PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 111th CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION

Vol. 156 WASHINGTON, FRIDAY, JULY 30, 2010 No. 114

House of Representatives

The House met at 9 a.m. and was called to order by the Speaker.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, the Reverend Daniel P. Coughlin, offered the following prayer:

O God, at times it seems You have rejected us. Our defenses have broken down, and we feel vulnerable. Come and renew us with Your spirit.

You have rocked the whole country, and it is split open. You have let some of our people suffer hardships. Others seem drunken on fine wine.

But, You have warned those who fear You, there is no escape before the judgment falls.

Deliver those who are dear to You. Save them with Your powerful right hand. Answer with the word spoken from Your holy sanctuary.

The memorials built on the past speak of Your victories. Now, You need the cooperation of Your people. So once again with Your help, they may do valiantly. And You, our God, will prove victorious and receive the glory, both now and forever.

Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day's proceedings and announces to the House her approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. KRATOVIL) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. KRATOVIL led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair will entertain up to five requests for 1-minute speeches on each side of the aisle.

HONORING SALISBURY ALUMNI CHAPTER OF KAPPA ALPHA PSI FRATERNITY

(Mr. KRATOVIL asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. KRATOVIL. Madam Speaker, today I ask my colleagues to join me in celebrating the accomplishments of the Salisbury Alumni Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity for their outstanding service to the community. This year marks 20 years of dedication to the youth of Salisbury, Maryland, by providing them with a positive outlet through their summer basketball league.

The co-directors are Bruce Wharton and Tom Vanlandingham. With support from friends, they created a program that keeps children off the streets when schools are closed. The league started for kids on the west side of Salisbury and over the years has shown numerous children what possibilities life has to offer.

While basketball is the hook, Kappa Alpha Psi brothers also strive to show kids the positive side of life by surrounding them with examples of positive male and female role models. Bruce and Tom plan seminars on everything from avoiding the temptations of joining a gang to good eating habits.

Their league is free to all children and includes children from ages 10 to 18. They play Monday through Thursday evenings, four games per night. A recent expansion has allowed students from nearby cities and States to form teams and play in the league as well.

Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity is a prime example of how to give kids the support guidance they need through sports. I commend them on this milestone anniversary.

EXTEND TAX CUTS FOR JOBS

(Mr. WILSON of South Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, on Wednesday I highlighted the significant tax increases that are heading toward hardworking Americans at the beginning of next year. Families, married couples, and parents are going to be paying more taxes. Washington liberals are planning to reinstate the marriage penalties and cut the child tax credit in half.

Cutting the child tax credit in half from $1,000 to $500 per child will cost the average American family around $1,033 in higher taxes in 2011.

Reinstating the marriage penalty will cost an average of $595 for each family in 2011. In these tough economic times, raising taxes will eliminate jobs. It is time for Washington liberals to stop passing policies that penalize families and start passing incentives that promote job creation.

In conclusion, God bless our troops, and we will never forget September the 11th in the Global War on Terrorism.

AMERICAN BUSINESS COMPETITIVENESS ACT

(Mr. MAFFEI asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MAFFEI. Mr. Speaker, our current Tax Code is riddled with loopholes for big multinational corporations. Many industries, especially those with high-paid lobbyists, get special tax breaks, many of which actually reward companies for sending jobs overseas.

The Syracuse Post-Standard pointed out these breaks cost us up to $123 billion a year. Now, most businesses employ hardworking citizens and keep the economy afloat. Where are the tax breaks for them? Instead, they pay one of the highest tax rates, 35 percent, simply because they are American businesses.

We are putting our entire business community at a competitive disadvantage in the worldwide market while rewarding corporations that build factories in China and Mexico.

Mr. Speaker, the bill that I have introduced this week will eliminate the irresponsible tax loopholes that move our jobs overseas and use the money saved from that to lower the corporate tax rate by a third. That would help create millions of manufacturing jobs and other jobs here in America.

SPECIAL TREATMENT FOR SPECIAL PEOPLE

(Mr. POE of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute).

Mr. POE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, the Federal Government has decided some people are more special than others. The administration thinks the Wall Street elites are special. The big banks and the big auto industries, well, they are really special and too big to fail, but the administration has decided the blue-collar workers who do the rough work on the oil rigs and provide American energy—just aren't special.

The blue-collar guys don't want handouts like the special interest big shots got. They just want their jobs back.

But the administration not only won't treat these workers special, the administration just took their jobs away because of the offshore drilling moratorium. Now these American jobs are headed to Brazil, Libya and to Egypt.

The drilling moratorium is not based on science, it's arbitrary. Two courts have so ruled. Five Americans are killed on highways every hour. I don't see anyone wanting to close all the roads down.

The deep-water moratorium should end. The offshore workers should get their jobs back, but that's not going to happen any time soon because it's only special treatment for special folks, and they are just not that special.

And that's just the way it is.

SOCIAL SECURITY

(Ms. EDWARDS of Maryland asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. EDWARDS of Maryland. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to join all of America in celebrating 75 years of a bedrock promise to our seniors, to our retirees, of Social Security. That's right, 75 years of Social Security, a promise from one generation to the next generation.

In this country, 6 in 10 seniors rely on Social Security for more than half of their income. Over 6 million children, nearly 1 in 10, receive part of their income from Social Security.

I was one of those young people when my father was disabled. I and my siblings received Social Security to help us continue to support our family in a real time of need. It really is one promise from one generation to the next.

Now, there are some on the other side of the aisle who want to privatize Social Security. They would put Social Security into the stock market, and maybe we would face a year like we have faced in the last couple of years, and retirees would lose a third or more of their income.

But that's not the promise that we make from one generation to another. So this summer I and my colleagues are going to be talking about Social Security. I will be doing it this weekend at a senior forum out in Prince George's County, Maryland. A promise from one generation to the next generation, it's a promise that Democrats plan to honor. It's a promise that we make to the American people, and we will keep that promise no matter what our Republican colleagues try to do.

DEMOCRATIC AGENDA IS TO SCARE SENIORS

(Mr. SESSIONS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Speaker, once again this morning my Democratic colleagues are trying to scare this country. The facts of the case are that, as a result of the economic downturn of this country because of high taxes and more rules and regulations, more people are unemployed in America today than since the Great Depression. That is what will kill Social Security.

Republicans are not interested in killing Social Security. They are interested in America having a vibrant economic output. They are interested in people being employed and being able to take care of their families. And so perhaps the Democratic message will be to scare seniors and scare people about what Republicans would do to Social Security. Let's get it right: Republicans want to make sure that we have a vibrant economy. We are for Social Security. We support Social Security. I am disappointed that the Democratic agenda is going to be—that we heard about today—to scare seniors about their future.

SOCIAL SECURITY

(Ms. SHEA-PORTER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. SHEA-PORTER. Mr. Speaker, some of my friends on the other side of the aisle are always warning the young people of this country that Social Security won't be there for them, so we should just scrap it now, raise the retirement age, and privatize Social Security. They are wrong.

Social Security is critical for those who depend on it. It is essential for the family who has a loved one who needs disability insurance. It's essential for our senior citizens who paid their whole lives into a system so they would have a safety net when they need it most. However, Social Security is not just a retirement benefit; it's also an insurance program. If a spouse or parent of a child dies, Social Security is there for his or her widow, widower or child. This is not just a retirement program for seniors. It's a social safety net for all of us.

The young people of this country need to know Social Security is there for them and that it can be there in the future, just as it was for generations and for our seniors today. However, we must fiercely defend Social Security from some Republican efforts to privatize funds and gamble it on Wall Street. We must protect and strengthen Social Security, not dismantle it.

PROVIDING FOR CONSIDERATION OF H.R. 3534, CONSOLIDATED LAND, ENERGY, AND AQUATIC RESOURCES ACT OF 2010; AND PROVIDING FOR CONSIDERATION OF H.R. 5851, OFFSHORE OIL AND GAS WORKER WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION ACT OF 2010

Ms. PINGREE of Maine. Mr. Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 1574 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. RES. 1574

Resolved, That at any time after the adoption of this resolution the Speaker may, pursuant to clause 2(b) of rule XVIII, declare the House resolved into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for consideration of the bill (H.R. 3534) to provide greater efficiencies, transparency, returns, and accountability in the administration of Federal mineral and energy resources by consolidating administration of various Federal energy minerals management and leasing programs into one entity to be known as the Office of Federal Energy and Minerals Leasing of the Department of the Interior, and for other purposes. The first reading of the bill shall be dispensed with. All points of order against consideration of the bill are waived except those arising under clause 9 or 10 of rule XXI. General debate shall be confined to the bill and amendments specified in this section and shall not exceed one hour, with 40 minutes equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Natural Resources and 20 minutes equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure. After general debate the bill shall be considered for amendment under the five-minute rule. In lieu of the amendment in the nature of a substitute recommended by the Committee on Natural Resources now printed in the bill, it shall be in order to consider as an original bill for the purpose of amendment under the five-minute rule the amendment in the nature of a substitute printed in part A of the report of the Committee on Rules accompanying this resolution. That amendment in the nature of a substitute shall be considered as read. All points of order against that amendment in the nature of a substitute are waived except those arising under clause 10 of rule XXI. Notwithstanding clause 11 of rule XVIII, no amendment to that amendment in the nature of a substitute shall be in order except those printed in part B of the report of the Committee on Rules. Each amendment may be offered only in the order printed in the report, may be offered only by a Member designated in the report, shall be considered as read, shall be debatable for the time specified in the report equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent, shall not be subject to amendment, and shall not be subject to a demand for division of the question. All points of order against such amendments are waived except those arising under clause 9 or 10 of rule XXI. At the conclusion of consideration of the bill for amendment the Committee shall rise and report the bill to the House with such amendments as may have been adopted. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the bill and amendments thereto to final passage without intervening motion except one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

SEC. 2. The Chair may entertain a motion that the Committee rise only if offered by the chair of the Committee on Natural Resources or his designee. The Chair may not entertain a motion to strike out the enacting words of the bill (as described in clause 9 of rule XVIII).

SEC. 3. Upon the adoption of this resolution it shall be in order to consider in the House the bill (H.R. 5851) to provide whistleblower protections to certain workers in the offshore oil and gas industry. All points of order against consideration of the bill are waived except those arising under clause 9 or 10 of rule XXI. The amendment printed in part C of the report of the Committee on Rules accompanying this resolution shall be considered as adopted. The bill, as amended, shall be considered as read. All points of order against provisions of the bill, as amended, are waived. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the bill, as amended, to final passage without intervening motion except: (1) one hour of debate equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Education and Labor; and (2) one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

SEC. 4. (a) In the engrossment of H.R. 3534, the Clerk shall—

(1) add the text of H.R. 5851, as passed by the House, as new matter at the end of H.R. 3534;

(2) assign appropriate designations to provisions within the engrossment; and

(3) conform provisions for short titles within the engrossment.

(b) Upon the addition of the text of H.R. 5851 to the engrossment of H.R. 3534, H.R. 5851 shall be laid on the table.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. CUELLAR). The gentlewoman from Maine is recognized for 1 hour.

Ms. PINGREE of Maine. Mr. Speaker, for the purposes of debate only, I yield the customary 30 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. SESSIONS). All time yielded during consideration of the rule is for debate only.

GENERAL LEAVE

Ms. PINGREE of Maine. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and insert extraneous materials into the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Maine?

There was no objection.

Ms. PINGREE of Maine. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, House Resolution 1574 provides for consideration of H.R. 3534, the Consolidated Land, Energy, and Aquatic Resources Act of 2010, under a structured rule; and H.R. 5851, the Offshore Oil and Gas Worker Whistleblower Protection Act of 2010, under a closed rule.

Mr. Speaker, April 20, 2010, became a day that will live in history as one of the worst environmental disasters in decades. When explosion and fire ripped through the Deepwater Horizon, the first priority was saving the lives of the crew. Sadly, for 11 men it was too late.

As the oil flowed out of the well and as BP unsuccessfully tried to stop it, the Nation watched, captivated by the story and by the untold damage to gulf coast communities. We learned a new language, the language of the offshore oil and gas industry. Terms like ''blowout preventer'' and ''top kill'' became common words to the American people, to news shows and on the House floor. The evening news was soon filled with pictures of oil-coated beaches, dead pelicans, and fishermen who were afraid that their way of life was slipping away.

Today, as we debate these two very important bills, I wonder why it has taken us, Congress, so many years to act on the issues we are taking up today. The problems and challenges facing the management of our resources, like offshore oil and gas, are not new. In 2007, before I was elected to this body, Chairman RAHALL recognized that we needed to reform the dysfunctional system that allowed BP to run the Deepwater Horizon rig without regard to the safety of their workers or to the health of the environment. Additionally, the ideas behind the CLEAR Act are not new. They are commonsense reforms that should have happened years ago. Maybe, if they had happened, the workers on the Deepwater Horizon would still be alive and the gulf would not be soaked in oil.

Mr. Speaker, we need to continue responding to the disaster in the gulf and not forget that catastrophic environmental damage has been done. We need to clean up and repair the gulf, to hold BP accountable for its oil spill, to enact stronger environmental, technological, and spill response standards, to conserve our natural resources, and to invest in an American clean energy future.

We must also remember that, in addition to cleaning up the mess, repairing the damage, and cracking down on big oil companies, we also have to get serious about ending our dependence on oil and creating new sources of clean energy. If we had a clean energy economy, powered by wind and solar and tidal power, we probably wouldn't be here having this discussion today.

Frankly, it is almost impossible for me to imagine what would have happened if my State, the State of Maine, had experienced a massive oil spill that had polluted the Gulf of Maine. It is almost impossible for me to imagine the devastation to our fishing families, to our tourism, and to our beautiful coastline if millions of gallons of crude oil were to begin washing offshore, but it is possible for me to imagine the same Gulf of Maine dotted with floating offshore wind turbines, wind turbines which would create good-paying jobs and provide an endless source of clean energy without the risk of environmental disaster.

Today, we are considering two bills that will help address some of our most egregious problems. This bill will provide protection for whistleblowers who alert the government to dangerous violations of Federal law. Nobody should be forced to choose between his or her job and reporting unsafe conditions. It will also improve the leasing process, making sure all companies follow the environmental and safety rules, and it will ensure royalties are paid on all oil drilled or spilled.

The CLEAR Act reorganizes the Department of the Interior to provide better management of the Nation's energy resources located on Federal lands and water. The act eliminates conflicts that arise when the same agency which is in charge of the environmental reviews of leases, of issuing leases, and of making sure the leaseholders and rig operators are in compliance with safety and environmental laws, then turns around and collects royalties from these same companies.

The disaster in the gulf makes it clear that we should be working to transition our economy to a clean energy future. Investments in clean energy will help in the recovery of our economy, and supporting renewable energy projects, like offshore wind, will strengthen the economy and help create good jobs that can't be shipped overseas.

I am glad that language is included in the bill that will reform royalty collection. I am proud of the work that we have done on this issue, and I thank Chairman RAHALL for working with me on language included in this manager's amendment that will guarantee that BP pays royalties on every drop of oil spilled in the gulf.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentlewoman for yielding time to me, and I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Here we are, Mr. Speaker, today, a brand new day. It is the 35th time this Congress that I have handled a rule. Once again, it is another closed rule. In fact, as we aim for our 6-week recess, we recognize how important it is for Members of this body to go back home and to receive feedback about what a great job we are doing here in Congress, to have the American people be very supportive of increasing taxes and of more rules and regulations. Today, we are sticking it to the consumer again at the gas pump because we are going to take it out on energy companies. It is going to be a very interesting recess.

Mr. Speaker, as I talk about this being my 35th time during this session to handle a closed rule, in fact, the Democratic majority has not allowed one open rule, not for me and not for my colleagues. There has not been one open rule this entire Congress. Yet, this week, we are passing two appropriations bills, which, under normal rules and regulations, at least before the Democrats took over, would have been open to all Members to have come in and to have not only openly debated but to have shown up on the floor and to have offered their ideas about appropriations bills.

I just don't believe that closing down debate, limiting Members' abilities to come talk, having limited amendments, and really shutting out Republicans and Democrats—that is, unless you are in the leadership of the Democratic Party—is really the way that we should run this ship. Once again, during the break, I think the American people are going to have a chance to provide some feedback to Members. It is my hope that we will listen.

Today, we are discussing two bills that are reactions to the gulf oil spill crisis. While reforms are clearly needed to make the American offshore drilling safer and cleaner, today's legislation requires new blanket regulations without a good sense of, I think, what the problem was and what the facts say. The investigation of events should be completed so that Congress can act intelligently and correctly. The focus should be on permanently stopping the leak, on cleaning up the oil, on assisting gulf coast communities, on holding BP accountable, and on finding the cause of the disaster. We ought to wait until we get that.

What we are doing is trying to put through a bill here where we already assume that we understand what the problem is, and, of course, if you are in Washington, you understand these energy companies just need to be taxed more. We need to raise taxes on them to discourage the drilling in the gulf.

There was a comment made a few minutes ago that the Democrat majority wants to save jobs from going overseas. In fact, that is exactly what this will do. It will keep America continually reliant on energy from other nations around the globe, nations that not only do not like America but, perhaps, even worse than that, will use those resources that we give them against America. It is a bad deal. Anybody who listens to this debate can figure out in half a heartbeat that using American resources, keeping American jobs and more fully working with the industry instead of trying to punish the industry would be what any rational American would do.

Once again, we are not rational in this town. It is about punishing people. It's just like President Obama, who wants to pick a fight with everybody in town in order to go and ruin the free enterprise system. Well, that is what we are doing again today. We are on record. We are going to have the vote today. We are going to lose thousands of jobs.

Yesterday, the gentleman Mr. SCALISE from Louisiana and the gentleman Mr. CASSIDY from Louisiana came forward to the Rules Committee. They talked about this moratorium in the gulf and that, if it continues, thousands of jobs will be lost in their home State. Thousands of middle class Americans who need to have work, once again, will be in trouble.

The Obama moratorium on deepwater drilling has already cost tens of thousands of jobs. This bill will eliminate even more American energy jobs, making it harder and more expensive to produce both energy on- and offshore. Additionally, this legislation will only further enhance our economic troubles in the gulf region and throughout the Nation because it will create a diminished supply of energy which will be available at a higher cost, and the American consumers will be the people who will be paying for this—I'm sorry—the taxpayers, also, because they will be the people who will be unemployed.

Mr. Speaker, my good friends on that side of the aisle are using H.R. 3534 to exploit this oil spill tragedy as a political opportunity to rush to Washington and put energy items on their agenda.

The underlying bill imposes job-killing changes and higher taxes. This underlying bill imposes job-killing charges and higher taxes for both onshore natural gas and oil production and offshore. The bill creates over $30 billion in new mandatory spending, $30 billion in new mandatory spending for two new government bureaucracies that have absolutely nothing to do with the oil spill. It raises taxes over $22 billion in 10 years. This is a direct tax on natural gas and oil that will raise energy prices for American families, businesses, hurt domestic job creation, and increase our dependence on foreign oil. But don't worry, I'm sure we can blame George Bush for the passage of this bill and the outcome that will come from that.

Additionally, H.R. 3534 requires a Federal takeover of State authority to permit in State waters which reverses 60 years of precedence of law in this country. Why are we rewarding the mismanagement, corruption and oversight failures of the Federal Government and giving them expanded authority now? They were a joint partner down in the gulf, and they failed too. We should not empower them even more.

The bill includes unlimited spill liability for offshore operators, which could effectively eliminate all independent producers from offshore drilling if they cannot obtain insurance policies to cover their operations. However, this does not mean that drilling up and down our coasts will stop. Nope. Countries like China and Russia are in the process of negotiating with Cuba for access to these same oil fields right now, which means that others will come and reap the benefits, sell it to us at an exorbitant price, and we will be shipping American jobs overseas.

According to an independent study from IHS Global Insight: ''By 2020, an exclusion of the independents from the Gulf of Mexico would eliminate 300,000 jobs and result in a loss of $147 billion in Federal, State and local taxes from the gulf region over 10 years.''

The gulf region has suffered enough, Mr. Speaker. Our consumers and businesses need an adequate supply of natural gas and energy. What this Congress does is only going to diminish jobs, lower local revenue in areas, and cause our businesses to be noncompetitive because we will pay more for the energy to supply the needs to business.

Week after week, Mr. Speaker, I come down to this floor to debate the importance of economic growth and job opportunities, and my friends on the other side of the aisle continue this same agenda, the same agenda that does not work. And then they question, Why don't you Republicans—at least one of you—come vote for this? Well, the answer is, We're not going to vote for what's not going to work. And what does not work, Mr. Speaker, is the taxing, the borrowing, the spending policies that week after week after week diminish jobs and push our economy into further debt.

Unemployment is the highest it's been. More people are unemployed in this country than since the time of the Great Depression and for a longer period of time. That is not a record of success, Mr. Speaker. It's one that I would be embarrassed about. Americans want solutions. They want Congress to produce results, and this bill does not do that. It's my hope that when we go home for the August break once again that the American people say what's on their mind, and I think it's up to us, as Members of Congress, to listen.

Additionally, in the Natural Resources Committee, Congressman CASSIDY from Louisiana offered an amendment that passed the committee without any objections for Congress to establish a bipartisan independent commission to investigate the oil spill, yet it has been stripped from the bill, and that amendment was not made in order last night in the Rules Committee. This Democrat majority continues to use their power to shut out bipartisan solutions to everyday issues that are here on the floor.

Under this rule, we're also providing consideration for H.R. 5749, the Offshore Whistleblower Protection Act. While providing whistleblower protections for offshore workers is essential to the safety of those workers and others, I remain concerned that H.R. 5749, which was just introduced on Monday evening of this week, should have gone through regular order review, allowing Members the appropriate time not only to read the bill—I'm sorry, did I say read the bill? Yes, Members need to be able to read the bill, understand the content, have some dialogue, and then it would allow them an opportunity to provide feedback. Of course, I know and you know, Mr. Speaker, that in the Rules Committee, anything that deals with common sense, bipartisanship, or that might be a position taken by some part of the free enterprise system is shut out of the Rules Committee week after week, day after day.

So with the current fiscal crisis our government faces and record unemployment, why do we have this bill on the floor today? To make unemployment even worse—in particular, in Louisiana and Mississippi—increase taxes, further implode the debt and the deficit. Mr. Speaker, it makes no sense why week after week this Democrat majority does that. We should be doing job-saving and job-creation bills, not job-killing bills. But once again, this is the agenda of the Democratic Party.

Mr. Speaker, the voices of the American public have been clear. Americans need this Congress to get it. We need pro-growth solutions that will encourage job creation and keep America competitive with the world. This legislation further diminishes private sector jobs while adding billions to our national debt.

So I don't know when my friends on the other side of the aisle are going to catch on; but it is my hope that at the August break, they will have an opportunity to hear from Americans who are unemployed, seeking an opportunity to find a job who look to this Congress to do something about the jobs.

Mr. Speaker, the question once again today, Where are the jobs? Where is the agenda on this floor that will be about saving jobs? And, Mr. Speaker, perhaps more pointedly, when will we quit killing jobs in this country with an agenda by the Democratic Party that the Democratic Members vote for that diminishes America's ability to compete?

Mr. Speaker, I urge a ''no'' vote on the rule.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. PINGREE of Maine. Mr. Speaker, I very happily yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MCGOVERN), my colleague on the Rules Committee.

Mr. MCGOVERN. I thank the gentlelady for yielding to me and for her leadership on this issue.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the rule, and I rise in strong support of the underlying bill. And to my friend from Texas who talks about listening to our constituents, let me assure him, I listen to my constituents every week when I go home. And what I hear from them is that they are sick and they are tired of my friends on the other side of the aisle continuing to rise on this floor to be apologists for Big Oil. What my constituents want and I think what the American people want is smart regulation, better safety standards, whistleblower protection. They want to make sure that a repeat of what we just saw in the gulf never happens again.

My friend talks about jobs. How many jobs have been lost because of this oil spill? How many fishermen are out of business? How many hotels and restaurants have lost business because of this terrible crisis? You know, this crisis has had such a negative impact on jobs that I can't even begin to quantify. So my friend talks about jobs, it is because of the recklessness and the lack of oversight by the Bush administration that got us here, and we don't want to see this repeated again and again and again.

So this is a good bill, and it's a smart bill. If you want to apologize for Big Oil, go right ahead. But the American people are not on your side on this one.

Mr. Speaker, I also rise to express my strong support for the Land and Water Conservation Fund program and particularly for the Stateside program. The Stateside program provides matching Federal grants to States and local communities to develop outdoor recreation facilities and parks and conserves brilliant natural spaces throughout the country. Since the creation of the Land and Water Conservation Fund program in the 1960s, funding levels for the Stateside program have fluctuated widely.

This is especially evident over the past decade. Between fiscal years 2002 and 2005, between $91 million and $140 million per year was appropriated for the Stateside program. Unfortunately, in sharp contrast, only $19 million to $40 million has been appropriated between fiscal years 2006 and 2007, representing less than 10 percent of the total land and water conservation funding per year. The Stateside program is a good program that benefits communities across the country. It is a good, strong program that deserves adequate funding.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I would like to enter into a colloquy with the chairman of the Natural Resources Committee, the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL).

Mr. Chairman, as you know, I have serious concerns about the funding levels for the Stateside LWCF program. I am pleased that that the CLEAR Act provides for permanent funding for the entire LWCF program, but I remain concerned that there is no statutory program supporting equitable funding for the Stateside program.

As you know, unfortunately, the Stateside program has been chronically underfunded. I think we can all agree that these programs positively contribute to the vibrancy of our communities, and actually create jobs. Stateside funding has widespread support, and I seek your assurance that we can find a way to provide increased funding for the Stateside LWCF program.

I yield to the gentleman from West Virginia.

Mr. RAHALL. I appreciate the gentleman from Massachusetts yielding.

The Stateside LWCF program does provide vital support for States and local communities for access to outdoor recreation. My home State of West Virginia, for example, has benefited greatly from these formula-driven matching grants, and I am pleased that the CLEAR Act will provide stable, permanent funding for the Stateside program.

I agree with the gentleman that the funding levels for Stateside in recent years have been completely inadequate, and I look forward to working with you, our colleagues on the Appropriations Committee, the administration, and others who support this critical program to ensure it receives adequate and equitable funding going forward.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I have a letter from Interior Secretary Salazar that acknowledges the Stateside program needs additional funding to carry out its work.

U.S. DEPT. OF THE INTERIOR,
SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR,
Washington, DC, July 29, 2010.

Hon. JAMES P. MCGOVERN,
House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

DEAR REPRESENTATIVE MCGOVERN: Thank you for your interest and support for the Stateside Assistance portion of the Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF). President Obama has committed to fully fund LWCF by 2014 through the budget process. If Congress decides to include a full funding provision in the CLEAR Act and full funding occurs in 2014 or earlier, there will be excellent opportunities to develop a vibrant Stateside Assistance program that will help us to meet the conservation needs of the 21st century.

As the Executive Director of the Colorado Department of Natural Resources and as a U.S. Senator from Colorado, I have demonstrated my commitment to local and state parks and the State-side program. While in the U.S. Senate, I was a principal sponsor of the Gulf of Mexico Energy Security Act of 2006, which created additional funding for State-side LWCF programs.

The Department of the Interior is committed to finding the best ways to improve and strategically invest LWCF funds. I also understand that States need additional funding in order to expand outdoor recreational opportunities and to conserve important places. If we are to accomplish these goals and achieve the full potential of the State-side LWCF program in challenging economic times we must work together.

We have an opportunity with the growth of LWCF funds to build a program that will address these needs. Through the President's America's Great Outdoors Initiative, we are hearing from state and local governments, recreation advocates, nonprofit organizations, and other supporters about ways to enhance the State-side Grant program. In addition to the great projects now funded by the State-side program, there is strong support for investments in (1) the creation and expansion of urban parks and river greenways close to where people live, (2) providing rural communities with better recreational opportunities, and (3) connecting our local and state public recreation lands with Federal lands throughout the Country.

It's important that we chose our projects carefully to ensure that these funds make a big difference in our states and communities. We need to remind the American people of the value that outdoor recreation and land conservation offers everyone and how it makes our society a richer place in which to live and raise our families.

As we do this, I look forward to working with you on the best ways to protect our treasured landscapes.

Sincerely,

KEN SALAZAR.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Ms. PINGREE of Maine. I yield the gentleman 1 additional minute.

Mr. MCGOVERN. I want to thank Chairman RAHALL for allowing me the opportunity to address my concerns, and for working with me toward ensuring the Stateside program receives the funding it deserves.

Again, I want to thank the gentlelady from Maine for the time. I will close by urging my colleagues to support the rule, support the CLEAR Act, and let this Congress go on record as standing with the people of this country and not standing with Big Oil.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Speaker, I am delighted to hear back from my colleagues about how this change is doing such a great job for their constituents back home. Robust, I am sure, economic times in Massachusetts to where they don't have to worry about an adequate supply of energy or the costs associated with that.

But, Mr. Speaker, today I received a copy of a Key Vote Alert from the U.S. Chamber. The U.S. Chamber represents employers and employees all across this country. They have some things to say about this bill, too, which every single Member of Congress has a chance to receive. That doesn't mean they agree with it or want to read it.

But it says this: ''There's a bright line between increasing safety and creating a regulatory environment so unfit for business that oil and gas companies that operate in the United States will take their business elsewhere. That line is crossed repeatedly throughout H.R. 3534.''

I continue from this Key Alert, U.S. Chamber. ''At this time, it is premature for Congress to legislate prescriptive solutions when the causes of the well blowout and any associated failures that led to the catastrophe have not yet been conclusively determined.''

Mr. Speaker, once again it's a ready, aim, fire by our friends the Democrats, who bring bills to the floor, once again a mundane bill that really nobody knew was going to be here on the floor, and here it is. I continue, ''The bill would make it economically nonviable to lease or explore offshore for energy resources, and the offshore energy industry would be driven largely out of U.S. waters. This outcome would increase U.S. dependence on foreign oil at higher costs in the short-and long-term, and could cripple the gulf coast economy by jeopardizing the 46,000 jobs''—they should say that remain—''the 46,000 jobs that the oil and natural gas industry supports in the gulf coast region.''

Mr. Speaker, they've got it right. They've got it exactly right what this bill does. What they fail to talk about is the reason why. The reason why is it's an assault on the free enterprise system. It's a continued assault on people who are workers in this country, a continued assault to raise the price at the pump and to raise the price of heating and fuel that fuel our businesses.

Mr. Speaker, as we already understand, and we know this, the cost of energy now exceeds the cost of employees. And if we keep this dangerous trend up, rather than providing reliable sources of energy at a cost-effective price, it means that America will continue to be noncompetitive. Once again, a direct result of this Congress, a direct result of the votes that take place in this body.

The facts of the case are the Chamber also strongly opposes new energy taxes, which will cost consumers $25 billion at the pump and in their homes. It's a continued assault on America. And I am disappointed. The Chamber nailed it. They got it right, Mr. Speaker.

CONGRESSIONAL AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS,
U.S. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE,
Washington, DC, July 29, 2010.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES: The U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the world's largest business federation representing the interests of more than three million businesses and organizations of every size, sector, and region, strongly opposes H.R. 3534, the ''Consolidated Land, Energy, and Aquatic Resources Act of 2010,'' in its current form. There is a bright line between increasing safety and creating a regulatory environment so unfit for business that oil and gas companies that operate in the United States will take their business elsewhere. That line is crossed repeatedly throughout H.R. 3534.

As the Chamber has stated in prior communications, Congress should resist the rush to act on legislation in the midst of the ongoing catastrophe in the Gulf; priority number one must remain permanently sealing the well and mitigating the extensive environmental damage. At this time, it is premature for Congress to legislate prescriptive solutions when the causes of the well blowout and any associated failures that led to the catastrophe have not yet been conclusively determined. The Obama Administration's National Commission on the BP Deepwater Horizon Oil Spill and Offshore Drilling has not yet reported its findings, and the Chamber believes that an independent commission, similar to the one included in bipartisan legislation reported by the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee, would inform the legislative process by providing important data, technical analysis, and expertise.

H.R. 3534 would have serious and negative impacts on U.S. energy and economic security. The bill would make it economically nonviable to lease or explore offshore for energy resources, and the offshore energy industry would be driven largely out of U.S. waters. This outcome would increase U.S. dependence on foreign oil at higher costs in the short- and long-term, and could cripple the Gulf Coast economy by jeopardizing the 46,000 jobs that the oil and natural gas industry supports in the Gulf Coast region.

Provisions eliminating the cap on liability provided in the Oil Pollution Act of 1990 could discourage major integrated oil companies as well as independent producers from exploring in domestic waters, as they would be unable to afford adequate insurance to cover the potential liability risk, if they could obtain insurance coverage at all. Independent producers, which hold approximately 90 percent of Gulf leases and produce approximately 30 percent of the oil and 60 percent of natural gas in the Gulf, would be particularly hard hit. Moreover, the retroactive application of the liability cap raises serious constitutional issues that may, if stricken down by the courts, force Congress to readdress the issue in the future.

H.R. 3534 would force the CEOs of energy companies to attest personally that their systems will never, ever fail and that their companies are in strict compliance with all environmental and natural resource laws. Violations would subject CEOs to civil penalties, through citizen suits and enforcement actions, and criminal liability, which could include imprisonment. In practice, these provisions in H.R. 3534 are unworkable, and few—if any—companies could meet them. The intent of this provision appears to be political demagoguery of energy company CEOs. However, the real impact of these provisions would be severe; few domestic or foreign energy companies would be willing to explore for energy in U.S. waters.

The Chamber strongly opposes the new energy taxes included in H.R. 3534, which Congressional Budget Office analysis indicates would ultimately cost consumers $25 billion. Termed a ''conservation tax,'' it would do nothing of the sort; all monies raised by this tax would go directly to the federal treasury for Congress to appropriate. Congress should not exploit the tragedy in the Gulf as a rationale to levy excessive new energy taxes on American consumers and producers. The nascent economic recovery cannot afford additional extreme taxes on domestically produced commodities that the entire United States depends on every day. Ultimately, such new taxes could encourage American operators to move investments elsewhere. Excessive taxes levied exclusively on domestically produced energy would also increase U.S. dependence on imported energy as it did in the 1980s, further increasing the risks to U.S. energy security.

The Environmental Diligence provisions, purportedly intended to ban BP leases, would set conditions so that virtually no firm could develop Gulf energy resources. H.R. 3534 would create a ''doomed to fail'' policy, making certain isolated violations of safety, health and environmental statutes punishable by a ban on leasing or exploration on federal land. When viewed in conjunction with the CEO liability provisions, the Environmental Diligence provisions would create, in essence, a system whereby making even one mistake could bar future access to leasing. Rather than enduring the hostile and risky relationship with federal regulators that this legislation would force upon both regulators and the regulated community, firms would likely forgo further investments in U.S. waters.

H.R. 3534 would expand dramatically the reach and scope of federal environmental law by imposing unnecessary layers of duplicative environmental reviews, prolonging decisions on permits, and changing the criteria agencies must consider when issuing a lease or permit. Furthermore, the legislation would minimize the ability of federal regulators to consider the economic benefits of energy exploration projects. As a result, the economic growth of communities along the Gulf Coast and U.S. energy security would become much less relevant to federal regulators under H.R. 3534.

The provisions of H.R. 3534 that would expand the scope of the Outer Continental Shelf (OCS) Lands Act and establish a massive new regulatory framework for shallow water energy exploration would essentially eliminate this industry in its current form. Shallow water drilling does not present the same risks as deepwater exploration and has operated with an exceedingly high level of environmental performance for more than 50 years.

Even in the area of renewable energy, H.R. 3534 would pose new challenges to domestic energy security. By expanding the scope of the OCS Lands Act to offshore renewables, H.R. 3534 would subject the deployment of new offshore technologies to the same plethora of unworkable requirements for oil and gas exploration. As a result, not only would oil and gas energy production be forced from American waters, but renewables would not necessarily be erected in their place.

The Chamber opposes the ''Build America'' provisions in the bill, which would require that offshore facilities be built in the United States with only limited exceptions. Similar Build and Buy American provisions have been proven to be counterproductive. Not only would such provisions harm United States' global standing, it could inhibit the ability of companies to adopt the best technology from around the world. Moreover, the U.S. shipbuilding industry does not have the domestic capacity to build large mobile drilling rigs. Ultimately, this provision would increase costs and be very difficult to implement given the complexity of offshore platform supply chains.

The Chamber strongly opposes H.R. 3534 in its current form because of its negative impact on energy and economic security. The Chamber urges Congress to take the time necessary to understand the causes of the Gulf spill before proceeding with legislation to purportedly ''fix'' the problem. The Chamber may include votes on, or in relation to, this issue in our annual How They Voted scorecard.

Sincerely,

R. BRUCE JOSTEN.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. PINGREE of Maine. Mr. Speaker, I inquire if my colleague has any remaining speakers. I am the last speaker for my side, and I am going to reserve my time until the gentleman has closed.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I thank the gentlewoman for letting me know that she is through with her speakers.

Mr. Speaker, here we are on the floor talking about raising energy prices, diminishment of jobs, further debt, a Federal Government that's going to be empowered to do more in the gulf with regulation, and yet we haven't even taken time to find out what really happened, what needs to be corrected, and how that needs to take place.

Secondly, we learned very clearly that a bipartisan idea about us making sure that we do look into this, to give the American people the confidence that we can work together in Washington that went through the Natural Resources Committee without objection on a bipartisan basis, goes up to the Rules Committee, rejected. Rejected straight up.

We learned again today, no open rule in this entire Congress. My 35th time to come to the floor leading the charge for Republicans on a rule, not an open rule. Today we had an opportunity just a minute ago to provide the information from the U.S. Chamber. What's the impact of this bill? Diminishment of American jobs. More taxation on consumers at the pump. And perhaps worst of all, people who will lose their jobs. Tremendous job loss.

And in the long run, we learned that what happens is that it's not an unintended consequence when these jobs move overseas; it is a direct result of the pressure, the taxation, the rules, the regulations, the absolute meaning of the bill to diminish American jobs and to push our reliance on foreign oil and jobs overseas. That is the agenda of the Democratic Party: higher taxes, higher spending, more debt, pushing jobs overseas. We don't need those jobs here. Higher prices for consumers and incredible unemployment and debt.

You would think, Mr. Speaker, that instead of us being on the floor to diminish and kill jobs, which is what this Democratic majority does, we should be enhancing jobs. I am disappointed to know that, as the gentleman from Louisiana came to talk about people who they represent, those ideas were tossed out of hand. It's a real shame.

We do not have a body that's interested in encouraging economic development, investment, or the creation of jobs. In fact, what we are for is a political agenda that we are working through now, about two-tenths through this agenda, that will net lose 10 million American jobs, the continued assault against employers and certainly the workers of this country.

Mr. Speaker, I think it's, once again, another sad day. I know it's another new day in Washington, but a sad way to look at this.

Mr. Speaker, I have a letter from the National Association of Manufacturers, and what they say is, ''While we appreciate efforts made earlier this week to improve H.R. 3534,'' meaning their members lobbied, I assume, Speaker PELOSI, ''NAM members continue to oppose this bill, as it would, in its current form,'' the form that we have here on the floor, ''drive up energy costs, create uncertainties in the availability of supply and adversity affect U.S. jobs.''

Once again, these are people that are job creators and people that are trying to hang on at a time of continued assault against the American worker by the Democratic Party. I think Mr. Jay Timmons, executive vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers, has it right. They are asking all Members of Congress, regardless of party, please oppose this job-killing, tax-increasing, consumer-higher-payments-at-the-pump bill that will result in more unemployment, higher costs.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS,
Washington, DC, July 29, 2010.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC.

DEAR REPRESENTATIVES: The National Association of Manufacturers (NAM), the nation's largest industrial trade association representing small and large manufacturers in every industrial sector and in all 50 states, urges you to oppose H.R. 3534, the Consolidated Land, Energy, and Aquatic Resources Act of 2010.

Our nation continues to face a setback in energy security and independence every day the drilling moratorium remains in place. Thousands of jobs in the oil and gas industry have been lost. Companies that make and supply equipment, services, engines, boats and materials such as steel and concrete will soon feel massive economic consequences from the moratorium.

Manufacturers believe it is critically important to understand the causes of the Gulf of Mexico accident and its long-term environmental impacts before enacting policies that could make a serious problem much worse. While we appreciate efforts made earlier this week to improve H.R. 3534, NAM members continue to oppose the bill, as it would, in its current form, drive up energy costs, create uncertainties in the availability of supply and adversely affect U.S. jobs.

While there appears widespread agreement in the industry and on Capitol Hill that the $75 million liability cap needs to be updated, requiring an unattainable level of insurance coverage for domestic energy producers on the Outer Continental Shelf is not the solution. By eliminating the cap, H.R. 3534 would effectively retain the moratorium on offshore drilling for all but a handful of the world's largest international companies, forcing the vast majority of American companies out of U.S. waters.

NAM members support energy policies that: (1) expand domestic supplies in an environmentally safe way; and (2) lower costs for U.S. consumers and for manufacturers, which use one-third of our nation's energy. Access to competitively priced energy helps U.S. companies compete in the global economy and preserves high-paying jobs here at home.

The NAM's Key Vote Advisory Committee has indicated that votes related to H.R. 3534, including votes on procedural motions, may be considered for designation as Key Manufacturing Votes in the 111th Congress. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

JAY TIMMONS,
Executive Vice President.

Mr. Speaker, Republicans continue to offer commonsense solutions to rein in the current spending spree, and the best way to do it is not to tax and not to lose jobs. The creation of jobs is how you go about turning this economy around.

There was talk about Social Security earlier. It is the Democratic Party that is losing the jobs in this country, and that is why Social Security is in trouble. I think blaming someone else is a sad way to go through life.

Republicans, like the American people, would like some transparency and accountability. They should expect it. American people should expect it from their leaders, Members of Congress, and I don't think they're getting it. Democrats are using the oil spill as an excuse to raise $22 billion worth of new taxes and over $300 billion in new, unrelated mandatory Federal spending.

I don't see a lot of people down here who are exactly worried about this on the Democratic side. I hear people who are down here talking about that it's the right thing to do, and that is what the Democratic majority will get credit for with this bill: more taxing, more spending, more rules and regulations, more unemployment, more high debt, pushing jobs offshore.

Mr. Speaker, reforms are needed to make America more competitive. The reforms should be about making sure that the drilling that takes place in the gulf or anywhere else is done safely and that we do follow best practices and rules and regulations. It should be done to encourage the government to work successfully with business, with industry, with the American worker, but that's not what we have here. What we have is a bill designed to kill the industry, to diminish its effectiveness, to increase costs for consumers, and to make pump costs and costs on natural gas more expensive.

I think that this economic plan by the Democratic majority they should get full credit for: higher taxes, more spending, assault on the free enterprise system, more unemployment, more debt, more things that are not working.

I'm going to give the Democratic majority credit today. Good for you. Now we know what that is. I know you're two-tenths through this agenda of killing 10 million American jobs, but you need to know this. You're going to get credit for this, and I hope the American people, in just a few days, when we go home, talk to their Members of Congress about changing that, because we ought to have a jobs bill on this floor to create jobs, not kill jobs.

The Republican Party is for the creation of jobs. We are for balancing the budget. We are for stopping the assault on employers, and we're for empowering the American people to have a brighter future, not one that simply empowers Washington, DC.

Mr. Speaker, the numbers are stunning. Over the time that President Obama has been in office, we have lost 2.5 million free enterprise system jobs, and yet 500,000 Federal Government jobs have been added in that period of time. The assault on the common man of this country is unrelenting by the Democratic majority.

For that reason, I encourage a ''no'' vote on the previous question to bring some fiscal sanity and sense and restraint to this body, and I'm going to offer a ''no'' vote on the rule.

Mr. Speaker, the facts of the case are simple. The American people have got it. It is time for a real change.

I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. PINGREE of Maine. Mr. Speaker, throughout the spring and summer, the public outrage has been palpable—in Washington, among the pundits and talking heads, in my own State of Maine and, truly, everywhere in this country.

In Maine, we have a special understanding about the impact the BP oil spill is having on the people of the gulf coast. Just like them, our lives and livelihoods are closely linked to the ocean. Off the Maine coast, there is an amazing renewable resource—strong winds and tides that can power our economy and create good-paying jobs and reduce greenhouse gas pollution. I think it's time for us to start using it.

As someone from a community who relies on its working waterfront, I am asking that we stand with the hard-working men and women of the gulf coast in their time of need and make sure that those responsible are the ones that pay for the spill and that we strive to ensure that a spill like this never happens again.

I urge my fellow Members to vote for the rule and the underlying bill. I urge a ''yes'' vote on the previous question and on the rule.

Mr. HOLT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the rule for the CLEAR Act which would, among other provisions, provide full and dedicated funding for the Land and Water Conservation Fund.

Congress created LWCF in 1965 on the principle that some funds from the sale and extraction of oil and gas from federal lands be used for the protection of important lands and waters; so they remain available for the enjoyment of all Americans. Only once in 45 years has LWCF received its full funding.

My colleagues on the other side of the aisle say that the $2.00 per barrel conservation fee will be an undue burden on consumers. One fourth of a cent per gallon at the pump, 2 cents per tank, is well worth it for preserving Yellowstone, the Everglades, a battlefield, or building a local park in Shrewsbury or a playground in Lawrence Township.

This bill ensures that $900 million will be provided annually for LWCF without appropriation and achieve a long-awaited, much-needed balance between resource extraction and resource conservation. I urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to the rule allowing for consideration of H.R. 3534, the Consolidated Land, Energy, and Aquatic Resources Act of 2010.

Congress has a responsibility to take action to respond to the terrible tragedy in the Gulf region and work to ensure that such an event never happens again. However, in doing so, we must also be careful to only advance legislation that is narrowly focused on responding to the root causes of the Gulf Oil Spill. Unfortunately, that is not the case with H.R. 3534, which I believe is overreaching and will have negative effects on domestic onshore production and on independent oil producers' ability to continue operating offshore. Among my concerns is subjecting oil and gas wells to new and unnecessary Environmental Protection Agency, EPA, storm water discharge permitting requirements. A report from the Department of Energy has shown that should the storm water provisions pass, it could result in the loss of up to 10 percent of domestic oil and gas production.

My colleagues, Congressman HARRY TEAGUE and Congressman JASON ALTMIRE, offered amendment to this legislation in the Rules Committee to remove these problematic provisions. However, it was not made in order. I believe that the inclusion of this amendment would have improved this bill by helping to more limit its scope towards responding to the oil spill and not place new unnecessary burdens on onshore development. Without this amendment, and because of my concerns about the impact these provisions will have on North Dakota's growing energy sector, I am voting against this rule.

Ms. PINGREE of Maine. I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

The previous question was ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the resolution.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this question will be postponed.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, the Chair will postpone further proceedings today on motions to suspend the rules on which a recorded vote or the yeas and nays are ordered, or on which the vote incurs objection under clause 6 of rule XX.

Record votes on postponed questions will be taken later.

INCREASING FLEXIBILITY IN AMOUNT OF PREMIUMS CHARGED FOR FHA SINGLE FAMILY HOUSING MORTGAGE INSURANCE

Mr. FRANK of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5981) to increase the flexibility of the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development with respect to the amount of premiums charged for FHA single family housing mortgage insurance, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 5981

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. MORTGAGE INSURANCE PREMIUMS.

(a) FLEXIBILITY.—Subparagraph (B) of section 203(c)(2) of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1709(c)(2)(B)) is amended—

(1) in the matter preceding clause (i)—

(A) by striking ''shall'' and inserting ''may''; and

(B) by striking ''0.50 percent'' and inserting ''1.5 percent''; and

(2) in clause (ii), by striking ''shall be in an amount not exceeding 0.55 percent'' and inserting ''may be in an amount not exceeding 1.55 percent''.

(b) IMPLEMENTATION.—The Secretary may adjust the amount of any initial or annual premium charged pursuant to subsection (a) through notice published in the Federal Register or mortgagee letter. Such notice or mortgagee letter shall establish the effective date of any premium adjustment therein.

SEC. 2. CONGRESSIONAL TESTIMONY.

The Assistant Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development who is the Federal Housing Commissioner shall appear before the Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs of the Senate and the Committee on Financial Services of the House of Representatives within 270 days after the enactment of this Act to discuss the finances, including premiums, of the Federal Housing Administration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. FRANK) and the gentlewoman from West Virginia (Mrs. CAPITO) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Massachusetts.

Mr. FRANK of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

We have for these couple of years now had a bipartisan effort that began in the Bush administration and has been continued in the Obama administration—and it's been bipartisan on the Committee of Financial Services—to make sure that the FHA is both an effective and an efficient means for housing finance. Having a reliable way to provide the funding needed for housing finance in its various aspects is important both for the citizens who benefit from it and for the economy.

The FHA had not been in a great shape. We have a package of measures and we have had administrations—and as I say it's been bipartisan on the two administrations in our committee—to improve the FHA's capacity, to increase its capacity, but also to provide that it will be done in a reasonable way.

This House passed earlier this year overwhelmingly, by a bipartisan vote, a comprehensive reform of the FHA. It may shock the Members to know, Mr. Speaker, that the United States Senate has not acted expeditiously on this noncontroversial measure, and there are a couple of pieces of it that cannot wait.

It is my intention—and I want to assure the gentlewoman from West Virginia, the ranking member of the subcommittee who put a lot of good work in this bill and who was responsible for some of its most important provisions and safeguards—that we do not intend to let those die. We will continue to press the Senate for the rest of this bill; and we will also, in accordance with what we have said, have the administrator of the FHA before us to talk about how this is being done.

But what we need to do now is to take the authority we gave the FHA to raise the fees—this is a bill when it had the CBO certification they say doesn't result in any direct spending. In fact, it will save money. It will price the FHA appropriately. People have been worried about the FHA's fiscal solvency. This helps it.

So it's a bill—and I will say finally, it's taken from the larger bill we have passed. We are reenacting today a small piece of a comprehensive bill because while I am still fully committed and I know others are to the comprehensive bill, it's important we do this now. We're about to be without legislative capacity for 6 weeks.

So I urge that the House pass the bill.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAPITO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I'm rising today in support of this bill, H.R. 5981, and as our chairman said, we have been working diligently, I think, to bring forth solid FHA reform. We passed that bill almost unanimously—I think it was 406–4—probably about a month ago, and so the majority, the large majority of this House is in agreement with a lot of the provisions in that bill.

One of the provisions, as he said, is raising the annual premium on FHA, and I think this is right and proper; and I think it's something we need to do because, as we know and as has been brought forth in our committee, the capital reserve fund has fallen, I believe, dangerously low. And what we're trying to avoid is a situation where we may be asked to bail or at least to help the FHA in some sort of infusion of dollars from the Treasury.

So I wholeheartedly will support this bill, but I do want to reemphasize, as the chairman said, we had a whole host of reforms in our original bill. We cannot forget the other important reforms that were in the original H.R. 5072, and we need to move forward with those after our district work period and recess. We need to move forward with this as expeditiously as we did before we left.

One thing in the short bill we're considering today, it does say that the commissioner has to come before the committee within 270 days. I would like to ask the chairman if we could have a hearing in September on this very topic so that we can see what the status, at least interim status, of the fund is.

Mr. FRANK of Massachusetts. Will the gentlewoman yield?

Mrs. CAPITO. I yield to the gentleman.

Mr. FRANK of Massachusetts. My answer is absolutely, we will have the commissioner. I have to say HUD, the Secretary and the commissioner have been very cooperative, and we will have such a hearing in September.

Mrs. CAPITO. I thank the chairman for that.

I have no requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. FRANK of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material with regard to this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Massachusetts?

There was no objection.

Mr. FRANK of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. FRANK) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5981.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Speaker, I have a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. CAMP. Is the House in session at this time?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The House is in session. Does the gentleman have an inquiry?

Mr. CAMP. Thank you.

Is it in order to ask the Speaker the next order of business?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman can consult with the leadership.

Mr. CAMP. Does the Speaker have an agenda with the next order of business before him?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is a matter of scheduling. The gentleman can consult with the leadership.

Mr. CAMP. I understand there will be a suspension under the committee of jurisdiction of which I am ranking member. I have no information on that.

Does the Chair have any information on that?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair cannot speak to matters of scheduling.

Mr. CAMP. We understand that the measure may involve tax implications, which are, of course, of great importance to the American people.

Does this legislation have a bill number?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Again, the Chair cannot speak to matters of scheduling.

Mr. CAMP. I am not asking about a matter of scheduling, Mr. Speaker. I am asking about a bill number for tax legislation of great importance to the American people which I understand may be up momentarily. However, we have no information on this side about that. And as the minority, I do believe we are entitled to some notice and understanding of the business that will be coming before the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman may speak with the clerks at the hopper——

Mr. CAMP. I'm sorry. Could the Speaker repeat that?

The SPEAKER pro tempore: The gentleman may speak to the bill clerk regarding a particular bill's number.

Mr. CAMP. Is the Speaker aware that the clerks have a bill number that I could speak to and obtain?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman may consult with the bill clerk at the hopper.

Mr. CAMP. I understand there is no bill number for the clerks to give me. Is there text available on the legislation?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Again, matters of scheduling are not within the purview of the Chair.

Mr. CAMP. Well, Mr. Speaker, I am not asking about a scheduling matter. I am asking, is the text of the bill available at the desk at which you are standing?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is preparing to entertain a motion from the gentleman from Michigan. (Mr. LEVIN).

Mr. CAMP. Well, I am asking a parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker. My inquiries are, I think, a fairly basic one for the American people, and that is, as we conduct the people's business in what used to be the people's House, is there text of the legislation we may consider at the desk at which you are standing?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is ready to entertain a motion.

Mr. CAMP. I have another parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker. I didn't receive an answer to my last question. I think that's regrettable.

But I would ask, is any legislative text posted online? Has any legislative text for the bill we are about to consider been put online in bill form for the American people to read?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will suspend.

The Chair will receive a message.

TITLE III—PAYGO COMPLIANCE

SEC. 301. PAYGO COMPLIANCE.

The budgetary effects of this Act, for the purpose of complying with the Statutory Pay-As-You-Go Act of 2010, shall be determined by reference to the latest statement titled ''Budgetary Effects of PAYGO Legislation'' for this Act, submitted for printing in the Congressional Record by the Chairman of the House Budget Committee, provided that such statement has been submitted prior to the vote on passage.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. LEVIN) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CAMP) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. LEVIN).

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Speaker, parliamentary inquiry.

As this bill was just introduced seconds ago, is it in order to ask that the bill be read for the American people and for Members who are going to be required to understand and vote on this legislation in a short time?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the rule, the Clerk reports the title of the bill.

Mr. CAMP. And so is it in order for me to make a motion to ask that the bill be read for understanding by the American people?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That would not be a proper motion.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. LEVIN).

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I urge all Members to support this legislation that indeed has been posted online.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will suspend.

Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. LEVIN) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CAMP) each will control 20 minutes.

Again, the Chair recognizes the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. LEVIN).

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, again I urge all Members to support this legislation, which has indeed been posted online. This bill would eliminate a reporting requirement which has been identified as a potentially onerous burden for small businesses. The provision itself is not currently in place—it does not take effect until 2012—but recent studies have indicated that it could pose challenges for small businesses throughout this country.

The Independent Taxpayer Advocate recently stated the provision, ''may present significant administrative challenges to taxpayers and the IRS.'' The advocate is concerned that the reporting requirement for small business—and again I quote—''may turn out to be disproportionate as compared with any resulting improvement in tax compliance.''

So here we are today to provide this House with an up-or-down vote on eliminating this requirement. This bill is fiscally responsible, covering the cost by reducing tax incentives that encourage companies to ship jobs overseas. This is a win-win for American jobs.

This bill both provides relief to small businesses and reduces incentives for some large, multinational corporations to ship jobs overseas. It also closes an egregious loophole in the gift tax, the Grantor Retained Annuity Trust, that is only available for extremely wealthy individuals.

So in a few words, all Members on both sides of the aisle have a choice today—to stand up for millions of American small businesses and their workers, or keep a tax loophole and side with those companies that ship jobs overseas.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, in my 20 years in Congress, I don't think I have seen a more disappointing time for this House. I had great hopes when my colleague from Michigan, SANDER LEVIN, assumed the chairmanship of the Ways and Means Committee after the ethical charges against a man I worked closely with, Mr. RANGEL, who was the chairman. I know it's difficult to come into a leadership position partway through a Congress, but I have to say to a fellow colleague from Michigan, the lack of consultation, the lack of discussion, the lack of attempts to bring things to this Congress in a bipartisan way, which I believe has more balance than bills written alone, in secret by the Democratic Party late at night than are brought to this floor with maybe moments notice—I think this bill was given to us less than 10 minutes ago. I think that is regrettable. I think it is unfortunate. I don't think it needed to be that way. We have always had a great working relationship. Many delegation meetings over the years in working on behalf of issues common to Michigan, now I had hoped we would work together on behalf of issues important to America.

It is unfortunate that the leaders of this Congress on the Democrat side have really taken control and not given the chairman the latitude he needs to really draft bills in a bipartisan way. I think it's unfortunate that control has been ceded to the leaders in such a way that make it impossible for us to work together on issues that I think the American people are crying out for to be worked on in a bipartisan manner.

This was supposed to be the most open, the most transparent, the most ethical Congress. I think we have seen events of this week prove that otherwise. And I don't mean just the publicity events. I mean events on the way these bills are brought to the floor without any discussions or consultation.

We have great staffs on both sides in the Ways and Means Committee. Our staffs do tremendous work. They are capable of working together if given the opportunity. And I think we could resolve these issues in a way that would benefit all Americans.

Last night, I intended to offer a motion to recommit that we gave full notice to the other side about—unlike what we are seeing today—that would have eliminated the new onerous job-killing 1099 requirement that's in the health care law. In addition to helping small business, the motion to recommit would have better protected taxpayers from erroneously paying too much in health insurance subsidies. And the motion would have cut taxes, cut spending, protected taxpayers, and reduced the deficit. But as we saw last night, because Democrat leaders were too afraid to let their Members vote on a pro-jobs, pro-small business, pro-taxpayer, pro-deficit reduction bill, they canceled the vote and pulled the bill from consideration by the House.

Instead, we are here today, as we have been so often under the heavy-handed tactics of the majority, voting on a bill that has not been reviewed by committee, that has not been posted online for 72 hours, has not been reviewed by the employers this bill will affect, and most importantly, has not been reviewed by the American public in any way. The result? The Democrats have created a bill that pits American employers against other American employers, worker against worker, neighbor against neighbor. With unemployment stuck at nearly 10 percent, Democrats are again playing politics with American jobs. This is not the time for politics; this is a time to get serious about the economy and helping businesses create jobs. Frankly, it didn't have to be this way, and it should not have been this way. There is a way to pay for the repeal of the 1099 requirement without punishing job providers and their workers and their families.

Additionally, we would have protected taxpayers by cracking down on fraud and abuse. And if someone received an erroneous or excessive benefit that they were not entitled to, they would have been required to repay it. The bill before us leaves that very important flaw in place. I have in my hands a way to do this without raising taxes and killing jobs: It is the motion to recommit I intended to offer last night but was not given the opportunity to do so. I will have it inserted into the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD so that everyone can see that we can save jobs without raising taxes.

Small businesses supported the measure, Republicans supported the measure, and it's clear that rank-and-file Democrats would have supported the measure. Somehow, Democrat leaders are so opposed to helping small businesses—the real job creators in this country—that they wouldn't even allow a vote on a full repeal of the 1099 requirement that also didn't include a massive job-killing tax increase.

Why are Democrats so afraid to work with Republicans to help America's job creators? Why don't Democrats allow Republicans to offer amendments on behalf of small businesses? And why are they so bent on raising taxes?

Isn't $670 billion alone in tax increases in this Congress enough? Why?

It is because Democrats are more interested in protecting their $1 trillion health care law than solving legitimate problems being expressed by the American people and American employers. So, while it is clear that Democrats have admitted that the burden imposed by their health care law is a job killer, they are offering no solution today, because the bill before us will undoubtedly have the effect of killing jobs.

Frankly, this is a missed opportunity. It is a missed opportunity to fix a fundamental flaw in the health care law, and it is a missed opportunity to truly help American employers in the jobs they provide. A job is a job is a job.

I urge my colleagues to stand up for job providers by demanding a full repeal of the 1099 requirement that does not impose other job-killing tax increases.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Number one, you received more notice about this than we did about your motion to recommit.

Mr. CAMP. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. LEVIN. I yield to the gentleman from Michigan.

Mr. CAMP. That is just simply an untrue statement, and it is beneath the dignity of the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee to assert that.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I reclaim my time.

Mr. CAMP, you may not like the bill——

The SPEAKER pro tempore. All Members will suspend.

The gentleman from Michigan (Mr. LEVIN) controls the time.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. CAMP, abide by the rules of the House. I did not yield to you to rant and rave.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentlemen will direct all remarks to the Chair.

Mr. LEVIN. We received a couple-minutes' notice of the motion to recommit.

Mr. BOUSTANY. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. LEVIN. I will continue and then I will yield.

Mr. BOUSTANY. Thank you.

Mr. LEVIN. It was handed to us as it was being submitted. So, if there is an effort for bipartisanship, then a motion to recommit can be submitted early on, without any effort to surprise, and we can see if we can work it out. That's the fact.

Number two, in terms of worker against worker, what you don't like about our proposal is that we protect and safeguard the workers of the United States of America, and we make sure that jobs are not shipped overseas that may help workers in other countries but not workers in the United States of America. That is what our bill provides.

Number three, in terms of added taxes, the taxes on the very wealthy, closing the loophole is something that should be done. You are not protecting the typical taxpayers in this country. They don't use these annuity provisions. They don't try to escape gift taxes through this device. The administration has pleaded with this Congress to close this loophole, and you, today, are essentially saying you don't want to vote for this bill because it addresses outsourcing and because it addresses a tax loophole. You don't like that. All right. Then vote ''no.''

We find a way to eliminate the 1099 requirement and pay for it by making sure companies don't have an inducement to ship jobs overseas and the very, very wealthy to escape gift taxation. So that is really what this is all about. Everybody here has a choice: eliminate the 1099 and not use a hammer on millions of families in this country and eliminate it in a way that saves jobs in this country.

Mr. BOUSTANY. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. LEVIN. I yield to the gentleman from Louisiana.

Mr. BOUSTANY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, as a member of the committee and as the ranking member on Oversight, I was sitting in my office. This debate began, and the bill was not even in electronic form for us to review.

Mr. LEVIN. Okay. I reclaim my time.

I told you that it was placed on the Internet, number one. Number two, every provision in this bill in terms of the pay-for has been before this Congress before—every single provision. So don't say you're surprised by these provisions.

I reserve the balance of my time.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Again, Members are reminded that all remarks must be addressed to the Chair.

Mr. CAMP. I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, to correct the RECORD, I would just say the motion to recommit that I tried to offer last night was available for several hours to the majority. They pulled the bill and didn't allow me to ultimately offer it. That's why I introduced it in the RECORD today.

At this time, I yield such time as he may consume to a distinguished member of the Ways and Means Committee, the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. BOUSTANY).

Mr. BOUSTANY. Mr. Speaker, again, I am in my office. This debate begins, and we can't find the actual bill language in electronic form. I understand it is now available, but to have the debate begin I don't think is very fair to Members of this House, and it is not what the American people would expect of us.

I think it is entirely regrettable that—we are dealing with an issue of national importance. This body can act. This body can act in the national interest if we work together, but these kinds of trust-destroying measures are not in the interest of this body or in the interest of the American people.

My objection to the bill still stands. Even though there is a move to incorporate the repeal of the 1099 provisions, I still have a significant objection because we are talking about some very complicated international tax provisions for which we really have not had the kind of hearings necessary to understand the consequences. We should not be doing this type of ad hoc tax tinkering.

We ought to be taking a more comprehensive approach in understanding the economic consequences. These tax provisions, from what I am hearing from those who are trying to engage in international business to create American jobs, will be a job killer. They will destroy American jobs. What we need to do is look at this in a more comprehensive way.

Now, if we haven't had the kind of hearings to vet this, to explore this, how can we expect the American people to understand the complexity of the nature of these tax provisions?

What we ought to be doing is creating jobs. What we ought to be doing is promoting American competitiveness. What we ought to be doing is promoting economic growth and private sector job growth. That is the problem with the bill.

Now, if you have U.S. companies that are trying to compete against foreign-owned companies in a very complex economic environment and if U.S. companies are subject to double taxation, you can call it a loophole. I call it hurting American competitiveness.

The bottom line is we want a Tax Code that promotes private sector job growth. We want a Tax Code that promotes American corporations and businesses that are going to be competitive worldwide to create jobs at the highest standards possible, and we want to see economic growth, which we know will lead to private sector job growth.

So my objection to the bill still stands based on the policy. But I am deeply, deeply regretful and distressed at the way this bill has been taken to the floor of the House this morning.

Mr. LEVIN. I now yield 3 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from New York (Mr. MURPHY).

Mr. MURPHY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I rise today supporting House bill 5982, the Small Business Tax Relief Act of 2010. This bill is incredibly important for us to pass. As I travel around my district in upstate New York, I hear consistently, all the time from my small business owners that they need regulatory relief, and they need support if they're going to invest and expand our economic recovery that we have going on.

As somebody who has been a small business owner, who has started small businesses and has been building them up all of my life, I know what a burden regulatory hurdles can be for small businesses. This bill is going to repeal what could potentially be a huge hassle for a lot of small businesses. This 1099 reporting was a well-intentioned provision to try to catch people who were cheating on their taxes; but it has some unintended consequences, in my opinion, that will create a lot of extra work and hassle for our small businesses.

This is something I hear about every day when I travel my district. I am sure that our colleagues across the aisle hear this from their small business owners as well. And everyone in this body who knows what's going on with our economy will know how important it is to stimulate activity and to get people back to work. The best way we do that is to support our small businesses. They're the ones who create new jobs. Sixty to 80 percent of the new jobs are created by small businesses—in particular, new small businesses. That's where the economic activity comes from in our country. That's who we have got to be supporting. This bill does a great job of doing that.

I know that many of my colleagues on the other side know that this hurdle that we have out there, with this 1099 reporting, needs to be repealed. They've been talking about it. We've been talking about it. There's bipartisan consensus there, but this bill does something else that's very valuable for the American public as well. It closes some foreign tax loopholes. Some of these are very egregious. Companies are getting the United States Government to refund foreign tax credits they're paying on income that they had never reported in the United States. This is something that should be fixed. We need to make sure our corporations have incentives to invest here, not incentives to invest overseas based on complex tax schemes that keep them from paying taxes.

I want to be building stuff in America. I want to be making stuff in America. I want our tax policy to encourage corporations to make stuff here in America. That's what I hear from big companies. They want to build it here, but our tax rules make it so that it's better for them to build it somewhere else. This is how we solve that. This will bring American jobs back here. It will bring American investment back from American corporations, and it will help our small businesses get some regulatory relief. This is a win on both sides. This is a bipartisan kind of solution because we're helping our small businesses by getting government out of the way. We're fixing our Tax Code to make it so that American companies will have incentives to invest here in America, not in China and not anyplace else around the world.

This is the kind of policy that will help get our economy moving. This will put Americans back to work. This will help our middle class folks who are struggling all over this country, looking for good jobs. This is the way that we do that. I think this is a great piece of legislation. I expect we'll have good bipartisan support for it.

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I would just say I agree with a portion of what the previous speaker said. I agree, there is a serious flaw in this health care bill. This is one of many, and this serious flaw is a job-killer. So I commend the majority for their recognition of these serious flaws in the health care bill and that there are job-killing provisions in it that many of us warned them about before the bill came to the floor but weren't really allowed to be part of the process to try to correct those before they came. And, frankly, not many people here were able to do that either, as it was just rolled out.

But the answer isn't to hurt other job providers. We're in a recession. Unemployment isn't getting better. We know the stimulus didn't work. We're still at a national rate of about 10 percent. But let's look at what job providers say about the way that they pay for this fix. The fix we're for—and we had a legitimate way to do it, as I said, without raising taxes, without hurting other job providers, and by actually helping to prevent the potentially fraudulent way this provision was drafted.

And let me just tell you what an association of employers that promotes America's Competitive Edge Group said. They represent more than 63 million American jobs, and they say the $12 billion imposed in the proposed international tax increases would further disadvantage U.S. companies, harming their competitiveness. We are competing around the world, like it or not, and that would reduce U.S. earnings. That would reduce U.S. earnings and thereby reduce investment in U.S. plant and equipment research and expanding U.S. payrolls.

Let me read to you what the National Association of Manufacturers says about the way they pay for this bill. Why not use the anti-fraud corrections that we had in the motion to recommit last night? They represent about 22 million people in the United States, U.S. workers. Manufacturers feel strongly that imposing this $11.5 billion tax increase on these companies will jeopardize the jobs of American manufacturers. We've already lost 700,000 American manufacturing jobs. Why impose a greater burden on them? It's not necessary, and it would stifle our fragile economy.

The United States Chamber of Commerce, they represent more than 3 million businesses and millions more U.S. employees. They say this legislation would impose Draconian tax increases on American worldwide companies, would hinder job creation, decrease the competitiveness of American businesses, and deter economic growth. If there's one thing this country needs, it's economic growth and the jobs that provides.

I don't know why they're so bent on increasing taxes when we could fix this flaw in the health care bill—which I commend my colleagues on the other side for recognizing the flaw in the health care bill, and there are others that we need to fix as well—but it is not a fix when we have these reputable employers and businesses say that this is going to hurt our recovery, hurt job creation; and, frankly, the record on job creation in the last year has not been a good one. We need to do better. We can do better, and I would urge a ''no'' vote.

With that, I yield 1 minute to my distinguished colleague from Louisiana (Mr. BOUSTANY).

Mr. BOUSTANY. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend, the ranking member of the full committee.

I want to respond to a couple of things the gentleman from New York brought up. This 1099 provision, we agree on it. It's an egregious issue. It needs to be repealed. We need to do it in the right way, along with many of these other issues in the health care bill.

But with regard to small businesses, the President himself has said that he wants to double exports in 5 years, and the best way to do that is to expand export opportunities. And if we're going to do that for small businesses and mid-sized companies, we have to do this in a way that allows them to partner with large corporations and have the infrastructure. These tax provisions in the bill will subject our companies, who are doing this type of work, to double taxation, making us less competitive, inhibiting economic growth, and reducing our ability to export. It's clear.

Secondly, we haven't had the hearings to actually flesh all this out. I think it's critical that we really look at this if we're going to promote American competitiveness. My fear is that, yes, we might double exports in 5 years, but it will be the export of American jobs.

Mr. LEVIN. I now yield 3 minutes to a very distinguished colleague of ours from New York (Mr. OWENS).

Mr. OWENS. I thank the gentleman from Michigan, Chairman LEVIN.

I rise today in support of H.R. 5982, the Small Business Tax Relief Act. This legislation repeals the new 1099 reporting requirements that impose a flood of new tax paperwork on small businesses. This bill evidences our commitment to listening to our constituents and acting to resolve their legitimate concerns. We, on our side of the aisle, are listening. We are acting.

I have heard from numerous constituents, farmers, manufacturers and other small businesses, about this issue. Repealing these requirements is critical to protecting small businesses and family farms from having to mail hundreds of forms to vendors each year. H.R. 5982 is fully paid for by eliminating $11.6 billion in tax breaks for companies that ship jobs overseas.

We hear constantly about the need for regulatory reform. This bill provides regulatory relief. Foreign tax credits do not incentivize production or manufacturing in the United States, as my colleague, Mr. MURPHY, amply and adequately pointed out. We need to focus on incentivizing U.S.-based production by focusing on appropriate tax incentives and reduction in regulatory activity by the government.

We have an opportunity today to continue to improve on the health reform law by passing this bill, by helping to create U.S. jobs, and focusing and incentivizing companies to grow the American economy.

I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 5982.

Mr. LEVIN. I yield 2 minutes to the very vigorous gentleman from Virginia (Mr. PERRIELLO).

Mr. PERRIELLO. Give America a chance and America will outcompete the world. Give American business a chance, and it will outcompete China and the world. Give American workers a chance, a level playing field, and we will outcompete the world. We can build things, make things, and grow things better in this country than anywhere in the world if we give a level playing field. We have a chance once again today to level that playing field and let America win again.

We can do that by closing this outsourcing loophole that rewards companies for sending jobs overseas. And we can do it in a way that also provides relief to our small business owners, who are trying to work hard and play by the rules. Well-intentioned efforts to make sure people were not cheating on their taxes, to make sure people were paying their burden, can also be done in a way that doesn't cost those who have been working hard and playing by the rules.

We have a chance to do two great things today. We have a chance to level that playing field so that America can win in manufacturing, in agriculture, in forestry, in farming. These are things we can do better than anyone when we don't have the trade deals and the tax code that rewards all the worst things of sending those much-needed American jobs overseas. And we can do so at the same time by reducing that regulatory pressure on small business.

We worked hard this year to support our small businesses, with the Small Business Lending Fund that is dying in the Senate, with tax credits for small business, too many of which have died in the Senate. Here is a chance today to provide relief to small business, and most importantly, to level that playing field so that we can make it in America again, so that we can have those good jobs that make the middle class and working class in this country thrive, that reward entrepreneurship and innovation, that reward people who work hard and play by the rules. This is an opportunity today that is beyond Democrat and Republican. It's just about common sense and making a difference in the economy.

Washington should have the same sense of urgency I feel back home every weekend when we talk to small business owners. This is a chance for us to come together, to do good things to let America win again. This is important for American business, for American workers, and for American families.

I urge all of my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to be part of the solution.

Mr. CAMP. I yield 2 minutes to a distinguished member of the Ways and Means Committee, the gentlewoman from Florida (Ms. GINNY BROWN-WAITE).

Ms. GINNY BROWN-WAITE of Florida. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Madam Speaker, this bill never went through committee, never was marked up in committee. And you know what, it's awfully good to hear the other side finally admit that they messed up in the health care bill, that it is going to have a tremendous impact on small businesses. You know, you can't raise taxes on small businesses in the health care bill, use that revenue to say ObamaCare will reduce the deficit, and then turn around and remove those same business tax increases and tell small businesses that you are doing them a favor. That's known as a shell game in a carnival. That's shameful. You know what, you are not doing them a favor.

Representative LUNGREN introduced the Small Business Paperwork Mandate Elimination Act to remove that huge burden on entrepreneurs that was found in the health care bill. That language was here yesterday, and it was not allowed to be voted on. Rather, the majority pulled the bill so that we could not have that very meaningful vote. This morning it was turned around and added to language that raises taxes elsewhere. And ironically, it's called the Small Business Tax Relief bill. And Members are going to be forced to vote on that. This is totally unacceptable.

The majority first needs to make up its mind whether or not it really wants to help small businesses. Then I think that the majority needs to be honest about that decision. There is a reason, Madam Speaker, why Members on the opposite side of the aisle are afraid to go home and face election, and it's exactly this kind of chicanery that causes that fear.

Mr. LEVIN. Madam Speaker, could you please give us the time remaining on both sides?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Mr. LEVIN of Michigan has 7 minutes remaining, and Mr. CAMP of Michigan has 3½ minutes.

Mr. LEVIN. I now yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New York (Mr. MURPHY).

Mr. MURPHY of New York. Madam Speaker, this bill is very simple. It does two things. There has been a lot of talk here to confuse people, but it's very simple. One, it provides regulatory reform to our small businesses so they can get busy putting Americans back to work. And two, very important, it closes a tax loophole that encourages businesses to invest overseas. The other side is claiming somehow that's a bad thing. It's exactly what we should do.

I want the tax code to be set up to encourage businesses to invest in America. Because if we do that, we will see more investment in America. We will see American workers back to work. We will see our middle class back to work and feeling their incomes rising, and we will see the greatness that has made this country, the innovation, the forward thinking. It comes from doing our manufacturing, our agriculture, our mining here in the United States. But we've let our tax code incent businesses to go away. So this does two things. One, it helps our small businesses with relief. Two, it turns our tax code in the right direction so that businesses have incentives to be here.

Mr. CAMP. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LEVIN. It is now my pleasure to yield 2 minutes to a very distinguished member of our committee, Mr. XAVIER BECERRA from California.

Mr. BECERRA. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

My friends, when was the last time you picked up a product that you just purchased at a store, turned it over, and took a look at where it was made? When was the last time you saw that product say ''Made in America''? Well, this legislation is all about making sure the next time you buy something in a store in America that product will have been made in America. Because guess what? Not only do we have to face unfair competition by some of our very fierce competitors who are using tactics that are unreasonable to somehow defeat American business and American workers, but we even have things in our tax code that encourage American companies to ship jobs abroad and get paid by the taxpayers through tax credits for doing so.

This legislation is all about getting rid of that unfair competition for America's workers so we can make it in America. That's what this is all about. This is also about making sure that small businesses have a chance to compete without bureaucratic regulation. And so there is bipartisan agreement on removing the burden under 1099 tax return filings that would make it difficult for small businesses to compete. And that's in this bill as well.

What is not in this bill is the process, is the frustration that American workers are feeling. Some people it sounds like in this Chamber would like you to vote ''no'' on a good bill because they are complaining about a process. The only folks in America who have a right to complain about process right now are Americans who are trying to pay their mortgage and keep their jobs. And they are sick and tired of a process where people say ''no'' to good legislation. It is time for us to say ''yes'' to good legislation.

Let us once again make things in America and make them by Americans. Pass H.R. 5982 and make sure that we can tell Americans when they turn over that product that they just bought it was made in America.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. LEVIN. I ask that all Members have leave to enter extraneous material into the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Ms. LORETTA SANCHEZ of California). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Michigan?

There was no objection.

Mr. CAMP. Madam Speaker, I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. ROSKAM), a distinguished member of the Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. ROSKAM. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

If you're Peyton Manning, the football great for the Indianapolis Colts, and you come to the line of scrimmage, you have the right to do an audible call at the line of scrimmage. I mean, Peyton's a champion. Time and time and time again he's come out, he sees the play, he recognizes that the play has to change, he shouts out the play to the team, and they score and they're famous and they're successful.

