
LEGISLATIVE ACTIVITIES REPORT

MARCH 31, 2009.—Ordered to be printed

Mr. KERRY, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, submitted the following

REPORT

INTRODUCTION BY SENATOR JOHN F. KERRY,
CHAIRMAN (111TH CONGRESS), U.S. SENATE COMMITTEE ON FOREIGN RELATIONS¹

The 110th Congress was an active and productive period for the Committee on Foreign Relations. The committee and its subcommittees held a total of 161 sessions, including hearings on critical foreign policy priorities, such as Iraq and Afghanistan, legislation, treaties, and nominations, briefings from members of the Executive Branch and non-governmental experts, and meetings with heads of state and senior officials of foreign governments. The committee's work included development of significant legislation and Senate approval of 35 treaties and 182 nominations.

Legislation

The committee's legislative efforts addressed the range of diverse and complex issues falling under its jurisdiction, including nuclear non-proliferation and arms control, efforts to combat the spread of HIV/AIDS abroad, international development, global poverty, climate change and other international environmental matters, international energy issues, and regional and country-specific matters. In the non-proliferation arena, the committee focused extensively on providing approval to the U.S. agreement with India on peaceful nuclear cooperation. The committee, led by Senators Biden, Lugar, and Dodd, drafted and approved S. 3548, the U.S.-India Nuclear Cooperation Approval and Nonproliferation Enhancement Act, which approved the Agreement for Cooperation Between the Government of the United States of America and the Government of India Concerning Peaceful Uses of Nuclear Energy, while improving congressional oversight over implementation of the agreement.

¹This review and report of activities of the Committee on Foreign Relations during the 110th Congress is submitted in response to the requirements of Rule XXVI 8(b) of the Standing Rules of the Senate, which stipulate that all standing committees report to the Senate, not later than March 31 of each odd-numbered year, on its legislative activities during the preceding Congress.

The same bill was later enacted into law as H.R. 7081 (P.L. 110-369). Further, the committee reported favorably the Security Assistance Act of 2008 (S. 3563), a bill to authorize appropriations under the Arms Export Control Act and the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 for security assistance for fiscal years 2009 and 2010; the Nuclear Safeguards and Supply Act of 2007 (S. 1138), and the Global Pathogen Surveillance Act of 2007 (S. 1138), a bill to improve U.S. and global responses to nuclear nonproliferation and man-made and natural biological threats.

The committee's efforts on HIV/AIDS and other international health issues were substantial and yielded impressive results: It undertook a thorough review of HIV/AIDS, tuberculosis, and malaria programs prior to taking up reauthorization legislation to address these diseases. Committee staff traveled to 12 of the 15 designated "focus countries" of the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR) to assess bilateral and U.S.-supported multilateral programs, and the full committee held 2 hearings exploring these issues, in addition to numerous staff briefings with the State Department, the United States Agency for International Development, the Institute of Medicine, the Government Accountability Office, and non-governmental and faith-based organizations working in the field. Findings from these hearings, site visits, and assessments were incorporated into the subsequent legislation.

On March 7, 2008, Chairman Biden and Ranking Member Lugar introduced S. 2731, the Tom Lantos and Henry J. Hyde United States Global Leadership Against HIV/AIDS, Tuberculosis, and Malaria Reauthorization Act of 2008. The committee approved an amended version of this legislation by a strong bipartisan vote of 18 to 3 on March 13, 2008, and it was reported to the Senate on April 15, 2008. The bill was ultimately cosponsored by 11 additional Senators, including committee members Sununu, Hagel, Kerry, Dodd, and Obama. The President ultimately signed this legislation into law on July 30, 2008 (P.L. 110-293), thereby authorizing $48 billion over 5 years to combat HIV/AIDS, tuberculosis, and malaria and to strengthen health systems, as well as an additional $2 billion for other purposes. The legislation also set ambitious targets for the prevention, care, and treatment of HIV/AIDS; authorized enhanced efforts to combat tuberculosis and malaria; strengthened oversight of bilateral and multilateral programs; removed certain budgetary allocations or "earmarks"; strengthened efforts to address the vulnerabilities of girls and women, prevent the transmission of HIV from mothers to children, and expand access to treatment for children, and repealed the legal prohibition on visas for persons infected with HIV.

