

Unauthorized Appropriations and Expiring Authorizations

(In This Version, Appendix Material Is Sorted by Senate Authorizing Committee)

Notes

Numbers in the tables may not add up to totals because of rounding.

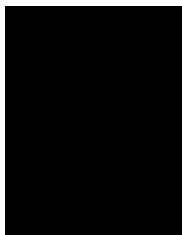

In separate versions of this report, the public laws in the appendixes are displayed in three ways—by House authorizing committee, by Senate authorizing committee, and by appropriations subcommittee. Each entry is listed only once, generally under the primary committee to which the bill was referred.

Questions about the report should be directed to Janet Airis at (202) 226-2850.

Unauthorized Appropriations and Expiring Authorizations

Overview

Spending authorizations are the first component of the long-standing two-part legislative practice of distinguishing between the laws that establish federal entities or programs that are to be funded through annual appropriations, and the laws that fund them. Once the authorizations are in place, funding for the agencies, programs, or activities is then provided separately in annual appropriation laws.

Each year, the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) reports to the Congress on the following:

- All programs and activities funded for the current fiscal year for which authorizations of appropriations have expired, and
- All programs and activities for which authorizations of appropriations will expire during the current fiscal year.

The requirement for that report is specified in section 202(e)(3) of the Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act of 1974 (Congressional Budget Act).¹

The Role of Authorizations

The term “authorization” is used to describe two types of laws. One is an “organic,” or “enabling,” statute, which creates a federal agency, establishes a federal program, prescribes a federal function, or provides for a particular federal obligation or expenditure within a program. That type of authorization may allow a federal agency, program, or function to continue indefinitely or only for a specific period. Such an authorization may provide an agency with the authority to obligate and spend federal funds in the form of direct, or mandatory, spending, or it may simply specify a purpose for which a subsequent appropriation may be made available.

This report focuses on the second type of law described by the term “authorization”: a specific provision that authorizes the appropriation of funds (generally providing for what is known as discretionary spending) to carry out the program or function established in the enabling statute. Such a provision constitutes guidance to the Congress regarding the amount of funding that may be necessary to implement the enabling statute. An authorization of appropriations may be contained in an enabling statute or may be provided separately. Such an authorization may set a specific dollar amount (a definite authorization) or allow the appropriation of “such sums as may be necessary” (an indefinite authorization), and it may be annual, multiyear, or permanent.

House and Senate rules—dating from the 19th century—contain restrictions on the consideration of appropriations that are unauthorized.² Whether an appropriation is unauthorized and whether it is a violation of a House or Senate rule are determined by the Speaker of the House or the Presiding Officer of the Senate, respectively, on the basis of advice from the respective House’s Office of the Parliamentarian. Although this report is intended to aid the Congress by identifying those authorizations of appropriations that have already expired or will expire this year, it is not and should not be considered definitive with respect to the application of House or Senate rules.

1. See H. Rept. 99-433, p. 114 (December 10, 1985), the conference report accompanying the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, which amended the Congressional Budget Act to include the requirement for this report. The stated purpose of the requirement is “to help Congress use the early months of the year to adopt authorizing legislation that must be in place before the regular appropriation bills can be considered.”

2. See Rule XXI of the House Rules and Manual, H. Doc. 110-162, pp. 836–891; and Rule XVI of the Standing Rules of the Senate, S. Doc. 110-9, pp. 11–12.

Listing of Unauthorized Appropriations and Expiring Authorizations

This report covers all programs funded through the annual appropriation process that at one time had an explicit authorization of appropriations that has expired (see Appendix A) or that will expire this year (see Appendix B). For the purposes of this report, an appropriation is considered unauthorized when it is made available for a program after that program's authorization of appropriations has expired. This report does not address appropriations that have never been authorized.

Each listing includes the number and name of the public law containing the last authorization, the last year in which the authorization was in effect, and the amount (definite or indefinite) authorized in that year. In separate versions of this report, the listings of public laws in the appendixes are displayed in three ways—by House authorizing committee, by Senate authorizing committee, and by appropriations subcommittee. Each entry is listed only once, generally under the primary committee to which the bill was referred.

