlier this month to a Sacramento mortgage lender, who paid $388,000. The sale was officially recorded on Monday, according to documents on file with the Sacramento County Recorder's Office.

A default notice sent to Richardson in March put her unpaid balance at $578,384.

Richardson, 46, makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

Although others struggling with mortgages make far less, Richardson said it was "very misleading" to compare her earnings to the national median household income of around $50,000. The reason: Lawmakers are required to maintain two residences while other people don't have to, she said.

Others also don't have to depend on winning an election to ensure their livelihood, she said.

Richardson provided AP with an April letter that appears to be from Washington Mutual Home Loans telling her there was a hold on foreclosure sales on her property until June 4 of this year.

She said she got another letter asking for payments May 2 and paid them, but did not know the sale was going to happen five days later.

Richardson also provided an e-mail dated Thursday she said was from Washington Mutual that appeared to acknowledge an agreement "to facilitate the rescission of foreclosure sale."

She did not provide documentation of the structure of her new loan.

A Washington Mutual spokeswoman, Sara Gaugl, told AP earlier in the day that the company had "not received consent from Ms. Richardson that would allow us to discuss her loan situation."

Washington Mutual did not respond to a later inquiry seeking comment on Richardson's claims.

Meanwhile, the current owner of the property told AP that his ownership of the house is not in doubt.

James York, owner of Red Rock Mortgage Inc. of Sacramento, declined to discuss any possible negotiations that might be ongoing.

"I've taken possession on the home," York said. "I've been working on it, fixing it up. It had been vacant. It was in cleaner and in better repair than most foreclosures."

The home, built in 1926, is in Sacramento's Curtis Park, a desirable, upper middle-class neighborhood near downtown that sits under a canopy of decades-old trees.

Not long after getting to Congress, Richardson voted in favor of the Mortgage Forgiveness Debt Relief Act of 2007, which subsequently became law. It allows homeowners to escape paying income taxes on debts forgiven by a lender, as happens in foreclosure.

Richardson was absent earlier this month for votes on the Foreclosure Prevention Act, which she said was because of her father's funeral. But she could have another opportunity to vote on the foreclosure package as the House is expected to bring it back up in June once agreement is reached in the Senate.

In most cases, congressional ethics rules don't prevent lawmakers from voting on legislation that might affect or help them economically. Such votes are essentially impossible to avoid.

Rather than shy away from voting on mortgage-related bills, Richardson said her experiences could help her craft legislation to make sure others don't experience what she did. For example, she sees a need to add steps to inform property owners before their property can be sold.

"We have to ensure that lenders and lenders have the tools with proper timing to resolve this," she said.

Melanie Sloan, executive director of the Washington-based Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics, criticized Richardson for falling deeper into debt while choosing to spend more than $75,000 of her own money on her campaign — suggesting that it's more important to win a seat in Congress than to be fiscally responsible, a point Richardson disputed.

Sloan also said Richardson should not be in the situation she is while making a congressional salary, when homeowners around the country making $50,000 or less are struggling to pay their debts.

"Truthfully, it's appalling," Sloan said.

 Rep. won't be billed for house problem - The Daily Breeze
 By Gene Maddaus

Rep. Laura Richardson caught a break on Wednesday when code enforcement officers decided not to bill her for boarding up the garage door on her vacant Sacramento home.

The city decided it would be too much trouble to determine who owned the property last month, when code enforcement officers were called out to deal with a "public nuisance."

After Richardson stopped making payments on the home, it was sold to an investor at a foreclosure auction. But the property was returned to Richardson in June, after her bank rescinded the sale.

In a statement, Richardson, D-Long Beach, disavowed any responsibility for the current upkeep of the home, because she said it still has not been transferred back to her.

"Congresswoman Richardson is fully prepared, WHEN full transfer of the property is made and reinstated, to manage and maintain the Sacramento property," said her spokesman, William Marshall.

Richardson's statement conflicts with available public records, which state that she has had the title to the property since June 2.

Rep. Richardson's Sacramento home declared 'public nuisance' - Los Angeles Times
Neighbors complained about the condition of the Sacramento home of Rep. Laura Richardson (D-Long Beach).

First Rep. Laura Richardson was having problems making house payments, defaulting six times over eight years.

Then after a bank foreclosed on her Sacramento house and sold it at auction in May, the Long Beach Democrat made such a stink that Washington Mutual, in an unusual move, grabbed it back and returned it to her.

This week, in the latest chapter in the housing saga, the Code Enforcement Department in Sacramento declared her home a "public nuisance."

The city has threatened to fine her as much as $5,000 a month if she doesn't fix it up.

Neighbors in the upper-middle-class neighborhood complain that the sprinklers are never turned on and the grass and plants are dead or dying. The gate is broken, and windows are covered with brown paper.

"I would call it an eyesore," said Peter Thomsen, a retired bank executive who lives nearby.

The city action was prompted by police action.

Police were twice called to investigate reports of a suspicious person in or around the house, perhaps a homeless man squatting there. Officers called the Code Enforcement Department, which boarded up a broken door.

Code enforcement inspectors visited the house twice in July, finding "junk and debris" in the driveway and "rotting fruit on the ground in the rear yard which creates rodent harborage," according to department documents.

Ron O'Connor, operations manager of the Code Enforcement Department, said homes in the Curtis Park area seldom were tagged as a public nuisance.

"It's a really nice neighborhood," he said.

Asked about the house, Richardson's office released a statement that said: "Neither Congresswoman Richardson nor her attorney have received any information referring to this matter. Any additional information will be provided at a later date."

Richardson has few worries in the November election. The 37th District is so solidly Democratic that no Republican is running against her. Democrat Peter Mathews, who has sought the seat several times before, is mounting a write-in campaign.

Richardson began defaulting on house payments long before she bought the three-bedroom, 1 1/2-bath home after being elected to the Assembly in 2006. She has defaulted on a home in San Pedro, where her mother lives, and her residence in Long Beach for amounts ranging from $5,742 to almost $20,000, according to documents on file with Los Angeles County.

Five of the defaults occurred during a 13-month period over 2007-08 when Richardson was bankrotting her political career, lending her campaigns for Congress and Assembly a total of $177,500.

In addition, she owed nearly $9,000 in property taxes on the Sacramento house, and the city Utilities Department put a lien on the property for an unpaid utility bill of $154.03.

In a letter to supporters after her money problems received widespread publicity in June, Richardson said she was current on her house payments.

"Many elected officials are married, rely on two incomes or are independently wealthy," she wrote.

"I do not fit any of these descriptions," she added. "I made the decision to borrow money against my home to help finance my campaign. The election was too important to me, to our community and to our country to roll over."

Although Richardson lost her Sacramento house, she got it back under unusual circumstances.

Real estate investor James York bought the two-story house May 7 for $388,000. Richardson had paid $535,000. York recorded the deed May 19 and sent a work crew to renovate the house.

York said Washington Mutual filed a letter of rescission of the sale June 2 with Sacramento County. Experts said such a move after the deed was recorded was almost unheard of.

"It seems to me it has nothing to do with the law, but it has to do with [Washington Mutual] trying to be deferential to a congresswoman," said Grant Nelson, the William H. Rehnquist Professor of Law at Pepperdine University.

York sued. The case was settled in early July with each side agreeing not to talk about the terms. In addition, Washington Mutual paid the tax lien on July 31, according to Sacramento County.

The public nuisance notice -- known as a vacant building ordinance violation -- was posted on Richardson's house Tuesday.

An inspection, it says, "revealed the structure on your property is vacant, is not in compliance with minimum maintenance standards and/or constitutes a public nuisance."

The owner of the house is listed on the notice as Red Rock Mortgage Inc., which is York's company.

O'Connor, the Sacramento code official, said the notices are taped onto the building and sent to the owner, return receipt requested.

During a phone interview, O'Connor checked county tax assessor records and said that Richardson is listed as the owner and that the notice would be sent to her.

The notice says that a $1,000 penalty can be assessed against the property if progress is not made to bring it into compliance within 30 days. The penalty could grow to as much as $5,000 per month unless progress is made to improve conditions.

Neighbors have complained about the state of the house for months.

They were optimistic when York sent his crew to begin renovations, but now say it is worse than ever.

"I can't make myself go by there. It hurts too much," said Sharon Helmar, who sold the house to Richardson after living there for 30 years. "We took good care of it, and it's a lovely house."

David and John -

As discussed during this morning's call, embedded below for your reference is recent coverage on Richardson's Sacramento property. As Don mentioned, the Sacramento Code Enforcement Department has declared the property a "public nuisance."

I will continue to reiterate to inquiring reporters that WaMu does not have possession of the property. Note that media coverage also reflects that Richardson's statements have conflicted with available public records.

All:

As expected, coverage on Congresswoman Richardson's financial situation has continued to evolve after it was reported on Friday that she has defaulted on other loans -- including her primary residence. I'm forwarding the blog posting embedded below in particular, as it reflects the current viewpoint among other journalists and links to key articles/postings published to date.

UPDATED: A Congressional Speculator? -- Calculated Risk by Tanta
<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/congressional-speculator.html>

This is an update to post below on Rep. Laura Richardson's foreclosure woes.

Gene Maddaus of the Daily Breeze <http://www.dailybreeze.com/ci_9366061> kindly forwarded today's additions to the saga. There are not two, but three homes owned by Richardson in foreclosure. And yes, she appears to have cashed out her primary residence back in 2006 to fund her campaign for State Assembly. So it looks like a pattern.

* * * * *

I have been watching the story of Representative Laura Richardson and her foreclosure woes for a while now, while heretofore hesitating to post on it. For one thing, the original story--a member of Congress losing her expensive second home to foreclosure--had that kind of celebrity car-crash quality to it that I'm not especially interested in for the purposes of this blog. For another thing, posting about anything even tangentially related to politics invites the kind of comments that personally bore me to tears.

