PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

H.R. 6132 was introduced on September 15, 2010, by Representative Filner of California, Chairman of the Committee on Veterans’ Affairs. H.R. 6132, the Veterans Benefits and Economic Welfare Improvement Act of 2010, includes a number of provisions drawn from H.R. 929, H.R. 4541, H.R. 5064, H.R. 5484, and H.R. 5549 considered by the Committee.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

Military transition program

During the 110th Congress, Representative Peter Welch of Vermont introduced H.R. 6272 to reauthorize the Service Members Occupational Conversion and Training Act (SMOCTA). First implemented during the force reductions of the 1990s, this popular program successfully provided veterans with employment and training assistance after separating from the military. The program was designed to reimburse employers to offset the cost of training recently separated servicemembers to help them transition into permanent positions. H.R. 6272 was incorporated into H.R. 6221 which passed the House of Representatives on July 31, 2008. The Senate took no further action on the bill.

Section 2 is derived from a measure introduced in the 111th Congress by Representative Welch and Representative John Boozman of Arkansas. The bill, H.R. 929, the Military Transition Program, is similar to SMOCTA but provides employment and training assistance to a broader spectrum of returning military personnel in a five-year pilot program. The program will be administered through a partnership between the Department of Labor (DOL) and the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA).

Waiver of claim development period for claims under laws administered by Secretary of VA

Section 3 is derived from H.R. 5549, the Rating and Processing Individuals' Claims Act or RAPID Claims Act, which was introduced on June 17, 2010, by Representative Joe Donnelly of Indiana. This section would codify expedited procedures for the consideration of fully developed claims for disability compensation and to adopt procedures aimed at clarifying the appeals process for disability claims.

This section would codify VA's recently implemented Fully Developed Claims (FDC) program, in order to ensure that the Secretary of VA will waive the development period and will provide expedited treatment for such claims as outlined under section 221 of the Veterans' Benefits Improvement Act of 2008, P.L. 110-389 (122 Stat. 4145). It also would require an informal placeholder claim to allow a veteran who intends to file a fully developed claim to mark the effective date as it is done for other claims. Finally, it would require the Secretary to provide notice within 30 days to those veterans filing fully developed claims in the instance that the Secretary determines that the claim is not fully developed as prescribed under section 5103 of title 38, United States Code. This section would also require that an appeals form be included with any decision by VA denying a requested benefit.

The Veterans' Benefits Improvement Act of 2008 which included the FDC pilot program, allows veterans filing fully developed claims for compensation benefits to waive the lengthy development period and receive expedited consideration. FDC was originally a one-year pilot program conducted at ten VA Regional Offices. Due to its success, the VA recently announced that it would implement the program nationwide. However, a few stakeholders raised concerns about whether the FDC program properly protects the effective date of veterans who file their claim under this program. This section seeks to protect a veteran's effective date for disability compensation benefits by allowing the filing of an informal claim before the FDC is formally filed. It also would ensure that a veteran who mistakenly files an unsubstantiated claim under the FDC program is given fair notice on what further evidence is needed consistent with section 5103(a) of title 38.

When participating in the normal claims process, a veteran can submit a claim at any time—marking the claim's effective date. At that point the veteran still has up to one year to gather evidence. Understandably, some veterans will submit claims through the FDC process that VA will decide do not qualify for the program for a number of reasons, including missing evidence. If VA determines that a claim submitted through FDC is ineligible, VA can potentially fail to notify the veteran of what is needed to substantiate the claim. Instead, VA may process the claim prematurely without the necessary information.

As many stakeholders have acknowledged during related hearings held in the 111th Congress, premature processing would likely cause more appeals and longer processing periods for veterans. This section would modify the FDC process to require VA to notify and assist the veteran to help substantiate such claims with a checklist.

Finally, this section also has a provision targeted at easing the appeals process. If a veteran wishes to appeal after receiving a denial from VA under Section 5104 of title 38, United States Code, the VA will usually wait for the veteran to exercise the right to appeal and then may send out the appropriate form. This section would require that the VA Appeals form be included with any notice of decision issued by VA. The Committee finds that this requirement is not inconsistent with current law and reinforces notice requirements under section 5103(a) of title 38, United States Code.

Unfortunately, VA's formal position was not provided at the July 1, 2010 legislative hearing and the Committee is still awaiting promised input.