Unfortunately, Madam Speaker, we don't have any Peyton Manning's on the other side of the aisle who are driving this process. In other words, there is nobody that has the breadth and the depth and the comprehensive understanding—there's, frankly, nobody in this Chamber that has that—to come in and say, You know what? New plan. We're going to do something completely different.

Last night, ironically, the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee was on this very floor in that very seat and said, There are no excuses to vote against this bill. He said that once or twice or three times. I jotted it down. And I reminded him of that during the debate last night, and yet, ironically, within that very short period of time, it's my understanding that the chairman, himself, found that there was a reason to vote against the very bill that moments before he was arguing for.

And why is that? Because the Founders have a process in place that is a process of deliberation. The Founders understood that this process is one that is made better by robust participation.

Now, the majority has known about this 1099 requirement since November of last year, and what have they done? They have stifled the minority. They have said, No, no, no, no. We've got this all figured out. You Republicans, you just continue to press your nose up against the glass and look in and mouth suggestions, but we're really not interested in what you have to say. All right.

Then there's a revelation. The public gets to see this 1099 requirement, and they recognize this is a disaster. We had friends on the other side of the aisle minutes ago recounting about how bad this is going to be for farmers and small businesses. And you know what? They're right.

The 1099 requirement is absurd. The 1099 requirement, I would submit to you, is the result of line of scrimmage audible calls by the majority.

Now, it doesn't have to be this way. Mr. CAMP laid out a very articulate process moments ago about how best to improve this. And this is an underperformance. The chairman said that we shouldn't be surprised by things that are in this bill. And, frankly, I'm not surprised by anything the majority does. I've seen the majority run roughshod over process in the name of a better product, and time and again, it has fallen short.

So here we are basically with an admission that ObamaCare is fundamentally flawed in this sense, a mandate on business. I promise you there will be efforts in the future to revisit other parts of ObamaCare—the individual mandate, the employer mandate, health savings account taxes, and on and on and on, all things that the American public has been speaking out—they're even calling right now, they're so upset about it.

Madam Speaker, the reason Republicans are opposed to this is process, but, fundamentally, bad process yields a bad product. This is a bad product. It creates a Hobson's choice. It says we're going to remove the 1099 requirement and, instead, we're going to jeopardize job producers in exchange. We should vote ''no.''

Mr. LEVIN. First, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from New York (Mr. MURPHY).

Mr. MURPHY of New York. I just wanted to add one thing that didn't come out in the debate yet. There's a lot of talk about this being a bill from our side, and the Republicans seem to disagree that it's going to be helpful for business. The National Federation of Independent Business has endorsed this bill and is asking people to vote in favor of it. I wanted to make sure all the Members knew that.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRIES

Mr. DANIEL E. LUNGREN of California. Madam Speaker, parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his inquiry.

Mr. DANIEL E. LUNGREN of California. Is there any rule, under the House, that requires notice being given to the author of a bill when it is being brought up without any notice whatsoever, since I am the author of the 1099 repeal bill and have had it before this House since April of this year and given no notice? Is there any requirement under the rules that this be notified that this bill is going to come up?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair notes that the motion before the House is a motion to suspend the rules.

Mr. DANIEL E. LUNGREN of California. Further parliamentary inquiry, Madam Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his inquiry.

Mr. DANIEL E. LUNGREN of California. The Speaker has just told us that because this is a bill being brought up under suspension of the rules that all rules are, therefore, suspended. My parliamentary inquiry is under regular rules.

Is there any requirement that the author of a bill be at least given notice that that bill is to be brought up to the floor for consideration before it is considered?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. There is no such rule.

The gentleman from Michigan is recognized.

Mr. LEVIN. Madam Speaker, there's obvious discomfort on the side of the minority. There's a claim about procedure.

What I said before about our notice to motion on the motion to recommit is exactly correct. Now, you say we should act on elimination of 1099? That's exactly what we're doing, exactly what we're doing. Then you say you don't like the pay-fors. You act as if this is a new issue. We have debated these provisions time and time and time and time again, and you know it.

Mr. DANIEL E. LUNGREN of California. Will the gentleman yield on that?

Mr. LEVIN. No. I'm going to finish my statement.

The outsourcing provision has been before us a number of times.

And you keep talking about workers. We talk about having workers in the United States having work. That's what this is all about. And essentially what the provision does in the Tax Code is to help those companies that ship jobs overseas, and what we're saying is that that should be prevented, period. We've been saying it time and time and time again.

We've also discussed another loophole that's here that you don't seem to discuss, and that is for a relatively few very wealthy people taking a loophole in the Code and setting up a gift to others in the family, taking back the money, hoping that there will be an increase and no gift tax paid. That is a grievous loophole that should be closed, and we provide payment for this bill by closing it.

Now, I want to finish about outsourcing.

We have lost so many jobs in this country. If it comes through competition that's fair, so be it. If it comes, however, from companies using a provision that says you get a foreign tax credit on income, you're supposed to bring that income back here and not use the foreign tax credit to avoid taxation.

It's not an issue of double taxation. It is an issue of companies avoiding any taxation.

So essentially everybody who comes to the floor to vote on this has the opportunity to eliminate the 1099 provision and to close loopholes and to stop some of the outsourcing of American jobs. There could not be stronger reasons to vote for a bill.

So I close: Vote for it.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I and Ways and Means Committee Ranking Member CAMP have asked the nonpartisan Joint Committee on Taxation to make available to the public a technical explanation of H.R. 5982, the ''Small Business Tax Relief Act of 2010''. This technical explanation provides information on the Committee's understanding and legislative intent behind the legislation. It is available on the Joint Committee's website at www.jct.gov and is listed under document number JCX–43–10.

Mr. VAN HOLLEN. Madam Speaker, I rise in strong support of the Small Business Tax Relief Act of 2010, and I commend my colleagues Representative SCOTT MURPHY and Representative BILL OWENS for bringing it to the floor today.

Simply put, this bill does two things: It provides information reporting relief to small businesses—and it closes loopholes in current law that encourage U.S. multinationals to invest overseas.

The question members must ask themselves is this: Do we want jobs in America, or do we want a tax code that rewards companies for shipping jobs overseas?

For every small business seeking to expand and create jobs, and for every American looking for work, I urge a yes vote.

Mr. LEVIN. I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. LEVIN) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5982.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. LEVIN. Madam Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX and the Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

OFFSHORE OIL AND GAS WORKER WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION ACT OF 2010

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to House Resolution 1574, I call up the bill (H.R. 5851) to provide whistleblower protections to certain workers in the offshore oil and gas industry, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 5851

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the ''Offshore Oil and Gas Worker Whistleblower Protection Act of 2010''.

SEC. 2. WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTIONS; EMPLOYEE PROTECTION FROM OTHER RETALIATION.

(a) PROHIBITION AGAINST RETALIATION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—No employer may discharge or otherwise discriminate against a covered employee because the covered employee, whether at the covered employee's initiative or in the ordinary course of the covered employee's duties—

(A) provided, caused to be provided, or is about to provide or cause to be provided to the employer or to a Federal or State Government official, information relating to any violation of, or any act or omission the covered employee reasonably believes to be a violation of, any provision of the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (43 U.S.C. 1301 et seq.), or any order, rule, regulation, standard, or prohibition under that Act, or exercised any rights provided to employees under that Act;

(B) testified or is about to testify in a proceeding concerning such violation;

(C) assisted or participated or is about to assist or participate in such a proceeding;

(D) testified or is about to testify before Congress on any matter covered by such Act;

(E) objected to, or refused to participate in any activity, policy, practice, or assigned task that the covered employee reasonably believed to be in violation of any provision of such Act, or any order, rule, regulation, standard, or ban under such Act;

(F) reported to the employer or a State or Federal Government official any of the following related to the employer's activities described in section 3(1): an illness, injury, unsafe condition, or information regarding the adequacy of any oil spill response plan required by law; or

(G) refused to perform the covered employee's duties, or exercised top work authority, related to the employer's activities described in section 3(1) if the covered employee had a good faith belief that performing such duties could result in injury to or impairment of the health of the covered employee or other employees, or cause an oil spill to the environment.

(2) GOOD FAITH BELIEF.—For purposes of paragraph (1)(E), the circumstances causing the covered employee's good faith belief that performing such duties would pose a health and safety hazard shall be of such a nature that a reasonable person under circumstances confronting the covered employee would conclude there is such a hazard.

(b) PROCESS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—A covered employee who believes that he or she has been discharged or otherwise discriminated against (hereafter referred to as the ''complainant'') by any employer in violation of subsection (a)(1) may, not later than 180 days after the date on which such alleged violation occurs or the date on which the covered employee knows or should reasonably have known that such alleged violation occurred, file (or have any person file on his or her behalf) a complaint with the Secretary of Labor (referred to in this section as the ''Secretary'') alleging such discharge or discrimination and identifying employer or employers responsible for such act. Upon receipt of such a complaint, the Secretary shall notify, in writing, the employer or employers named in the complaint of the filing of the complaint, of the allegations contained in the complaint, of the substance of evidence supporting the complaint, and of the opportunities that will be afforded to such person under paragraph (2).

(2) INVESTIGATION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 90 days after the date of receipt of a complaint filed under paragraph (1) the Secretary shall initiate an investigation and determine whether there is reasonable cause to believe that the complaint has merit and notify, in writing, the complainant and the employer or employers alleged to have committed a violation of subsection (a)(1) of the Secretary's findings. The Secretary shall, during such investigation afford the complainant and the employer or employers named in the complaint an opportunity to submit to the Secretary a written response to the complaint and an opportunity to meet with a representative of the Secretary to present statements from witnesses. The complainant shall be provided with an opportunity to review the information and evidence provided by employer or employers to the Secretary, and to review any response or rebuttal by such the complaint, as part of such investigation.

(B) REASONABLE CAUSE FOUND; PRELIMINARY ORDER.—If the Secretary concludes that there is reasonable cause to believe that a violation of subsection (a)(1) has occurred, the Secretary shall accompany the Secretary's findings with a preliminary order providing the relief prescribed by paragraph (3)(B). Not later than 30 days after the date of notification of findings under this paragraph, the employer or employers alleged to have committed the violation or the complainant may file objections to the findings or preliminary order, or both, and request a hearing on the record before an administrative law judge of the Department of Labor. The filing of such objections shall not operate to stay any reinstatement remedy contained in the preliminary order. Any such hearing shall be conducted expeditiously. If a hearing is not requested in such 30-day period, the preliminary order shall be deemed a final order that is not subject to judicial review. The Secretary of Labor is authorized to enforce preliminary reinstatement orders in the United States district court for the district in which the violation was found to occur, or in the United States district court for the District of Columbia.

(C) DISMISSAL OF COMPLAINT.—

(i) STANDARD FOR COMPLAINANT.—The Secretary shall dismiss a complaint filed under this subsection and shall not conduct an investigation otherwise required under subparagraph (A) unless the complainant makes a prima facie showing that any behavior described in subparagraphs (A) through (F) of subsection (a)(1) was a contributing factor in the adverse action alleged in the complaint.

(ii) STANDARD FOR EMPLOYER.—Notwithstanding a finding by the Secretary that the complainant has made the showing required under clause (i), no investigation otherwise required under subparagraph (A) shall be conducted if the employer demonstrates, by clear and convincing evidence, that the employer would have taken the same adverse action in the absence of that behavior.

(iii) VIOLATION STANDARD.—The Secretary may determine that a violation of subsection (a)(1) has occurred only if the complainant demonstrates that any behavior described in subparagraphs (A) through (F) of such subsection was a contributing factor in the adverse action alleged in the complaint.

(iv) RELIEF STANDARD.—Relief may not be ordered under subparagraph (A) if the employer demonstrates by clear and convincing evidence that the employer would have taken the same adverse action in the absence of that behavior.

(3) ORDERS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 90 days after the receipt of a request for a hearing under subsection (b)(2)(B), the administrative law judge shall issue findings of fact and order the relief provided under this paragraph or deny the complaint. At any time before issuance of an order, a proceeding under this subsection may be terminated on the basis of a settlement agreement entered into by the Secretary, the complainant, and the person alleged to have committed the violation. Such a settlement may not be agreed by such parties if it contains conditions which conflict with rights protected under this Act, are contrary to public policy, or include a restriction on a complainant's right to future employment with employers other than the specific employers named in the complaint.

(B) CONTENT OF ORDER.—If, in response to a complaint filed under paragraph (1), the administrative law judge determines that a violation of subsection (a)(1) has occurred, the administrative law judge shall order the employer or employers who committed such violation—

(i) to take affirmative action to abate the violation;

(ii) to reinstate the complainant to his or her former position together with compensation (including back pay and prejudgment interest) and restore the terms, conditions, and privileges associated with his or her employment; and

(iii) to provide compensatory and consequential damages, and, as appropriate, exemplary damages to the complainant.

(C) ATTORNEY FEES.—If such an order is issued under this paragraph, the Secretary, at the request of the complainant, shall assess against the employer or employers a sum equal to the aggregate amount of all costs and expenses (including attorneys' and expert witness fees) reasonably incurred by the complainant for, or in connection with, the bringing of the complaint upon which the order was issued at the conclusion of any stage of the proceeding.

(D) BAD FAITH CLAIM.—If the Secretary finds that a complaint under paragraph (1) is frivolous or has been brought in bad faith, the Secretary may award to the prevailing employer reasonable attorneys' fees, not exceeding $1,000, to be paid by the complainant.

(E) ADMINISTRATIVE APPEAL.—Not later than 30 days after the receipt of findings of fact or an order under subparagraph (B), the employer or employers alleged to have committed the violation or the complainant may file, with objections, an administrative appeal with the Secretary, who may designate such appeal to a review board. In reviewing a decision and order of the administrative law judge, the Secretary shall affirm the decision and order if it is determined that the factual findings set forth therein are supported by substantial evidence and the decision and order are made in accordance with applicable law. The Secretary shall issue a final decision and order affirming, or reversing, in whole or in part, the decision under review within 90 days after receipt of the administrative appeal under this subparagraph. If it is determined that a violation of subsection (a)(1) has occurred, the Secretary shall order relief provided under subparagraphs (B) and (C). Such decision shall constitute a final agency action with respect to the matter appealed.

(4) ACTION IN COURT.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—If the Secretary has not issued a final decision within 300 days after the filing of the complaint, the complainant may bring an action at law or equity for de novo review in the appropriate district court of the United States, which action shall, at the request of either party to such action, be tried by the court with a jury. The proceedings shall be governed by the same legal burdens of proof specified in paragraph (2)(C).

(B) RELIEF.—The court may award all appropriate relief including injunctive relief, compensatory and consequential damages, including—

(i) reinstatement with the same seniority status that the covered employee would have had, but for the discharge or discrimination;

(ii) the amount of back pay sufficient to make the covered employee whole, with prejudgment interest;

(iii) exemplary damages, as appropriate; and

(iv) litigation costs, including reasonable attorney fees and expert witness fees.

(5) REVIEW.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Any person aggrieved by a final order issued under paragraph (3) or a judgment or order under paragraph (4) may obtain review of the order in the appropriate United States Court of Appeals. The petition for review must be filed not later than 60 days after the date of the issuance of the final order of the Secretary. Review shall be accordance with chapter 7 of title 5, United States Code. The commencement of proceedings under this subparagraph shall not, unless ordered by the court, operate as a stay of the order.

(B) NO OTHER JUDICIAL REVIEW.—An order of the Secretary with respect to which review could have been obtained under subparagraph (A) shall not be subject to judicial review in any other proceeding.

(6) FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER.—Whenever any employer has failed to comply with an order issued under paragraph (3), the Secretary may obtain in a civil action in the United States district court for the district in which the violation was found to occur, or in the United States district court for the District of Columbia, all appropriate relief including, but not limited to, injunctive relief and compensatory damages.

(7) CIVIL ACTION TO REQUIRE COMPLIANCE.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Whenever an employer has failed to comply with an order issued under paragraph (3), the complainant on whose behalf the order was issued may obtain in a civil action in an appropriate United States district court against the employer to whom the order was issued, all appropriate relief.

(B) AWARD.—The court, in issuing any final order under this paragraph, may award costs of litigation (including reasonable attorneys' and expert witness fees) to any party whenever the court determines such award is appropriate.

(c) CONSTRUCTION.—

(1) EFFECT ON OTHER LAWS.—Nothing in this section preempts or diminishes any other safeguards against discrimination, demotion, discharge, suspension, threats, harassment, reprimand, retaliation, or any other manner of discrimination provided by Federal or State law.

(2) RIGHTS OF EMPLOYEES.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to diminish the rights, privileges, or remedies of any employee under any Federal or State law or under any collective bargaining agreement. The rights and remedies in this section may not be waived by any agreement, policy, form, or condition of employment.

(d) ENFORCEMENT OF NONDISCRETIONARY DUTIES.—Any nondiscretionary duty imposed by this section shall be enforceable in a mandamus proceeding brought under section 1361 of title 28, United States Code.

(e) POSTING OF NOTICE AND TRAINING.—All employers shall post a notice which has been approved as to form and content by the Secretary of Labor in a conspicuous location in the place of employment where covered employees frequent which explains employee rights and remedies under this section. Each employer shall provide training to covered employees of their rights under this section within 30 days of employment, and at not less than once every 12 months thereafter, and provide covered employees with a card which contains a toll free telephone number at the Department of Labor which covered employees can call to get information or file a complaint under this section.

(f) DESIGNATION BY THE SECRETARY.—The Secretary of Labor shall, within 30 days of the date of enactment of this Act, designate by order the appropriate agency officials to receive, investigate, and adjudicate complaints of violations of subsection (a)(1).

SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

As used in this Act the following definitions apply:

(1) The term ''covered employee''—

(A) means an individual performing services on behalf of an employer that is engaged in activities on or in waters above the Outer Continental Shelf related to—

(i) supporting, or carrying out exploration, development, production, processing, or transportation of oil or gas; or

(ii) oil spill cleanup, emergency response, environmental surveillance, protection, or restoration, or other oil spill activities related to occupational safety and health; and

(B) includes an applicant for such employment.

(2) The term ''employer'' means one or more individuals, partnerships, associations, corporations, trusts, unincorporated organizations, nongovernmental organizations, or trustees, and includes any agent, contractor, subcontractor, grantee or consultant of such employer.

(3) The term ''Outer Continental Shelf'' has the meaning that the term ''outer Continental Shelf'' has in the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (43 U.S.C. 1331 et seq.).

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 1574, the amendment printed in part C of House Report 111–582 is adopted, and the bill, as amended, is considered read.

The gentleman from California (Mr. GEORGE MILLER) and the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. KLINE) each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and submit extraneous material for the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, the legislation before the House today closes a loophole in current law regarding the rights of workers to blow the whistle over unsafe conditions on offshore oil rigs.

As the Obama administration told Congress, individuals working on the Outer Continental Shelf, like on the Deepwater Horizon, shockingly have zero whistleblower protections. This is unconscionable. There is no good policy reason for treating onshore and offshore workers differently. This is because the whistleblower may be the only thing that's standing between a safe workplace and a catastrophe.

H.R. 5851, the Offshore Oil and Gas Worker Whistleblower Protection Act, will fix this glaring omission. Whether it is refineries, underground coal mines, or oil drilling rigs, our enforcement agencies cannot be at all workplaces at all times. That's why it's up to workers to be the eyes and the ears when these agencies can't.

While the precise cause of the British Petroleum Deepwater Horizon tragedy is still under investigation, two things are clear from the media reports and from the congressional hearings. First, workers on the rig had safety concerns prior to the tragedy. And second, workers believed that they would lose their job if they raised these safety concerns with management.

Not long before the Deepwater Horizon explosion, rig worker Jason Anderson told his wife that working conditions on the rig were not safe. He talked to her about getting his will and getting his affairs in order. But he wouldn't talk about his safety concerns when he was on the rig. He once told his wife he couldn't talk about the safety concerns because ''the walls are too thin.'' Jason did not survive the explosion. He perished, along with 10 others. He left behind a wife and two young children.

No worker should ever have to choose between his or her life and their livelihood, but that's a decision these workers face. As Deepwater Horizon worker Daniel Barron said, safety is only convenient for employers when they needed it. There was a lot of rhetoric that everybody had the right to call a timeout for safety, but when push comes to shove, if you called that timeout, Daniel Barron said, you're going to get fired.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is narrowly tailored and will protect offshore workers who call for a timeout for safety. It simply extends the whistleblower protections to workers engaged in oil and gas exploration, drilling, production, and oil spill cleanup on the Outer Continental Shelf. It mirrors other recently enacted whistleblower laws contained in the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act and the Federal Railroad Safety Act.

Specifically, H.R. 5851 will prohibit discrimination against employees who report violations of the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act. It protects workers who report injuries or unsafe conditions to an employer or the government, and protects workers who refuse to perform on the assigned task when there is a reasonable belief of injury or spill. The bill will also require employers to post notice and provide training that explains these rights.

Finally, like other modern whistleblowing statutes, the bill provides for a fair process for resolving whistleblower complaints at the Department of Labor or through the courts if necessary. The Education and Labor Committee recently approved strong mine safety and OSHA reform bills that include nearly identical whistleblower protections.

I want to thank my colleague, Congressman MARKEY, and his staff for their work on this legislation, and Mr. CONYERS and the Judiciary Committee for their constructive advice and suggestions.

I again want to thank Mr. MARKEY. He offered very similar whistleblower language in the Energy and Commerce Committee, and they reported that language out as part of a larger oil spill response bill 48–0.

□ 1230

I urge my colleagues to support the closing of this dangerous loophole and provide the protections for these workers. Workers in the oil and gas industry deserve a voice on safety issues regardless of whether or not they work onshore or offshore.

COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY,
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, July 29, 2010.

Hon. GEORGE MILLER,
Chairman, Committee on Education and Labor, U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN MILLER: This is to advise you that, as a result of your having consulted with us on provisions in H.R. 5851, the Offshore Oil and Gas Worker Whistleblower Protection Act of 2010, that fall within the rule X jurisdiction of the Committee on the Judiciary, we are able to agree to waive seeking a formal referral of the bill, in order that it may proceed without delay to the House floor for consideration.

The Judiciary Committee takes this action with our mutual understanding that by foregoing consideration of H.R. 5851 at this time, we do not waive any jurisdiction over subject matter contained in this or similar legislation, and that our Committee will be appropriately consulted and involved as the bill or similar legislation moves forward, so that we may address any remaining issues in our jurisdiction. Our Committee also reserves the right to seek appointment of an appropriate number of conferees to any House-Senate conference involving this or similar legislation, and requests your support for any such request.

I would appreciate your including this letter in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD during consideration of the bill on the House floor. Thank you for your attention to this request, and for the cooperative relationship between our two committees.

Sincerely,

JOHN CONYERS, Jr.
Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION & LABOR,
U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, July 29, 2010.

Hon. JOHN CONYERS,
Chairman, Committee on the Judiciary, U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN CONYERS: I am writing in response to your letter of July 29, 2010, concerning the Committee on the Judiciary's jurisdictional interest in H.R. 5851, the Offshore Oil and Gas Worker Whistleblower Protection Act of 2010.

Acknowledging your jurisdictional interest in matters being considered in H.R. 5851, we have consulted with your Committee on several provisions and appreciate the contributions you have made in crafting the legislation. Thank you for your willingness to allow the bill to proceed to the floor expeditiously by waiving any referral.

We will continue to appropriately consult and involve your Committee as the bill moves forward and will support your request to have Judiciary conferees appointed during any House-Senate conference. I will submit a copy of your July 29, 2010, letter and this response to the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD during floor consideration.

Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

Sincerely,

GEORGE MILLER,
Chairman.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. KLINE of Minnesota. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, whistleblower protections are a longstanding part of our Federal safety and health laws. Simply put, they protect workers' ability to speak freely about dangers in the workplace. They allow working men and women to protect themselves and their coworkers. The ultimate goals of our worker safety laws should be that no worker ever needs to blow the whistle. We need a culture of safety in our workplaces, a system in which employers have the information and resources they need to comply with the law and avoid unnecessary risks to workers' health and safety.

But in those rare instances where employers are not following the law and workers' safety is at risk, we offer protections to those individuals who speak up. These protections are widely available to workers and enforced by the Whistleblower Protection Program at the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

However, we recently became aware that a gap may exist in those protections. Safety on offshore oil rigs is overseen by the Coast Guard and the Bureau of Ocean Energy Management, unlike most workplaces where safety is overseen by OSHA. As a result, it is not clear whether these workers are covered by the OSH Act's whistleblower protections or any of the 17 other statutes enforced by OSHA's Whistleblower Protection Program. Some might argue oil rig workers are covered by the Maritime Transportation and Security Act, while others point to a 1983 agreement in which OSHA retained whistleblower authority for these workers.

In the few days since this legislation was introduced, we have found confusion and conflicting information. This confusion was illustrated in recent news accounts detailing the experiences of workers on the Deepwater Horizon who were concerned about safety practices on the rig but were afraid to voice those concerns. If workers themselves believe they can be fired or otherwise retaliated against for identifying safety concerns, we must create or restate those protections. It is as simple as that. Yet the bill before us is not so simple.

H.R. 5851 creates a brand-new whistleblower framework for any individual directly or indirectly involved with a company that drills on the Outer Continental Shelf. We all agree on the need to clarify protections for workers on the rigs, but what about other workers, those who are already covered by other law?

H.R. 5851 adds a new layer of legal processes, deadlines, and remedies for workers who are already covered. It creates legal confusion, particularly for those workers who would now be covered by parallel and possibly conflicting statutes.

I'm also troubled by the differences between these new whistleblower protections and those existing under current law. This bill seems to prioritize resolution by the Federal courts, adding costs and delaying results for workers who simply want to remain on the job.

These are the types of questions normally addressed through hearings and committee votes. Members weigh the opinions of Federal regulatory officials, legal experts, industry personnel, and workers themselves. We evaluate which agency would be best suited to enforce protections and remedies under the law, and we prevent duplication and confusion by clearly defining which workers are covered.

Unfortunately, we did not use that process for H.R. 5851. It was never given a committee hearing. It was never given a committee vote. Last month, the committee held a hearing to examine broad jurisdictional questions about which Federal agency is ultimately responsible for worker safety on offshore oil rigs. We heard from the Coast Guard, the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health, OSHA, and the Bureau of Ocean Energy Management. Those agencies told us they did not know which Federal whistleblower laws, if any, applied to workers on oil rigs on the Outer Continental Shelf. There was confusion.

Since that time, the committee has heard no further testimony, received no further information, and considered no legislation. Yet, on Monday of this week, the majority introduced H.R. 5851 and promptly announced Members of the full House would be asked to cast a vote on whether these are the best protections for workers on oil rigs. And, as has become all too common, we are here under a closed rule with no amendments being considered.

Mr. Speaker, this is a serious issue and it deserves a serious process, one it has not been given.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. I yield 4 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WOOLSEY), the subcommittee chair on the Education and Labor Committee.

Ms. WOOLSEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 5851, the Offshore Oil and Gas Worker Whistleblower Protection Act of 2010.

Chairman MILLER, I want to thank you and commend you for the commitment to the health and safety of American workers. And Ranking Member KLINE, thank you very much for outlining exactly the confusion that we are faced with regarding employee safety, particularly on our oil rigs.

Now, following the Gulf of Mexico disaster, it is clearer than ever that providing strong protections to offshore oil and gas workers would be a positive step in encouraging workers to speak out about work safety and health issues at the worksite. Obviously, inspectors cannot be at all workplaces at all times, and so the system relies on willingness of employees to come forward, because these employees, these workers, know their worksite better than anyone else. Yet too many workers fear doing so because they fear repercussions. They don't fear imagined repercussions; they fear real ones.

We heard this from the families of the 29 miners who were killed at the Upper Big Branch Mine in West Virginia and from the families of those miners who died at the Crandall Canyon, Darby, Sago, and Aracoma mines. We've heard this in the wake of other workplace disasters as well.

And now we have discovered that before the BP disaster in the gulf which took the lives of 11 workers, workers did not come forward about safety hazards because they were afraid they would lose their jobs. Sadly, their fears were well-founded. Those brave souls who blow the whistle often do lose their jobs and suffer other indignities such as harassment, intimidation, and blacklisting. In this situation of the BP disaster, they lost their lives.

In May of 2007, my Subcommittee on Workforce Protections held a hearing on the adequacy of whistleblower protections. The now famous whistleblower Jeffrey Wigand, who ''blew the whistle'' on Big Tobacco, testified at that hearing. He was not protected by any antiretaliation law when he lost his job. He was not protected when he was threatened, harassed, and intimidated for his actions.

Like Mr. Wigand, offshore gas and oil workers have no whistleblower protections. This is absolutely unacceptable, and we know it.

In crafting H.R. 5851, we ensure workers are actually encouraged to come forward to report unsafe conditions by providing a meaningful process to adjudicate complaints that also comports with due process, and by providing sufficient remedies to whistleblowers, including temporary reinstatement, backpay, and other damages.

H.R. 5851's provisions are similar to the whistleblower provisions in the Protecting America's Workers Act, which brings the Occupational Safety and Health Act into the 21st century. H.R. 5851 also emulates other modern whistleblower statutes, such as the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act.

I'm proud to be an original cosponsor of the Offshore Oil and Gas Worker Whistleblower Protection Act, and I urge my colleagues to vote to protect all vulnerable workers.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to not traffic the well when other Members are under recognition.

Mr. KLINE of Minnesota. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield such time as he may consume to the ranking member on the Health Subcommittee, the gentleman from Georgia, Dr. PRICE.

Mr. PRICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend, Colonel Kline, for the wonderful leadership that he has provided on our committee and the focus that he's given to this issue.

Mr. Speaker, never let a crisis go to waste. It's the defining principle of how this administration and how this Congress govern.

□ 1240

We're facing a devastating crisis right now, an oil spill which has ravaged the Gulf of Mexico both economically and environmentally. Out of this crisis there have been reports raising the issue of worker safety on oil rigs. Now, such reports raise very serious questions, which should be dealt with in a very serious manner, matters that require probing and oversight by Congress so that workers are adequately protected and free to report safety concerns.

However, what we've gotten from this majority is an unserious response, a political response more interested in taking advantage of the latest crisis. Remember, never let a crisis go to waste.

The bill before us today was introduced just this week. There's been no hearing on it, no committee consideration, no input from members of the committee, certainly on our side. Another rush to the floor, don't read the bill, don't read the bill, don't worry about it. Remember, never let a crisis go to waste.

And so what's the result? Confusion. With little time to review, we don't know what if any existing Federal whistleblower laws already apply to workers on offshore oil rigs and other employees in these companies. We don't know which agency is best equipped to enforce these new whistleblower protections. These are things that would normally, Mr. Speaker, in the course of activity come out during a committee hearing, during a normal open committee process. But no committee hearing, no committee hearing here. Remember, never let a crisis go to waste.

With this Congress, all the serious policy issues are secondary to the politics. Instead, what we get is a bill that establishes a whole new bureaucracy, a whole new whistleblower framework for a specific class of workers. It's an expansive set of protections that applies to health and safety and environmental and any other standards under the OCS Land Act; and yet it's untested, without an explicit description of which agency would even enforce the program.

Digging into the language a little deeper, it appears to favor resolution of complaints in Federal court, adding costs and inviting litigation. Remember, never let a crisis go to waste.

The Department of Labor only had 300 days to issue a final decision on a complaint or it gets kicked to the U.S. district court. Perhaps this wouldn't be a problem but there's an incentive to stretch out cases. Why, Mr. Speaker? Because bad-faith claims are not deterred. Employers can only recoup $1,000 total in attorneys' fees, which for some law firms—I know this won't come as any surprise to the Speaker—for some law firms less than a day's work; and even if the Department of Labor decides on a complaint before that deadline and defines it to be nonmeritorious, the case could still move on to court, creating a Federal right to sue. Remember, never let a crisis go to waste.

Now, later, Mr. Speaker, Republicans are going to offer a motion to recommit which is a better solution. Our positive solution gets to the heart of the issue, ensuring that workers are adequately protected and free to report safety concerns. It's not simply taking advantage of the latest crisis or rewarding plaintiff's trial lawyers for their support of the Democrat Party.

So, Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support the positive appropriate solution, the Republican motion to recommit, and defeat the partisan bill now before us.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. I yield 6 minutes to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MARKEY), a coauthor of this legislation and the author of the whistleblower protection provisions of the Energy and Commerce bill.

Mr. MARKEY of Massachusetts. I thank the gentleman, and I thank GEORGE MILLER for his decades of work in ensuring that whistleblower protections are built into the laws of our country in order to ensure that workers are not living in terror, that they stand up for safety.

During the last 3 months, Congress has conducted a vigorous investigation into the causes and response of the BP Deepwater Horizon disaster. What we've found was that BP was woefully unprepared for this kind of a spill. From the beginning, BP has been making it up as they go along. BP said the rig could not sink. It did. They said they could handle an Exxon Valdez size spill every day. They couldn't.

Early on in the disaster, BP was talking about using a junk shot where they shoot golf balls into the well. Well, when we heard that they were bringing in the best minds and that they were working on this problem, we thought they meant MIT, not the PGA.

BP also talked in the first 3 weeks about deploying nylons and hair to soak up the oil. The American people expected a response on the par with the Apollo Project, not ''Project Runway.''

And from the start, BP has been more interested in protecting its own liability than preserving the livability of the Gulf of Mexico. BP started by saying this spill was 1,000 barrels a day. It wasn't. They knew it. They said it was 5,000 barrels per day; they knew that it was not. And by now, we know it was much, much larger, upwards of 60,000 barrels a day.

Our investigation uncovered that no major oil company would have been able to respond to this type of spill any better than BP. In fact, the Gulf of Mexico oil spill response plans from Exxon Mobil, Chevron, ConocoPhillips and Shell were 90 percent identical to BP's. They were such dead ringers for each other that they listed the phone number for the same long-deceased expert as the person to call. The response plans also included plans to evacuate walruses from the Gulf of Mexico, even though walruses haven't called the Gulf of Mexico home for 3 million years. It seems that the only spill response technology that the oil industry had invested in is a Xerox machine. No oil company took this responsibility seriously.

The legislation that we will vote on today will ensure that there will be accountability, stronger regulations, and a requirement that before oil companies drill ultra-deep that they have the technology necessary to make it ultra-safe and can respond to a spill ultra-fast.

We need whistleblowers to make sure that we never again see what has happened in the Gulf of Mexico, and that is the important piece of legislation that we are debating right now: whistleblower protection. In this legislation, we are putting into place state-of-the-art protections for oil and gas workers who are retaliated against because they report safety concerns or they report a failure on the part of their employer to have a good blowout response plan.

We know from our investigation both into this disaster and another BP rig operating in the gulf, the Atlantis rig, that BP has cut corners on safety, even if it meant risking workers' lives and environmental calamity. For example, an employee working on the BP Atlantis rig warned in 2009 that BP was failing to meet its requirement to maintain accurate engineering drawings aboard the rig which would enable an effective response to an accident. The whistleblower was fired after making his disclosure. BP continues to deny this problem on the Atlantis rig exists, even though former Federal district court judge Stanley Sporkin who was hired by BP to serve as an independent ombudsman has confirmed that the whistleblower's allegations are true.

And on the BP Deepwater Horizon, workers were also fearful of the extent of the problems aboard the Deepwater Horizon. Jason Anderson told his wife that he couldn't discuss his concerns because, quote, the walls are too thin. Mr. Anderson died in the April explosion.

This bill will ensure that all workers who report safety or blowout response plan concerns who are then fired, demoted or otherwise retaliated against by their employers will be protected. These workers will be entitled to due process at the Department of Labor; and if the Department of Labor fails to act, they will be entitled to a jury trial. They will also be entitled to receive appropriate damages to ensure that they are made whole.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. I yield the gentleman 2 additional minutes.

Mr. MARKEY of Massachusetts. I thank the gentleman.

In the wake of the Deepwater Horizon catastrophe, we have heard that the workers aboard the rig had safety concerns. But in the end, they were powerless to stop the cascading string of bad decisions by BP that led to the disaster. They clearly feared for the loss of their jobs and of their livelihoods.

Our legislation will protect these brave Paul Reveres in the oil industry who sound alarms in the future. I thank Chairman MILLER for his historic work on this legislation. I thank all of the Members who are focusing on this issue, so that people who stand up to protect the safety of workers do not have to lose their jobs.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. MARKEY of Massachusetts. I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. I know how hard you worked to try to get the accurate figures of what the blowout meant in terms of volume of oil going into the gulf.

I just wonder, if we had had whistleblower protections and one of the employees at BP who knew what the real volume was as opposed to what the executives were telling the American people and the rest of the world, we might have had information sooner which would have allowed us to respond in a different fashion than we did when we had bad information because of the concealment of the accuracy of which we found when you finally got the cameras turned on.

Mr. MARKEY of Massachusetts. The gentleman put his finger right on it. There would be a completely different response if the spill were not 1,000 barrels or 5,000 barrels per day but, rather, 30,000 to 60,000 barrels per day. It delayed the response. Much more harm has been done to the people in the Gulf of Mexico. There was a greater delay in bringing in all of the skimmers, all of the new technologies to be able to deal with this spill. If a whistleblower knew that it was not 1,000, knew that it was not 5,000, they should not have to fear that they would lose their job if they wanted to protect the oceans of America and the workers in the Gulf of Mexico rather than being afraid that they would lose their own job and their own family's livelihood. That is why this legislation is so important.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. KLINE of Minnesota. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. ENGEL).

Mr. ENGEL. I thank the chairman for yielding to me, and I rise in strong support of H.R. 5851.

A couple of speakers before me, the gentleman from Georgia on the other side of the aisle kept repeating the mantra of ''never let a crisis go to waste,'' and he was deriding this side because apparently he thinks that we should always forget a crisis and we should not take into account what we've learned because of the crisis.

You know, it is because of this crisis that we really need to redouble our efforts to protect people who live all around the Gulf of Mexico, to protect the workers, to protect the public from companies that really couldn't care less about them; and this Whistleblower Protection Act is going to do exactly that.

Now I'm on the Energy and Commerce Committee. I sat through every hearing that we had with oil officials and with the BP officials. And I'll tell you the truth; it was insulting the way Mr. Hayward came and wouldn't tell us anything because he was obviously told by his lawyers not to tell us, and the arrogance dripping from his mouth where he just seemed to not care at all about the havoc that BP had put forward in the gulf and even with the people who were killed.

So today we are passing this Whistleblower Protection Act which will protect, as the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MARKEY) said, people who come forward and say, ''Hey, you know what? What's going on isn't right, and it needs to stop, and I don't want my job to be in jeopardy because I'm telling the truth.''

We're also going to vote on the CLEAR Act as well. And I want to remind my colleagues that we desperately also need comprehensive clean energy and climate legislation after this. The BP explosion in the gulf has been disastrous. It has led to 11 deaths, devastated the gulf economy, and just polluted the environment.

We heard testimony in the Energy and Commerce Committee from Tony Hayward. We asked him serious questions, and he refused to answer our questions. BP has not been truthful at all about what has been happening in the gulf from the very beginning. They've used and abused the system, and we cannot allow that. We have to work to ensure that oil companies like BP are not permitted to treat the environment as their own private playground, or put at risk the livelihoods of thousands upon thousands of hardworking Americans.

I want to be perfectly clear here—this is BP's spill and BP should pay for it. There should be no taxpayer money spent on cleanup. But BP had the gall to announce this week that they're looking to cut their losses at the expense of the American people by claiming tax benefits for costs associated with this oil spill. That is shameful, and that's wrong, and it ought to be stopped.

That is why today I am introducing the Denial of Tax Benefits to Offending Oil Polluters Act of 2010. This legislation would prohibit oil polluters from receiving tax benefits for costs associated with an oil spill.

I look forward to passing this legislation today, H.R. 5851, and debating my bill in the future to be sure that we hold bad actors like BP accountable for their irresponsible decisions and their devastating actions.

I thank the chairman for his strong leadership in this regard.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. KLINE of Minnesota. I continue to reserve.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE).

Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas. I thank the distinguished chairman and I thank you for your constant forward thinking on the workers of America.

Coming from the gulf region, I don't know if any of you have ever seen an oil rig, particularly one as large as Deepwater Horizon. It is the home of the workers. It is their home away from home. They eat there, they sleep there, they work very hard there, and they recreate there. They're there 24 hours a day. Some may be a cook. Someone may be a sophisticated engineer. Some may be a seaman and that is their profession. But they're working there; and, therefore, they are looking to ensure that their home away from home is safe.

As I've listened to administration officials who are now all about the gulf, I can tell you that the workers who love their industry and love their jobs are excited about the call for transparency and protection and increased safety for this industry. They're excited about what is going on as it relates to those who would engage in telling the truth. If you look at the facts in some of the hearings that we've been in, you will know that there have been a lot of conversations with subordinates trying to talk to supervisors. Something was awry, but no one listened. We may have even heard that some companies left the rig early on because they were disturbed. Or as my colleague mentioned, the young man by the name of Jason who even told his wife, ''Prepare my will.'' And so it is important today that we stand up for the workers.

This is a concise, articulate, whistleblower language and legislation, prohibiting an employer from discharging or otherwise discriminating against anyone who talks to State or Federal officials or anyone else; telling the truth, saving lives. As well, it protects them if they prepare or testify in front of any governmental entity talking about unsafe conditions. Imagine how many lives that could save in any other industry as well.

The bill establishes a process for an employee to appeal, giving them the justice of the Constitution that does not deny you benefits without due process. Is that a problem? They live there. This is their home. It makes an aggrieved employee eligible for reinstatement and back pay. Some of these jobs are the only jobs these men or women can secure to protect and provide for their family. We live in the gulf. We're shrimpers and fishermen and oystermen; and yes, we work in this industry. It requires employers to post a notice that explains employee rights and remedies under the act.

I look forward to working with the chairman as we look at other ways of helping these employees who are under stress, providing mental health services and counseling after this terrible devastation. It may have to continue even after BP finishes their work. But this is the right direction to go. This speaks well of this Congress who will stand alongside of workers and make a difference in their lives and the lives of their families.

I ask you to vote for this legislation.

Today, I rise in support of H.R. 5851—the Offshore Oil and Gas Worker Whistleblower Protection Act. We are all well aware of the disaster that occurred when the Deepwater Horizon rig exploded, but it might have been prevented if we had listened to voices expressing concern. The men and woman who bravely come out and expose the injustices and violations that take place at their place of work are the eyes and ears for the American public. These people should be able to speak out freely with no fear of unfair repercussion.

In the aftermath of the disaster, it became clear that workers on the Deepwater Horizon rig harbored safety concerns prior to the explosion, but chose not to vocalize them over fear of retribution. Take, for example, Jason Anderson, who told both his wife and father that working conditions were not safe on the Deepwater Horizon. According to his wife Shelley's testimony before the Senate's Commerce, Science and Transportation committee, Jason was reluctant to talk about these concerns while on the rig and told her: ''I can't talk about it now. The walls are too thin.'' Another worker, Dewey Revette, reportedly had concerns with BPs plans to begin shutting down the well on the day it exploded. He continued to work despite his reluctance and lost his life hours later.

Workers on oil rigs, like the Deepwater Horizon, risk losing their jobs if they report dangerous workplace conditions. The workers performing clean-up activities on the Outer Continental Shelf similarly have no protections against employer retaliation for raising health and safety concerns. It is essential that workers be protected when they raise concerns about unsafe working conditions, and they must have the right to stop working if they fear they could be injured or killed. All workers, especially those in dangerous jobs, are in the best position to discover safety hazards. You can't have inspectors at all facilities at all times—these workers are enforcement agencies' eyes and ears when it comes to safety compliance.

Currently, there is no Federal law that protects offshore workers for blowing the whistle on workplace health and safety problems. This bill extends whistleblower protections to workers regarding Outer Continental Shelf oil and gas exploration, drilling, production, or cleanup, whose employers are engaged in those activities.

Federal whistleblowers have attempted to expose government actions that violate the law or harm the environment for decades. Their disclosures have helped the Federal Government improve environmental protection, nuclear safety, and national security, and their claims have helped safeguard the welfare of American citizens. Whistleblowers have gained credibility in recent years thanks in great part to organizations like the National Whistleblower Center (NWC), the Liberty Coalition, and the Government Accountability Project. The NWC is a non-profit, tax exempt educational and advocacy organization dedicated to helping whistleblowers make their case to lawmakers and other government leaders—a modern day safe haven for those who are willing to put their careers on the line to improve their government.

The bill is modeled after other modern whistleblower statutes and would prohibit an employer from discharging or otherwise discriminating against an employee who reports to the employer, or a Federal or State Government official that he or she reasonably believes the employer is violating the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (OCSLA). The legislation would also protect covered employees who prepare and/or testify about the alleged violation, report injuries or unsafe conditions related to the offshore work, refuse to work based on a good faith belief that the offshore work could cause injury or impairment or a spill, or refuse to perform in a manner that they believe violates the OCSLA.

Mr. Speaker, it is essential to protect workers with the courage to speak out when they see life-threatening safety-hazards or shortcuts. If we do not, we risk dire consequences. Whistleblowers are often forced to choose between remaining silent about a dangerous or illegal situation and risking their careers by telling the truth. We must reverse this unacceptable and unsustainable choice by passing this legislation.

Mr. KLINE of Minnesota. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the best way to keep our workers and our workplaces safe is through compliance. We write workplace safety laws for a reason, and we expect employers to follow those laws. This is true for factories and family-run businesses, and it is true for offshore oil rigs.

We never want to see a workplace where laws are not followed and worker safety and health is put at risk. But if that happens, workers must be able to report those risks without fear of being discriminated against or losing their job. This is where whistleblower protections come.

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration enforces 18 separate Federal whistleblower statutes for workers who report violations of worker safety, airline, commercial motor carrier, consumer product, environmental, health care reform, nuclear energy, pipeline, public transportation agency, railroad and securities laws.

Yet somehow, in this maze of whistleblower protections, it seems that workers on offshore oil rigs may not be fully protected. When we asked the agencies responsible for overseeing rigs on the Outer Continental Shelf, they told us they did not know which statute might apply. This is unacceptable.

I fully support the effort to ensure workers on offshore oil rigs have access to whistleblower protections. But I have concerns and questions about how H.R. 5851 approaches this goal, and I have serious objections to the manner in which this legislation was brought floor.

There has been no hearing, no mark-up, no committee report. There has, quite simply, been no legislative process, and it's no way to treat the oil rig workers we are supposed to be protecting.

I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I hope that all of our colleagues on both sides of the aisle will support this Whistleblower Protection Act.

I hope that they understand that many, many thousands, millions of American workers work in work sites where every day they pose an inherent danger to those workers. The question of whether or not those workers will be safe or not very often is decided by the employer, who decides how they will structure the work site, what the work rules will be, and how the work and the process will proceed.

But very often those employers sometimes shortchange safety. They choose to pick production over the safety of their workers. They choose to pick cost cutting over safety of their workers.

They choose to pick hurrying up the job over the safety of their workers. They choose to pick getting certain parts of the job done and get them offsite over the safety of their workers.

In today's economy, and in every economy, for many of these workers, it's a terrible choice to think about if I raise my hand on behalf of safety, will I lose my job? If I raise a question about the process that we are about to engage in here and how dangerous it is, will I lose my job?

I represent a district where people work in these industries, in the chemical industry and the refining industry. You know what? We lose workers in those jobs all too often, and all too often we find out the mistakes that were made and we wonder. And even those workers, who are covered by whistleblower protection, know the trade-off.

Because, don't forget, all whistleblower protection does is give you a right to try to proceed to get your job back. Many times that's delayed and workers go months and months without pay because they had the courage to invoke their rights.

This Whistleblower Protection Act is consistent with the other Federal protections for workers throughout this country, but these workers today on the Outer Continental Shelf have no protection at all with respect to their personal safety, and we are simply filling that gap and making sure that they will have that right.

Now, many companies—and I have talked to the CEOs of some of these companies—say, you know, we give you the right at any time to pull the switch, to shut down the job, to stop it, if you think it's unsafe. One company gives out a card. You get a card and you put the card down. It's sort of like in the World Cup—you get a time-out.

Do you know what the supervisors tell the employees that card is? A get-fired card. Play that card, get fired. So the company says play this card any time you want, but the supervisors make it clear what the pressure is.

That's why we need this whistleblower protection for the workers on the Outer Continental Shelf. I have to believe, given the concerns that are documented in the hearings of this Congress, that had these workers had that kind of protection, there would have been a far greater chance that they would have said, wait a minute, because they had concerns about the procedure as they started to withdraw from this drill site. They had concerns about the condition of the rig. They had concerns about the overriding of safety alarms. Yet we saw the explosion and the tragedy and the loss of life of these workers.

Let's do something in their memory that will protect their colleagues on the Outer Continental Shelf. Let's pass this bill with large bipartisan support.

In the name of these workers, these workers who fell into a gap in the protection laws of this Nation, let's fill that gap. Let's provide them the protection, and let's make their death not be in vain with respect to their coworkers.

I ask for support of this legislation.

I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. JACKSON of Illinois). All time for debate has expired.

Pursuant to House Resolution 1574, the previous question is ordered on the bill, as amended.

The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and was read the third time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 1(c) of rule XIX, further consideration of H.R. 5851 is postponed.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 3534.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from West Virginia?

There was no objection.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I raise a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I raise a point of order against consideration of H.R. 3534 because it does not comply with clause 9(a) of rule XXI, because the committee report to accompany the measure does not contain a statement that this bill contains no congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits.

I would point the Speaker to page 125 of the accompanying report. The report contains a statement that H.R. 3435 does not contain any congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits. That is not the proposition that we are considering today. Today we are considering H.R. 3534, the Consolidated Land, Energy, and Aquatic Resources Act of 2009. However, the proposition identified in the committee report is H.R. 3435, a bill making supplemental appropriations for fiscal year 2009 for the Consumer Assistance to Recycle and Save program. As it happens, that measure was signed into law on August 7, 2009, and is Public Law 111–47. So it cannot be the proposition that we are considering today.

Clause 9(a) of rule XXI prohibits the consideration of ''a bill or joint resolution reported by a committee unless the report includes a statement that the proposition contains no congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits.'' The rule specifies ''the'' proposition, not ''a'' proposition. Thus the statement in the committee report fails to meet the test because it describes a proposition rather than the one which is the subject of the report.

Normally, clause 9(d) would preclude the Chair from even entertaining this point of order. However, it also specifies ''the'' proposition and not ''a'' proposition and thus is inapplicable in this case.

I would also note that the rule providing for consideration of H.R. 3534 specifically exempts clause 9 of rule

XXI from the waiver of all points of order against consideration of the bill; so the bill is exposed to this point of order.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, I insist on my point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from West Virginia seek to argue the point of order?

Mr. RAHALL. No, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is prepared to rule.

The gentleman from Washington makes a point of order that the bill violates clause 9(a) of rule XXI. Under clause 9(a) of rule XXI it is not in order to consider a bill or a joint resolution unless the committee report on the measure includes a list of congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits contained in the measure, or a statement that the measure contains no such earmarks or benefits.

The Chair has examined the relevant committee report, House Report 111–575, and finds that it contains on page 125 a statement with regard to another measure, H.R. 3435, but not a statement with regard to this bill, H.R. 3534.

Accordingly, the point of order is sustained. Consideration of the bill is not in order.

PERMISSION TO REDUCE TIME FOR ELECTRONIC VOTING DURING PROCEEDINGS TODAY

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that during proceedings today in the House and in the Committee of the Whole, the Chair be authorized to reduce to 2 minutes the minimum time for electronic voting on any question that otherwise could be subjected to 5-minute voting under clause 8 or 9 of Rule XX or under clause 6 of rule XVIII.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from West Virginia?

There was no objection.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. OBEY). A supplemental report on H.R. 3534 has just been filed pursuant to the authority granted by clause 3(a)(2) of rule XIII. This supplemental report contains a statement regarding congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits with regard to H.R. 3534 that now satisfies clause 9 of rule XXI.

CONSOLIDATED LAND, ENERGY, AND AQUATIC RESOURCES ACT OF 2010

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 1574 and rule XVIII, the Chair declares the House in the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for the consideration of the bill, H.R. 3534.

IN THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Accordingly, the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for the consideration of the bill (H.R. 3534) to provide greater efficiencies, transparency, returns, and accountability in the administration of Federal mineral and energy resources by consolidating administration of various Federal energy minerals management and leasing programs into one entity to be known as the Office of Federal Energy and Minerals Leasing of the Department of the Interior, and for other purposes, with Mr. JACKSON of Illinois in the chair.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to the rule, the bill is considered read the first time.

General debate shall not exceed 1 hour, with 40 minutes equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Natural Resources and 20 minutes equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

The gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL) and the gentleman from Washington (Mr. HASTINGS) each will control 20 minutes. The gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. OBERSTAR) and the gentleman from Florida (Mr. MICA) each will control 10 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from West Virginia

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I understand the typographical error made by somebody has been corrected in the supplemental report just filed and we are now on line for consideration of this bill.

Today the House is considering H.R. 3534, the Consolidated Land, Energy, and Aquatic Resources Act of 2010, better known as the CLEAR Act. This legislation is aimed at shedding light on longstanding inadequacies in the management of our Federal oil and gas resources and to address the lessons learned in the aftermath of the Deepwater Horizon disaster.

On the afternoon of January 29, 1969, an environmental nightmare began in Santa Barbara, California. A Union Oil platform stationed 6 miles off the coast suffered a blowout. For 11 days, oil workers struggled to cap the rupture. During that time, around 5,000 barrels of crude oil bubbled to the surface and was spread into an 800-square-mile slick by winds and swells. Incoming tides brought thick tar to beaches, marring 35 miles of coastline. At the time, it was the worst environmental disaster this country had experienced and heralded the beginning of the environmental movement, but that paled in comparison to the events in the aftermath of the tragic explosion that occurred in the Gulf of Mexico on the evening of April 20, 2010.

The explosion of the Deepwater Horizon took the lives of 11 brave workers, unleashed up to 5 million barrels of oil over nearly 100 days, wreaking havoc on the gulf. It soiled over 600 miles of pristine gulf coast shoreline, and enforced the largest fishery closure in history. The souls of those 11 men cannot be recouped, but we, in part, can redeem them by taking action on this legislation.

Prior to this incident, I led the Committee on Natural Resources in the vigorous oversight of America's flawed oil and gas program. We uncovered billions of dollars that were never paid to the American people, countless examples of agency regulators sleeping around with, instead of keeping an eye on, the oil and gas industry, and the flagrant mismanagement of America's public energy resources. We had amassed a mountain of evidence that something was wrong. The American people were being cheated. The environment was being degraded, and Big Oil was writing their own rules.

As a result of a decade of investigations by the inspector general and the GAO, as well as holding countless oversight hearings held by my committee, we crafted a comprehensive package to completely overhaul and reform America's oil and gas leasing program. The CLEAR Act was introduced last September, and it seeks to make several important changes to current law in an effort to create greater efficiencies, transparency, and accountability in the development of our Federal energy resources.

Since April 20, our Committee on Natural Resources has led congressional efforts to investigate this tragedy, which was clearly a game changer for the way we manage our public energy resources. Through the work of the Natural Resources Committee and other committees, it became obvious that additional reasonable reforms were necessary to protect and prevent against such a catastrophe in the future.

While we may not know the exact cause of the incident at this time, we clearly know what contributed to it—a culture of cozy relationships that had regulators interviewing for jobs on the same rigs they were supposed to be inspecting, drilling plans that were rubber-stamped in a matter of minutes with only the most cursory environmental reviews, a ''trust but don't verify'' attitude towards safety standards, and an agency in charge that was spending too much time on the sidelines as the oil and gas industry wrote their own rules.

The CLEAR Act addresses these issues. It directly responds to the Deepwater Horizon disaster while also looking forward and attempting to prevent the next catastrophe. It will create strong new safety standards for offshore drilling and the revolving door between government and industry. It will require real environmental reviews, hold BP accountable, help restore the gulf coast, and ensure that the American people get the best bang for their buck for the use of their resources.

The CLEAR Act will dismantle and reorganize a dysfunctional Minerals Management Service so that conflicts of interest between leasing, policing, and review collecting are permanently abolished. It establishes a new training academy for Federal oil and gas inspectors who will be required to adhere to strict new ethical guidelines. Thanks to Chairman OBERSTAR and his Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, the bill before us today also ensures that oil companies are held fully accountable and that drilling rigs meet strict U.S. safety standards.

Finally, the CLEAR Act fulfills a 45-year-old promise to the Land and Water Conservation Fund, which was based on the premise that money obtained from the sale of the public's resources should be used to protect and conserve our natural, historical, and recreational resources. The bill establishes a new Ocean Restoration and Conservation Assistance Fund, known as ORCA, so that funds raised from drilling in our oceans will also go toward protecting and improving our oceans. We take so much from our oceans, Mr. Chairman, that it is about time we gave something back.

We will, undoubtedly, hear horror stories today from the oil and gas industry about what they allege this bill will do to them. It happens every time, but this is sheer hyperventilation from an industry that has had its way with the public lands for 8 years. The industry should take a look at the spill in the gulf to see how an overly permissive attitude can turn into a real horror story for the entire industry and for the American people.

The Deepwater Horizon explosion and the subsequent damage that has occurred over the past 102 days is, indeed, a game changer. It is time that we act to protect America's families, America's workers and businesses, to rebuild the gulf coast, to hold oil companies accountable, to work to ensure that a spill of this kind never happens again, and to secure our domestic energy resources.

In this day and age, in this America, whether it is a coal mine in the congressional district that I am honored to represent or an oil rig deep in the Gulf of Mexico, there is no room for an environment where working men and women leave their homes in the morning and do not know if they will return in the evening. This is what this legislation is about.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Mr. HASTINGS of Washington asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, this bill is being sold as the response to the ongoing gulf oil crisis. Though what has not been mentioned until right now is that it is stuffed with page after page of provisions that are totally unrelated to the spill. This legislation, if passed, will kill jobs. It will raise taxes, and it will increase Federal spending and cause even greater economic pain to the gulf coast and their families and communities.

Republicans believe the Federal Government should be focused on permanently stopping the leak, cleaning up the oil, holding BP and those responsible for the spill fully accountable, and then finding out, Mr. Chairman, what went wrong. Republicans believe educated reforms are needed to make American deepwater energy production the safest in the world, but these reforms must be based on the full facts of what caused and contributed to this tragedy.

Here in Washington, though, Democrats are exploiting the oil spill as an excuse to impose a job-killing combination of tax increases, government spending, and greater bureaucratic regulations. Democrats are pushing ahead of the facts to enact unrelated policies that wouldn't stand on their own merits if they weren't hitched to this vehicle and to this tragedy. They are not even waiting for the results of the many ongoing investigations, including the President's own hand-picked commission on this matter. This tragic oil spill and the President's arbitrary deepwater drilling moratorium have already cost thousands of jobs in the gulf and across the Nation.

Congress should not be passing a law that will inflict deeper economic and unemployment pain. The unlimited liability in this bill will devastate small operators and lead to, it is estimated, 300,000 lost jobs. The budgets of States and the Federal Government, because of this action, could face a $147 billion deficit in their budgets from lost revenue. The new $22 billion energy tax in this bill will not only cause more lost jobs; it will raise energy and gas prices on American families and businesses.

Mr. Chairman, this is what is very interesting:

This tax is imposed on just American oil and gas from Federal leases. Foreign countries won't pay this tax. So the argument can be made that this tax actually hurts American workers and gives advantages to foreign competitors.

Now, if what I have detailed is not bad enough, this bill includes over $30 billion in new mandatory spending—spending on programs totally unrelated to the oil spill. To make matters worse, Democrat leaders have inserted specific language in the bill allowing every single dollar to be earmarked. This makes this bill a giant earmark ATM that automatically hands out over $1 billion a year from now until the year 2040.

This bill is supposed to be about the gulf oil spill, yet it goes far, far beyond offshore drilling. It imposes taxes and restrictions for onshore energy production. But the impact is not just on natural gas and oil onshore. It also affects renewable energy like wind, solar and geothermal; and I will say, it affects it in a negative way.

But it doesn't stop there. In response to the Federal Government's failure to regulate Deepwater Horizon in Federal waters, this bill requires a Federal takeover of permitting in State waters. In what bizarre world, Mr. Chairman, does this make sense? It is a gross violation, in my view, of the Tenth Amendment and is opposed by an association of 38 States who regulate energy production on their land and waters.

Now let's take two steps back and consider what the Democrats are doing with this bill. I believe, and I think all Americans believe, that BP is responsible for the gulf oil spill, and they should be held 100 percent accountable for paying the costs of the cleanup and repairing the damages. I believe that Chairman RAHALL agrees with that. I believe everyone in the House agrees that it is BP's responsibility to pay for this and not the taxpayers.

So, Mr. Chairman, why does this supposed ''oil spill response bill'' impose a $22 billion energy tax on Americans and increase unrelated spending by over $30 billion? BP is supposed to pay, not the taxpayers. There shouldn't be a new energy tax or billions in new spending in this bill. The fact is, the Democrats are using this oil spill tragedy as an excuse for unrelated tax and spending increases.

While this bill will cost billions in new taxes and higher spending, Mr. Chairman, the real toll is the potential lost jobs because of the actions of this bill. American jobs will be lost, and many will be sent overseas because of this bill. Why is this being done, I wonder, to the people of the gulf coast? The gulf coast has already taken a terrible economic hit. By what measures, Mr. Chairman, do they deserve this Democrat Congress taking action on a bill that will inflict even greater economic pain and suffering?

So, Mr. Chairman, I urge my colleagues to oppose the CLEAR Act and insist on a bill which we can all agree on regarding the safety and soundness of drilling in the gulf.

With that, Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RAHALL. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 4 minutes.

I rise in strong support of the amendment in the nature of a substitute to the Consolidated Land, Energy, and Aquatic Resources Act of 2010, and I want to congratulate my good friend and Transportation Committee colleague, Mr. RAHALL, the chairman of the Natural Resources Committee, for the splendid work that his committee has done, for the bill that he, personally, has championed, and the hours of work put into this legislation in crafting a true comprehensive response to the oil spill in the gulf, the causes of that failure and the cleanup that is necessary.

I was going to be rather brief; but after listening to the gentleman from Washington, I didn't recognize the bill that is before us. I have never considered cleanup responsibilities to be a tax. I don't know where that confection has been created, but it is certainly not in my vocabulary.

The blowout from the mobile offshore drilling unit, the Deepwater Horizon, killed 11 people on the crew—at least none of them have been found. They are all presumed dead. There were 116 people injured in one way or another. Millions of gallons, millions of barrels of oil spilling from a source that is unknowable, a resource whose volume is unknown, and it continued relentlessly until just a few days ago. Our committee held three hearings to investigate the causes of this disaster, and I particularly appreciate the splendid work done by subcommittee Chairman ELIJAH CUMMINGS, the chair of the Coast Guard and Maritime Subcommittee.

While the causes of that disaster are still under investigation, there are some elements that are clearly known and that we must and can deal with and that we do deal with in this legislation that emerge also from our hearings. We received extensive testimony on how the Deepwater Horizon was built in South Korea, registered in that great maritime nation of the Republican of the Marshall Islands, and the registry is held by a foreign entity maintained in Reston, Virginia. No accountability, no oversight, no responsibility, and no rigorous laws of the country of registry to govern the MODU, the drilling unit. And the vessel itself, because it was registered in the Marshall Islands, was not subject to the rigorous safety inspection standards of the U.S. Coast Guard that a U.S. flagged vessel would be subject to.

We also learned that shortcuts were taken in the development, approval, and implementation of the oil spill response plans for the Deepwater Horizon drilling operation. Those response plans were totally inadequate to address the worst-case scenario. We also learned that in May of 2008, the Minerals Management Service of the previous administration exempted BP from filing an oil spill response plan—exempted because they're a big worldwide multibillion-dollar corporation with experience in deep-water drilling. In their permit, they filed a 52-page document that said: In the unlikely event of a surface or subsurface spill, we are capable of handling with existing industry technology up to 175,000 barrels a day. They couldn't handle what came out of that, and they couldn't measure what came out of that oil reservoir. That gulf has been seriously injured and damaged for generations because of that failure.

It also demonstrated the inadequacy of the limits of liability, including financial responsibility for the responsible parties, inadequate, insufficient to address a worst-case scenario for a release of oil in an offshore operation. The expected cost will be in the tens of billions. And even though BP agreed to set aside $20 billion in an agreement with President Obama as an escrow to cover potential costs, the $75 million cap that exists in current law is grossly, grossly inadequate and must be repealed; and it is repealed in our version of this legislation.

We also investigated the unprecedented use of 1.5 million gallons of chemical dispersants. Our witnesses called into question the potential short-term and long-term impacts that increased use of these dispersants, such as COREXIT, would have on the waters, the water column and the aquatic creatures and the plants in the Gulf of Mexico. Dr. Sylvia Earle, a world-renowned ocean biologist who spent 50 years of her career studying and evaluating and understanding the Gulf of Mexico, said, There never was any testing of COREXIT on underwater creatures in the water column, that COREXIT itself was determined to be toxic to the human respiratory system. It had adverse effects on the kidney and lungs and heart, and yet it was used extensively, well over a million gallons of it, as a dispersant in the response to the oil spill. We will have the burden of decades to understand what the effect of this chemical is on the water column and on the creatures whose livelihood depends on this water.

Our bill has several provisions to address liability, financial responsibility, improvements in safety, increased oversight of oil spill responses, improvements in environmental protection. We repeal or adjust existing liability limitations for offshore facilities to ensure that the responsible party or parties will be responsible for 100 percent of the cleanup costs and damage to third parties and will extend the provisions of OPA '90, the Oil Pollution Act of 1990, which has very rigorous provisions in it, to protect even the migratory waterfowl which come from northern regions, from Canada and from northern Minnesota and other northern-tier States and winter in the gulf.

Our State bird, the loon, winters in those marshes that are now oil-infested. And I want to be sure that BP pays for every oiled loon, which are the joy of Minnesotans in the summer as we recreate outside and enjoy our great outdoors.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, before I yield to the gentleman from California, I would just like to tell my friend, the chairman of the Transportation Committee, that the taxes that I referred to are on page 224 of the bill.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. MCCLINTOCK).

Mr. MCCLINTOCK. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Before we add more bureaucracies to the equation, shouldn't we be asking how did the existing ones do? This administration ignored the oil spill contingency plan that NOAA's former response coordinator says could have burned off 95 percent of the oil spill from day one. It took them 8 days just to do a test burn.

In the 2 weeks after the spill, 13 countries offered the assistance of their surface oil skimmers. The administration told them, ''Thanks, but no thanks.'' As the oil approached shore, the administration shut down oil skimming barges for lack of life jackets. Apparently, it never occurred to them to simply bring out more life jackets. Skimmers that could have removed 95 percent of the surface oil were blocked by the EPA for a month because they didn't remove 99.9985 percent. For more than a month, the governors of the States begged the administration for permission to take emergency action to protect their shorelines, to no avail. And now we want more bureaucrats?

The problem is not a lack of bureaucracy. The problem is a tangled mess of rigid regulations, political posturing, contradictory edicts, and administrative incompetence that produced an emergency response worthy of the Keystone Kops. More of the same is not the answer.

My advice to this administration and its congressional majority is this: If you can't lead and won't follow, then get out of the way.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Chairman, I inquire as to how much time is remaining on each side of the aisle.

The CHAIR. The gentleman from Florida has 10 minutes remaining. The gentleman from Washington has 12 minutes remaining. The gentleman from West Virginia has 12½ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Minnesota has 2½ minutes remaining.

Mr. MICA. I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BARTON).

(Mr. BARTON of Texas asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I rise in opposition to this bill. Obviously, I am not opposed to improving safety and regulation in the OCS. But I do want OCS drilling to continue.

I want to thank Chairman WAXMAN and Subcommittee Chairman MARKEY. The Energy and Commerce bill that was reported out, I believe 48–0, did improve safety, but it did allow drilling to continue domestically. In my opinion, with the taxes in this bill, with the punitive nature of this bill, if it were to pass and become law we would not have OCS drilling, and it would lessen the ability to develop our domestic resources, would increase costs to the American consumer, and make us more dependent, not less dependent, on foreign oil.

There are some good things in the bill. Some of the safety provisions from the Energy and Commerce bill that are included on CEO certification and things of this sort are worthwhile. But overall, it is a bad bill, and I would ask for a ''no'' vote.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee, a gentleman with whom we have worked very closely in the development of this legislation, and who has conducted a number of investigations and hearings on his own, Mr. WAXMAN.

Mr. WAXMAN. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Just over 3 months ago, the Macondo well exploded in the Gulf of Mexico, causing the largest environmental disaster in U.S. history. Eleven workers on the oil rig died.

The Energy and Commerce Committee has held nine hearings into the chain of events that caused the blowout of BP's well and its impact on the gulf coast. These hearings revealed that BP and its partners made a series of risky decisions that undermined well safety. Our committee then passed the Blowout Prevention Act, H.R. 5626, 48–0, to strengthen Federal drilling regulations. This bill before us today contains key provisions from our legislation. I want to thank Natural Resources Committee Chairman RAHALL for working with us to include these provisions.

BP chose a risky well design on the Macondo well that provided minimal barriers to prevent dangerous gases from flowing to the wellhead. They ignored their contractors' urgent warnings about how to cement the well safely. This legislation will ban these dangerous practices. It's too late to stop the explosion, but this legislation can hold the appropriate parties accountable and make sure this type of catastrophic blowout never happens again.

Just over three months ago, BP's Macondo well exploded in the Gulf of Mexico, causing the largest environmental disaster in U.S. history. Eleven workers on the oil rig died. The well poured thousands upon thousands of barrels of oil into the Gulf of Mexico, threatening an entire way of life along the Gulf Coast. While BP has capped the well, the well has still not been permanently sealed.

The Committee on Energy and Commerce has held nine hearings into the chain of events that caused the blowout of BP's Macondo well and its impacts on the Gulf Coast. The hearings revealed that BP and its partners made a series of risky decisions that undermined well safety. These decisions saved time and money for BP, but increased the risks of a catastrophic blowout.

And based on what we found in our investigation, it is time for Congress to act. Investigations are ongoing and will continue to provide more details about the causes of this accident. But we know enough already about the weaknesses in the regulatory regime to craft commonsense legislative solutions.

Building on our oversight, the Energy and Commerce Committee developed the Blowout Prevention Act of 2010 to establish new federal regulatory requirements to prevent future spills from oil and gas wells. The Committee reported this bill by a bipartisan vote of 48 to 0. ED MARKEY and I worked with the Ranking Member of our Committee, JOE BARTON, as well as FRED UPTON, GENE GREEN, CHARLIE MELANCON, and other members to craft the Energy and Commerce bill. I want to thank them for their constructive suggestions.

Key elements of the Energy and Commerce Committee bill have been incorporated into the legislation we are considering today. I want to thank Natural Resources Committee Chairman RAHALL for working with us to include these provisions.

When BP's CEO Tony Hayward appeared before our Committee, we asked him to explain BP's risky decisions. He tried to dodge responsibility, telling us repeatedly that he was not involved in the critical decisions. And he tried to shift blame to others. It was clear that Mr. Hayward and other top BP officials paid virtually no attention to the risks the company was taking. To ensure greater accountability, this legislation requires oil company CEOs to certify that their well designs and blowout preventers are safe and that the company can promptly control and stop a blowout if these well control measures fail.

BP chose a risky well design on the Macondo well that provided minimal barriers to prevent dangerous gases from flowing to the wellhead. They ignored their contractor's advice about how to properly cement the well. They failed to conduct a critical cement test. And they failed to properly circulate well fluids.

The legislation we are considering today will set strict new requirements to ensure that these basic well control practices cannot be ignored at offshore wells.

BP says it relied on the well's blowout preventer as the last line of defense. But we know blowout preventers are not foolproof—not even close. To increase the reliability of this essential safety device, this legislation sets minimum standards for blowout preventers, including the requirement that blowout preventers have two sets of blind shear rams and redundant emergency backup control systems that can activate when communications from the rig are severed.

We were careful to provide regulatory flexibility so that the minimum requirements can evolve as the technology improves.

To ensure compliance with these new requirements, the legislation requires that blowout preventers, well designs, and cementing programs and procedures be certified as safe by independent, third-party inspectors selected by the federal regulator, not the oil companies. But the costs of these independent certifications will be paid for by the oil companies.

BP also took advantage of a lack of resources and a failure in the regulatory culture at the Minerals Management Service. This legislation puts an end to this culture of complacency. It requires the Department of the Interior to set tough standards and creates a committee of independent experts to check their work and make sure they do their jobs. This independent committee will review available technologies, assess industry practices and regulations, and provide the best, most up-to-date technical and regulatory advice so that we have the best possible set of rules for drilling offshore wells.

It is too late to stop the explosion and blowout on the Deepwater Horizon. But, with this legislation, we can hold the appropriate parties accountable and make sure that this type of catastrophic blowout never happens again.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. LAMBORN), a member of the committee.

Mr. LAMBORN. I thank the gentleman from Washington.

There are many things about having more safety and environmental protection in the gulf that we can all agree on. Unfortunately, this bill goes way beyond those agreement type of provisions. There is a $2-a-barrel tax increase in this bill. And there is a proportional tax increase on natural gas production as well. And as was pointed out earlier, it's not just on offshore oil and gas production, but on onshore Federal lands. So it goes way beyond the discussion we are having about the gulf.

It's going to add up to $22 billion. And this is not the time to be raising taxes on energy. We're trying to come out of a recession. Many of us are asking, Where are the jobs? And taxing energy and making the consumer and industry pay more for energy, it's just not the right time to do that. And we're putting this, if the bill takes effect, on existing oil and gas production. That's blatantly unconstitutional. The nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office says that we as the Federal Government will have to refund about two-thirds of that $22 billion, or $14 billion, the proportion that applies to existing oil and gas production, back to the producers because it's unconstitutional. It's an impairment of contracts to come in the middle of a contract and say, by the way, we are adding a big tax increase to your energy production.

So why are we taxing industry and the consumer when we're trying to come out of a recession? This bill doesn't make sense, and I urge a ''no'' vote.

Mr. OBERSTAR. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I am very honored to yield 1 minute to the distinguished Speaker of the House, Speaker PELOSI.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the updated Consolidated Land, Energy, and Aquatic Resources Act, the CLEAR Act, and thank the gentleman for yielding time on this important subject. I am very proud of it and other legislation to ensure a continued strong response to the BP oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico.

In passing these bills today, we will uphold our commitment to America's families and businesses to rebuild the Gulf Coast and make families whole, and to ensure that the size of this spill and the scope of it never happen again.

The CLEAR Act responds to the BP oil spill not simply with criticism. In fact, we waited an amount of time so we could get the facts, make the judgment, and write legislation that is responsible and targeted.

Visionary that he is, Mr. RAHALL 1 year ago began work on this legislation. We have benefited from the work that his committee, that of Energy and Commerce and the leadership of Chairman WAXMAN, and Transportation and Infrastructure under Mr. OBERSTAR, have done in preparation for this, as well as the work of Mr. MILLER on Education and Labor.

This legislation is about safety, about establishing new safety standards—safety for the workers on the rigs, safety for those in the cleanup have been a priority for us in all of the legislation that has come to the floor in response to the spill.

It's about integrity. Integrity of the representations made by BP, whether it's about the effectiveness of the drilling, whether it's about the prevention of a blowout, or whether it's about the integrity of their representations about the integrity of the cleanup, what would happen if such a spill were to occur and do we have the technology to clean up. It's also about the integrity of the infrastructure, that the infrastructure would do what it was designed to do: drill, prevent blowouts, and, of course, respond to it.

So there's been a lack of integrity on both parts in terms of representations that were made and the integrity of infrastructure. This legislation addresses that.

It's about accountability. Reforming the Minerals Management Service is really a very important part of this legislation. Some of this was addressed by President Obama in having an Executive order to this effect or administrative policy to this effect. Now it is in statute. Very, very important. Because that accountability about who sets the standards, who makes sure that those standards are met is very, very important to us honoring our responsibility to the American people.

And it's about the families. And this always comes down to people who have suffered so much, by removing the cap on economic damages paid by oil companies to residents and small businesses affected by the oil spills.

The CLEAR Act is good for families, our environment, and the health of our natural resources in many ways. This week, we were informed that it was also good for our budget, saving taxpayers more than $5 billion over the next 5 years, according to the Congressional Budget Office, and up to $50 billion over the next 25 years, according to the Government Accounting Office.

This measure is just one component of a broader package of actions we are taking to hold BP accountable, support the families and businesses of the gulf coast, and prevent and prepare for future disasters, hopefully avoiding them.

Today, we will vote on the Offshore Oil and Gas Worker Whistleblower Protection Act, which was debated earlier, managed by Mr. MILLER, to protect workers who put the people's interests first, speak up and inform State and Federal authorities of violations and practices that endanger the public and the workers.

In recent weeks, we have passed the Oil Pollution Research and Development Program Reauthorization Act to develop new methods and technologies to clean up oil spills. That was under the leadership of Chairman BART GORDON of the Science and Technology Committee. He also presented the Safer Oil and Natural Gas Drilling Technology Research and Development Program to develop safer drilling technologies and prevent future oil spill disasters. One of them was the Gordon Act and one was the Woolsey Act.

The Spill Act. The Spill Act was one we passed maybe a month ago amending the Death on the High Seas Act to ensure fair compensation for the families of those killed or injured in the BP spill.

Many of us were humbled and honored to receive the families of those who lost their lives at the time of this explosion, at the time of this disaster. They came here. They talked about their family members that they had lost. They are the backbone of America. They worked hard. They played by the rules. They came here, really, using their suffering—and I say that in the best possible way—to help others. Their generosity of spirit insists that we turn this into the law but also to help those families and other families.

We passed legislation to give subpoena power to the President's Oil Spill Commission and permit the Coast Guard to obtain needed resources from the Oil Spill Liability Trust Fund to help with cleanup costs. Thank you, Mr. CUMMINGS.

I would like, again, to acknowledge Chairman NICK RAHALL, JIM OBERSTAR, HENRY WAXMAN, ED MARKEY, and GEORGE MILLER for their leadership on this package of bills that we have before us today, and Mr. GORDON, BART GORDON, for what he had done before.

In the wake of the BP oil spill, Members from both parties should agree that the current system is not working for the American people. As their representatives and their leaders, we must change course. We must do what we can to help the gulf recover and rebuild.