All that is still true, but the story has taken such an unfortunate turn that I feel obligated to weigh in on it. Specifically, Rep. Richardson is threatening us <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126> :

Rather than shy away from voting on mortgage-related bills, Richardson said her experiences could help her craft legislation to make sure others don't experience what she did. For example, she sees a need to add steps to inform property owners before their property can be sold.

"We have to ensure that lenders and lendees have the tools with proper timing to resolve this," she said.

If Rep. Richardson is going to base legislative proposals on her own experience, then it matters to the rest of us what that experience was. So click the link below if you can stand to hear about it.

The story was originally reported in the Sacramento Capitol Weekly
 <http://www.capitolweekly.net/article.php?_adctid=v%7Cjq2q43wvs1855o%7Cx4vss6731uskip&issueId=x4tyo1qkrlw0m0&xid=x4ptlrnv0w0r6x> , and picked up by the Wall Street Journal
 <<http://blogs.wsj.com/developments/2008/05/22/congresswomans-home-sold-in-foreclosure-auction/>> , and thence covered by a number of blogs, with the storyline being that Rep. Richardson "walked away" from her home, a second home she purchased in Sacramento after being elected to the State Assembly. The "walk away" part came from a remark made by the real estate investor who purchased the home at the foreclosure auction, not Rep. Richardson or anyone who could be expected to understand her financial situation, but that didn't stop the phrase "walk away" from headlining
 <<http://globaleconomicanalysis.blogspot.com/2008/05/congresswoman-walks-away.htm>> blog
 <<http://optionarmageddon.blogspot.com/2008/05/update-on-walk-away-congresswoman.html>> posts
 <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/buyer-of-rep-la.html>> .

Rep. Richardson has variously claimed at different times that the house was not in foreclosure, that she had worked out a modification with the lender, and that the lender improperly foreclosed after having agreed to accept her payments. Frankly, unless and until Rep. Richardson gives her lender, Washington Mutual, permission to tell its side of the story-- I'm not holding my breath on that--we're unlikely to be able to sort out this mess of claims to my satisfaction, at least.

It's possible that WaMu screwed this up--that it accepted payments on a workout plan with the understanding that foreclosure was "on hold" and then sold the property at auction the next week anyway. It's possible that Richardson's version of what went on is muddled, too. Without some more hard information I'm not inclined to assume the servicer did most of the screwing up, if for no other reason that we didn't find out until late yesterday, courtesy of the L.A. Land
 <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/richardson-says.html>> and Foreclosure Truth
 <<http://www.foreclosuretruth.com/blog/sean/foreclosure-crisis-gets-personal-rep-laura-richardson>> blogs, that Richardson's other home--her primary residence--was also in foreclosure proceedings as recently as March of this year, a detail that as far as I can tell Richardson never disclosed in all the previous discussion of the facts surrounding the foreclosure of her second home.

What part of this I am most interested in, right now, is the question of what in the hell exactly Richardson was thinking when she bought the Sacramento home in the first place. Since the story is quite complex, let's get straight on a few details. Richardson was a Long Beach City Council member who was elected to the state legislature in November of 2006. In January of 2007 she purchased a second home in Sacramento, presumably to live in during the Assembly session. In April 2007, the U.S. Congressional Representative from Richardson's district died, and Richardson entered an expensive race for that seat, winning in a special election in August of 2007. By December 2007 the Sacramento home was in default, and it was foreclosed in early May of 2008. The consensus in the published reports seems to be that Richardson spent what money she had on her campaign, not her bills.

According to the AP <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126> :
 Richardson, 46, makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

It seems to me that all this focus on what happened after she bought the Sacramento home--running for the suddenly-available Congressional seat, changing jobs, etc.--is obscuring the issue of the original transaction.

In November of 2006, Richardson already owned a home in Long Beach. As a newly-elected state representative, she would have been required to maintain her principal residence in her district, but she would also have had to make some arrangements for staying in Sacramento during Assembly sessions, given the length of the commute from L.A. County to the state capitol. She seems to have told the AP reporter that "Lawmakers are required to maintain two residences while other people don't have to," which is not exactly the way I'd have put it. Lawmakers are required to maintain one primary residence (which need not be owned) in their district. They are not required to buy a home at the capitol (of California or the U.S.); many legislators do rent. Richardson is a single woman with no children, yet she felt "required" to purchase a 3-bedroom, 1 1/2 bathroom home in what sounds like one of Sacramento's pricier neighborhoods for $535,500, with no downpayment and with $15,000 in closing cost contributions from the property seller. (The NAR median price in Sacramento in the first quarter of 2007 was $365,300 <http://www.usatoday.com/money/economy/housing/2008-05-13-q1-homeprices_N.htm> .)

I have no idea what loan terms Richardson got for a 100% LTV second home purchase in January 2007, but I'm going to guess that if she got something like a 7.00% interest only loan (without additional mortgage insurance), she got a pretty darn good deal. If she got that good a deal, her monthly interest payment would have been $3123.75. Assuming taxes and insurance of 1.50% of the property value, her total payment would have been $3793.13.

The AP reports that Richardson's salary as a state representative was $113,000 in 2007, and she received $20,000 in per diem payments (which are, of course, intended to offset the additional expense of traveling to and staying in the Capitol during sessions). I assume the per diem is non-taxable, so I'll gross it up to $25,000. That gives me an annual income of $138,000 or a gross monthly income of $11,500.

The total payment on the second home, then, with my sunny assumptions about loan terms, comes to 33% of Richardson's gross income. I have no idea what the payment is for her principal residence in Long Beach. I have no idea what other debt she might have. I am ignoring her congressional race and job changes and all that because at the point she took out this mortgage, that was all in the future and Richardson didn't know that the incumbent would die suddenly and all that. I'm just trying to figure out what went through this woman's mind when she decided it was a wise financial move to spend one-third of her pre-tax income on a second home. (There's no point trying to figure out what went through the lender's mind at the time. There just isn't.)

Now, Richardson has this <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126> to say about herself: "I'm Laura Richardson. I'm an American. I'm a single woman who had four employment changes in less than four months," Richardson told the AP. "I had to figure out just like every other American how I could restructure the obligations that I had with the income I had."

Yeah, well, I'm Tanta, I'm an American, I'm a single woman, and I say you're full of it. You need to show us what your plan for affording this home was before the job changes, girlfriend. You might also tell me why you felt you needed such an expensive second home when you had no money to put down on it or even to pay your own closing costs. As it happens, the Mercury News/AP <http://www.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9337389?nclink_check=1> reported that by June of 2007--five months after purchase--you had a lien filed for unpaid utility bills. You didn't budget for the lights?

But what are we going to get? We're going to get Richardson all fired up in Congress about tinkering with foreclosure notice timing, which is last I knew a question of state, not federal, law, and which has as far as I can see squat to do with why this loan failed.

Quite honestly, if WaMu did give Richardson some loan modification deal, I'd really like to know what went through the Loss Mit Department's collective and individual minds when they signed off on that. Sure, Richardson's salary went up to $170,000 when she became a member of the U.S. Congress, but what does she need a home in Sacramento for after that? Where's she going to live in Washington, DC? And, well, her principal residence was also in the process of foreclosure at the same time. I suppose I might have offered a short sale or deed-in-lieu here, but a modification? Why would anybody do that? Because she's a Congresswoman?

I'm quite sure Richardson wants to be treated like just a plain old American and not get special treatment. Well, I was kind of hard on a plain old American the other day who wrote a "hardship letter" <<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/how-not-to-write-hardship-letter.html>> " that didn't pass muster with me. I feel obligated to tell Richardson that she sounds like a real estate speculator who bought a home she obviously couldn't afford, defaulted on it, and now wants WaMu to basically subsidize her Congressional campaign by lowering her mortgage payment or forgiving debt. And that's . . . disgusting. At the risk of sounding like Angelo.

I know some of you are thinking that maybe poor Ms. Richardson got taken advantage of by some fast-talking REALTOR who encouraged her to buy more house than she could afford.

According to Pete Viles at L.A. Land <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/us-rep-laura-ri.html>> , She likes the Realtors, and they like her. She filed financial disclosure forms with the House Ethics Committee reporting the National Assn. of Realtors flew her to Las Vegas in November to help swear in the new president of the association, Realtor Dick Gaylord of Long Beach.

In suggested remarks* at the NAR gathering, also filed with the House, Richardson's script read: "I might be one of the newest members of Congress but I am not a new member of the REALTOR Party. When I needed help to win a tough primary, REALTORS stood up and backed me even though I was the underdog."

--Real estate industry professionals have given her $39,500 in campaign contributions in the current election cycle, according to Open Secrets.

No wonder she's blaming the lender.

And, well, her principal residence was also in the process of foreclosure at the same time. I suppose I might have offered a short sale or deed-in-lieu here, but a modification? Why would anybody do that? Because she's a Congresswoman?

I'm quite sure Richardson wants to be treated like just a plain old American and not get special treatment. Well, I was kind of hard on a plain old American the other day who wrote a "hardship letter" <<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/how-not-to-write-hardship-letter.html>> " that didn't pass muster with me. I feel obligated to tell Richardson that she sounds like a real estate speculator who bought a home she obviously couldn't afford, defaulted on it, and now wants WaMu to basically subsidize her Congressional campaign by lowering her mortgage payment or forgiving debt. And that's . . . disgusting. At the risk of sounding like Angelo.

I know some of you are thinking that maybe poor Ms. Richardson got taken advantage of by some fast-talking REALTOR who encouraged her to buy more house than she could afford.

According to Pete Viles at L.A. Land <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laland/2008/05/us-rep-laura-ri.html>> , She likes the Realtors, and they like her. She filed financial disclosure forms with the House Ethics Committee reporting the National Assn. of Realtors flew her to Las Vegas in November to help swear in the new president of the association, Realtor Dick Gaylord of Long Beach.

In suggested remarks* at the NAR gathering, also filed with the House, Richardson's script read: "I might be one of the newest members of Congress but I am not a new member of the REALTOR Party. When I needed help to win a tough primary, REALTORS stood up and backed me even though I was the underdog."