Tolling of timing of review for appeals of final decisions of Board of Veterans' Appeals

This section is derived from H.R. 5064, the Fair Access to Veterans Benefits Act of 2010, which was introduced by Representative John H. Adler of New Jersey on April 16, 2010. This section would extend the 120-day limit for the filing of an appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims (CAVC) after a final decision of the Board of Veterans' Appeals (Board) upon a showing of good cause for such time as justice may require. This section considers as good cause the inability of a person to file within the 120-day period due to a service-connected disability. This section would make such extension applicable to appeals of final Board decisions issued on or after July 24, 2008. This section also requires the CAVC to reinstate untimely appeals already dismissed as a result of the court's failure to toll the filing period for good cause.

Under the current system, the disability claims appeals process can be very difficult to navigate, especially since the majority of veterans are pro se at the beginning of this process. Additionally, as TBI and PTSD have been identified as the signature disability of the current conflicts, many veterans may be filing claims and appeals while suffering from a physical or mental disability related to these injuries. The imposition of rigid filing deadlines by the CAVC potentially has resulted in the improper denial of benefits for many veterans. This section seeks to rectify this issue by allowing the veteran to show "good cause" for missing the filing deadline if related to the veteran's service-connected disability. This process is also known as "equitable tolling" and the bill is in response to a decision rendered in Henderson v. Shinseki. See, Henderson v. Shinseki, 589 F. 3d 1201 (2009).

Veteran service organizations wholeheartedly support this section. VA offered an alternative position that would permit the CAVC to extend the appeal period for up to an additional 120 days from the expiration of the original 120-day appeal period upon a showing of good cause, provided that the appellant files a motion requesting extension within 120 days of expiration of the original 120-day period. VA claims this approach would eliminate the harsh results in extreme circumstances, while not unduly undermining the finality of Board decisions. The Committee believes that the Section as adopted by the Committee offers a better solution than that proposed by VA to restore the equity Congress intended before the recent ruling of the CAVC in Henderson v. Shinseki, 589 F. 3d 1201 (2009). In Henderson, the Court of Appeals for Federal Circuit held that courts are prohibited from extending the 120-day filing period for equitable tolling purposes as the timeline was delineated in statute by Congress and as such, must be strictly interpreted.

Exclusion of certain amounts from determination of annual income with respect to pensions for veterans and surviving spouses and children of veterans

Elements of section 5 are derived from H.R. 4541, the Veterans Pension Protection Act of 2010, which was introduced by Representative Alcee L. Hastings of Florida on January 27, 2010. This section would prevent the offset of pension benefits for veterans, surviving spouses and children of veterans due to the receipt of payments to reimburse expenses incurred after an accident, theft, loss, or casualty loss, related medical expenses or pain and suffering.

Other elements of this section are derived from H.R. 3485, the Veterans Pension Protection Act of 2010, which was introduced by Representative Brian Higgins of New York on July 31, 2009. This language would preclude the offset of the pension benefits up to $5,000 for income derived from the receipt of state or municipal payments awarded to veterans because of disability.

Assessing a veteran's eligibility for a pension, the VA considers a variety of sources to determine a veteran's annual income. If such income exceeds the income limit set in law, the veteran may not qualify for a pension or may have the benefit reduced or lose it altogether in order to offset receipt of any additional "income." Currently, reimbursements of expenses related to any type of casualty loss are exempt from income determinations. However, all other loss payments, such as those related to pain and suffering, are counted as income.

If a veteran is seriously injured in an accident or the victim of a theft and receives insurance compensation to cover his or her medical expenses, the cost of replacement of the stolen items, or for pain and suffering, will likely result in a reduction of the pension benefit until fully offset dollar for dollar. This indicates that the law effectively punishes veterans when they suffer from an accident or theft and receive payments to be made "whole" again. Subsection (b) of this section would preclude the offset of these benefits up to $5,000 for income derived from the receipt of state or municipal benefits awarded to veterans because of disability. This section would ensure that pensions are issued to veterans who legitimately meet the income criteria and rely on such benefits to meet their living needs, without improper offsetting. The Committee does not consider the receipt of payments for reimbursable losses, medical expenses, pain and suffering awards or for monetary benefits received from States or municipalities to be considered income.

Extension of authority of Secretary of VA to obtain certain income information from other agencies

This section extends the authority of the Secretary of VA outlined under section 5317 of title 38, United States Code, to verify income information with other Federal agencies from September 30, 2011, to September 30, 2015. Section 6103 (I) (7) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 requires the Secretary of the Treasury and the Commissioner of Social Security to disclose income verification information to VA for the purposes of administering its programs, including the VA pension program. Income verification also results in savings in mandatory and discretionary spending.

Section 5317 of title 38, United States Code, is the controlling authority for VA's use of this information. VA's authority to obtain and use this information will expire on September 30, 2011. Section 6 would extend VA's income verification authority under section 5317 of title 38 until September 30, 2015.

