

2012 HURRICANE PREPAREDNESS

CONGRESSMAN GUS BILIRAKIS

In Florida, we know how destructive natural disasters can be. With hurricane season approaching, I want to provide you with some helpful information as you and your family prepare for the possibility of a storm.

The effects of a natural disaster can be reduced if you remain aware of the steps you can take before, during and after a storm. It is also important that you and every member of your family keep on hand the emergency phone numbers listed in this update.

One of the most important lessons we can learn from previous storms is that citizens need to have supplies for at least three days after a hurricane hits. Attached is a valuable hurricane preparedness checklist.

It is an honor to be your voice in Congress. Please do not hesitate to contact me if I can be of any assistance.

Sincerely,

2012 HURRICANE PREPAREDNESS

What to do AFTER the hurricane...

- BE CAREFUL. The conditions that exist after a storm can be just as dangerous as the storm itself. Take care when re-entering your home. Ventilate your home by opening doors and windows. Be aware of downed electrical and other utility lines. Consult an electrician before restoring power to your home if it has flooded.
- DOCUMENT DAMAGE. This is necessary for insurance purposes. Also, save all receipts for repairs you may have to make before an adjuster can visit.
- MAKE REPAIRS. This will prevent further damage to your home and make it habitable again. Don't make extensive repairs, until you have fully assessed the damage and contacted insurance companies, etc.
- CONTACT YOUR INSURANCE COMPANY. File any claims as soon as you have assessed all damage.
- KEEP YOUR DOCUMENTS AND INSURANCE PAPER WORK SAFE. You will want to maintain records of all of these dealings for future reference.