--Real estate industry professionals have given her $39,500 in campaign contributions in the current election cycle, according to Open Secrets.

No wonder she's blaming the lender.

All:
As expected, coverage on Congresswoman Richardson's financial situation has continued to evolve after it was reported on Friday that she has defaulted on other loans -- including her primary residence. I'm forwarding the blog posting embedded below in particular, as it reflects the current viewpoint among other journalists and links to key articles/postings published to date.

UPDATED: A Congressional Speculator? -- Calculated Risk by Tanta
<http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/congressional-speculator.html>

This is an update to post below on Rep. Laura Richardson's foreclosure woes.

Gene Maddaus of the Daily Breeze <http://www.dailybreeze.com/ej_9366061> kindly forwarded today's additions to the saga. There are not two, but three homes owned by Richardson in foreclosure. And yes, she appears to have cashed out her primary residence back in 2006 to fund her campaign for State Assembly. So it looks like a pattern.

* * * * *

I have been watching the story of Representative Laura Richardson and her foreclosure woes for a while now, while heretofore hesitating to post on it. For one thing, the original story--a member of Congress losing her expensive second home to foreclosure--had that kind of celebrity car-crash quality to it that I'm not especially interested in for the purposes of this blog. For another thing, posting about anything even tangentially related to politics invites the kind of comments that personally bore me to tears.

All that is still true, but the story has taken such an unfortunate turn that I feel obligated to weigh in on it. Specifically, Rep. Richardson is threatening us <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/cj_9363126> :

Rather than shy away from voting on mortgage-related bills, Richardson said her experiences could help her craft legislation to make sure others don't experience what she did. For example, she sees a need to add steps to inform property owners before their property can be sold.

"We have to ensure that lenders and lendees have the tools with proper timing to resolve this," she said.

If Rep. Richardson is going to base legislative proposals on her own experience, then it matters to the rest of us what that experience was. So click the link below if you can stand to hear about it.

* * * * * * * * *

The story was originally reported in the Sacramento Capitol Weekly <http://www.capitolweekly.net/article.php?_adctId=v%7Cjq2q43wvs1855o%7Cx4vss6731uskip&issuId=x4tyolqkrfw0m0&xId=x4ptlrnv0w0r6x> , and picked up by the Wall Street Journal <<http://blogs.wsj.com/developments/2008/05/22/congresswomans-home-sold-in-foreclosure-auction/>> , and thence covered by a number of blogs, with the storyline being that Rep. Richardson "walked away" from her home, a second home she purchased in Sacramento after being elected to the State Assembly. The "walk away" part came from a remark made by the real estate investor who purchased the home at the foreclosure auction, not Rep. Richardson or anyone who could be expected to understand her financial situation, but that didn't stop the phrase "walk away" from headlining <<http://globeconomicanalysis.blogspot.com/2008/05/congresswoman-walks-away.html>> blog

<<http://optionarmageddon.blogspot.com/2008/05/update-on-walk-away-congresswoman.html>> posts
<<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/aland/2008/05/buyer-of-rep-la.html>> .

Rep. Richardson has variously claimed at different times that the house was not in foreclosure, that she had worked out a modification with the lender, and that the lender improperly foreclosed after having agreed to accept her payments. Frankly, unless and until Rep. Richardson gives her lender, Washington Mutual, permission to tell its side of the story-- I'm not holding my breath on that--we're unlikely to be able to sort out this mess of claims to my satisfaction, at least.

It's possible that WaMu screwed this up--that it accepted payments on a workout plan with the understanding that foreclosure was "on hold" and then sold the property at auction the next week anyway. It's possible that Richardson's version of what went on is muddled, too. Without some more hard information I'm not inclined to assume the servicer did most of the screwing up, if for no other reason that we didn't find out until late yesterday, courtesy of the L.A. Land <<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/aland/2008/05/richardson-says.html>> and Foreclosure Truth <<http://www.foreclosuretruth.com/blog/sean/foreclosure-crisis-gets-personal-rep-laura-richardson>> blogs, that Richardson's other home--her primary residence--was also in foreclosure proceedings as recently as March of this year, a detail that as far as I can tell Richardson never disclosed in all the previous discussion of the facts surrounding the foreclosure of her second home.

What part of this I am most interested in, right now, is the question of what in the hell exactly Richardson was thinking when she bought the Sacramento home in the first place. Since the story is quite complex, let's get straight on a few details. Richardson was a Long Beach City Council member who was elected to the state legislature in November of 2006. In January of 2007 she purchased a second home in Sacramento, presumably to live in during the Assembly session. In April 2007, the U.S. Congressional Representative from Richardson's district died, and Richardson entered an expensive race for that seat, winning in a special election in August of 2007. By December 2007 the Sacramento home was in default, and it was foreclosed in early May of 2008. The consensus in the published reports seems to be that Richardson spent what money she had on her campaign, not her bills.

According to the AP <http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126> : Richardson, 46, makes nearly $170,000 as a member of Congress and was paid $113,000 during the eight months she served in the state Assembly in 2007 before her election to Congress. She also received a per diem total of $20,000 from California, according to a financial disclosure form she filed with the House of Representatives clerk.

It seems to me that all this focus on what happened after she bought the Sacramento home--running for the suddenly-available Congressional seat, changing jobs, etc.--is obscuring the issue of the original transaction.

In November of 2006, Richardson already owned a home in Long Beach. As a newly-elected state representative, she would have been required to maintain her principal residence in her district, but she would also have had to make some arrangements for staying in Sacramento during Assembly sessions, given the length of the commute from L.A. County to the state capitol. She seems to have told the AP reporter that "Lawmakers are required to maintain two residences while other people don't have to," which is not exactly the way I'd have put it. Lawmakers are required to maintain one primary residence (which need not be owned) in their district. They are not required to buy a home at the capitol (of California or the U.S.); many legislators do rent. Richardson is a single woman with no children, yet she felt "required" to purchase a 3-bedroom, 1 1/2 bathroom home in what sounds like one of Sacramento's pricier neighborhoods for $535,500, with no downpayment and with $15,000 in closing cost contributions from the property seller. (The NAR median price in Sacramento in the first quarter of 2007 was $365,300 <http://www.usatoday.com/money/economy/housing/2008-05-13-q1-homeprices_N.htm> .)

I have no idea what loan terms Richardson got for a 100% LTV second home purchase in January 2007, but I'm going to guess that if she got something like a 7.00% interest only loan (without additional mortgage insurance), she got a pretty darn good deal. If she got that good a deal, her monthly interest payment would have been $3123.75. Assuming taxes and insurance of 1.50% of the property value, her total payment would have been $3793.13.

The AP reports that Richardson's salary as a state representative was $113,000 in 2007, and she received $20,000 in per diem payments (which are, of course, intended to offset the additional expense of traveling to and staying in the Capitol during sessions). I assume the per diem is non-taxable, so I'll gross it up to $25,000. That gives me an annual income of $138,000 or a gross monthly income of $11,500.

The total payment on the second home, then, with my sunny assumptions about loan terms, comes to 33% of Richardson's gross income. I have no idea what the payment is for her principal residence in Long Beach. I have no idea what other debt she might have. I am ignoring her congressional race and job changes and all that because at the point she took out this mortgage, that was all in the future and Richardson didn't know that the incumbent would die suddenly and all that. I'm just trying to figure out what went through this woman's mind when she decided it was a wise financial move to spend one-third of her pre-tax income on a second home. (There's no point trying to figure out what went through the lender's mind at the time. There just isn't.)

Now, Richardson has this http://origin.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9363126 to say about herself: "I'm Laura Richardson. I'm an American, I'm a single woman who had four employment changes in less than four months," Richardson told the AP. "I had to figure out just like every other American how I could restructure the obligations that I had with the income I had."

Yeah, well, I'm Tanta, I'm an American, I'm a single woman, and I say you're full of it. You need to show us what your plan for affording this home was before the job changes, girlfriend. You might also tell me why you felt you needed such an expensive second home when you had no money to put down on it or even to pay your own closing costs. As it happens, the Mercury News/AP http://www.mercurynews.com/breakingnews/ci_9337389?click_check=1 reported that by June of 2007--five months after purchase--you had a lien filed for unpaid utility bills. You didn't budget for the lights?

But what are we going to get? We're going to get Richardson all fired up in Congress about tinkering with foreclosure notice timing, which is last I knew a question of state, not federal, law, and which has as far as I can see squat to do with why this loan failed.

Quite honestly, if WaMu did give Richardson some loan modification deal, I'd really like to know what went through the Loss Mit Department's collective and individual minds when they signed off on that. Sure, Richardson's salary went up to $170,000 when she became a member of the U.S. Congress, but what does she need a home in Sacramento for after that? Where's she going to live in Washington, DC? And, well, her principal residence was also in the process of foreclosure at the same time. I suppose I might have offered a short sale or deed-in-lieu here, but a modification? Why would anybody do that? Because she's a Congresswoman?

I'm quite sure Richardson wants to be treated like just a plain old American and not get special treatment. Well, I was kind of hard on a plain old American the other day who wrote a "hardship letter" <http://calculatedrisk.blogspot.com/2008/05/how-not-to-write-hardship-letter.html> that didn't pass muster with me. I feel obligated to tell Richardson that she sounds like a real estate speculator who bought a home she obviously couldn't afford, defaulted on it, and now wants WaMu to basically subsidize her Congressional campaign by lowering her mortgage payment or forgiving debt. And that's . . . disgusting. At the risk of sounding like Angelo.

I know some of you are thinking that maybe poor Ms. Richardson got taken advantage of by some fast-talking REALTOR who encouraged her to buy more house than she could afford.

According to Pete Viles at L.A. Land <http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/laand/2008/05/us-rep-laura-ri.html> , She likes the Realtors, and they like her. She filed financial disclosure forms with the House Ethics Committee reporting the National Assn. of Realtors flew her to Las Vegas in November to help swear in the new president of the association, Realtor Dick Gaylord of Long Beach.