VetStar Award program

In the 111th Congress, the Subcommittee on Economic Opportunity conducted several hearings on the issues of employment and small business opportunities for military veterans. It was during the second half of the 111th Congress that the Subcommittee received feedback from veteran stakeholders concerned about the higher rate of unemployment among veterans when compared to their civilian counterparts, and the challenges faced by the small business community.

A March 12, 2010, publication of the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics stated that the "unemployment rate for veterans who served in the military since September 2001—a group referred to as Gulf War-era II veterans—was 10.2 percent in 2009, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. The jobless rate for veterans of all eras combined was 8.1 percent. About 21 percent of Gulf War-era II veterans reported having a service-connected disability in August 2009, compared with about 13 percent of all veterans."

This section would create an incentive for businesses to hire more veterans by directing the VA to develop a low-cost annual awards program to recognize businesses who hire veterans. The certificate of recognition, to be displayed by business owners, aims to help businesses build a strong reputation in the veteran community and increase business if they make strong efforts to work with and employ members of the veteran's community. The program requirements and selection process would be determined and run by the VA.

Increase in amount of pension for Medal of Honor recipients

Section 8 is derived from H.R. 394, introduced on January 9, 2009, by Representative Henry Brown of South Carolina, which would authorize the Secretary of VA to increase the amount of the Medal of Honor special pension provided under title 38, United States Code.

This section would increase the special pension for Medal of Honor recipients from the current amount of $1,194 per month to $2000 per month. As the highest military award given by the United States to its servicemembers, the Medal of Honor is only awarded to those who have shown, "conspicuous gallantry and in-trepidation at the risk of life, above and beyond the call of duty, in actual combat against an armed enemy force.”

Since its initial presentation in 1863 to Private Jacob Parrott, 3,448 Americans have been awarded the Medal of Honor. Today, however, only 87 recipients with an average age of 77 remain living. This pension has not been increased, other than cost-of-living adjustments, since 1998. The Committee finds that such an increase is long overdue to recognize the bravery and service of our nation’s most honored heroes.

Conditions for treatment of certain persons as adjudicated mentally incompetent

Section 9 is derived in part from H.R. 2547, the Veterans 2nd Amendment Protection Act, introduced by Representative Jerry Moran of Kansas on May 21, 2009. Section 9 would add a new section to chapter 55 of title 38, United States Code, to require a judicial proceeding in the case where veterans may be adjudicated as a mental defective.

Veterans who receive payments from VA and who are determined to be unable to manage their own financial affairs are labeled as “mentally incompetent.” After review by a medical professional these individuals are usually appointed a fiduciary who will handle their financial affairs including their disability payments.

Currently, veterans deemed by VA to be mentally incompetent by the Veterans Benefits Administration to manage their own affairs are reported to the National Instant Criminal Background Check System (NICS), and are then unable to purchase firearms under section 922 of title 18, United States Code. This provision would prevent the VA from reporting those veterans’ names to NICS unless that person is deemed by a judge, magistrate, or other judicial authority with jurisdiction to be a danger to himself, herself, or others, and mentally incompetent.

The Committee agrees that there is a non sequitur in rationale under current law in assuming that simply because a veteran, or other beneficiary, needs to have a fiduciary appointed, then the veteran is mentally defective and should go on the NICS list. The NICS Improvement Amendments Act of 2007, P.L. 110–180 (121 Stat. 2559), allows those veterans whose names are given to NICS to appeal the action to the agency that made the decision.

However, currently, if the VA does not take action on a NICS appeal, or the action is pending for 365 days with no final decision, then that appeal is deemed to be denied. The findings section of the NICS legislation indicates that these improvements were needed—particularly in response to the shootings in Lynbrook, New York, in 2002 and the Virginia Tech shootings in 2007 where better NICS reporting would have prevented these individuals from possessing firearms.

Section 9 would change this process and require a separate judicial authority to determine that an applicable VA beneficiary poses a danger to themselves or others before the VA may send their names to the NICS list. Since 1999 over 116,000 veterans, their spouses, and their children who receive VA benefits have been reported to NICS. VA’s process does not determine whether they are a danger to themselves or others. By comparison, the Social Security Administration has assisted more than 5 million beneficiaries with their finances, but the Social Security Administration does not send these names to the FBI.

HEARINGS

On July 1, 2010, the Subcommittee on Disability Assistance and Memorial Affairs held a legislative hearing on several bills introduced during the 111th Congress, including H.R. 4541, H.R. 5064, and H.R. 5549. The following witnesses testified: The Honorable Timothy J. Walz of Minnesota; The Honorable Alcee Hastings of Florida; The Honorable John H. SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF THE LEGISLATION

Section 1. Short title

This section provides the short title of H.R. 6132 as the “Veterans Benefits and Economic Welfare Improvement Act of 2010.”

