Foreclosure And Economic Stimulus Scams - BE AWARE!

ECONOMIC STIMULUS SCAMS – Via the Web and personal e-mail, scammers are telling consumers they can help them qualify for a payment from the economic stimulus package. An email, online ad, or website says you're eligible to get an economic stimulus payment. All you have to do is provide a little information or a small payment and send back a form or submit one online. The message may appear to come from a rebate company or look like it's straight from the IRS. But the promise of stimulus money in return for a fee or financial information is always a scam.

FORECLOSURE RESCUE SCAMS – Scammers definitely follow current headlines. They know that the possibility of losing your home to foreclosure can be terrifying. The reality that scam artists are preying on the vulnerability of desperate homeowners is equally frightening. Many so-called foreclosure rescue companies or foreclosure assistance firms claim they can help you save your home. Some are brazen enough to offer a money-back guarantee. Unfortunately, once most of these foreclosure fraudsters take your money, they leave you much the worse for wear. Here's a link to the Federal Trade Commission <http://www.ftc.gov/bcp/edu/pubs/consumer/credit/cre42.pdf>. Call my district office, 714-960-6483, if you wish to receive an FTC publication that provides some options to help people save their homes, and how to recognize and avoid foreclosure scams.

ANNUAL CREDIT REPORTS – Despite the musical claims of some TV commercials, the only authorized source to get your free annual credit report under federal law is www.AnnualCreditReport.com. To reinforce this message, the Federal Trade Commission is featuring two new videos that highlight the differences between AnnualCreditReport.com and those other sites that claim to provide "free" credit reports. Other sites require users to pay hidden fees or agree to additional services. For example, some sites provide a free credit report if you enroll in a new service. If you don't cancel the service during a short trial period, you're likely to see membership fees on your credit card statement. Links to both videos are available at www.ftc.gov/freereports and www.YouTube.com/FTCVideos.

From Congressman Rohrabacher:

One of the most important things I do as your Representative in the House is assist people with federal agency problems. Although I cannot override the decisions made by federal agencies, I can intervene on a constituent's behalf to answer questions, find solutions, or just cut through the red tape.

- Senior Citizens with Social Security, Medicare, disability & Supplemental Security Income benefit problems;
- Taxpayers with IRS tax issues;
- Veterans with VA claims and military service difficulties;
- Immigration/Visa questions