I urge all of my colleagues to vote ''aye'' on this critical oil spill response legislation.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Chair, I yield 2 minutes to a leader and member of the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, which had part of this bill, one of the leaders of crafting our particular portion, the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. DUNCAN).

(Mr. DUNCAN asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DUNCAN. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Chair, just this morning, in an article entitled, ''Stop Spending, Start Cutting,'' columnist Cheri Jacobus wrote in The Hill newspaper, ''While it's one thing for Americans to be livid at their elected officials over of out-of-control spending and unthinkable levels of debt that will be passed down to children yet to be born, we now have reason to be not only angry, but very, very afraid.''

The Congressional Budget Office just told us the painful, unvarnished, frightening truth this week that unless Federal spending is reined in dramatically and/or revenues increased, we are headed for certain sudden economic catastrophe that would make this current economic crisis seem like a day at the beach.

Now we are about to pass a bill that has $30 billion in just land purchases. Then there are all the new taxes. This bill creates a new tax on all existing and new Federal onshore and offshore leases. The Congressional Budget Office estimates that this tax on oil and a new tax on natural gas will total $22 billion in 10 years, and eventually these taxes will climb to $3 billion per year. And the CBO also estimates that the new energy taxes will create another $14 billion in litigation costs alone. All of these costs, both direct and indirect, will eventually be passed on to the American consumers of energy—small businesses, families, and farmers.

Of course, this new tax applies only to American energy, giving a distinct advantage to foreign oil and gas and jeopardizing American energy jobs. A professor at LSU said this in testimony in front of the Natural Resources Committee, These provisions are simply job killers for a large number of oil and gas employees along the gulf. He said, Unfortunately, the proposed bill under consideration today would eliminate even emerging opportunities and shut down tens of thousands of jobs for Louisiana oil and gas workers.

Dennis Stover, executive vice president of Uranium One, testified before the committee that this bill will decrease U.S. exploration and development. And he said, ''By introducing great uncertainty regarding the lands ultimately available for uranium exploration and development, a leasing system will only serve to increase the United States' reliance on foreign sources of uranium.''

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished chair of the subcommittee, the gentlelady from Texas (Ms. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON).

□ 1400

Ms. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON of Texas. Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman.

I rise to speak strongly in support of H.R. 3534, the Consolidated Land, Energy, and Aquatic Resources Act of 2010. While this legislation cannot stem the oil that continues to gush into the Gulf of Mexico, it takes solid strides forward to preventing such an event from occurring in the future.

As a Congress, it is our duty to look forward and ensure we have protections in place for future similar spills in these deepwater areas. We also need to review the current oil and gas regulations and ensure that we have safety and environmental protections in place for all types of onshore and offshore operations and facilities.

This legislation will help to make sure we are better prepared going forward, and I ask my colleagues to join me in supporting this legislation.

I am pleased that Title VII of this legislation, the ''Oil Spill Accountability and Environmental Protection Act of 2010,'' was largely taken from the bill that the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure passed out of committee. This title covers a number of areas of critical concern: liability provisions; safety measures; and provisions to protect the environment.

The legislation makes much-needed changes to the liability caps for both offshore oil facilities, as well as vessels. With regard to oil facilities, liability caps for economic damages are removed. This is as it should be.

This provision eliminates future incentives for oil companies to ignore the true impacts of their activities and engage in riskier behavior than they otherwise would. As a Congress, we should not enable or subsidize risky behavior on the part of companies simply because they want to do something.

This legislation also includes a number of other important safety and environmental provisions.

It requires that, going forward, there is one individual in true control of the safety of the vessel—and conflicting lines of authority will not result in mishaps, as with the Deepwater Horizon.

This legislation also forces EPA to take a much more rigorous look at oil spill dispersants than has been the case in the past. It is my view that there is a time and a place for the use of some dispersants.

However, it is altogether disturbing that such large volumes of dispersants have been used at the Deepwater site (1,843,786 gallons to date), while so little is known about their impacts to human health, water quality, and marine life.

As a result, we are requiring that EPA study the potential impacts of given dispersants to human health and the environment, get independent verification of effectiveness and toxicity, and then allow for the public disclosure of the chemical ingredients for any product that is ''pre-approved'' for use. Finally, EPA approval will be required for any use of a dispersant in relation to a future oil spill.

I urge all Members of the House to join with me in supporting this well-considered legislation.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentlelady from Wyoming (Mrs. LUMMIS), a member of the committee.

Mrs. LUMMIS. Mr. Chairman, Americans want the spill cleaned up, BP to pay for it, jobs to be restored, and the Federal Government to do a better job of inspecting for worker safety and environmental safety. To my colleagues in the majority party, we agree. Take ''yes'' for an answer.

But what does this bill do? It raises taxes, it removes the BLM land managers from doing land management and over the objection of the Director of the Bureau of Land Management. Only Congress would view this bill as a response to what Americans want.

No wonder Congress has an approval rating of 11 percent. This is nuts, Mr. Chairman. This is nuts.

The CHAIR. The gentleman from Washington State (Mr. HASTINGS) has 9½ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Florida (Mr. MICA) has 7 minutes remaining. The gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. OBERSTAR) has 1½ minutes remaining. The gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL) has 10½ minutes remaining.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 15 seconds.

The other side is cherry-picking the letter from the Congressional Budget Office. The gentleman from Tennessee was giving quotes from it, as far as what this conservation fee does, et cetera, and also nothing to do in this legislation. We jettisoned the part related to uranium leasing.

But the bottom line is that CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 3534 would reduce future deficits by $5.3 billion.

I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. HOLT).

Mr. HOLT. Mr. Chair, the huge human and environmental catastrophe has brought to light glaring deficiencies in the way we oversee, regulate, and hold accountable those who produce oil and gas on our public lands.

This bill will accomplish several good things such as imposing safety standards on drilling and strengthening the Land and Water Conservation Fund thanks to Chairman RAHALL. It is important that it will also clarify and improve liability laws thanks to Mr. OBERSTAR.

Under the current law, BP is responsible for the removal costs of the spill. They are liable only for $75 million, however, for economic and natural resource damages. For a spill of this magnitude, a limit as low as $75 million is laughable.

After the spill began, I led 85 of my colleagues in introducing the Big Oil Bailout Prevention Act, which would raise the liability cap now and retroactively. Of course the polluters should pay. The escrow account created by the administration and BP will have a short-term fix, but the CLEAR Act will ensure that BP is legally liable for all economic and natural resource damages it has caused. The public will know the buck stops with the oil companies, that the costs will not spill over to taxpayers.

I urge my colleagues to support this.

The CHAIR. The Committee will rise informally.

The Speaker pro tempore (Mr. STUPAK) assumed the chair.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED

Ms. Lorraine C. Miller, Clerk of the House, reported and found truly enrolled bills of the House of the following titles, which were thereupon signed by the Speaker:

H.R. 5874. An act making supplemental appropriations for the United States Patent and Trademark Office for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2010, and for other purposes.

H.R. 5900. An act to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to extend the funding and expenditure authority of the Airport and Airway Trust Fund, to amend title 49, United States Code, to extend airport improvement program project grant authority and to improve airline safety, and for other purposes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Committee will resume its sitting.

CONSOLIDATED LAND, ENERGY, AND AQUATIC RESOURCES ACT OF 2010

The Committee resumed its sitting.

Mr. MICA. I am pleased to yield at this time 2 minutes to the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. COBLE), another one of our leaders in the T&I Committee.

Mr. COBLE. I want to thank the gentleman from Florida for yielding.

Mr. Chairman, the Deepwater Horizon oil spill is a horrific tragedy, as we all know; and I want to make certain the responsible parties are held accountable. I also want to ensure that we understand what went wrong to prevent future tragedies. Although I support domestic energy exploration, we need legislation that is focused and implements lessons learned, and the CLEAR Act, in my opinion, does not meet these principles.

Specifically, it adds yet another task to the Coast Guard mission without providing the tools necessary to get the job done. I firmly believe the Coast Guard can do its part, but it is our responsibility to make sure that they have the personnel, command structure, and resources to meet its multifaceted mission.

The bill also diminishes intellectual property rights. Its mandatory publication requirements for chemical dispersants will eviscerate a number of trade secrets and undermine competitiveness in the chemical industry, it seems to me. It makes no sense to discard trade secrets in the name of protecting the public when the EPA already has such authority and jurisdiction to test, inspect, and approve these products.

Finally, this legislation will create new impediments for tapping into our domestic energy supply, make us more reliant upon foreign sources of energy, and compromise jobs.

Mr. Chairman, I reiterate, we must address this catastrophe. The CLEAR Act, however, is the wrong approach for the gulf coast, our economy, and my constituents' wallets.

I thank the gentleman from Florida again for yielding.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I'm pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. FLEMING), a member of the Natural Resources Committee.

Mr. FLEMING. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Chairman, on the CLEAR Act, in my opinion, this is a textbook case on how to kill jobs and raise energy prices.

Reforms are needed to ensure American offshore drilling will be the safest in the world, but this bill is extremely premature. The investigations are still ongoing, and we do not have the answers to the question, what went wrong?

I am greatly concerned, too, that this will further harm Louisiana. The State of Louisiana has estimated that a moratorium like the one currently imposed could result in a loss of more than 20,000 Louisiana jobs. Rigs are already leaving the gulf for countries like Egypt and the Congo. Yet today's bill imposes a permanent de facto moratorium by including provisions to delay or block offshore drilling and imposing taxes that will raise energy costs. Killing jobs and raising energy prices are the wrong direction.

I urge my colleagues to vote against the CLEAR Act.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, it is my honor to yield 1 minute to the gentlelady from California (Mrs. CAPPS), who has been so instrumental in development of this legislation and a valued member of our Natural Resources Committee.

Mrs. CAPPS. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of the CLEAR Act, and I say this as the Representative of the Santa Barbara channel which Chairman RAHALL referred to as the scene of the big blowout of platform A in 1969.

BP's oil spill is an unprecedented human, economic, and environmental disaster. BP must do everything possible to clean up its damage and make the people of the gulf whole. But this catastrophe is also a sobering reminder of the serious risks from drilling. We can't stop drilling overnight, but we can do everything in our power to ensure that such a disaster never happens again.

That's why we must pass the CLEAR Act. It breaks up the scandal-ridden MMS, increases penalties for polluters, places new safety and environmental standards on oil companies, pays down the deficit by closing loopholes that allow oil companies to drill on the public's land without paying royalties, creates a new trust fund to protect and improve our oceans, provides the Presidential commission looking into the accident with subpoena power.

Once again, this Congress is acting to protect America's families and businesses, rebuild the gulf coast, hold BP accountable. Let's vote to ensure that a spill of this kind never happens again. Vote ''yes'' on the CLEAR Act.

BP's oil spill is an unprecedented environmental disaster that has tragically resulted in the loss of human life and great economic harm.

BP must do everything possible to clean up the damage and make the people of the Gulf whole.

But the catastrophe is also a sobering reminder of the serious risks from oil drilling.

We need a safer, cleaner, more economical approach to energy development, one that shifts us away from oil and toward renewable sources that can't destroy our coasts.

While we can't stop drilling overnight, we can do everything in our power to ensure that such a disaster never happens again.

This Democratic-led Congress has vigorously investigated BP's spill and offshore drilling.

We've exposed our broken regulatory system.

Always a dysfunctional agency, MMS management reached new lows during the Bush Administration.

An Inspector General report, for example, raised serious concerns about the, ''ease with which safety inspectors move between industry and government.''

Oil companies were allowed to cut corners on safety and environmental protection.

And virtually no effort was put into preventing accidents and improving spill response technologies.

Basically, offshore drilling decisions were being made by the oil companies for their benefit instead of the public's.

Sadly, the people in the Gulf are now paying the price.

That's why it's time to pass the CLEAR Act.

The CLEAR Act breaks up the scandal-ridden MMS, increases penalties for polluters, and places new standards on oil companies to prevent another blowout.

It also pays down the deficit by closing loopholes that allow oil companies to drill on the public's land without paying royalties.

It creates a new trust fund to protect and improve our ocean and coastal areas.

And it gives the Presidental Commission investigating the BP spill subpoena power to make sure it can get to the bottom of what actually happened.

Mr. Chairman, there are lots of reasons for us to pass this bill.

But my greatest hope is that some good can come out of this tragedy.

Finally freeing ourselves from our costly oil addiction is the only fitting tribute to the terrible tragedy being borne by the people of the Gulf.

Vote ''yes'' on the CLEAR Act.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. OLSON), another one of our distinguished members from T&I.

Mr. OLSON. I thank my colleague from Florida for giving me a couple of minutes to talk about the problems with this energy bill.

Mr. Chairman, there are parts of this bill that are well-intentioned, but they miss the mark—particularly the language in this bill regarding the moratorium on offshore drilling. Thirty-three rigs were affected by this moratorium when it was imposed shortly after the explosion on the Deepwater Horizon rig. Since that time, these rigs have been incurring somewhere upwards of $500,000 a day in expenses just while they're not doing any production. There are very few companies, very few entities in our economy, that can incur over $90 million in expenses if this moratorium runs out for the 6-month period that it's supposed to run. And there's no guarantee that it's going to end within 6 months.

Predictably—and I've been banging this drum for almost 2 months now—these rigs are going to move overseas and it's starting to happen. The first rig went to Egypt. It was a rig from Diamond Offshore.

Let me read a quote from their CEO, Larry Dickerson, as he talked about why they were moving this rig overseas. Mr. Dickerson said, ''As a result of the uncertainties surrounding the offshore drilling moratorium, we are actively seeking opportunities to keep our rigs fully employed internationally. We greatly regret the loss of U.S. jobs that will result from this rig relocation.''

Again let me read that last sentence: ''We greatly regret the loss of U.S. jobs that will result from this rig relocation.''

Mr. Chairman, this is not what the American economy needs right now. We need to ensure we're independent from foreign oil. We can't be exporting jobs overseas. This is a job-killing bill that's coming before this House and I oppose it.

Another problem I have with the bill that has been introduced here is the change in liability limits. By changing the liability limits, this bill will effectively squeeze out all the small and medium operators in the gulf, resulting in the loss of thousands of jobs.

If you like Big Oil, this bill is your bill. I am strongly opposed to that. We need to create American jobs. Not ending this moratorium and this changing liability limits is not in America's best interests.

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Chairman, I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER).

The CHAIR. The gentleman is recognized for 1½ minutes.

Mr. NADLER of New York. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the CLEAR Act of 2010 to respond to the BP oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico.

Mr. Chairman, one of the many important provisions of this bill requires the EPA to do a new rulemaking procedure to establish baseline levels of toxicity and effectiveness that takes into account a study of the acute and chronic risks posed by the use of toxic dispersants. Quite simply, the EPA must determine whether or not it's safe to use these dispersants. Not just which dispersant is the safest, but whether or not they're safe at all.

I offered an amendment in the Transportation Committee to ban the use of these toxic dispersants until the rulemaking and study in the bill determine they are safe. I am very pleased that my amendment is included in the final bill before us today and I thank Chairman OBERSTAR for his support.

The fact is that nobody today can guarantee that dispersants are safe.

The only thing dispersants seem to do is push the oil below the surface, making it harder to see the damage and determine liability and making it harder to boom and skim the oil off the surface. The only benefit seems to be for PR purposes.

Dispersants simply shift the oil to another part of the ecosystem while increasing the toxins in the gulf harming marine life and contaminating the water column. In fact, researchers have recently found evidence of dispersants in blue crab larvae from Louisiana to Florida, indicating the dispersants have already made their way into the food chain.

Let us never again perform a large uncontrolled experiment with a huge population of people and an entire ocean as the experimental test vehicle. Let us be sure that the dispersants are safe before we subject the marine life and the human population to them.

Mr. Chair, I rise in support of the Consolidated Land, Energy and Aquatic Resources (CLEAR) Act of 2010 to respond to the BP oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico.

There are many important provisions in this bill, such as the increased safety regulations for offshore oil rigs, the elimination of the liability cap and the inclusion of damages for human health in the Oil Pollution Act. In the interest of time, I want to focus my comments on the provisions dealing with the controversial use of toxic dispersants.

This bill requires the EPA to do a new rulemaking procedure to establish baseline levels of toxicity and effectiveness that takes into account a study of the acute and chronic risks posed by the use of dispersants. Quite simply, the EPA should determine whether or not it's safe to use these dispersants. And not just which one is the safest, but whether or not they're safe at all. This is what should have been done in the first place, and it is important that we make sure it is done moving forward.

I offered an amendment to the bill in the Transportation Committee to impose a moratorium on the use of these toxic dispersants until the rulemaking and study in the bill are complete. I am very pleased that my amendment is included in the final bill before us today, and I thank Chairman OBERSTAR for his support and willingness to advance this critical public health and environmental protection.

The fact is there is no scientific evidence that dispersants can be effective in an oil spill of this magnitude, and nobody can guarantee they are safe. I have heard experts and agency officials argue the contrary. Well, if these dispersants really are safe, then there should be no problem proving so under the terms of the bill. In the meantime, we should not presume these toxic dispersants are safe, and we should not use the Gulf or anywhere else that suffers an oil spill as an experimental laboratory.

The only thing dispersants seem to do is push the oil below the surface making it harder to see the damage and determine liability, and making it harder to boom and skim the oil off the surface. The only benefit seems to be for PR purposes.

Dispersants simply shift the oil to another part of the ecosystem, while increasing the toxins in the Gulf, harming marine life, and contaminating the water column. In fact, researchers from Tulane and the University of Southern Mississippi have found evidence of dispersants in blue crab larvae from Louisiana to Florida indicating that it has already made its way into the food chain.

So far, over 1.8 million gallons of dispersant have been used in the Gulf, and people are getting sick—from the dispersants, from the oil, or from some mixture of the two. There is already a name for the illness that plagues many of these people—toxicant-induced loss of tolerance, or TILT—in which you can no longer tolerate exposures to household chemical products, medication or even food. There are numerous reports of people being hospitalized, and several health experts are concerned that this is just the beginning. A group of fishermen has filed a class action lawsuit against BP and the dispersant manufacturer, and another personal injury lawsuit was just filed by Gulf Coast residents who have suffered adverse health effects from exposure to these toxins.

As many of you know, I have been greatly concerned that we are repeating the same mistakes of 9/11 where thousands of responders and area residents are now sick after the failure of the Federal Government to provide adequate oversight or enforcement to prevent exposure to toxic chemicals. Luckily, in the case of the Gulf Oil Spill, BP is the clearly responsible party. However, it is up to us to ensure that BP and the dispersant makers are not allowed to evade liability or shift the cost to the taxpayers for any potential health effects. But more importantly, we must do everything we can to prevent people from getting sick in the first place.

This bill makes significant progress to protect the safety and wellbeing of public health and the environment. I thank Chairman OBERSTAR and Chairman RAHALL for their hard work and commitment to these issues. I urge all my colleagues to support the bill.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. CASSIDY), a member of the Natural Resources Committee.

Mr. CASSIDY. Mr. Chairman, supposedly today we unite to bring relief to gulf coast families. But I tell you, if you vote for this bill, there is no unity with gulf coast families. This bill actually prolongs the misery of the gulf coast. It kills jobs.

How does it do so? It raises taxes on domestic oil and gas but not on foreign. We're going to prejudice towards a foreign product. It's a reverse tariff. Call it a jobs program for OPEC.

Now the $22 billion that we raise, by the way, isn't to benefit the gulf. It's to buy parkland across the United States. So when everybody says we're going to raise $22 billion for the gulf, they're raising $22 billion for parklands across the United States.

And now we're going to raise the liability caps because we're going to stick it to Big Oil. We're not sticking it to Big Oil. What we're doing is we're sticking it to small and medium size independent producers who control 90 percent of the leases and, by the way, create 300,000 jobs. This bill kills jobs.

And what is most egregious is the ''Buy American'' provision. We're not only helping the gulf; we're patriotic. Oh, my gosh. But let's look at it.

We haven't built a deepwater rig from beginning to end in over 10 years in the United States. By June of 2011, we've got to create the infrastructure and put out the rigs in order to drill. Now what we do do here is the high value-added, high-tech buildup on top of the hull type job. Those are gone because we don't have the capability to build the hull.

This bill is supposed to help the Louisiana gulf coast. The Louisiana gulf coast says, ''Keep your help. We would rather have our jobs.''

Mr. RAHALL. May I have the time on all sides, please, Mr. Chairman, and who has the right to close.

The CHAIR. The gentleman from West Virginia has 8¼ minutes remaining and the right to close. The gentleman from Florida has 3½ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Washington has 7 minutes remaining.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. KIND), a valued member of our Committee on Natural Resources and very helpful in our efforts to preserve the Land and Water Conservation Fund.

(Mr. KIND asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. KIND. Mr. Chairman, our vote today is a very simple choice. It's a choice of whether we're going to stand with the workers of the oil and gas industry, with the families of the gulf region, with the taxpayers of this country, or whether we choose to stand with the powerful special interests known as Big Oil. I choose to stand with the American people. And here is why.

This legislation is going to increase safety standards to protect workers. It's going to increase the liability limits so that those responsible pay. It's going to reform the ethics standards to end the revolving door between industry and oversight functions. And it's also going to live up to the promise of funding the Land and Water Conservation Fund so that those companies extracting resources on our public lands help conserve and protect our natural resources.

In a little bit, I and others will offer an amendment under the Land and Water Conservation Fund so that a dedicated portion of that increases access for hunters, fishermen and outdoor recreationists to the 35 million acres that are currently cut off and isolated from our use.

This is a good bill. It's necessary in the shadow of the worst oil disaster in our Nation's history. I encourage my colleagues to support it and the amendment that I will be offering.

□ 1420

Mr. MICA. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. SCALISE), a member of the Energy and Commerce Committee.

Mr. SCALISE. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman from Washington for yielding.

I rise in opposition to the CLEAR Act, and the only thing clear about this legislation is that it's going to raise $22 billion in new taxes on American families and run more jobs overseas.

If you look at the bill, first of all, when you talk about their $22 billion tax, which, by the way, is yet one more violation of President Obama's pledge that he won't tax American families that make below $250,000, because they are going to pay the bulk of their new tax. It also discriminates by only applying it to American energy producers.

As people's heating bills are going to be going up in the winter, and their gas bills are going to be going up all throughout the year, they are going to be wondering, what is this liberal leadership running Congress doing? They are raising taxes on American families and running off more jobs when the provisions in this bill actually make it harder for our domestic energy producers to continue operating because the bill preserves Big Oil's ability to bid on future leases. But it eliminates 70 percent of their competition, the small domestic guys who are out there doing the same kind of drilling in a safe and environmentally friendly way. It's bad for jobs. It raises $22 billion in new taxes. This isn't the answer to help the gulf. It only helps OPEC.

Mr. RAHALL. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MICA. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. BOUSTANY).

Mr. BOUSTANY. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Chairman, we in Louisiana have seen this tragedy firsthand, and we know about it more than anybody else in this Chamber.

I will say this, there is an even bigger tragedy, it's the moratorium that's in place today which is leading to a hemorrhage of jobs. Just a couple of days ago, 300 jobs in my hometown gone, 300, and each day it's ratcheting up to a thousand jobs a day.

This is a tragedy. It's a man-made tragedy. It's awful policy. I will tell you, this bill, on top of that tragedy, is going to add to more woe on the gulf coast, running up the cost of American energy production, killing more jobs.

Let me just say this: the President said he wanted to double exports in 5 years. Well, his policies and the policies of our friends across the aisle are going to basically export American jobs.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I am very honored to yield 30 seconds to the chairman of the Education and Labor Committee in honor of the Whistleblower Act, a member of our Natural Resources Committee, the gentleman from California (Mr. GEORGE MILLER).

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. I thank the chairman for this legislation, and I am very happy that this legislation includes a responsible bidder so that the American people will know that those companies that bid on the Outer Continental Shelf, those lands that belong to all Americans, that the companies will be responsible, that we will check their safety records.

We will not once again have a company like BP, which is out there with hundreds and hundreds of violations, while so many of the other companies that operate on the Outer Continental Shelf have minimal violations, one and two, and this company is completely out of control. We've got to make sure that the American taxpayer, that the American environment and the American Outer Continental Shelf are protected by responsible bidders.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Chairman, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. CAO).

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman.

The CHAIR. The gentleman from Louisiana is recognized for 2 minutes.

Mr. CAO. Mr. Chairman, for the past 3 months I have lived with my people down there in the gulf coast. I have cried with them, I have sat with them as they filed their claims. I went out in boats with them as they were cleaning up the oil, so I fully understand what my people need.

I appreciate the congressional leadership trying to address a bill that will help my people, but H.R. 3534 does not do it. This bill doesn't create jobs, it destroys them. This bill doesn't clean up our shorelines, it creates task forces and layers of bureaucracy that will talk about them.

This bill does not preserve our livelihood, it will devastate our way of life. This bill maintains a moratorium that is killing thousands of jobs in Louisiana.

Where is the short-term and long-term funding to protect our coastline and to restore the oyster beds in fishing areas? Where are the comprehensive short-term and long-term job transition plans for displaced workers? Where is the long-term plan to address the mental and public health crisis, including the compound effect of multiple crises?

Where are the jobs?

My colleagues and I tried to amend this bill to address these issues and make sure that these three critical areas, environmental, economic and health, were addressed in this bill. This bill does not protect the people of the gulf coast. It is fundamentally disingenuous to tout any bill not addressing these three areas as a comprehensive oil spill response bill.

My gulf coast colleagues and I will continue to fight for the needs of my people directly in harm's way.

Mr. RAHALL. I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Maryland, a valued member of our Natural Resources Committee, Mr. SARBANES.

Mr. SARBANES. Mr. Chairman, I want to thank Chairman RAHALL for his leadership on this critical legislation. I was pleased to work with the chairman to ensure that CEOs of oil companies are held accountable for the safety of their company's drilling operations.

We developed language included in the legislation that requires oil company CEOs to certify their drilling and spill response plan capabilities before receiving a permit to proceed. That language has been further strengthened by adding a provision to impose civil penalties on any CEO that files a false certification.

Penalties of consequence will force CEOs to take this process seriously and make it significantly less likely that companies submit inferior or faulty plans. The best CEOs will take this requirement in stride, recognizing it is a fair expectation of them. This provision will ensure accountability and make it less likely that a spill of this consequence will happen in the first place.

I rise today in strong support of the Consolidated Land, Energy and Aquatic Resources Act (H.R. 3534). The legislation includes significant and wide-ranging reforms to ensure that oil and gas development on federal lands and waters is only done when it can be transparent and safe.

The BP Deepwater Horizon Oil Spill has reinforced my very serious concerns about the effect of offshore drilling on coastal communities and maritime ecosystems. The tragedy in the Gulf of Mexico, which claimed the life of 11 people and released millions of gallons of crude oil into a fragile marine ecosystem, is a sad reminder of the inherent safety, environmental, and economic risks associated with offshore drilling. Oil drilling operations, no matter how expensive or technologically advanced, can never completely eliminate the risk of a major disaster. Like other accidents in the past, the long-term impact of this spill on the Gulf coast's fragile wetlands and local fishing communities will be devastating and long lasting.

BP actually had a response plan to deal with the Gulf of Mexico oil spill. Unfortunately, it was a farce. The plan listed a wildlife expert that had been deceased since 2005 and said that sensitive biological resources in the Gulf included walruses, sea otters, sea lions and seals, none of which actually live there. BP also stated that it could handle a worst case oil discharge scenario 10 times the size of the Deepwater Horizon disaster. They clearly did not take this important responsibility seriously. Even when these glaring inaccuracies were made public, no single official at BP was responsible for the plan.

As this legislation was considered in the Committee on Natural Resources, I worked with Chairman RAHALL to include language making the CEO at each oil company directly responsible for certifying the safety and adequacy of their drilling and spill response plans. I also offered an amendment today, included in the manager's amendment, which would subject the CEO to civil penalties if he or she files a false certification or their company fails to develop or maintain the capabilities included in their response plans. This requirement and the potential penalties should result in self-correcting behavior, forcing CEOs to take this process seriously and making it significantly less likely that companies submit inferior or faulty plans.

It is imperative that there be clear consequences for substandard response plans or we could have a repeat of the disaster that unfolded in the Gulf of Mexico this summer. Adding this amendment ensures there is accountability when a CEO certifies a faulty plan and makes it much more likely that companies will appropriately scrutinize those plans. I believe that responsible CEOs will recognize this new requirement for what it is—a very basic standard that should be a best practice for responsible companies anyway. But for those who try to cut corners, this framework will certainly give them pause because there are real consequences for irresponsible behavior.

I also strongly support the funding included in this bill for conservation of natural, historic and cultural sites around the Nation. The legislation allocates a small portion of offshore drilling fees to the Land and Water Conservation Fund for the preservation of vital land and water resources throughout the Nation. First envisioned by President Eisenhower, we have neglected this fund for far too long. Today this legislation delivers on past promises and supports the conservation of environmentally sensitive lands and critical habitat, especially shoreline areas such as those on the Chesapeake Bay. It also allows for conservation of rivers, lakes, recreational areas, and trails, as well as state and local parks for biking, hunting, fishing, and wildlife watching. Finally, the legislation provides resources for the Historic Preservation Fund to maintain our national historic sites that add so much to the character and culture of our Nation.

I strongly support this much needed legislation and I would encourage my fellow Members to support this bill.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BRADY).

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Chairman, this bill is a thinly disguised roadblock, a permanent roadblock to American energy.

It will drive American companies out of the gulf, delay future drilling, increase dependence on foreign oil, kill 300,000 good-paying U.S. energy jobs and levy a new $22 billion tax on American energy, but not on foreign oil. It includes a protectionist measure that the White House itself is troubled about that invites retaliation, will kill U.S. jobs and prevent repairs from occurring in U.S. shipyards.

This is a choice between American energy workers and foreign oil. No Texas lawmaker, no gulf State lawmaker can support this bill and say they truly care about energy workers' jobs in America.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. STUPAK).

Mr. STUPAK. I rise to thank Chairwoman SLAUGHTER and Chairman RAHALL for accepting my amendment reaffirming the permanent ban on oil and gas drilling the in and under the Great Lakes.

I also want to thank Chairman MILLER for joining with me in adding protections from bad actors that pollute the environment, endanger worker safety and threaten the health and welfare of the public.

This legislation prevents these bad corporate actors from being awarded Federal leases and drilling permits. Whether it's BP in the Gulf of Mexico or Enbridge pipeline in Michigan, we need to give Federal regulators the flexibility to prevent oil companies with poor safety and environmental records from accessing our natural resources in reckless disregard for safety and our environment.

□ 1430

As chair of the Energy and Commerce Oversight Investigation Subcommittee, I have held four hearings on the Deepwater Horizon spill and uncovered serious problems of how BP cut corners to save money that led to the gulf oil spill. This legislation begins to correct these problems, and I urge my colleagues to vote for this legislation.

The CHAIR. The gentleman from West Virginia has 4¾ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Florida has 3 minutes remaining. The gentleman from Washington State has 2½ minutes remaining.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I am very pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. GENE GREEN).

Mr. GENE GREEN of Texas. I want to thank my colleague from Washington State for allowing me 1 minute.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong opposition to H.R. 3534, the CLEAR Act, because it will kill jobs, increase our reliance on foreign oil, and has become a vehicle for controversial and extraneous provisions that do not address the issues at hand—the safety of our offshore oil production.

I am proud to represent a district that does everything energy, from constituents who work offshore, to service companies, to refineries, to chemical plants downstream. I strongly support making production safer and cleaner, whether it's offshore, on land, or in our industrial facilities.

No one questions unlimited liability on the responsible party for all environmental cleanup costs, but this bill goes so far that it would make it unlimited also for whatever economic damage. What is going to happen is it will put at serious risk competitive investment in the Gulf of Mexico and potentially precipitate a future energy affordability crisis. Effective legislation can be achieved that will ensure the continued development of the gulf resources in a responsible and safe manner while preserving the ability of our independent oil and gas exploration and production companies to operate offshore.

This legislation will instead make it impossible for these producers, most of which are small businesses, to get insurance to drill and drive hundreds of production and servicing companies out of business.

This is the last thing the Gulf Coast and our recovering economy needs.

If you want to eliminate jobs and hundreds of small businesses, vote for this bill.

Secondly, this bill contains several extraneous provisions that have nothing to do with ensuring the safety of our offshore production. In football, we call this piling on.

Section 728 of the bill subjects oil and gas construction activities to storm water discharge permits—a regulatory requirement inappropriate for oil and gas operations, which could place entire projects and significant capital at risk and has nothing to do with safety.

This provision mischaracterizes the issue, placing preparatory steps for oil and gas production in the same category as building construction. These are two very different things.

The Department of Energy estimates that such regulation could result in the loss of future production up to ten percent of both current U.S. oil production and current U.S. natural gas production. Again, if you want to kill U.S. jobs, vote for this bill.

Section 802 of the bill imposes a conservation fee of $2 per barrel of oil, or 20 cents per million BTU of natural gas, for production from all new and existing federal onshore and offshore leases, a cost that will eventually be passed on to consumers.

While I am a member of the Sportsman's Caucus and a strong support of the Land and Water Conservation Fund, this fee targets onshore production, which has no place in a bill responding to the BP oil spill.

Section 241 compels companies to renegotiate their 1996–2000 deepwater royalty relief leases or else be ineligible to bid on new leases.

This has nothing to do with responding to the BP oil spill.

For these reasons and others, I strongly encourage my colleagues to vote against this bill.

This bill will kill jobs, hurt our domestic production, and has become a vehicle for controversial and extraneous provisions that do not address the issue at hand.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to another gentleman from Texas affected by this, the distinguished gentleman, Mr. GOHMERT.

Mr. GOHMERT. Mr. Chairman, at a time when we're billions of dollars behind on what we need to spend to keep up our parks and the Federal land that's owned right now, this bill irresponsibly adds $900 million per year for 30 years. It's not enough that we're going to put children in debt for generations; now we're going to keep spending money they don't want spent. They want us to stop the bleeding so the body can get healthy again.

One thing about this CLEAR Act is clear: It's going to cause more people to lose jobs, it's going to hurt more State and local governments by buying more land the Federal Government can't take care of, but takes that land off the rolls. Please, for goodness sake, let's stop the bleeding—and in this case the gushing forth of this Nation's blood and its tax dollars—and vote this down.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Washington (Mr. INSLEE), another member of our Natural Resources Committee.

(Mr. INSLEE asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. INSLEE. Mr. Chairman, Republicans and Democrats mourned the losses in the gulf, and it is very disappointing that my Republican friends will not stand to try to prevent this tragedy.

The fact is, oil is killing the oceans in many ways—in one way, in a small way, by this giant oil slick, but in a large way because of carbon pollution. I just think we can't have this debate without recognizing this. In fact, every oil well that we drill puts carbon pollution in the atmosphere when we burn that oil. That carbon pollution then goes into the oceans, into solution, and that carbon pollution makes carbonic acid. The oceans today are 30 percent more acidic because of the oil we burn.

Let me show you what this has done to the bottom of the food chain. This is a picture of plankton, what happens when you expose it to ocean water that is as acidic as it will be at the end of the century; plankton dissolve in the water.

This bill is not too much; if anything, it is too little. Our Nation needs an energy policy so we stop carbon pollution. That is America's destiny.

The CHAIR. The gentleman from West Virginia has 3¾ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Florida has 2 minutes remaining. The gentleman from Washington State has 2½ minutes remaining.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I am glad to yield 30 seconds to the distinguished chairman of the Defense Appropriations Subcommittee, Mr. DICKS.

(Mr. DICKS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DICKS. Mr. Chairman, I rise in very strong support of this legislation.

My colleague, Congressman INSLEE from Washington State, talked about ocean acidification. This is one of the most serious issues that the planet faces. This legislation also will free up money, make it mandatory, and land and water conservation does preserve the right of the appropriations committee to appropriate that money, but we'll get those dollars that we haven't been getting before. We also have a provision in here for the oceans.

So this is a great bill. I urge all my colleagues to vote for it today.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. BLUMENAUER).

Mr. BLUMENAUER. I appreciate the gentleman's courtesy.

Mr. Chairman, this is about keeping faith with the American public. It's not the end, but it's an important beginning.

Large oil companies pay some of the lowest fees to American taxpayers compared to what oil companies pay anywhere in the world while enjoying unnecessarily expensive, outmoded tax breaks. And some, by bookkeeping errors, pay no royalties at all while they extract oil. Under this legislation, they will have to choose between continuing this rip-off or getting future leases.

It will make the Land and Water Conservation Fund properly funded, making an impact on communities all across the country, and it leverages new resources. It does all this, as the chairman says, with a net benefit of deficit reduction of $5.3 billion over the next 5 years.

Protect the taxpayer, protect the environment, and improve our communities by approving this legislation.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the balance of my time to close for the T&I Committee.

The CHAIR. The gentleman is recognized for 2 minutes.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Chairman, I was hoping we could have come here in a bipartisan effort to pass legislation that would have made certain that the tragic spill, the loss of life, be prevented, that we never see that happen off America's shores again. We do need domestic oil production. We don't want to be beholden to foreign fossil fuels.

Unfortunately, this bill misses the mark. Unfortunately, this bill is the typical Democrat solution. It imposes huge taxes—$22 billion in taxes. It overregulates.

Yes, we want proper regulation. We saw where the mark was missed. We saw where the law did not keep up with technology. Though let me say we missed the mark, too, in holding people responsible. We must hold people responsible, and that is whether it is BP or anyone who had anything to do with this or whether it is the administration officials who stamped the permit allowing the drilling to proceed in deep water, as they did, without the proper protections of the environment.

Only 27 deepwater wells off the coast—only 27—have exploration, have production. This administration missed the mark. We want these people held responsible, and we also want it in law. You know, the guy who issued that permit, that one-page permit with a flawed backup cleanup for oil spills, is still on the job. He is in charge of the moratorium, which is another overreach that put people out of work, instead of being in charge of going down and making certain that the production and that those exploration wells were doing well.

They missed the mark. That is a shame for the American people, and it is a shame for the future of containing the tragedy we have seen here.

I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Chairman, this debate has been very interesting because most of the talk on the other side of the aisle has been on the oil spill. Most of the talk on this side of the aisle has been on the increased taxes and on the increased spending.

There is broad agreement that we have to respond in a responsible way to what happened, to the tragedy in the gulf. Nobody argues with that. There is broad support on this side. What we object to—and we have said this over and over and over again—is the extraneous material that is added to this bill.

I didn't hear anybody, for example, on the other side defend the huge tax increases that are embodied in this bill. I didn't hear anybody on the other side of the aisle defend the $30 billion entitlement that is embodied in this bill. That is what our concern is because that is in this bill. As a matter of fact, in my opening remarks, I made reference to the tax increases, and my good friend, the chairman of the Transportation Committee, wondered about the tax increases. I pointed them out to him. They're on page 224. To his credit, he came up here and said, You're right. I appreciate that very much because that really is what the issue is.

If you want to get bipartisan approval dealing with the gulf coast oil crisis, we can do that in a bipartisan way, but don't add extraneous material. That is our objection to this bill, because extraneous material is increased taxes, more spending, resulting in a loss of jobs.

I urge my colleagues to vote ''no'' on this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The CHAIR. The gentleman from West Virginia has the right to close and has 2¼ minutes remaining.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, the Republicans are at it again—apologizing for Big Oil against the interests of the American people.

The fact of the matter is that House Republicans were for a conservation fee before they were against it, and now they're coming to the floor today and accusing the majority of all of these huge tax increases, but they are opposed to the CLEAR Act. House Republicans voted for a $9 conservation fee in energy legislation sponsored by the former Republican Congressman, now Governor of Louisiana, Bobby Jindal. That vote was on June 29, 2006. I have it here: 192 Republicans voted ''yes'' for a $9 conservation fee, and 155 Democrats voted against it.

What is the difference between then and now? I'll tell you the difference. The Democrats' fee is smaller and Big Oil is richer. That is the difference. The House has passed similar conservation fees with Republican support four different times since 2007, and I could list them.

The fact of the matter is the conservation fee will have no impact on the prices at the pump. As we all know, the prices at the pump are determined by the world market. The $2 per barrel fee will be paid for by Big Oil, not by the American consumer. So I respond by saying the Republicans' raising this conservation fee as a tax increase is simply not true.

The Republicans will also say that we are proposing $30 billion in mandatory spending that is unrelated to the oil spill. We just heard my dear friend and ranking member say that. Not true. There they go again—apologizing for Big Oil.

The fact is that the Land and Water Conservation Fund was visualized by Dwight Eisenhower, proposed by John Kennedy, signed into law by Lyndon Johnson, and is financed by royalties from offshore oil and gas drilling. The dollars raised from depleting one of our natural resources goes toward protecting another. The LWCS is a decades-old promise to the American people that, if we allow energy companies to deplete public resources off our shores, we will require them to dedicate that back in order to help our people and to help our coastlines. That's what this bill is all about.

I urge support.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chair, I submit the following:

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR,
Cheyenne, WY, July 27, 2010.

Hon. NANCY PELOSI,
Speaker of the House, Office of the Speaker, U.S. Capitol, Washington, DC.

DEAR SPEAKER PELOSI: The State of Wyoming has deep concerns at the haste with which Congress is attempting to legislate new oil and gas regulatory processes under H.R. 5626. Provisions which have been added to this bill would affect onshore leasing and energy production and rob the States of their traditional role of overseeing energy production within the States. I urge you to delay action until more definitive information can be obtained and provided to Members of Congress.

Based on the hearings and focus that Congress to date has brought to bear on the tragedy in the Gulf, an expansion of the intended reach of any legislation to respond to this offshore spill and precipitously cover onshore energy production would be a mistake. The State of Wyoming has had effective regulation of the oil and natural gas industry through a variety of programs designed to gather and share information, technology and best regulatory methods for several decades.

The implications of the bill's encroachment to onshore energy leasing and production are ominous as it represents a takeover of state regulation of well construction and permitting and gives it to the Federal government at the expense of long-established State authority. Such preemption would occur whenever the Department of the Interior determines that a state is not adequately regulating oil and gas, or because of citizen lawsuit. This is overreach of the first order.

The State of Wyoming has a proven history of oversight of the energy industry and has effectively overseen industry activity without federal oversight for decades. Regulatory requirements and inspections of well sites are important components of our state program and the prevention of accidents and environmental protection are among our highest priorities.

It is my view that the federal government lacks both the justification and the expertise to effectively oversee oil and natural gas production in the State of Wyoming and I urge you to reject the preemption of Wyoming's and other State's authority to perform this important function.

Sincerely,

DAVE FREUDENTHAL,
Governor.

JULY 29, 2010.

DEAR TEXAS CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION: We write to express our strong disagreement with provisions in pending legislation that threaten the rights of states to regulate oil and gas exploration and production on state lands and waters. We call on you to reject any proposal that interferes with state regulation of oil and gas safety, exploration and production on non-federal land and waters.

The Deepwater Horizon disaster and the subsequent impacts on the Gulf Coast states occurred on the federal government's watch. The Macondo well is located in a federal offshore lease area. The federal Minerals Management Service and the U.S. Department of the Interior failed to properly evaluate, oversee and regulate drilling in federal waters. It is the federal government that is managing the containment and cleanup effort. It is agencies of the federal government that are engaged in unjustified efforts to impose indiscriminate and illegal drilling moratoria, adding economic insult to injury.

In light of these federal failures, it is incomprehensible that the United States Congress is entertaining proposals that expand federal authority over oil and gas drilling in state waters and lands long regulated by states. Several bills and amendments to be considered this week, for the first time in the history of our nation, attack successful state laws and agencies regulating oil and gas exploration and production on state or private lands and waters. Furthermore, some of these proposals grant unilateral discretion to an unelected federal bureaucrat as to whether or not to allow states to continue regulatory systems established by duly elected state officials, and even create the possibility that such authority would be given to an official recently found by the federal courts to have engaged in arbitrary and capricious decisionmaking on this very topic.

While Congress has every right to consider whatever regulation it deems appropriate on activities in federal lands and waters, it is not permitted to force states to submit their successful state regulations and laws to a federal agency for approval and allow that agency to unilaterally dictate changes. As you well know, the 10th Amendment to the United States Constitution states, ''powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.'' Laws like the one you are considering are unfounded and dangerously destructive of state sovereignty.

We request that Congress respect our state safety and energy laws. Federal laws and regulations failed to stop the Deepwater Horizon disaster. Given the track record, putting the federal government in charge of energy production on state lands and waters not only breaks years of successful precedent and threatens the 10th Amendment to the United States Constitution, but it also undermines common sense and threatens the environmental and economic security of our state's citizens.

Sincerely,

Rick Perry, Governor; David Dewhurst, Lieutenant Governor; Joe Straus, Speaker of the House. Greg Abbott, Attorney General; Jerry Patterson, Land Commissioner; Victor G. Carrillo, Chair, Railroad Commission of Texas; Elizabeth Ames Jones, Commissioner, Railroad Commission of Texas; Michael L. Williams, Commissioner, Railroad Commission of Texas; Troy Fraser, Chair, Senate Committee on Natural Resources; James L. ''Jim'' Keffer, Chair, House Committee on Energy Resources.

ALLIANT,
Houston, TX, May 10, 2010.

Hon. ROBERT MENENDEZ,
U.S. Senator, Senate Hart Office Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR SENATOR MENENDEZ: We are retail insurance brokers. Among our clients are offshore contractors, operators and non-operators, both small and large market cap independent entities, with interests in the US Gulf of Mexico. Our clients are involved in almost every aspect of offshore exploration and development work. We have been asked to comment upon the amount of insurance that is available from the commercial insurance market for third party pollution liability for operators and non-operators before and after the Macondo well incident. Prior to the incident, we estimate the maximum working capacity available in the commercial insurance market (i.e., the limit which could be purchased) was $1.5 billion (for 100% interest—i.e., the limit to be shared between operators and non-operators in any common endeavor). Subsequent to the Macondo incident, we believe the available working capacity has reduced by 15% and the cost involved in procuring this capacity is and will be significantly higher than the pricing prior to the incident.

If, as we understand, there is legislation under consideration which would materially increase the liability cap for economic damages from its current level of $75 million, based on our experience operators and non-operators in the US Gulf of Mexico will be unable to obtain adequate protection from insurance. The increase of the liability cap will impact the economic structure of Gulf of Mexico operations. If the liability cap is increased to the levels we understand are under consideration, the fact that adequate insurance protection is not available will dramatically limit the participants in ongoing exploration and production activities—in our view only major oil companies and NOCs (National Oil Companies) will be financially strong enough to continue current exploration and development efforts.

Yours very truly,

BENJAMIN D. WILCOX,
Executive Vice President and Director, Marine and Energy.

NATIONAL OCEAN INDUSTRIES ASSOCIATION,
Washington, DC, June 8, 2010.

Hon. BARBARA BOXER,
Chair, Senate Environment & Public Works Committee, Dirksen Senate Office Building, Washington, DC.

Hon. JAMES M. INHOFE,
Ranking Member, Senate Environment & Public Works Committee, Dirksen Senate Office Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR SENATORS BOXER AND INHOFE: Tomorrow, the Environment & Public Works Committee will be conducting a legislative hearing on S. 3305, the ''Big Oil Bailout Prevention Liability Act of 2010.'' The National Ocean Industries Association opposes this legislation in its current form.

In the wake of the immense economic and environmental impacts still developing in the Gulf, we understand the desire of some in Congress to take immediate action, whether it be to re-impose outright drilling bans or raise liability caps on the offshore industry. As Congress and the Administration continue to investigate the Deepwater Horizon accident, it is very apparent that until we firmly understand what vent wrong, it is premature to dictate broad and possibly counter-productive solutions.

There are numerous hearings and investigations underway to delve into the root causes of the tragic explosion on the Deepwater Horizon and resulting loss of well control. This week alone, various Committees in Congress are conducting nine separate hearings. Clearly, new information is pouring in.

In the meantime, an unprecedented response and cleanup effort is underway involving over 17,000 people and thousands of private and government vessels. The offshore industry is participating fully and is also hard at work to stem the flow of oil and protect the shorelines and natural resources of the Gulf of Mexico. NOIA member companies are assisting BP in its response efforts, and stand ready to cooperate in hearings and investigations.

In addition, the Administration has initiated investigations through several avenues, which should allow the federal government and the American people to put all the pieces of the puzzle together for a complete picture. Once complete, this picture will provide valuable information on strategic, targeted measures for possible reforms in planning, permitting, inspections, regulatory and statutory regimes.

The companies involved in the Deepwater. Horizon tragedy have indicated their intent to pay for damages and economic impacts beyond the current liability cap of $75 million, so calls for limitless liability may be a solution in search of a real problem. One thing that is clear is that raising the liability caps as high as $10 billion or beyond will drive most non-international producers out of the Gulf of Mexico. This means less domestic energy production and more imports of oil from politically unstable regions, along with increased transportation of oil. The resulting concentration of domestic offshore energy production will be in the hands of a few multinational or nationalized companies.

In addition, I encourage our policy makers to remember that, despite this tragedy, America's need for domestic energy has not changed and OCS development remains a vital part of our overall national energy picture. Nearly a third of our domestic oil comes from the Gulf of Mexico. No one can argue the fact that demand for energy will only continue to increase for the foreseeable future.

We should resist the impulse toward knee jerk reactions and proceed carefully when making decisions that affect the future of our nation's energy supply.

Sincerely,

BURT ADAMS,
Chairman, National Ocean Industries Association.

REASONED DEBATE NEEDED TO AMEND ENERGY LEGISLATION

(By Senator James Inhofe)

As oil continues to leak into the Gulf, President Barack Obama and the Democratic leadership face a critical test: Will they seek prudent measures to directly address the BP disaster or will they exploit the tragedy by advancing extraneous measures that drastically reduce domestic energy production, or even enact new energy taxes on consumers and small businesses?

My sincere hope is that President Obama exhibits the leadership necessary to engage in a reasoned debate—one that produces the same outcome following the Exxon Valdez disaster in 1989. After a year-long debate and bipartisan negotiation, Congress unanimously passed the Oil Pollution Act in 1990. The OPA has largely been untested, and some of my colleagues believe it should be updated to account for new realities produced by the BP spill. I couldn't agree more.

Yet the leading proposal to amend the OPA could severely curtail domestic energy production in the Gulf. The ''Big Oil Bailout Prevention Act,'' introduced by Sen. Robert Menendez (D–N.J.), is ostensibly motivated by the desire to make BP, not the taxpayers, pay for the tragedy it unleashed. No one disagrees with that. And no one disagrees that BP must fairly and expeditiously compensate the various business owners now out of work because of BP's actions. But if the Menendez bill becomes law, more than BP could pay: The estimated 150,000 workers connected to the offshore oil and natural gas industry could pay with their jobs and their livelihoods.

As Federal District Court Judge Martin Feldman wrote in his decision yesterday overturning the Obama administration's wrong-headed moratorium on deepwater production, ''Oil and gas production is quite simply elemental to Gulf communities.'' This, and the other elemental fact that Gulf energy production is essential to America's economy, is the principal reason Congress should deliberate carefully on Gulf spill legislation.

I have objected four times to attempts to circumvent the committee process and pass the Menendez bill in the Senate. Emotions are no doubt running high, but we must resist the urge to let emotion dictate the course of deliberations. The legal and regulatory issues involved in legislating on this issue are intricate and complex and therefore should compel us to think carefully about how to proceed.

I take pause on Menendez because of what the experts are telling us. The bill could make exploration and production so costly that only Big Oil companies such as BP, and state-owned firms, such as China's National Offshore Oil Corporation, could afford to operate in the Gulf. Consider INDECS insurance, which said of the Menendez bill: ''If we have understood the proposals correctly, then it would appear to us that the proposed bill will not act as 'Big Oil Bailout Prevention Liability Act of 2010', rather making it impossible for anyone other than 'Big Oil' to operate.''

For a time, the Obama administration shared this view. Just after the Menendez bill was introduced, Interior Secretary Ken Salazar told the Senate Energy Committee that, ''It is important that we be thoughtful relative to that, what that cap will be, because you don't want only the BP's of the world essentially be the ones that are involved in these efforts, that there are companies of lesser economic robustness.'' That the view of the administration then rashly changed to endorse Menendez raises a question: what changed?

One can only speculate; I regret that partisanship may have intervened. Whatever the reason, we need a workable solution that balances the important values of energy production, environmental protection, safety and fairness for affected parties. The Senate Committee on Environment and Public Works, on which I serve as Ranking Member, plans to markup the Menendez bill next week. I hope before then the committee, and then the full Senate, can agree to a bipartisan solution that achieves appropriate balance.

That balance certainly won't be achieved if Democratic leaders insist on attaching energy taxes and other unrelated provisions to the eventual spill bill. And it certainly won't be achieved if they insist on enacting a political agenda animated by aversion to domestic energy production. Nevertheless, I will continue work with my colleagues to craft legislation that holds oil companies accountable without putting jobs and America's energy security at risk.

LOUISIANA OIL & GAS ASSOCIATION,
Baton Rouge, LA, June 30, 2010.

DEAR MEMBERS OF THE EPW COMMITTEE: We have just received a copy of Chairwoman Boxer's second amendment to S. 3305. This poison pill amendment seeks to end offshore drilling by mandating truly unachievable regulations on the offshore oil industry.

We write you today to state our adamant opposition to this amendment as it amounts to a permanent moratorium on deepwater drilling in the United States. We strongly believe we must learn from the mistakes of the Deepwater Horizon incident to ensure safe and effective offshore drilling. However, offshore jobs are critical to the economic success of Louisiana, the Gulf Coast and the energy independence of America.

Senator Boxer's second amendment would impose a permanent moratorium on deepwater drilling in the United States and kill tens of thousands of jobs.

The language imposes unachievable mandates because the mandates are undefined. The uncertainty associated with these undefined mandates, and the amendment in its entirety, present insurmountable obstacles for the oil industry to operate.

We strongly urge you to vote against this permanent moratorium and pursue more reasonable legislation that promotes safe and effective drilling practices.

Sincerely,

DON G. BRIGGS,
President.

Mr. BISHOP of Utah. Mr. Chair, I submit the following:

LOCKTON COMPANIES, LLC.,
Houston, TX, May 13, 2010.

Hon. ROBERT MENENDEZ,
U.S. Senator, Senate Hart Office Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR SENATOR MENENDEZ: Lockton Companies is the largest privately owned insurance broker in the world, and through Lockton Marine & Energy in Houston, we service the insurance needs of many energy companies operating in the Gulf of Mexico. Specifically, we specialize in the small to midsize independent exploration and production companies that are very active in drilling wells in the shallow and deepwater Gulf of Mexico. In fact, two of our clients are in the top 10 largest lease holders and/or most active drillers in the Gulf of Mexico; however, they are relatively small companies. Exploration and production companies are supported by thousands of workers all along the Gulf Coast from their own employees to many small to midsized service companies' employees. The Bureau of Labor and Statistics reported that there were well over 100,000 petroleum-related workers and greater than $12 billion in total wages earned in the Gulf Coast Region alone.

Insurance is critical to our clients and all small to midsized energy companies operating in the Gulf of Mexico. All of the companies operating in the Gulf of Mexico essentially go to the same insurance market to purchase their liability insurance coverage. The insurance market for offshore operations is relatively small, and prior to the Macondo well incident, we estimated the total market capacity for third-party pollution liability to be $1.3 billion to $1.6 billion. Following the Macondo well event, we estimate the capacity has dropped to $1 billion to $1.2 billion. Furthermore, the cost for the insurance coverage has increased substantially.

The market for Oil Pollution Act (OPA) coverage is an even smaller market, with total capacity of $200 to $300 million. While large exploration and production companies are able to certify on the basis of their balance sheet, most small and midsized companies are dependent on purchasing OPA coverage in the commercial insurance market.

We understand there is legislation under consideration which could significantly increase the liability cap for economic damages from the current level of $75 million. Given the limited capacity in the energy insurance market, a material increase in the cap will eliminate insurance as an option for many exploration and production companies. Without insurance, many of the active exploration and production companies would be unable to operate in the Gulf of Mexico. This decision will affect thousands of people, their families and their local economies.

We respectfully request you give this issue careful consideration, and we are more than happy to provide supporting information on the energy insurance market providing insurance for the Gulf of Mexico.

Sincerely,

JOHN A. RATHMELL, Jr.

INSURANCE INFORMATION INSTITUTE,
New York, NY, July 19, 2010.

Hon. JIM OBERSTAR,
Chairman, House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN OBERSTAR: Thank you once again for the opportunity to testify before the House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure's June 9, 2010, hearing on the ''Liability and Financial Responsibility for Oil Spills under the Oil Pollution Act of 1990 and Related Statutes.''

It has recently come to my attention that my testimony may have been misinterpreted and that this misinterpretation may have influenced language in the drafting of H.R. 5629, the ''Oil Spill Accountability and Environmental Protection Act of 2010.'' Specifically, in Section 3 of the June 29 draft, the Act would increase the minimum level of proof of financial responsibility for an offshore facility to $1.5 billion.

The rationale for the increase to $1.5 billion figure has been upon occasion traced back to my testimony in which I discuss the current insurable limits of liability for offshore operators. However, the $1.5 billion figure from my testimony is a maximum available limit for third-party liability coverage for the largest of operators, not a suggested limit for certificates of financial responsibility (COFR).

On page 6 of my written testimony I state the following about limits of third-party liability coverage:

''In terms of capacity, the typical third-party liability limit purchased by large operators is approximately $1 billion.''

On page 12, I reaffirm my prior statement:

''As discussed earlier in this testimony, the typical maximum available limit of third-party liability coverage in the offshore energy market today is approximately $1 billion and with perhaps as much as $1.2 billion to $1.5 billion available under some circumstances.''

My statement is clearly distinct from any comment on the appropriate limits for a COFR. Consequently, the use of the $1.5 billion figure in the draft legislation is inappropriate. Indeed, there are several problems associated with adopting a $1.5 billion proof of financial responsibility in the legislation current under consideration:

1. The $1.5 billion figure in my testimony is for total per incident third-party liability coverage available in the private insurance market for large offshore operators. Such a figure therefore should not and cannot be construed as the necessary or available COFR limit for operators of all size;

2. Such limits are not available (or affordable) to smaller operators;

3. There is not sufficient capacity within the offshore energy insurance industry to provide $1.5 billion in coverage limits to all operators;

4. The size of the COFR requirement should reflect the size and nature of the drilling operation, rather than applying a uniform COFR across all operators;

To summarize, imposing a $1.5 billion proof of financial responsibility requirement on all offshore operators is not feasible. There simply does not exist anywhere near enough capacity in the insurance sector to meet such a requirement.

It has been my pleasure to provide input on this very important issue. Consequently, I hope that the clarification of my testimony provided above is of use to the Committee as it continues to consider the details of this legislation.

If you or your staff have any questions or comments, please do not hesitate to give me a call at (212) 346–5520 or to send me an email at bobh@iii.org.

LLOYD & PARTNERS LIMITED,
London, England, May 10, 2010.

Re Deepwater Horizon/Macondo Well Incident.

To Whom it May Concern:

ABOUT LLOYD & PARTNERS

Lloyd & Partners is a London and Bermuda based Major Account (complex risk) insurance broker specialising in onshore and offshore energy insurance with premiums placed annually in excess of USD1.5bn. Overall Lloyd & Partners employs over 200 people and our 40 plus strong Energy team is one of the largest and most respected teams in the London market. We arrange both Property and Liability Insurance for a wide range of Energy insureds including integrated oil companies, exploration & production companies and drilling/service contractors.

Available Liability Insurance Capacity under normal Insurance conditions (policies with normal terms and conditions)

Prior to tine recent Gulf of Mexico drilling incident, worldwide third party pollution liability capacity for offshore energy operations was in excess of USD1.5bn for each insured on a 100% basis (meaning the limits scaled to an individual insured working interest in a project).

Whilst the insurance market previously attempted to limit their ''clash'' exposures (where they could pick up a loss from more than one insured from the same loss) by scaling their limits to an operating group company's working interest, in the main they had previously thought of clashes between operators and contractors as the Joint Operating Agreement would have given them some comfort that only the operator would be liable for a pollution loss, the concern now is that a loss of the nature we are witnessing may result in attempts to hold all the parties responsible regardless of the provisions of the JOA.

We have therefore already seen in the market a realisation that if every party involved in the loss (operating group, drilling contractor, other service contractors—such as mud or cementing contractors—and blowout preventor manufactures) are successfully sued then the market will be exposed to a degree much larger than anticipated when committing capacity to individual insureds. This has already resulted in at least one major London energy liability insurance leader advising us that they are cuffing back their maximum capacity for individual insureds by a third.

At this stage it is really impossible to accurately predict what the exact impact of this loss will have on available capacity but we think it could result in a reduction of such capacity of around 15% to 30%.

Available Liability Insurance Capacity under OPA ''certificates''

Where insurers are asked to provide full coverage under OPA (being strict liability with direct access to insurers and no defence of normal insurance policy terms and conditions) capacity is much more restricted than normal third party liability and we estimate available capacity would be no more than USD150mm—USD200mm.

PRICING

Prior to the recent incident the market was in a ''soft'' phase where rates were low as a result of oversupply of capacity, as not many insureds purchased the full available capacity (typically offshore E&P companies would have purchased on average somewhere around USD 250mm to USD 500mm in limits.)

There is not likely to be pressure from both sides of the supply and demand equation, as capacity shrinks and demand for higher limits materialises (as the recent loss highlights the potential to insureds for a loss of a magnitude higher than most are protected for) which coupled with the fact the market will be looking to recoup the loss they will have to pay out from this latest incident, is likely to result in a significant increase in offshore liability insurance premiums.

PROPOSED CHANGES TO LEGISLATION

Currently OPA provides operators of offshore facilities a limitation of USD 75mm for ''Economic Claims'' (loss of earnings rather than clean-up costs or property damage caused by pollution). Any significant increases in this limit will cause insureds operations in US Waters to face the prospect of significant self insurance, since (depending on the amount) the insurance market will not have sufficient capacity to provide cover for this in addition clean-up costs and third party properties damage suits).

JOHN LLOYD,
Chairman and CEO.

INDEPENDENT PETROLEUM
ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA,
Washington, DC, June 7, 2010.

Hon. BARBARA BOXER,
Chair, Environment and Public Works Committee, Dirksen Senate Building, Washington, DC.

Hon. JIM INHOFE,
Ranking Member, Environment and Public Works Committee, Dirksen Senate Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR SENATORS BOXER AND INHOFE: This Wednesday, the Environment and Public Works Committee will hold a hearing on S. 3305, the ''Big Oil Bailout Prevention Liability Act,'' in response to the current oil spill crisis in the Gulf of Mexico (GOM). The Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA) is opposed to the proposal in its current form.

It is important to note that the tragic events surrounding the Deepwater Horizon incident in the GOM will have a significant impact on American offshore oil and gas exploration and production for years to come. Our thoughts and prayers go out to the families and communities affected by the tragedy in the Gulf of Mexico and we stand ready to help them as we move forward.

Independent producers have operated responsibly in the GOM for decades and hold roughly 90 percent of the leases, producing about 30 percent of GOM oil and more than 60 percent of GOM natural gas. GOM production represents a significant amount of energy supply for consumers all across America, and it remains an essential component of America's energy portfolio. The entire industry is dedicated to working together to protect the environment and to contain the damage from the spill. Many of our member companies have offered supplies and services; others are directly helping with the clean-up efforts.

Controlling the well and protecting the environment are the main priority of the industry today. We support President Obama's independent commission investigating the Deepwater Horizon incident. It is important that a thoughtful, thorough and timely investigation and analysis of the incident is conducted to fully understand what caused the accident and to ensure the proper, improved safety measures are identified and put into practice to prevent incidents in the future. IPAA supports the following principles to address this important issue:

1. Any company operating offshore or onshore should be fully responsible (financial and otherwise) for all clean-up efforts.

2. There must be a fund to ensure that those affected by such incidents (i.e., fishermen, tourism, local businesses, etc.) will be able to fairly recoup lost costs without being caught in fierce litigation with large corporations.

3. The oil industry, collectively, should contribute to this fund and ensure its long-term viability.

These principles are already a part of federal law in the Oil Pollution Act of 1990 (OPA 90) and the Oil Spill Liability Trust Fund (OSLTF). Changes may be needed to update out-of-date OSLTF limits with additional industry funding. However, we are strongly opposed to S. 3305 and other legislative proposals being discussed in Congress that would have negative consequences for independent producers. These changes include increasing offshore liability limits to unrealistic levels that will preclude nearly every company operating in the U.S. offshore from getting insurance to cover their operations. Without the proper insurance coverage, there will not be independent producers with offshore exploration and production—it is that simple. These consequences are not justified based on the performance of independent producers operating in the offshore, who have an outstanding safety and environmental record.

The Congress should not make hasty decisions and advocate legislative and regulatory initiatives that will result in severe limitations to offshore drilling in the United States—consequences that can further harm the Gulf Coast economy. IPAA looks forward to working with the Committee and the entire Congress to find solutions that will allow American producers to continue to operate in the U.S. offshore and explore for the oil and natural gas that is vital to our nation's energy security.

A significant aspect of OPA 90 was the creation of a trust fund filled by crude oil taxes that is intended to be used by injured parties to compensate them for economic damages instead of requiring lengthy litigation. We support the expansion of this industry-wide fund to ensure that future costs and claims are covered and urge the Committee to work within the framework of OPA 90 before taking other actions that will impact American energy production.

The Obama Administration also recently announced a six month moratorium on any offshore drilling in water depths greater than 500 feet. The moratorium includes wellbore sidetracks and bypasses; spudding of any new deepwater wells and is designed to allow the presidential commission investigating the spill to prepare its recommendations. While we understand that many Americans are rightfully concerned about the environmental risks and the safety of offshore drilling, the federal government should methodically review this matter and follow the facts in the incident before taking actions that could impact oil and natural gas production from the offshore for years to come.

A recent analysis conducted by Wood MacKenzie predicted that the moratorium and new regulations will push back into later years 80,000 barrels a day of production scheduled for 2011. The impact of the spill becomes harder to ignore further into the decade. By 2015, Wood MacKenzie predicts stiffer federal offshore permitting and safety regulations will result in more than 350,000 barrels a day of production forecast for that year to be delayed. It is important to note, however, that these predictions assume available capacity for production in the GOM after the current moratorium is lifted. That is an issue that could be in serious jeopardy if rigs currently in the GOM are sent to various parts of the world to begin operations on other projects, and then are not available to return once the moratorium is lifted.

Congress must continue to recognize the importance of energy development in the United States. Rather than enacting legislation such as S. 3305 that will destroy the ability of independent, American oil and gas companies from exploring for energy resources in our nation's offshore areas, we need Congress to create a forward-looking, balanced energy policy that recognizes the role oil and natural gas will continue to play in our nation for years to come. Offshore oil and natural gas production creates jobs, revenues and helps stabilize energy prices for American consumers and helps reduce our reliance on energy supplies from unstable regimes across the globe.

As the facts and information surrounding the Deepwater Horizon incident come forward, our nation must develop a reasonable regulatory program that will allow further offshore oil and gas exploration and production in the United States. Offshore oil and gas production must continue to be an integral part of America's energy portfolio and IPAA is dedicated to finding answers that will help us achieve that goal.

Unfortunately, the implementation of S. 3305 into law would dramatically hinder American production of oil and gas. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

BRUCE VINCENT,
Chairman.

Mr. LAMBORN. Mr. Chair, I submit the following.

INDECS,
May 12, 2010.

Re Proposal to amend the Oil Pollution Act 1990 (OPA 90) and the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

Hon. ROBERT MENENDEZ,
U.S. Senator, Senate Hart Office Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR SIR:

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The energy insurance market has limited financial capacity for pollution. What protection it can offer, sees many terms and conditions contained in the language of the policies issued. These limitations can range from whether a policy covers pollution originating from a reservoir, the absence of a definition for environmental damage, the sharing of limits with other heads of claims, to whether there is negligence on the part of the entity making the claim.

Insurers' ability to issue an insurance certificate to provide a company with its evidence of financial responsibility under OPA 90 is similarly limited. Our current estimates point to a maximum insurance financial capacity of approximately US$250 million for this exposure, with a further US$1.5 billion subject to the exclusions mentioned above.

We detail below many of the areas that need to be considered carefully in this assessment. It is quite clear to us that the ability to transfer any increased risk to the insurance market is very constrained. The extent to which oil companies, other than the super majors, will be able to provide alternative security, must be questionable.

ABOUT INDECS

INDECS is an independent insurance consultancy with over 20 years' experience working across more than thirty countries including the USA. We assist global businesses to aohieve a more effective insurance and risk management strategy. INDECS does not sell insurance, we are not a broker, but provide independent advice to our clients on their insurance and risk management needs.

THE PROPOSED BILL

We understand that two bills have been drafted, in the wake of the Deepwater Horizon catastrophe:

1. To amend the limits of liability for offshore facilities under OPA 90 from US$75 million to US$10 billion

2. To remove the limit of US$1 billion expenditures from the Oil Spill Liability Trust Fund, and to permit advances to be made to the Fund

CURRENT INSURANCE PROTECTION

Under OPA 90, holders of leases or permits for offshore facilities are liable for up to US$75 million per spill plus removal costs.

Under Section 1016 the holder was initially required to provide evidence of financial responsibility of between US$10 million and US$35 million depending on whether the facility is located seaward or landward of the seaward boundary of the State. This has subsequently increased to the maximum allowed by the act of US$150 million.

There are various methods of evidencing financial responsibility including surety bonds, guarantees, letters of credit and self insurance, but the most common and the one that is most commercially available to all is by means of an insurance certificate. The certificate issued must identify a limit not less than that required under Section 1016.

While there are certain defences under OPA 90, insurers are put in the position of being a guarantor and may not have the ability to rely on the normal general conditions of the policy. Some insurers may also consider that it imposes a more ''strict liability'' on the insured, and, moreover, enables claims to be made directly against the insurer in certain circumstances. They therefore treat OPA certification distinctly from other insurance that may be available for this type of risk. The potential capacity for this type of insurance, which is the broadest available specifically focusing on OPA obligations and liabilities, is approximately US$150 to US$250 million.

Outside the realms of strict liability and OPA, an insured will be able to obtain coverage for sudden and accidental seepage and pollution by way of its Operators Extra Expense (OEE) and Excess Liability insurances. OEE coverage provides a combined single limit for well control, well redrilling and sudden and accidental seepage and pollution and clean-up. Therefore pollution liability and clean-up cost is subject to the apportionment of this combined single limit over respective risks. In practice the limit would be made available first for control measures (i.e. hiring in specialist well control experts and, if necessary, relief well drilling), with any balance of the limit then being reserved for redrilling and pollution. It is possible to prioritise the use of the limit for compliance with OPA Financial Responsibility provisions, but this would be impractical in relation to the urgency by which oil companies will need to address the well control situation.

We consider that the OEE policy provides the widest cover and is most ''user friendly'' to oil companies. The pollution element of the cover responds to costs which the insured company is obligated to pay by law or under the terms of the lease/license for the cost of remedial measures or as damages in compensation for third party property damage and third party injury claims. In respect of clean-up and containment, or attempt thereat, the policy pays such costs, including where incurred to divert pollution from shore, and is not on a ''liability'' basis. It should be noted that there is no definition of environmental damage—claims are recoverable to the extent of damages for third party bodily injury and loss of or damage to, or loss of use of tangible property. This coverage can therefore respond on a ''strict liability'' basis, where the law or license agreement specifies that such remedial costs or compensation is payable if emanating from the insured's facilities, irrespective of negligence. This contrasts starkly with the coverage available under most Excess Liability policies.

Excess Liability insurance responds to all legal liabilities incurred. Sudden and accidental pollution would be included in any limit provided. In respect of pollution from wells the limit available under these policies sits excess of the OEE policy referred to above (but is subject to its own policy form insuring conditions which are not as wide as OEE policies). In respect of pollution from hydrocarbons stored or being produced from or through facilities such as fixed and floating platforms and pipelines, the limit is from ''the ground-up'', or in excess of a specific local general liability policy.

Excess Liability Policy forms vary but the market ''standard'' coverage offers quite limited pollution cover. Some actually specifically exclude pollution from wells. Basically pollution liabilities are excluded from all policies, but within the exclusion is a limited ''buy-back'', which requires that the pollution event is sudden, accidental and unintended and subject to strict discovery and reporting requirements. However, and significantly, the cover excludes ''. . . . actual or alleged liability to evaluate, monitor, control, remove, nullify and/or clean-up seeping, polluting or contaminating substances to the extent such liability arises solely from any obligations imposed by any statute, rule, ordinance, regulation or imposed by contract''.

We regard this wording as too draconian and would always counsel oil companies to include a specific ''pollution endorsement'' that overrides this phrasing and would provide legal and statutory liability coverage, including costs incurred under lease block obligations for removal. We think this distinction in cover is important as it will impact capacity. Our figure below of US$1 to US$ 1.5 billion is based upon insurers subscribing to the standard market cover. If an alternative wording is utilised, or the pollution endorsement used, it could have the effect of reducing capacity by about 25 to 35%.

As with the OEE policy, the coverage is geared to damages for compensation in respect of third party bodily injury and third party property loss or damage or loss of use. There is similarly no concept of ''environmental damage'' expressed in the policy.

INSURANCE CAPACITY

The immediate effect of the Deepwater Horizon loss is that capacity will, for a time, be fluid. Most insurers had not factored in to their risk aggregations that the net is spread very wide indeed in respect of responsible parties under OPA. They are now seeing the implications of multi party actions against operators, drilling contractors, cementing engineers and their various sub-contractors arising out of a single incident such as the ''Deepwater Horizon'' loss. This is because the insurance limits are available to each separate party, so will stack up if three different entities are sued.

In this context the lease block holders constitute one entity (their insurance policies may be separate covering their respective equity interests, but the capacity available is assessed upon 100% interest).

Inevitably the recent loss has increased the demand for higher limits, and has consequently affected the overall aggregate exposures to insurers. This will likely reduce the available limits in the immediate future. At least one insurer has let it be known that its capacity has reduced. Others are reviewing their positions and it is most likely that June renewals will be subject to some reduction in overall capacity. This could be between 25 and 30% reduction, affecting all above policies, except Protection and Indemnity entries. INDECS has close relationships with the Energy Insurance Market including its insurers and brokers. Based on our knowledge and these relationships we would opine that the following represents the maximum per occurrence capacity in this market currently:

OPERATORS' EXTRA EXPENSE (OEE)

The available global market capacity for the OEE cover is between US$500 million and US$750 million per event on 100% basis. This means that the total limit purchased is shared out between the co-owners of the lease block (the licensees) according to their equity interest in the venture (as per the Joint Operating Agreement).

In addition to this capacity, oil companies who are members of the mutual, Oil Insurance Ltd (OIL), Bermuda, (which includes a number of US based E&P companies) can claim up to a further US$ 250 million for each companies' equity interest, limited to US$ 750 million per event, but this limit is also applied on a combined single limit basis, inclusive not only of control of well cost and redrilling, but also property damage and wreck removal.

EXCESS LIABILITIES

The global commercial market limits available are between US$1 billion and US$1.5 billion per event on 100% basis (meaning that the limit is effectively reduced to reflect each of the oil companies' equity interests). This would include capacity available under any specific local general liability policy (normally limited to USD50m per event). This total would be inclusive of capacity from the Bermuda reinsurance market and specifically from Oil Casualty Insurance Ltd (OCIL), which is a sister organisation to OIL. This limit operates on an Ultimate Nett Loss basis, meaning that it must also respond to injuries and fatalities to third parties (but not employees) and to third party property damage and consequential financial loss.

One final issue to consider for the commercial market is that in the event that the pollution arises from a named hurricane there would be a sub-limit agreed in the policy, which may not be more than US$200 million per oil company, and this would be inclusive of all insurable exposures (i.e. property damage, control of well, redrilling, wreck removal and pollution).

PROTECTION AND INDEMNITY CLUBS (P&I)

One further area that merits comment is P&I, which provides cover in respect of pollution from mobile drilling units, heavy-lift vessels, pipelaying vessels and, to the extent that they may ultimately be more widely used in the Gulf of Mexico, Floating Production, Storage and Offtake units (FPSOs).

The limit purchased is generally between US$300 million and US$ 500 million, but US$ 1 billion per event is theoretically available. However, most US drilling contractors are not insured by the P and I Clubs. US drilling contractors generally rely upon commercial marine liability insurers, whose capacity would be limited to between US$ 500 million and US$ 750 million per event referred to above.

EFFECTS OF INCREASING THE OPA 90 LIMITS

In conclusion, if the intention is to increase the limit required under OPA90 to US$10 billion and also the required evidence of financial responsibility to something similar, then quite simply the energy insurance market will no longer be an option. Its capacity lies far below this limit and even then has a number of restrictions contained in it which we have discussed above.

Companies, with the exception of super majors and foreign state owned companies, operating in the United States are highly unlikely to be able to provide any alternative method of financial responsibility such as bonds and lines of credit. The cost of these methods or ability to self insure these risks will far exceed their capabilities, preventing their management from fulfilling their fiduciary liability and presenting a barrier to acquiring new or even servicing existing permits in the future.

If we have understood the proposals correctly, then it would appear to us that the proposed Bill will not act as ''Big Oil Bailout Prevention Liability Act of 2010'', rather making it impossible for anyone other than ''Big Oil'' to operate.

Yours sincerely,

PAUL KING,
Director.

Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas. Mr. Chair, I rise to speak on H.R. 3534, the Consolidated Land, Energy and Aquatic Resources (CLEAR) Act.

I would like to recount the facts of April 30th, 2010 for this House and the American people. First, let us remember the names of the eleven brave men who tragically lost their lives in the Deepwater Horizon explosion:

1. Jason Anderson, 35;
2. Aaron Dale Burkeen, 37;
3. Donald Clark, 34;
4. Stephen Curtis, 39;
5. Gordon Jones, 28;
6. Roy Wyatt Kemp, 27;
7. Karl Klepping, 38;
8. Blair Manuel, 56;
9. Dewey Revette, 48;
10. Shane Roshto, 22; and
11. Adam Weise, 24.