In suggested remarks* at the NAR gathering, also filed with the House, Richardson's script read: "I might be one of the newest members of Congress but I am not a new member of the REALTOR Party. When I needed help to win a tough primary, REALTORS stood up and backed me even though I was the underdog."

--Real estate industry professionals have given her $39,500 in campaign contributions in the current election cycle, according to Open Secrets.

No wonder she's blaming the lender.

Brad -

Please see the article embedded below for more detail, but long story short, Congresswoman Laura Richardson appears to have defaulted on her WaMu loan (second home) and on March 19, a notice was filed with the county that her property would be sold at auction.

Congresswoman Richardson initially declined to comment, however, Jan Owen has learned from the Congresswoman that she plans to communicate to The Washington Post that she has established a repayment plan with WaMu.

Would you please look into Congresswoman Richardson's situation as soon as possible so that we understand the facts? Her loan number is

Foreclosure tale shows that nobody is immune from crisis

By Anthony York (published Tuesday, May 20, 2008)

As the real estate market softened in 2007, the new owner of a three-bedroom, 1,600-square-foot house in Sacramento's Curtis Park neighborhood ran into trouble. The house that was purchased for $535,000 in January had lost equity. The owner fell behind in her payments, and eventually, the bank seized the home.

What makes this story different from the thousands like it is that the owner of this house was a member of Congress.

The story of the foreclosure of Long Beach Democrat Laura Richardson's Sacramento home is a tale of a real estate market gone sour. It is also an illustration of how far many candidates will go to seek elected office, even if it means quite literally mortgaging their own financial future.

While being elevated to Congress in a 2007 special election, Richardson apparently stopped making payments on her new Sacramento home, and eventually walked away from it, leaving nearly $600,000 in unpaid loans and fees.

Richardson's decision to let the house slip into foreclosure was set in motion by an unlikely chain of events, only some of which had to do with Sacramento's crumbling real estate market. Richardson was elected to the Assembly in November 2006, and purchased her new capital home two months later. But in April 2007, Rep. Juanita Millender-McDonald succumbed to cancer, creating a Congressional vacancy in Richardson's district.

Richardson declared her candidacy for the seat, and soon found herself locked in a hotly contested, and very expensive race for Congress against state Sen. Jenny Oropeza, D-Long Beach.

While her campaign heated up, Richardson's house slipped into default. Richardson fell behind on her mortgage payments as she loaned her Congressional campaign $60,000 - money that has begun to be paid back to Richardson personally from her campaign account, according to records from the Center for Responsive Politics.

Richardson's opponent, Oropeza, loaned herself $115,000 for her run against Richardson. Oropeza's Congressional committee still shows nearly $200,000 in debt.

Richardson declined to comment for this story.

But tax records at the Sacramento County assessor's office show that in January 2007, Richardson took out a mortgage for the entire sale price of the house -- $535,000. The mortgage amount was equal to the sale price of the home, meaning she was able to buy the house without a down payment, even though the housing market was beginning to turn.

A March 19, 2008 notice of trustee's sale indicates that the unpaid balance of Richardson's loan, which is held by Washington Mutual, is more than $578,000 --$40,000 more than the original mortgage.

The Curtis Park house is not Richardson's primary residence. She also owns a four-bedroom house in Long Beach, in her Congressional district. Real estate records show she purchased that house in 1999 for $135,000. An estimate from Zillow.com puts the current value of that house at $474,000

Like many homes that have gone through foreclosure, Richardson's new residence quickly became an eyesore. With Richardson gone, upkeep on the home lapsed, and neighbors began to get angry.

JPMC-001756
 CONFIDENTIAL

"The neighbors are extremely unhappy with her," said Sharon Helmar, who sold the home to Richardson. "She didn't mow the lawn or take out the garbage while she was there. We lived there for a long time, 30 years, and we had to hide our heads whenever we came back to the neighborhood."

Helmar and her husband, Mark, sold the Curtis Park home to Richardson because Sharon's arthritis required the couple to move into a one-story house. With the area's real estate market slowing down, the house remained on the market for months, and the Helmars, who lived in the house for more than 30 years, were getting desperate to sell.

Helmar said that she has never met Richardson personally, but dealt with Richardson through her realtor. The Helmars wound up giving Richardson $15,000 toward closing costs, she said.

And she is still angry over what happened to a home that clearly she never really wanted to leave. "It's kind of silly. You would think people who are making decisions for others would be able to make good decisions for themselves," she said. "She should have known what she could afford and not afford. In this neighborhood, you just don't do that."

While Richardson walked away from her loan, she bested Oropeza in a June special election, and moved on to Congress. As a member of Congress, Richardson has been asked to vote on legislation pertaining to the spike in foreclosures around the country.

On the biggest pieces of legislation having to do with government bailouts for people whose homes have entered foreclosure, Richardson has recused herself. She did not vote on legislation by Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass, which would direct $2.7 billion in government funds to help an estimated 500,000 homeowners who are at risk of foreclosure.

Richardson also did not vote on a measure by Rep. Maxine Waters, D-Los Angeles, that would give local governments $15 billion to purchase, rehab and resell foreclosed properties.

While Richardson walked away from her bank loan, she has begun to pay herself back for the money she personally invested in her initial race. Records show that Richardson spent $587,000 out of her Congressional campaign committee since declaring her Congressional candidacy through March of this year. Of those expenditures, Richardson has spent $18,000 of that money to begin repaying herself for the money Richardson loaned to her campaign.

According to documents at the Sacramento County Clerk's office, Richardson first received a default notice in late 2007. By December 2007, less than a year after Richardson purchased the house, she was behind in her payments by more than $18,000.

Three months later, on March 19, a notice was filed with the county that Richardson's property would be sold at auction. According to the documents, the unpaid balance and other charges Richardson owed the bank was $587,384.

Calif. congresswoman's house a public nuisance

(08-15) 16:26 PDT Sacramento, CA (AP) --

Sacramento city officials have declared a home owned by U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson a public nuisance and are threatening fines up to $5,000 a month if she doesn't fix it up.

The Long Beach Democrat previously faced foreclosure on the home. Washington Mutual sold it at auction in May, but reversed the sale after Richardson complained she hadn't received proper notice.

The city's code enforcement department reported finding junk in the driveway and rotting fruit in the back yard that attracts rodents. Inspectors came after calls to police about a suspicious person there.

A spokesman for Richardson, William Marshall Jr., says the city sent the notice to the man who previously bought the house from the bank, not Richardson. He says Richardson will maintain the property once "full possession has been returned" to her.

Sacramento city officials have declared a home owned by U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson a public nuisance and are threatening fines up to $5,000 a month if she doesn't fix it up.

The Long Beach Democrat previously faced foreclosure on the home. Washington Mutual sold it at auction in May, but reversed the sale after Richardson complained she hadn't received proper notice.

The city's code enforcement department reported finding junk in the driveway and rotting fruit in the back yard that attracts rodents.

Inspectors came after calls to police about a suspicious person there.

A spokesman for Richardson, William Marshall Jr., says the city sent the notice to the man who previously bought the house from the bank, not Richardson. He says Richardson will maintain the property once "full possession has been returned" to her. ---

Defaults seem unlikely to sink Rep. Richardson

Laura E. Davis, Associated Press

Sunday, August 24, 2008

(08-24) 04:00 PDT Long Beach --

Like many voters in this port city and the gritty urban areas of Rep. Laura Richardson's political turf, Johnetta Walker is disenchanted with the lawmaker whose meteoric rise has been marked with personal financial failures.

Richardson's ambitious one-year ascent from City Council to state Assembly to Congress gained national attention in May when one of her houses was sold in foreclosure, followed by news of several loan defaults.

"How can you be a leader of anything if you can't be a leader of your home?" asks Walker, a bus driver who lives in Compton (Los Angeles County), a working-class city in Richardson's district.

Walker says she won't vote for Richardson in November, but her effort will most likely be in vain. A disorganized field of last-minute challengers and no recall option means there's little angered constituents can do to unseat the financially troubled Democrat.

After news came out about the foreclosure and sale of Richardson's Sacramento home, which she bought in January 2007 after winning a seat in the state Assembly, a pattern of years of financial irresponsibility emerged.

A few days before the June primary, the Long Beach Press-Telegram reported that Richardson, who won her House seat last year in a special election, had been issued multiple defaults on two Southern California homes. Five of those occurred in the previous 13 months, when Richardson was using $177,500 of her own money to finance her political career.

Despite a challenger's news conference highlighting her problems, the lawmaker coasted through the primary with nearly three-fourths of the vote, setting her up to run unopposed in November.

Democratic voter registration in her 37th Congressional District - which includes parts of working-class South Central Los Angeles, Carson (Los Angeles County), Compton and most of Long Beach - outnumbers Republican registration 59.3 percent to 17.5 percent, and Republicans didn't bother to field a candidate this year.

Yet her decisive primary victory and apparent clear sailing in November failed to end criticism.

Unpaid bills

The local paper reported that she didn't pay car repair bills for years, failed to disclose certain financial details - including a loan from a strip club owner - and leased the priciest car in the House at taxpayers' expense. She also once had a real estate license, suggesting she should have known how to better handle her properties.

A Washington watchdog group called for a House Ethics Committee investigation into Richardson's personal finances, citing her history of defaulting on home loans and suspicions of special treatment when her bank rescinded the sale of her foreclosed Sacramento home. She and the bank denied the allegation after the property was returned to her, but it has fallen into disrepair and was recently declared a public nuisance.

As Richardson's problems surfaced this summer, so did three challengers: two write-ins, Lee Davis and Peter Mathews, both of whom lost to Richardson in the primary, and independent Nicholas Dibs, a schoolteacher and political novice.

The three candidates say they were encouraged to run by people unhappy with Richardson and point to voter discontent as signs that their challenges could be successful.

"I walk the streets, and people say, 'Please run as a write-in. We will vote for you. We don't want her,'" said Davis, publisher of the community paper the Wrigley Bulletin and News.

An everywoman?

Richardson - who voted for a mortgage debt forgiveness bill that later passed - has portrayed her foreclosure as an example of how even a member of Congress can suffer a plight plaguing tens of thousands of hapless Americans.