The committee also developed and passed legislation to strengthen U.S. security policy, including counterterrorism efforts, toward critical national security theatres. For example, the committee unanimously passed the Enhanced Partnership with Pakistan Act of 2008 (S. 3263) on July 26, 2008. Senators Biden and Lugar introduced this bill with the intent to transform the relationship between the United States and Pakistan into a deeper, broader, long-term strategic engagement by properly balancing national security interests of the United States, especially in the area of economic and geo-political interests. The overall level of economic assistance authorized for Pakistan would have been raised substantially, with the bulk of this aid intended for projects such as schools, roads, medical clinics, and infrastructure development.

The committee also focused extensively on international development, global poverty relief, and debt reduction during the 110th Congress. On February 13, 2008, the committee favorably reported the Overseas Private Investment Corporation Reauthorization Act of 2008 (H.R. 2798), which sought to reauthorize the agency through September 30, 2011, strengthen the agency's development mandate, and ensure that its activities were consistent with United States foreign policy objectives. Further, the committee favorably reported the Jubilee Debt Relief Act (S. 2166), which was intended to provide for greater responsibility in lending and expanded cancellation of debts owed to the United States and international financial institutions by low-income countries; the Global Poverty Act (S. 2433), which would have required the President to develop and implement a comprehensive strategy to further the United States foreign policy objective of promoting the reduction of global poverty; the International Development Association Replenishment Act of 2008 (S. 3168), which would have authorized U.S. participation in the fifteenth replenishment of the International Development Association, and the African Development Fund Act of 2008 (S. 3169), which would have authorized U.S. participation in the eleventh replenishment of the resources of the African Development Fund.

Recognizing the need for U.S. leadership to address global climate change, the committee favorably reported S. Res. 30 on March 29, 2007. This resolution, which was introduced by Senators Biden and Lugar and received 28 cosponsors, sought to express the sense of the Senate that the United States should act to reduce risks posed by global climate change and to foster economic growth by: (1) participating in negotiations under the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change and leading efforts in other international fora with the objective of securing U.S. participation in binding agreements that advance and protect U.S. interests, that establish mitigation commitments by all countries that are major emitters of greenhouse gases, that establish flexible international mechanisms to minimize the cost of efforts by participating countries, and that achieve a significant long-term reduction in global greenhouse gas emissions, and (2) establishing a bipartisan Senate observer group to monitor international negotiations on climate change and to ensure that the advice and consent function of the Senate is exercised to facilitate timely consideration of any applicable treaty.

The committee also reported favorably S. J. Res. 17, which was enacted into law on June 3, 2008 (P.L. 110-243). Public Law 110-243 resolves that: (1) the United States should initiate discussions to negotiate international agreements for managing migratory, transboundary, and straddling fish stocks in the Arctic Ocean and establishing new international fisheries management organizations for the region; (2) such agreements should conform with the United Nations Fish Stocks Agreement and contain mechanisms for establishing elements necessary for sustaining future Arctic fish stocks; (3) as international fisheries agreements are negotiated and implemented, the United States should consult with the North Pacific Regional Fishery Management Council and Alaska Native subsistence communities of the Arctic, and (4) until the agreements come into force, the United States should support international efforts to halt the expansion of commercial fishing activities in the high seas of the Arctic Ocean.