What the eleven names do not reveal is that there are families with children, widows, and many other family members who are still mourning the loss of their loved ones. I believe we have a moral obligation to remember all of the lives affected by the loss of these eleven dedicated oil rig workers. They were tough workers, but also gentle fathers, brothers, husbands, as well as friends to many. Congress must always consider how to best protect American lives, and in doing so protect the safety of the American oil industry worker. In addition to the lives lost, every individual, business and community adversely affected by the oil spill must be taken into account as we consider legislative responses. Unfortunately, now with more than 92 million estimated gallons of oil spilled and the fishing, tourism, boating, shrimping industries, and the oil industry itself brought to a grinding halt, we can anticipate other losses.

This tragedy begs the American people to act to promote safety, spur technology, and to protect people in the Gulf Region. We owe it to them to provide the kind of protection and legal framework that will ease their minds, and help them receive what they are entitled to through the claims process. Unfortunately, the original claims system was an abomination with numerous claims unresolved, unpaid and ignored. BP has received many claims and has issued many statements and reports, but the fact of the matter is they have not delivered on those early promises. We must make sure that they do what is right, and meet their financial obligations to the many claimants still waiting to reconstruct their lives and livelihoods.

The urgency of the energy situation in our country calls for immediate action by Congress in developing a national energy policy. I would have fully supported targeting the culprits in the Gulf oil spill and getting the Gulf region back on track, as long as we also develop effective policies to ensure that we set a high bar of expectations for these companies in a system based on culpability. The people in the Gulf region need to be assured that we will preserve their way of life, while ensuring that their best interests are taken to heart. Their jobs must be restored and preserved for future generations who may want a livelihood in the oil and gas industry. I do not believe you can graft a broader national energy policy for the future onto a bill meant primarily to address the myriad of complex issues currently facing the energy industry.

Regarding the Remedies Act, on July 1, 2010, I introduced a bill to address some of the larger issues raised by oil spill related developments in the Gulf of Mexico. Although a pronouncement of the issue, I believe it captures the most substantive matters. I have tried to adapt some of the provisions of that bill as amendments to the CLEAR Act, to try and make a weak bill better.

I introduced an amendment under which applicants for permits to drill in the Gulf of Mexico will be required to have spill prevention, mitigation, and recovery plans that are vetted by impartial experts, rather than rubber stamped by industry friendly regulators; the amendment would also require that there be legitimate, effective back-up plans in case the first response is ineffective. Another of my amendments would allow the Secretary of Homeland Security to establish, immediately, an independent claims process for those whose property and livelihoods have been damaged by oil spills much like the process only now being set up under Special Master Feinberg. Finally, I am proud to cosponsor Representative TEAGUE's (NM–2D) amendment, introduced the same Amendment which will allow several small companies working together in joint venture and partnerships to pool their financial resources for the necessary Certificate of Oil Field Responsibility, the price of admission to work in the Gulf. Without the option of pooling their resources, or joint insurance, independent oil companies will be driven from the Gulf, leaving it the province of only three or four massive, multinational oil companies. If we can not preserve the independent oil companies, responsible for 80 percent of the drilling in the Gulf and 30 percent of the oil, then we are likely to doom an industry that is one of the most prolific job generators in the nation, particularly at a time when job creation in most American industries is stagnant or minimal at best.

We must also take into consideration the importance of the environment as it relates to our national energy policy and the quality of life in the Gulf and the rest of the country, not to mention the rest of the globe. We have no idea what the long-term impact of the Gulf oil spill will be, as we are just beginning to understand the issues of connectivity related to the environment and ecological system. When birds nest in polluted wetlands and migrate to other parts of the U.S. and the globe, what impact might their exposure to oil have on the environmental quality of the environment in that part of the world?

There are many complicated questions that we must answer before we proclaim that we have a solution to protecting the environment to massive oil spill in one bill. It is impossible to accomplish, and at best any environmental strategy is merely a band-aid approach rather than the comprehensive environmentally policy we need to consider. For example we really need a major direct clean-up fund, and we have to provide for environmental inspections. I urge a sense of immediacy as it relates to the environment and to protect the people of the Gulf from the long-term health consequences of the spill.

As a person who has lived in, worked in, and knows the Gulf region well, I see the vibrant mixture of businesses there, from fishermen to oil workers, who represent the quintessential hardworking American. These Americans deserve applause for their contribution to our productivity. We owe it to them to demand of the oil companies the same high level of excellence that these hardworking men and women have demonstrated. We must provide for appropriate penalties for safety violations and breaches of compliance, while recognizing the importance of the industry to job creation and job growth. As we did in this tragic incident, we must come down hard on BP, but not eliminate them from the picture, lest the whole industry be penalized.

There are some good things in this bill, although some of my ideas were not adopted as part of the manager's amendment. For example, one amendment would have required that businesses applying for permits to drill and produce crude oil in the Gulf of Mexico submit detailed spill mitigation and recovery plans as part of the permitting process. Not only must they have recovery plans, but they will be required to have backup plans, in case their first response fails. Additionally, those plans must be vetted by impartial experts, rather than rubber-stamped by insufficiently vigilant regulators.

Most important Representative TEAGUE's amendment, which I cosponsored, will prevent small, independent oil companies from being driven out of the Gulf of Mexico. The problem with the current requirements for the Certificate of Oil Field Responsibility (COFR) is that smaller operators will be unable to establish the $300 million necessary COFR to even begin exploration and development. By allowing smaller companies—who frequently work together in joint ventures—to pool their resources for COFR purposes, we will prevent the Gulf from becoming the exclusive province of companies big enough to self-insure, and allow the small businesses of the Gulf Coast communities to continue to provide jobs and drive our economy.

Again, Mr. Chair, my central concern is that we promote job creation, ensure long term investment and fiscal discipline, guarantee safety, focus on the industry and accountability as we work to craft an effective energy policy, and utilize energy related to fossil fuels in a more responsible way, while we continue to make investments in research and development, rather than pitting industries against each other.

We just witnessed the development of a prescriptive policy related to the coal industry, as a result of a tragedy with the mines in West Virginia. That legislative business model is a useful example of how we can develop energy policy related to oil. We must also continue to promote new forms of green energy, while we keep our promise to the American people to protect jobs in the oil and gas industry.

Unfortunately, our job is made very difficult when we see major global energy companies and domestic industry excluded from a sensible national energy policy. We must promote a strong process that will help us deliver on these promises, both to the stakeholders and to the American people. Everyone needs to buy-in to a national energy policy in order for it to be successful.

Let me say that we must establish a seamless energy policy that all sectors of the energy industry can support, cementing the United States in the energy industry as the most independent producer globally, while making it the worlds' leader in green energy.

Mr. Chair, I look forward to working with my Colleagues on this approach to America's energy future. In addition, I strongly support the Buy America Provision in the bill and the American Worker Provision. As the CLEAR Act moves to the Senate, we must remember the interests of the communities of the Gulf Coast, and of all those affected by the devastation of the oil spill. We must remain committed to protecting lives, protecting jobs and protecting the environment.

Mr. MCNERNEY. Mr. Chair, I rise to express my support for H.R. 3534. The spill in the Gulf is a tragedy, and this important bill will help prevent future disasters. H.R. 3534 improves safety, prevents ethical misconduct at federal agencies, and closes royalty loopholes enjoyed by the oil and gas industry.

Some important provisions of H.R. 5626, the Blowout Prevention Act, are also included in H.R. 3534. I am disappointed, however, that the legislation before us today does not include a section of H.R. 5626 that authorizes the creation of expert review panels to provide technical advice on regulatory decisions. During committee consideration of H.R. 5626, I offered an amendment to clarify that experts serving on such panels can be drawn from diverse backgrounds, including industry, national laboratories, and academia.

I would like to note the particular importance of utilizing the expertise available at America's national laboratories. I am familiar with the work of the labs and the talents of lab employees through my personal experience working as a contractor at Sandia National Laboratories. Northern California is also the location of three national laboratories that employ a number of my constituents.

Following the tragic explosion of the Deepwater Horizon, employees of the national laboratories were quickly deployed to the Gulf. The Department of Energy estimates that more than 200 lab employees have been involved in crisis response operations. The labs have provided an array of services such as developing pressure measurements and radiographic imaging of the blowout preventer. Lab employees have also provided technical services such as conducting flow and resistance calculations, evaluating pressure data, and providing independent analysis of BP's plans.

The national labs have a tremendous amount of technical expertise that can help our country prevent future spills and better respond if an unfortunate incident occurs. I look forward to working with members of both parties to incorporate the labs into future legislation.

Mr. VAN HOLLEN. Mr. Chair, I rise in strong support of today's oil spill response legislation, and I commend Chairmen RAHALL, MILLER, WAXMAN, OBERSTAR and CONYERS for bringing this package to the floor today.

The Consolidated Land, Energy and Aquatic Resources (CLEAR) Act corrects a number of major defects in current law that have come to light in the Deepwater Horizon disaster. First, and most importantly, it ensures BP—not the taxpayer—is held responsible for the full cost of the cleanup. Second, it strengthens offshore drilling standards and requires independent certification of critical safety equipment. Third, it provides desperately needed reform to the scandal ridden Mineral Management Service by separating its permitting, inspection and collection functions. Fourth, it eliminates royalty loopholes that allow oil companies to shortchange taxpayers when extracting resources from public lands. And finally, it makes good on a 45 year old promise to fully fund the Land Water and Conservation Fund so that Americans can enjoy our Nation's natural, historical and recreational resources for generations to come.

The Offshore Oil and Gas Worker Whistleblower Act (HR 5851) complements today's package by extending whistleblower protections to oil rig workers on the Outer Continental Shelf. Specifically, employers would be prohibited from discharging or otherwise discriminating against employees who report injuries, unsafe working conditions or alleged violations of the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act. Had these protections been in place, the Deepwater Horizon workers with serious safety concerns about the operation of their rig could have had more confidence about coming forward prior to the explosion.

Mr. Chair, today's legislation is an important and necessary part of our Nation's response to the Deepwater Horizon disaster. I urge a yes vote and yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Chair, I rise in support of the Consolidated Land, Energy and Aquatic Resources or ''CLEAR'' Act (H.R. 3534).

This measure will impose long overdue reforms in the way the federal government regulates oil and gas drilling operations off our coast.

Something the industry and their allies in Congress have long opposed.

The explosion of Deepwater Horizon and the uncontrolled flow of oil into the Gulf of Mexico render this opposition moot.

The American public has witnessed an ecological and economic catastrophe the likes of which this country has never seen nor should ever have to see again.

It has seen a company in the interest of boosting profits cut corners and take shortcuts that resulted in the death of 11 workers, a Gulf community in dire economic straights and untold loss of marine and animal life.

It has seen a weak regulatory system rubber stamp drilling permits, approving most in less than twenty-four hours and never reading or realizing the response plans to a blowout were fiction.

How else could it accept plans to save walruses in the Louisiana bayous and Alabama beaches?

More than 300 million gallons of crude oil have spilled into the Gulf of Mexico before the wellhead was finally capped.

Even if the cap holds and relief wells secure and permanently plug the well, the region will still have to deal with the millions of gallons of oil spread throughout the Gulf and along hundreds of miles of shoreline as the peak hurricane season approaches.

It will take decades for the region to recover.

It was a disaster waiting to happen and one we may now finally have the tools to prevent from occurring again.

Reforms that were once thought impossible are now before this House today.

This bill revamps the oil and gas royalty collection program, repeals liability limits on economic damages, separates the apparent conflict of interest between the federal government's royalty collection, leasing and enforcement offices, imposes new procedures for use of chemical dispersants, and mandates that the oil and gas industry include a worst-case scenario for oil spill response plans.

But now some claim this bill is ''overreach,'' that it goes beyond what is needed to address the failures of the industry and the regulatory agency.

In addition to reform of our offshore oil and gas leasing program, this bill breathes new life into a commitment proposed by John F. Kennedy and signed into law by Lyndon Johnson to take a share from a diminishing public resource, our offshore oil and gas reserves, and use the funds to conserve and protect natural resources onshore.

LWCF was a good idea then and remains a good and popular idea today.

Since its inception, millions of acres of land has been conserved and are in use today by the public. They are portions of our national parks, wildlife refuges, national forests and state and local parks and recreation areas.

They are responsible for saving endangered species from extinction, protecting fresh sources of drinking water for millions of Americans, and protecting valuable historic properties and landscapes from destruction.

Unfortunately, the federal commitment has fallen short of the goal.

In recent years, we have underfunded our commitment to the Land and Water Conservation Fund.

Over the past ten years, its funding level has been erratic, $672 million in fiscal 2001 and $253 million in fiscal 2007, but never at its authorized level of $900 million.

This bill imposes a $2 per barrel fee on oil extracted from the public's waters to allow us to fully fund the Land and Water Conservation Fund and not add to the federal budget deficit.

It would then ensure that the program is funded at $900 million annually. The additional funds this legislation will release will:

1. Ensure that areas protected by Congress can be more effectively and efficiently managed. LWCF provides for inholdings with high biological, historical or recreational values. These lands are available for a limited time before they're developed. Sufficient LWCF funding ensures agencies can take advantage of these opportunities. Real estate prices are lower now, ensuring more land can be purchased with each dollar invested.

2. Improve management by reducing fire danger and through other means. It allows access to these areas to perform important wildlife habitat management and facilitate public recreation. Fire danger, public safety and other threats are reduced, and hunting, fishing, wildlife watching and other recreation is improved and protected.

3. Ensure public access and quality recreation that has a substantial economic impact. The Outdoor Industry Association estimates that active outdoor recreation contributes $730 billion annually to the U.S. economy, supports nearly 6.5 million jobs across the U.S., generates $49 billion in annual national tax revenue, and produces $289 billion annually in retail sales and services.

4. Ensure efficient management and cost savings. 80 percent of lands acquired with LWCF funds lie within the existing boundaries of federal parks, refuges, forests, or recreation areas. When land management agencies purchase inholdings, internal boundary line surveying is reduced, as well as right-of-way conflicts and special use permits. Agencies generally tend to avoid acquisitions with burdensome infrastructure improvements that require significant capital investments. An added parcel generally does not increase management presence; rather, management is usually just absorbed within existing stewardship costs.

A recent national bipartisan poll shows strong support for the continued use of oil and gas fees for land and water protection and for fully funding the LWCF at $900 million annually.

An overwhelming majority of voters—86 percent—support committing funds from offshore drilling fees to LWCF (up 5 percent from June 2009). (Poll conducted by Public Opinion Strategies and FM3)

Many local communities are strong supporters of federal LWCF expenditures due to the economic benefits that accrue through recreational tourism and the additional visitation that occurs with improved public access and recreation opportunities.

LWCF protects places where people love to go, from famed national parks to historic sites, to local parks that ensure recreation. LWCF supports recreational access such as trailheads and river put-ins—that allow hunters, fishermen, mountain bikers, hikers and boaters to access America's recreation lands.

LWCF enjoys broad congressional support. LWCF has benefited every state and every congressional district. LWCF has enjoyed longstanding, widespread support not just among conservation champions but also among fiscal conservatives and many minority members. Over the past five years, letters urging the Appropriations Committee to provide major increases to LWCF have been signed by a total of 36 Blue Dogs and 43 Republicans.

This is a way to fulfill the vision first stated by President Eisenhower and what our constituents still support today.

Support the CLEAR Act.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Chair, I rise today in support of the CLEAR Act, one of the most important measures we will pass this week, and perhaps, this Congress.

It has been said that with great adversity comes great opportunity—today, we are presented with great opportunity.

We are presented with the opportunity to ensure that what happened in the Gulf never happens again.

We are presented with the opportunity to ensure that we have the tools and the means to clean the Gulf Coast and make whole those whose very livelihoods are threatened by this disaster.

We are presented with the opportunity to ensure that our children are able to enjoy the great lands and waters of our lifetime.

I offered two amendments to the CLEAR Act that sought to shift our OCS policy from a presumption of oil and gas extraction, to focus on protection of the environment as our primary concern.

Additionally, the amendments required the Secretary to consider geographical, geological, and ecological characteristics of OCS areas before drilling, not after.

Ultimately, this bill does move us toward that goal—from an emphasis on the bottom line to a clear focus on our future.

I urge my colleagues to support the CLEAR Act.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Chair, I rise in strong support of the Consolidated Land, Energy and Aquatic Resources Act.

It is often said that experience is the best teacher. Unfortunately, it often seems that experience is the only teacher when it comes to developing common sense safeguards to prevent oil spills. As I speak, at least 800,000 gallons of oil has spilled from a pipeline into the Kalamazoo River in my home state of Michigan. We are just a few days into this crisis, but surely this accident could have been prevented.

In 1989, the Exxon Valdez ran aground in Alaska and spilled 11 million gallons of crude oil into Prince William Sound, fouling hundreds of miles of pristine coastline. In the months that followed, Congress responded by approving the Oil Pollution Act that strengthened the Federal Government's role in oil spill response and cleanup in the case of oil tankers. Among its many provisions, the Act required vessels carrying oil and operating in U.S. waters to have double hulls to prevent further accidents of this type. The law has been a success, but the damage to Alaska's environment was done.

We are more than 100 days into the oil spill crisis in the Gulf of Mexico. To date, between 90 million and 180 million gallons of oil has been released into the environment. The BP Deepwater Horizon spill might have been prevented if there had been some basic drilling safety standards in place, and if there had been effective oversight of BP's actions as it was drilling the well. We are creating these standards today with this bill.

The CLEAR Act before the House establishes new safety standards for offshore oil drilling. The legislation reforms the Federal Government's oversight of offshore drilling operations, holds BP and other oil companies accountable, and ensures that polluters pay the full cost of damage caused by the spills they create.

Experience is, indeed, the best teacher. But when it comes to preventing future oil spills, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. I urge passage of the CLEAR Act.

Mr. LANGEVIN. Mr. Chair, I rise in strong support of H.R. 3534, the Consolidated Land, Energy, and Aquatic Resources (CLEAR) Act and H.R. 5851, the Offshore Oil and Gas Worker Whistleblower Protection Act. Over 100 days ago, millions of gallons of oil began spilling into the Gulf Mexico after an explosion on a BP deepwater drilling rig, which tragically killed eleven workers. In the months since this accident, the Committees of jurisdiction in the House of Representatives have held numerous hearings to determine what went wrong and how to prevent similar disasters in the future. I believe both the CLEAR Act and Whistleblower Protection Act take critical steps to properly reform our oil and gas drilling policies, as well as to protect the safety of oil and gas workers.

This comprehensive legislation will end years of misaligned priorities at the Minerals Management Service (MMS) at the Department of the Interior (DOI) by dividing its responsibilities into three different departments: the Bureau of Energy and Resource Management to manage leasing and permitting; the Bureau of Safety and Environmental Enforcement to police health and safety regulations; and the Office of Natural Resource Revenue to collect the American people's energy revenues earned on public lands. The bill further addresses misconduct by the MMS by implementing strong ''revolving door'' provisions that would ban MMS employees from accepting employment with oil and gas companies for two years.

The CLEAR Act imposes strong new safety standards for offshore drilling, including increased inspections, stricter penalties for safety violations, and independent certifications of critical equipment. I am also pleased that this comprehensive legislation includes many provisions of legislation which I cosponsored after the spill; including the elimination of the liability limit on oil companies, subpoena power to enable the President's bipartisan Commission to fully investigate the Deepwater Horizon spill, and the establishment of a Gulf of Mexico Restoration Program.

Additionally, this bill will use the revenues received from energy development to provide full funding to the Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF) and the Historic Preservation Fund (HPF), both of which contribute greatly to conservation efforts and open space preservation in Rhode Island.

In addition to the modifications included in the CLEAR Act, it is vitally important to the workers in our country to ensure that they have access to safe working conditions, and when they do not, have the opportunity to report their concerns without fear of retribution. The Offshore Oil and Gas Worker Whistleblower Protection Act would strengthen whistleblower protections for oil and gas workers by prohibiting an employer from discriminating against an employee who reports a violation or testifies about an alleged violation. It also establishes a process for an employee to appeal an employer's retaliation by filing a complaint with the Secretary of Labor.

I have long said that our nation cannot drill its way out of our energy crisis. We can no longer sit idly by as greenhouse gas emissions increase, our ecosystem is harmed, and our public health deteriorates from increased pollution. It is long past time that our nation moves away from our reliance on fossil fuels, both foreign and domestic, and invests in renewable energy and energy efficient technologies. While I do not believe we needed any more evidence to move in this direction, it is my hope that we will learn from this tragedy and seek better and safer solutions that will preserve our ecosystem and protect the health and lives of our citizens by passing a comprehensive clean energy jobs bill, such as the American Clean Energy and Security (ACES) Act. But as we continue to move towards clean energy, I urge my colleagues to support both H.R. 3534 and H.R. 5851 to make vast improvements to our nation's domestic energy development and protect workers who put safety first.

The CHAIR. All time for general debate has expired.

''(C) That the casing design is appropriate for the purpose for which it is intended under reasonably expected wellbore conditions.

''(D) The installation and verification with a pressure test of a lockdown device at the time the casing is installed in the wellhead.

''(4) CEMENTING.—Subject to paragraph (1), regulations issued under this Act for cementing standards shall include at a minimum the following requirements:

''(B) SUBMISSION OF STATE REGULATORY REGIME.—Any State may submit to the Secretary a plan demonstrating that the State's regulatory regime for wells identified in subparagraph (A) establishes requirements for such wells that are comparable to, or alternative requirements providing an equal or greater level of safety than, those established under this section for wells on the outer Continental Shelf. The Secretary shall promptly determine, after notice and an opportunity for public comment, whether a State's regulatory regime meets the standard set forth in the preceding sentence. If the Secretary determines that a State's regulatory regime does not meet such standard, the Secretary shall identify the deficiencies that are the basis for such determination and provide a reasonable period of time for the State to remedy the deficiencies. If the State does not do so within such reasonable period of time, the Secretary shall apply the requirements established under this section to offshore drilling operations described in subparagraph (A) that are located in such State, until such time as the Secretary determines that the deficiencies have been remedied.

TITLE ____—STUDY OF ACTIONS TO IMPROVE THE ACCURACY OF COLLECTION OF ROYALTIES

SEC. ___1. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the ''Study of Ways to Improve the Accuracy of the Collection of Federal Oil, Condensate, and Natural Gas Royalties Act of 2010''.

SEC. ___2. STUDY OF ACTIONS TO IMPROVE THE ACCURACY OF COLLECTION OF FEDERAL OIL, CONDENSATE, AND NATURAL GAS ROYALTIES.

The Secretary of the Interior shall seek to enter into an arrangement with the National Academy of Engineering under which the Academy, by not later than six months after the date of the enactment of this Act, shall study and report to the Secretary regarding whether the accuracy of collection of royalties on production of oil, condensate, and natural gas under leases of Federal lands (in eluding submerged and deep water lands) and Indian lands would be improved by any of the following:

(1) Requiring the installation of digital meters, calibrated at least monthly to an absolute zero value, for all lands from which natural gas (including condensate) is produced under such leases.

(2) Requiring that—

(A) the size of every orifice plate on each natural gas well operated under such leases be inspected at least quarterly by the Secretary; and

(B) chipped orifice plates and wrong-sized orifice plates be replaced immediately after those inspections and reported to the Secretary for retroactive volume measurement corrections and royalty payments with interest of 8 percent compounded monthly.

(3) Requiring that any plug valves that are in natural gas gathering lines be removed and replaced with ball valves.

(4) Requiring that—

(A) all meter runs should be opened for inspection by the Secretary and the producer at all times; and

(B) any welding or closing of the meter runs leading to the orifice plates should be prohibited unless authorized by the Secretary.

(5) Requiring the installation of straightening vanes approximately 10 feet before natural gas enters each orifice meter, including each master meter and each sales meter.

(6) Requiring that all master meters be inspected and the results of such inspections be made available to the Secretary and the producers immediately.

(7) Requiring that—

(A) all sampling of natural gas for heating content analysis be performed monthly upstream of each natural gas meter, including upstream of each master meter;

(B) records of such sampling and heating content analysis be maintained by the purchaser and made available to the Secretary and to the producer monthly;

(C) probes for such upstream sampling be installed upstream within three feet of each natural gas meter;

(D) any oil and natural gas lease for which heat content analysis is falsified shall be subject to cancellation;

(E) natural gas sampling probes be located—

(i) upstream of the natural gas meter at all times;

(ii) within a few feet of the natural gas meter; and

(iii) after the natural gas goes through a Welker or Y–Z vanishing chamber; and

(F) temperature probes and testing probes be located between the natural gas sampling probe and the orifice of the natural gas meter.

(8) Prohibiting the dilution of natural gas with inert nitrogen or inert carbon dioxide gas for royalty determination, sale, or resale at any point.

(9) Requiring that both the measurement of the volume of natural gas and the heating content analyses be reported only on the basis of 14.73 PSI and 60 degrees Fahrenheit, regardless of the elevation above sea level of such volume measurement and heating content analysis, for both purchases and sales of natural gas.

(10) Prohibiting the construction of bypass pipes that go around the natural gas meter, and imposing criminal penalties for any such construction or subsequent removal including, but not limited to, automatic cancellation of the lease.

(11) Requiring that all natural gas sold to consumers have a minimum BTU content of 960 at an atmospheric pressure of 14.73 PSI and be at a temperature of 60 degrees Fahrenheit, as required by the State of Wyoming Public Utilities Commission.

(12) Requiring that all natural gas sold in the USA will be on a MMBTU basis with the BTU content adjusted for elevation above sea level in higher altitudes. Thus all natural gas meters must correct for BTU content in higher elevations (altitudes).

(13) Issuance by the Secretary of rules for the measurement at the wellhead of the standard volume of natural gas produced, based on independent industry standards such as those suggested by the American Society of Testing Materials (ASTM).

(14) Requiring use of the fundamental orifice meter mass flow equation, as revised in 1990, for calculating the standard volume of natural gas produced.

(15) Requiring the use of Fpv in standard volume measurement computations as described in the 1992 American Gas Association Report No. 8 entitled Compressibility Factor of Natural Gas and Other Related Hydrocarbon Gases.

(16) Requiring that gathering lines must be constructed so as to have as few angles and turns as possible, with a maximum of three angles, before they connect with the natural gas meter.

(17) Requiring that for purposes of reporting the royalty value of natural gas, condensate, oil, and associated natural gases, such royalty value must be based upon the natural gas' condensate's, oil's, and associated natural gases' arm's length, independent market value, as reported in independent, respected market reports such as Platts or Bloombergs, and not based upon industry controlled posted prices, such as Koch's.

(18) Requiring that royalties be paid on all the condensate recovered through purging gathering lines and pipelines with a cone-shaped device to push out condensate (popularly referred to as a pig) and on condensate recovered from separators, dehydrators, and processing plants.

(19) Requiring that all royalty deductions for dehydration, treating, natural gas gathering, compression, transportation, marketing, removal of impurities such as carbon dioxide (CO_2), nitrogen (N_2), hydrogen sulphide (H_2S), mercaptain (HS), helium (He), and other similar charges on natural gas, condensate, and oil produced under such leases that are now in existence be eliminated.

(20) Requiring that at all times—

(A) the quantity, quality, and value obtained for natural gas liquids (condensate) be reported to the Secretary; and

(B) such reported value be based on fair independent arm's length market value.

(21) Issuance by the Secretary of regulations that prohibit venting or flaring (or both) of natural gas in cases for which technology exists to reasonably prevent it, strict enforcement of such prohibitions, and cancellation of leases for violations.

(22) Requiring lessees to pay full royalties on any natural gas that is vented, flared, or otherwise avoidably lost.

(23)(A) Requiring payment of royalties on carbon dioxide at the wellhead used for tertiary oil recovery from depleted oil fields on the basis of 5 percent of the West Texas Intermediate crude oil fair market price to be used for one MCF (1,000 cubic feet) of carbon dioxide gas.

(B) Requiring that—

(i) carbon dioxide used for edible purposes should be subjected to a royalty per thousand cubic feet (MCF) on the basis of the sales price at the downstream delivery point without deducting for removal of impurities, processing, transportation, and marketing costs;

(ii) such price to apply with respect to gaseous forms, liquid forms, and solid (dry ice) forms of carbon dioxide converted to equivalent MCF; and

(iii) such royalty to apply with respect to both a direct producer of carbon dioxide and purchases of carbon dioxide from another person that is either affiliated or not affiliated with the purchaser.

(24) Requiring that—

(A) royalties be paid on the fair market value of nitrogen extracted from such leases that is used industrially for well stimulation, helium recovery, or other uses; and

(B) royalties be paid on the fair market value of ultimately processed helium recovered from such leases.

(25) Allowing only 5 percent of the value of the elemental sulfur recovered during processing of hydrogen sulfide gas from such leases to be deducted for processing costs in determining royalty payments.

(26) Requiring that all heating content analysis of natural gas be conducted to a minimum level of C_{15}.

(27) Eliminating artificial conversion from dry BTU to wet BTU, and requiring that natural gas be analyzed and royalties paid for at all times on the basis of dry BTU only.

(28) Requiring that natural gas sampling be performed at all times with a floating piston cylinder container at the same pressure intake as the pressure of the natural gas gathering line.

(29) Requiring use of natural gas filters with a minimum of 10 microns, and preferably 15 microns, both in the intake to natural gas sampling containers and in the exit from the natural gas sampling containers into the chromatograph.

(30) Mandate the use of a Quad Unit for both portable and stationary chromatographs in order to correct for the presence of nitrogen and oxygen, if any, in certain natural gas streams.

(31) Require the calibration of all chromatograph equipment every three months and the use of only American Gas Association-approved standard comparison containers for such calibration.

(32) Requiring payment of royalties on any such natural gas stored on Federal or Indian lands on the basis of corresponding storage charges for the use of Federal or Indian lands, respectively, for such storage service.

(33) Imposing penalties for the intentional nonpayment of royalties for natural gas liquids recovered—

(A) from purging of natural gas gathering lines and natural gas pipelines; or

(B) from field separators, dehydrators, and processing plants, including cancellation of oil and natural gas leases and criminal penalties.

(34) Requiring that the separator, dehydrator, and natural gas meter be located within 100 feet of each natural gas wellhead.

(35) Requiring that BTU heating content analysis be performed when the natural gas is at a temperature of 140 to 150 degrees Fahrenheit at all times, as required by the American Gas Association (AGA) regulations.

(36) Requiring that heating content analysis and volume measurements are identical at the sales point to what they are at the purchase point, after allowing for a small volume for leakage in old pipes, but with no allowance for heating content discrepancy.

(37) Verification by the Secretary that the specific gravity of natural gas produced under such leases, as measured at the meter run, corresponds to the heating content analysis data for such natural gas, in accordance with the Natural Gas Processors Association Publication 2145–71(1), entitled ''Physical Constants Of Paraffin Hydrocarbons And Other Components Of Natural Gas'', and reporting of all discrepancies immediately.

(38) Prohibiting all deductions on royalty payments for marketing of natural gas, condensate, and oil by an affiliate or agent.

(39) Requiring that all standards of the American Petroleum Institute, the American Gas Association, the Gas Processors Association, and the American Society of Testing Materials, Minerals Management Service Order No. 5, and all other Minerals Management Service orders be faithfully observed and applied, and willful misconduct of such standards and orders be subject to oil and gas lease cancellation.

Section 20 of the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (43 U.S.C. 1346) is further amended by adding at the end the following:

''(h) CUMULATIVE IMPACTS ON MARINE MAMMAL SPECIES AND STOCKS AND SUBSISTENCE USE.—In determining, pursuant to subparagraphs (A)(i) and (D)(i) of section 101(a)(5) of the Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 (16 U.S.C.1371(a)(5)), whether takings from specified activities administered under this title will have a negligible impact on a marine mammal species or stock, and not have an unmitigable adverse impact on the availability of such species or stock for taking for subsistence uses, the Secretary of Commerce or Interior shall incorporate any takings of such species or stock from any other reasonably foreseeable activities administered under this Act.''.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 1574, the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL) and a Member opposed each will control 10 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from West Virginia.

Mr. RAHALL. I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, the amendment incorporates a number of constructive proposals from my colleagues which I believe significantly improve the CLEAR Act. Some of these proposals affect the provisions of the bill under our Natural Resources Committee's jurisdiction while others address the title of the bill that was added by Chairman OBERSTAR's T&I Committee.

In addition to a number of technical changes, this amendment also contains language that will improve the management of the new training academy for oil and gas inspectors that has been established in this bill. It holds CEOs more accountable for the actions of their companies. It ensures that, even when you spill the public's oil, you still pay the royalties that are due to the American people, and it also leads to a more accurate collection of royalties for natural gas. This amendment also studies the issue of potentially requiring relief wells to be drilled at the same time as the primary well. These are noncontroversial, good government, and good policy provisions. I urge my colleagues to support them.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I rise to claim the time in opposition.

The CHAIR. The gentleman is recognized for 10 minutes.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I yield myself 3 minutes.

Mr. Chairman, this amendment consolidates 17 Democrat amendments and one Republican amendment. Inside this lengthy amendment are a number of significant changes to oil and gas policies, royalties, collections, and studies. That might be fine, but I am not aware that any of these provisions have been subject to hearings in our Committee on Natural Resources, and I think that we should certainly have a better understanding of the impacts before we pass this on the House floor.

□ 1450

I want to point out two provisions in this amendment. There is one provision stripping biomass from the regulation from the bureau. Now this, I think, is a fine amendment, but I think it would have been better accomplished if we had simply made in order the Lummis amendment. The gentlelady from Wyoming had an amendment to take out all of the language on onshore activity. That would have been a much, much better way to do it, especially in light of the fact that the administration in this regard says that, and I quote, It would be most effective if this reorganization focused exclusively on the OCS at this time, end quote. But, of course, that wasn't done. So this is, I suppose, a small victory.

The second, however, is a much more insidious amendment that includes a cumulative impact of oil and gas on marine mammals. Now I don't know exactly—and I don't think anybody really knows—how to measure what those impacts are, plus or minus, good or bad. I think it would be good for us, from the standpoint of making policy, to know the full impact of that. And, really, the only way you can know the full impact of that is to have hearings on this subject. To my knowledge, we have not had any hearings on that.

So all in all, I would say, Mr. Chairman, this seems to be a pattern that we see on a regular basis on this floor where there are amendments—we saw this earlier today. We saw a whole bill, for example, brought to the floor today that was introduced literally minutes before it was debated. That is not the way the American people think we ought to do business here. We ought to look at these things in a way that we can make the proper decisions. And these two issues that I highlight in this manager's amendment, in my view, fall within that category. So I am disappointed in the way this is being done, probably more than what is the content of the manager's amendment. Therefore, I am left only to oppose the manager's amendment.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentlelady from Wisconsin, Ms. GWEN MOORE, who has been very helpful to us in drafting this bill.

Ms. MOORE of Wisconsin. Mr. Chair, I want to thank Chairman RAHALL for yielding and including in his manager's amendment a provision I authored that would ensure that citizens living in the gulf coast region will be able to have input into the work of the Gulf Coast Restoration Task Force. The Citizens Advisory Board, called for in my amendment, would not be filled with energy industry representatives and scientists but, rather, with individuals, such as the fishermen who have been put out of business, the hotel owner along the beach which now has more tar balls than tourists, and citizens in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida who simply want to have their beaches, wetlands, waters back to support their livelihoods, their health, and their enjoyment.

Restoring the environmental and natural resources in the gulf will be a long and arduous task. My amendment simply makes it clear that the input of those most impacted by this disaster, the residents of the States and the region, should be a priority.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. GRAVES), one of the newer Members of our House and a very valuable member of our Republican Conference.

Mr. GRAVES of Georgia. Mr. Chairman, 46 days ago, I was sworn in right down here before the House, and since that time, constituents have asked, What has been the biggest surprise since your time being sworn in? And I will tell you what it is. I have seen it here today. I have seen it over the past several weeks, and that is the fear and the lack of trust in this leadership to allow their own Members to vote on amendments.

It is clear that there is bipartisan opposition to this measure. In fact, 88 amendments were offered. Only nine were accepted. No Republicans from the gulf coast region had an accepted amendment, and only two Democrats from the region had amendments accepted. Only 14 percent of the Democrat amendments offered were accepted, meaning a large, large portion were not; and only 4 percent of Republican amendments were accepted to even be voted on here today. That means that over 50 million American voices did not get their representation right here today because the amendments of more than 80 Members of Congress were ignored by this Democrat majority. There has got to be a better way, and maybe in about 6 months we will find out.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I am very happy to yield 2½ minutes at this point to the gentleman from Maryland, Mr. ELIJAH CUMMINGS, the chairman of the Subcommittee on the Coast Guard of our Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, a gentleman who has been so instrumental in helping to bring this legislation to the floor.

Mr. CUMMINGS. Thank you very much.

I rise in strong support of the manager's amendment. I express strong support for the underlying text, including the extensive provisions authored by the Transportation Committee to correct regulatory failures that contributed to the Deepwater Horizon accident and to strengthen the role of the Coast Guard in oil spill response planning and safety management.

The manager's amendment includes a number of provisions that improve the underlying text. For example, it imposes civil penalties on chief executive officers who certify information that misrepresents a company's ability to respond to or contain an oil spill. BP wrote in its exploration plan for the Mississippi Canyon 252 site that ''in the event of an anticipated blowout resulting in an oil spill, it is unlikely to have an impact based on the industry-wide standards for using proven equipment and technology for such responses, implementation of BP's Regional Oil Spill Response Plan which address available equipment and personnel, techniques for containment and recovery and removal of oil spill.''

Obviously that was a false statement. There were no proven equipment or technologies to respond to the kind of oil spill that occurred in the gulf.

The manager's amendment also requires redundancy in accident and spill response plans, something critically needed, given our current lack of proven response equipment and technologies. Further, the amendment authorizes a study of economic, safety and environmental impacts of requiring a relief well to be drilled in tandem with the drilling of some or all wells.

The manager's amendment clarifies the liability provisions in the Oil Pollution Act to protect claimants from signing broad liability releases. This will help protect the rights of those in the gulf who have been so devastated by the spill. The manager's amendment also includes a provision that I offered that would exempt discharges resulting from salvage activities from liability, consistent with the National Contingency Plan or as directed by the President.

I applaud Chairman RAHALL and I applaud Chairman OBERSTAR for their excellent work on the CLEAR Act, and I urge the adoption of the manager's amendment.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. GOHMERT), a member of the Natural Resources Committee.

Mr. GOHMERT. Mr. Chair, you know, at a time when 42 cents out of every dollar we are spending, we are allocating here in this body is having to be borrowed and someday paid back by children and the children's children, some of whom may be watching right now, it is absolutely critical we do it right.

Here we have got all of these amendments lumped into one so we can't debate them, and we can't take one thing out. That's not right. And when I heard my friend from West Virginia saying, There they go again, apologizing for BP, I will challenge anybody to find any comment by anybody on this side of the aisle in this debate today who has apologized for, to, or about BP. Some of us think they ought to be strung up when we find out who's most responsible.

So I know my friend from West Virginia would never intentionally misrepresent the facts, but whoever prepared that statement that he read sure did.

Mr. RAHALL. I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. BOYD).

(Mr. BOYD asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BOYD. I thank Chairman RAHALL for offering this manager's amendment and giving me time to speak.

Mr. Chairman, in this manager's amendment, there's a provision that is very important to the folks in the district I represent in northwest Florida. Ladies and gentlemen, our local economy has been significantly impacted by the BP oil spill. Many of our people are out of work as a result of this man-made disaster that they had no hand in creating. Fortunately, we have been successful in setting up the BP Oil Spill Victims Compensation Fund which will help speed relief to the victims of this tragedy and help respond to one of the gulf coast's greatest needs.

This amendment that is being offered by Chairman RAHALL will ensure that gulf residents will have the right of first refusal for the job opportunities processing the claims filed for the oil spill.

It emphasizes the importance of gulf residents serving their neighbors by processing these claims and ensuring that they receive the consideration for the ramifications of this spill.

I have already spoken with Mr. Ken Feinberg, the administrator of the BP Deepwater Horizon Victims Fund, about employing local residents to process claims, and he agrees with me that there is no one better suited to perform this essential task. In fact, I told him that in north Florida we have a ready and willing workforce ready to go. These workers, who unfortunately are looking for work as a result of their corporations' closing their facility, have the skill and the talent that directly align with the skills needed to process oil spill claims. They should be considered first in line to beef up the newly established claims fund and ensure a high quality response for fellow gulf coast residents.

I recommend a ''yes'' vote on the chairman's manager's amendment.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RAHALL. I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. FARR).

Mr. FARR. Thank you, Chairman RAHALL, for yielding.

Mother Earth, wake up. Today's the day that Congress is going to show some leadership. Leadership is about getting results. And last week, the President of the United States enacted, by Executive order, a government oceans plan, a governance plan to look at our oceans in totality. Today, Congress is going to enact the ability to govern the oceans and to think about the totality of how this Earth survives with 73 percent of the Earth being covered by oceans.

Too bad that so many people get up and talk about, in a crisis, oh, if it was just a little bit better we could support half the bill, we could support a little bit of this, something's wrong. That's not leadership. Leadership's about getting results. And the only way you get results today is to vote ''aye.'' It solves a lot of problems. Voting ''no'' solves nothing. Nothing. The planet can't stand nothing.

For too long there has not been leadership. That side is the side that gave us James Watt, ''Drill, baby drill,'' gave us Richard Pombo, chair of the Resources Committee, the Darth Vader of environmental legislation. Nothing ever came out of that committee. And today what do they want? We don't want this bill because it's not perfect.

Ladies and gentlemen, today's the day that we respect Mother Earth and give her a chance to help our dying oceans stop dying. And the only way to do that is to vote ''aye.''

Mr. RAHALL. Madam Chair, I yield the remainder of my time to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MARKEY), who has been so instrumental in this legislation as well on this issue.

The Acting CHAIR (Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas). The gentleman from Massachusetts is recognized for 2 minutes.

Mr. MARKEY of Massachusetts. I thank Mr. RAHALL for his great leadership working with Chairman WAXMAN and Chairman STUPAK and I on the Energy and Commerce Committee to include new safety procedures.

This bill takes lessons learned and will turn them into laws. That's what we need to do. Included in this bill is a provision which is going to collect $53 billion from the oil industry, where they are drilling in American waters without paying any royalties to the American people. And in this bill we reclaim those $53 billion from the oil companies, and we will reduce the Federal deficit by $53 billion. That's in this bill. And it is going to be the dues which the oil companies should be paying to the American people for using American waters.

At $80 a barrel, for the American people to be subsidizing Big Oil to drill, it would be like subsidizing a fish to swim or a bird to fly, to subsidize the oil industry to drill for oil at $80 a barrel. You just don't have to do it.

So with this bill we cut the deficit and we stop Big Oil from cutting corners on safety. This is BP's spill, but it is America's ocean. That's what this bill is all about. That's what this vote is on today. Are we going to reclaim the oceans of America so that they are not polluted, so that BP and the oil companies pay the royalties that they owe to our people and not avoid them, that we reduce the Federal deficit and we make sure that we never again see a day where the American people for 100 days have to watch oil flow into our oceans?

Vote ''aye'' on this very important legislation.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I yield myself the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Madam Chairman, the last speaker made an interesting point when he was talking about the oceans and how this bill is going to save the oceans. I don't think there is anybody in this body that doesn't want to make sure that our oceans are in a healthy, robust way. But it begs the question why are there restrictions, if this is an oceans bill, and if it's a gulf oil bill, why does this bill deal with onshore oil and gas regulation and restrictions? That question, honestly, has not come up once in the debate even though that reference has been made many times by Members on this side of the aisle.

This amendment, of course, is on the manager's amendment. As I mentioned, it is 17 Democrat amendments and one Republican amendment. There may be some good things involved with this amendment. In fact, there are. But why is there always this tendency to throw so much more into these amendments when many of the subjects that are covered in them have not been fully vetted throughout the committee process? That's the concern. And it's a pattern that we see over and over and over again. And frankly, it's a pattern that I think the American people see and respond to when asked about how they feel this body is in a favorable or unfavorable way. Because this body has very low favorable ratings. I think this is part—not the only thing—but this is certainly part of that.

So I urge my colleagues to vote against the manager's amendment. I am certainly going to ask them to vote against the underlying bill because the underlying bill, while it's purported to be in response to the gulf oil spill, we saw it was expanded just a moment ago, at least in remarks by the gentleman from Massachusetts, to all of the oceans. In fact, the gentleman from California said the same thing come to think of it.

But yet what this bill really is all about, when you look at the substance and how it affects the American people, is another gigantic tax increase, and an addition of mandatory spending on top of the mandatory spending we have within our government right now. We all know, all of us in this body knows that the mandatory spending in this Congress and our Federal Government is unsustainable over time. And yet here we are, albeit on a small level, adding to mandatory spending.

I urge my colleagues to oppose the Rahall amendment and the underlying bill.

Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas. Mr. Chair, I rise in support of the manager's amendment to H.R. 3534, "The Consolidated Land, Energy and Aquatic Resources (CLEAR) Act." The manager's amendment provides a number of provisions that will ensure that there is greater chance of preventing an incident such as the April 30, 2010 Deepwater Horizon explosion and oil spill.

The Manager's amendment includes my amendment which requires redundancy in accident and spill response plans as part of the permitting process under the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act.

Specifically, my amendment will require that businesses applying for permits to drill and produce crude oil in the Gulf of Mexico submit detailed spill mitigation and recovery plans as part of the permitting process. Not only must they have recovery plans, but they will be required to have backup plans, in case their first response fails. Additionally, those plans must be vetted by impartial experts, rather than rubber-stamped by insufficiently vigilant regulators. With this additional layer of response planning, there is a better chance that we will be better prepared to respond to future incidents like the Gulf oil spill.

The Manager's amendment also includes provisions that do the following:

Clarifies that the Secretary of the Interior may enter into cooperative education and training agreements with safety training firms in establishing the National Oil and Gas Health and Safety Academy.

Clarifies that the Secretary is permitted to consult with industry representatives regarding training program curricula, but is not authorized to utilize industry representatives as instructional personnel for the trainings.

Imposes civil penalties on CEO's who certify to false information about a company's capability to prevent or contain an oil spill.

Establishes a Citizen's Advisory Committee composed of non-energy industry individuals to assist the Gulf Coast Restoration Task Force in its work.

Clarifies that the Regional Assessment and Regional Strategic Plan created by the Great Lakes Regional Coordination Council shall include only renewable and not non-renewable energy resources.

Ensures that Gulf residents would have the right of first refusal for processing the claims filed due to the oil spill.

Replaces the requirement for dispersant manufacturers to disclose their product's chemical formula with a requirement to disclose dispersant products' ingredients.

Provides that discharges resulting from salvage activities consistent with the National Contingency Plan or as directed by the President are exempt from liability under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act.

Authorizes a study of the economic, safety, and environmental impacts of requiring a relief well be drilled in tandem with the drilling of some or all wells.

Requires the GAO to complete a study to determine whether the reforms to the Department of the Interior mandated in this legislation have increased oversight and decreased conflicts of interest within the department.

Includes in the Environmental Study an analysis of the cumulative impact of drilling on the Outer Continental Shelf.

Requires oil and gas companies to pay royalties on all oil that is discharged from a well, including spilled oil.

Directs GAO to study the impact of assessing a fee on the processing of oil and gas leases and using the proceeds to fund the gathering of baseline environmental data necessary for the permitting process.

Directs the Secretary of the Interior to arrange with the National Academy of Engineering to study and report to the Secretary regarding whether the accuracy of collection of royalties on production of oil, condensate, and natural gas under leases of federal lands would be improved by implementing certain prescribed measures; and Amends the liability provisions in the Oil Pollution Act to protect claimants from signing broad liability releases, and to clarify that the new cause of action under OPA for damages to human health does not supersede remedies under other federal law.

Mr. Chair, I support this manager's amendment which includes my amendment that will require redundancy in accident and spill response plans as part of the permitting process under the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act. I urge my colleagues to support this amendment.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I yield back the balance of my time.

The CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL).

The question was taken; and the Chair announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XVIII, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from West Virginia will be postponed.

AMENDMENT NO. 2 OFFERED BY MR. CASTLE

The CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 2 printed in part B of House Report 111–582.

Mr. CASTLE. Mr. Chairman, I seek recognition to present amendment No. 2.

The CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

At the end of title I add the following new section:

SEC. ___. LIMITATION ON EFFECT ON DEVELOPMENT OF OCEAN RENEWABLE ENERGY RESOURCE FACILITIES.

Nothing in this title shall delay development of ocean renewable energy resource facilities including—

(1) promotion of offshore wind development;

(2) planning, leasing, licensing, and fee and royalty collection for such development of ocean renewable energy resource facilities; and

(3) developing and administering an efficient leasing and licensing process for ocean renewable energy resource facilities.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 1574, the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. CASTLE) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware.

Mr. CASTLE. I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I rise today to urge support for amendment No. 2 to the CLEAR Act, which will help ensure that there is no delay in the development of ocean renewable energy resources, including offshore wind, under the MMS reorganization called for under title I.

The actions to reform MMS following the devastating oil spill are necessary and commendable.

□ 1510

While the new bureaus and office are focused on the critical task of transforming the agency into a more effective, transparent agency, this will require significant organizational and cultural alterations. Under this restructuring, it would be a great disappointment to lose ground in our efforts to prepare a workable comprehensive offshore energy plan for our Nation.

If we are serious about advancing new clean sources of power, which I sincerely hope we are, an important goal of the MMS reorganization must continue to facilitate, not hinder, the development of offshore renewable energy development in the waters of the United States.

For offshore renewable energy projects already underway, like the wind project off the coast of Delaware, progress must continue. While I continue to believe there is value in establishing a separate office for ocean renewable energy development, which we can perhaps continue to work on in our discussions with the Senate, this amendment would, at a minimum, ensure appropriate attention is paid to advancing ocean renewable energy development and protecting against bottlenecks that could result in unnecessary delays.

Offshore wind farms alone present a significant and rapidly growing source of emissions-free electrical power for our constituents. And recent Department of the Interior-U.S. Department of Energy reports confirm that winds off the coast of the United States are a promising source of clean, renewable electrical power.

My amendment is simple and calls attention to the need to ensure that targeted efforts to support offshore wind and renewable energy development continue without delay. I hope my colleagues on both sides of the aisle will support its adoption.

Mr. RAHALL. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. CASTLE. I yield to the gentleman from West Virginia.

Mr. RAHALL. We are prepared to accept the gentleman from Delaware's amendment on this act and commend him for bringing it to us.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. CASTLE. I yield to the gentleman from Washington.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. We are more than happy to accept it on our side.

Mr. CASTLE. I yield back the balance of my time.

The CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. CASTLE).

The amendment was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 3 OFFERED BY MR. KIND

The CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 3 printed in part B of House Report 111–582.

Mr. KIND. I have an amendment at the desk.

The CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Page 127, line 6, strike the closing quotation marks and the final period.

Page 127, after line 6, insert the following: ''(c) RECREATIONAL ACCESS FUNDING.—Notwithstanding subsection (b), not less than 1.5 percent of the amounts made available under subsection (a) for each fiscal year shall be made available for projects that secure recreational public access to Federal land under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior for hunting, fishing, and other recreational purposes through easements, rights-of-way, or fee title acquisitions, from willing sellers.''.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 1574, the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. KIND) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Wisconsin.

Mr. KIND. I yield myself 1 minute.

(Mr. KIND asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. KIND. This is a very simple amendment. One of the strengths of the CLEAR Act is that it asks public companies that are extracting resources from our public lands to contribute to a fund, a fund called the Land and Water Conservation Fund that was established in the mid-1960s to help preserve and conserve the vital natural resources that we have throughout the United States. But the problem is that so much of the public lands that are available are inaccessible. They're not accessible for the hunters, the fisherman, the outdoor recreationists, those who enjoy shooting sports to gain access to the lands.

In fact, a recent study showed that close to 35 million acres that currently exist in public lands are inaccessible to hunters and fishermen throughout the country. This amendment would direct just 1½ percent out of the Land and Water Conservation Fund that would be used in order to purchase easements or right-of-ways from willing, voluntary sellers so that the hunters and fishermen have access to these public lands.

The inaccessibility is one of the contributing causes of why so many people are not hunting or not involved in shooting sports. This amendment would go a long way to addressing that, and it's consistent with the underlying philosophy of the Land and Water Conservation Fund. I'd ask my colleagues to support it.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to claim the time in opposition, though I'm not opposed to the amendment.

The CHAIR. Without objection, the gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

There was no objection.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, our main purpose here today is supposed to be, as I've said several times, to be addressing the gulf oil spill and ensuring that offshore drilling is the safest in the world. Unfortunately, as I have mentioned again many times, the Democrats have used this vehicle to put extraneous material on this particular bill.

One of the most glaring unrelated items that I had mentioned several times, also, is the $30 billion in new mandatory spending. An oil spill is not an excuse to spend more money, especially when the money is going towards provisions that are completely unrelated to the gulf oil spill. Regardless of your views of the Land and Water Conservation Fund and the Historic Preservation Fund—and I know I would probably disagree if it were my friend from Wisconsin on that—everyone should agree that that bill has no business being here in this particular bill.

However, I fully support our Nation's sportsmen and would like to see more of our public land open for a variety of purposes such as hunting, fishing, recreation, and economic development. Given that the Democrat majority and the Obama administration continually are looking for ways to lock up our land and block public access, it's encouraging to me to see some of my colleagues across the aisle supporting increased access, and I thank the gentleman for that. I hope that we will work with this in the future to ensure that all Americans, including sportsmen, have greater access to public lands.

However, as I had mentioned, this bill is not the appropriate vehicle to address this issue. I think we can do it in a much more ordered way if we take this up on its own, because there is some merit to the gentleman's proposal. But I will not stand in the way of this amendment.

I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. KIND. Mr. Chairman, at this time, I would like to yield 1 minute to a very strong supporter of the hunting and fishing community, the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. KRATOVIL).

Mr. KRATOVIL. Thank you, Mr. KIND, for your leadership on this amendment.

I rise in strong support of the amendment so that we can increase, as was said, access to federally protected lands for hunters and anglers through the Land and Water Conservation Fund. Our amendment will simply refocus a very small portion of the Land and Water Conservation Fund to enhance access to existing public lands, specifically for easements or right-of-ways that open access to Federal land which is currently inaccessible or significantly restricted.

Specifically, the amendment directs the Secretary to dedicate no less than 1.5 percent of the funds to increase recreational public access to existing lands for hunting, fishing, or other recreational purposes. Our amendment stays very true to the very intent of the fund, which is stated in the statute, to assist in preserving, developing, and assuring accessibility to outdoor recreation resources.

I urge my colleagues to support the amendment on behalf of the sportsmen and -women throughout the country and communities that rely on these activities to generate and create jobs.

Mr. KIND. Mr. Chairman, at this time I would like to yield 1 minute to a real champion of recreational sportsmen and -women throughout the country, the gentleman from New Mexico (Mr. HEINRICH).

Mr. HEINRICH. Mr. Chairman, as an avid hunter and sportsman, I am very proud to cosponsor this recreational access funding amendment. Too many families, sportsmen, outdoor enthusiasts across our Nation continue to be locked out of public lands because of lack of legal access. New Mexico's Sabinoso Wilderness is an example. I've personally spent hours on horseback riding through Sabinoso's high mesas and deep canyons.

But without permission from adjacent private landowners, which usually requires an escort from the Bureau of Land Management, legal access to the Sabinoso is not available.

This amendment would dedicate a small percentage of the Land and Water Conservation Fund to acquire those rights-of-way for the public from willing sellers. Public lands like the Sabinoso belong to every American, and this amendment will help ensure that future generations of Americans can hunt and fish, hike and camp on these lands.

I urge my colleagues to support this amendment and to support the underlying legislation.

Mr. KIND. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to a champion of outdoor recreationists throughout the country and in the State of Nevada, the gentlelady from Nevada (Ms. TITUS).

Ms. TITUS. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of this amendment to enhance access to public lands by acquiring right-of-ways from willing sellers.

The Federal Government owns more than 85 percent of the land in my State of Nevada, which includes some of the most spectacular landscapes in the Nation. Outdoor recreation supports nearly 20,000 jobs in Nevada, and it generates $116 million in annual State taxes. By increasing public access to these Federal lands for hunting, fishing, camping, hiking, and other recreational purposes, we would be doing something that would not only help our economy but would be welcomed by enthusiasts throughout the State.

Mr. KIND. At this time, I would like to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Virginia, a champion for hunting and fishermen in Virginia and throughout the country, Mr. PERRIELLO.

□ 1520

Mr. PERRIELLO. I rise in strong support of this amendment to give 1.5 percent in the Land and Water Conservation Fund for recreational public access, including hunting and fishing. Thirteen million hunters in the United States generate $67 billion in economic activity every year and account for 1 million jobs. But beyond the dollars and cents, this is about a way of life, about heritage, and about time with families spent together.

So for our sportsmen, it's not enough just to ensure their rights, but to ensure there's a place to exercise those rights; and this is a huge step forward to make sure that those recreational activities have a place for us across the United States.

Mr. KIND. Mr. Chairman, I yield 15 seconds to the chairman of the Natural Resources Committee, Mr. RAHALL.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Wisconsin for yielding and certainly support his amendment. I commend him for his leadership and for his efforts and discussions that have been held long and on many occasions in regard to his amendment and support his bill.

Mr. KIND. I yield myself the remainder of the time.

Mr. Chairman, I also want to thank, who wrote a letter in support of this amendment, the American Wildlife Conservation Partners. It's a group of 45 outdoor recreational organizations from hunting to fishing to shooting sports to conservation groups throughout the country. They see the value of increased access to our public lands.

But, Mr. Chairman, this is also an amendment about jobs because outdoor recreation, hunting, fishing, shooting sports, they contribute over $730 billion to the national economy every year. They support 6.5 million jobs. Almost one of every 20 jobs is associated with some outdoor recreational activity. And they stimulate close to 8 to 9 percent of all consumer spending in this country. So increasing access so more people have the opportunity to get to the public lands to do this is going to create jobs and strengthen our economy.

I encourage my colleagues to support the amendment.

The CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. KIND).

The question was taken; and the Chair announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. KIND. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XVIII, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Wisconsin will be postponed.

AMENDMENT NO. 4 OFFERED BY MS. SHEA-PORTER

The CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 4 printed in part B of House Report 111–582.

Ms. SHEA-PORTER. I have an amendment at the desk.

The CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Page 28, line 16, insert at the end the following new sentence: ''The Secretary shall update the supplementary ethics guidance not less than once every three years thereafter.''.

Page 78, strike line 16, and insert the following:

''(D) oil spill response and mitigation, including reviews of the best available technology for oil spill response and mitigation and the availability and accessibility of such technology in each region where leasing is taking place;' ''.

Page 82, line 18, strike ''and''.

''(F) updated the operator's response plan required under section 25(c)(7) and exploration plans required under section 11(c)(3) to reflect the best available technology, including the availability of such technology.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 1574, the gentlewoman from New Hampshire (Ms. SHEA-PORTER) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from New Hampshire.

Ms. SHEA-PORTER. First, I would like to thank Chairman RAHALL and his staff for this very good piece of legislation before us today. It is a product of months of hard work. I believe it is a transformative bill that will go a long way to ensuring responsible energy development and better environmental protection.

The tragedy in the Gulf of Mexico has reminded us of what can happen if we are not vigilant and constantly improving our safety and environmental protection. It has also reminded us that when we put our lands and oceans at risk for energy development in one area, we should be putting land aside and protecting it in another area.

The underlying bill makes good on a promise to fully fund the Land and Water Conservation Fund. That program has protected more than 5 million acres of land across this country. Fully funding LWCF is long overdue, and I thank the chairman for his leadership on this issue.

Mr. Chair, among other things, the bill before us makes needed improvements to the way that our offshore energy leasing is carried out. During my time on the Natural Resources Committee, I have been particularly troubled by the reports of unethical behavior at the government agency that was previously overseeing energy leasing. That outrageous conduct must never be allowed to happen again in any agency. This bill puts in place strong ethics requirements and training. My amendment take this a step further by requiring that the ethics guidelines developed by the Interior Secretary be updated every 3 years.

Mr. Chair, another lesson we've learned over the past 3 years is that oil companies do not necessarily use the best available technology and that they are not fully prepared for a spill. Immediately after the spill, BP turned to solutions that had been around for 20 years, solutions from the Exxon Valdez disaster. It was painfully clear that they had not spent time or money to develop new technologies to clean up a spill. The bill before us creates an offshore technology research and risk assessment program to conduct research and development of new drilling and spill response technologies. My amendment adds language to ensure that we study the best available spill response technology and its availability in regions where drilling is taking place. This is to make certain that we have in place the best technology and equipment needed to respond when there is an accident.

Finally, Mr. Chair, it's also critical that this new technology we're developing be integrated into exploration and response plans. My amendment requires companies to certify as part of their annual certification for offshore drilling that those plans include the best available technology. When the BP executives testified before the Natural Resources Committee, it was clear to me they were more concerned with cutting corners and shaving costs than making sure they had the safest operation with the best technology. Requiring these companies to take into account the best available technology and its availability just makes sense.

Again, Mr. Chair, this is a very strong bill we are considering today, and I thank Chairman RAHALL for all his hard work. I urge my colleagues to support this amendment and the underlying bill.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LAMBORN. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to claim time in opposition to the amendment, although I do not intend to oppose it.

The Acting CHAIR (Mr. OBEY). Without objection, the gentleman from Colorado is recognized for 5 minutes.

There was no objection.

Mr. LAMBORN. I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, updating the supplemental guidelines on ethics every 3 years will help the Department of the Interior keep current with new issues as they arise and will focus the government employees' attention on appropriate ethical behavior as they deal with the private sector.

The Horizon disaster has focused everyone's attention on the lack of any contingency plan that could be implemented expeditiously to address a blowout in deepwater conditions. We basically watched a 3-month ongoing experiment with various devices being fabricated to cap the well or capture the oil as it's spewing out. We also found out that we didn't have enough boom in place to protect the shoreline and that new boom had to be manufactured to meet the requirements in the State oil spill response plans. And we discovered that some of the plans underestimated how much boom might be required to protect the shoreline from a major spill.

Using the best available technology is crucial in keeping the public's trust going forward with offshore oil and gas development. Both Republicans and Democrats have broad agreement on the need to protect and improve offshore production safety and environmental protection. This amendment is an example of our agreement, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

What I don't agree with is going beyond the gulf to encompass all energy production in the entire United States in order to raise energy taxes by $22 billion. Raising energy taxes in a recession will kill jobs.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. SHEA-PORTER. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New York (Mr. HALL), a leading environmentalist.

Mr. HALL of New York. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentlelady and the chairman.

I rise today in support of this amendment, as well as the underlying bill.

The Deepwater Horizon explosion on April 20 cost our Nation tens of billions of dollars in economic damages and caused widespread devastation of our natural resources. It did not have to happen. This was a disaster that was preventable.

Over the last few months, we have learned that BP consistently made choices to sacrifice safety for profit. They testified that they did not use vital safety technology like acoustic sensing devices because U.S. law did not require it. It is time for us to change that.

I recently introduced legislation to require oil companies to use the best available technology, and I'm proud to support this amendment which also requires oil companies to include the best available technology in their exploration and spill response plans.

Mr. Chairman, the cost of using state-of-the-art technology is much less than the cost of cleanup and the tragic loss of life.

I urge my colleagues to support this amendment and the underlying bill.

Mr. LAMBORN. I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. SHEA-PORTER. I yield 1 minute to the chairman, Mr. RAHALL.

□ 1530

Mr. RAHALL. I thank the gentlelady for yielding, and I certainly do support her amendment. I commend her for her leadership on our Committee on Natural Resources in helping to develop this legislation. It is a commonsense amendment that deserves the support of every Member of this body, and it certainly makes the bill better. I appreciate her effort.

Mr. LAMBORN. Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. SHEA-PORTER. Mr. Chair, again I urge my colleagues to support this amendment and the bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR (Mr. OBEY). The question is on the amendment offered by the gentlewoman from New Hampshire (Ms. SHEA-PORTER).

The amendment was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 5 OFFERED BY MR. TEAGUE

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 5 printed in part B of House Report 111–582.

Mr. TEAGUE. Mr. Chairman, I have an amendment at the desk.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Page 167, line 2, strike ''and''.

(2) in subsection (e) by striking ''self-insurer,'' and inserting ''self-insurer, participation in cooperative arrangements such as pooling or joint insurance,''; and

Page 167, line 3, strike ''(2)'' and insert ''(3)''.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 1574, the gentleman from New Mexico (Mr. TEAGUE) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New Mexico.

Mr. TEAGUE. Mr. Chairman, I rise today to offer a simple but important amendment.

My amendment would add another means by which facilities may demonstrate compliance with the financial responsibility provisions of the Oil Pollution Act of 1990.

The amendment enables two or more companies to meet individual financial responsibility requirements by pooling resources or obtaining joint insurance coverage. Such arrangements would avoid redundant coverage, reduce insurance costs, and enhance access to insurance.

In the event of a liability incident, any party to such an arrangement would have access to the full coverage amount. Provisions would be made in a joint insurance plan for automatic reinstatement, by the parties, of the original coverage amount.

This amendment does not substitute or change current provisions for meeting financial responsibility. Rather, it simply adds another method for meeting financial responsibility requirements. There is no reduction in protection of the public interest, and no reduction in protection for the environment.

Mr. Chairman, ever since I arrived in Congress, I made it my mission to fight for the little guys—the companies whose names you don't see in television commercials, but that provide jobs for millions of Americans and produce so much of our Nation's domestic energy. You find a lot of those companies around my hometown of Hobbs, New Mexico, and you find a lot of those hardworking companies operating in the Gulf of Mexico.

Having independent oil and gas producers providing American energy in the Gulf of Mexico is critical to moving away from foreign oil. The big oil companies are generally interested in producing only the biggest plays with the biggest potential payoffs. It's the independent companies that are going in and producing American energy that would not get produced otherwise.

According to a recent report, independent oil and natural gas companies currently account for about half of the nearly 400,000 jobs and $20 billion in Federal, State and local revenues generated by the industry in 2009.

This amendment simply allows smaller independent companies the flexibility they need to meet financial responsibility requirements. I ask for broad, bipartisan support of this amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LAMBORN. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to claim time in opposition to this amendment, although I don't intend to oppose it.

The CHAIR. Without objection, the gentleman from Colorado is recognized for 5 minutes.

There was no objection.

Mr. LAMBORN. I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, Republicans have no problem with this amendment. The fact that the bill will force small companies to now band together simply to meet threshold requirement activities in the offshore is a sad statement on the rest of the bill.

Although this provision may help small companies meet their certificate of financial responsibility requirements, nothing in this amendment solves the liability problem and nothing in this amendment solves the $22 billion tax increase in this bill. Unlimited liability will cripple domestic production by removing all but the largest companies from offshore drilling. There should be reasonable liability, but unlimited or infinite liability goes too far. It will kill jobs. Republicans support this amendment, but it's simply like putting a Band-Aid on a broken leg. I suppose it doesn't hurt anything, but it doesn't cure the underlying problem; and it might even lull someone into thinking we're doing something.

Anyone who votes for the Teague amendment and the underlying bill together is putting the people they are purporting to help out of business. The Teague amendment does absolutely nothing to cure unlimited liability.

Mr. Chairman, I would now like to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. CUMMINGS).

Mr. CUMMINGS. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I rise in support of the amendment. The underlying amendment in the nature of a substitute would raise from the current $150 million to $300 million the amount of financial responsibility that offshore facilities must demonstrate. This is a significant increase.

I strongly believe that this increased level of financial responsibility is appropriate, given the risks associated with offshore energy production—risks that the Deepwater Horizon spill have made so clear.

Importantly, however, the President can lower the amount of financial responsibility offshore facilities must demonstrate if certain criteria are met, albeit the level for offshore facilities seaward of a State boundary cannot be below $105 million.

I strongly support the amendment.

Mr. TEAGUE. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE).

Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas. I thank the gentleman from New Mexico and I thank him for working together with me on this amendment and for his leadership. I offered a similar amendment and was very pleased to join this amendment as the Teague-Jackson Lee amendment. It is important to note that this is a fair amendment that does something. It really does do something for the small, independent companies. This amendment would allow the financial responsibility required to operate in the gulf to be pooled among companies working together. It means that we give them the opportunity because of the $300 million necessary COFR to be able to do business in the gulf and not go out of business. What it really means is preserving thousands of jobs.

First of all, the U.S. independent operators in the gulf because of their operations, they have a major contribution to energy security and energy supply providing reasonably priced fuels for our families and economy. Eighty-one percent of oil producing in the gulf is in the independent leases and 46 percent of the gulf's producing deepwater leases as well. Independents have drilled 1,298 wells in the deepwater and safely. Independents operate an average of 70 percent of the farmed-out acreage that originally were in the hands of the majors over the past 10 years. Almost 3 billion barrels of oil equivalent in reserves that were originally found by the majors are now operated by independents; small companies that create a lot of jobs. This is an amendment that will allow them to work together, pool their resources, and do the right thing, not put the burden on the taxpayers.

Let me also acknowledge that I am glad my requirement to have redundancies in actions and fuel resources plans was also included in the manager's amendment.

I thank the gentleman from New Mexico for his leadership. It's my pleasure to be able to work with you for an amendment that is doing something, is helping the independents stay in business and create jobs, and it is helping them do the work that will allow for the American people to have quality oil for cheap prices.

I rise to speak in support of the Teague/Jackson Lee Amendment to H.R. 3534, The Consolidated Land, Energy and Aquatic Resources (CLEAR Act). The Jackson Lee Amendment would allow the financial responsibility required to operate in the Gulf of Mexico to be pooled among the companies working together.

With the potential of unlimited liability looming large over the smaller independent companies, this amendment will prevent small, independent oil companies from being driven out of business and out of the Gulf of Mexico. The problem with the current requirements for the Certificate of Oil Field Responsibility (COFR) is that smaller operators will be unable to establish the $300 million necessary COFR to even begin exploration and development. By allowing smaller companies—who frequently work together in joint ventures—to pool their resources for COFR purposes, we will prevent the Gulf from becoming the exclusive province of companies big enough to self-insure, and allow the small businesses of the Gulf Coast Community to continue to provide jobs and drive our economy.

I urge my colleagues to vote for this amendment and vote for small businesses, saving jobs, and the American people.

The CHAIR. The gentleman from New Mexico has 30 seconds remaining. The gentleman from Colorado has 2½ minutes remaining and has the right to close.

Mr. TEAGUE. I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LAMBORN. Mr. Chairman, I would just reiterate that we have no objection to this amendment. I wish it really accomplished something, because the deeper things that are problems in this bill are going to kill offshore production in large part; and we don't need to be killing jobs and raising taxes in the time of a recession.

We have no objection to the amendment because it doesn't do any harm.

I yield back the balance of my time.

The CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from New Mexico (Mr. TEAGUE).

The question was taken; and the Chair announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. CUMMINGS. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XVIII, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from New Mexico will be postponed.

AMENDMENT NO. 6 OFFERED BY MR. OBERSTAR

The CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 6 printed in part B of House Report 111–582.

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Chairman, as the designee of the gentleman from Connecticut (Mr. HIMES), I offer amendment No. 6.

The CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Page 172, after line 8, insert the following:

(e) CONSIDERATIONS OF TRUSTEES.—Section 1006(d) of such Act (33 U.S.C. 2706(d)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

''(4) CONSIDERATIONS OF TRUSTEES.—

''(A) EQUAL AND FULL CONSIDERATION.—Trustees shall—

''(i) give equal and full consideration to restoration, rehabilitation, replacement, and the acquisition of the equivalent of the natural resources under their trusteeship; and

''(ii) consider restoration, rehabilitation, replacement, and the acquisition of the equivalent of the natural resources under their trusteeship in a holistic ecosystem context and using, where available, eco-regional or natural resource plans.

''(B) SPECIAL RULE ON ACQUISITION.—Acquisition shall only be given full and equal consideration under subparagraph (A) if it provides a substantially greater likelihood of improving the resilience of the lost or damaged resource and supports local ecological processes.''.

Page 172, line 9, strike ''(e)'' and insert ''(f)''.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 1574, the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. OBERSTAR) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota.

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 3 minutes.

The amendment addresses two important issues on restoration of natural resources damaged as a result of release or threatened release of oil under OPA, the Oil Pollution Act.

The first issue is acquisition of additional natural resources as part of a potential remedy for damages in instances where the existing resource cannot be or is unlikely to be successfully restored. In OPA, section 1006, provides that damages to natural resources can be addressed either through restoration, rehabilitation, replacement or acquisition of equivalent resources, where other measures are unlikely or impossible to be implemented.

The Himes amendment, which I offer on his behalf, emphasizes that acquisition of a natural equivalent resource can be an acceptable alternative to restoration or rehabilitation. Consistent with current law, the acquisition of an equivalent natural resource should be used only when restoration is likely to be unsuccessful or the acquisition provides a substantially greater likelihood of improving resilience of the lost or damaged resource and supports local ecological processes.

The second part of the amendment will ensure that natural resource damage assessments and implementation emphasize restoring the entire damaged ecosystem rather than dealing simply with specific, discrete segments thereof. The gulf coast is such a unique resource with countless species of fish, shellfish, marine life, wildlife, all integrated, and it really needs to be treated as an overall cohesive ecosystem.

This amendment addresses two important issues related to the restoration of any natural resources damaged as a result of the release or threatened of oil under the Oil Pollution Act, OPA.

The first issue deals with the acquisition of additional natural resources as part of a potential remedy for damages, in those instances where the existing resource cannot, or is unlikely to be, successfully restored. Section 1006 of OPA provides that damages to natural resources can be addressed either through restoration, rehabilitation, replacement, or the acquisition of the equivalent resources where other measures are unlikely or impossible to be successfully implemented.

The Himes amendment emphasizes that acquisition of an equivalent natural resource can be an acceptable alternative to restoration or rehabilitation; however, consistent with current law, the acquisition of an equivalent natural resource should be utilized only when restoration or rehabilitation of the existing, damaged resource is likely to be unsuccessful, and the acquisition provides a ''substantially greater likelihood of improving the resilience of the lost or damaged resource and supports local ecological processes.''

The second portion of the Himes amendment will ensure that natural resource damage assessments and implementation emphasize restoring the entire damage ecosystem, rather than dealing with individual, specific locations. The Gulf of Mexico is unique in that it serves as a focal point for countless species of fish, shellfish, marine life, and wildlife.

The Gulf of Mexico coastal area contains more than half of the coastal wetlands within the lower 48 states, as well as numerous recreational opportunities in the States of Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, and Florida. According to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, NOAA, 97 percent of the commercial fish and shellfish landings come from the Gulf, and depend on the estuaries and their wetlands at some point in their life cycle. The Gulf also serves as vital habitat to many species of breeding, wintering, and migrating waterfowl, songbirds, and other marine mammals and reptiles. According to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Gulf supports a ''disproportionately high number of beach-nesting bird species'' that relay on the beaches, barrier islands, and similar habitats as part of their annual breeding cycle.

I applaud the gentleman's amendment because it stresses the importance of addressing damaged natural resources in a holistic ecosystem approach. I urge my colleagues to support this amendment.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the amendment.

The CHAIR. The gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 3 minutes.

Mr. Chairman, let's be pretty specific on what this particular fund is all about, and I will explain why I think it is a very, very bad idea.

The fundamental goal of the Natural Resources Damages Act, that's the fund we are talking about, is to ensure the protection and restoration of all resources on Federal lands, water and land. This includes restoration of damages caused by fires, invasive species, oil spills, ship groundings and vandalism.

What this amendment attempts to do is to shift funds from the restoration of our national parks and national wildlife refuges to the purchase of non-impacted land.

Now, Mr. Chairman, I just find this amendment ironic. Since the legislation, the underlying legislation that we are debating, already mandates—let me emphasize that, Mr. Chairman, mandates—up to $30 billion, with a ''B,'' dollars to spend on land acquisition for the next 30 years, why do we need this amendment?

Why, for goodness sakes, will we take a fund, the Natural Resources Damages Fund, if you will, and say, okay, now you can use that for land acquisition.

Is $30 billion not enough? Is $30 billion not enough?

Let me put it in a different way, Mr. Chairman. One of the issues that we have in our country with public lands is a maintenance backlog. This is analogous to maintenance backlog.

We talk about we haven't got enough money to maintain our natural resources. In fact, that figure, last I heard it, was $9 billion. Here is a fund that is, in part, part of the restoration and one could say maintenance of our Federal lands, and we want to take money away from that and acquire more land.

What is the goal here? Is the goal here to increase the $9 billion to 10, 11? Who knows how high we can't maintain.

Is there not enough? This amendment, in my view, ought to be defeated. It's not well intentioned at all. It has taken another tragedy, using the tragedy of the Gulf of Mexico and simply saying, aha, another opportunity to take a fund and buy more Federal land.

This doesn't make any sense at all to me, Mr. Chairman. I urge my colleagues to vote ''no.''

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. OBERSTAR. I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. POLIS).

Mr. POLIS. Mr. Chairman, I rise today in support of the Himes amendment and on behalf of its sponsor, as he has been called away for a short time to attend the funeral of a fallen firefighter. Our hearts are with those who are grieving today with my colleague, Mr. HIMES.

Mr. HIMES' amendment builds upon other lessons learned from the Exxon Valdez spill. The Himes amendment improves an existing environmental restoration provision that authorizes a program to protect wildlife habitats similar to those ruined by a spill and have the responsible party cover the cost of purchasing or preserving such areas.

I would also like to thank the Natural Resources Committee and Transportation Committee for working with me and incorporating provisions that address a number of my priorities in the manager's amendment; namely, including language that will better ensure that the Department of the Interior follows the law as it is supposed to.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of the Himes amendment and the underlying bill. The CLEAR Act is good and desperately needed policy to help prevent taxpayer bailouts for Big Oil's failures.

The CLEAR Act is a model of transparency, fiscal responsibility and good stewardship. I call upon my colleagues to join me in supporting the Himes amendment and the underlying bill.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I understand I have the right to close, Mr. Chairman?

The CHAIR. The gentleman from Washington has the right to close.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. OBERSTAR. I yield myself the balance of my time.

The CHAIR. The gentleman from Minnesota is recognized for 2 minutes.

Mr. OBERSTAR. The gentleman from Washington is mistaken in his understanding or his reading of the amendment that I offer.

