Lauren A. Smith, MD, MPH
Interim Commissioner
Massachusetts Department of Public Health
Biographical Sketch

Lauren A. Smith, MD, MPH, has been the Interim Commissioner of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health since October 25, 2012. Prior to assuming that position, Dr. Smith has served as the Medical Director and Chief Medical Officer of the Department, providing senior clinical leadership for programs, planning and policy since 2007. She was responsible for key aspects of the Department's response to the H1N1 influenza outbreak and more recently lead the development of regulations related to new legislation on sports head injuries and school nutrition standards. She has been the senior team leader designated to oversee the Department's initiatives focusing on community level obesity prevention through system and policy changes. Before joining the Department, Dr. Smith was on the faculty at Boston University School of Medicine and served as a pediatric hospitalist for more than 10 years at Boston Medical Center. She was the Medical Director of the Pediatric Inpatient Unit for four of those years. Dr. Smith also served as the Medical Director of the Medical-Legal Partnership for Children, which unites doctors and lawyers to address social threats to child health. Dr. Smith's research career has focused on child health disparities and the implication of public policies for child health and wellbeing. She has also considered issues related to barriers to the rapid and sustained diffusion of effective health interventions, including appropriate asthma treatment and infant sleep position recommendations. In addition to numerous peer reviewed papers, she has authored reports on the impact of affordable housing and energy costs on child health and well being as examples of the effects of public policy on health.

Dr. Smith's experience in federal and state government includes roles as a policy analyst for the Department of Health and Human Services and as a W. T. Grant Health Policy Fellow in the office of the Massachusetts Speaker of the House. Dr. Smith graduated cum laude from Harvard College with a degree in Biology, having also completed coursework in government and economics. She also studied public policy at the Woodrow Wilson School at Princeton University as a Sloan Fellow. She completed her medicine and public health training with academic honors at the University of California, San Francisco School of Medicine and the University of California, Berkeley School of Public Health. She completed her residency and chief residency in Pediatrics at Children's Hospital, Boston and her fellowship in General Pediatrics at Boston Medical Center.
