

This morning, I took a few minutes to reflect on the important issues facing our country. In the coming weeks, Congress needs to take swift action to get our fiscal house in order, pass new farm legislation, and deal with the looming problem of something called sequestration.

I invite you to click here for my brief update from Washington.

Washington Update