It's an amendment to OPA. It is not an amendment to the dollar amounts and does not reference dollar amounts. Under OPA, of which I was a coauthor in 1990, quote, the State and local officials designated under this subsection shall develop and implement a plan for the restoration, rehabilitation, replacement or acquisition of the equivalent of the natural resources under their trusteeship.

The language of OPA does not clearly enough refer to the level of replacement resources that may be damaged. What we do with this language is clarify the ability to restore those resources that have been damaged with an equivalent resource. That's all it does. It does not have a dollar amount in it.

I yield to the gentleman if he has a question.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

In due respect, you acknowledged that this could be used to buy additional land with a damage fund, is that correct?

Mr. OBERSTAR. Well, it is to replace what has been destroyed. It's really just clarifying what is already available under OPA, but making it clear that the funds can be used for those resources that have been damaged so badly they can't be restored.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Yes, it clarifies, but it adds a very important part. It allows land acquisition.

□ 1550

Mr. OBERSTAR. Reclaiming my time, it does not add. That is current law. That is available under OPA.

The CHAIR. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, may I inquire as to how much time I have remaining?

The CHAIR. The gentleman has 2½ minutes remaining.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the balance of my time.

I yield to the gentleman from Minnesota to finish his remark.

Mr. OBERSTAR. Again, the acquisition of replacement land is available and authorized under OPA 90. What this amendment does is clarify that in that replacement you can replace that part of the ecosystem that has been irresponsibly damaged with better land. It doesn't add new acquisition authority.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Reclaiming my time, I appreciate the gentleman's trying to clarify that.

I have to say, in my reading of this, that this will lend itself to more acquisition, and I will simply say this, reading the language here, ''provides a substantially greater likelihood of improving the resilience of whatever is lost.'' Now, having said that, let me put this analogous to at least my part of the country as it relates to refuges. If a refuge burns in my area and it might damage something, the way I envision the interpretation of this is the refuge manager can say, boy, this is irreparably lost and there might be some private land right next door, I think I will buy that private land.

Now, in due respect, that is the way I interpret it. Listen, I hope I'm wrong and I hope you're right, but I have a very strong wariness of any attempt—especially in a bill, I say to my friend, the Transportation chairman, especially when we are authorizing $30 billion of land acquisition. Surely, surely there must be a way to massage that to satisfy at least what the gentleman's amendment purports to do. But I have to say, for this Member, I am always weary when I see we are taking another fund and using that to acquire even an extension of Federal lands.

Mr. OBERSTAR. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I yield to the gentleman from Minnesota.

Mr. OBERSTAR. I appreciate the gentleman yielding.

I, too, have natural resources—national forests, national parks, wildlife refuges. When fire, as it does regularly, strikes the national forest, that land regenerates. The oil destroys. It likely cannot be restored by itself or by human intervention, but replacing it with other land—and the language is tailored very narrowly limited to that purpose of replacing what cannot be replaced.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Reclaiming my time, which I don't have, I appreciate the gentleman's trying to help me through this. I still urge my colleagues to vote ''no.''

The CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. OBERSTAR).

The question was taken; and the Chair announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XVIII, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Minnesota will be postponed.

AMENDMENT NO. 7 OFFERED BY MR. CONNOLLY OF VIRGINIA

The CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 7 printed in part B of House Report 111–582.

Mr. CONNOLLY of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I have an amendment at the desk.

The CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

At the end of title VII add the following new section:

SEC. ___. EXTENSION OF LIABILITY TO PERSONS HAVING OWNERSHIP INTERESTS IN RESPONSIBLE PARTIES.

(a) DEFINITION OF RESPONSIBLE PARTY.—Section 1001(32) of the Oil Pollution Act of 1990 (33 U.S.C. 2701(32)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

''(G) PERSON HAVING OWNERSHIP INTEREST.—Any person, other than an individual, having an ownership interest (directly or indirectly) in any entity described in any of subparagraphs (A) through (F) of more than 25 percent, in the aggregate, of the total ownership interests in such entity, if the assets of such entity are insufficient to pay the claims owed by such entity as a responsible party under this Act.''.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to an incident occurring on or after January 1, 2010.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 1574, the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CONNOLLY) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Virginia.

Mr. CONNOLLY of Virginia. I want to thank Chairman RAHALL and Chairman OBERSTAR, in particular, for their hard work on this bill and for their collaboration on this amendment.

I am joined by Congressman HOLT and Congressman WELCH, who co-introduced this amendment to ensure that oil companies cannot shift oil cleanup costs onto taxpayers by allowing subsidiary companies to go bankrupt.

Under current law, if an oil subsidiary is responsible for a spill, it can declare bankruptcy and not sell its assets, in which case the parent company would not inherit cleanup liabilities. A profit-maximizing parent company would allow a subsidiary to go bankrupt and not sell liabilities if the value of cleanup and liability costs exceed the value of the subsidiary's assets. This is a realistic scenario given the high cost of the cleanup of oil spills. Even a well capitalized company worth several billions could be responsible for an oil spill costing tens of billions. The Exxon Valdez spill cost more than $2 billion to clean up, and that was just 10.9 million gallons of oil. The Deepwater Horizon spill already has cost $3 billion, with total cleanup cost in the tens of billions at the very least. Through this act, oil companies could be responsible for much greater costs.

The fishing industry in the gulf is worth $5.5 billion annually. Losing 50 percent of western Florida's tourism would cost that State $10 billion. If Congress eliminates the private liability cap under OPA, then an oil company responsible for a spill could be liable for tens of billions to reimburse property owners and workers for lost property and wages.

Given the extraordinarily high cleanup and private liability costs of oil spills, we must close this loophole. Our amendment would ensure that BP and other oil companies are not able to escape their cleanup responsibilities. Without passage of this amendment, BP and other oil companies could avoid paying for cleanup costs entirely.

I urge my colleagues to support the amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I rise to claim the time in opposition, although I am not opposed to the amendment.

The CHAIR. The gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I have no problem with this amendment. From the beginning we have said that the first priority is stopping the leak, cleaning up the gulf, and making the communities and the people of the gulf States whole, and BP needs to be held accountable for this disaster. Having said that, we need to be cognizant that our actions taken here or the actions of the administration do not in and of themselves jeopardize American jobs and domestic energy production.

Part of holding BP accountable in this case, should BP America file for bankruptcy, is to ensure that the parent company that shares in the profits cover whatever debts that may not be covered by BP America. That is what this amendment does, and I am pleased to join my support for this.

Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CONNOLLY of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to my colleague from New Jersey (Mr. HOLT).

Mr. HOLT. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Virginia and join with him in our concern for the workers, the restaurateurs, the small business owners, all those who depend on the Gulf of Mexico for their livelihoods. This gives us ample motivation to close this loophole which allows oil companies to shift the cost for cleanup from the oil company to the taxpayers. Current law would allow an oil company subsidiary that is responsible for an oil spill to declare bankruptcy.

We must not depend just on the good word of the oil companies. We have been given ample reason to question that good word. Even today, the new CEO of BP says he's entertaining the idea of scaling back the cleanup in the gulf. We must close every loophole. This amendment of Mr. CONNOLLY, Mr. WELCH and I, and others, would ensure that companies like BP pay every last cent that they are liable for, that the spill not spill over to the taxpayer.

Mr. CONNOLLY of Virginia. I yield 1 minute to my colleague from the great State of Maryland (Mr. CUMMINGS).

Mr. CUMMINGS. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

This amendment states that any entity—other than an individual person—with an ownership interest in a vessel, offshore or onshore facility, deepwater port, or pipeline of more than 25 percent is a responsible party under the Oil Pollution Act if the assets of the vessel or facility are insufficient to pay claims arising from oil spilled by the vessel or facility. I applaud Mr. CONNOLLY, Mr. HOLT, and Mr. WELCH, and I support this amendment, which will ensure that parent companies with ownership stakes in subsidiaries to offshore facility ventures bear the costs owed by these subsidiaries for spills from the facilities if the facilities lack adequate assets to pay the claims. This will prevent such costs from being shifted to the Oil Spill Liability Trust Fund. I urge my colleagues to support the amendment.

□ 1600

Mr. CONNOLLY of Virginia. Mr. Chairman, I want to thank my colleagues.

I also want to thank the following staff for their assistance on this amendment: Dave Heymsfeld, Stacie Soumbeniotis, Ryan Seiger, Navis Bermudez, Susan Jensen, George Slover, and David Lachman.

We want to ensure that this amendment only affects the relationship of parent and subsidiary companies.

With that, Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

The CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CONNOLLY).

The amendment was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 8 OFFERED BY MR. MELANCON

The CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 8 printed in part B of House Report 111–582.

Mr. MELANCON. Mr. Chairman, I have an amendment at the desk.

The CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

At the end of title II add the following:

Subtitle C—Limitation on Moratorium

SEC. 231. LIMITATION OF MORATORIUM ON CERTAIN PERMITTING AND DRILLING ACTIVITIES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The moratorium set forth in the decision memorandum of the Secretary of the Interior entitled ''Decision memorandum regarding the suspension of certain offshore permitting and drilling activities on the Outer Continental Shelf'' and dated July 12, 2010, and any suspension of operations issued in connection with the moratorium, shall not apply to an application for a permit to drill submitted on or after the effective date of this Act if the Secretary determines that the applicant—

(1) has complied with the notice entitled ''National Notice to Lessees and Operators of Federal Oil and Gas Leases, Outer Continental Shelf (OCS)'' dated June 8, 2010 (NTL No. 2010–N05) and the notice entitled ''National Notice to Lessees and Operators of Federal Oil and Gas Leases, Outer Continental Shelf (OCS)'' dated June 18, 2010 (NTL No. 2010–N06);

(2) has complied with additional safety measures recommended by the Secretary as of the date of the enactment of this Act; and

(3) has completed all required safety inspections.

(b) DETERMINATION ON PERMIT.—Not later than 30 days after the date on which the Secretary makes a determination that an applicant has complied with paragraphs (1), (2), and (3) of subsection (a), the Secretary shall make a determination on whether to issue the permit.

(c) NO SUSPENSION OF CONSIDERATION.—No Federal entity shall suspend the active consideration of, or preparatory work for, permits required to resume or advance activities suspended in connection with the moratorium.

(e) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—Not later than October 31, 2010, the Secretary shall report to the House Committee on Natural Resources and the Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources on the status of (1) the collection and analysis of evidence regarding the potential causes of the April 20, 2010 explosion and sinking of the Deepwater Horizon offshore drilling rig, including information collected by the Presidential Commission and other investigations (2) implementation of safety reforms described in the May 27, 2010, Departmental report entitled ''Increased Safety Measures for Energy Development on the Outer Continental Shelf,'' (3) the ability of operators in the Gulf of Mexico to respond effectively to an oil spill in light of the Deepwater Horizon incident; and (4) industry and government efforts to engineer, design, construct and assemble wild well intervention and blowout containment resources necessary to contain an uncontrolled release of hydrocarbons in deep water should another blowout occur.

(f) SAVINGS CLAUSE.—Nothing herein affects the Secretary's authority to suspend offshore drilling permitting and drilling operations based on the threat of significant, irreparable or immediate harm or damage to life, property, or the marine, coastal or human environment pursuant to the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (43 U.S.C. 133 et. seq.).

UNANIMOUS-CONSENT REQUEST

Mr. BOUSTANY. Mr. Chairman, I have a unanimous consent request.

The CHAIR. The gentleman will state his request.

Mr. BOUSTANY. I ask unanimous consent that we extend the time of debate equally between the two sides for a total of 30 minutes on this very important issue affecting our State and other States on the gulf coast. We are really talking about jobs, and I think having this extra time of debate will be very important.

The CHAIR. Is there an objection to the request?

Mr. RAHALL. I reserve the right to object.

Mr. Chairman, I know a lot of Members are under time pressures because of airline schedules, et cetera. I feel compelled to object.

The CHAIR. Objection is heard.

Mr. RAHALL. Plus, if the gentleman would yield further, I am prepared to accept the amendment.

The CHAIR. Objection is heard.

Mr. BOUSTANY. We would like to extend the debate. We ask unanimous consent to extend it for 20 minutes, equally divided.

The CHAIR. Is there objection?

Mr. MELANCON. In light of the concern of the chairman of the committee and the whole of the bill, which is his jurisdiction, I respectfully yield to his opinion on how he wants that handled.

The CHAIR. Is there an objection to the request of the gentleman to extend the time of the debate?

Mr. MELANCON. I would accept the time.

The CHAIR. Is the gentleman objecting to the extension of the debate?

Mr. RAHALL. It is 20 minutes; is that correct?

Mr. BOUSTANY. Ten minutes on each side.

Mr. RAHALL. I still have to object.

The CHAIR. The gentleman's objection is heard.

Pursuant to House Resolution 1574, the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. MELANCON) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Louisiana.

Mr. MELANCON. I would like to thank my colleague from West Virginia for his help on this amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I urge my colleagues to support this amendment to lift the deepwater moratorium for companies that meet the new safety requirements and guidelines recently set in place by Secretary Salazar.

Make no mistake, BP was a bad player. As we have discovered through numerous congressional hearings, this company took dangerous shortcuts to save money. They ignored warning signs and the advice of their own workers who were concerned about the stability of the well, and they continued to drill even when they knew that the safety mechanisms in place to prevent a blowout were not working properly. Eleven good men died because of their greed.

The tragedy on Deepwater opened our eyes to the need for tougher safety regulations for offshore drilling, to the need to strengthen the enforcement of both new and existing laws, and to the need to protect workers who report their companies' dangerous and even illegal practices to regulators so that we can stop another accident before it happens.

Yet an indiscriminate blanket moratorium punishes the innocent along with the guilty for the actions and the poor judgment of one reckless company. If a rig meets all of the tough new safety requirements issued by the Department of the Interior, if it has been fully inspected and deemed safe, why should it sit idle? The workers of that rig, why should they go jobless until the arbitrary 6-month period is over?

People in Louisiana understand that it doesn't make any sense. Louisianans, more than any other people, want to prevent another disaster from happening in our waters, but the irresponsible decisions and the dangerous actions of one company shouldn't shut down an entire sector of our economy, sending thousands of workers to the unemployment line. We need to fix the problems that led to this disaster in the gulf without paralyzing America's domestic energy industry in the process.

That is what my amendment does. Instead of a blanket moratorium, my amendment would allow drilling permits to be approved for those rigs that meet the new tougher safety requirements issued by the Department of the Interior in the wake of the explosion. Those 31 stalled drilling rigs directly employ some 1,400 workers. Hundreds of small businesses in Louisiana service those rigs or are, in some way, supported by the offshore oil and gas industry.

According to research by Dr. Joseph Mason of Louisiana State University, under the current 6-month moratorium, the gulf coast region will lose more than 8,000 jobs, nearly $500 million in wages and over $2.1 billion in economic activity, as well as nearly $100 million in State and local tax revenue—and that's only if the drilling will start back immediately in 6 months.

You don't need to be an economist to see the impact of the moratorium on south Louisiana. You just need to drive through coastal parishes like Lafourche, Terrebonne, or Grand Isle, Louisiana. Talk to people like Shelly Landry, who owns and operates a family grocery store there on Grand Isle. She told me, with tears in her eyes, that the moratorium was shutting down the coast and that it was hurting her business more than the actual oil spill. People like Ms. Landry are still learning to cope with the impact of the oil disaster, and now they feel they are being dealt a second blow—this time by their own government.

Louisiana has a working coast where people make good paychecks producing domestic energy that drives our Nation. They want to get back to work doing the jobs they love, the jobs that provide good lives for their families.

The Childers-Melancon amendment will lift the moratorium in a responsible way and allow our workers to continue producing energy. It will still hold companies accountable for higher safety standards so that we never again experience a disaster such as that like Deepwater.

On behalf of the workers of the gulf coast, on behalf of the small businesses, and on behalf of all of the people of my State who thought they had made it through the worst part of this disaster, I urge my colleagues to vote for this amendment to lift this administration's offshore drilling moratorium to make life better and as normal as possible for an area that has been devastated several times over the last several years.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I rise to claim time in opposition.

The CHAIR. The gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I am very pleased to yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. SCALISE).

Mr. SCALISE. I appreciate the gentleman from Washington for yielding time.

Mr. Chairman, I share in many of the comments that were expressed by my colleague from Louisiana, Mr. MELANCON.

In fact, when you talk to people on the ground in Louisiana, most will tell you that this moratorium that was arbitrarily issued by the President has actually got the potential to do more long-term damage to our State than the oil spill, itself. Unfortunately, we are already seeing the consequences in terms of lost jobs.

If you look at what would happen, not if this would go 6 months—as Secretary Salazar wants to go—but if this just goes another few weeks, we will lose up to 40,000 high-paying jobs that will go overseas. If anybody is wondering whether or not that is just talk, you can look at what is already happening.

Just 2 days ago, Baker Hughes, a big oilfield service company, sent 300 jobs overseas. It laid off 300 Louisiana workers. These are jobs that have gone overseas because of this moratorium. It is already having a devastating impact. That is why it is so important that we pass an amendment that actually ends this current moratorium.

If you look at the language in the amendment, there are a number of components that I do agree with, and I think the intent was there to actually address those problems; but if you go to page 2, there are a few sections that got added in. In fact, I am a cosponsor with my colleague from Louisiana on an amendment that would actually end the moratorium in its current form. Unfortunately, there was some language added in that allows the Secretary to have statutory authority that he does not have today that actually extends his ability to issue more moratoriums even if this current one is stopped.

So what the industry is dealing with today is this kind of uncertainty. That is why you are already seeing rigs leave. In fact, three rigs have already left. One is going to Egypt. These are all going to foreign countries. So we have got to get this right.

□ 1610

In fact, later today we're going to have a motion to recommit that will actually encompass those things that are necessary to be done to end the moratorium without the damaging language that's in this bill that gives the Secretary even more authority, in fact, even if a company complies with all of the safety requirements, as they should, and they should comply with all the safety recommendations. But even if they do, under this language, the Secretary is given power to decide whether or not to issue that permit. That shouldn't be arbitrary once a company meets all the safety recommendations. BP didn't meet them all. But if a company does, the Secretary can't continue to keep this job-killing moratorium going on. So we have to fix that language. And, in fact, our motion to recommit does that.

If you look, our Louisiana Oil and Gas Association, which is not a representative of the Big Oil companies—in fact, it's a lot of the mom and pop of the independent oil and gas companies throughout Louisiana. They have strong concerns. In fact, they say, We have concerns that this may codify—they're talking about this extra language and power that's given to the Secretary to deny permits—they say, We have concerns that this may codify the Secretary's authority to suspend offshore drilling permitting and drilling operations.

It is our position that the Secretary does not have the right to do so; and, in fact, a Federal judge has agreed with that by trying to stop this moratorium. Unfortunately, the administration ignored that. And they further go on to say, It is our position that applicants who apply for a permit and meet the proper safety requirements should be issued the permit. The Secretary shouldn't be able to decide arbitrarily if he wants to continue to shut down domestic oil production in this country, as we're seeing today. And we're seeing the consequences of it.

As I said earlier this week, we already lost 300 jobs. And this wasn't the first time; and, unfortunately, it won't be the last. Many companies you talk to are already having conversations about moving jobs overseas, if they haven't already. And as I mentioned, three of the rigs have already decided they have got to leave the country because of this moratorium. That is why it is so important that we get it right. We can't just pass something that sounds good but ultimately ends up giving the Secretary more authority to keep the moratorium going and run more jobs out of our country. So hopefully we will pass the motion to recommit later but not give the Secretary more authority. This does.

Mr. MELANCON. I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from West Virginia, Chairman RAHALL.

Mr. RAHALL. I appreciate the gentleman from Louisiana's yielding, and I commend him for his commonsense amendment here.

This, of course, would end the moratorium on drilling in the gulf on rigs that have met the safety requirements prescribed in two notices to lessees issued by the DOI as well as other safety standards described by enactment of this legislation. This legislation is about safety on these rigs, and we do put in some new language that does certify and verify that there is necessary safety in place. I urge support.

The CHAIR. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I am very, very pleased to yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. BOUSTANY).

Mr. BOUSTANY. Mr. Chair, I appreciate the efforts on the part of my colleague from Louisiana (Mr. MELANCON). But what we have seen is, we have a current moratorium on deepwater drilling and a de facto moratorium on shallow water drilling. And I'm afraid that this amendment doesn't fully address the issue. It doesn't address the current moratorium, whereby we are hemorrhaging jobs. The 300 jobs my colleague over here, Mr. SCALISE, just referenced were from Baker Hughes in my district, and those don't count the shallow water jobs that we are losing daily from companies I have been hearing about each day.

So the problem we have is with the section on page 2, which continues to allow the Secretary this wide latitude beyond the normal permitting process. So we have a real problem with this. We think our motion to recommit that we are going to offer later will actually give a clean break on getting rid of this moratorium, which is killing American energy production jobs, making us more dependent on foreign oil. It's not the kind of policy that we need. I know my colleague from Louisiana (Mr. MELANCON) wants to solve this problem, but we have concerns about this specific language.

Mr. CHILDERS. Mr. Chair, I rise today in support of the amendment I introduced with my friend and colleague from Louisiana, Mr. MELANCON. The amendment would lift the moratorium on deepwater drilling for the responsible actors who meet strict safety requirements for their drilling operations. The Deepwater Horizon oil spill has been a tragedy for the Gulf Coast, one we can ill afford as our nation works toward economic recovery. However, in the state of Mississippi, thousands of workers are employed by the deepwater drilling industry. Because of the moratorium these hard-working Americans will struggle to make ends meet in an already difficult economic environment. The Gulf Coast, from Florida to Texas, is suffering from this disaster and in Mississippi we cannot afford to lose even more jobs due to this tragedy. The path to recovery from the Deepwater Horizon disaster will be long; we should not stand in the way of safe and responsible employers and the families they support.

I applaud the reorganization of the ethics plagued Minerals Management Service by the Department of the Interior in the underlying bill. It is my hope that the new regulatory structure will be an effective tool for ensuring safe drilling practices so that lives are not lost and moratoriums are not needed. Deepwater drilling is not only a source of American jobs but also an important source of domestic energy production in our fight for energy independence.

I ask my colleagues to join me today in supporting this amendment to save jobs and help the entire Gulf Coast region to recover.

The CHAIR. All time has expired.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MELANCON. Parliamentary inquiry.

The CHAIR. The gentleman from Louisiana is recognized for a parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. MELANCON. I would like to thank my colleagues and ask for unanimous consent to consider a revised amendment which addresses the issues they are concerned about.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I object.

The CHAIR. Object is heard.

The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. MELANCON).

The question was taken; and the Chair announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XVIII, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Louisiana will be postponed.

AMENDMENT NO. 9 OFFERED BY MR. MELANCON

The CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 9 printed in part B of House Report 111–582.

Mr. MELANCON. Mr. Chair, I have an amendment at the desk.

The CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

At the end of title V, add the following new section (and conform the table of contents accordingly):

SEC. 504. GULF OF MEXICO RESTORATION ACCOUNT.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF SPECIAL ACCOUNT.—There is established in the Treasury of the United States a separate account to be known as the ''Gulf of Mexico Restoration Account''.

(b) FUNDING.—The Gulf of Mexico Restoration Account shall consist of such amounts as may be appropriated or credited to such Account by section 311A of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act.

(c) EXPENDITURES.—Amounts in the Gulf of Mexico Restoration Account shall be available, as provided in appropriations Acts, to carry out projects, programs, and activities as recommended by the Gulf of Mexico Restoration Task Force established in this title.

(d) AMENDMENT TO THE FEDERAL WATER POLLUTION CONTROL ACT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Title III of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act is amended by inserting after section 311 the following:

''SEC. 311A. ADDITIONAL PENALTIES FOR LARGE SPILLS IN THE GULF OF MEXICO.

''(a) IN GENERAL.—In the case of an offshore facility from which more than 1,000,000 barrels of oil or a hazardous substance is discharged into the Gulf of Mexico in violation of section 311(b)(3), any person who is the owner or operator of the facility shall be subject to a civil penalty of $200,000,000 for each 1,000,000 barrels discharged.

''(b) RELATIONSHIP TO OTHER PENALTIES.—The civil penalty under subsection (a) shall be in addition to any other penalties to which the owner or operator of the facility is subject, including those under section 311.''.

(2) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by paragraph (1) takes effect on April 1, 2010.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 1574, the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. MELANCON) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Louisiana.

Mr. MELANCON. Mr. Chair, I urge my colleagues to support the Gulf Coast Restoration Amendment for one simple reason: responsible oil-spill response legislation must include funding to address the rapid deterioration of our crumbling coast.

Coastal erosion has chipped away at our barrier islands, beaches and marshes for decades. Louisiana alone loses a football field of coast every 38 minutes and is set to lose another 500 square miles by 2050. But the BP oil spill will accelerate land loss as our marshes die from exposure to oil and chemicals from the cleanup. This disaster has effectively hit the fast forward button on an already terrible problem.

BP will foot the bill for the cleanup effort. We will hold them to their responsibility and their word, but they are not legally bound to address the accelerated land loss as a result of the spill. My amendment will make certain they don't simply clean the water and walk away from the long-term damage to our coast and marshes.

My amendment would create a new civil penalty on gulf coast spills of more than 1 million barrels. The owner or operator of the rig would be responsible for paying $200 million per 1 million barrels spilled to fund environmental restoration projects to save the gulf coast. Restoration projects would be spread across the Gulf Coast States and would be overseen by the Gulf Coast Coordination Council, a task force of Federal, State and local stakeholders, created by this bill. My amendment is deficit-neutral and comes at no cost to taxpayers or to the Federal Government.

Survival of the gulf coast's fragile ecosystem and the fishing and tourism industries that rely on them hinges upon successful restoration of our wetlands. Without them, many gulf communities will vanish, and the rest of the country will lose access to the seafood and recreation they have enjoyed for decades.

The gulf coast is America's working coast. We contribute $3 trillion annually to the economy. Seven of our country's top 10 ports are located in the gulf, and 40 percent of our Nation's seafood is harvested from its waters. President Obama has charged the oil spill response team with finding long-term solutions for repairing our coast. Our families back home are depending on Congress to restore their livelihoods, and we have that opportunity today.

Earlier this month, just after news broke that BP had finally capped their well, Bob Marshall of The Times-Picayune wrote a lengthy column about the long road ahead for south Louisiana and this cleanup. He wrote: ''We need to remember this is a temporary problem on top of a permanent disaster. Long after BP's oil is gone, we'll still be fighting for survival against a much more serious enemy—our sinking, crumbling delta. Our coast is like a cancer patient who has come down with pneumonia. That's serious, but curable. After the fever breaks, he'll still have cancer. Our officials' focus should remain on stopping the activities that continue to destroy our marshes and getting national support for projects that can protect what we have left.'' He's right. And make no mistake, this is that time.

Five years after Hurricanes Katrina and Rita, our country is again focused on a tragedy in south Louisiana. For the past 102 days, every time you opened your paper or turned on the evening news, you saw the well, our oiled marshes and wildlife, and our people, struggling to get through the day and unable to imagine a better tomorrow.

We are staring at a cleanup that will take a decade or more to complete. We will only get there if we address our disappearing coasts. Mr. Chair, I urge my colleagues to support my Gulf Coast Restoration Amendment. This is that time, and we can't wait another day.

I reserve the balance of my time.

□ 1620

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to claim the time in opposition, although I don't intend to oppose the amendment.

The CHAIR. Without objection, the gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

There was no objection.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, this amendment would establish a new fine on spills larger than 1 million barrels, and has a retroactive date of April 1, 2010. Now, I won't debate the fact that making this fine retroactive means that it will likely face a constitutional challenge.

But I will debate the fact that once fines are paid by violators to the Federal Government, that money becomes taxpayer money. If we then spend that money on gulf restoration to clean up the mess caused by BP, we would be spending taxpayer dollars to clean up the BP spill.

Mr. Chairman, the taxpayers should not be on the hook for the cleanup of the BP disaster. If there are projects in the gulf that demand restoration because of damage from the spill, then BP must be held accountable. If the gentleman has projects that demand greater attention, then I offer to work with him, just as I am working with other members of our committee from Louisiana, to ensure that the Federal oversight gets the gulf cleaned up and the gulf made whole. But I reject the premise that we must use taxpayer dollars to clean up the mess made by BP.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MELANCON. I yield 1 minute to Mr. OBERSTAR.

Mr. OBERSTAR. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I have worked with the gentleman and our committee staff to craft this language. It's important to note that these are not taxpayer dollars paying for restoration, but rather proceeds from a penalty provided in this provision that is very clearly spelled out, and which revenue goes into the Gulf of Mexico restoration account, and then is further subject to appropriations. So that keeps the Congress in control of the outlay of funds. Rather than just imposing a civil penalty and allowing those funds to go into an agency, there will be very clear control.

So the proceeds are used from the penalty for a legitimate public purpose to pay for the projects, programs, and activities out of the restoration fund to clean up the destruction from oil spilled.

To paraphrase previous speakers on the other side of the aisle, the explosion and blowout of the BP drilling operation in the Gulf is a ''textbook case'' on killing jobs and wildlife and destruction of the marine environment; putting 300,000 jobs at risk in travel, tourism, fishing, commercial and recreational fishing, catching, harvesting, processing fish and shellfish, jobs destroyed by the uncontrolled oil spill.

The safety provisions of our bill will protect those jobs in the future. The liability provisions will assure that there will be compensation for those who lose jobs and livelihood because of an oil spill. The penalties imposed in this Melancon amendment will assure that damage to the natural resources of the Gulf will have the money needed to restore more resources.

A penalty whose proceeds will be used for a legitimate public purpose—to pay for projects, programs, and activities out of the GM Restoration Fund.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Could I inquire how much time I have?

The CHAIR. The gentleman has 4 minutes remaining.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. SCALISE).

Mr. SCALISE. I thank the gentleman from Washington for yielding.

I rise in support of this amendment by my colleague from Louisiana (Mr. MELANCON). As we all know, this is an unprecedented disaster. It's already extracted a human toll, it's extracting an environmental toll, and of course now with the moratorium it's extracting an economic toll.

So when you look at what this amendment does, it says if somebody breaks the law, if they actually have a spill that's at this level, a million barrels or more, then they actually get hit with heavier penalties. And those penalties would be dedicated to restoring our coast. Because as we can all see, people all across the country who have expressed so much appreciation and support for what we're doing to try to battle this disaster, they also understand just how fragile this ecosystem is. And they've seen the destruction to our ecosystem.

And of course it hasn't just started. Our coast has been eroding for years. In fact, we lose a football field of land along the gulf coast of Louisiana every 37 minutes. So just in the time we have been debating this legislation, the Gulf Coast of Louisiana has lost a football field of land. And this goes on every single day.

So by dedicating these funds that are only generated if somebody spills a million barrels or more into our gulf to this fund to restore our coast, I think it's the right thing to do. It helps us battle this environmental disaster, and then hopefully we can continue to move forward so that we can stop the economic disaster that's also occurring. I appreciate the gentleman from Louisiana for bringing this amendment.

Mr. MELANCON. I yield 30 seconds to the chairman.

Mr. RAHALL. Just to clarify for my colleague from Washington, my ranking member, if his concern was about the taxpayer ending up paying for something that BP should be liable for under the gentleman from Louisiana's amendment, we do have a catch-all provision in the legislation that applies to not only the entire legislation, but would apply to the gentleman from Louisiana's amendment as well that says none of the funds that are authorized or made available by this act may be used to carry out any activity or pay any cost for removal or damages for which a responsible party, BP, is liable under the OPA.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. I yield myself the balance of my time.

I simply make the point that, yes, I understand these dollars come from the affected party. But if it gets into the Federal Government Treasury, then the Federal Government is the government of the people, it becomes taxpayer dollars. That's the only point I am making.

I support the amendment. I think it makes perfectly good sense. It has broad support of those Members that are affected by this spill. But I just wanted to simply make that point, probably more to emphasize than anything else that BP is truly responsible for this, and we all recognize that.

I urge support of the amendment, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. MELANCON).

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Chairman, I move that the Committee do now rise.

The motion was agreed to.

Accordingly, the Committee rose; and the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. OBEY) having assumed the chair, Mr. JACKSON of Illinois, Chair of the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union, reported that that Committee, having had under consideration the bill (H.R. 3534) to provide greater efficiencies, transparency, returns, and accountability in the administration of Federal mineral and energy resources by consolidating administration of various Federal energy minerals management and leasing programs into one entity to be known as the Office of Federal Energy and Minerals Leasing of the Department of the Interior, and for other purposes, had come to no resolution thereon.

APPOINTMENT AS INSPECTOR GENERAL FOR THE U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to section 2(b) of rule VI, and the order of the House of January 6, 2009, the Chair announces that the Speaker, majority leader and minority leader jointly appoint Ms. Theresa M. Grafenstine, Manassas, Virginia, to the position of Inspector General for the U.S. House of Representatives effective July 30, 2010.

OFFSHORE OIL AND GAS WORKER WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION ACT OF 2010

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 1(c) of rule XIX, proceedings will resume on the bill (H.R. 5851) to provide whistleblower protections to certain workers in the offshore oil and gas industry.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. KLINE of Minnesota. Mr. Speaker, I offer a motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is the gentleman opposed to the bill?

Mr. KLINE of Minnesota. I am, in its current form.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the motion to recommit.

The Clerk read as follows:

Mr. Kline of Minnesota moves to recommit the bill, H.R. 5851, to the Committee on Education and Labor with instructions to report the same back to the House forthwith with the following amendment:

Strike all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the ''Whistleblower Parity Act''.

SEC. 2. WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION FOR CERTAIN OFFSHORE WORKERS.

(a) PROHIBITION ON RETALIATION.—No person shall discharge or in any manner discriminate against any covered employee because such covered employee has filed any complaint or instituted or caused to be instituted any proceeding related to any workplace safety and health regulation issued pursuant to section 21 of the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (43 U.S.C. 1347) or has testified or is about to testify in any such proceeding or because of the exercise by such covered employee on behalf of himself or herself or others of any right afforded by such Act.

(b) COMPLAINT PROCEDURE.—Any covered employee who believes that he or she has been discharged or otherwise discriminated against by any person in violation of this section may, within 30 days after such violation occurs, file a complaint with the Secretary alleging such discrimination. Upon receipt of such complaint, the Secretary shall cause such investigation to be made as the Secretary determines appropriate. If upon such investigation, the Secretary determines that the provisions of this section have been violated, the Secretary shall bring an action in any appropriate United States district court against such person. In any such action the United States district courts shall have jurisdiction, for cause shown to restrain violations of subsection (a) of this subsection and order all appropriate relief including rehiring or reinstatement of the employee to his or her former position with back pay.

(c) NOTIFICATION.—Within 90 days of the receipt of a complaint filed under this section the Secretary shall notify the complainant of the Secretary's determination under subsection (b) of this section.

SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

As used in this Act—

(1) the term ''covered employee'' means an individual engaged in activities on or in waters above the Outer Continental Shelf related to supporting or carrying out exploration, development, production, processing, or transportation of oil on behalf of an employer;

(2) the term ''employer'' has the meaning given such term in section 3 of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (29 U.S.C. 652);

(3) the term ''Outer Continental Shelf'' has the meaning that the term ''outer Continental Shelf'' has in section 2 of the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (43 U.S.C. 1331); and

(4) the term ''Secretary'' means the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 4. CONSTRUCTION.

Nothing in this Act shall be construed to affect any rights, protections, or remedies available to covered employees under section 2114 of title 46, United States Code.

Mr. KLINE of Minnesota (during the reading). Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the motion to recommit be considered as read.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. KLINE of Minnesota. Mr. Speaker, like every Member of Congress, I am deeply concerned for the safety of offshore oil rig workers. No worker who sees a hazard to health and safety in violation of the law should fear reporting the violation to the proper authorities. Effective workplace safety starts with compliance, and is enhanced by alert workers who help ensure appropriate safety rules are being followed. That is why I am asking all my colleagues to support this motion to recommit.

This proposal extends the whistleblower protections in the Occupational Safety and Health Act to workers on offshore oil rigs. As I noted earlier, there are a number of concerns with the Democrats' proposal. It creates an entirely new whistleblower protection framework for workers directly or indirectly involved with offshore oil drilling, departing from the long-standing protections in existing health and safety laws.

The majority also fails to focus on oil rig workers, extending their untested form of whistleblower protections to various workers on land who are already protected by existing, and possibly conflicting, statutes.

Legal confusion and uncertainty are never good when it comes to workplace safety. Last month, the Education and Labor Committee heard from Federal officials who could not answer whether offshore oil rig workers have access to basic whistleblower protections. To date, the committee has not received a response to a request for clarification. Virtually every American worker enjoys these important protections, yet Federal officials did not know whether maritime law, Federal safety and health law, or some other law was fully protecting oil rig workers.

Despite this confusion, not a single followup hearing was heard in the Education and Labor Committee. Certainly there was no committee vote on this legislation. Just last night, the House Rules Committee held the first and only hearing this legislation has ever received. In fact, Members of Congress and the public have had less than a week to examine the bill and determine what effect it may have on the safety of oil rig workers or to what extent it may even be necessary.

If the majority is determined to rush this bill through Congress without examining the full consequences and context of the issue, I would, instead, suggest a straightforward approach that more fully relies on current law.

We believe offshore oil rig workers deserve whistleblower protections and the OSH Act offers us an opportunity to extend those protections immediately. The OSH Act has been the law of the land since 1978, more than 30 years. It has improved over time through congressional and administrative action. And by incorporating oil rig workers into existing protections, they will automatically be included into any future changes of the law.

In short, the Republican motion to recommit provides parity in whistleblower protections. The Democrats' bill creates confusion. Our approach gives certainty. The Democrats' bill creates legal conflict. Our approach has established case law. The Democrats' bill will take time to implement and understand. Our approach will provide immediate protections in a manner Federal authorities and workers already know and understand.

I strongly urge my colleagues to support this motion.

I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. I rise in opposition to the motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, I would strongly urge you to reject the Republican motion to recommit. What we have before us today in the legislation that I am offering along with Mr. MARKEY, is an effort to provide the level of protection that these offshore oil workers on the rigs on the Outer Continental Shelf of the United States of America are entitled to. What the Republicans are suggesting is that a law that was written in 1970 is good enough for these workers.

Let's understand the environment in which these workers are working. They're working on the most expensive oil rigs in the history of the world. They're making the most complex drills in the history of the world. They're using the most complex technology in the history of the world, and they're doing it in constant motion on top of the seas as they drill for these resources.

Now, why shouldn't they have the same protection that railroad workers have? that transport workers have? that nuclear workers have? that pipeline workers have? Because they all have a modern whistleblower statute. But those men and women who go out on those rigs today do not have any protection, much less a modern protection, but the Republicans are telling you they should take second-class protection.

Now, as we saw the case of a whistleblower, Mr. Abbott, who called BP, an engineer, and said the designs are wrong, the drawings are flawed, he would not be covered under this statute. The court found his claim to be valid that he passed on serious information to BP that they rejected. Now, let's understand this is about one worker with knowledge and understanding of the drilling processes and procedures making a decision that something's about to go very wrong. So that worker has the courage to say, ''I think we better stop and check it out'' in a very complex process, in this case, of withdrawing from the well and capping that well.

They're telling that worker, ''This rig is a half a million dollars a day. We're going to get it off our books. We're going to get it out of here. Just keep going,'' and then the tragedy happens.

Let's talk about who that worker's talking to. They're talking to a company that's drilling on the Outer Continental Shelf, British Petroleum, on American soil, under American laws, who violates willfully and egregiously those laws 807 times; who, in 2005, violated those laws hundreds of times and blew up a refinery in Texas, killed 15 workers and injured another 180; promised to fix those violations, and 4 years later, they hadn't fixed 700 of those violations and were fined $87 million. Apparently, they think it's cheaper to pay fines than it is to protect the workers of this country.

I don't know if you've been around oil rigs. I don't know if you've watched people in this business, but this is a choreography that takes place among those workers on those rigs that is unbelievable, and it can be lethal. I've seen it because I know what you have to do on those rigs. This is how workers put themselves in jeopardy every day. It's whether a pipe falls on you, whether a chain snaps, whether a pipe breaks, whether the fluids blow out, whether you get hit from the overhead. This is a very dangerous profession.

Companies work hard, some companies, but are we going to really tell a worker that they're going to go up against BP when BP is so fully prepared to violate the laws, the health and safety laws of this Nation?

I think we ought to understand we owe American workers a much better deal on the American Outer Continental Shelf, and that's why this motion to recommit should be rejected. It should be rejected because that's our obligation. They're entitled to a modern whistleblower law just like the other workers that I named to you.

We can do no less for these workers. We can do no less for those workers who tried to come forward and stop the dangers on this rig and lost their lives because they weren't listened to. The workers who told their wives, ''Get my papers and my wills and my business in order.'' Imagine a worker going to work and saying, ''Get my affairs in order. Let's check my will.'' That's what people do when they go to war. They shouldn't have to do it when they go to work on an American rig in the American Outer Continental Shelf.

Give these workers what they're entitled to. Give them a decent, honest, modern whistleblower law with real protections.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the previous question is ordered on the motion to recommit.

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion to recommit.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. KLINE of Minnesota. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 9 of rule XX, the Chair will reduce to 5 minutes the minimum time for any electronic vote on the question of passage.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 171, nays 234, not voting 27, as follows:

Ms. WATERS, Messrs. DEUTCH and PASTOR of Arizona, Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ, Messrs. HALL of New York and KUCINICH changed their vote from ''aye'' to ''no.''

Messrs. JACKSON of Illinois and MILLER of North Carolina changed their vote from ''no'' to ''aye.''

So the amendment was agreed to.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

The CHAIR. The question is on the amendment in the nature of a substitute, as amended.

The amendment was agreed to.

The CHAIR. Under the rule, the Committee rises.

Accordingly, the Committee rose; and the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. SERRANO) having assumed the chair, Mr. JACKSON of Illinois, Chair of the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union, reported that that Committee, having had under consideration the bill (H.R. 3534) to provide greater efficiencies, transparency, returns, and accountability in the administration of Federal mineral and energy resources by consolidating administration of various Federal energy minerals management and leasing programs into one entity to be known as the Office of Federal Energy and Minerals Leasing of the Department of the Interior, and for other purposes, and, pursuant to House Resolution H. Res. 1574, reported the bill back to the House with an amendment adopted in the Committee of the Whole.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the rule, the previous question is ordered.

The question is on the amendment in the nature of a substitute, as amended.

The amendment was agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and was read the third time.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. CASSIDY. Mr. Speaker, I offer a motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is the gentleman opposed to the bill?

Mr. CASSIDY. I am, in its current form.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the motion to recommit.

The Clerk read as follows:

Mr. CASSIDY moves to recommit the bill H.R. 3534 to the Committee on Natural Resources with instructions to report the same back to the House forthwith with the following amendment:

Strike section 231 and insert the following:

SEC. 231.—TERMINATION OF MORATORIA ON OFFSHORE DRILLING.

Notwithstanding, any other provision of this Act, the mortorium set forth in the Minerals Managment Service Notice to Lessees No. 2010–N04, dated May 30, 2010, the decision memorandum from the Secretary of the Interior to the Director of the Bureau of Ocean Energy Management, Regulation, and Enforcement regarding the suspension of certain offshore permitting and drilling activities on the Outer Continental Shelf, dated July 12, 2010, and any suspension of operations issued in connection with the moratorium or the decision memorandum, shall have no force or effect.

Mr. RAHALL (during the reading). Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent the reading of the motion be dispensed with.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from West Virginia?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Louisiana is recognized for 5 minutes in support of his motion.

Mr. CASSIDY. I yield to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BRADY).

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, with millions of American families out of work, Republicans will fight for American energy workers and their jobs. The question is will Democrats fight alongside us?

The drilling moratorium is killing American energy jobs now. It needs to end now. The rigs are already leaving overseas. So are the jobs, equipment, and the capital. Workers are being laid off, small businesses are struggling to survive, and they won't. The Melancon amendment doesn't save these jobs, these families, these small businesses whose livelihoods are at risk. It does not end the current moratorium that's devastating us now. The Republican motion to recommit will.

It is the only vote on this floor where each lawmaker can stand up and fight for these American energy workers right now.

Mr. CASSIDY. Mr. Speaker, the gulf oil spill has been terrible for the gulf coast. But as bad as it has been, the Federal Government's moratorium on deepwater drilling can be worse. And the tragedy of it is that it actually is not going to measurably improve safety.

Now, it's not me saying that, it's the entity, the National Academy of Engineering, eight of them, the President appointed them and asked them to approve and to look at his plan. They issued a statement after the blanket moratorium. These are the petroleum engineers. ''A blanket moratorium is not the answer. It will not measurably reduce risk. The tragedy has very specific causes. The blanket moratorium will have the indirect effect of harming thousands of workers and further impact State and local economies. We would in effect be punishing a large swath of people who were and are acting responsibly in providing a product the Nation needs. Overcome emotion with fact.''

□ 1750

What does that mean? Overcome emotion with fact. We're all angry. Everybody in here is angry at BP. Everybody in here in some way wants to punish those responsible.

On the other hand, it's not Big Oil being punished. It's not BP. It is the workers. It is the blue collar welders, roustabouts. It is the service industry. It is the caterers. They are the ones who are going to be punished.

And, by the way, the BP fund to recompense them is only $100 million. Estimated wages lost are $700 million. It is not going to come close to covering it. These people don't want an unemployment check. They want a paycheck.

In case you think I overestimate, these are the most conservative estimates of the economic impact. Over 8,000 jobs lost in the gulf coast, 12,000 nationwide, $700 million in lost wages, $2.1 billion in lost economic activity in the gulf coast, and nearly $2.7 billion lost nationwide.

Now, it's not just the President's engineers; it's also the President's cochairs of his Presidential commission. Bob Graham said—former Senator from Florida—There is a disconnect between Washington and the gulf coast in the sense of urgency needed in winding down the moratorium.

Bill Reilly said, Questions were raised by witnesses. Unanimously, they opposed the moratorium, even among the fishermen.

Now, the other Reilly quote was, It is not clear to me why it should take so long to reassure oneself about safety considerations in those rigs.

So we have the engineers. We have the cochairmen of the Presidential commission. We also have a Federal judge. When the Federal judge threw out the first moratorium, he said, The administration simply cannot justify the immeasurable effect on the plaintiffs, the local economy, the gulf region.

So we've heard from engineers. We've heard from the cochair. We've heard from a Federal judge. Most importantly, let's hear from the families.

CHARLIE MELANCON earlier spoke movingly of families in his district who fear they will lose it all because of this moratorium. There are people who have walked up to me and said, Hey, I would be with you but my concern is my district won't understand. These people don't fear a district. They fear dissolution of their financial health. Think about it. These are blue-collar people who made decisions about buying a house, about buying a car. They're going to have a 6-month interruption in income. Can any one of those families tolerate 6 months of lost wages?

I ask you to overcome emotion with fact. Agree with the engineers, agree with the cochair, agree with the Federal judge, but, most importantly, agree with the families. End this moratorium now.

I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from West Virginia is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. RAHALL. As the gentleman from Louisiana knows from our debate and work in committee on this, this gentleman from West Virginia is not against lifting moratoria when it comes to the production of domestic energy resources. What I care about is safety; the safety of our most valuable resource, which is the worker him- or herself. That's what I care about, whether it's oil and gas or whether it's coal mining.

Mr. CASSIDY. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RAHALL. I will yield to the gentleman from Louisiana whose amendment just passed that does lift the moratorium when it comes to the protection and safety of our workers. His amendment passed with votes from votes from your side of the aisle. Mr. MELANCON cares about the fishermen, the jobs of everyone along his coast, and I yield to him at this point.

Mr. MELANCON. Thank you, Mr. RAHALL.

I thank the 216 people that stood by me to try and protect what is best and loved by the people of south Louisiana and the entire State. Yes, 80 percent of the people in Louisiana believe that they are directly or indirectly affected by this moratorium, directly and indirectly affected by the spill. So what do we do?

If we have it the way of the other side, we will send rigs back out, not inspect them, the hell with it. Next thing we know, we're back where we started.

My amendment provides for safety inspection in accordance with a rolling stock, to get people back to work, to make sure that America has energy, to make sure the people of my district and the State of Louisiana have jobs, good jobs, and we can continue the prosperity that we have had in the past.

Mr. RAHALL. I yield to the chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, Mr. MILLER of California.

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, if we accept this moratorium, it's to suggest that we as a Congress of the United States of America have learned nothing since the Deepwater Horizon blew up in a tragic accident. We have learned nothing in the last hundred days to simply say we're going to go back to business as usual. Mr. MELANCON has given us a way to lift the moratorium, but to do it because the things that we have learned in our congressional investigations, that the Coast Guard has learned and others.

This is to suggest that we would not redesign the levees around Louisiana; we would just give them the money. Because we did that for 30 years, we have to take lessons learned. In every tragedy, the lessons are learned. And you have businesspeople all along the gulf who are losing millions of dollars in business. You have fishers who are losing their livelihood, and the question is will they ever get to come back. And if we do it right in lifting the moratorium, yes, they will get to come back. We will have energy development, and we will have a cleaner gulf than we have today because we learned something.

You take this vote home to your constituents and you're telling them you have learned nothing in the last hundred days about the operation.

We're talking about an oil company that blew up a rig that killed 15 people in Texas City, refused to fix it afterwards, and paid $87 million in fines. We're talking about a company that disregarded their workers. We have got to change those laws so this doesn't happen again. And we're on our way, thanks to Mr. MELANCON and others.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Speaker, what we have seen in the gulf is just plain wrong. We don't know what was the final cause of this explosion and this tragedy, but we know that something went wrong and we know that there are other scenarios that exist today where something may yet go wrong again. We hope not. We pray to God it does not.

But the fact is we need new safety requirements, and we cannot lift any moratoria in any domestic production of energy without ensuring that the new safety requirements are met. In this pending legislation, we do that. We don't just trust what the industry gives the oil rig safety inspectors. We say you have to verify. The safety inspectors have to verify what previously had just been given to them by the industry to submit as a final safety report.

So what we're doing in this legislation is not only providing ethics requirements for safety inspectors, proper training for safety inspectors, but we're also saying let's do a better job than we have in the past. And that's what this whole effort is about in the CLEAR Act.

I would urge my colleagues to reject this moratoria MTR because of what we have already adopted again in a bipartisan fashion. We've adopted the gentleman from Louisiana's amendment to lift the moratorium as long as safety requirements are met.

So if you support lifting the moratoria to protect oil workers' jobs, which everybody says they do, I hope that we'll do it and ensure that jobs are safe, and we do that by rejecting this MTR and passing this bill.

I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the previous question is ordered on the motion to recommit.

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion to recommit.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the noes appeared to have it.

RECORDED VOTE

Mr. CASSIDY. Mr. Speaker, I demand a recorded vote.

A recorded vote was ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 and clause 9 of rule XX, this 15-minute vote on the motion to recommit will be followed by 5-minute votes on passage of H.R. 3534, if ordered, and the motion to suspend the rules and pass H.R. 5892.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—ayes 166, noes 239, answered ''present'' 1, not voting 26, as follows:

RECOGNIZING CECELIA STEINBERG

(Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ. Madam Speaker, I rise today with a heavy heart to remember Cecelia Steinberg, a woman who spent her extraordinary life as a dedicated mother and grandmother, loving wife and life partner, and selfless activist for her community.

Cecelia—or Ceil to her friends—was born in Philadelphia and later joined the south Florida community in 1951. For many years, Ceil and her late husband, Irving, offered their hearts and their time in service to the Jewish and veteran communities in south Florida.

As the President of the Ladies National Auxiliary of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States, Ceil worked tirelessly to combat the powers of bigotry and hatred. She honored the service and sacrifice of so many Jewish men and women who pledged their allegiance and their lives to the United States.

Ceil is survived by her two daughters, Debra and Anita, four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Our thoughts and prayers go out to Bill Kling, Ceil's life partner for the past 11 years, as well as all of Ceil's family and loved ones during this trying time. I will personally miss her very much.

THE NEW YORK FUND

(Mr. GOHMERT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. GOHMERT. Madam Speaker, the last 2 days we have seen some extraordinary things on this floor. There was a bill, well intentioned, to help those not only first responders, but anybody who may have suffered from inhaling what happened on 9/11.

September 12 was an amazing day when people came together all over the country, and we were Americans together. Our hearts went out to the New Yorkers, and in fact people stood in line in my hometown for hours to give blood. We gave generously, we continue to give. And never mind that there's no concern about first responders around the country, we'll continue to want to help New Yorkers.

But when the pay-for is going to cost thousands and thousands of jobs around this country to pay for that fund, have a little sympathy. People shouldn't have to lose their jobs to pay for the New York fund. We will continue to be generous. Don't ask for us to continue to give up jobs to do so.

HONORING BISHOP WALLACE EDWARD LOCKETT

(Mr. AL GREEN of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. AL GREEN of Texas. Mr. Speaker, June 30, 2010 will mark a significant date in the history of our country. On that date, in Mobile, Alabama, the Honorable W. Edward Lockett became the 57th Bishop of the CME Church.

Bishop Lockett has been a longtime stalwart in the Houston area. He has demonstrated what being one's keeper is all about. He has been his brother's keeper. And I am honored to say that I have had a flag flown over the Capitol of the United States of America to celebrate this great historic occasion for the CME Church for many of my constituents.

I will close with this: Bishop Lockett, we thank you for what you have done not only for the Houston community, but for what you have done in the United States of America. I hope and pray that you will continue to do God's work.

It is my honor to recognize and pay tribute to Bishop Wallace Edward Lockett of Houston, Texas on his election as the 57th Bishop of the Christian Methodist Episcopal (CME) Church at their 36th Quadrennial Session and the 37th General Conference of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church on June 30, 2010 in Mobile, Alabama.

The CME is a 139-year old historically African American Christian denomination with more than 1.2 million members across the United States. CME also has missions and sister churches in Haiti, Jamaica, Ghana, Liberia, Nigeria and the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Sudan/Egypt, Kenya, Tanzania, Uganda, Rwanda and Burundi.

The quintessential public servant, Bishop Lockett has been a strong advocate for those without a voice, strengthening the family and working to better the condition of those in need, both here at home and abroad.

A pioneer in Houston's economic development community-based corporation, Bishop Lockett previously presided over the Board of Directors of a successful community-based development corporation, Sunnyside-Up, Incorporated, specializing in substantial rehabilitation of both single and multi-family housing.

Under his leadership the organization managed an inventory of more than one hundred homes in the organization's signature ''lease-purchase program.'' Additionally, over 600 units of multi-family housing were purchased, rehabilitated and joint managed.

For the past four years, Bishop Lockett and his business partner, Dr. Gideon Adjei (a native Ghanaian), have been involved in developing Crystal Horizon Investment (Ghana) Ltd. This project supports the development and security of 35,000 acres of land for farming, affordable housing, health care facilities, and schools in the Volta River area known as Ocosenbou of West Africa.

Prior to his recent election, Bishop Lockett served as the pastor of the 1,500-member CME Metropolitan Church in Houston for over 25 years.

During his tenure, more than 45 ministries have been developed, including a charter school middle for males. Bishop Lockett was also instrumental in leading Metropolitan CME Church in directing the construction of a new 49,000 square foot building which houses many of its ministries.

While actively involved in church, community, and for profit enterprises, Bishop Lockett also finds time for civic and political involvement. He serves on the Texas College Board of Trustees, (Tyler, Texas). He has served as a member of the Ministers Advisory Council to each mayor of Houston since 1985. Past positions held include President of the Texas State Legal Services Support Center (Austin, Texas), Board Member of the Deep East Texas Council of Government (DETCOG), and President of the Lufkin Branch of the NAACP, Lufkin, Texas.

Bishop Lockett also served his country honorably as a member of the United States Air Force working as a team member with the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile System.

Bishop Lockett attended Florida A&M University, Ohio University State University, and holds a Masters Degree in Business Management and International Marketing from the University of Phoenix. He is a candidate for Master of Theological Studies at Trinity Theological Seminary.

Lockett is married to Lillie B. and is the father of three children, Dwayne Demetrius, Vernon Dale and Nicole Tonita. He is the proud grandfather of five grandchildren.

A faithful shepherd and servant, Houston and Texas will miss Bishop Lockett. It is truly an honor to pay tribute to Rev. Lockett's distinguished life and a privilege to enter these words into the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD of the United States House of Representatives.

I ask that my colleagues join me in congratulating Bishop Wallace Edward Lockett as the 57th C.M.E Bishop and Presiding Prelate for the Fifth Episcopal District overseeing Alabama and Florida in the 140-year history of the Christian Methodist Episcopal (CME) Church.

SPECIAL ORDERS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 6, 2009, and under a previous order of the House, the following Members will be recognized for 5 minutes each.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. AL GREEN) is recognized for 5 minutes.

(Mr. AL GREEN of Texas addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.)

WIKILEAKS DOCUMENTS ADD TO MOUNTING EVIDENCE AGAINST AFGHAN WAR

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WOOLSEY) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Ms. WOOLSEY. Madam Speaker, the documents released to the news media this past weekend by WikiLeaks add to the mounting evidence that the war in Afghanistan remains fiscally unsustainable and morally unjustifiable. The New York Times puts it bluntly. They say, ''The documents illustrate why, after the United States has spent almost $300 billion on the war in Afghanistan, the Taliban are stronger than at any time since 2001.''

Madam Speaker, I don't know how we can possibly reach any other conclusion: This war is not worth the huge investment in blood and treasure which the American people have been asked to make for nearly a decade.

WikiLeaks uncovers much that has been missing from the official accounts of the situation on the ground in Afghanistan. To give just one important example, they reveal that the Taliban gained access to sophisticated heat-seeking missiles, which they used to kill U.S. and NATO troops.

Afghan security forces do not enjoy any trust or legitimacy in the eyes of Afghan citizens. They are not just incapable, according to specific WikiLeaks reports, they are often brutally cruel and corrupt. Petty bribery; a police chief selling ammunition on the black market; commanders stealing their underlings' salaries—this is just the least of it, Madam Speaker. In one account, a police commander takes advantage of a teenage girl and then shoots his own bodyguard when the bodyguard refuses to open fire on a civilian complaining about the rape. Most shockingly of all, perhaps, is the revelation that the Government of Pakistan, our purported ally, is actively assisting the very militants we are fighting in Afghanistan.

Pakistan is a country that we lavish with foreign aid, one that U.S. officials repeatedly praise as an important partner in the struggle against terrorism, and it appears they're using our money to support our enemy.

We are not just talking about the passive enabling of terrorism. There are reports of Pakistani intelligence officials recruiting and training suicide bombers and helping to plan major Taliban offensives.

Perhaps most galling of all is the collective shrug from many in the foreign policy community about the WikiLeaks reports. We have known about this stuff all along, they say. This is nothing new.

Well, first of all, Madam Speaker, I am willing to bet a good percentage of the American people didn't know that their tax dollars are helping Pakistan fight against our interests.

Second, I think it is important to ask everyone who has responsibility for prosecuting this war: If you knew about these things, what are you doing about them?

As if I needed any more persuasion, the WikiLeaks revelations left me with no other choice earlier this week than to vote against the supplemental, Madam Speaker. How could I, in good conscience, endorse continued financial support for an unwinnable war, one that does violence to our values and is undermining our national security objectives?

There is only one option, Madam Speaker: End this war and bring our troops home.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. JONES) is recognized for 5 minutes.

(Mr. JONES addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentlewoman from Ohio (Ms. KAPTUR) is recognized for 5 minutes.

REVISIONS TO THE 302(a) ALLOCATIONS AND BUDGETARY AGGREGATES ESTABLISHED BY THE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS ON THE BUDGET FOR FISCAL YEARS 2010 AND 2011

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. SPRATT) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. SPRATT. Madam Speaker, under section 422(a) of S. Con. Res. 13, the concurrent resolution on the budget for fiscal year 2010, as revised by H. Res. 1493, providing for budget enforcement for fiscal year 2011, I hereby submit for printing in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD revised 302(a) allocations for the Committee on Appropriations for fiscal years 2010 and 2011 and revised budget aggregates for 2010.

Section (a)(1)(A) of H. Res. 1493 provides for adjustments to discretionary spending limits for certain Program Integrity Initiatives when these initiatives are included in an appropriations bill. The House amendments to the Senate amendments to H.R. 4899 (Making supplemental appropriations for fiscal year 2010), as passed the House on July 1, 2010, included an appropriation for such initiatives in accordance with S. Con. Res. 13. At that time, I submitted an adjustment accordingly. However, the House receded from its amendments and concurred in the Senate amendments to H.R. 4899 on July 27, 2010. The Senate amendments did not include an appropriation for such initiatives. Therefore I am adjusting the allocations and aggregates accordingly to reflect the absence of these initiatives in the enacted measure. Corresponding tables are attached.

These adjustments are filed for the purposes of sections 311 and 302 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, as amended. For the purposes of the Congressional Budget Act, this adjusted allocation is to be considered as an allocation included in the budget resolution, pursuant to section 427(b) of S. Con. Res. 13.

AIRLINE SAFETY AND FEDERAL AVIATION ADMINISTRATION EXTENSION ACT OF 2010

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, soon I am going to ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the consideration of H.R. 5900. First, I want to make a couple of comments.

H.R. 5900 is a piece of legislation sent to us by the House of Representatives that will extend for 2 months the FAA reauthorization act. I regret that we have another extension. It is extension after extension after extension. It is so symbolic of the way this place works these days.

The reason there is an urgency to get the FAA reauthorization act done is that it includes so many significant issues that deal with the safety of the air traveling public, with the airport improvement funds, with substantial investments in air traffic control modernization—a wide range of issues that are very important. Despite the fact that everybody understands the urgency, the FAA reauthorization bill is stuck in the morass of difficulties that now afflict the Senate and House these days. It is very difficult to get anything done.

The question will be, Will we now—extending this for 2 more months—at the end of this year adjourn sine die once again without having approved an FAA reauthorization bill?

The Europeans are moving very aggressively on air traffic control modernization. I have met with Europeans on these issues. We should be doing the same, and yet it is held hostage by not passing an FAA reauthorization bill.

The issue of safety is another very important issue. I have held hearing after hearing on the issue of safety. The question is, Do we have one standard of safety on airplanes these days as between major carriers and regional carriers? When you step onto an airplane that is 32-passenger or 50-passenger—a regional carrier—do you have the same level of safety as is applied with respect to the crew, the training, and all the other issues as exists with the major carriers? The law requires that; FAA requires that.

Does it exist? Well, we explored in great detail the crash of Colgan Air. We saw, with respect to Colgan Air, one flight on one night—one tragic night—where 45 passengers got on a Bombardier Dash 8 at La Guardia to fly to Buffalo, NY. Flying through the ice that evening, they had their wings iced up and they went into a dive and crashed, killing all of the passengers on board—a flight attendant, two pilots, and one person on the ground as well.

When we dissected what happened that evening, it was unbelievable. It may be that this is one circumstance that has occurred only in that situation—I doubt it. Neither pilot had slept in a bed the night before. One traveled across the United States from Seattle, WA, to Newark, just to reach her duty station to go to work. Think of that, traveling all night because it is your commute to your job, from Seattle to Newark, and then getting in an airplane and flying. That was the copilot who flew the right seat—a person who, a report said, was paid $20,000 or $22,000 a year and had to have a second job to make ends meet, and who previously lived with her parents because of the low salaries paid to pilots on commuter airlines.

The pilot in the left seat had not slept the night before either. Evidence was that he was only in the crew lounge where there are no beds. He commuted from Florida, I believe—one of the Florida cities—to Newark to his work station.

It is also the case that, as we looked at the transcript of the cockpit recording, we found all kinds of very difficult circumstances that existed—a discussion by the copilot that she had very little training flying in icing. This is someone in a cockpit flying a commercial airline saying: I have had very little experience flying in icing. We took a look at the records of the pilot and discovered that the pilot had failed, on multiple occasions, some key exams, and sufficient so that had the airline known, they said: ''We would not have hired that pilot had we known of those failures.'' Except the pilot's records were not transparent to the airlines. And the list goes on. It is about the training regime, stick shakers, stick pushers in the cockpit dealing with the circumstances that evening.

The question is: Was this an isolated incident or have we learned something that ought to be very concerning to all of us about safety in the skies? We included a number of recommendations in the FAA reauthorization bill dealing with safety. Some of those recommendations have been sent to us by the House of Representatives today in the 2-month extension. We will go ahead and adopt those and they will become law.

It does not represent all of the safety issues we have included in the Senate FAA reauthorization bill. It represents significant and important safety recommendations. It deals with FAA pilot records database and access to that database, the number of hours that are required for a pilot getting in a cockpit—1,500 hours as opposed to the 250 hours. The 1,500 represents what is required by the ATP, and that standard is applied in the House bill and also in the discussions we have had leading up to this point with the House negotiators.

We include issues such as the pilot training issues, safety inspectors, flight crew member mentoring, development, and leadership—a range of things that are very important.

The FAA is also involved separately on issues dealing with fatigue. They are not at this point, I believe, dealing with commuting, but I think commuting is an issue and has to be dealt with.

The point is that the FAA reauthorization bill is not now going to be passed. We will pass a 60-day extension to the end of September. The extension will include the safety provisions I have just described.

I want to mention as well the families of the victims of the Colgan air crash who, in my judgment, need to receive a lot of credit for pushing these issues and making certain that those loved ones they lost in that crash—I guess whose memory they labor in to try to make these kinds of changes and push the Congress to do what is necessary to improve safety. I believe the families have done very substantial work and very important work.

At every hearing I have held on the issue of safety, those family members have been present. They wear on their lapels and on their suit jackets photographs of their loved ones. They are doing that because they want to make sure this does not happen again. My heart goes out to them. I also say thanks to them for doing the kind of work they have done to make sure these issues do not fall by the wayside.

Let me make one final point. We have now from the period of perhaps 3 or 4 weeks in September and then a few weeks in a lameduck session to get the FAA reauthorization bill done, and if it does not get done, then we will have once again failed. I am pretty familiar with that kind of failure. I have watched time and time again.

Without being disrespectful to any of my colleagues, I know there are a number of issues that are of concern and of controversy. They deal with the issue of the perimeter rule at Washington National Airport—DC National—and also the slot provisions at DC National. There are differences of opinion in this Chamber. I believe we must resolve them. Those issues are not that significant. There has been discussion of 16 conversions that would not result in additional flights out of DC National. It is not a case of somebody saying: Let's have more flights.

I hope that all of those who are involved in this discussion will find a way to reach a compromise. This place does not work without compromise. If we have a dozen people digging in their heels telling us the way to resolve this issue is my way and if you do not like my way, I do not intend to do anything to allow anybody else to get anything, then this place does not work.

Frankly, we are close to not working very well. In the first instance, last evening we had another cloture vote. I know the majority leader felt strongly we probably would have the opportunity to get that vote. It is symbolic, I guess, of this Chamber these days. All year long, we have had votes on motions to proceed on noncontroversial bills—cloture votes that require a cloture motion to be filed and then wait for 2 days and then have a cloture vote on a motion to proceed to a noncontroversial issue. Then in addition to being required to file a cloture motion to shut off debate on something noncontroversial, once we get cloture with an overwhelming number of votes, we have to wait 30 hours to take action. That is not legislating. That is stalling. That is obstruction. We have seen way too much of it in this Chamber.

At any rate, I feel of two minds at the moment. No. 1, I am very disappointed that we have to have another extension. It is over and over again, nothing much changes, extend, extend, extend, rather than do the kind of legislating we should do. We will do this extension to the end of September on the FAA reauthorization bill. It relates to safety in the skies. It relates to jobs. It relates to investment in airport infrastructure in America. It relates to air traffic control modernization—all of those important issues, all of them again put on hold for another couple of months.

That is a profound disappointment, as far as I am concerned. Even as disappointed as I am about that, let me say the safety provisions that we will now proceed to enact, sent to us in the bill by the House of Representatives, are a significant step forward. I am pleased we are going to be able to do at the minimum this amount of work. More will be done even on safety when the Senate bill, if the Senate bill, is ever able to be passed in the Senate and become law.

Having said that, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of H.R. 5900, the Airline Safety and Federal Aviation Administration Extension Act of 2010, received from the House and is now at the desk.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will report the bill by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 5900) to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to extend the funding and expenditure authority of the Airport and Airway Trust Fund, to amend title 49, United States Code, to extend airport improvement program project grant authority and to improve airline safety, and for other purposes.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill.

Mrs. MCCASKILL. Mr. President, I rise today to speak on the extension of the Federal Aviation Administration authorization, which includes a number of critical policy reforms that will make our skies safer for millions of Americans and their families.

On the evening of February 12, 2009, Continental flight 3407, operated by Colgan Air, departed from Newark International Airport for Buffalo, NY. The 45 passengers and five crewmembers were just miles from the Buffalo airport when a series of events resulted in the death of all aboard as well as a father on the ground whose home was the unfortunate final resting place of flight 3407.

Over this last year and a half, I have gotten to know many of the families of the victims. They are a constant presence here in Washington, DC, working to improve safety conditions so that others are spared the same loss they have had to endure.

Sitting in my office last spring, as the NTSB began to release information on the crash, I discussed with the families the tremendous value of their advocacy. For decades the system has been slow to change and in the mean time innocent lives have been lost. We discussed the possibility of seizing on this very legislation as a vehicle for change—to bring accountability and transparency to the system—to strengthen the training requirements and push forward to achieving—not just ''one level of safety''—but a ''higher level of safety.''

As I speak to you today many of those family members are with us here in Washington. It is because of their tireless efforts—their unwavering pursuit for justice—that we are in a position today to take some of the most significant steps in improving the safety of the nation's aviation system in years.

The measures we are considering in this extension are the result of bipartisan efforts in both the Senate and the House yielding a number of provisions that I have worked to advance—and that aim to bring increased oversight and accountability to the system that force the FAA to respond to the growing concerns over crewmember fatigue and commuting—that strengthen the training requirements for our commercial pilots to ensure that those who are trusted with the lives of so many have the critical experience needed to safely operate an aircraft and respond accordingly in the event of an emergency.

I want to recognize my colleagues, Chairman DORGAN and Chairman ROCKEFELLER, who have been working around the clock on trying to bring the FAA reauthorization bill to the floor. We still have work to do, and I look forward to joining them after the summer work period to see the larger legislative package, which is long overdue, sent to President's desk.

It is my sincere hope, that these good people who have suffered such sorrow at the loss of mothers and fathers, sisters and brothers, sons and daughters, husbands, wives that they can return home, their heads held high, knowing that they turned their loss into action, and that their efforts might spare others the same pain that they themselves have endured.

I thank the families for their strength. I thank them for their steadfast advocacy. The American people owe them a debt of gratitude for the work they have done over these many months.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the bill be read three times, passed, and the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table; that any statements relating to the measure be printed in the RECORD, without further intervening action or debate.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The bill (H.R. 5900) was ordered to a third reading, was read the third time, and passed.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, let me finally say that while I have mixed feelings about having done this—one regret and the other a strong feeling of accomplishment on the safety issues—I intend to come back to the floor in September, and if we have not made progress to resolve the FAA bill—I do not shout very much, but I said yesterday I have had a bellyful of this sort of thing—I am going to come to the floor and act very unlike a Lutheran Norwegian. You can count on that.

NATIONAL INFANT MORTALITY AWARENESS MONTH

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of S. Res. 602, submitted earlier today.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will read the resolution by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 602) expressing support for the goals and ideals of National Infant Mortality Awareness Month 2010.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the resolution be agreed to, the preamble be agreed to, the motions to reconsider be laid upon the table, with no intervening action or debate, and any statements related to the resolution be printed in the RECORD.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The resolution (S. Res. 602) was agreed to.

The preamble was agreed to.

The resolution, with its preamble, reads as follows:

S. RES. 602

Whereas ''infant mortality'' refers to the death of a baby before the baby's first birthday;

Whereas the United States ranks 29th among industrialized countries in the rate of infant mortality;

Whereas premature birth, low birth weight, and shorter gestation periods account for more than 60 percent of infant deaths in the United States;

Whereas high rates of infant mortality are especially prevalent in communities with large minority populations, high rates of unemployment and poverty, and limited access to safe housing and medical providers;

Whereas premature birth is a leading cause of infant mortality and, according to the Institute of Medicine of the National Academies, costs the United States more than $26,000,000,000 annually;

Whereas infant mortality can be substantially reduced through community-based services such as outreach, home visitation, case management, health education, and interconceptional care;

Whereas support for community-based programs to reduce infant mortality can result in lower future spending on medical interventions, special education, and other social services that may be needed for infants and children who are born with a low birth weight;

Whereas the Department of Health and Human Services, through the Office of Minority Health, has implemented the ''A Healthy Baby Begins With You'' campaign;

Whereas the Maternal and Child Health Bureau of the Health Resources and Services Administration has provided national leadership on the issue of infant mortality;

Whereas public awareness and education campaigns on infant mortality are held during the month of September each year; and

Whereas September 2010 has been designated as ''National Infant Mortality Awareness Month'': Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) supports the goals and ideals of National Infant Mortality Awareness Month 2010;

(2) supports efforts to educate people in the United States about infant mortality and the contributing factors to infant mortality;

(3) supports efforts to reduce infant deaths, low birth weight, pre-term births, and disparities in perinatal outcomes;

(4) recognizes the critical importance of including efforts to reduce infant mortality and the contributing factors to infant mortality as part of prevention and wellness strategies; and

(5) calls upon the people of the United States to observe National Infant Mortality Awareness Month with appropriate programs and activities.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Ohio.

Mr. VOINOVICH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to speak for up to 20 minutes.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ENERGY AND NATIONAL SECURITY

Mr. VOINOVICH. Mr. President, I come to the floor today to support the Oil Spill Response Improvement Act of 2010. It is a bill that seeks to directly deal with one of the most serious issues facing our country today in the aftermath of the Deepwater Horizon incident and how the Federal Government responds to what will likely turn out to be one of the worst ecological disasters that have taken place off our Nation's shores.

The bill is a targeted piece of legislation that supports jobs in the gulf coast region, prevents our Nation from relying further on foreign nations for our energy needs, and protects the American taxpayer from being placed on the hook should, God forbid, a future incident ever occur. Specifically, the bill gives the President the ability to raise caps on economic damages done by oil companies. It creates a Price-Anderson model where all entities operating in the gulf would share the risk, as we do with the 104 nuclear powerplants. I don't think the public is aware of the fact that they all have the same insurance policy, and if something were to go wrong with one nuclear powerplant, all the others' insurance would be called upon. So there is no question about liability; they just take care of the problem. We need to do the same thing in terms of these oil rigs.

The legislation maintains the integrity of the Oil Spill Liability Trust Fund. It provides States an additional funding system to be used to protect the ecosystem. It accelerates the lifting of the deepwater moratorium in the Gulf of Mexico. It creates a bipartisan spill commission with subpoena power to investigate causes of the Deepwater Horizon explosion. These are good ideas that I think will address the crisis at hand. They are good ideas that will help get people back to work in the gulf.

I know Senator REID has proposed an alternative piece of legislation. I understand that it maintains the current moratorium on deepwater drilling off the Outer Continental Shelf, creates a liability regime that will likely limit production in the Gulf of Mexico to only the largest of oil companies, and raises the Oil Spill Liability Trust Fund to pay for untested efficiency programs.

I welcome a robust debate, but looking at the schedule next week, my understanding is that the majority leader will likely fill the tree and not allow any amendments. So what we are probably going to see is a Republican-Democratic side-by-side taken care of in 1 day. To be candid, this is a much too serious issue to cram into 1 day with just side-by-side proposals. And I think that gives rise, for those watching what we are doing here in the Senate, to some feeling that what we are doing here is not genuine, is disingenuous and, quite frankly, if we do this next week, I think what it will do is further cause the public to think less of the institution of the Senate.

Regardless of whether you are a Republican or a Democrat, you ought to be concerned about the fact that since polling has been done regarding the approval of the Senate, the numbers today are the worst we have ever seen. So something is going on out there, and they are watching what we are doing and they are saying: These people seem to be more interested in partisan politics or who is going to win the next election in terms of how many new Senators or who is going to control the House of Representatives instead of really looking at the problems confronting our country. They are asking: Can't you people work together on a bipartisan basis to solve the problems we have? There is a fear and uncertainty today in this country that I have never seen anything like, and I think all of us should be concerned about how the people in this country feel about what we are doing here.

Whether you are a Democrat or a Republican, environmental advocate, oil industry employee, I think all should agree that Congress needs to respond intelligently to the situation with action that balances environmental risks with our Nation's energy requirements.

Much of the responsibility for this spill should lie on the shoulders of a few bad actors in the private sector, and they are primarily with BP. I have to say, from my looking at this, there is gross negligence. It is amazing what they knew about and didn't do, and I think that will all come out, although I imagine there is going to be enough blame to go around once we have had a chance to step back and see just what happened.

I must also say that I think the decisions this administration has made, not only in reacting to the spill but also in its general attitude toward domestic oil and gas production, have been disastrous for the gulf region.

Last year, I sat down in my office with Secretary Ken Salazar to talk about domestic oil and gas production and our Nation's energy strategy. In that meeting, I conveyed to him that I have always believed one of the most pressing challenges America faces today is reducing our reliance on foreign sources of energy. I called it the second declaration of independence—finding more oil and using less. I told Secretary Salazar that I was concerned about the administration's actions that were limiting energy production in the United States.

He disagreed with me. Secretary Salazar said the Department was in the process of restructuring and undergoing a thorough review to ensure proper oversight of the oil and gas industry was being provided. He pointed out that the Department was moving forward with lease sales in the Atlantic and that, in his opinion, things were just fine. I took him at his word and waited but didn't see any change in the Department's attitude.

I sent a letter to the Secretary on April 19, 2010—April 19—reiterating my concern that his Department was ignoring its obligations to oversee domestic oil and gas development and focusing too much of its attention and resources on renewed efforts to promote renewable energy projects that make good photo-ops but would have little effect in meeting our Nation's long-term energy needs.

I expressed further concern that efforts to lease areas of the Outer Continental Shelf for oil and gas production were being restricted. For example, in November of 2009, the Department of the Interior acted to shorten the lease terms for a specific sale of leases in the Gulf of Mexico. The shortening of the lease terms will likely do nothing to guarantee more discoveries but, rather, serve to increase risk as companies are rushed to complete production before the expiration of their lease.