In general, House and Senate rules require the appropriations committees, in their reports on general appropriation bills, to identify any programs that are funded in the bills but lack an authorization—including programs for which an explicit authorization of appropriations has never been enacted. This CBO report, as specified by law, is narrower in scope: It covers only programs that at one time had an explicit authorization that either has expired or is scheduled to expire this year. Many laws establish programs with an authorization of appropriations that does not expire. The reports of the appropriations committees as well as this report exclude programs with that type of permanent authorization.

The information in this report is drawn from CBO's Legislative Classification System, a database containing all public laws that include nonpermanent authorizations of appropriations—up to and including laws enacted during the first session of the 114th Congress.

Programs Funded in Fiscal Year 2016 With Expired Authorizations of Appropriations

Appendix A lists programs and activities funded by an appropriation for fiscal year 2016 whose authorization has expired. If the applicable 2016 appropriation law or its legislative history provides an explicit amount of funding for a program, that amount is shown under "Unauthorized 2016 Appropriations" in Appendix A. If no amount is provided (as in the case of a program or activity that is funded at an unspecified level in an appropriation account), CBO determined whether the program or activity is still being funded, and if so, how much is allocated for it. Appropriations for some programs cannot be easily identified, however, when they are part of a larger appropriation account. If that amount cannot be identified, the listing notes that the specific dollar amount of the unauthorized 2016 appropriation is "not available." Hence, the total dollar amounts of unauthorized appropriations do not encompass all of the programs whose authorizations of appropriations have expired. Quite a few of the unidentified amounts are probably small, and some of them may be part of appropriations that are listed elsewhere in this report.

Lawmakers appropriated about $310 billion for fiscal year 2016 for programs and activities whose authorizations of appropriations have expired and whose appropriations could be identified (see Tables 1, 2, and 3); in 2015, CBO reported that about $294 billion was appropriated for such programs. The increase in appropriated amounts in 2016 stems largely from several factors:

- CBO's 2015 report did not include amounts within the jurisdiction of the Homeland Security Appropriations Subcommittee because the final legislation had not been enacted by the time the report was published; the Homeland Security Appropriations Act, 2016, provided about $19 billion of unauthorized appropriations.
- Recently expired authorizations, including that for the Securities and Exchange Commission (with appropriations of $1.6 billion), added to the total of unauthorized appropriations for 2016.*
- Lawmakers enacted increases for a number of unauthorized appropriations; the largest of those include veterans' medical services, housing assistance, and the National Institutes of Health.

Other factors partially offset those increases, including the following:

- The Every Student Succeeds Act reauthorized programs that had received about $22 billion in unauthorized appropriations in 2015.

[*Sentence revised on February 1, 2016]

- The Every Student Succeeds Act reauthorized programs that had received about $22 billion in unauthorized appropriations in 2015.
- Lawmakers reauthorized appropriations for Amtrak (in 2015, unauthorized appropriations for Amtrak totaled about $1 billion).

Several large agencies or programs have expired authorizations, including the National Institutes of Health (with appropriations of $31 billion for 2016) and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (with appropriations of $19 billion for 2016). Some other large appropriations with expired authorizations are those for programs authorized in the Violence Against Women and Department of Justice Reauthorization Act of 2005 ($27 billion), the Foreign Relations Authorization Act, Fiscal Year 2003 ($26 billion), and the Quality Housing and Work Responsibility Act of 1998 ($26 billion).

Authorizations of Appropriations That Expire On or Before September 30, 2016

For certain programs and activities, the authorization of appropriations will expire by the end of fiscal year 2016. Appendix B shows the amount authorized to be appropriated in 2016 for those programs and activities, not the amounts actually appropriated for that year.

Definite, or specified, authorizations that will expire by the end of this fiscal year total about $611 billion (see Tables 4, 5, and 6). Most of that amount, about $600 billion, is authorized in a single law, the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2016. Typically, authorizations for defense funding are renewed annually. Funding for intelligence activities is also typically authorized annually; about $1 billion in definite authorizations were provided in the Intelligence Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2016 (Division M of P.L. 114-113).

Other authorizations set to expire at the end of 2016 are in the Department of Veterans Affairs Expiring Authorities Act, 2015, which provided a number of authorizations for veterans programs ($1.0 billion was authorized in 2016) and the Department of the Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2016, which authorized appropriations for the Land and Water Conservation Fund ($0.9 billion in 2016).

The Congress also provided a short-term authorization for the Federal Aviation Administration ($6.3 billion is authorized through March 31, 2016).
