

An aerial satellite-style map of Southern Illinois serves as the background. Overlaid on the map are several white text boxes and checkboxes. The text boxes contain the following items: 'U.S. Senator Mark Kirk', 'Southern Illinois Agenda', 'Back SIU', 'Educate the Workforce', 'Push for Clean Coal', 'Stand Up for Health Care Providers', 'Fight Meth', 'Invest in Infrastructure', 'Grow Small Businesses', 'Support Illinois Agriculture', and 'Encourage Tourism'. To the left of each text box is a white square checkbox. The checkboxes for 'Back SIU', 'Educate the Workforce', 'Stand Up for Health Care Providers', 'Fight Meth', 'Invest in Infrastructure', and 'Grow Small Businesses' are filled with a white circle, indicating they are checked. The checkboxes for 'U.S. Senator Mark Kirk', 'Push for Clean Coal', 'Support Illinois Agriculture', and 'Encourage Tourism' are empty. The map shows major highways like I-57 and I-24, and various towns and cities in the region.