Three months later, I have yet to receive an answer to my letter. And this is particularly disappointing to me because I consider Secretary Salazar—a former colleague—a friend, and I have always respected him.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD the letter I sent to Secretary Salazar.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

UNITED STATES SENATE,
Washington, DC, April 29, 2010.

Hon. KEN SALAZAR,
Secretary, U.S. Department of the Interior, Washington, DC.

DEAR SECRETARY SALAZAR: I believe one of the most pressing challenges America faces today is reducing our reliance on foreign energy sources and crafting a comprehensive national energy policy for the United States that makes use of every energy resource at our disposal. It is critical that we improve our energy security to increase our competitiveness in this growing global marketplace and improve our national security.

As the Secretary of the Interior, you play an instrumental role in implementing energy policy. And your department should be applauded for its work in managing the nearly 8,000 active onshore leases and the over 55,000 active offshore leases, for its successful lease sales in 2009, and for scheduling additional Federal oil and gas lease sales for 2010.

I am concerned however, by your comments that the Department of Interior is moving adequately to promote domestic production of oil and natural gas, and your efforts to ''balance'' the federal government's procedures dealing with the leasing of federal lands for energy production. I know that you are sincere when you say that you are trying to find an approach to managing the nation's natural resources that provides the protection necessary to ensure that we are not sacrificing irreplaceable natural treasures while allowing for the safe and responsible production needed to address future energy needs. But from what I have witnessed and from what I have gathered from accounts conveyed me, I am troubled that DOI is coming across as being more concerned with catering to the political whims of the environmental community.

Some have argued that unlike the attention being paid to renewable energy projects, government action that would promote increased domestic oil and natural gas production is getting neglected. I am of the opinion that there is no silver bullet when it comes to meeting future energy needs. We are going to need a wide portfolio of energy options that include different sets of technologies and solutions. As such, no particular energy option should receive preferential treatment on the basis of its constituencies. But neither should the domestic production of a reliable and abundant energy source, such as oil, natural gas, or coal, be curtailed for the same reasons.

I was encouraged by the President's announcement to consider expanding oil and gas production on the U.S. Outer Continental Shelf. This is a good first step, but there are still large areas both in Pacific and Atlantic that would remain off-limits to exploration. Further, much of the Eastern Gulf of Mexico remains under a congressional moratorium until 2022.

While steps are being taken to expand domestic offshore oil and gas production, I must tell you I have concerns that as DOI works to schedule lease sales in the select areas that have been released from moratoria, progress could very easily be stalled completely by external roadblocks such as lawsuits from the environmental community. This is a strategy that groups have successfully utilized to halt the construction of coal fired power plants. I hope the Administration and with your leadership at DOI will follow through with this proposal and expand our domestic oil and gas resources.

Additionally, your department is taking unilateral action that could be construed as making more difficult for oil gas production to take place domestically. For example, last November DOI acted to shorten the lease terms of an upcoming Central Gulf of Mexico lease sale. Industry argues that the shortening of the lease terms does nothing to guarantee more discoveries but rather takes away from companies the flexibility necessary to operate in an extremely challenging and risky environment.

I continue to value our friendship and will work with you as we both seek to achieve energy security, the creation of jobs, and the rebuilding of our economy. I am optimistic that we can bridge any differences as we strive to make the United States more energy independent from oil rich foreign countries who do not share our interests.

Sincerely,

GEORGE V. VOINOVICH,
United States Senator.

Mr. VOINOVICH. Meanwhile, the Gulf of Mexico is now under a revised moratorium on deepwater offshore drilling imposed by President Obama and the Department of Interior. This moratorium jeopardizes 30 percent of this Nation's domestic oil production and 13 percent of our natural gas production.

There are 33 drilling platforms currently idle in the Gulf of Mexico. That doesn't sound like a large number, but keep in mind that these rigs are really the size of factories. Each platform supports as many as 1,400 direct and indirect jobs, which means that as many as 46,200 jobs could be lost in the short term because of this moratorium. As these are good-paying jobs, this could amount to as much as $10 million in lost wages per month, per platform.

Further, the moratorium threatens the livelihood of more than 300,000 oil and gas workers in the region. The loss of revenue will be in the billions. A 6-month moratorium could result in a $147 billion loss in local, State, and Federal revenue over the next 10 years. Oil and gas production in the Gulf of Mexico is a significant revenue stream for the Federal Government. A moratorium on production that lasts 6 months could cost the Federal Government between $120 million and $150 million in lost royalties and a $300 million to $500 million decline in government revenue in just 2011. That is next year.

This is sure to have a devastating effect on our Nation's long-term national security. I have said over and over that Americans are hurting from our addiction to oil. I am not sure they fully realize the extent to which our national security, and indeed our very way of life, is threatened—threatened—by our reliance on foreign oil.

Every year, we send billions of dollars overseas for oil and pad the coffers of many nations that do not have our best interests at heart, such as Venezuela, whose leader has threatened to cut off his oil exports. Today, over 80 percent of the world's oil reserves are in the hands of governments and their respective national oil companies, and 16 of the world's 20 largest oil companies are state owned. Russia has proven it has no qualms about using energy as a weapon. In Venezuela, Hugo Chavez has forcefully consolidated the nation's vast oil reserves under the control of their state-owned oil company. He frequently uses the company as political leverage in his region.

With the rise in national oil companies around the world and the apparent weaponization of the globe's energy resources, U.S. domestic oil production has been on a decline. We now import nearly 60 percent of our oil, and as a consequence we are sending billions of dollars overseas and putting our faith in the hands of regimes that do not have our best interests at heart. For example, in 2007, we spent $327 billion to import crude oil and refined petroleum products. In 2008, the amount we shipped overseas spiked to more than $700 billion. In other words, we take American money and send it overseas. And 55 percent of that money, or nearly $400 billion, went to oil-exporting OPEC nations. Today, oil amounts for over half our trade deficit.

Our dependence on foreign oil is even made more troubling when you consider our Nation's financial situation. The national debt stands at $13.3 trillion—more than double the $5.6 trillion that existed when I came to the Senate in 1999. By the end of 2010, the national debt is expected to have grown to over $14 trillion. Last year, we borrowed $1.4 trillion.

The best way I can explain the soup we are in is that last year, for every dollar the Federal Government spent, we borrowed 41 cents. Most people, when I tell them that, just can't believe it. But that is the situation. This year, we are going to borrow $1.5 trillion or another year where we will borrow 41 or 42 cents for every dollar we spend. Over half the privately owned national debt is being held by foreign creditors, mostly foreign central banks. In fact, foreign creditors have provided more than 60 percent of the private funds the U.S. Treasury has borrowed since 2001, according to the Department of Treasury.

Who are the creditors? According to the Treasury Department, the three largest foreign holders of U.S. debt are China, Japan, and the OPEC nations.

These concerns led me to introduce the National Energy Security Act last year with Senator BYRON DORGAN. The bill expands development of domestic oil and natural gas by streamlining the inventory and permitting of the most promising areas of the Outer Continental Shelf. By the way, the group that is supporting this is a group of former admirals and generals who basically said we have to do something; because of the fact of too much reliance on foreign oil we are in terrible shape. We are on thin ice, in terms of our national security.

In addition, the bill provides $50 billion in Federal loan guarantee authority for low-carbon electricity, including nuclear and advanced coal. It promotes the electrification of the transportation fleet to reduce dependence on foreign oil, supports building the crucial infrastructure necessary to create a robust, reliable national grid, and strengthens electricity transmission, including giving FERC the power to site transmission lines.

Americans today demand action and they demand we come together in a bipartisan fashion to solve not only this crisis in the gulf but our larger energy crisis. For 10 years, I have been a member of the Environment and Public Works Committee and for 10 years I have tried to coax Congress into harmonizing our energy, our economy, and our environment. Congress has refused and now the chickens have come home to roost and we are paying the price because we were not able to get together.

I believe the best message we can send the world is that we get it. We must demonstrate that we can safely and responsibly produce oil off our shores, while also promising ourselves that we are going to use less by undertaking a renewed effort to make the United States of America the most oil-independent nation in the world. I envision an America 10 years from now where we can have enough oil to take care of our needs. I imagine an America that is the least reliant country in the world on oil, an America where our economy is not threatened by our reliance on foreign energy sources. It will be an America that has created hundreds of thousands of jobs through responsible development of our Nation's resources and through the creation of new industries in the field of alternative energy.

Wouldn't it be great for our children and grandchildren to one day celebrate the time America put aside its differences and came together to announce what I refer to as a second ''Declaration of Independence''—to find more and use less? I believe, with this attitude, we can rekindle the American spirit of self-reliance, innovation, and creativity to usher in a new era of prosperity.

The first step is to pass the Oil Spill Improvement Act to get people back to work in the gulf and to give the Department of Interior the tools it needs to provide proper oversight of the oil and gas industry. Second, Congress needs to do its job—make the passing of a comprehensive energy bill a priority and provide certainty as to how our Nation will supply energy to its economy in the future.

I reiterate and call upon my colleagues, the majority leader, the minority leader, for us next week to put out the Republican proposal and the Democratic proposal, and to have back-to-back votes will do nothing but increase the cynicism that is out there among the American people about what we are doing in the Senate. Next week, we should finish the small business bill—get on with that. We ought to get on with consideration of the Kagan nomination by the President and we should come together and say let's get serious, let's work during the August break to see if we cannot come together on a compromise between the two back-to-back bills so maybe when we get back in September we can have something we can all agree on and get passed and reassure the American people we are serious about dealing with their problems and maybe even give consideration—I know this would be difficult—to look at what many of us have suggested, to look at the bill that JEFF BINGAMAN and the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee put together on a bipartisan basis.

Perhaps we could look at a bill Senator ROCKEFELLER and I have worked on for over a year that deals with capturing and sequestering carbon; to look at a title that deals with nuclear energy that I worked with with Senator LIEBERMAN and others—and get something done. It may not be satisfactory to a lot of the environmental groups, but at least we would move the ball down the field this year so people know we are serious about becoming less reliant on foreign sources of energy and also that we are genuinely concerned about reducing greenhouse gas emissions.

As I said, I have been around here, this is the 12th year on Environment and Public Works. For years, we wanted to do something about NO_X, SO_X, and carbon, bring down the caps. The environmental groups said: No, we won't agree with that, we have to include greenhouse gas emissions, so we did nothing.

I will never forget the Secretary of State, when she was a Senator from New York, and she wanted a compromise on emissions because the Adirondack Council and the folks from the Smoky Mountains agreed if we did the Ps, reduce SO_X, NO_X, and mercury, we could move along, and then the environmental groups came along and they gave her the ''Villain of the Month Award.'' Hillary Clinton gets the ''Villain of the Month Award'' because she is trying to work on a compromise to move us down the road.

We have some time left. I know it is going to be difficult because we have the backdrop of the election facing us. I hope once that is over we have a robust lameduck session so we can deal with some of the things that are on the minds of the American people and, hopefully, perhaps this Commission that you and I wanted to see done on the floor of the Senate, that the President finally had to do through Executive action, could come back here with some positive suggestions on how we can deal with our debt and these budgets that are not going to be balanced as far as the eye can see.

I yield the floor.

TRIBUTE TO ELIZABETH GORE, CHIEF OF STAFF

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, for the past 10 years I have had the privilege of working with Elizabeth Gore, the chief of staff of my U.S. Senate office.

Today, as Elizabeth leaves her job to pursue other career opportunities, I want to pay tribute to her extraordinary work. Elizabeth Gore has made important contributions not only to the effective management of my Senate office, but also to the creation of good public policy for our country.

Elizabeth joined my staff 10 years ago following a career that included work in both the U.S. House of Representatives and for the White House. She possesses that wide range of skills that is always necessary for success. She is smart, tough, honest, and has demonstrated an uncanny sense of good judgment.

I know the American people view the U.S. Senate through the lives of those of us who are elected to serve here. But, frankly, every U.S. Senator will admit that a substantial amount of the credit for their accomplishments in the Senate belong to some very talented staff. That has been especially true of Elizabeth in my office. She has directed a complicated set of issues in an office full of activity with great skill.

The term ''regular hours'' would not fit any job description in most Senate offices. Long hours, family sacrifices, and devotion to getting the job done describes everything about the commitment Elizabeth made to me, my staff, and the people of North Dakota over the past decade.

I know Elizabeth will now add another chapter to what is already an illustrious career and others will discover the joy of working with her.

I join all of my staff members in saying thank you to Elizabeth Gore for having spent the past decade working in my office. All of us owe her a great debt of gratitude.

NATIONAL COUNCIL ON INTERNATIONAL VISITORS

Mr. SPECTER. Mr. President, I wish to speak to a resolution honoring the National Council for International Visitors, NCIV, on the occasion of its 50th anniversary. The United States has the responsibility of protecting its citizens by ensuring peace, and I believe that citizen diplomacy as practiced by the NCIV is a crucial tool to achieving that end.

With the goal of promoting ''excellence in civilian diplomacy,'' the NCIV promotes the idea that individual citizens have the right and responsibility to promote peaceful and cooperative foreign relations. NCIV champions the belief that ''citizen diplomacy has the power to shape American perceptions of foreign cultures and international perceptions of the United States, effectively shattering stereotypes, illuminating differences, underscoring common human values, and developing the web of human connections needed to achieve more peaceful relations between nations.''

In a partnership with the Department of State, the NCIV cosponsors the International Visitor Leadership Program, IVLP, which brings distinguished foreign leaders to the United States for short-term professional programs. Since 1961, the NCIV has organized people-to-people exchanges for more than 190,000 foreign leaders participating in the IVLP, and of these participants, 285 went on to lead their respective countries. The IVLP's distinguished alumni include Tony Blair, Margaret Thatcher, Anwar Sadat, Indira Gandhi, and Nicolas Sarkozy, among others.

Throughout my tenure in the Senate, I have sought to engage leaders of friendly and adversarial nations alike, as I recognize the potential for dialogue to yield positive results where few prospects for progress were at first seen. Refusing to negotiate with adversarial countries exacerbates relations with these nations, and the resulting mutual lack of understanding strengthens anti-American sentiments.

It is my personal experience that meeting with leaders whose policies are in conflict with those of the United States can yield positive results. I cite my interactions with former President Hafiz al-Asad of Syria, President Fidel Castro of Cuba, and President Hugo Chavez of Venezuela as examples. Achievements resulting in some small part from this personal diplomacy included expansion of emigration rights in Syria and cooperation with Cuba and Venezuela on counter-narcotics policy. By investing in diplomacy, the United States can foster international relationships that facilitate peaceful resolutions to conflict.

The NCIV promotes these relationships on an individual basis, ''[bridging] cultures and [building] mutually beneficial relationships through international exchanges.'' I nominated the NCIV network of citizen diplomats for the 2001 Nobel Prize believing they ''have done . . . the best work for fraternity between nations.'' On the occasion of the NCIV's 50th anniversary, I hope that my colleagues join me in honoring their work.

REMEMBERING JOE ''THE OLD MASTER'' GANS

● Mr. CARDIN. Mr. President, I encourage my colleagues to join me in marking the 100th anniversary of the passing of Joe ''The Old Master'' Gans, a great American who inspired millions with his feats in the boxing ring. At a time of pervasive racial discrimination and inequality, Gans provided the country with a glimpse of the true potential of African Americans by rising to the top of what was then the most popular sport in America.

Gans had the humblest of beginnings. He was born in Baltimore, MD, in 1874, and orphaned 4 years later. Then, he was raised by a foster mother in a segregated world in which the future seemed to hold no more for him than the same menial labor he performed at the Baltimore harbor in his teenage years. In an ironic twist of fate, the racist conditions that hemmed in his world eventually lifted him out of it. His incredible talent for boxing was first discovered when he emerged victorious in a Battle Royale, a cruel sporting event in which white gamblers bet on which of 10 black youths thrown together in a ring would be the last standing.

In the years that followed, Gans honed his skills and accumulated success after success as a lightweight boxer, becoming famous for his perceptive, impregnable defensive tactics and devastating counterpunch. With an easy one-punch knockout victory in 1902, Gans first earned the world lightweight title, at the time the greatest athletic achievement made by an African American. Four years later, he solidified his hold on the title, which he would keep until 1908, with his victory over Matthew ''Battling'' Nelson on Labor Day, 1906, in Goldfield, NV.

The Goldfield fight, held outdoors under a blazing Sun, drew an audience of 8,000 people. The purse was $30,000. Gans's foster mother, Maria Grant, sent him a telegram urging him to ''bring home the bacon,'' a phrase that caught on in the media accounts when Gans won what was dubbed ''the fight of the century'' after 42 grueling rounds. It was the longest gloved championship match recorded under Marquis of Queensbury rules.

Despite winning the fight, Gans received much less prize money than his white opponent who lost. But the winnings were enough for Gans to found the Goldfield Hotel, a leading incubator of Black culture where, among others, the great jazz pianist Eubie Blake first attracted notice. Gans' achievements became a beacon of hope for the African-American community. The prominent preacher and civil rights leader Francis J. Grimke once remarked that the great Booker T. Washington had done much for African Americans, but he ''never did one-tenth to place the black man in the front rank as a gentleman as has been done by Joe Gans.''

Gans was one of the first practitioners of scientific gloved boxing, following the era of bare-knuckles fights. Nat Fleischer described his footwork as ''beautiful side-stepping, and legwork'' in ''Black Dynamite.'' The San Francisco Chronicle reported that Gans ''was in and away or inside as it suited him best, with will-o-the-wisp elusiveness.'' Jack Johnson said, ''Joe moved around like he was on wheels.'' All in all, he fought in three divisions—featherweight, lightweight, and welterweight—for 18 years, compiling over 150 career wins and over 100 knockouts.

The remarkable life of Joe Gans was cut short at age 34 when he succumbed to tuberculosis. I ask my colleagues to join me, a century after his death, in recognizing the inspiring accomplishments of an American hero whom the great Baltimore writer H.L. Mencken called ''probably the greatest boxer who ever lived.''●

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS

The following petition or memorial was laid before the Senate and was referred or ordered to lie on the table as indicated:

POM–136. A resolution adopted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota expressing its strong opposition to the creation of a federal insurance charter as proposed in S. 40/H.R. 3200 and any other such federal legislation that would threaten the power of the state legislatures, governors, insurance commissioners, and attorneys general to oversee, regulate, and investigate the business of insurance, and to protect consumers; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

RESOLUTION NO. 3

Whereas, the current financial crisis facing the United States and the world is causing Congress and the Administration to review the current regulatory structure presently in force with the object of revising it; and

Whereas, the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, Comptroller of the Currency, Securities and Exchange Commission, and other federal regulatory institutions failed their responsibility, causing great harm to the financial system of the United States; and

Whereas, the prime example of the failure of the federal regulatory institutions to exercise their responsibility is AIG; and

Whereas, the failure of AIG has been caused by the actions and activities of its holding company, the regulation of which is the sole responsibility of the federal government; and

Whereas, the regulation of AIG's insurance company subsidiaries has been the responsibility of the state regulators who have fulfilled their responsibilities, which is demonstrated by the fact that none of the approximately 170 insurance subsidiaries has failed; and

Whereas, regulation, oversight, and consumer protection have traditionally and historically been powers reserved to state governments under the McCarron-Ferguson Act of 1945; and

Whereas, state legislatures are more responsive to the needs of their constituents and the need for insurance products and regulation to meet their state's unique market demands; and

Whereas, many states, including Minnesota, have recently enacted and amended state insurance laws to modernize market regulation and provide insurers with greater ability to respond to changes in market conditions; and

Whereas, state legislatures, the National Conference of Insurance Legislators (NCOIL), the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC), and the National Conference of State Legislators (NCSL) continue to address uniformity issues between states by the adoption of model laws that address market conduct, product approval, agent and company licensing, and rate deregulation; and

Whereas, new federal legislation to create a national insurance charter is expected to be introduced in 2009 that will have the potential to fundamentally alter the role of state governments in the insurance industry, thereby creating an unwieldy and unnecessary federal bureaucracy proposed without consumer and constituent demand; and

Whereas, such initiatives as S. 40/H.R. 3200—the National Insurance Act of 2007—proposed optional federal charter legislation may bifurcate insurance regulation and result in a labyrinth of federal and state directives that would promote ambiguity and confusion among consumers; and

Whereas, bills such as S. 40/H.R. 3200 would allow insurance companies choosing a federal charter to avoid state insurance regulatory oversight and evade important state consumer protections; and

Whereas, the mechanism that would have been set up under S. 40/H.R. 3200 cannot respond to the unique insurance market dynamics and local constituent concerns present in each of the 50 states as state regulation does; and

Whereas, bills such as S. 40/H.R. 3200 have the potential to compromise state guaranty fund coverage, and employers could end up absorbing losses otherwise covered by these safety nets for businesses affected by insolvencies; and

Whereas, bills such as S. 40/H.R. 3200 would ultimately impose the costs of a new and needless federal bureaucracy upon businesses and the public; and

Whereas, many state governments derive general revenue dollars from the regulation of the business of insurance, including nearly $14 billion in premium taxes and $2.7 billion in fees and assessments generated in 2006—of which the state of Minnesota generated over $346 million; and

Whereas, bills such as S. 40/H.R. 3200 threaten the loss of over $10 million in state revenues from insurance fees and assessments, thereby putting at risk the funding of a wide array of essential state services; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota, That it joins the National Conference of Insurance Legislators in expressing its strong opposition to creation of a federal insurance charter as proposed in S. 40/H.R. 3200 and any other such federal legislation that would threaten the power of state legislatures, governors, insurance commissioners, and attorneys general to oversee, regulate, and investigate the business of insurance, and to protect consumers; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of State of the State of Minnesota is directed to prepare copies of this memorial and transmit them to the President and the Secretary of the United States Senate, the Speaker and the Clerk of the United States House of Representatives, the chair and members of the United States Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs, the chair and members of the United States House of Representatives Committee on Financial Services, and Minnesota's Senators and Representatives in Congress.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. DURBIN:

S. 3680. A bill to amend the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 to permit leave to care for a same-sex spouse, domestic partner, parent-in-law, adult child, sibling, or grandparent who has a serious health condition; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce the Family and Medical Leave Inclusion Act. This is a bill—previously introduced in the House of Representatives on a bipartisan basis—that would extend the important protections of the Family and Medical Leave Act to same-sex couples in America. Under current law, it is impossible for many employees to be with their partners during times of medical need.

The late Senator Edward Kennedy once said, ''It is wrong for our civil laws to deny any American the basic right to be part of a family, to have loved ones with whom to build a future and share life's joys and tears, and to be free from the stain of bigotry and discrimination.''

America has a rich history of embracing those once discriminated against and making them part of our nation's family. All Americans—regardless of their background—are deserving of dignity and respect.

In 1993, Congress passed the Family and Medical Leave Act to, among other things, protect American workers facing either a personal health crisis, or that of a close family member.

Thanks to the FMLA, those people in the workforce who suffer a serious illness or significant injury are able to take time to heal, recover, follow their doctors' orders, and return to their jobs strong, healthy, and ready to be productive again. Most importantly, they know that they will still have jobs to return to, because those are protected by the law.

Likewise, workers who learn the terrible news that a child, a parent, or a spouse is sick or injured, and in need of help from a loved one, can provide that care and support knowing that their jobs are not in jeopardy for doing so.

In passing the FMLA, Congress followed the lead of many large and small businesses which had already recognized and addressed this need. These companies had put in place systems that gave their employees time to heal themselves or their family members, and ensured that those employees would return to work as soon as they could. In standing by their employees in a time of need, these companies accomplished three laudable goals: they eased the burden of those employees in crisis, they reassured the rest of their employees that they too would be covered should they find themselves in need of that protection, and they ensured the return of these skilled and trusted employees, sparing business the expense and effort of recruiting and training new people. It was a win-win strategy.

The FMLA took that model and its benefits and brought the majority of the American workforce under the same protections.

Today, once again, we have the opportunity to learn from a number of forward-thinking, pioneering businesses—big and small and across the United States—who have taken it upon themselves to improve on the protections provided by law. While respecting the spirit and purpose of the FMLA, these companies have simply recognized the changing nature of the modern American family.

According to the Human Rights Campaign—a leading civil rights organization that strongly supports the Family and Medical Leave Inclusion Act—461 major American corporations, nine states, and the District of Columbia now extend FMLA benefits to include leave on behalf of a same-sex partner.

In 1993, the FMLA was narrowly tailored to apply only to those caring for a very close family member. The idea was to capture that inner circle of people, where the family member assuming the caretaker role would be one of very few, if not the only person, who could do so. That idea is still valid, and that idea has not changed.

What has changed are the people who might be in that inner circle. The nuclear American family has grown—sometimes by design, and sometimes by necessity. More and more, that inner circle of close family might include a grandparent or grandchild, siblings, or same-sex domestic partners in loving and committed relationships.

As the law stands right now, too many of these people are left outside of the protections of the FMLA.

Earlier this summer, the U.S. Department of Labor issued guidance clarifying that an individual serving as a parent, but who may not have a legal or biological relationship to a child, is eligible to take FMLA leave to care for that child or attend to a birth or adoption. As Labor Secretary Hilda Solis noted, ''No one who intends to raise a child should be denied the opportunity to be present when that child is born simply because the state or an employer fails to recognize his or her relationship with the biological parent. . . . The Labor Department's action today sends a clear message to workers and employers alike: All families, including LGBT families, are protected by the FMLA.''

I applaud the Labor Department and the Obama Administration for sending this important message, but unfortunately, the FMLA statute still does not allow an employee to take leave to care for a same-sex partner. We must act to truly make these important protections available to all families.

At times like these, when we as a nation are experiencing a difficult employment market, those with good jobs know the value of those jobs and are working as hard as they can to keep them. Those people should never have to weigh the value of their employment security against family duties to care for a loved one.

But even in the best of economic times, this bill makes sense. Injury or illness can come at any time, and families are rocked by the needs and decisions that come along with that reality.

There are many who would understandably question what this kind of change in the law would cost the business community. I would remind those people that the FMLA is already a very good law; it is in place and it is working. It provides unpaid leave when the need arises, and it only applies to businesses that have enough employees on hand to handle the absence of a single worker without too great a burden.

We have also seen that 90 percent of the leave time that has been taken under the FMLA has been so that employees can care for themselves or for a child in their care, and those situations are already covered under the law as it stands. What the Family and Medical Leave Inclusion Act would do is provide a little more flexibility, and recognize that there are a few more people in that inner circle of family who we might call upon, or who might call upon us. It will not make a big difference to the companies involved, but it will make all the difference in the world to those protected by it.

We often hear calls from some of our colleagues who feel that the Government tries to do too much, and that we try to force government to do for us what we should be doing for ourselves or for each other. That is exactly why this should be a law that we can all agree upon. Certainly we can all agree that family is the first and best safety net in times of personal crisis. Families need to be given the realistic ability to provide that assistance. What the Family and Medical Leave Inclusion Act does is give those family members the ability to help their loved ones in ways that only they can, without fear of losing their jobs in the process.

The Family and Medical Leave Inclusion Act takes a very good law and makes it even better. It contains reasonable changes that merely reflect the modern American family. It is the right thing to do, and I hope we can join together on a bipartisan basis to pass it.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the text of the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

By Mr. FEINGOLD:

S. 3681. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to reform the system of public financing for Presidential elections, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. FEINGOLD. Mr. President, today I will reintroduce a bill to repair and strengthen the presidential public financing system. The Presidential Funding Act of 2010 will ensure that this system will continue to fulfill its promise in the 21st century. The bill will take effect in January 2011, so it will first apply in the 2012 presidential election.

It is important to note that the cost of this bill is completely offset by reforms to the federal irrigation subsidy program. Friends of the Earth in its 2003 Green Scissors report estimated that these provisions would save at least $4.4 billion over 10 years, which is more than sufficient to cover the estimated cost of this bill—$1.1 billion over 4 years.

The presidential public financing system was put into place in the wake of the Watergate scandals as part of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1974. It was held to be constitutional by the Supreme Court in Buckley v. Valeo. The system, of course, is voluntary, as the Supreme Court required in Buckley. Until the 2008 election, every major party nominee for President since 1976 had participated in the system for the general election and, prior to 2000, every major party nominee had participated in the system for the primary election as well.

In the 2004 election, President Bush and two Democratic candidates, Howard Dean and the eventual nominee, JOHN KERRY, opted out of the system for the presidential primaries. President Bush and Senator KERRY elected to take the taxpayer-funded grant in the general election. President Bush also opted out of the system for the Republican primaries in 2000 but accepted the general election grant.

In 2008, several of the leading candidates for President, including President Obama, Secretary Clinton, Senator MCCAIN and Governors Huckabee and Romney, did not participate in the primary system. While Senator MCCAIN accepted the public grant for the general election, President Obama became the first major party candidate not to participate in the general election public funding system.

It is unfortunate that the matching funds system for the primaries has become less practicable. The system protects the integrity of the electoral process by allowing candidates to run viable campaigns without becoming overly dependent on private donors. The system has worked well in the past, and it is worth repairing so that it can work in the future. If we don't repair it, the pressures on candidates to opt out will increase until the system collapses from disuse.

In the post-Citizens United world, the likelihood of general election candidates participating in the system if it is not changed is greatly reduced as well. The current system completely prohibits private fundraising, requiring candidates to fund their campaigns solely with the general election grant, which was $84.1 million in 2008. Senator MCCAIN, who accepted the grant, raised approximately $220 million for the primaries in 2008. President Obama, who did not participate in either the primary or general election public funding system, raised a total of approximately $746 million for the entire 2008 campaign. The public funding system is clearly not keeping pace with the current cost of campaigns or the ability of candidates to raise private money.

This bill makes changes to both the primary and general election public financing system to address the weaknesses and problems that have been identified by participants in the system, experts on the presidential election financing process, and an electorate that is increasingly dismayed by the influence of money in politics. First and most important, it eliminates all spending limits in the law for both the primary and the general elections. This should make the system much more viable for serious candidates facing opponents who are capable of raising significant sums outside the system. The bill also makes available substantially more public money for participating candidates. It increases the match of small contributions from 1:1 to 4:1 and provides up to $100 million in matching funds for a participating candidate in the primaries and $200 million in total grants for the general election.

In exchange for the much more generous public grants provided by the bill, participating candidates are required to focus their fundraising on small donors. First, they must agree to accept contributions of only up to $1,000 in the primaries. The current individual contribution limit, established by the Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act of 2002, is $2,400. In addition, only contributors of $200 or less can have their contributions matched. Since each $200 contribution will yield $800 in matching funds, there will be a great incentive for candidates to seek out small donors. The 2008 campaign saw an explosion of small donations to the campaigns of both parties. This bill should help promote and extend this trend, which is a positive development for our democracy.

Under the bill, for the first time, matching funds will also be part of the general election system. In addition to a $50 million grant, general election candidates can receive up to $150 million in matching funds, again based on a 4:1 match of contributions of $200 or less. General election candidates can also raise contributions of up to $500 from other donors whose contributions will not be matched. General election candidates, therefore, will be able to spend up to $200 million in public funds plus whatever they can raise in contributions of $500 or less. Even in light of the specter of corporate spending permitted by Citizens United, these should be adequate resources for a campaign that lasts only a few months.

One very important provision of the bill ties the primary and general election systems together and requires candidates to make a single decision on whether to participate. Candidates who opt out of the primary system and decide to rely solely on private money cannot return to the system for the general election. And candidates must commit to participate in the system in the general election if they want to receive Federal matching funds in the primaries.

This bill also addresses what some have called the ''gap'' between the primary and general election seasons. Presumptive presidential nominees have emerged earlier in the election year over the life of the public financing system. This has led to some nominees being essentially out of money between the time that they nail down the nomination and the convention where they are formally nominated and become eligible for the general election grant. For a few cycles, soft money raised by the parties filled in that gap, but the Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act of 2002 fortunately has now closed that loophole. By eliminating spending limits in the primaries, the bill makes sure that candidates can continue raising and spending the money they need to remain competitive. In addition, the political parties will be permitted to spend up to $50 million coordinated with their candidates, an increase from the current limit of $15 million.

Obviously, these changes make this a more generous system. So the bill also makes the requirement for qualifying more difficult. To be eligible for matching funds, a candidate must raise $25,000 in matchable contributions—up to $200 for each donor—in at least 20 States. That is five times the threshold under current law.

The bill also makes a number of changes in the system to reflect the changes in our presidential races over the past several decades. For one thing, it makes matching funds available starting six months before the date of the first primary or caucus, which is approximately 6 months earlier than is currently the case. For another, it sets a single date for release of the public grants for the general election—the Friday before Labor Day. This addresses an inequity in the current system, under which the general election grants are released after each nominating convention, which can be several weeks apart.

The bill also prohibits Federal elected officials and candidates from soliciting soft money for use in funding the party conventions and requires presidential candidates to disclose bundled contributions. The bundling provision builds on a provision contained in ethics and lobbying reform legislation enacted in 2007. It requires presidential candidates to disclosure all bundlers of $50,000 or more.

Additional provisions, and those I have discussed in summary form here, are explained in a section-by-section analysis of the bill that I will ask to be printed in the RECORD, following my statement.

The purpose of this bill is to improve the campaign finance system, not to advance one party's interests. The current President raised and spent more money than any other candidate in history. But he has a history of supporting the presidential public funding system, and he recognizes the importance of reforming and updating the current system. I am optimistic that he will endorse this bill, and will participate in the system if he runs for reelection.

Fixing the presidential public financing system will cost money. The total cost of the system, based on data from the 2008 elections, is projected to be around $1.1 billion over the 4-year election cycle. Though this is a large number, it is actually a very small investment to make to protect our democracy and preserve the integrity of our presidential elections. The American people do not want to see a return to the pre-Watergate days of candidates entirely beholden to private donors. We must act to ensure the fairness of our elections and the confidence of our citizens in the process by repairing the cornerstone of the Watergate reforms.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that a section by section analysis be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD as follows:

PRESIDENTIAL FUNDING ACT OF 2010 SECTION BY SECTION ANALYSIS

SECTION 1: SHORT TITLE; TABLE OF CONTENTS

TITLE I—PRIMARY ELECTIONS

Section 101: Increase in and modifications to matching payments—Current law provides for a 1–to–1 match, where up to $250 of each individual's contributions for the primaries is matched with $250 in public funds. Under the new matching system, individual contributions of up to $200 from each individual will be matched at a 4–to–1 ratio, so a $200 individual contribution can be matched with $800 from public funds. Contributions are ''matchable contributions,'' however, only if the donor has made $200 or less in aggregate contributions to the candidate, and the candidate certifies that he or she will not accept more than $200 from that donor. In addition, ''matchable contributions'' may not be bundled by anyone other than an individual.

A participating candidate can receive up to $100 million in matching funds.

''Contribution'' is defined as ''a gift of money made by a written instrument which identifies the person making the contribution by full name and mailing address.''

Section 102: ELigibility requirements for matching payments—Current law requires candidates to raise $5,000 in matchable contributions (currently $250 or less) in 20 states. To be eligible for matching funds under this bill, a candidate must raise $25,000 of matchable contributions (up to $200 per individual donor) in at least 20 states.

In addition, to be eligible for matching funds, candidates must agree not to accept more than $1,000 in aggregate contributions from a single donor. That amount will be indexed for inflation. Participating candidates must also agree to not accept contributions either made by or bundled by lobbyists and PACs.

Finally, to receive matching funds in the primary, candidates must also pledge to apply for and accept public money in the general election if nominated.

Section 103: Inflation adjustment for contribution limitations and matching contributions—Contribution limits will be indexed for inflation, with 2012 as the base year.

Section 104: Repeal of expenditure limitations—Under current law, participating candidates cannot spend in excess of the primary spending limit, which was $54 million in 2008. The bill eliminates that spending limit.

Section 105: Period of availability of matching payments—Current law makes matching funds available on January 1 of a presidential election year. The bill makes such funds available six months prior to the first state caucus or primary. That date for the 2008 elections would have been July 3, 2007.

Section 106: Examination and audits of matchable contributions—Current law requires that the Commission conduct an audit of the qualified campaign expenses of candidates and authorized committees that received payments under section 9037. This Section would require the Commission to also audit matchable contributions accepted by candidates and authorized committees.

Section 107: Modification to limitation on contributions for presidential primary candidates—Under current law, all elections held in a calendar year for President are considered to be a single election for purposes of the contribution limits. This Section addresses the possibility that a primary or caucus might be actually be held the year before the general election by changing ''calendar year'' to ''four year election cycle.''

TITLE II—GENERAL ELECTIONS

Section 201: Modification of eligibility requirements for public financing—Currently, candidates can participate in either the primary or the general election public financing system, or both. Under the bill, a candidate must participate in the primary matching system in order to be eligible to receive public funds in the general election.

Furthermore, the candidate must agree to (1) furnish the Commission with evidence of qualified campaign expenses, if requested; (2) agree to keep any records, books and other information the Commission may request; and (3) agree to an audit by the Commission and pay any amounts required to be paid as a result of that audit.

To receive public funding in the general election, candidates must certify that they will not (1) accept contributions or bundled contributions from lobbyists or contributions from a political committee other than a political party; (2) solicit funds for a joint fundraising committee that includes a political party after June 1 of the election year ; and (3) solicit funds for any political party committee after they have received their general election grant.

Section 202: Repeal of expenditure limitations and use of qualified campaign contributions—Currently, candidates who receive public funds are prohibited from raising any private funds for general election campaign expenses. Under the bill, such candidates may continue to raise ''qualified contributions'' for the general election. Qualified contributions are defined as contributions of no more than $500 in the aggregate that are received after June 1 of the election year. To accept a qualified contribution, candidates must certify that the donor has not contributed more than $500 in the aggregate to the candidate for the general election, and the candidate will not accept additional contributions from that donor once $500 has been received from that donor.

Section 203: Matching payments and other modifications to payment amounts—The major party candidates for President will be entitled to equal payments of $50 million, plus matching funds of up to $150 million for a maximum total of $200 million in public funding. Individual contributions raised after June 1 of the election year of up to $200 will be matched at a 4–to–1 ratio. Contributions are ''matchable contributions,'' however, only if the candidate certifies that the donor has made contributions of $200 or less in aggregate for the general election, the candidate will not accept more than $200 from that donor, and the contribution has not been bundled or forwarded by anyone other than an individual fundraiser.

Minor party candidates can receive grants and matching funds for the general election after the fact, based on the percentage of votes received by those candidates in the election. If a minor party fielded a candidate in the previous election, general election funds can be received by that party's candidate based on the performance of the candidate in the previous election. These rules mirror current law on the availability of general election funding for minor party candidates.

Section 204: Inflation adjustment for payment amounts and qualified contributions—The general election grant amount, ($50 million in 2012), general election matching fund maximum amount ($150 million in 2012), and qualified contribution limit for the general election ($500 in 2012) will be indexed for inflation.

Section 205: Increase in limit on coordinated party expenditures—Current law provides a single coordinated spending limit for national party committees. In 2008, that limit was about $15 million. The bill increases the limit to $50 million. This will allow the party to support the presumptive nominee during the so-called ''gap'' between the end of the primaries and the conventions. The entire cost of a coordinated party communication is subject to the limit if any portion of that communication has to do with the presidential election. Party spending limits will be indexed for inflation.

Section 205: Establishment of uniform date for release of payments—Under current law, candidates participating in the system for the general election receive their grants of public money immediately after receiving the nomination of their party, meaning that the two major parties receive their grants on different dates. Under the bill, all candidates eligible to receive public money in the general election would receive their grants and whatever matching funds they are entitled to at that time on the Friday before Labor Day, or 24 hours after both major party candidates have been nominated, whichever is later.

Section 206: Amounts in presidential election campaign fund—Under current law, in January of an election year if the Treasury Department determines that there are insufficient funds in the PECF to make the required payments to participating primary candidates, the party conventions, and the general election candidates, it must reduce the payments available to participating primary candidates and it cannot make up the shortfall from any other source until those funds come in. Under the bill, in making that determination the Department can include an estimate of the amount that will be received by the PECF during that election year, but the estimate cannot exceed the past three years' average contribution to the fund. This will allow primary candidates to receive their full payments as long as a reasonable estimate of the funds that will come into the PECF that year will cover the general election candidate payments. The bill also allows the Secretary of the Treasury to borrow the funds necessary to carry out the purposes of the fund during the first campaign cycle in which the bill is in effect.

Section 207: Use of general election payments for general election legal and accounting compliance—Current FEC regulations permit general election candidates to raise money for a separate fund to pay their legal and accounting expenses (so-called ''GELAC funds''). The bill specifies that all such expenses will now considered general election expenses and must be paid for out of their general election funds.

TITLE III—POLITICAL CONVENTIONS

Section 301: Repeal of public financing of party conventions—This section eliminates the public financing of party conventions.

Section 302: Contributions for political conventions—This section allows the national political parties to establish a separate account to receive contributions that can only be used to fund their party conventions. Individuals may contribute up to $25,000 in a four year election cycle to that account. The aggregate annual contribution limit applicable to an individual who contributes to a political convention account will be increased by the amount of such contributions, meaning that the contributions essentially will not count toward the aggregate limit.

Section 303: Prohibition on use of soft money—Federal candidates and officeholders and national parties and their officers are prohibited from raising or spending soft money in connection with a nominating convention of any political party, including funds for a host committee, civic committee, or municipality.

TITLE IV—OTHER PROVISIONS

Section 401: Revisions to designation of income tax payments by individual taxpayers—The tax check-off is increased from $3 (individual) and $6 (couple) to $10 and $20. The amount will be adjusted for inflation, and rounded to the nearest dollar, beginning in 2010.

The IRS shall require by regulation that electronic tax preparation software does not automatically accept or decline the tax checkoff. The FEC is required to inform and educate the public about the purpose of the Presidential Election Campaign Fund (''PECF'') and how to make a contribution. Funding for this program of up to $10 million in a four year presidential election cycle, will come from the PECF. These provisions will take effect immediately upon enactment of this bill.

Section 402: Regulations with respect to best efforts for identifying persons making contributions—Within six months of enactment, the FEC must promulgate new regulations on what constitutes ''best efforts'' for determining the identity of persons making contributions, including persons making contributions over the Internet or by credit card. The regulations must require the entity receiving the contribution to verify that the name on the credit card matches the name of the donor.

Section 403: Prohibition on joint fundraising committees—Federal candidates are prohibited from forming a joint fundraising committee with any political committee other than an authorized candidate committee.

Section 404: Disclosure of bundled contributions to presidential campaigns—This section builds on the bundling disclosure provision of the Honest Leadership and Open Government Act of 2007 (''HLOGA'') to require presidential campaigns to disclose the name, address, and employer of all individuals or groups that bundle contributions totaling more than $50,000 in the four year election cycle. Individuals who are registered lobbyists would have to be separately identified. HLOGA's definition of bundling would apply to bundling disclosure by the presidential candidates, and no change is made to the requirements of HLOGA with respect to congressional campaigns.

Section 405: Judicial review of actions related to campaign finance laws—Current law provides four separate judicial review provisions: (1) Section 403 of the Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act (''BCRA''), which applies to actions challenging the constitutionality of any provision of that Act; (2) 2 U.S.C. §437h, which applies to actions challenging the constitutionality of any other provision of the Federal Election Campaign Act (''FECA''); (3) 26 U.S.C. §9011, which applies to certifications or other actions taken by the FEC in connection with the general election public financing program; and (4) 26 U.S.C. §9041, which applies to certifications and other actions by the FEC in connection with the primary public funding system.

The bill replaces all four of those provisions with a single judicial review provision. All actions shall be filed in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, with an appeal permitted to the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit and then to the Supreme Court. All courts are required to expedite any such actions to the greatest extent possible, and Members of Congress are granted the right to intervene as of right in any case challenging the constitutionality of any provision of FECA or the public financing provisions in the Internal Revenue Code. Members of Congress may themselves bring such a case.

TITLE V—OFFSETS

Section 501: Offsets—This section would reform a federal irrigation subsidy program by closing a loophole in the 1982 Reclamation Reform Act to require a means test to qualify for federal irrigation subsidies. This would ensure that small family farmers, not huge agribusinesses, benefit from federal water pricing policies intended to help small entities struggling to survive. This new approach limits the amount of subsidized irrigation water delivered to any operation in excess of the 960 acre limit that claimed $500,000 or more in gross income. Friends of the Earth in its 2003 Green Scissors report estimated that these provisions would save at least $4.4 billion over 10 years, which is more than sufficient to cover the estimated cost of this bill—$1.1 billion over 4 years.

TITLE VI—SEVERABILITY AND EFFECTIVE DATE

Section 601: Severability—If any provision of the bill is held unconstitutional, the remainder of the bill will not be affected.

Section 602: Effective date—The amendments contained in this bill will apply to presidential elections occurring after January 1, 2010.

SUBMITTED RESOLUTIONS

Whereas the Department of Health and Human Services, through the Office of Minority Health, has implemented the ''A Healthy Baby Begins With You'' campaign;

Whereas the Maternal and Child Health Bureau of the Health Resources and Services Administration has provided national leadership on the issue of infant mortality;

Whereas the mission of NCIV is to promote excellence in citizen diplomacy—the concept that the individual citizen has the right and responsibility to help develop constructive United States foreign relations ''one handshake at a time'';

Whereas citizen diplomacy has the power to shape perceptions in the United States of foreign cultures and international perceptions of the United States, effectively shattering stereotypes, illuminating differences, underscoring common human aspirations, and developing the web of human connections needed to achieve more peaceful relations between countries;

Whereas NCIV is the private sector partner of the United States Department of State International Visitor Leadership Program (referred to in this preamble as the ''IVLP''), a public diplomacy initiative that brings distinguished foreign leaders to the United States for short-term professional programs under the authority of the Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2451 et seq.; also referred to as the ''Fulbright-Hays Act'');

Whereas the NCIV network comprises individuals, program agencies, and 92 community organizations throughout the United States, including approximately 80,000 volunteers who are involved in NCIV member activities each year as host families, professional resources, volunteer programmers, board members, and other supporters;

Whereas the network of citizen diplomats in NCIV has organized professional programs, cultural activities, and home visits for more than 190,000 foreign leaders participating in the IVLP, 285 of whom went on to become chiefs of state or heads of government in their countries;

Whereas the NCIV network has hosted and strengthened the relationships of the United States with notable foreign leaders who are alumni of the IVLP, including: Abdullah Gul, President of Turkey, Nicolas Sarkozy, President of France, Manmohan Singh, Prime Minister of India Morgan Tsvangarai, Prime Minister of Zimbabwe, and Alvaro Uribe Velez, President of Colombia, as well as Willy Brandt, former Chancellor of the Federal Republic of Germany, Kim Dae-Jung, Former President of South Korea, Frederik W. de Klerk, former President of South Africa, Indira Ghandi, former Prime Minister of India, Anwar Sadat, former President of Egypt, and many others;

Whereas United States ambassadors have in repeated surveys ranked the NCIV network-facilitated IVLP first among 63 United States public diplomacy programs;

Whereas in 2001, Senator Arlen Specter nominated the NCIV network of citizen diplomats to receive the Nobel Peace Prize, stating that they ''have done . . . the best work for fraternity between nations'';

Whereas all Federal funding for the citizen diplomacy of the NCIV network is spent in the United States, where it has leveraged $6 in local economic impact for every Federal dollar expended;

Whereas NCIV member organizations provide invaluable opportunities for United States students to develop global perspectives and vividly experience the diversity of the world by bringing foreign leaders into local schools, loaning teachers cultural artifacts, and developing internationally focused curricula;

Whereas participation of United States communities, businesses, and universities in the international exchange programs implemented by the NCIV network strengthens the ability of the United States to produce a globally literate and competitive workforce;

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

RECOGNIZING FRIENDSHIP MISSIONARY BAPTIST CHURCH'S 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF SERVICE TO THE PONTIAC COMMUNITY

HON. GARY C. PETERS

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Mr. PETERS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the Friendship Missionary Baptist Church on the occasion of its 50th Anniversary of service to the Pontiac community. As a Member of Congress, it is my privilege to honor the Church, its leadership and its congregation on achieving this most impressive milestone.

Friendship Missionary Baptist Church began its service to the community as a house of fellowship, joining the community together to affirm the goodness of spirituality under the vision of Reverend Alvin Hawkins, the Church's first Pastor. Under Rev. Hawkins' leadership, the congregation of Friendship flourished, creating a Sunday School, nurses' guild, and a music ministry. Furthermore, to forever enshrine and guide them in their greater service to the community, the congregation adopted a covenant and the Articles of Faith.

After seven years of service to the community through piety, charity and faith, Rev. Hawkins was called to a new journey, and leadership of the Church was entrusted to Rev. Eddie McDonald. Rev. McDonald, another man of vision and action, guided Friendship in its spiritual journey, creating an outreach ministry and a young women's group. During the prosperity of Rev. McDonald's strong stewardship, the Church paid off the mortgage on its first home on Williams Street and expanded its congregation, eventually seeking a larger space on Michigan Street, its current home.

It was with great sadness that the congregation of Friendship Baptist Church said farewell to Rev. McDonald after 32 years, but with hope for the future, they welcomed in Rev. William Dulaney. Rev. Dulaney has continued upon the steadfast and strong leadership of his predecessors and established the Learning Lab and youth department to further expand the service of the Church to the community. Under his leadership, the congregation of Friendship continues to grow strong.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me, and the congregation of Friendship Missionary Baptist Church in celebrating their 50th Anniversary of fellowship in spirituality and service. I wish the congregants and leadership of Friendship Missionary Baptist Church many more years of prosperity to come.

HONORING THE MILITARY SERVICE OF LANCE CORPORAL ANTHONY ROBERTSON

HON. DANIEL LIPINSKI

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Mr. LIPINSKI. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Lance Corporal Anthony Robertson of the United States Marine Corps.

Lance Corporal Robertson grew up in Justice, Illinois and currently lives in neighboring Willow Springs. After joining the Marines, he was deployed to Afghanistan. While there, he was severely injured by a roadside bomb. It was an honor to personally congratulate and thank Lance Corporal Robertson, and his wife, Sheri Robertson for his brave service when we met on July 26th at a welcome home celebration conducted by the Village of Justice. His sacrifice will rightfully be honored with a Purple Heart—our Nation's oldest actively used military medal.

It is a privilege to welcome home to his family and community someone who has given so much. As Lance Corporal Robertson prepares to enter the ranks of almost 600,000 living veterans who have received the Purple Heart Medal, I ask you to join me in honoring his service, and the work of all men and women in uniform who have shed blood in the service of our country.

HONORING MR. ALVARO BOTERO

HON. MARIO DIAZ-BALART

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Mr. MARIO DIAZ-BALART of Florida. Madam Speaker, this week Colombia celebrates 200 years as a sovereign nation. As we congratulate our democratic ally and friend on its Bicentennial, it is fitting that we also honor some of Colombia's finest, and among them, is Alvaro Botero.

Alvaro is a respected journalist, author and writer. He is a strong advocate for freedom of the press. He knows that many around the world are censored and prohibited from speaking the truth, so he values his ability to write and report in a free and democratic society. Alvaro is committed to keeping the connection between his native Colombia and his home of 23 years, South Florida. He works hard to ensure that the Colombian American community in the United States is informed and in tune with what is happening in Colombia, South Florida and around the world.

For more than 16 years, Alvaro has published "El Notiloco de Botero" a satirical news magazine and in recent years launched a corresponding news site. He started his career in Colombia studying journalism and public relations. His work has appeared in publications throughout Latin America and the United States and he has published several books, earning recognitions at the Feria Internacional de Libro, International Book Fair. Alvaro has served as a correspondent for Colombian news network RCN, RCN Radio and RCN Miami, and was instrumental in the creation of Radio Caracol, South Florida's Colombian Radio Station, with daily programming in the United States and Colombia.

Alvaro works to promote democracy and speak out for those who cannot express themselves freely as he can, and he continues to humor us each day through his writing. After 23 years of living in Miami, he is still as passionate about his native Colombia as he is about his home, the United States.

I ask that you join me in honoring Alvaro Botero, a fine journalist, friend and the voice of South Florida's Colombian American community.

HONORING MACCULLOCH HALL

HON. RODNEY P. FRELINGHUYSEN

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Macculloch Hall, in Morristown, New Jersey, which is celebrating its 200th anniversary, as well as the 60th anniversary of the Macculloch Hall Historical Museum.

The cornerstone of Morristown's National Historic District, Macculloch Hall Historical Museum preserves the history of the Macculloch-Miller families and the Morris area, and the legacy of its founder, the Honorable W. Parsons Todd through its historic site, collections, exhibits, educational and cultural programs.

George Macculloch emigrated with his family to America from London and in 1810 built the Federal-style brick mansion in Morristown. Macculloch is best known as the "father" of the Morris Canal, an international engineering marvel. Mrs. Macculloch was instrumental in establishing St. Peter's Episcopal Church and the Female Charitable Society, today Family Service of Morris County. The family and their descendants influenced education, economics, politics and culture.

In 1949, Morristown philanthropist and former mayor, W. Parsons Todd, purchased and restored Macculloch Hall to house his collections of American and English decorative and fine arts as well as a major collection of original works by Thomas Nast, America's leading 19th century political cartoonist. Nast once lived across the avenue and created the Republican Elephant, the Democratic Donkey, and popularized America's image of Santa Claus.

With the Morristown Garden Club, Todd restored Macculloch Hall's gardens—the oldest in Morris County. Three acres of original plantings and landscape features include more than 40 varieties of heirloom roses; the first documented tomato grown in New Jersey is said to have been grown here. The garden is a popular retreat and is open to the public from dusk to dawn.

Through the efforts of its Trustees, staff, members and volunteers, Macculloch Hall Historical Museum continues to serve thousands of annual visitors from the greater Morristown, New Jersey community and throughout the United States, who come to the site to enjoy the beauty and history portrayed by its collections, engage with compelling political history in the works of Thomas Nast, and experience the tranquility of the historic gardens.

Madam Speaker, I ask you and my colleagues to join me in congratulating Macculloch Hall as they celebrate these milestones.

Mr. EHLERS. Madam Speaker, on rollcall Nos. 480, 481, and 482, I was absent due to a commitment to speak to a large group in the Cannon Caucus Room, and could not leave them in mid-meeting.

SUPPORTING OF JUNIPERO SERRA HIGH SCHOOL

HON. MAXINE WATERS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Ms. WATERS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the accomplishments of Junipero Serra High School which is located in Gardena, California in my district. Serra High has become the first in California state history to win a state football championship and a state basketball championship in the same school year. Even more remarkable and more important is the fact that for three years running, 100% of Serra High School's graduating seniors were accepted to college.

Junipero Serra High School is operated by the Department of Catholic Schools of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. Serra High School was founded in 1950 and graduated its first class in 1953. Over the years, the school has played a very important role in the life of the community, graduating over six thousand students in the South Bay area.

Serra's recent achievements add immensely to its already strong legacy. In December, the Cavaliers became the California Interscholastic Federation's Division III state champions in football with a victory that was ''as much a triumph of athletic skill as one of perseverance from year to year and play to play,'' as local newspaper the Daily Breeze stated. Against Marin Catholic High School, the Cavaliers won 24–20, establishing themselves as a dominant force in the very competitive California high school football climate.

In March, Serra High School captured the Division III basketball championship with a 63–59 overtime victory over Oakland's Bishop O'Dowd completing the historic double victory. Not Santa Ana's Mater Dei, not Concord's De La Salle, not Los Angeles' Crenshaw High, not Long Beach Poly—no athletic powerhouse, private or public in California, had completed such a feat until Serra High did it. At the end of the 2009–10 school year, Serra's athletic program was rated by ESPN as the fourth best all-around high school athletic program in the USA and the number one program in California. I also understand the Cavalier Track team came within two points of being state champions and that the Girls Basketball and Track teams have also excelled.

I congratulate President Erick Rubalcava, Principal Michael Wagner, Athletic Director Ted Dunlap, Head Football Coach Scott Altenberg, Head Basketball Coach Dwan Hurt, their assistant coaches, the entire school staff and all of the amazing faculty and students at Serra for their excellence both in academics and athletics.

HONORING MR. RICARDO TRIBIN

HON. MARIO DIAZ-BALART

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Mr. MARIO DIAZ-BALART of Florida. Madam Speaker, this week Colombia celebrates 200 years as a sovereign nation. As we congratulate our democratic ally and friend on its Bicentennial, it is fitting that we also honor some of Colombia's finest, and among them is Ricardo Tribin.

As former President of the Colombian American Chamber of Commerce and current Board Member, Ricardo continues to be a leader for small businesses in South Florida. He has created opportunities for Colombian Americans to become successful business men and women, immerse themselves in the world of trade and commerce, and expand their businesses. As a consultant and businessman himself, Ricardo has been able to use his knowledge and experience to help others, and does so with humility and professionalism. He has successfully authored and published a number of self-help books in the United States and Colombia, encouraging others to move past life's most difficult challenges and find strength to achieve success in both personal and professional settings.

Ricardo is also fully engaged in ensuring that the needs of his community are met and actively participates in the democratic process. He understands the need for a Free Trade Agreement between the United States and Colombia and the positive impact it would have on the South Florida economy by creating jobs. As such, he has been a leading voice in urging passage of the deal. Ricardo is also a firm believer in the principles of liberty and freedom and works to ensure that his native Colombia continues to be Latin America's leading democracy.

I ask that you join me in honoring and thanking my good friend Ricardo Tribin for his hard work, service and dedication to free enterprise, empowering others, and seeing his community flourish.

On May 11, 2010 in Charkh Afghanistan, an American Hero named Seargent Kendra Coleman of The 173rd Special Troops Battalion Airborne, United States Army almost lost her life in an IED explosion. Clinging to life, and losing her leg she had a choice to make, give up or get up! She chose to get up and begin her run to recovery! In just a few short months she traveled so far and so fast in her recovery. The strides she has made, have taught us all so much, and will continue to bless us all. A hero lies bleeding, clinging to life. . . . As Such Strength In Honor. . . .
Faith In Heart's, she is so needing!
As when you looked down, and saw what this war had found!
As when, your most courageous heart began to pound. . . .

As you hit the ground running, for nothing was going to hold you down!
Wiping those tears from your most beautiful eyes, and as you began to stride!

HERO DAJA WANGCHUK MESTON

HON. FRANK R. WOLF

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Mr. WOLF. Madam Speaker, I want to share with our colleagues the untimely passing of a brave and heroic man who made the cause of fighting for the people of Tibet his life's calling.

Daja Wangchuk Meston served as my guide when I traveled to Tibet in 1997. Accompanied only by my late chief of staff Charlie White and Daja, I was at the time just the second sitting member of the U. S. House of Representatives to visit Tibet since the Chinese occupation began in 1959. We traveled with U.S. passports and on tourist visas issued by the government of China. At no time did anyone ask nor did I make known that I was a member of Congress. Had I done so, I am sure that my visit would not have been approved, just as other members of Congress requesting permission to visit Tibet have been turned down.

I couldn't have made the trip without Daja. He knew the Tibetan people and their struggles against iron-fisted Chinese rule. He opened the doors for my meetings with persecuted monks, men and women on the street and others who risked their personal safety and well-being to steal a few moments alone with me to reveal the unspeakably conditions in Tibet and to petition help and support from the West. He later paid the price for his heroism when he returned to Tibet to investigate the Chinese government's population resettlement program underwritten by the World Bank. He was subsequently captured, tortured and imprisoned by Chinese authorities, and badly injured when he tried to escape by jumping from a window. He endured a harrowing experience before his release.

In our search for modern-day heroes, Daja Wangchuk Meston is a true hero. I am thankful that I had the opportunity to know him. I submit for the RECORD a moving account of Daja's life written by Linda Anna Mancini, coordinator of the Boston Tibet Network, who worked closely with Daja. The Boston Tibet Network links various Tibetan support groups, local individuals, national and international organizations, and the Tibetan Association of Boston.

Daja Wangchuk Meston was beautiful in his modesty, strength and honesty. Powerful in his choices. This hero would not be called by that title when he was with us, but now that he has left us, I feel compelled to name him the hero that he was. Brave in the face of danger, with strength above tragedy, Wangchuk was a hero. It was my honor to know him. Such a beautiful man.

With so much sadness at his death, I look at his brave life for comfort. While remembering his work, I can treasure his dignity and all that he achieved. May the memory of his beauty and achievements sustain his family and all who loved him and cherish him still.

Certainly His Holiness the Dalai Lama is the most significant treasure to Tibetans and Tibet supporters. He is a great leader. And, as he knows, the actions of many others also shed a light—Wangchuk was one, a bright light. We are all indebted to him. The moment of his capture in Amdo in 1999 galvanized the Tibetan struggle into the unified grass roots movement that has held strong since that time.

The Tibetan issue in itself is truly an ocean of suffering. Each person's story is distinctive, whether born in Tibet, or India, or the states—or, in Wanchuk's case, an American raised as a Tibetan. Wangchuk was born in Switzerland, child of Americans who traveled to Nepal where his mother placed him with a Tibetan family and later, when he was 6, into the monastery. His mother lived as a nun in India, while his father returned to California burdened with great personal challenges. At 17 Wangchuk left the monastery and came to the states. After a few years, he attended Brandeis. How valiant he was when he first arrived, young teenager alone, wearing jeans, not maroon robes. Looking for his birth family, an education and his American self. He found his dear wife—they understood too well both tragedy and exile. They courageously trusted each other, shared love and pain and family, and the struggle for human rights in Tibet.

It was the spring of 1999 when I met Wangchuk. He was impressive, knowledgeable. We were just a group of people interested in Tibet who gathered to share ideas. We formed an alliance, the Boston Tibet Network (BTN) to share information and be able to act on it. Present were Tibetan Buddhists, folks from Amnesty, a scholar archivist of Tibetan Buddhist texts, a Harvard professor, those interested in Tibet, in Buddhism, in social justice. All concerned about the well being of Tibetans in Tibet and those in exile, about human rights and non-violent action. The network still exists, we now know each other well and continue to work toward the same goals.

A few months after our first meetings, Wangchuk went to Tibet. He went in August to investigate, see what was happening to the nomads in Amdo at the hands of the Chinese. He was outstandingly brave to do this. He knew there was danger. The Tibetan movement had learned that the World Bank, contrary to their own mandate, had financed Chinese population resettlement. Tibet supporters worldwide protested loudly with marches and more. Bowing to international pressure, the Chinese government said all were welcome to visit and explore their nomad resettlement project which they claimed was beneficial; yet the pattern was set—the Chinese were perpetually hard about all things Tibetan. Wangchuk was one of those who decided to take them at their word and go and see their project.

Once there Wangchuk was quickly captured by the Chinese, questioned and tortured. Despairing of ever being released, he jumped from a window trying to escape. He was seriously injured and held in a nearby hospital by the Chinese.

For BTN our first group action was to announce the terrible news that Wangchuck was imprisoned. We begged the Chinese government to release him and lobbied our own government to assist in freeing him. The Chinese made his release difficult, so Wangchuk's wife Phuntsok and their friend, Carl, went to China to get him. A harrowing experience but finally they returned to the states and he was admitted to Brigham and Womens' Hospital for a long stay.

August of 1999, Wangchuk's imprisonment, his subsequent injuries and release, world protests—all this was a pivotal moment for the Tibetan movement. The World Bank relented to demands and stopped the funding to the Chinese for nomad resettlement in Amdo. The Tibetan movement was energized and Tibet supporters became a strongly united grass roots movement that has continued to grow powerful all these years since.

Wangchuk was heroic to go to Amdo. He was brave when he endured the endless surgeries needed to rebuild his shattered feet. He was generous to write his autobiography ''Comes the Peace'' and share his personal life, thoughts and feelings. He was happy with his wife and their boutique ''Karma'' where they shared workdays and he told stories to friends and shoppers, and enjoyed his Newton Center community.

Yes, it hurts that he is not with us anymore, and that he chose to leave us. But I am so grateful to have known Wangchuk, he was a hero. Such an honest man, he took my breath away. He is remembered well.

TRANSPORTATION, HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT, AND RELATED AGENCIES APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2011

SPEECH OF

HON. SHEILA JACKSON LEE

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 5850) making appropriations for the Departments of Transportation, and Housing and Urban Development, and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2001, and for other purposes:

Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas. Mr. Chair, I rise in support of H.R. 5850, the ''Transportation, Housing and Urban Development, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act of 2011.'' This bill includes important funding and necessary investments in our transportation, housing and other critical aspects of this country's infrastructure. This bill also provides assistance to the most vulnerable Americans, including the homeless, disabled, low-income and elderly. Additionally, this bill provides support for our veterans who serve this nation so valiantly and who have earned a right to adequate housing.

Mr. Chair, this bill includes funding for critical transportation projects that will improve mobility and stimulate economic activity in communities across the country. What I am particularly proud of is the funding for two light rail lines in Houston, Texas—the North and Southeast lines. These projects have successfully gone through the Federal Transit Administration's New Starts review process, and I am looking forward to passage of this bill and funding of these projects. As the fourth largest city in the country, we are anxiously awaiting construction of an integrated rail network that will create jobs, provide mobility and spur economic development. Funding for these projects will be a significant step towards achieving our goals.

This bill also invests in National Infrastructure to Support Jobs. It includes funding for:

Highway infrastructure

There is $45.2 billion in the bill to improve and repair our nation's aging highway infrastructure. It is estimated that this increased investment will support more than 142,000 additional jobs across all sectors of the economy, according to the job model developed by the Department of Transportation (DOT). According to the DOT's 2008 Conditions and Performance Report, an average annual investment of $105.6 billion from all levels of government is needed just to sustain the current conditions of our highways and bridges, and $174.6 billion is needed to improve our current system. In addition, the report of the National Surface Transportation Policy and Revenue Study Commission issued in December 2007 recommended investing $225 billion annually over the next 50 years to maintain, upgrade, and expand our transportation networks.

Public Transportation Investments

There is also $11.3 billion to support bus and rail projects, including capital expenditures. The increase from last year will support an estimated 20,000 additional jobs for transit workers around the country. The Federal Transit Administration estimates that our nation's public transportation system has a state-of-good-repair backlog of nearly $78 billion.

Public Housing Capital Fund

Additionally, the bill includes $2.5 billion to help Public Housing Authorities make critical repairs and improvements to public housing units and improve living conditions for residents, including green and sustainable rehabilitation. Every dollar invested in the Capital Fund produces $2.12 in economic return for local economies.

HOPE VI

The bill also includes $200 million for grants to rehabilitate distressed public housing neighborhoods by transforming them into sustainable mixed-income communities. This transformation will help create jobs in the hard-hit construction industry and will revitalize distressed neighborhoods.

Community Development Block Grant (CDBG)

In addition, the bill provides for $4.35 billion to spur local construction and development. The CDBG program works to ensure decent affordable housing, to provide services to the most vulnerable in our communities, and to create jobs through the expansion and retention of businesses. CDBG helps local governments tackle serious challenges facing their communities and makes a difference in the lives of millions of people across the nation.

Passenger Rail Grant Program

Also included in the bill is $1.4 billion to expand and improve intercity passenger rail and develop a robust national high speed rail system, which will create jobs and reinvigorate our manufacturing base. Additionally, this investment will help reduce our dependence on fossil fuels and decrease congestion between cities across the country by providing a transportation alternative for congested highways and air space.

Amtrak

There is $1.77 billion in the bill to make capital investments, including improvements to Amtrak's fleet and upgrades to Amtrak stations to ensure they are accessible for the disabled. This increase above FY 2010 will save or create an additional 1,130 jobs.

VULNERABLE POPULATIONS

This bill includes vital support for vulnerable populations who need our help in a difficult economic environment. Included are the following:

Foreclosure Mitigation and Housing Counseling Funds

The bill includes $113 million to support foreclosure counseling for families through NeighborWorks America and $88 million for the Department of Housing and Urban Development's housing counseling assistance program to provide help for low and moderate income families before they purchase a home.

Veterans Affairs Supportive Housing Vouchers

I am very pleased to know that we are taking care of our veterans by including $75 million for housing vouchers for homeless veterans, coordinated with supportive services from the VA Medical Centers. This funding will support 10,000 new vouchers and supports the effort to end veteran homelessness.

Housing and Services for Homeless Persons Demonstration

This bill also includes $85 million for a new demonstration coordinated between HUD and HHS to couple housing vouchers and mainstream health services for 10,000 homeless persons and individuals. Homeless individuals need both housing and services to build self-sufficiency, and integrating the programs of HUD and HHS in a seamless manner for these families and individuals will provide comprehensive support for long-term housing stability.

Public Housing Operating Fund

Also included is $4.849 billion to support public housing units' maintenance and energy costs. The public housing inventory consists of more than 1.1 million units of housing to support low-income persons, whose average income level is $13,346.

Section 8 Tenant Based Rental Assistance

This bill also includes $19.4 billion to renew all vouchers currently in use and allow more than 2 million low income families to stay in their homes. Included in this total is $113 million to renew housing vouchers for persons with disabilities and $60 million to support the Family Self-Sufficiency program, which helps families increase income and move out of assisted housing.

Section 8 Project-Based Rental Assistance

Additionally, this bill includes $9.4 billion to support the 1.3 million units of housing assisted. The average annual income of a resident of this form of housing is $11,217, and more than 57 percent are either elderly or disabled.

Housing for the Elderly

Funding in the amount of $825 million is included in the bill to support affordable housing for the elderly by constructing approximately 3,200 new units and keeping over 50,000 elderly Americans in their homes.

Housing for the Disabled

The bill also includes $300 million to support affordable housing for the disabled by constructing approximately 1,400 new units and keeping over 13,000 Americans with disabilities in their homes.

Indian Housing

A very important measure in this bill includes $700 million to support and construct affordable housing for American Indians. These funds will assist over 540 tribes, provide rental assistance to over 57,000 families, and add approximately 8,000 housing units to the over 26,000 housing units constructed and 54,000 housing units rehabilitated by this program since 1998.

Housing for Persons with AIDS (HOPWA)

Additionally, the bill includes $350 million to prevent homelessness among persons with AIDS. Up to 70 percent of all people living with HIV or AIDS report a lifetime experience of homelessness or housing instability and the HIV/AIDS death rate is seven to nine times higher for homeless adults than for the general population. This funding will provide housing assistance for over 60,000 households nationwide.

Homeless Assistance Grants

The bill also provides $2.2 billion for permanent and transitional housing for homeless families and individuals. It is important to note that this is the first year of implementation of the HEARTH Act, which will support both the prevention of, and rapid resolution of, homelessness in America.

Reverse Mortgages

Also included is $150 million to support elderly homeowners and assist them in keeping their homes rather than forcing them to move to expensive assisted living facilities. This funding level is important because it will keep the program running in 2011 at expected volume levels.

ENSURING SAFE TRANSPORTATION

Aviation Safety Programs

The bill provides $1.3 billion for the Federal Aviation Administration's, FAA, safety enforcement efforts including $17 million to hire 122 additional safety inspectors to assist with NextGen development and the oversight of foreign repair stations. This additional funding will help meet the safety goals established in the FAA's Administrator's Call to Action in the aftermath of the tragic Colgan air crash.

Highway Safety Programs

Also included in the bill is $891.2 million for the programs of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration to make America's roads safer by encouraging safety belt use, preventing drinking and driving, improving child safety, enhancing motorcyclist safety, and other initiatives.

Railroad Safety Technology Program

There is also $75 million to provide grants to help deploy positive train control, PTC, systems, which perform a critical safety function on rail lines with mixed freight and passenger traffic. These funds will help train operators with the estimated $5.5 billion necessary for initial PTC system acquisition and implementation, which is required on all lines that jointly operate passenger and freight traffic by December 15, 2015.

Mr. Chair, this bill includes crucial support for our transportation, housing and infrastructure that will create jobs for Americans all across this country. It also includes vital support for veterans and vulnerable populations such as the elderly, low-income, and homeless who need a lifeline in the midst of this economic storm. I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

RECOGNIZING THE SALEM UNITED CHURCH OF CHRIST

HON. JOHN SHIMKUS

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. SHIMKUS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the Salem United Church of Christ in Alhambra, Illinois for their 150th Anniversary of ministry.

The origins of the church date back to 1860 when German immigrants settled in and around Alhambra and formed a congregation with a small church that was without a tower or steeple. In 1877, the congregation decided to build a new Gothic style church. The congregation has since added a parish hall for a gathering place for young and old alike for many activities. Since they built their first church with timbers cut in a steam-powered mill, the members of the Salem United Church of Christ have been diligent in care of their sanctuary.

While the congregation takes pride in their sanctuary and other buildings, it is not the property, but the worship and all the activities of the congregation that are the heart of the church. This anniversary is the celebration of 150 years of steadfast worship where there have been 2,189 Baptisms, 1,640 Confirmations, 690 Marriages and 1,514 Funerals recorded since 1860.

Descendents of families who first organized the church are among those who continue to welcome new members to worship. Together all the members of the Salem United Church of Christ honor the past as well as look to the future of their church.

TRIBUTE TO U.S. ARMY SPC. 1ST CLASS DAMON SHONTELL

HON. JO BONNER

OF ALABAMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. BONNER. Madam Speaker, I rise in solemn tribute to the memory of a patriotic young man from South Alabama who recently passed away while honorably serving our Nation.

On July 5, 2010, U.S. Army Spc. 1st Class Damon Shontell, age 22 of Grand Bay, Alabama, died at Fort Jackson, South Carolina.

A graduate of Alma Bryant High School in Irvington, Alabama, Spc. Shontell joined the Army after receiving his diploma. He was known for his deep and abiding patriotism and his determination to serve his country. He planned to pursue a degree in engineering upon completion of his military service.

After entering the Army, Damon attended Military Police Training at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri in June 2006. After completion of his training, he was transferred to Fort Hood, Texas, where he was stationed with the 64th Military Police Company. In May 2007, Spc. Shontell deployed with the 64th MP Company to Iraq where he bravely defended his comrades in gun battles with the enemy. In July 2008, he returned to Fort Hood for another 12 months before transferring to the 17th Military Police Detachment at Fort Jackson in July 2009. He continued to serve at Fort Jackson as a Military Policeman, and was awarded the Army Commendation Medal (1 OLC), Army Achievement Medal, Overseas Service Ribbon, Global War on Terrorism Medal, National Defense Service Medal, and the Iraq Campaign Medal.

He was a devoted soldier who witnessed the hardship and sacrifice of war, but he never faltered in his dedication to duty.

Madam Speaker, we owe so much to those who wear the uniform of our country and put themselves in harm's way to ensure our safety and security.

Even more than the loss of a hero, there is no greater loss than the loss of a child. Spc. Damon Shontell's father, David, personally wrote me a touching letter about the tremendous void that has been created in his life through the passing of his only child, who was also his best friend.

Mr. Shontell also asked me to express his gratitude to those personnel at Fort Jackson who treated him with ''love, respect, trust and brotherhood'' and who so honored his son. In keeping with his request, I bring to the attention of the U.S. House those officers who deserve special recognition for their compassion: Sgt. Terry Horn, Sgt. Kevin Lasonde, Sgt. William Crews, Sgt. David Beaton, Sgt. Stacy Case, Cpt. Tara Mahoney, Col. James Love, Sgt. Ken Lucas; and, at Fort Rucker, Alabama, Sgt. Michelle Flores.

Madam Speaker, on behalf of the people of Alabama, I wish to extend my heartfelt condolences to Spc. 1st Class Shontell's father, David, and his family and friends for their profound personal loss. We all mourn the passing of this very special young man who was taken away from all of us in the prime of his youth. Damon Shontell loved his father, his country, and his God. He will never be forgotten. May he rest in peace.

FAIR SENTENCING ACT OF 2010

SPEECH OF

HON. HENRY C. ''HANK'' JOHNSON, JR.

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, July 28, 2010

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of S. 1789, the Fair Sentencing Act of 2010. For too long, crack cocaine users, predominantly minorities, have been subject to excessive penalties when compared to users of powder cocaine even though both drugs are chemically identical. While this bill does not go far enough towards righting this injustice, it is a tremendous step in the right direction, and I commend Senator DURBIN and the rest of the Senate for passing this long overdue piece of legislation and urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. Speaker, for too long users of crack cocaine were sentenced to prison terms that were much longer than prison terms for users of cocaine, a chemically identical drug. We all know why this is the case. In the 1980's, the United States was in the midst of a crack cocaine epidemic. While cocaine was often considered a harmless, even glamorous, ''recreational'' drug of privilege, crack cocaine was considered a more harmful drug and was associated with crime and destitution. The reality is that crack cocaine, though chemically identical to cocaine, is less pure and therefore sells for less on the street. As a result, this drug rapidly spread across already impoverished and crime-ridden areas of the country, in many cases making a bad situation worse. As we all know, low income Americans are disproportionately minority. Crack cocaine quickly became associated with minorities, particularly African Americans. It would be more accurate, however, to associate crack cocaine use with poverty than with African Americans. It is important to let the American people know that, at the height of the crack cocaine epidemic in this country, a 1982 the National Survey on Drug Abuse found that 22 million Americans had used cocaine at one time or another. I say this to make it clear that cocaine was as much of an epidemic as crack cocaine during the 1980s. The only difference between crack and cocaine is the user.

In response to the crack cocaine epidemic, Congress passed the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1986 in a reactionary effort to try and put a stop to the use of crack cocaine. The law was a part of the so called ''war on drugs,'' a popular political catch phrase at the time. This ''war'' was launched by stressing the serious social harms of violent crime, theft, social exclusion; with which crack cocaine use was associated.

Current law provides that a person convicted of crack cocaine possession receives the same mandatory prison term as someone who possesses 100 times the same amount of powder cocaine and the law has mandatory minimums for simple possession. Mr. Speaker, let me repeat that. The Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1986 sets the penalty for possession of crack cocaine at 100 times the penalty for a chemically identical drug, cocaine and sets mandatory minimum sentences for crack cocaine users while setting a mandatory minimum sentence for cocaine users. As a result of this law, wealthy users of cocaine have received more lenient penalties than poor minority users of crack, a chemically identical drug. According to U.S. government statistics, 82 percent of Federal crack cocaine offenders are African American and only 9 percent are white. African-Americans and Latinos were incarcerated at a higher rate because of their drug use preference. In this country, where everyone is born equal, it is absolutely outrageous that the law could be so slanted. It simply makes no sense. As a former Magistrate Judge and defense attorney, I firmly believe that there should be no difference in the ratio of sentencing for crack cocaine and powder cocaine possession.