But that explanation hasn't impressed many of her constituents, who have been quick to share their opinions publicly or post them on Web sites.

"If she can't take care of herself, then how is she going to take care of other people (while serving) in Congress?" said Juliana Flores as she left her job at a Target store in Carson.

Some voters say they will do more research on Richardson to determine whether she can separate her own problems from her political duties.

"You always want to make sure someone is capable of handling their personal issues and the issues of the public at large," said Ed Smith, a manager of a fast food restaurant. "I don't vote for someone just because they're the only one running for a particular position."

Write-in candidate Mathews, a college professor who has made several bids for Congress, pointed to a July poll in the Press-Telegram, taken before Davis and Dibs had officially become candidates, that had 57 percent of respondents saying he has a chance of beating Richardson.

But Gary Jacobson, a political science professor at UC San Diego, said independent and write-in candidates rarely win seats in Congress because they usually can't match the money, name recognition and organization of incumbents or candidates backed by a party.

Splitting the opposition

He added that Richardson's three challengers may actually be working against each other.

"It makes it virtually impossible to beat her because it will divide the opposition," he said.

Richardson refused to be interviewed for this story, but campaign spokesman William Marshall Jr. issued a statement. While ignoring her reported indiscretions, the statement said Richardson has consistently gained voter support because of her legislative record and noted some of her achievements in less than a year in Congress.

"She will diligently repeat her resounding (primary) victory of over 74 percent," the statement concluded.

Richardson has received the backing of some of her powerful Democratic colleagues, including House Speaker Nancy Pelosi and popular local lawmaker Rep. Maxine Waters, who represents an adjacent district. In addition, House Majority Leader Steny Hoyer, D-Md., held a Capitol Hill fundraiser for Richardson in June.

If Richardson is re-elected, recall will not be possible, either, because the Constitution does not allow it for members of Congress.

That leaves the 2010 Democratic primary as the next chance for voters to remove Richardson from her seat.

"There's only a remote danger in the general election this year, but a very serious danger in the 2010 primary," said Jack Pitney, a government professor at Claremont McKenna College. "Ambitious politicians in that area are going to be carefully weighing a primary against her."

Sacramento city officials have declared a home owned by U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson a public nuisance and are threatening fines up to $5,000 a month if she doesn't fix it up.

The Long Beach Democrat previously faced foreclosure on the home. Washington Mutual sold it at auction in May, but reversed the sale after Richardson complained she hadn't received proper notice.

The city's code enforcement department reported finding junk in the driveway and rotting fruit in the back yard that attracts rodents.

Inspectors came after calls to police about a suspicious person there.

A spokesman for Richardson, William Marshall Jr., says the city sent the notice to the man who previously bought the house from the bank, not Richardson. He says Richardson will maintain the property once "full possession has been returned" to her. ---

Sacramento city officials have declared a home owned by U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson a public nuisance and are threatening fines up to $5,000 a month if she doesn't fix it up.

The Long Beach Democrat previously faced foreclosure on the home. Washington Mutual sold it at auction in May, but reversed the sale after Richardson complained she hadn't received proper notice.

The city's code enforcement department reported finding junk in the driveway and rotting fruit in the back yard that attracts rodents.

Inspectors came after calls to police about a suspicious person there.

A spokesman for Richardson, William Marshall Jr., says the city sent the notice to the man who previously bought the house from the bank, not Richardson. He says Richardson will maintain the property once "full possession has been returned" to her. ---

Calif. congresswoman's house a public nuisance

(08-15) 16:26 PDT Sacramento, CA (AP) --
Sacramento city officials have declared a home owned by U.S. Rep.

Laura Richardson a public nuisance and are threatening fines up to $5,000 a month if she doesn't fix it up.

The Long Beach Democrat previously faced foreclosure on the home.

Washington Mutual sold it at auction in May, but reversed the sale after Richardson complained she hadn't received proper notice.

The city's code enforcement department reported finding junk in the driveway and rotting fruit in the back yard that attracts rodents.

Inspectors came after calls to police about a suspicious person there.

A spokesman for Richardson, William Marshall Jr., says the city sent the notice to the man who previously bought the house from the bank, not Richardson. He says Richardson will maintain the property once "full possession has been returned" to her.

Sacramento city officials have declared a home owned by U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson a public nuisance and are threatening fines up to $5,000 a month if she doesn't fix it up.

The Long Beach Democrat previously faced foreclosure on the home. Washington Mutual sold it at auction in May, but reversed the sale after Richardson complained she hadn't received proper notice.

The city's code enforcement department reported finding junk in the driveway and rotting fruit in the back yard that attracts rodents. Inspectors came after calls to police about a suspicious person there.

A spokesman for Richardson, William Marshall Jr., says the city sent the notice to the man who previously bought the house from the bank, not Richardson. He says Richardson will maintain the property once "full possession has been returned" to her. ---

Calif. congresswoman's house a public nuisance

(08-15) 16:26 PDT Sacramento, CA (AP) --

Sacramento city officials have declared a home owned by U.S. Rep. Laura Richardson a public nuisance and are threatening fines up to $5,000 a month if she doesn't fix it up.

The Long Beach Democrat previously faced foreclosure on the home.

Washington Mutual sold it at auction in May, but reversed the sale after Richardson complained she hadn't received proper notice.

The city's code enforcement department reported finding junk in the driveway and rotting fruit in the back yard that attracts rodents.

Inspectors came after calls to police about a suspicious person there.

A spokesman for Richardson, William Marshall Jr., says the city sent the notice to the man who previously bought the house from the bank, not Richardson. He says Richardson will maintain the property once "full possession has been returned" to her. -----

These questions are about the property owned by Laura Richardson at 3622 W. Curtis Dr., Sacramento, CA. If Washington Mutual is going to say it cannot answer some of them because it involves Richardson's confidential financial information, I want you and her to waive that right. The transactions around the house have raised serious questions about whether Rep. Richardson received preferential treatment from Washington Mutual. I have quoted experts as saying this type of deal was unheard of. By not answering the questions, Washington Mutual is encouraging those suspicions.

1. Why did Washington Mutual pay Laura Richardson's delinquent property taxes of about $9,000?
2. What were the terms of the settlement with James York, who bought the house at the foreclosure sale? If you say the terms are confidential, I want you to waive confidentiality, which, I assume, was a condition WAMU requested.
3. Why did Washington Mutual take back the property from Mr. York?
4. Has Washington Mutual ever taken back a house after it has been sold at a foreclosure auction, the deed was recorded and the new owner already had a crew renovating the house? Give me examples.
5. What are the financial terms of the deal that gave the house back to Rep. Richardson?

Rep. Richardson's Sacramento home declared 'public nuisance' http://www.latimes.com/news/local/lat-richmo_k5ly64nc20080815025641_0_6484560.email_photoUMBRAGE:

Neighbors complained about the condition of the Sacramento home of Rep. Laura Richardson (D-Long Beach).

The Sacramento home of the Democratic congresswoman from Long Beach is declared a 'public nuisance' by the city.

By Jeff Gottlieb, Los Angeles Times Staff Writer
August 15, 2008

First Rep. Laura Richardson was having problems making house payments, defaulting six times over eight years.

Then after a bank foreclosed on her Sacramento house and sold it at auction in May, the Long Beach Democrat made such a stink that Washington Mutual, in an unusual move, grabbed it back and returned it to her.

This week, in the latest chapter in the housing saga, the Code Enforcement Department in Sacramento declared her home a "public nuisance."

The city has threatened to fine her as much as $5,000 a month if she doesn't fix it up.

Neighbors in the upper-middle-class neighborhood complain that the sprinklers are never turned on and the grass and plants are dead or dying. The gate is broken, and windows are covered with brown paper.
"I would call it an eyesore," said Peter Thomsen, a retired bank executive who lives nearby.

The city action was prompted by police action.

Police were twice called to investigate reports of a suspicious person in or around the house, perhaps a homeless man squatting there. Officers called the Code Enforcement Department, which boarded up a broken door.

Code enforcement inspectors visited the house twice in July, finding "junk and debris" in the driveway and "rotting fruit on the ground in the rear yard which creates rodent harborage," according to department documents.

Ron O'Connor, operations manager of the Code Enforcement Department, said homes in the Curtis Park area seldom were tagged as a public nuisance.

"It's a really nice neighborhood," he said.

Asked about the house, Richardson's office released a statement that said: "Neither Congresswoman Richardson nor her attorney have received any information referring to this matter. Any additional information will be provided at a later date."

Richardson has few worries in the November election. The 37th District is so solidly Democratic that no Republican is running against her. Democrat Peter Mathews, who has sought the seat several times before, is mounting a write-in campaign.

Richardson began defaulting on house payments long before she bought the three-bedroom, 1 1/2-bath home after being elected to the Assembly in 2006. She has defaulted on a home in San Pedro, where her mother lives, and her residence in Long Beach for amounts ranging from $5,742 to almost $20,000, according to documents on file with Los Angeles County.

Five of the defaults occurred during a 13-month period over 2007-08 when Richardson was bankrolling her political career, lending her campaigns for Congress and Assembly a total of $177,500.

In addition, she owed nearly $9,000 in property taxes on the Sacramento house, and the city Utilities Department put a lien on the property for an unpaid utility bill of $154.03.

In a letter to supporters after her money problems received widespread publicity in June, Richardson said she was current on her house payments.

"Many elected officials are married, rely on two incomes or are independently wealthy," she wrote.

"I do not fit any of these descriptions," she added. "I made the decision to borrow money against my home to help finance my campaign. The election was too important to me, to our community and to our country to roll over."

Although Richardson lost her Sacramento house, she got it back under unusual circumstances.

Real estate investor James York bought the two-story house May 7 for $388,000. Richardson had paid $535,000. York recorded the deed May 19 and sent a work crew to renovate the house.

York said Washington Mutual filed a letter of rescission of the sale June 2 with Sacramento County.