Taking into account the close relationship among energy, the environment, and national security, the committee passed three noteworthy bills. The first, the Energy Diplomacy and Security Act (S. 193) was subsequently included in the Senate version of H.R.6, and portions of the legislation (most notably the establishment of a coordinator for International Energy Affairs) were signed into law on December 19, 2007. S. 193 urges the Secretary of State to: (1) establish strategic energy partnerships with the governments of major energy producers and major energy consumers, and with governments of other countries; (2) expand energy emergency preparedness mechanisms; (3) create a regional-based ministerial Hemisphere Energy Cooperation Forum, and (4) integrate energy security priorities into core State Department activities and create a new coordinator for International Energy Affairs. The second, the Western Hemisphere Energy Compact (S. 1007), was passed out of committee, as amended, by unanimous consent on September 23, 2008. The purpose of this bill was to promote cooperation between the United States and Brazil to develop partnerships with interested countries to promote energy security. The bill focused on accelerating development of sustainable bio-fuels production, research, particularly in next-generation bio-fuels, and infrastructure. The third, the Tropical Forest and Coral Conservation Act of 2007 (S. 2020) was passed unanimously on October 15, 2007. This bill was intended to reauthorize a successful program that has conserved more than 47 million acres of tropical forests through debt-for-nature swaps. These swaps have facilitated the conservation of critical tropical forest land while reducing the debt of developing nations. Moreover, the program has given the United States greater credibility and contacts in the developing world to engage on the issue of deforestation.

Other legislative work reflected the committee's focus on specific regions and countries. For example, the committee considered and approved several Asia-related bills. Two were signed into law: H.R. 5834 amended the North Korean Human Rights Act to create a full-time human rights envoy with the rank of ambassador (P.L. 110-346), and the committee also passed H.R. 3890, which enhanced U.S. economic sanctions on the government of Burma and created a special envoy position to develop a comprehensive diplomatic strategy to promote the restoration of civilian rule in Burma (P.L.110-286). The committee also passed resolutions congratulating South Korea on the election of President Lee Myung-bak and marking the 125th anniversary of the Treaty of Peace, Amity, Commerce and Navigation between the Kingdom of Choson (Korea) and the United States (S. Res. 444); commemorating the 30th anniversary of U.S. dialogue with ASEAN (S. Res. 110); commemorating the 175th anniversary of the special relationship between the United States and the Kingdom of Thailand (S. Con. Res. 66), and condemning the outbreak of violence in Tibet and calling on dialogue between the government of China and representatives of the Dalai Lama (S. Res. 504 and S. Res. 643).

Finally, with regard to legislation, the committee remained engaged with ongoing crises in Africa, particularly the genocide in Darfur, holding a series of 2 briefings for members and 2 hearings on the situation in Sudan. The committee also discharged 8 resolutions related to the crisis in the region, 7 of which were subsequently agreed to in the Senate.

Treaties

The committee has exclusive jurisdiction within the Senate over treaties, and it was particularly active in this area during the 110th Congress. Thirty-seven treaties were favorably reported, and the Senate provided advice and consent to ratification to all but two. Among the thirty-five treaties approved by the Senate were international agreements concerning nuclear nonproliferation, counterterrorism and law enforcement, the laws of war, and NATO enlargement. These included the International Convention for Suppression of Acts of Nuclear Terrorism; a Protocol to the 1980 Convention on Conventional Weapons; the Hague Convention for the Protection of Cultural Property in the Event of Armed Conflict, and the Protocols to the North Atlantic Treaty of 1949 on the Accession of Albania and Croatia. Two landmark law-enforcement agreements—the Extradition and Mutual Legal Assistance Agreements with the European Union, were also passed by the committee and approved by the Senate. These treaties, which modernize, strengthen, and expand the law enforcement relationships between the United States and the European Union and its member states, were approved as part of a package that included forty-seven bilateral implementing agreements between the United States and European Union member states.

The committee also held hearings and favorably reported the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea and the 1996 Protocol to the Convention on the Prevention of Marine Pollution by Dumping of Wastes and Other Matter. The full Senate did not take action on either treaty.