Over the years, there have been numerous efforts to lower this ratio to a more reasonable difference in sentencing for crack cocaine and powder cocaine. In 2007, The United States Sentencing Commission voted to recommended that this disparity be rectified and existing sentences reduced. Also in 2007, The Supreme Court ruled in Kimbrough v. United States that the guidelines for cocaine are advisory only, and that a judge may consider the disparity between the guidelines' treatment of crack and powder cocaine offenses when sentencing a defendant. Finally, today, the United States House of Representatives will consider and hopefully pass a bill that will lower the ratio of sentencing from 100 to 1, to a new ratio of 18 to 1. Mr. Speaker, I support this bill but 18 to 1 is still unnecessary and discriminatory. An 18 to 1 ratio still preserves and institutional disparity between drug sentences of wealthy cocaine users and predominantly poor and African American crack cocaine users.

I support the direction that this bill takes the country however I am disappointed that, after all these years, an institutional disparity will be preserved. I firmly believe that there should be no disparity in the ratio of sentencing between users of crack cocaine and powder cocaine. The ratio should be one to one. This view is shared by both Republicans and Democrats alike. Former D.C. prosecutor, later D.C. Superior Court judge, and present D.C. Federal judge, Judge Reggie B. Walton, a Republican nominated by former President George W. Bush, supports an equalization of the sentencing disparity. Even President Obama stated in 2008 that the sentencing disparity ''has disproportionately filled our prisons with young black and Latino drug users.'' He cited figures that African Americans serve almost as much time for drug offenses, at 58.7 months, as whites do for violent offenses, at 61.7 months. Finally, in early 2009, Attorney General Holder made it clear where the Administration stands when he said, ''One thing is very clear. We must review our Federal cocaine sentencing policy. This administration firmly believes that the disparity in crack and powdered cocaine sentencing is unwarranted. It must be eliminated.''

There is absolutely no justification for this racial disparity in federal cocaine sentencing policy. The playing field must be leveled to bring total equality for all races in sentencing for drug use for all variations of the same drug.

I urge my colleagues to take an enormous step in the right direction by supporting this bill to greatly improve this outdated and discriminatory law. I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

WOMEN OF THE MUSIC CITY

HON. MARSHA BLACKBURN

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to mark the accomplishments of the women of Music City. ''Let's Hear It For The Girls,'' the 2010 Source Awards, celebrates the women who helped found the Nashville music industry. Celia Froehlig, Carol Phillips, Sherytha Scaife, Elizabeth Thiels, Ruth Bland White and Jo Walker Meador Lifetime Achievement Award recipient Frances Williams Preston will be honored at the 8th annual event. ''In the long run, you make your own luck—good, bad, or indifferent.'' Loretta Lynn's words many triumphs ago speak still for the women of today's victories who blaze the musical trail of their own luck.

Nashville's music industry has a dazzled history of women pioneers. Mother Maybelle Carter created the Carter scratch. Kitty Wells was the first female artist to have her own LP. Patsy Cline paved the way for women to sell records as well as men. And Loretta Lynn was the first woman in country music to have 50 Top 10 hits. Paving the way for Dolly Parton's songwriting strengths, Tammy Wynette's sultry vocals, and Reba McEntire's awarded success, the women on whose shoulders today's stars stand are a present part of Nashville's legacy.

The call of women to the varying notes of the music industry is just as strong today as when Sarah ''Minnie Pearl'' Cannon first graced the Grand Old Opry in 1942. Women have come a long way in the music business, and Nashville continues to celebrate their success in paving the way for tomorrow's high notes. Founded in 1991, Source began the work to unify women executives and professionals that work and succeed in all facets of Nashville's music industry.

With backgrounds as singers, songwriters, pianists, producers, publishers, mothers, wives, sisters, and performers, the honored at the 2010 Source Awards are tied together by the love of music and the stories Nashville tells in the notes she plays. I ask my colleagues to join me in celebrating the accomplishments, vision, and success of the women of Nashville's music industry.

In addition to bringing many of our nation's top athletes together in preparation for the 2012 Summer Games, the Diving Trials are also expected to bring increased tourism to the region and will spotlight the City of Federal Way and the greater Puget Sound Region. In total, USA Diving expects the U.S. Olympic Diving Trials to have an economic impact of $3.5 million on the Federal Way area.

Madam Speaker, please join me in congratulating the City of Federal Way, Washington on this impressive opportunity, and to wish our athletes the best as they prepare for this competition.

IN TRIBUTE TO THE BREEZY POINT COOPERATIVE CELEBRATING THEIR 50TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. ANTHONY D. WEINER

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. WEINER. Madam Speaker, I rise to recognize the Breezy Point Cooperative for 50 years of service to the Breezy Point, Roxbury and Rockaway Point communities, which are located on the Rockaway peninsula in Queens, New York, the most populous barrier island in the country.

Though these beachside communities were founded in the late 19th century, it wasn't until 1960 that residents banded together to save the peninsula from being sold out to developers. On November 17 of that year, the Breezy Point Cooperative was organized and a few months later purchased the land that currently comprises Breezy Point. Members of the community sometimes refer to it as ''Cois Farraige'', Gaelic for ''By the Sea.''

The Cooperative fought tirelessly with and alongside the federal government and the National Park Service to preserve the breathtaking and resplendent scenes of nature that surrounded the area, and the Gateway National Recreation area was developed around Breezy Point, where Gateway continues to be one of the greatest treasures Queens County has to offer.

There are several civic groups in Breezy that also deserve recognition at the time of this anniversary. The Roxbury People's Association, headed by Katherine Sebale, the Point Breeze Association, headed by Christopher Stokes, and the Rockaway Point Association, headed by Tom MacLellan, are all organizations that work tirelessly to better their community and strengthen the heart and soul of Breezy Point.

The story of the Breezy Point Cooperative is a story of a community that relies on the strength of its leaders and citizens, and I would like to memorialize this great milestone of 50 years of service and dedication to bettering the community and its neighbors. I wish the residents of Breezy, as well as the General Manager of the cooperative, Arthur Lighthall, the other members of the cooperative's management Denise Neibel, Patricia Kirby, Dennis Dier, Edward Ammirati, and the Board of Directors of the cooperative, Joseph Lynch, Kerry Schreiner-Cardaio, Barney Cassidy, George Donley, Brendan Gallagher, Martin Ingram, Joseph Kerrigan, Robert Pierson, Matthew Regan, Arthur J. Smith, Thomas Sullivan, Donatina Trotter, John Tully, Thomas Wipf and Robert Lee, congratulations on this important milestone and wish them many happy returns on this happy occasion.

Again, I express my strong support for House Resolution 5849 and look forward to its implementation.

UNITED STATES PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2010

SPEECH OF

HON. HENRY C. "HANK" JOHNSON, JR.

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, July 28, 2010

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to support H.R. 5874, the United States Patent and Trademark Office Supplemental Appropriations Act of 2010. This bill will help reduce backlogs in processing patent applications. I am a proud to have voted with a majority of the House to pass this important piece of legislation.

Processing patents is crucial to the U.S. economy. In order for our nation to thrive in a global economy, it is essential that patent and trademark applications are processed in a timely and efficient manner. Currently, the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) can take an average of nearly three years to complete the examination of a patent application and has maintained a backlog of unexamined applications for several years. At this time, there are approximately 1.2 million patent applications in the system with more than 750,000 awaiting review by a USPTO patent examiner. The more time patent applications are waiting to be reviewed, the longer the U.S. goes without an invention that can spur economic growth.

Specifically, H.R. 5874 provides up to $129 million, fully offset, to help prevent additional backlogs in the processing of patent applications. With this funding, the USPTO will be able to hire additional staff and afford to pay necessary overtime to prevent additional backlogs.

Patents are critical to American innovation and economic growth. An efficient patent examination system will foster innovation and job creation by ensuring that individuals and small businesses have the ability to protect their intellectual property and continue to create new products.

Again, I am a proud supporter of this supplemental appropriations bill for the USPTO. I am proud to have voted with a majority of the House yesterday to pass this vital legislation.

Mr. BARRETT of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, unfortunately, I missed the following recorded votes on the House floor on Monday, July 26, 2010.

HONORING VALERIE HENRY

HON. GREG WALDEN

OF OREGON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. WALDEN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute and express sincere gratitude to Valerie Henry, who after 13 years of work on Capitol Hill, including seven years of service to the people of Oregon's Second Congressional District, is departing this institution today to become, as she puts it, full-time CEO of her household as she continues to raise her two wonderful children.

Valerie has become very well-respected in the Congress as a sharp-as-a-tack policy aide in health care, education, taxes, budget issues, and telecommunications. But don't just take my word for it. In 2005, the National Rural Health Association bestowed on her the NRHA Legislative Staff Award in recognition of her ongoing commitments to improving the health care of rural Americans.

Valerie was born and raised just across the Potomac River in Alexandria, Virginia. She learned the value of representative democracy from her mom (Virginia Franco) who served for 30 years as the deputy registrar of voters for the city of Alexandria and oversaw the administration of hundreds of local, State and Federal elections.

After graduating from her beloved Virginia Tech in 1997, she began her career on Capitol Hill as an intern for her home State senator and quintessential statesman, Senator John Warner. That internship eventually translated into a full-time job. She worked for Senator Warner through the historic impeachment proceedings of President Bill Clinton.

While in Senator Warner's office, she also met her future husband, Patrick Henry, who worked for Senator Warner in his committee office. Pat remains a dedicated public servant, serving now as Special Agent in the U.S. Secret Service, and is one heck of a good guy.

In 1999, Valerie joined the staff of Idaho Senator MIKE CRAPO shortly after he was sworn in as United States Senator. It was there, Madam Speaker, that Valerie says she developed her love for policy analysis and an appreciation for the impact that the Federal government has on the lives of individuals.

A brief stint downtown with a health law and lobbying firm confirmed for Valerie that Capitol Hill was where her talents could best be put to use. So in April 2003, Valerie returned to the Hill as a legislative assistant in my Washington, D.C. office, where she faithfully served the people of Oregon's Second Congressional District for the next seven years.

Through those years, Madam Speaker, Valerie provided essential guidance to me on several historic legislative measures, including the Medicare Modernization Act and the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

I and my staff celebrated when Valerie and Pat welcomed their first child in 2005—a daughter, Carlson "Carly" Jean Henry, named after Valerie, and again in 2009 when their son, Patrick "Trip" Timothy Henry III, was born. Carly and Trip are great kids, and fortunate to have such loving parents.

Madam Speaker, it is these precious legacies that have lured Valerie away from our beloved House on Capitol Hill to her home in Falls Church, Virginia.

I speak for all of Oregon's Second District, and this historic institution, when I say "thank you" to Valerie Henry for her selfless and valuable service over these years.

Madam Speaker, I will greatly miss Valerie's highly informed counsel and wonderfully infectious personality. And I know the staff will miss the camaraderie that Valerie brought to the office every single day. While we might prefer not to lose her invaluable professional contributions, we are comforted knowing that our friend will never be that far away.

HONORING REAR ADMIRAL LEROY COLLINS, JR.

HON. GUS M. BILIRAKIS

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of Rear Admiral Leroy Collins, Jr., who was taken from this world after a tragic accident in South Tampa.

A graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, Admiral Collins continued to serve our country first on active duty and then in the Naval Reserves for 34 years. He continued his dedication to country as an advocate for veterans' health and economic well being in his role as Executive Director of the Florida Department of Veterans' Affairs.

At 75, Admiral Collins was still an active member of the community. In addition to maintaining a rigorous athletic schedule, he served on the boards of Tampa General Hospital, Collins Center for Public Policy, S.S. American Victory, and the Armed Forces Financial Network.

I know that his wife, children, and grandchildren played an enormous role in his life and brought him great joy. It is with great sympathy that I extend my condolences to his family. I am honored to have known Admiral Collins. He has truly served our community, State, and country well and will be missed.

HONORING THE MEMORY OF REV. HAROLD BLACKBURN

HON. JO BONNER

OF ALABAMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. BONNER. Madam Speaker, I rise to pay homage to the memory of a much beloved servant of the Lord—and good friend to many in South Alabama—who recently passed away at the age of 93.

For some, a career of nearly two decades working for the phone company would be the foundation of their life, yet for Harold Blackburn, a native of Citronelle, Alabama, it was just a warm-up. He was destined for a higher calling.

After 19 years at South Central Bell, Mr. Blackburn traded his business clothes for the cloth, becoming a minister of the Lord.

For the next 36 years, Reverend Blackburn—or Brother Harold as he was affectionately known—embarked upon a grand journey that took him from the pulpit to the field, first serving as pastor for a number of Southern Baptist churches all across Alabama.

From the church sanctuary, Reverend Blackburn turned his message to outreach, becoming Director of Missions, serving churches in Clarke and Chambers counties for 23 years, and then leading Baldwin County church missions programs for another 13 years.

Reverend Blackburn loved nature and was also an avid hunter. In his retirement years in Silverhill, Alabama, he was well known for his interest in taxidermy.

Without question, this man of incredible faith lived a long and remarkable life with a legacy of dear friends that literally stretches from one end of the state to the other.

In this time of deep personal loss, I offer my condolences to his wife and childhood sweetheart, Miriam, their two daughters, Carol Ann and Deborah Kay, their six grandchildren, and 19 great grandchildren.

Make no mistake: he loved his family, his friends, his country and his God, and not necessarily in that order.

Rev. Blackburn's life was an inspiration to everyone he met and his memory will long linger in our hearts. May he rest in peace.

HONORING SOJOURN TO THE PAST ON ITS 10TH ANNIVERSARY

SPEECH OF

HON. LAURA RICHARDSON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 26, 2010

Ms. RICHARDSON. Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of H. Res. 1058, which honors and praises the Sojourn to the Past organization on the occasion of its 10th anniversary. This resolution recognizes an important educational program that helps students understand the invaluable role of the Civil Rights Movement in our Nation's moral and social development.

I thank Chairman MILLER for his leadership in bringing this measure to the floor. I also thank the sponsor of this resolution, Congressman Louis, whose role in the Civil Rights Movement and work as a public servant has made the United States a more tolerant and democratic country.

Madam Speaker, the Civil Rights Movement was a transformative experience for the United States. It helped our Nation grow out of a culture of bigotry, segregation, and oppression, and extend the democratic freedoms promised by our Nation's founders to people that had, for more than two centuries, been deemed second-class citizens. It elevated our moral standing in the world and brought our Nation closer to meeting the ideals set forth in our founding documents.

It is absolutely essential that every high school student in the United States understands the moral gravity and massive historical significance of the Civil Rights Movement. The Sojourn to the Past project helps us achieve this goal. Established in 1999, the Sojourn to the Past project takes high school students on a 10-day excursion along the path of the Civil Rights Movement in the southern United States, engaging them with historical sites and talks with prominent veteran leaders of the movement. The longest running civil rights education program in the United States, the program has conducted 55 sojourns and introduced over 5,000 high school juniors and seniors to the lessons, locations, and leaders of the Civil Rights Movement.

Madam Speaker, the Civil Rights Movement is not only a vital part of our past, but its lessons are instructive in the ongoing efforts to end violence, discrimination, hatred, and inequality in the United States and across the world. The work of the Sojourn to the Past program is extremely commendable. It instills in our future leaders the knowledge and understanding needed to bring continued moral and social progress to our Nation.

I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this resolution.

Mr. LYNCH. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor of Stephen J. Braverman, in recognition of his outstanding contributions to senior citizens in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and to commend him for eighteen years of service to Hebrew SeniorLife and the Institute for Aging Research.

CELEBRATING THE 65TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OF FRED AND BETTY WILLIAMS

HON. KENNY MARCHANT

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. MARCHANT. Madam Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the 65th anniversary of the marriage of Fred and Betty Williams. Fred and Betty embody all that marriage should be: fidelity, loyalty, and a strong bond formed by love. They, and all that they have done to help their communities throughout their lives, are typical of the hard-working Americans we represent across our great Nation.

I have known Fred and Betty for almost 40 years, beginning when I attended college with their son Larry at Southern Nazarene University. Married in Longview, Texas, on August 30, 1945, they worked for years at Sears—Fred for 33, and Betty for 8, after a career at JC Penney. After retirement, they moved to Carrollton, Texas, where they embarked on an active retirement in politics, as church volunteers, and as donors to those less fortunate than themselves.

Since moving to Carrollton, the Williams' dedication to the town and area has been unmatched. Fred has served two terms as the Denton County Grand Juror and two terms on the Denton County Appraisal Review Board. Additionally, both Betty and Fred have served as polling place election judges and assistants for over a decade throughout north Texas; including Dallas, Carrollton, Denton County, Farmers Branch Independent School District, and Lewisville Independent School District.

Fred and Betty have been involved in the Church of Nazarene for 60 years. Both have taught Sunday School, sang in the choir, worked with children and youth, and held official positions within the church—Fred as church treasurer and Betty as missionary society president. Furthermore, they have helped clean the church for 10 years, and conducted various duties for the benefit of missionaries, pastors, evangelists, and college students.

Fred and Betty embody the best of the American spirit of hard work and dedication to neighbors and community. They have raised three great children in addition to everything else they have done to improve the environment in which they live. It is with recognition of these accomplishments that I ask all of my distinguished colleagues to join me in honoring and thanking the Williams for their lifetime of service and congratulating them on 65 years of marriage.

CONGRATULATING COAST GUARD ACADEMY ON 100TH ANNIVERSARY

SPEECH OF

HON. BETTY McCOLLUM

OF MINNESOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, July 27, 2010

Ms. McCOLLUM. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the United States Coast Guard Academy on its 100 years of operation in New London, Connecticut and in support of H. Con. Res. 258, sponsored by my friend and colleague, Mr. COURTNEY of Connecticut. Congratulations are due to the Commandant, the Superintendent, dedicated staff, cadets and all graduates of this fine U.S. Service Academy.

The U.S. Coast Guard Academy has educated and developed a century of U.S. leaders of character who have led and continue to lead men and women in the Coast Guard's unique role as a multi-mission, maritime military force. I am proud of those Minnesotans from my congressional district who have gone on to become leaders.

The role of the U.S. Coast Guard has grown beyond maritime safety and security. Particularly since the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001, the Coast Guard has answered the call to serve our community, country and fellow citizens through critical service in protection of natural resources, management of maritime traffic, commerce and navigation and our national defense.

Madam Speaker, I am honored to submit this statement in honor of 100 years of excellence at the United States Coast Guard Academy. All Americans are fortunate to benefit from the leadership and service of its graduates.

The citizens of Morgan County have been served by Commercial Bank's one location in downtown West Liberty since the bank's founding 100 years ago. Like the other locally-owned banks across my district, Commercial Bank has a conservative lending approach that provides stability and security for the community. The bank is owned by 25 local investors in partnership with the employees of the institution.

Commercial Bank is dedicated to the local community and supports numerous activities that make West Liberty and Morgan County such a special place. The bank and its employees have been longtime supporters of civic clubs, youth sports, the local school system, and the annual Morgan County Sorghum Festival.

TRIBUTE TO CAPTAIN FRANK ROBERTS (RET.)

HON. GLENN C. NYE

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. NYE. Madam Speaker, I rise today in tribute to Captain Frank Roberts (ret.), a longtime resident of Virginia Beach and a lifelong public servant, on the occasion of his retirement from the Hampton Roads Military and Federal Facilities Alliance.

Frank Roberts is a 1969 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and had a distinguished 27-year active duty career with the U.S. Navy, retiring with rank of Captain. One of only 300 aviators ever to surpass 1000 carrier arrested landings, Frank is a graduate of the ''Topgun'' Navy Fighter Weapons School and the Naval War College. He has always welcomed professional challenges and never declined an opportunity to serve his country. The list of Frank's active duty assignments is long and many Naval personnel, both uniformed and civilian, count themselves fortunate for the opportunity to have served with, and learned from, Frank Roberts.

Upon his retirement from the U.S. Navy in 1996, Frank was employed by OC, Incorporated and provided military analytical support to the Joint Warfighting Center. From 1997 to 2003, Frank served as the Vice President and Director of Hampton Roads operations for Battlespace, Inc., where he supported joint unmanned aerial vehicle (UAV) experimentation at U.S. Joint Forces Command (USJFCOM). From 2003 to 2006, Frank was employed by Old Dominion University Research Foundation and was assigned to USJFCOM to lead the Joint Operational Test Bed System UAV experimentation program focused on transforming intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance capabilities.

The Hampton Roads area was fortunate when Frank Roberts stepped in as the first Executive Director of the Hampton Roads Military and Federal Facilities Alliance in 2006. The communities that comprise the Alliance—Chesapeake, Franklin, Hampton, Newport News, Norfolk, Poquoson, Portsmouth, Suffolk, Virginia Beach, Williamsburg, Isle of Wight, James City and York—selected Frank to lead the Alliance because of his expertise, his experience, his work ethic, and his dedication. Hampton Roads has played a critical role in America's national and homeland defense for generations. In Frank, the Alliance found an effective and tireless advocate on behalf of the region's unique capabilities and the Commonwealth's contributions to protecting our nation. During a time of great change and uncertainty due in part to the Base Realignment and Closure Commission, Frank's tenure as the head of HRMFFA will be remembered for his steadfast leadership as he navigated the Alliance through choppy waters to calmer seas.

Frank has been buoyed in his professional career by a loving family at home—his wife Joan, his son Jim, his late daughter Andrea and his grandchildren, Reagan and Lucas, have been a source of love and support. On behalf of the Second Congressional District, I would like to thank Frank Roberts and the Roberts family for his many years of public service to Virginia and to our nation. Frank Roberts is someone who answered the call to serve his country, and his service has made a difference. We wish you well, Frank, and hope you know how deeply grateful we are for your contributions.

HONORING THE SERVICE AND DEDICATION OF RUSSELL T. VOUGHT

HON. JEB HENSARLING

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. HENSARLING. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor Russell T. Vought's service to the United States Congress, our nation and the cause of individual liberty.

Russ began his service to the Congress immediately following his graduation from Wheaton College (Illinois) in 1998. After working briefly for retiring Senator Dan Coats, Russ joined the staff of Texas' senior senator and my political mentor, Senator Phil Gramm. During the four years Russ served on Senator Gramm's policy staff, he became a student of legislative procedure and mastered federal budget policy.

Russ joined my staff as Policy Director shortly after I was sworn-into office in 2003. He served as my top advisor on budget issues and worked tirelessly to help me develop the Family Budget Protection Act, which was heralded by pro-taxpayer organizations as the ''Gold Standard'' of budget enforcement legislation. For several years, Russ provided invaluable counsel to me on tax, entitlement and spending policy and worked with me to author three federal fiscal year budgets.

When I was elected Chairman of the Republican Study Committee for the 110th Congress, I asked Russ to become the committee's Executive Director. Russ worked with me and the 100-plus members of the committee with integrity and an unwavering devotion to the conservative principles that we share.

At the beginning of the 111th Congress, my friend Chairman MIKE PENCE asked Russ to serve the House Republican Conference as his Policy Director. In addition to managing the Conference's policy staff, which is the main hub of information and analysis for all Republican House Members and their staff, he serves as its principal advisor on a broad range of issues, specializing in budget, appropriations, Social Security, legislative procedure, and entitlements.

As Russ' work with me and my colleagues comes to a close, I reflect most fondly upon the unpopular and lonely legislative battles that we faced together. As a wise person once said, ''True friendship isn't about being there when it's convenient; it's about being there when it's not.''

I take heart knowing that Russ's service to the cause of liberty will continue in whichever path he chooses for his life. He personifies the conservative movement and his devotion to the constitutional, limited government principles is second-to-none.

Madam Speaker, I wish my conservative brother and, most importantly, my friend Russ Vought, best wishes for the future.

HONORING THE COMMISSIONING OF THE USS MISSOURI

HON. W. TODD AKIN

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. AKIN. Madam Speaker, today I rise to commemorate the commissioning of the USS Missouri to take place tomorrow, the 31st of July, and to congratulate the crew of the newest addition to the United States naval fleet.

USS Missouri is the nation's newest and most advanced nuclear-powered attack submarine. This vessel was designed to not require refueling during the life of the ship—a feature that will reduce lifecycle costs while increasing underway time.

The Missouri is 377 feet long and 34 feet wide, and is capable of traveling in both shallow and deep waters. Specially designed for undersea warfare, she can dive deeper than 800 feet and is capable of operating speeds exceeding 25 knots while submerged.

Weighing 7,800 tons, Missouri is a Virginia-class submarine engineered to excel in anti-submarine and anti-surface warfare, special operations missions, strike, intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance, carrier and expeditionary strike group support, and mine warfare missions.

The soon-to-be-commissioned submarine embodies five of the six Navy maritime strategy core capabilities including sea control, power projection, forward presence, maritime security, and deterrence.

The seventh of the Virginia-class of submarines to join the U.S. Navy, the Missouri was built under a teaming arrangement by General Dynamics Electric Boat and Northrop Grumman Shipbuilding-Newport News.

She is scheduled to be commissioned on July 31st at Naval Submarine Base New London in Groton, CT, and will join Submarine Squadron 4 under the leadership of Commander Timothy Rexrode with a crew totalling 134 officers and enlisted personnel.

Following the commissioning of the Missouri on Saturday, she will be the fifth Navy ship to bear the name honoring the ''Show Me State.'' The fourth such ship was the famous battleship which served in World War II, the Korean War, and the Persian Gulf War. It was aboard this predecessor of the Missouri that the United States and Allied officers, among them Fleet Adm. Chester Nimitz and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, accepted the unconditional surrender of Japanese forces marking the end of World War II on September 2, 1945.

The people of the great state of Missouri are proud to have a fantastic new ship bearing our state's name. It honors our state and the many men and women from Missouri who proudly serve in the United States Armed Forces.

We expect great accomplishments and a life of unwavering loyalty and service from the newest USS Missouri. It is with great honor that I welcome the USS Missouri to our nation's fleet, the best submarine in the strongest navy in the world.

INTRODUCTION OF A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION EXPRESSING THE SENSE OF THE CONGRESS ON THE CLOSURE OF THE MAIN ENTRANCE OF THE SUPREME COURT

HON. ANNA G. ESHOO

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Ms. ESHOO. Madam Speaker, I rise today to introduce a Resolution expressing the sense of Congress, and, I believe, of the American people, that every American have the opportunity to enter the Supreme Court through its main entrance, as they have been permitted to do since the building first opened.

Our founders vested the Supreme Court with the judicial power of our nation, and gave it the charge to dispense justice. Since 1935, visitors have climbed the marble steps of the Supreme Court and entered the nation's temple of justice through its main entrance, under the words ''Equal Justice Under Law.'' Chief Justice John Roberts, during his confirmation hearing, described the ''lump in his throat'' that formed every time he walked up those marble steps and through that main entrance.

Millions of Americans and visitors from around the world have stepped through those doors to watch the Court work in openness, and to pay tribute to a nation not of men, but of laws.

On May 3, 2010, Chief Justice Roberts announced that the Supreme Court would no longer allow visitors to enter through the main doors of the Supreme Court, closing the main entrance for the first time in nearly 75 years.

Justice Stephen Breyer, joined by Justice Ginsberg, expressed his concern about the closure, stating, ''To many members of the public, this Court's main entrance and front steps are not only a means to, but also a metaphor for, access to the Court itself.''

I encourage all of my colleagues to join me in sending a clear message that access to this most vital symbol of transparency and openness should not be restricted.

RECOGNIZING THE BICENTENNIAL OF SOUTH MIDDLETON TOWNSHIP, PENNSYLVANIA

HON. TODD RUSSELL PLATTS

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. PLATTS. Madam Speaker, I rise to recognize South Middleton Township, Pennsylvania on its 200th Birthday.

Established in 1810, South Middleton Township is comprised of approximately 52 square miles and has a population of almost 14,500. A wonderful community in which to live, work, and play, the Township is bordered on the north by Carlisle Borough, North Middleton Township, and Middlesex Township. To the east is Monroe Township and to the south are York and Adams Counties. Dickinson Township borders South Middleton to the west. The Township is predominantly a rural farming community and forested area. Approximately 75 percent of the land is used for farming, forest, or woodland. South Middleton Township was created when the area known as Middleton was divided into North Middletorn and South Middleton. The governing body consists of five elected supervisors and an appointed township manager.

Madam Speaker, the observance of the 200th Birthday of South Middleton Township provides a special opportunity to pay tribute to the citizens of the township, past and present, who have contributed immeasurably to the township's wonderful quality of life. South Middleton Township will be celebrating the Bicentennial all summer long with parades, picnics, and events at local venues. Over Memorial Day the Township had floats accompanied by veterans in both the Boiling Springs and Carlisle Memorial Day parades. Labor Day will conclude the official Bicentennial celebrations and will include a fireworks display. I encourage all of my constituents, whether South Middleton residents or visitors, to attend these gatherings and commemorate the Township's birth. It is with heartfelt wishes that I recognize South Middletown Township on its 200th Birthday.

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, Lt. Col. Albert Barry, USMC, Retired (1936–2007) served his country honorably for almost a half-century before battling Glioblastoma, an aggressive brain cancer. Al Barry's wish to make patients receiving medical treatment more comfortable during illness recovery is now being carried out by his wife, Liz Taylor-Barry, through the Al Barry Foundation.

The Al Barry Foundation created Barry Basics, a modular medical apparel line, to provide patients with a product that emphasizes convenience, range of motion, and comfort. The medical apparel offers upper and lower body garments that encourage movement with their flexible snap closures and various removable pieces. Barry Basics carries a women's line, men's line, children's line, and a breast cancer line. They also produce almost all apparel in the USA and work with Clemson Apparel Research, CAR.

TOLEDO FACILITY PROUD TO SPEARHEAD KRAFT FOODS EFFORTS TO DOUBLE WHOLE GRAIN IN CRACKER PRODUCTS

HON. MARCY KAPTUR

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Ms. KAPTUR. Madam Speaker, this week, Kraft Foods announced plans to significantly increase the whole grain content in its leading Nabisco cracker brands, more than doubling the amount of whole grain currently used.

I am privileged to share this announcement which has been made possible through thousands of hours of research and testing, investment in innovation and capital at the company's Toledo Mill. The tireless work of the Toledo Mill employees who make the quality whole grain flours that will be important ingredients in many of these products.

As the largest flour mill in east of the Mississippi and the largest soft wheat mill in North America, the Toledo Mill employs nearly 100 workers who labor tirelessly to produce 3.1 million pounds of flour daily.

Kraft Foods has spent four years and invested millions of dollars in its flour milling technology, recipe development and testing to find ways to add more, whole grain to its popular cracker brands which culminated in a multimillion dollar investment at the Toledo Mill.

The whole grain flours produced in Toledo will double the amount of whole grain in Original Wheat Thins from 11g to 22g per serving; more than triple the amount in Wheat Thins Toasted Chips from 5g to 17g per serving; and quadruple the amount in Honey Maid Original Graham Crackers from 5g to 20g per serving. Whole grain will also be added to Premium and Ritz crackers.

This week's announcement by Kraft highlights a commitment to ensure that by 2013, the company expects Nabisco crackers will contribute more than 9 billion servings of whole grain to American diets each year.

Kraft's commitment comes at a time when the American people and Congress are examining our diets and attempting to address an alarming increase in obesity rates.

The Institute of Medicine has recommended that at least half of the grains we consume should be rich in whole grains and, based on today's announcement, the Toledo mill will serve as a cornerstone in our regions effort to remain the center of a national network feeding our people.

The nutrition benefits of whole grains include fiber, B vitamins, and minerals. Eating whole grains at recommended levels as part of a healthy diet can also help reduce risk of heart disease, may help with weight maintenance and may lower risk for other chronic diseases. Today, most Americans only get about one serving (16g) of whole grain a day, compared with the recommended minimum three servings (at least 48g) per day.

Americans are increasingly conscious of the quality of their diet. They want and deserve healthful products that taste good and are good for them. The men and women who work at the Toledo Mill are proud of this important contribution to increasing the range of healthful products available to all of us.

I offer my heartiest congratulations to Kraft Foods, and my appreciation to Kraft's Toledo Mill employees.

KRAFT FOODS ANNOUNCES PLANS TO DOUBLE THE AMOUNT OF WHOLE GRAIN IN NABISCO CRACKERS

9 BILLION SERVINGS OF WHOLE GRAIN EXPECTED ANNUALLY BY 2013

NORTHFIELD, IL (July 26, 2010).—Kraft Foods announced plans today to significantly increase the whole grain content in its leading Nabisco cracker brands, more than doubling the amount of whole grain currently used across the Nabisco portfolio. Over the next three years, some of America's favorite cracker brands, including Wheat Thins, Honey Maid, Premium and Ritz will include more whole grain. By 2013, the company expects Nabisco crackers will contribute more than 9 billion servings of whole grain to American diets each year.

''Nine out of ten Americans eat less than the recommended daily amount of whole grains,'' said Rhonda Jordan, President, Global Health & Wellness, Kraft Foods. ''And a growing number of consumers are trying to increase their consumption of whole grains. By significantly increasing the amount of whole grain in our crackers, we're giving them an easy, delicious way to get the whole grain they need in the foods they already enjoy.''

Kraft Foods began to transform its cracker portfolio in August 2009 when it increased the whole grain content of Original and Reduced-Fat Wheat Thins from 5g to 11g per 31g serving. In continuing this effort, the company plans to increase whole grain in more than 100 products over the next three years, including:

Doubling the amount of whole grain in Original Wheat Thins from 11g to 22g per serving;

More than tripling the amount in Wheat Thins Toasted Chips from 5g to 17g per serving;

Quadrupling the amount in Honey Maid Original Graham Crackers from 5g to 20g per serving; and Adding whole grain to Premium and Ritz crackers.

With these improvements, a number of products, including Original Wheat Thins and Honey Maid Original Graham Crackers, will be made with 100% whole grain.

Most Americans only get about one serving (16g) of whole grain a day, compared with the recommended minimum three servings (at least 48g) per day, which means they could be missing the important nutrition benefits that whole grain offers. Eating a variety of foods to reach the recommended amount of three or more servings of whole grains can help consumers get fiber, B vitamins, and minerals like iron and magnesium.

COMBINING THE GOODNESS OF WHOLE GRAIN WITH THE TASTE CONSUMERS LOVE

Kraft Foods has spent four years and invested significant resources in its flour milling technology, recipe development and testing to find ways to add more whole grain to its popular cracker brands. The company will be using whole grain wheat flour to increase the whole grain content of these products. Whole grain wheat flour is milled using the entire wheat kernel (bran, endosperm and germ) to offer the benefits of whole grain.

''It was critical for us to get the recipe right to deliver the benefits of whole grain without sacrificing the taste consumers expect from their favorite crackers,'' said Carlos Abrams Rivera, Vice President for Nabisco crackers. ''Just adding whole grain can change a product's flavor and, in the case of crackers, can make them denser and grittier. But the combination of the right recipe and ingredients can help us maintain delicious taste and texture while adding significant levels of whole grain.''

ACCELERATING HEALTH AND WELLNESS EFFORTS

Today's announcement is a continuing demonstration of Kraft Foods' commitment to health and wellness. Earlier this year, the company announced plans to reduce sodium by an average of 10% across its North American portfolio of products, including crackers. And over the past five years, Kraft Foods has reformulated about one in four products in the United States to make them better for consumers.

''We're accelerating our efforts in health and wellness because it's good for consumers and good for business,'' said Jordan. ''Whether it's adding more whole grain, reducing sodium or removing calories from our products, we're making the foods consumers love even better.''

ABOUT KRAFT FOODS

With annual revenues of approximately $48 billion, Kraft Foods is a global powerhouse in snacks, confectionery and quick meals. The company is the world's second largest food company, making delicious products for billions of consumers in more than 160 countries. The portfolio includes 11 iconic brands with revenues exceeding $1 billion—Oreo, Nabisco and LU biscuits; Milka and Cadbury chocolates; Trident gum; Jacobs and Maxwell House coffees; Philadelphia cream cheeses; Kraft cheeses, dinners and dressings; and Oscar Mayer meats. Approximately 70 brands generate annual revenues of more than $100 million. Kraft Foods (www.kraftfoodscompany.com; NYSE: KFT) is a member of the Dow Jones Industrial Average, Standard & Poor's 500, Dow Jones Sustainability Index and Ethibel Sustainability Index.

JAMES ZADROGA 9/11 HEALTH AND COMPENSATION ACT OF 2010

SPEECH OF

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak on H.R. 847—The 9/11 Health and Compensation Act.

There have been few events in our history as traumatic as the attacks our nation suffered on September 11, 2001. The lives of millions of Americans were changed on that day. People in New York were devastated. Yet the incredible response by people all over this great country reminded us of the generous and caring people we Americans are.

Now many of those people who came from every state in the country need our help. They were willing to put their own health at risk to help their neighbors. We now have the opportunity to repay them for their courageous actions.

H.R. 847—the 9/11 Health and Compensation Act will do just that. It will provide critical health monitoring and treatment and compensate these angels of mercy for their economic sacrifices.

We are pleased that this bill is revenue neutral. But we could never place a monetary value on the bravery and service of these heroes. I urge my colleagues in the House to do right by these brave Americans. Passing this bill will be another noble act in our nation's proud heritage.

NATIONAL HEALTH CENTER WEEK

HON. MARSHA BLACKBURN

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Madam Speaker, across the country partnerships built of people, governments, and communities are coming together offering health services to local patients. Health care centers serve 20 million people nationally and improve access to care for millions of Americans. I rise today in support of National Health Center Week and two centers, Three Rivers Community Health Center and Perry County Medical Center, who are celebrating accordingly.

Built by community initiative, health care centers are community-driven and patient-centered. In 23 centers, over 300,000 patients are treated throughout the great state of Tennessee. Regardless of insurance status or ability to pay, patients receive preventative and accessible care when healthcare is needed but scarce. The Three Rivers and Perry County Centers focus on high-need areas identified by elevated poverty, higher than average infant mortality, and few physicians in residence.

By reducing costly emergency, hospital, and specialty care, Community Health Centers save the health care system $24 billion a year. During National Health Center Week, we celebrate the care offered to the nation's most vulnerable populations. I ask my colleagues to join me in thanking the Three Rivers Community Health and Perry County Medical Centers for providing access to affordable, high quality, and cost-effective health care to the citizens of the 7th District.

H.R. 4173, THE DODD-FRANK WALL STREET REFORM AND CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT CLARIFICATION OF INTENT WITH RESPECT TO TITLE V

HON. DENNIS MOORE

OF KANSAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. MOORE of Kansas. Madam Speaker, as a House conferee and the chief sponsor of H.R. 2571, the Nonadmitted and Reinsurance Reform Act, that was included in the conference report for H.R. 4173, the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, I want to make several important clarifications of intent on the final language. The President signed the Dodd-Frank Act into law last week (P.L. 111–203).

With respect to Sec. 533(5) of the Dodd-Frank Act, the definition of ''reinsurer'' is not to be construed narrowly, thereby limiting or avoiding the intent of Congress with respect to Title V, Subtitle B, Part II.

Additionally, Sections 531 and 532 of the Dodd-Frank Act entitled ''Regulation of Credit for Reinsurance and Reinsurance Agreements'' and ''Regulation of Reinsurer Solvency'', respectively, are also not to be construed narrowly so as to limit or avoid the intent of Congress with respect to Title V, Subtitle B, Part II. Furthermore, the clear intent of Section 532 in the manner it is written and should be understood is that the regulation of reinsurer solvency, pursuant to the Dodd-Frank Act, includes the NAIC Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation Program's laws and regulations.

Finally, in order to ensure the States are appropriately implementing the Nonadmitted and Reinsurance Reform Act, it is the intent of Congress that the Study and Report on Regulation of Insurance required pursuant to Title V, Subtitle A, Sec. 502 of the Dodd-Frank Act include an evaluation of each State's compliance with Title V, Subtitle B.

SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2010

SPEECH OF

HON. RUSH D. HOLT

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, July 27, 2010

Mr. HOLT. Madam Speaker, this bill has not improved since the House voted on it earlier this year. This bill spends money on training police in Afghanistan as communities in New Jersey lay off police officers because of budget shortfalls. Our first responsibility to our citizens is to help keep them safe in their homes and their communities. This bill does the opposite: It allocates billions more for a war that cannot be won militarily while allowing our own communities to become much easier targets of crime and violence. Moreover, this bill is paid for by borrowing more money from countries like China, and it violates President

Obama's pledge that the funding for our actions in Iraq and Afghanistan would be done through the usual appropriations process. By passing this unfunded bill, we will be adding tens of billions of dollars in new debt. I cannot support such reckless policy.

Further, the bill does not include funding that is essential to stop massive layoffs among teachers and other public servants we count on. The recession that began in 2008—the worst economic crisis since the Great Depression—has hit our communities hard, forcing school districts to layoff teachers and cut services. Previously, the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act made several sound investments in public education to keep teachers in the classroom and help school districts avoid painful cuts.

Most, if not all, of this emergency funding has been spent.

I cannot in good conscience vote for a bill that is so at odds with the most basic of our values, and I urge my colleagues to join me in voting against it.

RECOGNIZING N. PATRICK RANGE, SR.

HON. KENDRICK B. MEEK

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. MEEK of Florida. Madam Speaker, today I rise to recognize and congratulate Mr. N. Patrick Range, Sr., a friend as well as a constituent in my Congressional district and recipient of this year's Robert H. Miller Professional of the Year Award. He will be honored by the National Funeral Directors and Mortician's Association during its 2010 convention in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Mr. Range is the third Floridian nominated for the award, named after Mr. Miller, the first NFDMA executive director. It is because of his outstanding service and commitment that he undoubtedly deserves this great honor for his many years of devotion to the South Florida community.

''He's had a significant role in supporting colleagues and in serving the community in a comparable manner,'' said Henry Postell, president of the Florida Mortician Association. ''Professionalism is there regardless of the families' financial situation.''

Mr. Range is the current owner of Range Funeral Homes of Greater Miami, founded in 1953. He has been in the funeral industry as a licensed funeral director and embalmer for over 50 years. He obtained his license in 1965 after matriculating at the New England Institute of Anatomy following the death of his father and founder of Range Funeral Homes, Oscar L. Range, Sr., in 1960.

After obtaining his license, Mr. Range returned to Miami to partner with ''my mentor, my guide, my inspiration, my mom,'' M. Athalie Range, in a relationship that would last 45 years in the family-owned funeral home. After his mother's death in 2006, Mr. Range continued his parents' legacy as the principal of Range Funeral Homes.

A member of the Epsilon Nu Delta Mortuary Fraternity, Mr. Range also serves on the advisory board of the Miami-Dade College Department of Funeral Service Education. An active member in a host of other professional organizations, Mr. Range was most recently recognized by his peers as the ''Mortician of the Year'' in 2006 by both the First Regional District of Florida and the State of Florida Mortician's Association. He has done an abundant of fundraising work for mortuary science scholarships and career-related organizations, such as 100 Black Women in Funeral Service.

Madam Speaker, Mr. N. Patrick Range, Sr. is an inspiration not only to the South Florida community, but to the nation at large. Morticians provide a service like no other. The care and dedication you provide our loved ones before their homegoing services stay in our hearts and minds forever. Please join me in applauding the achievements of Mr. Range.

EXPLANATION REGARDING SUBMISSION OF AMENDMENTS TO COMMITTEES

HON. BRAD SHERMAN

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. SHERMAN. Madam Speaker, I should note that I sometimes submit amendments to committees so that they are available for discussion. I do not necessarily support any amendment drafted by myself and my staff unless I formally offer the amendment. Accordingly, no conclusion can be drawn from the process of simply providing the text of a possible amendment to the clerk of any committee.

HONORING JOSEPH H. HAMILTON

HON. JIM COOPER

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. COOPER. Madam Speaker, to a boy from Louisiana, the building blocks of life are food, faith, and a healthy dose of Southern hospitality. Joseph Hamilton, grew up to learn that our world is not so simple.

By January 2010 Hamilton had played a crucial role in an astounding discovery. He helped find something that no one knew existed. His work was critical in forming a multinational research team, and carrying out the discovery of Element 117—Ununseptium—the newest addition to the Periodic Table of Elements.

Hamilton's life started like that of any southern boy. Born in the humble town of Ferriday, Louisiana, he stayed true to his Baptist upbringing. He attended Christian Mississippi College, where God's calling led him to be a physicist. Hamilton then took his studies to Indiana University, where he studied nuclear physics and the elements. Their tiny atoms and their nuclei are invisible except to a select group of scientists with very advanced equipment. For everyone outside this elite group, the existence of atoms and their nuclei is purely a matter of faith. The only way to observe individual atoms of elements is through their impact on the world.

A skeptic may say that Christianity and physics, the two most important parts of Hamilton's life, cannot coexist, but Hamilton disagrees. He has pursued his passion without abandoning his beliefs, and has found that the two go gracefully hand in hand. As a professor at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tennessee, he and his wife have coauthored more than twenty papers on the harmony of physics and religion.

Professor Hamilton has dedicated himself to the growth of his students. Recognizing that they will soon take his place in research, Hamilton has supervised over 60 PhD dissertations and over 100 post-doctoral fellows at Vanderbilt. He includes his students in almost everything he does. One of his few regrets in his storied career is that he did not intimately involve his students in the discovery of Element 117.

Hamilton's research career at Vanderbilt over the last fifty-two years has taken him around the world. Russia, China, Sweden, and Germany have been but a few stops on his journeys. The creation of Element 117 in Dubna, Russia, just north of Moscow, was the result of a multinational project that Hamilton helped create. He believes that scientific discovery is a global effort, not a local one. Collaboration is key because science is one of the few things that unite us all in peaceful ways. Scientific principles apply around the world, regardless of race, creed, and nationality.

The first collaborative project that Hamilton initiated, the University Isotope Separator, has been a key operation at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory for more than forty years. This began as a collaboration of 11 Southeastern universities, ORNL and the State of Tennessee. Hamilton is also a founder of the Joint Institute for Heavy Ion Research, a cooperation of Vanderbilt, the University of Tennessee, and Oak Ridge National Laboratory. This Institute has become a world-class scientific resource. Moreover, this Institute opened doors that helped transform ORNL through the development of three major new joint institutes.

By January 2010, Hamilton's critical role in a joint Russian-American project came to fruition in the creation of six atoms of Element 117. While this new radioactive element has a half-life of only 78 milliseconds faster than the blink of an eye—its discovery points towards a fascinating possibility. Its half-life is longer than that of other recently discovered super heavy elements, and suggests that we may be on the path towards finding new, more stable, super heavy elements.

Hamilton and his coworkers' discovery will be forever emblazoned on the walls of chemistry and physics labs worldwide as the newest member of the Periodic Table of Elements. Generations of scientists will discover Element 117's properties, but no matter what is learned about Element 117, this Southern gentleman will always know that his work added to the building blocks of our world.

CONGRATULATING MAJOR GENERAL ROBERT WILLIAMS ON HIS RETIREMENT

HON. TODD RUSSELL PLATTS

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. PLATTS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Major General Robert Williams, 47th Commandant of the United States Army

War College. Just last month, Major General Williams retired after serving our nation admirably for 36 years.

Major General Williams is a highly decorated officer who served in a number of combat and non-combat assignments. His assignments included: Tank Company Commander in the 4th Battalion, 63d Armor at Fort Riley, Kansas; Executive Officer of the 3d Battalion, 67th Armor at Fort Hood, Texas; Assistant Division Commander (Support) for the 1st Infantry Division in Schweinfurt, Germany; Deputy Chief of Staff, G3/Operations, HQ Allied Command Europe, Rapid Reaction Corps, Moenchengladbach, Germany; and Commanding General of the United States Armor Center at Fort Knox, Kentucky. He was also deployed to Baghdad, Iraq, in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom as the C3 for CJTF–7.

In January 2008, Major General Williams was assigned as the 47th Commandant of the United States Army War College in Carlisle, Pennsylvania. I had the distinct privilege to interact regularly with Major General Williams during his tenure at the Ware College and witnessed first-hand his exemplary leadership. Major General Williams' candor and passion for the Professional Military Education (PME) system helped to strengthen the critically important mission of the War College and thereby enhance the strategic leadership qualities of the College's graduates.

It is with great admiration that I congratulate Major General Williams on his well-deserved retirement and express my heartfelt gratitude for his patriotic service to our nation. I and all Americans are forever indebted to him.

Ms. DEGETTE. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the extraordinary life and exceptional accomplishments of Dr. Evie Garrett Dennis. On August 13, 2010, Dr. Dennis will be honored by the dedication of the Evie Garrett Dennis Campus of the Denver Public Schools. Dr. Dennis served as Superintendent of Denver Public Schools from 1990–1994. She was the first and to date the only African American and woman to hold this position.

Dr. Dennis was born on September 9, 1924, in Canton, Mississippi, the eighth of nine children born to Mrs. Ola Brown Garrett and Rev. Eugene Garrett. A graduate of Cameron Street High School, she married in 1950 and her daughter Pia was born in 1951. After earning her bachelor's degree in Biology from St. Louis University, she worked as a research assistant and associate. In 1958, Dr. Dennis and her daughter moved to Denver, Colorado, where she worked as a researcher and specialist in childhood asthma at the Children's Asthma Research Institute and Hospital, the Jewish National Home for Asthmatic Children, and other medical institutions in the area.

In 1966, Dr. Dennis began her tenure with the Denver Public Schools (DPS) as a math teacher. After earning a Master's degree in education from the University of Colorado in 1971, she worked in the DPS administration. In 1974, she successfully implemented and monitored the U.S. District Court ordered school busing plan. In 1976, she earned a doctorate in education from Nova University. From 1977 to 1989, she served as administrative assistant to the Superintendent of Schools. She was appointed to the position of Deputy Superintendent of DPS in 1989.

In 1990, Dr. Evie Dennis became Superintendent of the DPS. Under her leadership, four innovative educational programs were launched in the district's schools: Expeditionary Learning in partnership with the Upward Bound Program; the Denver School of the Arts; the K–5 International Baccalaureate Program; and the International Studies Program at West High School. She implemented site-based management practices in the system's schools and started the district's educational advisory councils; the Denver Energy, Engineering and Education Program (DEEP); and, the American Israel Student Exchange Program.

Dr. Dennis is also known for the contributions she has made to Denver and the broader world. In 1986 and 1988, Denver Mayor Federico appointed her to the Denver Private Industry Council and the Mayor's Black Advisory Council. In 1994, she received the Nation Builder Award from the National Black Caucus of State Legislators. She received the Russell T. Tutt Award for Excellence in Leadership for Outstanding Leadership in Colorado's nonprofit community in 1999 from the El Pomar Foundation.

Dr. Dennis is a multifaceted, dedicated, and talented woman whose contributions to amateur athletics and the International Olympics are recognized internationally. In 1962, she helped to form the Denver All-Stars which became the Mile High Denver Track Club, in order for her daughter to have opportunities to compete in an era before the existence of a girls' high school track program.

The team was a member of the Amateur Athletic Union, which later became the United States Amateur Athletic Union. Dr. Dennis was a member of the Rocky Mountain Association of the Amateur Athletic Union in 1975. In 1978, she was elected the first female vice-president of the national association. Dr. Dennis served USA Track and Field, Inc. for more than four decades in numerous capacities, including as its first acting president. She has served as a member of the board of Trustees for the U.S. Sports Academy and the USA Track and Field, Inc., and delegate to the International Association of Athletics Federations.

She was the first woman vice president of the United States Olympic Organizing Committee (USOOC) and has been involved with every U.S. Olympics team since 1972. She became a manager of the U.S. Women's Track and Field team for the Montreal Olympics in 1976. She served on the United States Olympic Committee's Task Force on Doping and chaired the Women's and Diversity and Leadership committees. She remains a member of the Governing Bodies Council and became a member of the International Olympic Committee in 1992.

In 1977, as a member of the USOOC, she presented the successful motion to move the headquarters from New York to Colorado Springs, Colorado, which was accomplished in 1978. In 1980, she received the Congressional Gold Medal along with the U.S. Olympic Team. She served as Chef de Mission for the U.S. delegation at the 1998 Summer Olympic Games in Seoul, South Korea. In 1992, she received the Olympic Order for outstanding service to the Olympic cause. In 2004, she was inducted in to the United States Olympic Track and Field Hall of Fame.

Dr. Dennis has authored several papers and articles on public education and childhood asthma. She is a staunch supporter of Title IX, ensuring access to sports for young women. She has been recognized for her many volunteer contributions to various committees, associations, organizations, foundations, and other groups that focus on the advancement of education and the value of sports in our society.

She is a lifetime member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. Dr. Dennis served as president of the Epsilon Nu Omega chapter in Denver and was instrumental in hosting the sorority's national convention in the city in 1972.

Having been inducted into the Colorado Sportswomen Hall of Fame in 1998, Dr. Dennis was then inducted into the Colorado Women's Hall of Fame in 2008 as one who exemplifies the best qualities of the people who have built and sustained Colorado.

Please join me in paying tribute to Dr. Evie Garrett Dennis for her life's work as a distinguished educator, remarkable sportswoman, and global community servant.

IN HONOR OF AND RECOGNITION OF THE BOLZAN FAMILY'S 6TH REUNION

HON. DENNIS J. KUCINICH

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. KUCINICH. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor and recognition of the Bolzan Family's 6th reunion, which will be held in Cleveland, Ohio from July 31 to August 6, 2010 and to acknowledge the family bonds that span generations and continents.

Over 100 descendants of Benvenuto Antonio and Mathilde De Lorenzi Bolzan will gather from around the world in Cleveland, Ohio to celebrate their unbreakable bonds and unwavering support for each other. In a time of widespread use of cell phones, email, and video communication via the internet, it is important to recognize a family that prioritizes in-person interaction with family members.

Of the six original siblings in this family, one remained in Italy while the others emigrated to Argentina, Luxembourg, France, and the United States. As a result, previous family reunions have taken place across Europe, including Italy during World War II, in France, and in Luxembourg. Many family members have chosen to extend their stays to include visits to other locations around the United States. In addition to sharing their fondest memories and exchanging news and other current events, the family has several tours planned during their visit, including those that will showcase Cleveland's cultural and artistic locations. I would like to particularly recognize Robert Milluzzi of Brecksville, Ohio, who is in charge of all of the arrangements for this memorable event.

Madam Speaker and colleagues, please join me in celebrating the Bolzan Family on the occasion of their reunion. May they continue this tradition that celebrates family, love, and commitment to each other for years.

HONORING THE SERVICE AND DEDICATION OF TED CANTER

HON. BART GORDON

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. GORDON of Tennessee. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the service and dedication of Ted Canter, a member of my staff who is leaving my office to pursue a law degree at Emory University.

Ted grew up in Maryland and graduated cum laude from Vanderbilt University with a degree in English. After getting his start on the Hill with the office of Senator Tim Johnson, Ted joined my office as a Legislative Correspondent last fall and was soon promoted to Legislative Assistant. Ted was a welcome addition to the office from the start. He handled his legislative work skillfully and was good-natured to professional contacts, constituents and coworkers alike. His unflappably good manners on the phone were renowned among our staff.

As a Legislative Assistant for education, housing, agriculture and other vital domestic issues, Ted has been a valuable resource to me and to constituents with concerns in these areas. He transitioned easily to the position, quickly grasped the intricacies of the issues, and speaks to the legislative process with the confidence of a veteran staffer. Ted's dedication and enthusiasm for the job helped me to advance my legislative priorities and better serve my constituents.

Madam Speaker, I am certain the qualities that made Ted a fine staffer will make him an equally fine fellow lawyer, and I wish him all the best in the future.

STAFF SERGEANT TONY WINTERS

HON. TED POE

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. POE of Texas. Madam Speaker, it is with great pride and a heavy heart that I honor a fallen Son of Texas today. Staff Sergeant Leston Michael Winters—known to his friends and family as Tony—gave his life in Afghanistan in defense of freedom.

Tony was killed July 15th when an IED exploded near his dismounted patrol. Tony was in the Zhari District of the Kandahar Province. The IED is the weapon of cowards who hide in the shadows. These cowards are too afraid to stand and fight.

Staff Sergeant Tony Winters was all American. He graduated from Hardin-Jefferson High School in 1998. He joined the Army and served as a combat medic.

Medic! Medic! Those are the words that ring out when warriors are injured in battle. And it is the rare breed of medical man who runs to their aid in the heat of the battle. Through the dust and sand and heat of the desert sun, the medic in Afghanistan saves lives.

A combat medic is the bravest kind of warrior—running into the battle to aid the fallen soldier.

Tony was safe and snug serving at a stateside hospital in Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. But last Christmas he decided to transfer to a base that would go into combat.

He wanted to serve on the front lines.

Tony knew full well what that decision meant. You see, he had already served three tours overseas, one in Kosovo and two in Iraq.

Tony knew where his skills would be best used fighting the terrorists who attacked America on September 11th. Tony knew the importance of his job to the war effort. He was a saver of lives in the combat arena. An Army combat medic.

General Douglas MacArthur was speaking of real men like Tony when he spoke those immortal words: Duty, honor, country. Those three hallowed words reverently dictate what you ought to be, what you can be, what you will be.

Tony understood duty and personal sacrifice. He went to Afghanistan to save help save the lives of his warrior brothers and sisters.

Tony is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, sons, Remington and Jonathon, daughter Emma, his parents Kenneth and Cheryl Spivey of Sour Lake, Texas, his sister Alisha Martin of Port Arthur, and brother Cory Hunt also of Sour Lake.

Staff Sergeant Tony Winters will be laid to rest in Arlington National Cemetery in August.

As the early American poet Joseph Drake said, ''And they who for their country die shall fill an honored grave, for glory lights the soldier's tomb, and beauty weeps the brave.''

It is my honor to offer a grateful nation's thanks and prayers. We are grateful that a man like Staff Sergeant Tony Winters lived and loved America.

It was once said that what we do for ourselves dies with us—but what we do for the others and the world remains and is immortal. Tony's life was dedicated to saving the lives of others.

All give some in Afghanistan, but Staff Sergeant Tony Winters gave all. He is an American hero.

I offer my heartfelt condolences to Tony's wife and children and to his friends and family.

Today we honor this great American warrior's life and are humbled by his greatest of sacrifices.

And that's just the way it is.

HONORING GREENE COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPUTY JON WILLIS

HON. G.K. BUTTERFIELD

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. BUTTERFIELD. Madam Speaker, I rise today to call my colleagues' attention to the tragic slaying of a 30-year-old Sheriff's Deputy in my home state of North Carolina.

Greene County Deputy Jon Willis died in the direct line of duty on July 28, 2010 while responding to a domestic disturbance call. During the call, Deputy Willis was shot and killed before the shooter ended his own life.

I have expressed my condolences to Greene County Sheriff Lemmie Smith, and I know that the department and the entire community are shocked and deeply saddened by this tragic event. Flags at the Greene County Courthouse were flown half-staff yesterday as the community paid tribute to Deputy Willis.

The father of two children, Deputy Willis joined the Greene County Sheriffs Office in December 2001, but left for a job at the Winterville Police Department. He returned to the Greene County Sheriff's Office in April 2009.

Deputy Willis' death marks the second time the Greene County Sheriff's Office has lost a deputy in the line of duty. Deputy Ernest Martin Hull died in a vehicle crash on Jan. 2, 2000.

Deputy Willis is also the second area officer to lose his life in the line of duty in the past 15 months. Lenoir County Deputy Allen Pearson was shot and killed in April 2009 near Grifton, N.C.

On average, a law enforcement officer is killed in America every other day. Since 1792, when recordkeeping started, more than 20,000 officers have lost their lives in service to their communities. And sadly, 101 officers have already been killed in the line of duty across the country this year.

This event reminds us of the mortal dangers that our officers face each day in the line of duty.

Madam Speaker, it is with both sadness and pride that I share with you the death of Deputy Jon Willis. I ask my colleagues to join me in wishing his loved ones the strength they require to overcome their loss. God bless Deputy Jon Willis. His bravery, courage, and goodness will never be forgotten by his community or his state.

IDA PROTECTION ACT OF 2010

HON. LINDA T. SÁNCHEZ

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Ms. LINDA T. SÁNCHEZ of California. Madam Speaker, today I am introducing the ''IDA Protection Act of 2010.'' This bill will help the Individual Development Account program weather a tough economic climate, so it can continue to help lower income Americans to go to college, buy a home, or start a small business.

IDA accounts are designed to help low income individuals pull themselves out of poverty and learn how to manage their family's finances. Through a partnership between local government, non-profits, and businesses, each dollar someone saves in an IDA account is matched at a one or even two to one ratio.

To participate in this program, an individual must agree to take classes on financial literacy and agree to use the proceeds to buy a home, start a small business, or pay college tuition. Since the program's inception in 1999, more than 86,000 people have opened IDAs, many of them opening bank accounts for the first time. These individuals have sacrificed to save and thus, increased the standard of living for their family.

Unfortunately, the recent recession has threatened the future of this important program. Congress annually appropriates $24 million for IDA Accounts, and local non-profits must find private sector matches in order to receive a portion of these federal funds. Since Wall Street's meltdown shook our economy, the usual corporate partners have not maintained their traditional level of IDA donations, and as a result much of this $24 million for this year remains unspent.

This bill would create a bridge for the IDA program to better times. It more than doubles the program's funding in 2011 and 2012 and waives the private match requirement during those two years. Private participation in the IDA program is important, and this bill is meant in no way to incentivize private business to take its money elsewhere.

The sad reality though, is that private donors just aren't coming through right now. A number of states have eliminated or cut their IDA programs in response to this financial crisis. In California, the United Way of Los Angeles was recently forced to shutter its successful IDA program, and if Congress does not act now, more closures are sure to follow.

Giving these low-income families a chance to pull themselves out of poverty will benefit us all. Their businesses will employ our neighbors; their children will be our doctors and lawyers. I urge my colleagues to support this important legislation.

JAMES ZADROGA 9/11 HEALTH AND COMPENSATION ACT OF 2010

SPEECH OF

HON. CAROLYN McCARTHY

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Mrs. MCCARTHY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I wholeheartedly support the James Zadroga 9/11 Health and Compensation Act and believe the House of Representatives should act urgently to pass this must needed piece of legislation.

The United States is engaged around the world in a conflict against violent extremists. The first casualties of that conflict were the police and firefighters who responded that day, the civilians that volunteered in the rescue and recovery efforts, the construction workers who began clearing the site, and the ordinary citizens who lived and worked in that area. It is important that we act to take care of those individuals who were harmed as a result of this attack on our nation. They suffered that day as Americans, and it is right that we, as Americans, ensure they receive the care they need and deserve.

These Americans, not only New Yorkers, but citizens of every state, continue to suffer from serious medical conditions as a result of the attacks and the dangerous air quality in the time that followed. It is imperative that this Congress act to protect those citizens who are suffering as a result of the terrorist attacks on our country.

I urge all of my colleagues to support this effort.

HONORING HAZEL ROCHELLE BAYLOR

HON. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Ms. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON of Texas. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor a young lady on her initiative and academic accomplishments. Hazel Rochelle Baylor is to be commended on her efforts to fulfill her dreams of pursuing a career in the field of space and aviation.

A graduate of A. Maceo Smith High School, Hazel will soon begin classes at Embry Riddle Aeronautical University majoring in aerospace engineering and minoring in aviation and business. Facing many challenges early in life, Hazel has not let her past define her future.

Her early interest in aviation was augmented by a meeting with Donald Elder, an original Tuskegee Airman. Mr. Elder inspired Hazel to follow her dreams in this field.

Hazel's desire and personality have driven her success. During an aviation presentation with the NJROTC program, Hazel met Mr. Monte Ford of American Airlines. He was so impressed with her enthusiasm that it led to an internship with American Airlines.

Hazel has many role models in aviation, but cites her strongest inspiration has come from Donald Elder, and astronaut, Dr. Mae Jamison. Hazel wants to follow into the footsteps of her idol Dr. Jamison and not just be a pilot but to become an astronaut as well.

I commend Hazel on all of her work and wish her the best on what I know will be a successful future.

HONORING KIM EBERT-COLELLA FOR RECEIVING THE 2010 GREATER TACOMA PEACE PRIZE

HON. ADAM SMITH

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Kim Ebert-Colella for promoting peace and understanding in her local and global communities.

On the evening of May 22, Ms. Ebert-Colella received the 2010 Greater Tacoma Peace Prize at Pacific Lutheran University for her life long commitment toward peace and the wellbeing of others.

The Tacoma News Tribune has called Ms. Ebert-Colella a "walking, working proof of what kindness can mean." Following the Catholic teachings of social justice, Ms. Ebert-Colella joined the Jesuit Volunteer Corps after graduating from the College of St. Benedict. Over the next few years, she served in the L'Arche communities working with developmentally disabled people. When she turned 30, Ms. Ebert-Colella decided to volunteer at the L'Arche home in Calcutta where she worked directly under Mother Teresa. After her return to the United States, she worked as a youth minister at St. Nicholas Catholic Church in Gig Harbor, married Niko Colella, and had their son, Sam Colella, who attends Bryant Montessori School.

Ms. Ebert-Colella followed her son to Bryant Montessori where she is a volunteer adviser for the school's Peace Committee, which encourages philanthropy and awareness of indigent areas of the world, and provides students a chance to work toward peace in their daily lives while they revitalize their local communities.

Under Ms. Ebert-Colella's leadership, students from Bryant Montessori School choose an annual theme to implement projects dedicated to peace. For example, during the 2009–2010 school year, students decided to focus on water. Under Ebert-Colella's oversight, students raised money to buy four rain barrels to collect water to use on the school's garden. They also have a goal of raising $6,000 to give a clean water system to Las Maratos, a small town in Bolivia.

Ms. Ebert-Colella motivates students to complete philanthropic projects and fundraisers, which have since become known as peace projects. Through these peace projects, Ms. Ebert-Colella emphasizes the importance of working toward peace while living peacefully in one's everyday life. The Peace Committee also instituted a kindness campaign at the Bryant Montessori School in which the students report and recognize other students for doing kind and selfless acts.

Ms. Ebert-Colella has led several other philanthropic projects such as designating the school as an international peace site and organizing a Disco for Peace dance, which raised over $9,000 to build a school in Pakistan.

The Greater Tacoma Peace Prize was created as a gift the from the Norwegian-American community to the people of the region in 2005 on the 100th year anniversary of Norway's peaceful separation from Sweden. The prize is award to an individual, group, or organization each year to recognize, honor, and encourage peace building, education, and awareness in the Tacoma community and beyond. Ms. Ebert-Colella has made an impression on several people in the region by working for good and touching the lives of numerous families and individuals.

Madam Speaker, I ask that my colleagues in the House of Representatives please join me in congratulating Kim Ebert-Colella and her outstanding work to promote peaceful understandings throughout the Tacoma community and throughout the world.

HONORING PAT PLUMMER

HON. GEORGE RADANOVICH

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. RADANOVICH. Madam Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Pat Plummer upon his retirement as the Varsity Head Football Coach of Hoover High School in Fresno, California and his induction into the Hoover Hall of Fame. Coach Plummer will be inducted into the Hoover Hall Fame on Saturday, July 31, 2010.

Coach Pat Plummer was born in Glendale, California. At a young age, his family moved to northern California, where he graduated from Del Oro High School. Upon graduating from high school, Coach Plummer attended Sierra Junior College in Rocklin, California. In 1970, he transferred to California State University, Fresno, on a football scholarship. In 1972, Coach Plummer was named to the All-Pacific Coast Athletic Association team as an offensive guard. Coach Plummer graduated from CSU Fresno with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Physical Education and a minor in Geography; in 1974, he earned a teaching credential.

Upon obtaining his credential, Coach Plummer began teaching and coaching football at Tulare Western Union High School in Tulare, California. He was the defensive coordinator for two years before being named the head varsity coach. Coach Plummer remained at Tulare Western for eight years. In 1985, he was offered the position of Head Varsity Football Coach at Hoover High School. Since taking that job, Coach Plummer has compiled a record of 132 wins, 116 losses and 3 ties. He led his teams to six Fresno City Championships (1987, 1988, 1991, 1992, 1993, and 1994) and two North Yosemite League Championships (1997 and 1999).

In 2005 and 2006, Coach Plummer took a hiatus from coaching varsity football so that he and his wife, Micki, would have more time to watch his son, Shawn, play varsity football at a rival school. For those two years, Coach Plummer was the head freshman football coach at Hoover. In 2007, Coach Plummer returned to the Head Varsity Coach position. In his 25 years as the head varsity coach, he has coached several All-Star games including the Tulare-Kings All Star Game in 1985, the Fresno City-County All-Star game in 1989, 1993, and 1999, and the North-South All-Star game in 2003 and 2007.

Madam Speaker, I rise today to commend and congratulate Pat Plummer upon his retirement from Hoover High School and induction into the Hoover Hall of Fame. I invite my colleagues to join me in wishing Coach Plummer many years of continued success.

NASHVILLE RISING CONCERT

HON. MARSHA BLACKBURN

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Madam Speaker, I rise today and ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing those artists and actors who recently participated in ''Nashville Rising: A Benefit Concert for Flood Recovery'' to aide those affected by the catastrophic flooding in Tennessee.

Just a few months ago, historic flooding—a 1,000 year flood—affected 46 counties in Tennessee. The flood waters left damaged homes and hearts. With rain-soaked hands, volunteers offered what they could, and Tennessee lived up to its name as the Volunteer State. I want to thank the many who supported Tennessee's flood relief efforts.

Led by Faith Hill and Tim McGraw, artists—Amy Grant, Billy Ray Cyrus, Blake Shelton, Carrie Underwood, Jason Aldean, Julie Roberts, LeAnn Rimes, Luke Bryan, Lynyrd Skynyrd, Martina McBride, Michael W. Smith, Miley Cyrus, Miranda Lambert, Montgomery Gentry, Taylor Swift, Toby Keith, and ZZ Top—performed, and with messages from Reese Witherspoon, Matthew McConaughey, Craig Ferguson, and Dolly Parton—all joined together to help raise over $2.2 million for flood relief efforts.

Music has the hope to heal what the flooding left behind. I ask my colleagues to stand with me in thanking those who offered their time and talents to the Nashville Rising Concert, and all who have helped their neighbors during this time of need.

HONORING WILSON COUNTY MAYOR ROBERT DEDMAN ON HIS RETIREMENT

HON. BART GORDON

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. GORDON of Tennessee. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Robert Dedman, who is retiring after twelve years of service as Wilson County Mayor and a lifetime of public service.

A lifelong resident of Lebanon, Tennessee, Bob served a tour of duty with the Army in the 1950s, followed by a time with the American Legion. After serving his country, he served his community as Lebanon's Purchasing Agent in 1972. He went on to join the Tennessee Secretary of State's Personal Property and Inventory Division until 1984, when he successfully ran for Wilson County Property Assessor. After deciding not to seek re-election to the office, he spent a term with the 100th General Assembly as Senate Sergeant-At-Arms.

In 1998, Bob was elected Wilson County Mayor, and during his time in office, Wilson County has become the fastest growing county in the state. For twelve years, he has been a dedicated servant to the people of Wilson County. He has always been true to his promise to listen to the people he serves, accessible and welcoming to county residents.

Recently, Progressive Farmer magazine ranked Wilson County as one of the top ten ''Most Livable Small Communities.'' This accolade is in large part due to Bob's leadership and the collective vision of the Wilson County Commission, over which he has presided.

For decades, Bob has been committed to his community. He has served on the boards of the Four Lakes Development District, Greater Nashville Regional Council of Governments, University Medical Center, and the Regional Transportation Authority. This list of memberships is only a small sample of Bob's commitment to his community.

Thank you, Bob, for a job well done. I hope you enjoy a long and happy retirement with your wife Lois, your children and grandchildren.

HONORING THE BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

HON. JEB HENSARLING

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. HENSARLING. Madam Speaker, as one of more than twenty Eagle Scouts serving in Congress, I would like to honor the Boy Scouts of America and welcome them to our nation's Capitol to celebrate 100 years of excellence.

Over the past 100 years, the Boy Scouts of America have positively impacted millions of young men, not only providing them with knowledge of the outdoors, but building character and leadership traits that serves them, their communities, and their nation.

This week over 46,000 Boy Scouts, leaders, staff and volunteers from around the world are attending the 2010 National Scout Jamboree at Fort A.P. Hill, Virginia. Many of these Scouts visited our nation's capital and participated in the Boy Scouts of America Grand Centennial Parade held this past weekend on the National Mall. I had the privilege of attending the Jamboree in 1973, and it was the height of my Scouting career.

On Tuesday I had the privilege of meeting with Troop 67 from Mesquite and Troop 339 from Forney along with many others from the 5th Congressional District who are participating in this year's events and continuing the tradition of Scouting. I am pleased to see that after 100 years, the Boy Scouts of America continues to educate and prepare young men with such success. Their visit lifted me up, and gave me great hope for our nation's future.

Scouting is an important part of the American character because it teaches countless young men about service to their community, patriotism, dedication, hard work, and reverence to God. In addition to teaching good citizenship, Scouting builds leadership skills by teaching self-reliance, setting goals and ''learning by doing.'' Scouts know to ''Be Prepared.''

Since 1910 the Boy Scouts of America have served over 114 million of our nation's youth, including many of the members of this body. Currently there are 211 Members of Congress who have been involved in Scouting as a youth, earned rank of Eagle Scout, or participated as adult volunteer. I am proud to be one of the 22 Eagle Scouts currently serving in this body.

For me, Scouting was great fun. Scouting is about wonderful memories and a love of the outdoors. It is about useful knowledge that still comes in handy today. But far more important than those, to me Scouting is a way of life. Although I did not realize it at the time, everything a young man needs to know about life he learns in Boy Scouts. It is contained within the Scout Oath and the 12 Points of the Scout Law. So Scouting is not just an achievement of a destination, it is a way of life. If young men will allow Scouting to be their moral compass, it will guide them successfully through the hazards, temptations and pitfalls of life. We should all celebrate Scouting and recognize its great value to our nation.

Madam Speaker, I am honored to be an Eagle Scout. On behalf of the Fifth District of Texas, I thank the Boy Scouts of America for 100 years of devotion to service, leadership, and citizenship.

AIRLINE SAFETY AND FEDERAL AVIATION ADMINISTRATION EXTENSION ACT OF 2010

SPEECH OF

HON. EARL POMEROY

OF NORTH DAKOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Mr. POMEROY. Madam Speaker, I rise today to express my concerns with certain provisions of H.R. 5900, the Airline Safety and FAA Extension Act.

While I strongly support the goals of the airline safety portions of the bill, I continue to have concerns regarding the practical effect of the provision requiring a minimum of 1,500 hours of training for an airline transport pilot certificate. As we work to improve the safety of airline service it is important that new training requirements have their desired effect of improving safety while avoiding any unintended consequences that may decrease the number of skilled pilots.

Specifically it is my concern that students looking to get their pilots license could be forced by financial considerations to attend pilot training programs with an emphasis of meeting the flight hour requirements inexpensively by flying straight and level courses without mastering important safety skills.

I support provisions that specify that certain academic training courses can be credited towards the total number of flight hours required by this Act. I believe that this language should be further improved through the normal legislative process to ensure that high-quality outcome orientated training programs are given more credit towards this requirement than other programs.

While I will be voting in favor of this legislation in order to ensure that funding for Federal Aviation Administration, FAA programs that support aviation operations in North Dakota do not lapse, I believe it is important that new safety requirements are appropriately constructed to recognize the tremendous benefits that our nation's accredited flight schools provide.

ASSISTANCE, QUALITY, AND AFFORDABILITY ACT OF 2010

SPEECH OF

HON. BOBBY L. RUSH

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Mr. RUSH. Mr. Speaker, I would also like to thank Chairman WAXMAN and Chairman MARKEY, and their capable staffs, for working with my office over the past year to amend the Safe Drinking Water Act to avoid a repeat of the outrageous abuse of the public trust that left many of my constituents in Crestwood, IL, without clean drinking water for over 20 years.

In 1986, the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) was alerted that Village of Crestwood officials were piping in contaminated drinking water to its citizens.

Despite warnings from the state agency to end this illegal practice, incredibly, it took another 20 years, and a personal investigation from a courageous and determined private citizen, my constituent, Tricia Krause, before the state finally went back out to inspect the water supply and found that contaminated water was still being used. Twenty years!!!

Mr. Speaker, my amendment to H.R. 5320, which was adopted unanimously in committee, will compel the U.S. EPA to issue a final rule, within 12 months, requiring public water systems and states agencies to submit all compliance monitoring data electronically.

This will allow the U.S. EPA to update their systems to gather accurate and timely data collection so they are able to act more quickly and effectively against violations, especially when the public's health is in jeopardy.

This bill will also require U.S. EPA to categorize any violations of federal drinking standards and determine what types of follow-up inspections are needed, as well as the frequency of inspections the state will need to carry out, depending on the risk to public health.

By enacting this bill, as Representatives of the people, we will be able to better ensure that all citizens have access to clean, safe drinking water, and that the outrageous acts that resulted in the toxic contamination of Crestwood drinking water are never repeated.

I urge all of my colleagues to support this bill.

CELEBRATING THE 45TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BILL SIGNING OF MEDICARE AND MEDICAID LEGISLATION

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. TOWNS. Madam Speaker, today I rise to speak on acknowledgement of the 45th Anniversary of the signing of the Medicare and Medicaid legislation.

In 1965, the United States Congress made a commitment to our nation's most vulnerable citizens when it passed into law legislation that created Medicare and Medicaid as part of the Social Security Act. We as a nation decided that the elderly, poor children, the blind, and the disabled would never be denied proper medical care because of their inability to pay. When President Lyndon Johnson signed the bill and made it law on July 30, 1965, millions of elderly and poor people were spared needless worry and suffering. It was one of our nation's finest moments. We displayed the compassion and will that makes this country great. Access to adequate health care is a right not a privilege.

Please join me today in commemoration of the 45th anniversary of the bill signing for Medicare and Medicaid.