Experts said such a move after the deed was recorded was almost unheard of.

"It seems to me it has nothing to do with the law, but it has to do with [Washington Mutual] trying to be deferential to a congresswoman," said Grant Nelson, the William H. Rehnquist Professor of Law at Pepperdine University.

York sued. The case was settled in early July with each side agreeing not to talk about the terms.

In addition, Washington Mutual paid the tax lien on July 31, according to Sacramento County.

The public nuisance notice -- known as a vacant building ordinance violation -- was posted on Richardson's house Tuesday.

An inspection, it says, "revealed the structure on your property is vacant, is not in compliance with minimum maintenance standards and/or constitutes a public nuisance."

The owner of the house is listed on the notice as Red Rock Mortgage Inc., which is York's company.

O'Connor, the Sacramento code official, said the notices are taped onto the building and sent to the owner, return receipt requested.

During a phone interview, O'Connor checked county tax assessor records and said that Richardson is listed as the owner and that the notice would be sent to her.

The notice says that a $1,000 penalty can be assessed against the property if progress is not made to bring it into compliance within 30 days. The penalty could grow to as much as $5,000 per month unless progress is made to improve conditions.

Neighbors have complained about the state of the house for months.

They were optimistic when York sent his crew to begin renovations, but now say it is worse than ever.

"I can't make myself go by there. It hurts too much," said Sharon Helmar, who sold the house to Richardson after living there for 30 years. "We took good care of it, and it's a lovely house."

Good Morning,

I didn't put the stop there manually therefore I can't remove it. The stop was place once the F/C workstations were updated to reflect a 3rd party sale on this property which at that time was a man code R. It has since rescinded now man code W. so it is no longer in my area. We process payments for this particular man code, but we don't remove stops.

Also if you read the notes on the loan you will see:

comments Nice going, WAMU!! A member of Congress (Laura Richardson) gets foreclosed on by you folks, it hits the papers and, voila!, WAMU breaks its back to help her out by essentially returning the house to her after it had already been sold at an auction. Can any of your other customers expect such generous assistance? Your spokeswoman says: We're committed to treating all of our customers with the same level of consideration and fairness. Yea, right!

Thank-you!

Good Morning Jed ~

Below is an email we received regarding a foreclosed home that was sold at an auction on May 7th for $388,000.00, however we have issued a notice to rescind the sale. Can you please review the below email and advise on how to respond to the customers inquiry? Thank you in advance for your assistance!

~ There is an article out on the internet regarding the issue for further research under Real Estate Controversies.

Good Morning,

I didn't put the stop there manually therefore I can't remove it. The stop was place once the F/C workstations were updated to reflect a 3rd party sale on this property which at that time was a man code R. It has since rescinded now man code W. so it is no longer in my area. We process payments for this particular man code, but we don't remove stops.

Also if you read the notes on the loan you will see:

The taxes have been paid current. The negative escrow balance is the total amount paid for taxes which is $9,087.44. Tax lines have been updated and are correct. The escrow analysis is handled in the escrow department.

There is now a disbursement stop 1 preventing me from disbursing these taxes. I am attempting to contact the appropriate person to have that stop removed. Also California tax offices are adding redemption amounts to their tax roll. I have to verify with them the new amount to be paid for the month of July after it becomes available.

Ok, I need to understand something. We already talked to Richardson and told her the terms of the Modification as I understood. Then we realized taxes/insurance were not paid by Red Rock and now need to pay 2-3 weeks later and get back to her with new figures? Is that the case?

I need to understand this because it is my impression that Richardson thinks she has a new deal.....please clarify.

Loss Mit only blocks taxes on short sales. This is not a short sale and it doesn't appear that we placed the disbursement stop. Per SAF1, processor EDC placed the block on there on 5/14/08. It appears her name is Veronica McNeil-Ellis. Can you check with her to determine if the block can be removed?

Thanks

Savannah,
Per instructions we have received by Christina Lopez dated 12/3/07, we cannot disburse tax if the man code is "w" with disbursement stop 1.

So with the codes that are on the account now, we are not able to pay any tax payments.

Also there is a foreclosure code 7--conveyed, which also prevents us from paying.

Louise,

Management is requesting we get this Mod out asap. I just want to make sure I asked the right person (Wonza) to help me set up the escrow - property taxes are delinquent. There is a note on the loan from 5/20/08 saying the taxes were not going to be paid because of the mancode. Now that the mancode is W - can this be taken care of? Do you have a timeframe for completion so I can let management know?

Hi Wonza,

There were two checks returned 4/21/08 for delinquent property taxes $8109.81 + $405.49. This loan went to fc sale which has been rescinded and we will be modifying this loan. Who can send the task to set up the escrow for these taxes and possibly research if those taxes are still delinquent since the checks came back from Sacramento County?

There is now a disbursement stop 1 preventing me from disbursing these taxes. I am attempting to contact the appropriate person to have that stop removed. Also California tax offices are adding redemption amounts to their tax roll. I have to verify with them the new amount to be paid for the month of July after it becomes available.

I need to understand this because it is my impression that Richardson thinks she has a new deal.....please clarify.

Please refer to tax notes dated 06-26-08. I will not be able to disburse tax payment for the delinquent taxes until the foreclosure stop=7 is removed. I will monitor account for the removal of the stop.

Loss Mit only blocks taxes on short sales. This is not a short sale and it doesn't appear that we placed the disbursement stop. Per SAF1, processor EDC placed the block on there on 5/14/08. It appears her name is Veronica McNeil-Ellis. Can you check with her to determine if the block can be removed?

Savannah,
Per instructions we have received by Christina Lopez dated 12/3/07, we cannot disburse tax if the man code is "w" with disbursement stop 1.

So with the codes that are on the account now, we are not able to pay any tax payments.

Also there is a foreclosure code 7—conveyed, which also prevents us from paying.

Management is requesting we get this Mod out asap. I just want to make sure I asked the right person (Wonza) to help me set up the escrow - property taxes are delinquent. There is a note on the loan from 5/20/08 saying the taxes were not going to be paid because of the mancode. Now that the mancode is W - can this be taken care of? Do you have a timeframe for completion so I can let management know?

There were two checks returned 4/21/08 for delinquent property taxes $8109.81 + $405.49. This loan went to fc sale which has been rescinded and we will be modifying this loan. Who can send the task to set up the escrow for these taxes and possibly research if those taxes are still delinquent since the checks came back from Sacramento County?

There is now a disbursement stop 1 preventing me from disbursing these taxes. I am attempting to contact the appropriate person to have that stop removed. Also California tax offices are adding redemption amounts to their tax roll. I have to verify with them the new amount to be paid for the month of July after it becomes available.

There is now a disbursement stop 1 preventing me from disbursing these taxes. I am attempting to contact the appropriate person to have that stop removed. Also California tax offices are adding redemption amounts to their tax roll. I have to verify with them the new amount to be paid for the month of July after it becomes available.

Ok, I need to understand something. We already talked to Richardson and told her the terms of the Modification as I understood. Then we realized taxes/insurance were not paid by Red Rock and now need to pay 2-3 weeks later and get back to her with new figures? Is that the case?

I need to understand this because it is my impression that Richardson thinks she has a new deal.....please clarify.

There is now a disbursement stop 1 preventing me from disbursing these taxes. I am attempting to contact the appropriate person to have that stop removed. Also California tax offices are adding redemption amounts to their tax roll. I have to verify with them the new amount to be paid for the month of July after it becomes available.

Ok, I need to understand something. We already talked to Richardson and told her the terms of the Modification as I understood. Then we realized taxes/insurance were not paid by Red Rock and now need to pay 2-3 weeks later and get back to her with new figures? Is that the case?

I need to understand this because it is my impression that Richardson thinks she has a new deal.....please clarify.

Per instructions we have received by Christina Lopez dated 12/3/07, we cannot disburse tax if the man code is "w" with disbursement stop 1.

So with the codes that are on the account now, we are not able to pay any tax payments.

Also there is a foreclosure code 7-conveyed, which also prevents us from paying.

Management is requesting we get this Mod out asap. I just want to make sure I asked the right person (Wonza) to help me set up the escrow - property taxes are delinquent. There is a note on the loan from 5/20/08 saying the taxes were not going to be paid because of the mancode. Now that the mancode is W - can this be taken care of? Do you have a timeframe for completion so I can let management know?

Per instructions we have received by Christina Lopez dated 12/3/07, we cannot disburse tax if the man code is "w" with disbursement stop 1.

So with the codes that are on the account now, we are not able to pay any tax payments.

Also there is a foreclosure code 7—conveyed, which also prevents us from paying.

Management is requesting we get this Mod out asap. I just want to make sure I asked the right person (Wonza) to help me set up the escrow - property taxes are delinquent. There is a note on the loan from 5/20/08 saying the taxes were not going to be paid because of the mancode. Now that the mancode is W - can this be taken care of? Do you have a timeframe for completion so I can let management know?

There were two checks returned 4/21/08 for delinquent property taxes $8109.81 + $405.49. This loan went to fc sale which has been rescinded and we will be modifying this loan. Who can send the task to set up the escrow for these taxes and possibly research if those taxes are still delinquent since the checks came back from Sacramento County?

There is now a disbursement stop 1 preventing me from disbursing these taxes. I am attempting to contact the appropriate person to have that stop removed. Also California tax offices are adding redemption amounts to their tax roll. I have to verify with them the new amount to be paid for the month of July after it becomes available.

There is now a disbursement stop 1 preventing me from disbursing these taxes. I am attempting to contact the appropriate person to have that stop removed. Also California tax offices are adding redemption amounts to their tax roll. I have to verify with them the new amount to be paid for the month of July after it becomes available.

I need to understand this because it is my impression that Richardson thinks she has a new deal.....please clarify.

