

Barbara Lyons is Senior Vice President of the Henry J. Kaiser Family Foundation and Director of the Kaiser Commission on Medicaid and the Uninsured, which serves as a policy institute and forum for analyzing health care access for low-income populations. Dr. Lyons previously served on the policy staff of the Commonwealth Fund Commission for Elderly People Living Alone. She also held a faculty appointment at the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health.

Kaiser Family Foundation

A leader in health policy and communications, the Kaiser Family Foundation is a non-profit, private operating foundation focusing on the major health care issues facing the U.S., as well as the U.S. role in global health policy. Unlike grant-making foundations, Kaiser develops and runs its own research and communications programs, sometimes in partnership with other non-profit research organizations or major media companies. We serve as a non-partisan source of facts, information, and analysis for policymakers, the media, the health care community, and the public. Our product is information, always provided free of charge — from the most sophisticated policy research, to basic facts and numbers, to information young people can use to improve their health or elderly people can use to understand their Medicare benefits. The Kaiser Family Foundation is not associated with Kaiser Permanente or Kaiser Industries.