Section 2. Military transition program

This section would authorize the Secretary of the VA to determine eligibility of the program and the Assistant Secretary of the Department of Labor for Veterans Employment and Training Service to oversee the program.

This section clarifies that eligible veterans are those not eligible for education or training programs, have not acquired a marketable skill since leaving the military, have been discharged under honorable conditions, and have been unemployed for at least 90 days during the 180-day period preceding the date of application for the program. It also clarifies that a maximum hourly rate of pay for such veteran during the 180-day period is not more than 150 percent of the Federal minimum wage.

This section requires that employers, participating in an approved on-the-job training program, pay participating veterans no less than non-veterans employed in a similar job, and that there is a reasonable expectation that the veteran will be qualified for employment in the field upon completion of the program, and the employer will continue to employ the veteran after program completion.

This section authorizes the Assistant Secretary of Labor for Employment and Training Service to enter into contracts with employers to provide on-the-job training to veterans. Employers participating will pay 50 percent of the wages paid to participating veterans to be calculated in an hourly wage. The paid amount may not exceed $20,000 in the aggregate and $1,666.67 per month. Such payments may only be paid for the first 12 months of program participation. In the case of a veteran who participates on a less than full-time basis, the Assistant Secretary of Labor for Employment and Training Service is authorized to extend the number of months of payments to 24 months but the aggregate amount paid may not exceed $20,000.

This section requires participating employers to report, to the Assistant Secretary of Labor for Employment and Training Service, on a quarterly basis certifying the wage paid to participating veterans and other information requested by the Assistant Secretary.

This section also would require that the Secretaries of VA and Labor publish a report on their activities carried out by this program in their annual report prepared by the Veterans Benefits Administration.

Finally, this section authorizes $10,000,000 per year and expires on September 30, 2016. The effective date is one year after the date of enactment.

Section 3. Waiver of claim development period for claims under laws administered by Secretary of VA

This section 3 would amend section 5101 of title 38, United States Code, by making changes in the VA's Fully Developed Claims program, codifying it to ensure veterans with fully developed claims can waive the development period and have their claims receive expedited treatment. It also codifies an informal placeholder claim to allow a veteran who intends to file a fully-developed claim to mark the effective date just like it is done for other claims.

Further, this section 3(b) would amend section 5104 of title 38, United States Code, by requiring that an appeals form be included with any decision by VA denying a sought benefit. The amendments made by this Section shall apply with respect to claims submitted on or after the date of the enactment of this legislation.

Section 4. Tolling of timing of review for appeals of final decisions of Board of Veterans' Appeals Section 4 would amend 7266 (a) of title 38, United States Code, by requiring an extension of the 120-day limit for the filing of an appeal to the Court of Veterans Appeals after a final decision of the Board of Veterans' Appeals upon a showing of good cause for such time as justice may require. The bill considers as good cause the inability of a person to file within the 120-day period due to a service-connected disability.

This section would also make such extension applicable to appeals of final Board decisions issued on or after July 24, 2008. Finally, this section also requires the CAVC to reinstate untimely appeals already dismissed as a result of the court's failure to toll the filing period for good cause

Section 5. Exclusion of certain amounts from determination of annual income with respect to pensions for veterans and surviving spouses and children of veterans

This section would amend section 1503 of title 38, United States Code, to exclude from income payments received to cover expenses incurred after an accident, theft, loss, or casualty loss for those receiving the non-service connected pension. Pain and suffering awards are also covered under this section.

This section would also exclude from income determinations payments of up to $5,000 made by States and municipalities. Finally, this section would make amendments made by subsection (a) and (b) applicable with respect to determinations of income for calendar years beginning after October 1, 2011.

Section 6. Extension of authority of Secretary of VA to obtain certain income information from other agencies

This section would extend the authority of the Secretary to obtain income information from other agencies from September 30, 2011, to September 30, 2015.

Section 7. VetStar Award program

This section would authorize the VA to recognize businesses for their contributions to veterans' employment.

Section 8. Increase in amount of pension for Medal of Honor recipients

This section would authorize the Secretary of VA to increase the amount of the Medal of Honor special pension provided under section 1562(a) of title 38 from $1,000 to $2,000.

Section 9. Conditions for treatment of certain persons as adjudicated mentally incompetent

This section would add a new section to Chapter 55 of title 38 to require a judicial proceeding or appropriate adjudication in the case where veterans may be adjudicated as a mental defective.
