

The First Congressional District Environmental Advisory Council is a group of citizens and officials interested and involved in promoting a healthy Chesapeake Bay and clean environment. The Advisory Council meets regularly to engage in discussion and promote policy in this important issue area.