SETTLEMENT AND RELEASE AGREEMENT

This Settlement and Release Agreement ("Agreement") is entered into as of June 18, 2008, by and between Washington Mutual Bank, a federally chartered savings association ("WaMu"), California Reconveyance Company ("CRC"), James York ("York") and Red Rock Mortgage Inc. ("Red Rock"). York and Red Rock shall hereafter be collectively referred to as Red Rock. For purposes of this Agreement, the term "WaMu" shall also refer to all predecessors, successors, assigns and investors of WaMu, including, without limitation, any person or entity taking assignment of the Note and Deed of Trust originated by WaMu as described below, except as specifically identified herein. WaMu, CRC, York and Red Rock are at times referred to in this Agreement individually as a "Party" and, collectively, as the "Parties."

RECITALS

A. On or about January 4, 2007, WaMu made a loan to Laura Richardson, ("Richardson") evidenced by a promissory note in the sum of $535,001.00 (the "Note").

B. On or about January 4, 2007, Richardson executed and delivered to WaMu a Deed of Trust (the "WaMu Deed of Trust") securing the real property located at 3622 West Curtis Drive, Sacramento, California 95818 ("the Property"). On or about January 10, 2007, the WaMu Deed of Trust was recorded in the County Recorder's Office for Sacramento County, California at Book 20070110, Page 1818.

C. Richardson became delinquent on the Note and on December 14, 2007, WaMu caused CRC to record a Notice of Default against the Property at Book 20071214, Page 358. Thereafter, CRC recorded a Notice of Sale on March 19, 2008 setting the original sale date for the Property on April 7, 2008 at Book 2008-0319, Page 352. CRC conducted a foreclosure sale on May 7, 2008, and Red Rock was the highest bidder at the sale. On or about May 19, 2008, Red Rock recorded a Trustees Deed Upon Sale, which was recorded, at Book 20080519, Page 0487 in the Official Records of the Sacramento County Recorder.

D. Prior to the foreclosure sale through which Red Rock claims title to the Property, WaMu claims it had agreed in writing to provide Richardson with a postponement of the foreclosure sale to June 4, 2008. Red Rock acknowledges that it received a copy of said letter after the foreclosure sale. WaMu and CRC contend that as a result of their purported agreement to postpone the foreclosure sale to June 4, 2008, CRC did not have the requisite legal authority to proceed with the foreclosure sale on May 7, 2008, and that the sale to Red Rock was invalid and could be rescinded. On June 2, 2008, CRC recorded a Notice of Rescission of Trustee's Deed Upon Sale at Book 20080602, Page 0885 in the Official Records of the Sacramento County Recorder.

E. Red Rock disagrees that CRC had the right to rescind the foreclosure sale conducted on May 7, 2008. Red Rock claims the foreclosure sale was final and that it was a bona fide purchaser for value and that it was not aware of the postponement issue until after May 7, 2008. On June 12, 2008, Red Rock filed a lawsuit in Sacramento County

Superior Court under cause number 34-2008.00013081-CU-OR-GDS (the "Action") seeking, among other things, to quiet title to the Property in Red Rock's name.

F. The parties wish to resolve their differences and avoid further litigation over the nature and extent of WaMu's and CRC's rights to rescind the foreclosure sale conducted on May 7, 2008, to confirm title to the Property in favor of Richardson subject to the lien of WaMu, and to reimburse Red Rock for its out of pocket expenses related to the Property and incurred in the Action and any related claims for loss arising over the quieting of title to the Property and any claims Red Rock may have against WaMu, CRC, or their agents or employees related to the rescission of the Trustee's Deed Upon Sale to Red Rock, and any dispute over title to the Property prior, during and after the foreclosure sale conducted on May 7, 2008.

G. The Parties desire to rescind the effect of the foreclosure sale through this Agreement whereby WaMu will pay a settlement to Red Rock and Red Rock will execute and deliver to WaMu a quitclaim deed from Red Rock to Richardson. Red Rock further agrees that by executing this Agreement, it is disclaiming any interest in the Property.

H. The Parties desire to clarify and confirm how the title to the Property will be held, resolve their differences, and confirm their understanding of how the foreclosure sale will be rescinded. The parties are entering into this Agreement in order to avoid the costs and uncertainty of litigation and settle all alleged claims Red Rock has against WaMu or CRC, known and unknown arising from the May 7, 2008 foreclosure sale and the rescission of the foreclosure sale and restoration of the viability of the Note and WaMu's Deed of Trust against the Property.

AGREEMENT

The Parties, on behalf of themselves and on behalf of their respective principals, officers, directors, investors, parents, affiliates, employees, trustees, attorneys, agents, predecessors and successors, and on behalf of all other nonparties, in consideration of the promises set forth below, agree as follows:

1. OBLIGATIONS OF WaMu AND CRC.

1.1. WaMu agrees to pay the sum of $100,000.00 to Red Rock upon the execution of the Agreement by all Parties. The sum of $100,000.00 includes sums to reimburse Red Rock for any out of pocket expenses it has incurred related to the Property, any interest on the funds paid by Red Rock at the foreclosure sale on May 7, 2008, Red Rock's anticipated profits on the resale of the Property and any legal fees incurred by Red Rock prior to and after the Action was filed.

1.2. WaMu, contemporaneously with the payment of the sum of $100,000.00, shall also return the sum of $388,000.01 paid by Red Rock at the foreclosure sale conducted on May 7, 2008.

1.3. WaMu and CRC agree to execute this Agreement and be bound by the terms of the Agreement.

2. Obligations of Red Rock and York under this Agreement.

2.1. Red Rock agrees to be bound by the terms of this Agreement and execute the Agreement.

2.2. Red Rock agrees to accept the sum of $100,000.00, plus the return of the $388,000.01 paid at the foreclosure sale on May 7, 2008.

2.3. Upon execution of the Agreement Red Rock also agrees to contemporaneously execute a quitclaim deed in recordable form for the Property to Richardson in the form attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference as Exhibit A.

2.4. Red Rock warrants and represents that it has not encumbered or transferred the Property to any third party after May 7, 2008 to, and including, the date of the execution of this Agreement.

2.5. Red Rock shall immediately file a dismissal of the Action with prejudice.

2.6. Red Rock will deliver with its signatures to this Agreement all sets of the keys to the Property in its possession or control.

3. Release of All Claims.

3.1. Upon execution of this Agreement by the Parties, and performance of all acts required to be done by each of them under this Agreement, the Parties release each other and all who acted in concert or participation with them, their officers, directors, employees, agents, attorneys, investors, predecessors, successors, assigns, parents, affiliates, and all others (the "Related Parties") from and against all claims, causes of action, liabilities, demands, obligations, damages, costs, expenses, and attorneys' fees, of whatever kind or nature, whether known or unknown, whether accrued or not yet accrued, based on, arising out of, or relating to the foreclosure sale of May 7, 2008, the delivery of the Trustee's Deed from CRC to the Red Rock on or about May 19, 2008, all claims alleged in the Action, and any claims of loss or reimbursement of expenses or legal fees, including interest on said sums, arising out of or relating to the foreclosure sale of May 7, 2008, and the rescission of the Trustees Deed Upon Sale by CRC.

3.2. In consideration of this Agreement, the Parties further waive and will not assert against the Related Parties, any claim, counterclaim, defense, offset, action, or cause of action under common law or any federal or state statute, rule, or regulation, that the Parties may have prior to the date of this Agreement, based on, arising out of, or relating to the foreclosure sale of May 7, 2008, and the delivery of the Trustee's Deed from CRC to Red Rock on or about May 19, 2008, including, but not limited to, all claims alleged in the Action and any claims of loss or reimbursement of expenses or legal fees, including interest on said sums, arising out of or relating to the purchase of the Property by Red Rock at the May 7, 2008 foreclosure sale and the rescission of the Trustees Deed Upon Sale by CRC.

4. Waiver of California Civil Code Section 1542.

4.1. It is the intention of the Parties to this Agreement that this Agreement shall be effective as a full and complete release of each and every claim that the Parties may have against each other and the Released Parties based on, arising out of, or relating to the foreclosure sale of May 7, 2008, the delivery of the Deed from CRC to the Red Rock on or about May 19, 2008, including, but not limited to, all claims alleged in the Action and any claims of loss or reimbursement of expenses or legal fees, including interest on said sums, arising out of or relating to the purchase of the Property by Red Rock and the rescission of the Trustees Deed Upon Sale by CRC, with the exception of obligations created under this Agreement.

4.2. The Parties acknowledge each of them have been advised, and is familiar with, Section 1542 of the California Civil Code, which provides as follows:

A general release does not extend to claims which the creditor does not know or suspect to exist in his or her favor at the time of executing the release, which if known by him or her must have materially affected his or her settlement with the debtor.

York Red Rock WMB CRC

4.3. The Parties waive and release any right, claim, or benefit which each of them now has or may have under Civil Code Section 1542 to the full extent that each of them may lawfully waive all such rights and benefits in connection with the claims released in the Agreement.

5. Time of the Essence. The Parties agree time is of the essence in the Agreement.

6. Assumption of Risk. Each Party expressly elects to assume all risks arising prior to this Agreement based on, arising out of, or relating to the foreclosure sale of May 7, 2008 and the delivery of the Deed from CRC to the Red Rock on or about May 19, 2008, including, but not limited to, all claims alleged in the Action and any claims of loss or reimbursement of expenses or legal fees, including interest on said sums, arising out of or relating to the purchase of the Property by Red Rock at the foreclosure sale of May 7, 2008 and the rescission of the Trustees Deed Upon Sale by CRC.

6.1. Each Party fully understands that the facts upon which this Agreement is executed may be found hereafter to be other than or different from the facts now believed by them and their attorneys (if any) to be true, and expressly accept to assume the risks of such possible differences and facts and agree that the Agreement shall remain effective notwithstanding any such difference in facts.

7. Governing Law. This Agreement is made and entered into in the State of California and shall be enforced and governed by the laws of the State of California.

8. No Admission of Liability. This Agreement is entered into solely as a settlement and compromise of disputed claims; this Agreement shall not be deemed to constitute an admission of guilt or liability by any Party.

