NORTHWEST STRAITS MARINE CONSERVATION INITIATIVE REAUTHORIZATION ACT OF 2009

OCTOBER 21, 2009.—Ordered to be printed

---

Mr. ROCKEFELLER, from the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, submitted the following

REPORT

[To accompany S. 668]

The Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, to which was referred the bill (S. 668) to reauthorize the Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative, and for other purposes, having considered the same, reports favorably thereon with an amendment (in the nature of a substitute) and recommends that the bill (as amended) do pass.

PURPOSE OF THE BILL

The purpose of S. 668, the Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative Reauthorization Act, is to reauthorize the Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative.

BACKGROUND AND NEEDS

The Northwest Straits is a rich and diverse region. It includes the United States marine waters of the Strait of Juan de Fuca, the San Juan Islands, and northern Puget Sound, reaching from the southern borders of Snohomish and Jefferson counties in Washington State to the Canadian border. Seven counties, 15 tribes, many cities, and other local governments have jurisdiction in the region, which is home to 1.16 million people. Iconic species like Pacific salmon, Puget Sound southern resident orca, western grebe, and rockfish all depend on a healthy Northwest Straits ecosystem, as does the State's fishing and wildlife viewing industry. Damage to shoreline habitat, disturbed ecological processes, and impaired water quality are harming the marine ecosystem, and the area is experiencing declines in highly valued marine species.

The Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative (the Initiative) and the Northwest Straits Advisory Commission (the Commission) were established by Congress in 1998. The Commission consists of five gubernatorial representatives, one tribal representative appointed by the Secretary of the Interior, and one representative from each of the seven Marine Resources Committees (MRCs). Performance benchmarks are used to help partners guide project development and evaluate the Initiative's progress. These benchmarks are: (1) to protect and restore marine, coastal, and near-shore habitats, prevent loss, and achieve a net gain of healthy habitat areas; (2) to protect and restore marine populations to healthy and sustainable levels; (3) to protect the marine water quality of the Northwest Straits region and restore the health of marine waters; (4) to collect high quality data and promote its use and dissemination; and (5) to promote stewardship and understanding of Northwest Straits marine resources through education and outreach. In addition to the Commission and MRCs, the Initiative is supported by the Northwest Straits Foundation, a non-profit organization established to leverage additional funds for the Initiative's scientific, restoration, and education projects.

At the core of the Initiative are seven locally-based MRCs located in each of the Northwest Straits counties: Clallam, Island, Jefferson, San Juan, Skagit, Snohomish, and Whatcom. The Commission and the MRCs bring local, tribal, State, community, organizational, and citizen interests together to protect and restore the marine environment. Each MRC is citizen-based and created by county ordinance. The members of each MRC are appointed by their county commission or council. Each MRC includes representatives from commercial, recreational, scientific, educational, and environmental interests, as well as local and tribal governments. The MRC members set priorities and design marine restoration and protection projects, provide stewardship information to local residents, and work in cooperation with local elected officials. MRCs receive funds and support from the Northwest Straits Commission to carry out programs that meet the Initiative's benchmarks. MRCs use existing State and local authorities, and base their actions on sound scientific information and the overall needs of the ecosystem. MRCs coordinate their activities through the Commission, which provides technical assistance, integration of scientific information, ecosystem-level coordination, and funding coordination.

Congress mandated a program review, and in 2004, an evaluation panel of national experts recommended continued Federal authorization and expanded support for the Initiative.

SUMMARY OF PROVISIONS

S. 668 would amend the Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative Act. The bill would set forth requirements concerning the membership of the Northwest Straits Advisory Commission and would direct the Secretary of Commerce, acting through the Under Secretary for Oceans and Atmosphere, to appoint a liaison between the Commission and the Department of Commerce. The bill would also issue requirements concerning the filling of Commission vacancies and the selection of the Chairperson of the Commission. In addition, the bill would require the Commission to meet at the call of the Chairperson (though not less frequently than quarterly) and require the Secretary of Commerce to appoint a liaison to the Commission from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

The bill would establish the Commission's goals and duties. The goal of the Commission would be to protect and restore the marine waters, habitats, and species of the Northwest Straits region to achieve ecosystem health and sustainable resource use by designing and initiating projects, building stewardship, and expanding partnerships. The duties of the Commission would include such actions as monitoring ecosystem health; identifying adverse factors affecting restoration and health; developing scientifically sound restoration and protection recommendations; and serving as a public forum and facilitator for local concerns, issues, and solutions with the aim of restoring and protecting the marine resources in the area.