9. Drafting Ambiguities. The terms of this Agreement are contractual in nature and are not merely recitals. This Agreement shall not be construed in favor of or against any Party to this Agreement, but shall be construed as if all Parties prepared the Agreement. If any term, provision, covenant, or condition to this Agreement is determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, void or unenforceable, the remainder of the provisions of this Agreement shall remain in full force and effect and shall in no way be affected, impaired, or invalidated, unless such invalid, void or unenforceable provision is determined to be material to this Agreement.

10. Entire Agreement. This Agreement, and all prior or contemporaneous agreements, understandings, representations and statements, whether oral or written, and whether by a Party or a Party's legal counsel, are merged herein. No modification, waiver, amendment, discharge, or change of this Agreement shall be valid unless the same is in writing and signed by all Parties hereto. This Agreement constitutes the entire Agreement between the Parties as to the subject matter contained in this Agreement.

11. Warranty of No Sale or Assignment. All Parties to this Agreement represent, agree, and warrant to each other that each has not sold, assigned, or otherwise transferred in any manner to any person or entity, any rights, duties, obligations, claims, causes of action or other interests which are the subject matter of this Agreement, either in whole or in part, and each agrees to indemnify and hold harmless each other from and against all claims of every nature whatsoever which are based on or arise out of or in any way relate to any such sale, assignment, or transfer.

12. Execution of Other Documents. The Parties agree to execute and deliver any and all further documents and shall do all acts which may be necessary and appropriate to fully implement the provisions of this Agreement within the time required by this Agreement.

13. Enforcement of the Agreement. In the event that any Party brings any action or proceeding against the other for the recovery of any sum due pursuant to this Agreement, or due to any provision of this Agreement, or for any other relief, declaratory or otherwise, including appeal, the prevailing Party in each such action or proceeding shall recover its reasonable attorneys' fees and all costs from other Party to the action or proceeding, and that the right to reasonable attorneys' fees and costs shall be enforceable whether or not the actual proceeding is prosecuted to final judgment.

14. Authority to Execute Agreement. Each individual signing this Agreement warrants and represents that the individual has full authority to execute the Agreement on behalf of the Party on whose behalf the individual signs.

15. Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, and the counterparts shall constitute one and the same document.

16. Costs and Attorneys' Fees. The Parties agree that they shall be responsible for their own respective costs and attorneys' fees in connection with the drafting and negotiation of this Agreement, except as the parties may otherwise agree in a separate writing.

17. Venue. Should any dispute arise between the Parties as to the meaning and interpretation of this Agreement or should any of the parties be required to take legal action to enforce the terms of this Agreement, venue for any dispute shall be in Sacramento County, California.

18. Attorney Review. The Parties hereby represent and warrant and in executing this Agreement, that they have relied upon legal advice from an attorney of their choice; that the terms of this Agreement have been read and its consequences have been completely explained to them by that attorney, and that they fully understand the terms of this Agreement. The Parties further represent and warrant that in executing this Agreement, they have not relied on any inducements, promises or representations made by the other party or any person serving another party.

19. Survivability of Agreement. Any and all executory provisions under the Agreement and the documents referred to herein shall survive consummation of the Agreement and shall continue in full force and effect until fully performed and satisfied.

20. Notices. All notices under the Agreement shall be in writing and shall be deemed effective on the date of delivery (if delivered personally and a receipt obtained therefore), or on the third calendar day after mailing if mailed by first-class mail, registered or certified, postage prepaid, and shall be addressed as follows or as may be amended by written communication pursuant to this paragraph:

21. Other Agreements with WaMu or CRC. Nothing contained herein shall effect, amend or modify any provision of any checking account, savings account, loan agreement, deed of trust, mortgage or any other contract or agreement between Red Rock or York and WaMu or CRC except as expressly set forth herein.

22. Taxes. WaMu makes no representation or warranty as to effect of this Agreement upon Red Rock's liabilities pursuant to federal, state or local tax laws, including, but not limited to, real property taxes or regulations. Red Rock acknowledges that any and all tax consequences of this Agreement are their sole responsibility.

23. Confidentiality. This Agreement and its terms as recited herein are and shall be treated as strictly confidential so that no Party, nor his, her, or its counsel may disclose the fact or the terms of, or the negotiation or circumstances surrounding the negotiation of, this Agreement to anyone, except with respect to any disclosure necessary to record any document with the Sacramento County Recorder; to an insurer for purposes of obtaining insurance; or to a tax preparer/accountant for tax or financial reporting purposes (however, upon disclosure for such tax or financial reporting purposes, the person making the disclosure shall advise the person to whom disclosure is made of this confidentiality provision). A Party may disclose the fact and terms of this Agreement in order to satisfy disclosure or reporting requirements imposed by law or to enforce the terms of this Agreement. In response to any inquiry by a non-party to this Agreement concerning the Agreement, the terms of this Agreement, the negotiation or circumstances surrounding the negotiation of this Agreement, whether such inquiry is formal, at a deposition, in any proceeding, or otherwise, a Party or counsel may respond only that the Action was resolved to the satisfaction of all Parties. Furthermore, the Parties and their respective counsel agree that they will not discuss with or disclose to any non-party to this Agreement the facts, circumstances and documents relating, giving rise to or alleged in the Action, except as may be required to be provided in connection with testimony under oath by judicial process, or as required by law. Breach or the threatened breach of this confidentiality clause shall entitle the non-breaching party to seek any remedy available under the law, including injunctive relief and/or damages. Any other provision of this paragraph notwithstanding, Red Rock is authorized to: (i) file a dismissal with prejudice in the Sacramento Superior Court, such as it is a part of the record in the Action and available for public inspection; and (ii) disclose the amounts received and all other terms of this settlement in connection with reporting and accounting requirements under the Internal Revenue Code.

Savannah

There is now a disbursement stop 1 preventing me from disbursing these taxes. I am attempting to contact the appropriate person to have that stop removed. Also California tax offices are adding redemption amounts to their tax roll. I have to verify with them the new amount to be paid for the month of July after it becomes available.

Ok, I need to understand something. We already talked to Richardson and told her the terms of the Modification as I understood. Then we realized taxes/insurance were not paid by Red Rock and now need to pay 2-3 weeks later and get back to her with new figures? Is that the case?

I need to understand this because it is my impression that Richardson thinks she has a new deal.....please clarify.

There is a note on the loan from 5/20/08 saying the taxes were not going to be paid because of the mancode. Now that the mancode is W - can this be taken care of? There is now a disbursement stop 1 preventing me from disbursing these taxes. I am attempting to contact the appropriate person to have that stop removed. Also California tax offices are adding redemption amounts to their tax roll. I have to verify with them the new amount to be paid for the month of July after it becomes available.

Ok, I need to understand something. We already talked to Richardson and told her the terms of the Modification as I understood. Then we realized taxes/insurance were not paid by Red Rock and now need to pay 2-3 weeks later and get back to her with new figures? Is that the case?

I need to understand this because it is my impression that Richardson thinks she has a new deal.....please clarify.

There is now a disbursement stop 1 preventing me from disbursing these taxes. I am attempting to contact the appropriate person to have that stop removed. Also California tax offices are adding redemption amounts to their tax roll.
 I have to verify with them the new amount to be paid for the month of July after it becomes available.

Ok, I need to understand something. We already talked to Richardson and told her the terms of the Modification as I understood. Then we realized taxes/insurance were not paid by Red Rock and now need to pay 2-3 weeks later and get back to her with new figures? Is that the case?

I need to understand this because it is my impression that Richardson thinks she has a new deal.....please clarify.

Per instructions we have received by Christina Lopez dated 12/3/07, we cannot disburse tax if the man code is "w" with disbursement step 1.

So with the codes that are on the account now, we are not able to pay any tax payments.

Also there is a foreclosure code 7--conveyed, which also prevents us from paying.

Management is requesting we get this Mod out asap. I just want to make sure I asked the right person (Wonza) to help me set up the escrow - property taxes are delinquent. There is a note on the loan from 5/20/08 saying the taxes were not going to be paid because of the mancode. Now that the mancode is W - can this be taken care of? Do you have a timeframe for completion so I can let management know?

Louise,

Loss Mit only blocks taxes on short sales. This is not a short sale and it doesn't appear that we placed the disbursement stop. Per SAF1, processor EDC placed the block on there on 5/14/08. It appears her name is Veronica McNeil-Ellis. Can you check with her to determine if the block can be removed?

Thanks

Per instructions we have received by Christina Lopez dated 12/3/07, we cannot disburse tax if the man code is "w" with disbursement stop 1.

So with the codes that are on the account now, we are not able to pay any tax payments.

Also there is a foreclosure code 7--conveyed, which also prevents us from paying.

Louise,

Management is requesting we get this Mod out asap. I just want to make sure I asked the right person (Wonza) to help me set up the escrow - property taxes are delinquent. There is a note on the loan from 5/20/08 saying the taxes were not going to be paid because of the mancode. Now that the mancode is W - can this be taken care of? Do you have a timeframe for completion so I can let management know?

Hi Wonza,

There were two checks returned 4/21/08 for delinquent property taxes $8109.81 + $405.49. This loan went to fc sale which has been rescinded and we will be modifying this loan. Who can send the task to set up the escrow for these taxes and possibly research if those taxes are still delinquent since the checks came back from Sacramento County?

Good Morning,

I didn't put the stop there manually therefore I can't remove it. The stop was place once the F/C workstations were updated to reflect a 3rd party sale on this property which at that time was a man code R. It has since rescinded now man code W. so it is no longer in my area. We process payments for this particular man code, but we don't remove stops.

Also if you read the notes on the loan you will see:

There is now a disbursement stop 1 preventing me from disbursing these taxes. I am attempting to contact the appropriate person to have that stop removed. Also California tax offices are adding redemption amounts to their tax roll. I have to verify with them the new amount to be paid for the month of July after it becomes available.

Ann, do you know how we can have the FC stop 7 removed?

I sent an email to Chrissy 6/26/08 but didn't hear anything back. Do you know how/when the fc stop 7 will be removed? That is preventing us from getting the taxes disbursed and escrow set up.