S. 668 would provide for the hiring of a director for the Commission and staff to enable the Commission to perform its duties. It would also authorize the government of each of the seven counties in the Northwest Straits region to establish an MRC. Each MRC would address issues affecting the marine ecosystems within its county with the support of the local government. Membership in each MRC would include members with relevant scientific expertise and representatives of all appropriate stakeholder groups. Each MRC would select a chairperson from among its members, which would be a rotating position. The bill would also direct the MRCs to work to fulfill the goals and duties of the Commission, to work on a local level to coordinate marine conservation and restoration initiatives, and to educate the public about the connection between healthy marine habitats, harvestable resources, and human activities.

The Commission would be directed to prepare an annual report to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation in the Senate and the Committee on Energy and Commerce in the House of Representatives describing the activities completed during the previous year and the progress made in achieving the Commission's protection and restoration benchmarks and goals.

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

Congress authorized the Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative (title IV of PL 105-384) in 1998 to coordinate Federal, State, and local marine resource protection and restoration activities in the Northwest Straits. The Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative Reauthorization Act was introduced by Senator Murray on March 23, 2009. Senator Cantwell cosponsored the legislation. During the 111th Congress, the Committee held a NOAA budget hearing on June 11, 2009, that addressed this legislation.

Staff assigned to this legislation are Kristen Sarri, Democratic Professional Staff, and Todd Bertson, Republican Senior Counsel.

ESTIMATED COSTS

In accordance with paragraph 11(a) of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules of the Senate and section 403 of the Congressional Budget

Act of 1974, the Committee provides the following cost estimate, prepared by the Congressional Budget Office:

JULY 22, 2009.

Hon. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER IV,
Chairman, Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for S. 668, the Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative Reauthorization Act of 2009.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Jeff LaFave.

Sincerely,

DOUGLAS W. ELMENDORF.

Enclosure.

S. 668—Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative Reauthorization Act of 2009

S. 668 would reauthorize the Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative Act and codify aspects of the initiative, including the composition and goals of the Northwest Straits Advisory Commission. The bill also would require the commission to submit an annual report to the Congress. Assuming appropriation of the necessary amounts, CBO estimates that implementing S. 668 would cost $2 million a year over the 2010–2014 period. Enacting the bill would not affect direct spending or revenues.

The Northwest Straits Initiative is an intergovernmental partnership that restores and protects marine resources along the northwest coast of Washington state. The initiative is led by the Northwest Straits Advisory Commission, composed of federal, state, and county representatives, who provide resources and support to county governments working to achieve the goals of the Northwest Straits Initiative.

Authorization of the Northwest Straits Initiative expired in 2004. In fiscal years 2004 through 2008, the initiative received appropriations ranging from $1 million to $2 million annually, including $1.6 million in fiscal year 2008.

S. 668 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Jeff LaFave. The estimate was approved by Theresa Gullo, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

(3) At the start of the 21st century, the Northwest Straits have been threatened by sea level rise, ocean acidification, and other effects of climate change.

(4) In 1998, the Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative Act (title IV of Public Law 105–384) was enacted to tap the unprecedented level of citizen stewardship demonstrated in the Northwest Straits and create a mechanism to mobilize public support and raise capacity for local efforts to protect and restore the ecosystem of the Northwest Straits.

(5) The Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative helps the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and other Federal agencies with their marine missions by fostering local interest in marine issues and involving diverse groups of citizens.

(6) The Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative shares many of the same goals with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, including fostering citizen stewardship of marine resources, general ecosystem management, and protecting federally managed marine species.

(7) Ocean literacy and identification and removal of marine debris projects are examples of on-going partnerships between the Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.