JAMES ZADROGA 9/11 HEALTH AND COMPENSATION ACT OF 2010

SPEECH OF

HON. STEVE KING

OF IOWA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Mr. KING of Iowa. Mr. Speaker, we all agree that those who heroically responded to the 9/11 terrorist attacks should get the treatment, compensation, and liability protection they need. The American people are grateful to those the ground zero workers and the emergency responders that worked heroically, day and night, for months in rescue, recovery and cleanup efforts at the World Trade Center site. Unfortunately, the approach this bill takes to accomplish these goals is unreasonable and irresponsible.

During committee hearings on reenacting the 9/11 Fund, I expressed the view that if the fund is reenacted, it must be done in a manner that properly compensates the victims while at the same time protecting the taxpayers.

First, I asserted that if the Fund is reenacted it must provide adequate compensation to the victims without handing the keys to the U.S. Treasury to trial lawyers. Unfortunately, this bill does not contain these protections. Rather, the bill allows trial lawyers to request compensation from the fund for work that is not directly related to their clients' recovery from the fund.

Second, I stated that if the Fund is reenacted it must include provisions that will protect the U.S. taxpayers. However, instead of protecting the taxpayers, this bill abdicates Congress' legislative authority to the unreviewable and virtually unbounded discretion of the Special Master.

Third, I counseled that if the Fund is reenacted it should be for a reasonable, but limited, period of time. Once again the authors of this legislation did not listen to my advice; rather, they propose to keep the fund open for 21 years despite congressional testimony by Special Master Ken Feinberg that ''no latent claims need such an extended date.''

Finally, I suggested that if the fund is reenacted it should be paid for. Apparently, the bill's authors listened to me on this count, but unfortunately, rather than choosing a pay-for that protects U.S. taxpayers, they have chosen one that will actually cost American jobs.

We could be considering a reasonable consensus proposal to reenact the 9/11 Fund today. Instead, I have to urge my colleagues to oppose this legislation because not only does it fail to protect the taxpayers, but it also fails to ensure that those REAL victims that answered the call of duty on September 11, 2001, will actually get the care that they deserve. Unfortunately, we have brought a bill to the floor today that will cost American jobs and creates gimmicks to hide the bill's true cost.

The taxpayers and those who responded to the 9/11 attacks deserve better.

HONORING CHIEF JUDGE DANNY DAVIS FOR HIS TWENTY-SIX YEARS OF SERVICE

HON. HEATH SHULER

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. SHULER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Chief Judge Danny Davis for his twenty six years of service as the Chief District Court Judge of the 30th Judicial District in Western North Carolina. During his thirty one years of experience in the courtroom Judge Davis distinguished himself as a superior legal mind, as well as a patient, restrained, and fair jurist.

In the eyes of Judge Davis, an effective judge must listen to both sides of an argument and form a sound legal opinion based on fact, while also maintaining a courteous and respectful demeanor. Holding true to his words, Judge Davis is best known for his fairness and sound reasoning.

Judge Davis has always strived to improve society, leaving his community better than he found it. Throughout his career, Davis has exemplified the highest standard of legal excellence, maintaining the strongest sense of character while reaching a consensus.

Madam Speaker, I congratulate Judge Davis on his retirement. He has exemplified real leadership in his ability to ensure that the utmost fairness is in our nation's judicial system. It is truly an honor to recognize him for his many years of service and dedication to Western North Carolina, and I urge my colleagues to support this remarkable jurist.

REVITALIZING CITIES AND TOWNS BY BRINGING BUSINESS BACK

HON. MARK STEVEN KIRK

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. KIRK. Madam Speaker, today I introduce a bill to help our commercial neighborhoods to recover the economic activity they have lost during the Great Recession. When the economy tumbled and unemployment rose to the highest level seen in a generation, businesses were forced to close their doors, transforming once-thriving commercial streets into quiet avenues with ''For Rent'' signs.

My bill encourages private investors to develop land and vacant properties that have had no substantial economic activity for at least two years by exempting them from taxes for up to ten years.

Proper tax incentives can ignite an economic renaissance in our cities and towns by nurturing private investment and enterprise. This is the best government stimulus I know.

CONGRATULATING THE JEFFERSON DEMOCRATIC CLUB OF FLUSHING ON THEIR 100TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. GARY L. ACKERMAN

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. ACKERMAN. Madam Speaker, I rise today in recognition of the 100th anniversary of the Jefferson Democratic Club of Flushing, Inc. Representing Part A of the 26th Assembly District of New York, the Jefferson Democratic Club has fiercely and tirelessly advocated on every level for the interests of the Queens and greater New York City communities.

Speaker Tip O'Neil once observed that ''all politics is local.'' Organizations like the Jefferson Democratic Club are local politics' driving force. Without the hard work, enthusiasm, and dedication of the men and women of political organizations like the Jefferson Democratic Club, the gears of our democracy would grind to a halt.

Founded on June 14th, 1910 during the Republican Administration of William Howard Taft, the Jefferson Dems have been championing democratic values at the grassroots level for generations. Serving the areas of Auburndale, Bay Terrace, Bayside, Douglaston, Floral Park, Flushing, Little Neck, New Hyde Park, North Shore Towers, and Whitestone, they are a staple of the community and an invaluable asset to the people they represent. In recent years, the Club has participated in annual gift drives benefiting hospitalized war veterans; toy and clothing drives to assist hospitalized and needy children and the children of troops currently serving overseas; and many other important community programs.

I am proud to recognize such a prestigious organization and congratulate current District Leaders Joseph Bechtold and Ann-Margaret Carrozza; incoming District Leaders, Michael Sais and Carol Gresser; President, David Fisher; and all the members of the Jefferson Democratic Club of Flushing for their one hundred years of service to the people of Queens County, New York City, and New York State. I hope to see the good work continue for one hundred more. I ask that my colleagues in the House to join me and rise in recognition of the Jefferson Democratic Club of Flushing's centennial anniversary.

HONORING THE MEMORY OF CEIL STEINBERG

HON. RON KLEIN

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. KLEIN of Florida. Madam Speaker, we rise today to honor the life and memory of an extraordinary member of our South Florida community.

Ceil Steinberg passed away this week at the age of 82, leaving behind a legacy of service and strength.

Throughout Ceil's remarkable life, she maintained a steadfast commitment to serving our Nation's veterans. She served as President of the Ladies National Auxiliary of the Jewish War Veterans, and continued to be active in our local veterans community into her 80s.

Ceil's two wonderful daughters, Circuit Court Judge Debra Nelson and her sister Anita Kahn, who has taught in South Florida public schools for over 30 years, blessed their mom with 4 grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren, who Ceil adored.

When we think of public service, we think of Ceil, and her determination to give back, especially to those who have served our Nation in uniform.

We want to express our deep personal condolences to all of Ceil's family, and her beloved partner Bill Kling, who is also a fixture in our local veterans' community.

We will miss seeing Ceil, but the light of her legacy will continue to burn brightly well into the future.

JAMES ZADROGA 9/11 HEALTH AND COMPENSATION ACT OF 2010

SPEECH OF

HON. HENRY C. ''HANK'' JOHNSON, JR.

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my support for H.R. 847, the James Zadroga 9/11 Health and Compensation Act of 2009, which amends the Public Health Service Act to extend and improve protections and services to individuals directly impacted by the terrorist attack in New York City on September 11, 2001. The effects of H.R. 847 will be twofold: it will mandate funding to establish the World Trade Center Health Programs, and it will reopen the 9/11 Victim Compensation Fund. Both provisions are necessary to sufficiently care for the health and economic welfare of the Americans who were victims of the September 11 attacks and who responded in the aftermath of the attacks. This act guarantees America's heroes—who have sacrificed so much for our country—the medical and financial support they deserve.

As we approach the ninth anniversary of the September 11 attacks on the World Trade Center (WTC), it is especially important that Congress remember that there are survivors of and responders to the attacks who continue to suffer today. These victims may experience a long-term negative impact on their health many years into the future. For the first seven years after September 11, the Bush administration failed to respond adequately to the medical emergency caused by dangerous airborne toxins at Ground Zero. Americans from every state and every walk of life have been affected by those toxins, and over 71,000 people have enrolled in the WTC Health Registry because of their condition. Toxin-related illnesses include respiratory, gastrointestinal, and mental-health disease. Additionally, these illnesses have caused financial loss for many survivors and responders, 11,000 of whom have sued the City of New York because they have no viable alternative for receiving compensation. H.R. 847 will deal thoroughly and effectively with each of these problems.

Title I of H.R. 847 provides mandatory funding for the establishment of the World Trade Center Health Programs. These programs will provide consistent and readily available medical treatment for the September 11 survivors and those who responded in the aftermath of the attacks, many of whom suffer egregiously from the airborne toxins present at Ground Zero. H.R. 847 will also strengthen the medical monitoring and treatment programs and other social services programs for survivors already in place at the Clinical Centers of Excellence in New York City. Title I goes on to establish a WTC National Responder Program, which will give eligible survivors and responders who live outside of the New York City metro area access to a nationwide network of healthcare providers associated with the 9/11 Health and Compensation Act. Additionally, Title I provides for research into health problems related to the September 11 attacks, so that legislators, doctors, survivors, and responders can be better informed about the nature of these conditions.

Title II of H.R. 847 will reopen the 9/11 Victim Compensation Fund (VCF), which closed in 2003, until 2031. The original deadline prevented survivors and responders who did not file a claim before the deadline, or who became ill after the deadline, to receive compensation for losses sustained as a result of the attacks. Reopening the fund will not change eligibility standards for compensation; rather, doing so will ensure that anyone eligible for compensation at any point receives the best care and support possible. The newly reopened VCF will also allow for the offsetting of over 11,000 lawsuits filed by survivors and responders suffering from the effects of WTC toxins.

Title III of the bill ensures that its $7.7 billion cost is fully paid for by preventing a form of tax evasion called ''treaty shopping.'' This makes the bill pay-as-you-go neutral, and thus amenable to Congress' goals of intelligent spending and fiscal responsibility.

The attacks on the World Trade Center irrevocably changed the lives of all Americans. As a result, we see the world from a markedly different perspective, and we have entered two expensive and bloody wars. The number of lives lost in Iraq and Afghanistan, added to the toll taken by the attacks themselves, is a devastating tragedy. But, with the passage of this bill, we can stop any more victims of the September 11 attacks from dying or continuing to suffer. We must be able to look back on our legislative record and say that we assured justice to the heroes of 9/11, who stood on the front lines as America came under siege.

I urge my colleagues to support this important resolution.

100,000 HOMES CAMPAIGN AND THANKING COMMON GROUND AND PINE STREET INN FOR THEIR EFFORTS ON THIS INITIATIVE

HON. MICHAEL E. CAPUANO

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. CAPUANO. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the ''100,000 Homes Campaign'', an effort to address homelessness in America by providing permanent shelter for 100,000 homeless persons over the next three years. In Boston, the Pine Street Inn, a nonprofit organization in my district that has been fighting homelessness for over 40 years, is acting as the lead local agency for this national initiative. Rosanne Haggerty, President and Founder of the New York based nonprofit Common Ground, launched the campaign in Washington, D.C. on July 12th at the Annual Conference of the National Alliance to End Homelessness. So far 34 communities have signed on to participate. In just the short time since the campaign's start, over 5,000 people nationwide have received housing assistance.

The Pine Street Inn was founded in 1969 and provides low-cost permanent housing for homeless individuals. The organization also assists over 10,000 homeless individuals annually by offering emergency shelter, food and health care related services. Mental health and substance abuse counseling are also available through the Pine Street Inn.

Too many Americans are struggling with homelessness and this initiative will help reduce the ranks of the homeless throughout the country. I commend the Pine Street Inn and Common Ground for their tireless efforts and their compassion. Their combined work and the efforts of so many dedicated organizations throughout the country will help make the ''100,000 Homes Campaign'' a success.

WHERE ARE THE JOBS?

HON. JEB HENSARLING

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. HENSARLING. Madam Speaker, the American people want to know: where are the jobs?

I do not understand why the Obama Administration and Congressional Democrats have pursued jobs-killing policies such as a government take-over of health care, a national energy tax, a financial regulatory bill that enshrines us as a bailout nation; and are doing nothing to stop the largest tax increase in American history scheduled for the end of this year. These policies have injected uncertainty into the economy, causing nearly $2 trillion in private capital to stay on the sidelines.

We just learned this morning that in the 2nd quarter this year, GDP grew at 2.4%. While this is better than no growth, it is down from the 3.7% in the first quarter. This recovery defies conventional wisdom, which is the deeper the recession, the stronger the recovery.

The Obama Administration and Washington Democrats have declared their stimulus bill and other economic policies a success. However, the American people have declared them a failure.

CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION TO NATO PARLIAMENTARY ASSEMBLY MEETINGS IN LATVIA AND BILATERAL VISIT TO MONTENEGRO

HON. JOHN S. TANNER

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. TANNER. Madam Speaker, from May 28–June 3, I led a House delegation to NATO Parliamentary Assembly (NATO PA) meetings in Riga, Latvia, and to additional bilateral meetings in Podgorica, Montenegro. The U.S. delegation to the NATO PA had a highly successful trip during which we examined a range of political, economic, and security issues currently confronting the Alliance, as well as NATO and U.S. policy in Montenegro and the Western Balkans.

The NATO Parliamentary Assembly consists of members of parliament from the 28 NATO states, as well as members of parliament from candidate state Macedonia (or Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia, FYROM), and other associated states such as Russia, Georgia, and Ukraine. I currently have the honor of serving as President of the Assembly. In this capacity, I preside over meetings during which delegates discuss and debate a range of issues of importance to the Alliance. During the NATO PA's two annual plenary sessions, delegates also have the opportunity to listen to presentations by specialists on NATO affairs and to offer guidance to NATO leadership in Brussels. An additional element of the meetings is the opportunity to meet and develop relationships with members of parliament who play important foreign policy roles in their own countries. These responsibilities can include setting defense budgets and determining the operational restrictions placed on deployed forces. Some of the acquaintances made through the NATO PA can last the duration of a career, and are invaluable for gaining insight into developments in allied states.

Discussions during the NATO PA's annual spring meeting focused on the key issues currently facing the Alliance. These include: the drafting of a new Strategic Concept for NATO; NATO's ongoing stabilization mission in Afghanistan; NATO's evolving relations with Russia; and the effects of the global economic downturn on national security and allied commitments to NATO. More specific issues such as the Alliance's nuclear weapons posture, missile defense, and emerging security challenges such as piracy and cyber and energy security were also discussed by the delegates.

At NATO's 60th anniversary summit in April 2009, the leaders of NATO's 28 member states tasked the NATO Secretary General with producing a new Strategic Concept for the Alliance. The re-writing of the Strategic Concept, which was last updated in 1999, offers NATO a chance to lay out a clarified vision of its role in the 21st century security environment. Heads of state from the NATO member states are expected to approve a new Strategic Concept at their November 2010 summit in Lisbon. In April 2010, NATO PA representatives presented NATO Secretary General Anders Fogh Rasmussen with the Assembly's recommendations for a new Strategic Concept. There is broad agreement within the NATO PA that the new Strategic Concept should re-affirm NATO's primary role as a military alliance devoted to ensuring the collective defense and security of its members. In this regard, Article 5 of NATO's founding North Atlantic Treaty—which states that an attack on one is an attack on all—remains NATO's core principle. Our delegation emphasized that in the face of new and emerging security challenges, the Alliance must also continue to broaden the traditional Cold War concept of collective defense to include security threats such as terrorism, proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, cyber-security, and energy security. In this regard, territorial defense can no longer be separated from ''out-of-area'' security concerns. Members of our delegation also highlighted the importance of developing and maintaining the capabilities necessary to achieve NATO's stated objectives.

The key issue facing the Alliance continues to be NATO's effort to bring security and stability to Afghanistan. Approximately 120,000 troops from 46 countries currently serve in NATO's International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) in Afghanistan, with NATO members providing the core of the force. Close to 80,000 U.S. troops are under ISAF command. NATO allies have generally welcomed the renewed U.S. focus on Afghanistan and have voiced their support of the Administration's new strategy in the region and the associated U.S. troop increases. In April, NATO Foreign Ministers reiterated previous commitments to shift ISAF's emphasis toward transferring responsibility in the country—first and foremost in the security sector—to the Afghan government. Our delegation made an effort to urge our counterparts from NATO parliaments to continue to support ISAF and to contribute the forces and resources necessary to stabilize Afghanistan. Our delegation also emphasized that success in Afghanistan will depend on more than just military efforts, and called on the Alliance to develop a more comprehensive political strategy for the region.

Since NATO-Russia relations reached a low point in the wake of the August 2008 Russia-Georgia conflict, NATO and Russia have sought to improve ties and boost cooperation. Meetings of the NATO-Russia Council resumed in mid–2009 but while cooperation in some areas has resumed, disagreement persists on some issues. Officials from some member states within the Alliance express concern that NATO has not taken a strong enough stance against assertive Russian behavior. Others have attempted to view Russia as a ''strategic partner'' and call for more pragmatic cooperation and engagement. Our delegation contributed to a number of forceful discussions, including with our Russian counterparts, on the future of NATO-Russia relations. We emphasized that NATO should by no means recognize Russian spheres of influence outside Russian territory or tolerate Russian behavior that threatens the territorial integrity of independent nations. At the same time, we pointed out the importance of developing a unified approach toward Russia within the framework of a broader Alliance policy toward the east.

During the four-day NATO PA session, our delegation participated in day-long meetings of the Assembly's five committees, in a meeting of the NATO-Russia Parliamentary Committee, and in a final plenary session attended by NATO Secretary General Rasmussen. During each NATO PA committee meeting, members of parliament from NATO member states present reports on a range of issues confronting the Alliance. Committee members discuss and debate the issues raised by the reports and are given the opportunity to make counter-arguments or recommend that amendments be made to the reports. Members of the U.S. delegation were present and active participants in all committee meetings.

The NATO PA's Political Committee received three interesting and informative presentations from government officials and outside experts, as well as presentations from members of parliament on three committee reports. Alvis Ronis, Latvia's Minister of Foreign Affairs, gave an engaging briefing on Latvia's foreign and security policy priorities. Despite facing a severe economic downturn that has forced sharp budget cuts, Latvia remains committed to NATO operations, including in Afghanistan, where it has deployed 170 troops. The committee also heard from U.S. Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs, Alexander Vershbow, who shared a U.S. perspective on lessons learned from the NATO mission in Afghanistan. A third presentation, given by Alain Délétroz, Vice President of the International Crisis Group, focused on Central Asia and current U.S., European, Chinese, and Russian policy in the region. The three committee reports presented included a report on security in the Persian Gulf region and on the Arabian peninsula written by our colleague, Rep. MIKE ROSS. Unfortunately, Mr. ROSS was unable to attend the meeting. Italian Senator Sergio Di Gregorio graciously agreed to present Mr. Ross's report, which was well received by the committee. Other reports debated by the Political Committee included a report on Alliance cohesion and a report on NATO's relations with so-called ''Contact Countries,'' countries outside the Euro-Atlantic region that are not formal NATO partners.

Members of the Science and Technology Committee heard presentations from a former Latvian president and a senior political advisor at NATO headquarters and debated issues raised in three committee reports. Former Latvian President Vaira Vike-Freiberga shared valuable insights on the Baltic states' relations with Russia. Michael Ruehle, Senior Political Advisor in the NATO Secretary General's Policy Planning Unit, gave a comprehensive assessment of efforts to strengthen the global nuclear non-proliferation regime. The most discussed of the three committee reports presented during the session was Rep. DAVID SCOTT's report entitled, ''Nuclear/WMD proliferation and Missile Defense: Forging a New Partnership with Russia.'' Rep. SCOTT gave a lively and forceful presentation on this timely subject, outlining a broad range of perspectives on NATO, U.S., and European cooperation with Russia on non-proliferation issues, including efforts to counter Iran's nuclear program, and on missile defense. Additional discussions during the committee meeting centered on possible security challenges posed by climate change and on the appropriate role for NATO in energy security issues.

The NATO PA's Defense and Security Committee discussed a range of security issues facing the Alliance, including NATO's engagement in Afghanistan and the role of non-strategic nuclear weapons in maintaining Alliance security. On Afghanistan, delegates heard sobering accounts of ongoing NATO efforts to develop and partner with the Afghan National Security Forces, and on measuring success in Afghanistan. During subsequent debate, delegates reaffirmed the importance of the mission in Afghanistan but acknowledged the significant challenges the Alliance is facing. In response to a report on U.S./NATO non-strategic nuclear weapons in Europe, Rep. DAVID SCOTT made a well-received intervention emphasizing that any decision on the Alliance's nuclear weapons posture must be made by the Alliance as a whole. Rep. SCOTT highlighted the vital role that non-strategic nuclear weapons have played in affirming the allied commitment to collective defense and invited continued talks with Russia on global nuclear non-proliferation efforts.

The meeting of the Committee on the Civil Dimension of Security focused on several issues of increasing importance to Alliance security, chief among them the role of governance and regional politics in ensuring long-term stability in Afghanistan. Delegates debated a committee report outlining a range of governance challenges in Afghanistan and agreed that the Afghan mission's success will hinge largely on the success of international efforts to improve Afghan governance. Additional reports presented to the committee focused on NATO's role in maritime security and on achievements and future prospects in the Western Balkans. On the Balkans, delegates emphasized the importance of outlining paths to eventual NATO membership for the countries of the region, but agreed that significant progress must be made before membership becomes a reality.

Members of the NATO PA's Economics and Security Committee discussed various aspects of the global financial crisis and the associated global economic downturn. This included an in-depth presentation by the Governor of the Bank of Latvia on the Latvian economy and an assessment of the Greek financial crisis and its global implications by a professor from the London School of Economics. The reports presented by committee members focused on the impact of the financial crisis on Central and Eastern Europe, the impact of the global recession on the developing world, and a possible long-term shift in global economic power.

On Monday, May 31, our delegation participated in a meeting of the NATO-Russia Parliamentary Committee. As President of the NATO PA, I chaired this meeting, which consists of members of the NATO PA's Standing Committee and members of the Russian parliament. The committee heard candid and insightful presentations on NATO-Russia relations from Professor Alexei Pushkov, Director of the Institute of Contemporary International Studies at the Diplomatic Academy of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and from Alexander Vershbow, U.S. Assistant Secretary of Defense and former U.S. Ambassador to Russia. Arguing that ''all military alliances are directed against something or somebody,'' Professor Pushkov asserted that the Russian government continues to view NATO's possible enlargement eastward as a security threat. Despite continued disagreement between NATO and Russia on this and some other core issues, Professor Pushkov maintained that the two sides can minimize the points of contention in their relationship by enhancing cooperation in areas ranging from counter-narcotics trafficking and counterterrorism to maritime security and nuclear non-proliferation. Assistant Secretary Vershbow expressed concern that the Russian government continues to view NATO as a security threat but reiterated the Obama Administration's fundamental commitment to enhancing NATO-Russia ties. He emphasized that NATO and Russia have common interests and could each benefit from cooperation on many of today's most serious global challenges. As Monday was Memorial Day, the delegation visited Riga's Brethren Cemetery to commemorate Latvian soldiers who were killed during the First World War and Latvia's war of independence with Russia.

On Tuesday, June 1, I chaired the closing plenary session of the NATO PA meeting. During the session, the Assembly had the opportunity to hear from NATO Secretary General Rasmussen, Latvian Prime Minister Valdis Dombrovskis, Afghan Defense Minister Abdul Rahim Wardack, the Commander of Allied Joint Force Command, General Egon Ramms, and the Speaker of the Latvian parliament, Gundars Daudze. Secretary General Rasmussen used his address to the Assembly to outline some key principles for NATO's new Strategic Concept and to urge delegates to remain committed to the mission in Afghanistan. On the new Strategic Concept, Secretary General Rasmussen emphasized the importance of adopting a document that explains in clear terms how the Alliance is enhancing security in the 21st century. He argued that NATO must remain committed to deterrence and collective defense, that the Alliance must cooperate with non-NATO member states such as Russia, and that NATO's approach to security must be comprehensive and must complement actions taken by other international organizations such as the European Union and the United Nations. The Secretary General added that in order to realize the strategic goals agreed by the Alliance, NATO headquarters must function efficiently and that NATO member states must develop more flexible and deployable military forces and capabilities.

In sum, Madam Speaker, the 2010 spring session of the NATO Parliamentary session in Riga, Latvia was a great success. As President of the Assembly, I took pride in the deliberations and the informed engagement of the delegates from all NATO member states and our associate and observer members. For Members of the House and Senate interested in reading the committee reports or transcripts of the presentations mentioned in this statement, they are available on the NATO PA website at www.nato-pa.int. I would also like to take this opportunity to thank our Ambassador to Latvia, Judith Garber, and her staff for the excellent job they did assisting the delegation during our stay in Riga.

On Tuesday, June 1, after the conclusion of the NATO PA meeting, our delegation travelled to Podgorica, Montenegro, on the invitation of Montenegrin Prime Minister Milo Djukanović. Since achieving its independence in 2006, Montenegro's key foreign policy goals have been European Union (EU) and NATO integration. Montenegro has moved quickly to advance its NATO membership candidacy and in December 2009, the Alliance invited Montenegro to join the Membership Action Plan (MAP), a critical step on the road to possible NATO membership. The United States strongly supported Montenegro's effort to gain independence from Serbia and continues to support its efforts to gain membership in NATO and the European Union. During one-and-a half days of meetings in Montenegro, our delegation observed first hand the steps being taken by the Montenegrin government to advance its NATO membership prospects and to ensure that membership will lead to a stronger Alliance and enhance stability in the Western Balkan region. We also took the opportunity to urge the Montenegrin leadership to continue to advance reforms in the area of democratic governance, to combat corruption, and to enhance the rule of law in the country.

Over the course of our visit, the delegation met with numerous Montenegrin government officials, including Prime Minister Djukanović and President Filip Vujanović, and had the opportunity to observe Montenegrin troops as they trained in preparation for upcoming deployment to Afghanistan. We were also fortunate to meet with representatives of non-governmental organizations and media outlets, including several outspoken critics of the current Montenegrin government. Shortly after our arrival in Podgorica, we received a comprehensive briefing on U.S.-Montenegrin relations from our Ambassador to Montenegro, Roderick Moore, and his excellent staff. Ambassador Moore highlighted the record of strong U.S. support for Montenegro and emphasized the work he and his staff are currently doing to enhance democratic governance in the country. Our meetings with Prime Minister Djukanović, President Vujanović, Foreign Minister Milan Rocen, and Speaker of the Montenegrin Parliament Ranko Krivokapić focused primarily on the country's prospects for NATO and EU membership and on the government's democratic reform efforts, particularly in the rule of law area. The Montenegrin leadership stressed the importance of Euro-Atlantic integration not only for the country but for the Western Balkan region. Each of our interlocutors believes strongly that NATO and EU integration represent the best hope to bring lasting peace and stability to the region.

Our delegation also had the opportunity to observe first hand the advances being made by the Montenegrin armed forces. Since gaining independence, Montenegro has had to create a military virtually from the ground up. The size and capabilities of the Montenegrin armed forces remain limited, but the government has made some notable strides in modernizing the military and creating more deployable units. Our delegation was especially impressed to learn of Montenegro's contribution to NATO's International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) in Afghanistan. In March of this year, Montengro deployed a 31-man infantry unit and a medical team to Afghanistan. One of the highlights of our trip was being able to meet with Montenegrin soldiers preparing to deploy to Afghanistan and to express to them our sincere appreciation for their efforts.

In conclusion, I would like to acknowledge the hard work and dedication of Ambassador Roderick Moore and his staff, who went out of their way to organize an excellent visit for the delegation. The embassy team in Podgorica deserves high praise for the work they have done advancing U.S. policy in Montenegro and the Western Balkan region. As always, members of the United States military also contributed greatly to the success of this NATO PA trip. The logistics of such a trip, compressed into a tight time frame, are complicated and require lengthy and detailed preparation. Our military escorts were from the Air Force Legislative Liaison Office and the aircrew was from the 201st Airlift Squadron at Joint Base Andrews, MD. They did an outstanding job and I thank them for their hard work and dedication to duty.

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. CONNOLLY of Virginia. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize James R. Leaman, retiring President of the Virginia AFL–CIO, for his leadership and service to union members and working families across the Commonwealth.

Throughout his distinguished career, Jim Leaman has strived to protect the health, safety, and quality of life for all of Virginia's workers. Whether they were white collar or blue collar, industrial or agricultural, public sector or private sector workers, Jim Leaman fought for them all.

Jim Leaman dedicated his life to ensuring Virginia's working men and women received a fair wage, had access to affordable health care, and worked in a safe environment.

He carried the banner of Virginia's working families to the halls of Virginia's General Assembly, the U.S. Congress, to the counties, cities and towns of the Commonwealth, and within Virginia's Democratic Party.

Throughout his many years of service to the AFL–CIO and Virginia's workers, Jim Leaman never wavered from his principles. He was, and is, a steadfast advocate for fairness, equality, and justice for all Virginians.

Jim Leaman was a true public policy advocate. Along with his work to protect the interests of Virginia workers, he also pushed broader issues that affected the lives of all Virginian's, such as opposition to the usurious rates charged by payday lenders to those who could least afford such costs.

As a result of his efforts and leadership on non-partisan voter registration campaigns, thousands of Virginians became voters and participated in our democratic process.

Prior to his four-year tenure as President, Jim Leaman served as Secretary-Treasurer of the Virginia AFL–CIO from 1990 to his election as President in 2006. IN RECOGNITION OF THE LATE CARL HAYNES, PAST PRESIDENT OF TEAMSTERS LOCAL 237

HON. CAROLYN B. MALONEY

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mrs. MALONEY. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor the late Carl Haynes, former President of the Teamsters Local 237 City Employees Union, former Vice President of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and beloved husband and father. A lifelong advocate for working men and women, Mr. Haynes passed away in April.

Carl Haynes was born Carroll Edwin Haynes in West Virginia on June 2, 1933, the second of three children. He attended West Virginia State College and married his sweetheart Janice in the campus chapel two days after graduation. The newlyweds moved to New York City to begin a long and fruitful life together.

Haynes began working in the city's youth services industry in 1956 at Youth House in the Bronx. In 1960, he assumed a position as a Housing Assistant in the New York City

Housing Authority (NYCHA). In 1967, as chairman of the 600-member housing assistants' local union chapter, he mobilized his co-workers in a strike against NYCHA for better pay and working conditions. The three-day job action led to the agreement by NYCHA officials to the strikers' demands. Haynes later spoke proudly of his role in the strike, the only one in NYCHA's long history. In 1968, Haynes joined the Teamsters' Union Local 237 staff full-time as a business agent and was subsequently promoted to Assistant Director and later Director of the Housing Division. He became a Trustee in 1978, was elected Vice President in 1983, and ascended to the presidency in 1993, succeeding Barry Feinstein. For 14 years, Haynes proved a dynamic leader guided above all by a ''members first'' philosophy. After truly leaving his mark on the organization, Haynes stepped down as President in 2007 and oversaw the smooth transition of his successor, his friend and colleague Gregory Floyd.

Carl Haynes continued to serve as a Vice President of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters while heading its Public Employees Division until 2009. He sat on the executive boards of the New York State AFL–CIO, the New York City Central Labor Council, and the Municipal Labor Committee, and served as national AFL–CIO Vice President and on the boards of directors of Emblem Health Care System and United Way of New York City. He was a beloved leader adored by his members and admired by all who worked with him.

In memorializing Haynes, Gregory Floyd recalled his ''calm demeanor in the face of adversity and his patience at the negotiating table. When it looked like there was no hope in sight, he kept a positive outlook. . . He was a kind and giving man who dedicated his career to helping working men and women.'' Teamsters national President, Jim Hoffa, said of him, ''Under Carl's leadership, the Public Services Division grew tremendously and we are grateful for his dedicated service to our union.''

Carl Haynes is survived by his wife, Janice; a son, Jay, of San Antonio; a daughter, Liane, of Los Angeles; and three grandchildren.

Madam Speaker, in recognition of his decades of service to the labor movement and to our nation, I request that my distinguished colleagues join me in paying tribute to Carl Haynes, a proven leader who dedicated his life in service to others.

HONORING MAJOR GENERAL DOUGLAS BURNETT

HON. ADAM H. PUTNAM

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. PUTNAM. Madam Speaker, today I rise to honor Florida Air National Guard Major General Douglas Burnett. General Burnett's hard work helped rise through the ranks over the years earning a number of awards over his illustrious career.

Retiring from the Air Force, General Burnett capped his 47 years and 4 month long career as Florida's Adjutant General. Taking the position in November 3, 2001, General Burnett was the first Air Guard officer to preside over Florida's 12,000 member National Guard.

In his opening remarks that November, General Burnett stated, ''Let us, as we respond to the national crisis before our nation, seize this opportunity to re-calibrate our priorities and realize that freedom is the common bond among America's diverse culture . . . something that must always be protected . . . something that those who come to America's shores value highest.''

General Burnett presided over the Florida National Guard's response to some of region's most severe natural disasters. A record four hurricanes in one year hit Florida in 2004, including Hurricanes Charley, Frances, Ivan, and Jeanne. The following year, General Burnett led the response to Hurricanes Dennis, Wilma, and Katrina. More recently, he set in motion the Florida National Guard's part of bringing aid to earthquake stricken Haiti. After his long years of service, General Burnett earned the respect and admiration from the military and civilian side in efforts to make Florida the best National Guard state in the nation.

The leadership General Burnett demonstrated in these responses was forged over a long career of impressive accomplishments. General Burnett has received the Legion of Merit award with one oak leaf cluster. General Burnett has also received the Air Force Commendation Medal, the Air Force Achievement Medal, and the Combat Readiness Medal with two oak leaf clusters. The Air Force began commending this award in 1958. Locally, he has received the Florida Cross, the Florida Distinguished Service Medal and the Florida Commendation Medal.

Such a noteworthy career began in his hometown of Jacksonville, Florida. After spending some time in military service, he then went on to graduate from the University of Southern Mississippi with a Bachelor's of Science in Business Administration. After many years in the service, General Burnett later capped off his education by completing work at the Command and General Staff College and the Air War College.

After high school, General Burnett began his military career at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas and Kessler Air Force Base in Mississippi under the Florida Air National Guard. He then started what became a lifelong flying career in 1969 by enrolling in the Undergraduate Pilot Training program at Randolph Air Force Base in Texas. Earning dual qualifications in military and transport aircraft, he took his first assignment as an Alert Pilot in the North American Aerospace Defense Command.

General Burnett also flew commercially for Pan America World Airways and United Airlines until 1996. During his extensive time as a military and commercial pilot, he logged over 20,000 flying hours over 22 years in the F–102, F–106, C–26, C–131, C–13011, Boeing 727, and McDonnel-Douglas DC–10.

General Burnett served on a number of posts. He was the Chairman of the National Guard Bureau's Domestic Operations Advisory Board. He sat on the Reserve Forces Policy Board and is actively involved with the National Guard Association of the United States where he previously served two terms on the Executive Council. He was elected the President of the National Guard Officers Association of Florida in 1993. Finally, General Burnett also served on the Florida Council of 100.

On behalf of the 12th Congressional District and all of Florida, I want to thank General Burnett for his long years of service as a proud member of the Florida Air National Guard. I congratulate him on his successful completion of a 47 years career with the Florida Air National Guard and wish him well in his retirement.

HONORING U.S. AIR FORCE RESERVIST ADAM TOREM AS THE 2010 HOWARD O. SCOTT CITIZEN-SOLDIER OF THE YEAR

HON. ADAM SMITH

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor U.S. Air Force Reservist Adam Torem, whom the Tacoma-Pierce County Chamber of Commerce has honored as the 2010 Howard 0. Scott Citizen-Soldier of the Year. I ask that my colleagues join me in honoring Mr. Torem for this commendable recognition.

Madam Speaker, the Air Force Reserves of the United States Armed Forces have long played an important role in the defense of our country. Originally conceived as a standby force for emergencies, the U.S. Air Force Reserves has been a Major Command of the United States Air Force since 1997. The 67,000–member force has evolved into the Air Force's Wingman, performing the same missions as the Air Force and working side-by-side on the same equipment.

Currently, thousands of reservists are risking their lives in Iraq and Afghanistan, and their service should be acknowledged with gratitude and immense respect. In many instances, Air Force Reservists maintain full-time professional positions while serving their country as active citizen-soldiers. It is laudable when reservists' contribute to their communities further through additional volunteerism and public service. Unfortunately, reservists' contributions to their communities are often overlooked.

Adam Torem, a U.S. Air Force reservist from University Place, Washington, has successfully balanced his career, his commitment to the Air Force Reserves, and considerable community service. His admirable community involvements have included mentoring young people at his synagogue and coaching young, future engineers in the FIRST LEGO League Challenge.

In addition to his work in shaping future generations, Mr. Torem advocates for service men and women in his community. As a former Chair to the Washington State Bar Association's Legal Assistance to Military Personnel Section, Mr. Torem volunteers for programs that provide free legal advice and counseling on housing and other issues to other members of the Reserve and National Guard. Mr. Torem also uses his experience as an attorney to assist in state legislation, advocating for Washington State's active duty service members. When not on military duty, Mr. Torem serves as an Administrative Law Judge for the Washington Utilities & Transportation Commission.

The 2010 Howard 0. Scott Citizen-Soldier of the Year award was presented in partnership by the Tacoma-Pierce County Chamber of Commerce's Military Affairs Committee and the Kiwanis Club of Tacoma.

Madam Speaker, I congratulate Adam Torem on his many remarkable achievements, his venerable service to his country and community, and the recognition of his many efforts as the 2010 Howard 0. Scott Citizen-Soldier of the Year.

TRANSPORTATION, HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT, AND RELATED AGENCIES APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2011

SPEECH OF

HON. JAMES A. HIMES

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 5850) making appropriations for the Departments of Transportation, and Housing and Urban Development, and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2011, and for other purposes:

Mr. HIMES. Mr. Chair, I rise today to support the Latham Amendment to the Transportation, Housing & Urban Development Appropriations bill. I support this amendment in lieu of the very similar amendment I sponsored to cut unnecessary and duplicative programs in an effort to save taxpayer dollars.

As the economy begins its recovery, it is critical that we begin to get our fiscal house in order. Our nation's deficit grows larger every day; our national debt now tops $13 trillion.

Earlier this year, I stood before you and called for serious and smart reductions in spending.

I committed to opposing any spending that would not lead to at least a one percent total cut in the budget, excluding entitlements such as Medicare, veterans' pensions, and Social Security. According to last year's budget numbers, a cut of this size would save approximately $12 billion in just one year.

Going above and beyond that promise, and frustrated with the current approach to deficit spending, I joined three of my house colleagues in introducing 4 bills, each highlighting specific programmatic cuts that together would save $70 billion over the next ten years.

While small, across the board, percentage cuts on spending bills as many of my colleagues in the House support is one way to begin to reduce our overall spending, I believe that now is the time to bring specific ideas to the table. This prospect is not easy, and must be done carefully and thoughtfully.

To that end, I joined with a group of colleagues similarly committed to cutting spending and drafted an amendment that would have put in place a number of these types of cuts. However, it became clear that my amendment did not have the support it needed to pass. The Majority party was unwilling to make the tough choices to cut spending, and the Minority party refused to support an amendment offered by the opposite party.

The intent of the Latham Amendment mirrors the intent Peters Amendment. The cuts in this amendment are also in the spirit of the recommendations set forth by the Administration. In his budget proposal, the President worked with the Secretaries of each federal agency to determine which programs work and which programs don't work. They worked to determine which programs need more funding to reach their intended goal, and which programs must be reorganized and even in some cases terminated because they are ineffective or duplicative.

We must listen to our cabinet secretaries, those with the most acute knowledge of the inner workings of their agencies, and fund their programmatic needs while cutting funding for programs that they deem either ineffective or complete in achieving their intended purpose.

Cutting budgets is never easy. Vulnerable people who need assistance depend on our help. Forward-thinking investment is critical to long-term prosperity. Of particular importance to me are housing programs—programs that I have dedicated a significant portion of my career to improving and creating. I support these programs in principle and am committed to ensuring their functions remain fulfilled. However, in these situations where duplicate, inefficient, and nonexistent programs are still receiving funding, we must take action and make cuts, both to protect taxpayer dollars and to protect the populations these programs are intended to serve. I am also acutely aware of the struggles of those in the transportation industry, especially in Connecticut, where the unemployment rate continues to grow. I intend to continue to look for ways to spur job creation while bringing down our federal deficit.

The federal budgeting process should reflect an effort to make cuts where alternative programs—public or private—could work better; make investments in areas, like education and infrastructure, the will fuel future prosperity; and change programs where efficiencies can be achieved.

The amendment I supported today maintains those priorities while helping put our country on a path toward fiscal sustainability.

INTRODUCING A RESOLUTION RECOGNIZING THE BLACK BARBERSHOP HEALTH OUTREACH PROGRAM'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE NATIONAL FIGHT AGAINST HEALTH DISPARITIES

HON. ALCEE L. HASTINGS

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Madam Speaker, I rise today to introduce a resolution that recognizes the Black Barbershop Health Outreach Program, a unique initiative that seeks to improve health outcomes in black communities across the country through education, community involvement, research, and culturally relevant strategies.

African American men are especially vulnerable to the impacts of racial health disparities, with the lowest average life expectancy of any group in the United States. Due to various factors, including inadequate access to quality health care services, African American men suffer from disproportionately high rates of hypertension, diabetes, and other health conditions that are largely preventable and manageable. While a lack of trust, culture, and access to routine primary care has prevented many black men from significantly benefiting from interventions and treatments for these conditions, black-owned barbershops have served as cultural institutions in the black community for generations and provide health advocates with an opportunity to empower and educate black men about their health in a trusted and familiar space.

In 2007, the Black Barbershop Health Outreach Program was launched by the Diabetic Amputation Prevention Foundation in an effort to increase public awareness about cardiovascular disease, diabetes, and hypertension among black men. By partnering with black-owned barbershops, as well as local leaders, facilities, and organizations, the Black Barbershop Health Outreach Program provides culturally specific education and health services to black men. These include screening for hypertension and diabetes; disseminating information on early detection, management, and prevention; conducting research; and referring men to facilities that can address additional health and medical needs.

Since its founding, the Black Barbershop Health Outreach Program has expanded its initial focus on hypertension, diabetes, and heart disease to include prostate cancer, and continues to build upon its success. To date, it has screened over 10,000 men in 230 black-owned barbershops for diabetes, hypertension, and prostate cancer across the country. The project's organizers plan to screen 20,000 men in 2010 and 500,000 men by 2012. Furthermore, the Black Barbershop Health Program will also target black-owned beauty shops to reach black women, and take a holistic approach to diagnosing, preventing, and managing cardiovascular disease, hypertension, and diabetes in the black community.

My resolution commends the Black Barbershop Health Outreach Program for its valuable contribution to community health and the national fight against racial health disparities. In addition, my resolution expresses a commitment to supporting organizations, programs, and initiatives like the Black Barbershop Health Outreach Program that empower individuals to become informed health advocates in their communities.

Madam Speaker, culturally competent health education and delivery methods are essential to preventing and combating racial health disparities, and to maximizing the effectiveness of interventions and treatments that seek to achieve and support better health at the community level. I commend the Black Barbershop Health Outreach Program for the important work it does and remain committed to supporting community-oriented approaches to health reform in health legislation and initiatives arising at both the state and federal levels.

CELEBRATING THE 60TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OF FRANCIS AND HOBART MARCHANT

HON. KENNY MARCHANT

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. MARCHANT. Madam Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the marriage of Francis Helen Marchant and Hobart Clay Marchant. Francis and Hobart embody everything a couple should and have created a legacy in their commitment to one another that their 5 children carry on in their own lives. As one of those five, I know this very well. Throughout their lives, they have dedicated themselves to the betterment of those with whom they meet and know.

Francis Helen Jones was born in Cooper, Texas on January 14, 1930. Hobart Clay Marchant was born in Hilger, Texas on October 23, 1920. They were married on August 18, 1950, after Hobart served 5 years in the U.S. Army Air Corps during World War II and returned home. Hobart and Francis were both raised by farming parents in Northeast Texas but married in Grand Prairie, Texas, where both worked.

Early in their marriage Hobart worked as a carpenter. Soon after they wed, Hobart completed barber school in Fort Worth and worked as a small businessman while he and Francis raised 5 children. Francis stayed at home to raise the children, and sold Highlights Magazines, babysat, and ironed clothes to help make ends meet.

Later in life, when their kids were grown, both Francis and Hobart Marchant worked in real estate. Hobart worked in the construction of residential homes and Francis sold homes for her husband and sons. Francis and Hobart raised their children in Dallas, moving to Carrollton in 1963 where they have lived ever since. They began attending the Church of the Nazarene over 50 years ago, and raised their children in the church. They currently attend Carrollton Church of the Nazarene, where they are still actively involved.

Their children have grown up and blessed them with 15 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren. All of the siblings still live in the area close to their parents. Francis and Hobart Marchant have created a legacy of enduring love and commitment to family, church, and service to their community. It is with recognition of these accomplishments that I ask all of my distinguished colleagues to join me in honoring Francis and Hobart Marchant and congratulating them on 60 years of marriage.

HON. HENRY CUELLAR

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. CUELLAR. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the retirement of Assistant Chief Border Patrol Agent Willie Barber of the Laredo, Texas Sector Border Patrol. Mr. Barber has recently retired with a total of 31 years of government service to our great Nation.

Willie Barber was born and raised in El Paso, Texas. He has spent his career in 6 cities, driven by his devotion to service to our country. Agent Barber and his wife, Maria L. De La Rosa, have two children, Willie III and Renee DeLu.

He began his career by serving 8½ years in the United States Air Force. He joined the U.S. Border Patrol in 1988 and worked 7½ years in the station of Rio Grande City, Texas. He was later stationed in Brownsville, Texas, where he served as a Supervisory Border Patrol Agent. Following that, Agent Barber worked in Douglas, Arizona, as a Field Operations Supervisor. Afterwards, he traveled to El Paso, Texas, where he worked as Special Operations Supervisor. Barber then worked in Washington, DC, as an Assistant Chief in the Office of Border Patrol. REGARDING JED WUNDERLICH

HON. JASON CHAFFETZ

OF UTAH

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. CHAFFETZ. Madam Speaker, I come before the House of Representatives to honor an extraordinary young man, Jed Wunderlich, from the heart of Utah's third congressional district, Milford, Utah.

Jed was born with hydrocephalus, and has undergone numerous surgeries for his condition. Jed has experienced more physical pain in his short life than many of us wily ever experience throughout our lifetimes. Yet through his many surgeries and hospitalizations, he has remained positive and serves as an inspiration for his Milford All South Cal Ripkin summer all-star baseball team.

Although Jed has never been on a baseball team before, he has proven himself to be an important member of Milford's team. Despite having no experience pitching, Jed's coach, Jacob Ihde, recently put Jed in as pitcher. Jed proceeded to strike out three batters.

Jed is an inspiration to his classmates, the people of Utah, and those who suffer from hydrocephalus. I am proud to honor his accomplishments and hope to see many more from this motivating young man.

[From the Deseret News, July 22, 2010.]

MILFORD BOY INSPIRES TEAM, COMMUNITY

(By Cynthia Kimball Humphreys)

Milford, Beaver County.—Jed Wunderlich's positive attitude is probably why he wasn't cut from Milford's All South Cal Ripkin summer all-star baseball team even though he'd never been on a team before.

And perhaps it was why coach Jacob Ihde, after noticing the 11–year-old seemed down after sitting on the bench for the first four innings of a recent game, asked him if he wanted to pitch. There was just one small problem. Jed had never pitched before.

For a split second, Jed looked at his coach in disbelief. Then he bolted to the mound as though he knew what he was doing.

''I was afraid for him,'' said Jed's mother, Trish Wunderlich. ''But I trusted the coaches knew what they were doing.''

Three strikeouts later, Jed was flying high, smiling incessantly.

The crowd went wild standing and cheering on their feet, moved to tears.

''I just bawled,'' said Milford coach Gary Mayer.

Even umpire Merlin Figgins took off his mask to wipe away tears.

Trish Wunderlich couldn't contain herself. After all, she'd seen her boy in pain and held him so many times when it was unbearable—especially in 2006 when he had what she calls ''the big surgery'' at Primary Children's Medical Center where he had his whole face moved forward. An incision was made from ear to ear, skull bone was cut then made bigger and eventually put back together again in an 11–hour surgery.

A mid-face distracter was inserted behind his right ear that Jed's parents would have to turn twice daily to help his skull grow. The pain was excruciating for Jed and for his parents, who not only had to turn the distracter, but also had to watch and hear Jed scream and cry out in agony.

Jed was born with hydrocephalus (water on the brain) and had undergone 60 surgeries by the time he turned 11, the first when he was just 8 months old after his parents wondered why his head was so large at 2 weeks old. By age 7, he would be diagnosed with Crusins Syndrome, a genetic disorder characteristic of swelling on the brain. Most of his many surgeries were shunt surgeries, where fluid is drained from the brain. The Wunderliches know Primary Children's Medical Center all too well, often staying there with Jed for 30 days at a time.

Even so, when his mother asks him, ''How come you smile so much?'' He simply and matter-of-factly replies, ''Because I'm happy.''

''He just draws people to him wherever he goes,'' she said.

''I've had a couple of complete strangers come up to us and say they get some kind of vibe off of him,'' added his father, Ryan Wunderlich. ''They don't even know his name or circumstances.''

''How did you feel when you where pitching?'' Trish Wunderlich later asked her son.

''Excited and happy,'' is all he said.

''None of his teammates say, 'Why are you putting Jed in?' '' said grandmother Susan Nettle proudly.

Milford Elementary School Principal Ben Dalton, who has known Jed for five years, spoke of how Jed was in and out of school for several years, but worked hard to keep up with his studies, never complaining, so that he kept on track with his class.

''He never asks to be treated differently,'' he said.

''The other kids in school really like him. He has a lot of friends. He looks out for them, and they look out for him even though Jed's been described as socially backward, uncoordinated and quite shy,'' Trish Wunderlich said. ''In addition, he's been self-conscious of his surgeries and the medical equipment.''

When asked how he likes playing on the baseball team, Jed said, ''I'm having a lot of fun,'' unaware of the positive impact he has on others.

''He's always smiling, always happy, always pumped up,'' Ihde said. ''There aren't even words to describe what he means to our team. We appreciate what he does. . . . It makes us closer.''

Asked to describe Jed in one word, 12-year-old teammate Garreth Mayer quickly replied, ''Inspirational. We're happy he's on our team. He's the heart of our team.''

''There's a lot more to coaching young kids than wins and losses,'' said tournament director Greg Excel.

And with determination and opportunity, anything is possible.

Even three strikeouts from a boy who never pitched a day in his life.

EPA WATER QUALITY REGULATION ON FLORIDA'S ECONOMY

HON. ADAM H. PUTNAM

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. PUTNAM. Madam Speaker, on October 15th, the EPA will finalize the first phase of an unprecedented statewide water quality regulation which will have significant impacts on Florida's economy. While these regulations only apply to Florida, it could have a regional impact if our State's taxpayers are held accountable for the quality of water flowing from neighboring States. My colleagues should take note of this as these regulations are likely to arrive in your States and districts soon without your input and without a debate on this floor.

Last year, the Obama administration and the EPA entered into a legally binding agreement with environmental activists seeking to impose stringent numeric nutrient criteria for water bodies in the State of Florida. It was lawyers in a courtroom and not scientists in a lab who set the standard and timeline on what will be a costly endeavor that has not been backed up by science.

These regulations could not come at a worse time as they pose a significant threat to Florida's already weakened economy. A joint Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services and University of Florida study indicates these regulations could cost Florida over 14,500 jobs and $902 million to $1.6 billion annually, with additional indirect economic impacts to the State of over $1 billion annually.

Even worse, there is significant debate in the environmental community as to whether these federal regulations will even benefit the environment. The comments expressed by the State and local agencies charged with protecting Florida's waters raise serious concerns about the methodology EPA used to develop these regulations. Our State Department of Environmental Protection says that ''compliance will force an investment of billions of dollars without environmental benefit.'' The scientists at DEP further claim that ''EPA proposed criteria do not reflect a true relationship between nutrient enrichment and the biological health of Florida's surface waters.''

The South Florida Water Management District—the lead State agency charged with the restoration of the Everglades—calls the current proposed implementation timeline ''unrealistic'' and that the proposed methodology has real potential to disrupt Everglades restoration.

It is also questionable as to whether the technology even exists for our local governments and private industries to meet the standards proposed by EPA. Even if it does, the costs imposed will flow to the consumer in the form of higher utility bills.

But despite all the legitimate science based concerns, EPA marches forward bound by a consent decree they did not have to sign in the first place. When members of the Florida delegation met with EPA administrator Lisa Jackson, she promised to review the rigor of their science. The problem is, she did not have the flexibility in time to review their own science without getting permission from the ones who sued them. Will this be the EPA's standard business practice for water quality regulations in the future?

When Congress passed the Clean Water Act, its intent was to create a collaborative approach with the Federal Government partnering with the States to clean our Nation's waters. It was not intended to promote a heavy handed Washington-knows-best agenda.

Of course, Floridians want cleaner water—which is why our State has invested millions collecting data on the effects of nutrients. Over the past three decades, Floridians have successfully committed to substantial reductions in phosphorous levels through an EPA-approved Total Maximum Daily Load, TMDL, program. We are seeing the positive results of these programs in water bodies across the State.

I was pleased to learn that EPA would submit the part of its proposed rule which would apply to estuaries, coastal waters, and flowing waters in South Florida to their internal Science Advisory Board. When EPA made this announcement in June, their own press release quoted the assistant administrator for EPA's Office of Water as saying:

> An independent scientific peer review by the SAB will ensure that the best available science is our guide in developing clean water standards for Florida's coast.

Shouldn't the best available science be afforded to north and central Florida as well?

Florida is one the most diverse States in terms of its aquatic ecosystems, from the rare coastal dune lakes in the panhandle to the mangroves, swamps, and spring-fed lakes and rivers throughout central Florida. An SAB review of only South Florida waters ignores this diversity in the rest of the State.

I urge EPA to conduct a full SAB review of this proposed rule for all Florida waters and to modify its rulemaking in accordance with SAB's analysis so that Floridians can continue to enjoy clean water, protected by a standard that is achievable and supported by the best available science.

HISTORY OF THE RADAR SITES OF ICELAND

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, during the Cold War, Iceland served as a listening station with four radar sites that were manned by America's brave men and women in uniform to deter a Soviet bomber nuclear attack on America. An organization in Chapin, South Carolina, called the Iceland Reunion at www.usradarsitesiceland.com, is dedicated to the memory of all of the men and women who served on these U.S. radar sites. The mission of this organization, chaired by Retired Air Force Master Sergeant William A. Chick, is to preserve and document the history of the air defense of Iceland and the North Atlantic passage to the United States and the Free World.

Mr. Chick encourages those interested in preserving Cold War history to visit their informational website and also read, ''The History of the radar sites of Iceland'' by Gerald H. Tonnell which is the unofficial history of fifty years of the strategic radar sites which successfully preserved peace and promoted freedom in the struggle between democracy and communism with the ultimate victory over communism.

I thank Mr. Chick and other members who are working hard to preserve the memory and the mission of those military surveillance operators who served our great nation. America will always cherish the service of these patriots and the hosting by the people of our longtime NATO ally Iceland.

Mr. Frick's philanthropic work has benefitted more than 13,000 people in the Greater Delaware Valley who live with MS, and he is greatly deserving of this honor.

Mr. Frick's impressive career proves a longstanding commitment to the people of Philadelphia. Madam Speaker, I ask that you and my other distinguished colleagues join me in honoring my friend, Joseph A. Frick, for his work in Philadelphia and congratulate him on receiving the Hope Award.

ST. CECILIA ACADEMY

HON. MARSHA BLACKBURN

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Madam Speaker, 150 years ago, four women from Somerset, Ohio arrived in Nashville, Tennessee to establish an Academy for the higher education of young women in the Diocese of Nashville. Run by the Congregation of St. Cecilia, Tennessee's only Motherhouse of Dominican Sisters, St. Cecilia's Academy boasts 2,500 alumnae from the oldest continuously operated school in Nashville. I rise today with gratitude for the hard work and dedication by the Sisters of St. Cecilia, and the faculty and staff of St. Cecilia's Academy.

St. Cecilia's Academy, the only all-girls, Catholic high school in Middle Tennessee, first opened its doors in October of 1860 in North Nashville. Borrowing lanterns from local rail yards to light the grounds, the first commencement exercises were held in June of 1862. Two young women of St. Cecilia's Academy celebrated their graduation that day, along with a thousand guests, all in the throws of the Civil War. Despite the financial toll of the War, St. Cecilia's remained operational, and indeed flourished in the years to follow. Additions to the school on the hill came in 1880, 1888, and 1904. Following the westward expansion of Nashville, 92 acres of land was purchased in West Nashville in 1923 and the site of the current campus was established on the feast of St. Cecilia, 1956.

What began with as a small boarding school is now the academic home for over 250 witnesses to the school's belief in the dignity of the individual, made in the image of the Almighty. Grounded in rich academic traditions, St. Cecilia's Academy has four times been recognized by the Acton Institute as one of the top catholic high schools in America. I ask my colleagues to join me in celebrating the sesquicentennial founding of St. Cecilia's Academy as we look with great hope to the next 150 years of excellence in education.

HONORING THE WORK OF THE NORTHWEST PHYSICIANS NETWORK FOR RECEIVING THE PIERCE COUNTY HEALTH CARE CHAMPIONS 2010 BUSINESS AWARD

HON. ADAM SMITH

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the Northwest Physicians Network for receiving the Health Care Champions 2010 Business Award for providing excellent health care and treatment for patients.

In 1995, a group of physicians came together under the common goal of providing better and more coordinated health care for their community. With this goal in mind, they created the Northwest Physicians Network. Since its founding, the network has since grown to include over 500 independent physicians and numerous practices rooted in communities throughout the Pacific Northwest. The network strives to offer the best health care possible, starting with building lasting physician-patient relationships.

On May 25, 2010, the Health Care Champions program, a partnership between the Business Examiner and the Pierce County Medical Society, presented the Northwest Physicians Network with the 2010 Business Award. The Health Care Champions recognize the Northwest Physicians Network's Fit Futures Employee Wellness Program and the organization's dedication, exceptional service, and professionalism in medical practice. The award was presented at the Pierce County Health Care Champions annual awards ceremony held at the Tacoma Museum of Glass in downtown Tacoma, Washington.

Madam Speaker, I congratulate the Northwest Physicians Network on receiving the Pierce County Health Care Champions 2010 Business Award and the outstanding work of the entire Northwest Physicians Network staff.

INTRODUCING A BILL TO IMPROVE DIABETES SCREENING FOR MEDICARE BENEFICIARIES

HON. LEE TERRY

OF NEBRASKA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. TERRY. Madam Speaker, I rise today with my colleagues, Representatives SPACE, CASTLE and DEGETTE, to introduce a bill that will improve diabetes screening for Medicare beneficiaries. The bill we are introducing will direct the Secretary of HHS to review utilization of screening programs and establish an outreach program to improve screening awareness.

According to the American Diabetes Association, a sizeable 32 percent of Americans over the age of 65 have diabetes and of that group, 46 percent remain undiagnosed. In my district alone, 41,000 seniors are living with diabetes. CMS data reflects that only 11.5 percent of Medicare beneficiaries take advantage of diabetes screening benefits. Awareness of screening benefits, diagnosis and early treatment are key components to ensuring that our seniors are healthy and helping to reduce overall costs to health care.

I encourage my colleagues to take a close look at this bill and consider becoming a cosponsor.

COMMENDING AIR TRAFFIC CONTROLLERS

SPEECH OF

HON. BETTY McCOLLUM

OF MINNESOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, July 27, 2010

Ms. MCCOLLUM. Madam Speaker, I rise in support of H. Res. 1401, a resolution expressing gratitude for the contributions of the air traffic controllers of the United States.

The women and men who work as air traffic controllers are dedicated to the protection of the flying public. On a daily basis, their work requires quick and skilled reactions to complex and dangerous situations. The safety of our air space is required all day, every day of the year—including holidays. More than 15,600 Federal air traffic controllers, 1,250 civilian contract controllers, and more than 9,000 military controllers are committed to meeting this demand. Air traffic controllers allow all Americans to travel with assurance of safety and speed of travel.

These individuals are quiet heroes deserving of recognition. With continued growth in air travel, the United States must invest in the modernization of our air traffic control system. These dedicated workers require the resources to carry out their mission.

HONORING THE WINNERS AND PARTICIPANTS OF THE 2010 CROSSFIT GAMES

HON. JOHN SULLIVAN

OF OKLAHOMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. SULLIVAN. Madam Speaker, it is with great pleasure that I rise today to honor the winners and participants of the 2010 CrossFit Games held in Carson, California from July 16 to July 18, 2010.

CrossFit was created in the mid-80s by former gymnast Greg Glassman. When it was first introduced, it was a completely different form of physical training that was developed to enhance an individual's competency at all physical tasks and functional movements in everyday life. Greg Glassman moved to Santa Cruz, California, in 1995, and he and wife Lauren Glassman opened the first independent CrossFit gym there in 1999. Since then, CrossFit has expanded to about 1,900 affiliated gyms worldwide, with each operating as its own independent small business.

While at first, the concepts and training associated with CrossFit seem to be aimed for the elite athlete, military special operations units, police academies and tactical operations teams, the fact that it has grown so much so quickly is a testament to CrossFit's ideology that the needs of the average person, like myself, and the Olympic athlete differ by degree not kind. This is especially important today, when my state of Oklahoma and our nation faces an obesity epidemic that is not only straining our health care system, but causing chronic health conditions like diabetes, heart disease and cancer. The medical benefits, increased self confidence, and stress reduction that can come from athletic activity help contribute to a healthier, more productive Oklahoma and nation.

There is no better test of all around fitness, not focusing on one single type of event, than the CrossFit Games, where multiple and varied workouts are held each day over a three day competition. The workouts over the duration of each day are not announced until a few hours before each event which means that the athletes are training for a competition whose format is almost completely a mystery. One of the workouts in this year's Games was the following:

Event 2a—For time (22 min cap): run 1,200 meters, 63 kettlebell swings (55/36 lbs.), 36 pull-ups, run 800 meters, 42 kettlebell swings (55/36 lbs.), 24 pull-ups, run 400 meters, 21 kettlebell swings (55/36 lbs.), and 12 pull-ups.

Event 2b—Within 90 seconds of completing Event 2a: 1 rep max Shoulder-to-Overhead.

Approximately 4000 men and women initially entered the preliminary events earlier this year to not only competing for a spot in the Games but to challenge oneself. The large number of contenders eventually narrowed down to 45 men and 41 women competing for the claim as the fittest in the world. Every single individual competitor, masters athlete and affiliate team earned the right to compete through old-fashioned hard work and dedication to physical fitness.

I.want to congratulate the winners of the individual competition, who can now say they are among the fittest athletes in the world, Graham Holmberg from New Albany, Ohio and Kristan Clever from Sherman Oaks, California. Both athletes not only exhibited great skill, but gut-wrenching effort that ultimately put them on top. They are an inspiration to all that hard work pays off in the end.

I would also like to congratulate the affiliate team winner of the Games, CrossFit Fort Vancouver, as well as the masters category individual competition winners Laurie Carver and Brian Curley.

Finally, I would like to congratulate my hometown gym in Tulsa, Oklahoma, CrossFit

Sky, that competed in the affiliate completion and finished 30th. I witnessed firsthand all the hard work and dedication that ultimately granted them a spot in the Games. The members of CrossFit Sky's affiliate team are Amy Quimby, Hollace Fugate, Mandy Malloy, Sean Malloy, Brian Head, Tom Sharp, Aaron Fugate and Mike Quimby.

The CrossFit Games are only a small part of CrossFit as a whole which is ultimately spreading the desire to make oneself live a healthier and more productive lifestyle. It is available to everyone, not just elite athletes. The same concepts behind CrossFit used to train elite athletes can be used for people of all ages to help them reach their fitness goals. Tony Budding from CrossFit headquarters couldn't have said it any better, ''CrossFit is really about helping others achieve their goals. For even the top athletes, their achievements are temporary, whereas the impact we make on others is lasting.''

I rise today not only to honor these great athletes who have not only achieved the ultimate success of being named among the fittest in the world, but to celebrate the sport of fitness in general. In an era when we are faced with less time for physical activity and the temptation and convenience of unhealthy food, it is important for all Americans to take simple steps to live long and better lives, especially considering the obesity epidemic facing my state of Oklahoma and our Nation. I believe CrossFit is helping in this fight against obesity and I challenge all Americans to challenge themselves to live a healthier lifestyle.

IN HONOR OF THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF HARRIS RF COMMUNICATIONS IN ROCHESTER, NY

HON. LOUISE McINTOSH SLAUGHTER

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today in order to express my sincere congratulations to Harris RF Communications on celebrating its 50th anniversary.

The division is a shining example of how a sense of entrepreneurship and perseverance can leave a lasting impression on an industry and a community.

Started by Bill Stolze, Elmer Schwittek, Roger Bettin and Herbert VandenBrul in 1960, the outfit has transformed itself from a basement operation in Rochester, NY to a $2 billion dollar business in international company producing cutting edge technology.

It is especially fitting that we celebrate this achievement as this radio is used and sought after by every branch of the U.S. Department of Defense as well as several of our ally nations. Today, their radios are seen not only as meeting industry standards, but surpassing them with their tbrward looking technology. Their products contain next-generation communications capabilities that are designed to be compatible with existing communications systems. Moreover, they can be upgraded in the future to grow as new software and encryption technology advances.

It is this superior design and production, which was recognized by the U.S. Army as one of 2007's greatest inventions that leaves me confident that our troops and those of our allies are in good hands while using Harris RF Communications products.

The company, which has given so much to the industry, should also be commended on their dedication to the community. Their mark has not only been felt through their donations to local educational institutions, but by participating in mentoring youth in engineering such as the newly established Harris Scholars Program for economically disadvantaged young girls.

However, no achievement is won alone, so I would also like to recognize all of Harris' local employees for the critical work they perform every day in support of our soldiers. Their care and dedication assure me that there are many more years of innovative products to come.

INTER-LOCAL PENSION FUND BILL

HON. RICHARD E. NEAL

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. NEAL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to introduce legislation to improve the retirement savings of hard-working union members. Specifically, members of the Inter-Local Pension Fund of the Graphic Communications Conference of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters do not have access to some of the same retirement provisions that other workers do. And I think it simply makes no sense.

The Fund, formed in 1950, is a 501(c)(18) pension trust that provides benefits to 12,500 active and 20,000 retired union members. Sixty-eight local affiliated unions participate in the Fund, and benefits are financed entirely by employee contributions and the earnings thereon. Section 501(c)(18) provides a tax exemption for a pension trust created before June 25, 1959 and funded solely by employee contributions. Further, the pension plan of which the trust is part must satisfy certain nondiscrimination tests. The Fund appears to be the sole remaining section 501(c)(18) pension trust in existence.

Madam Speaker, my legislation would simply apply the same cap to annual contributions to 501(c)(18) pension trusts that applies to annual elective deferrals in 401(k) plans. Those caps for workers in 401(k) plans are also adjusted for inflation. Without such parity the Fund's pension value will continue to decline. These workers deserve to be on equal ground as 401(k) participants.

Additionally, the legislation makes available to the Fund the same exception from the debt-financed real property rules currently available to section 401 pension trusts allowing for better diversification of assets.

In closing, Madam Speaker, these provisions will allow the Fund to better serve its union members and do so in sync with its tax exempt purpose of providing self-funded employee benefits. I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this legislation.

RECOGNIZING 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF ''TO KILL A MOCKINGBIRD''

SPEECH OF

HON. LAURA RICHARDSON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 26, 2010

Ms. RICHARDSON. Madam Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H. Res. 1525, which recognizes the 50th anniversary of the classic novel To Kill a Mockingbird, which was written by Nelle Harper Lee of Monroeville, Alabama. This novel has become an American classic and every year thousands of students across the country read it and grapple with the significant moral issues that it raises.

I thank Chairman TOWNS for his leadership in bringing this bill to the floor. I would also like to thank Congressman BONNER for introducing this important measure.

Growing up in Monroeville, Alabama, Harper Lee was no stranger to the racial injustice of the American South in the first half of the 20th Century. In 1960, she decided to publish a novel channeling the racial climate she experienced during her youth. This novel, To Kill a Mockingbird, is considered one of the greatest American novels of our time. Its depiction of racial inequality as seen through the eyes of a child offers a unique and insightful view of American race relations in the segregated South.

Madam Speaker, when I was growing up, students across the country read To Kill a Mockingbird in high school. While discussing the novel with one of my interns, Brittni Hamilton, I learned that she read the novel as early as middle school. I guess such a classic novel that raises such important issues about the social and moral character of our nation cannot wait until high school any longer. In any case, I am pleased that all the young people in our nation are exposed to the timeless moral lessons of To Kill a Mockingbird.

Madam Speaker, Harper Lee's novel is classic. In addition to winning a Pulitzer Prize, To Kill a Mockingbird has also earned Harper Lee induction into the American Academy of Arts and Letters as well as the Presidential Medal of Freedom. Since first being published in 1960, it has sold over 30 million copies. I am proud that our nation continues to cherish and appreciate this landmark literary achievement.

I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this resolution.

THE KINGDOM OF MOROCCO: FRIEND OR FOE?

HON. FRANK R. WOLF

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. WOLF. Madam Speaker, I would like to draw the attention of my colleagues to a letter I recently sent to Secretary of State Hillary Clinton as well as reports from nongovernmental organizations, NGOs, regarding human rights and religious freedom in Morocco and the Moroccan occupied territory of Western Sahara.

Since March, dozens of U.S. citizens and foreign nationals have been expelled from Morocco without due process on charges of proselytism. In the wake of this action, I have repeatedly called on the board of the Millennium Challenge Corporation to suspend the $697.5 million compact with the government of Morocco. As Americans deal with tough economic times, it is unacceptable for U.S. taxpayer dollars to continue to flow into a country which flagrantly disregards the rights of U.S. citizens.

I am continuing to press the MCC to act decisively to suspend the compact with Morocco until the government of Morocco agrees to the return of all United States citizens affected by the expulsions, thereby sending a clear message that these actions by a purported ally will not be tolerated.

Morocco's recent actions may seem surprising to many, but to those who have followed events in the Moroccan occupied territory of the Western Sahara, this is business as usual for the Moroccan government.

Yet the Obama administration has remained notably silent on these issues despite repeated calls from within the Congress to address these grave injustices. Just yesterday, the Senate Appropriations Committee passed its version of the FY 2011 State and Foreign Operations Appropriations measures which "directed the Secretary of State to submit a report not later than 45 days after the enactment of this act, detailing steps taken by the Government of Morocco in the previous 12 months on human rights, including deportation of U.S. citizens in Morocco without due process of law, and whether it is allowing all persons to advocate freely their views regarding the status and future of the Western Sahara through the exercise of their rights to peaceful expression and association, and to document violations of human rights in the territory without harassment."

I submit for the RECORD my letter to Secretary Clinton as well as reports by highly respected NGOs clearly illustrate Morocco's disregard for the basic principles of human rights and religious freedom as outlined in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, July 28, 2010.

Hon. HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON,
Secretary of State,
Washington DC.

DEAR SECRETARY CLINTON: I write today to express my continued concern about the situation involving Americans in Morocco and urge you to issue a strong statement in support of the American citizens whose lives have been uprooted by the Moroccan government's recent actions. I ask that either you or President Obama call on the Moroccan government to unconditionally allow all those expelled or denied reentry to return to Morocco.

Just yesterday, yet another U.S. citizen, Mike Hutchinson, was denied reentry into Morocco. This came after repeated assurances by the Moroccan government to the U.S. Embassy in Rabat that the expulsion order issued to Mr. Hutchinson last month had been suspended and he was free to reenter the country at a time of his choosing.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Embassy in Rabat remained blissfully unaware of the events unfolding at the airport. It is my understanding the U.S. Embassy had been contacted and was fully aware of Mr. Hutchinson's intentions to reenter Morocco and had in its possession the details of his flight itinerary. However, embassy officials failed to communicate Mr. Hutchinson's planned reentry to the Moroccan government to ensure his passage into the country.

The U.S. Embassy in Rabat has an obligation to defend and protect American interests in Morocco. This instance demonstrates a clear failure by U.S. government officials to carry out their basic duties. An American embassy should be an island of freedom which vigorously represents the interests of the United States and its citizens. These events clearly reflect that the U.S. Embassy in Rabat is falling short of its obligations.

Despite all this, U.S. taxpayer dollars continue to pour into Morocco through the Millennium Challenge Corporation (MCC). The stated purpose of the MCC is to form ''partnerships with some of the world's poorest countries, but only those committed to: good governance, economic freedom, and investments in their citizens.'' As a precondition to receiving MCC funds, the government of Morocco was evaluated on 17 key indicators of eligibility.

A recent report by the Government Accountability Office (GAO) on the Millennium Challenge Corporation found that on the 17 key indicators ''Morocco met MCC's eligibility criteria in 2005 and 2006 but has failed each year since.'' The failure of the government of Morocco to meet the criteria for four consecutive years shows a clear unwillingness to live up to the pledges made when awarded the MCC compact. The recent expulsion and denial of reentry to U.S. citizens engaged in work which provided humanitarian services to the people of Morocco should erase any doubt about Morocco's commitment to the core principles of the MCC.

It is unacceptable for U.S. taxpayer dollars to continue to flow into Morocco under these circumstances. By failing to suspend the MCC compact with Morocco, the United States sends a message to the world that we are willing to turn a blind eye to injustice, even when the interests of our own citizens are at stake.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter and I look forward to your response.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

FRANK R. WOLF,
Member of Congress.

STOP PREACHING OR GET OUT

Evangelical Christians In the poor world are rarely accused of undermining public order. All the more surprising, then, that in recent months around a hundred have been deported from Morocco for just that. The Christians, mostly from the United States and Europe, have been accused of trying to convert Muslims to Christianity, a crime punishable by imprisonment under Moroccan law, which protects the freedom to practise one's faith but forbids any attempt to convert others.

Rules against proselytising are quite common in Muslim countries but Morocco has long enjoyed a reputation as a bastion of religious tolerance in the region. Almost all the country's 32m citizens are Sunni Muslims but churches and synagogues exist, alongside mosques, to cater for the 1% of the people who are Christian or Jewish.

Such open-mindedness presumably appealed to the Christian missionaries who ran the ''Village of Hope'' home for children 80km (50 miles) south of Fez, a former capital known for religion and scholarship. The 16 aid-workers had cared for abandoned children for over a decade when, in March, the Moroccan authorities sent inspectors to the orphanage, then gave the workers a few days' notice to leave the country. Witnesses reported distraught farewells between the Moroccan children and the foreigners who had acted as foster parents.

Morocco's communications minister, Khaled Nacirl, said the missionaries ''took advantage of the poverty of some families and targeted their young children''. The aid-workers deny pumping the children with Christianity. But sympathisers say that even if they did, a few hours of preaching was a small price to pay for education and pastoral care. There have been further expulsions since then, most recently of an evangelical Spanish teacher.

Local residents are quick to point out that it is not only Christians who have been targets; last year a similar campaign was waged against Morocco's even smaller population of Shia Muslims. But the motivation for the crackdowns is probably political more than religious. Morocco's constitution is based on the hereditary position of the king as ''commander of the faithful''. Any drift of Muhammad VI's subjects away from the dominant stream of moderate Sunni Islam might, his advisers fear, diminish his authority.

The American branch of an evangelical organisation, Open Doors, which speaks up for persecuted Christians across the world, is backing a campaign by a Republican congressman, Frank Wolf, to press the Moroccans to be kinder to the evangelicals. Seeing that Morocco is one of America's closest Arab allies, the American administration has been notably silent.

[From the Star Tribune, July 24, 2010]

IS OUR MAN IN MOROCCO UP TO THE JOB?

(By Katherine Kersten)

Minneapolis lawyer Sam Kaplan—a DFL fundraiser extraordinaire—was a member of Barack Obama's national campaign-finance committee. In 2009, Obama rewarded him by naming him ambassador to Morocco.

The exotic posting must have seemed a plum job. Morocco has been known as an oasis among Arab nations—largely free of the repression that mars so many other Muslim countries. It's ''the opportunity of a lifetime for a guy from Minnesota,'' Kaplan enthused to the Star Tribune in April.

But since Kaplan's arrival, Morocco has turned from a diplomatic dream job to a depressing despotic reality. Since March, it has expelled about 100 foreigners, including 50 U.S. citizens. Among the deportees were foster parents at an orphanage, businesspeople and aid workers who taught the poor to grow their own food.

Their crime? Christian ''proselytizing''—against the law in this Muslim monarchy.

On June 17, some deportees told their heart-wrenching stories at a hearing convened by Rep. Frank Wolf, R–Va, cochairman of Congress's Human Rights Commission.

Witnesses included Eddie and Lynn Padilla, foster parents at Village of Hope orphanage. The orphanage—which has both Christian and Muslim staff—cared for 33 abandoned children and had operated for 10 years with official approval. But in March, the police moved in and swept through children's bedrooms while they slept, searching for Christian literature.

After three days of grilling, the Padillas and others were given two hours to clear out, as their children sobbed in anguish. Though no evidence was presented, their assets were seized and their bank accounts frozen. Since their departure, there is evidence that some children have been beaten or drugged.

Witness Michael Cloud, also a Christian, founded 12 centers that treat Moroccan children with cerebral palsy. Cloud testified that authorities barred his reentry as he tried to return from Egypt (where his wife was being treated for cancer). He was held for 13 hours and deported with no explanation. The ''hard work'' of 14 years was lost, he stated.

So how's our man Sam Kaplan doing defending American citizens from these egregious human-rights violations?

The Padillas testified that the U.S. Embassy had no time for them during their ordeal: ''They just told us, ''Do what they are telling you to do.' They offered no help . . . [or] any kind of counsel, just pack and go.'' Cloud testified that when he sought help, the embassy just gave him a list of lawyers.

At the hearing, international-law expert Sandra Bunn-Livingstone stated that despite victims' pleas, Kaplan refused to release a Moroccan government diplomatic note with a list of deportees, citing protocol. As a result, ''Americans who would like to appeal under Moroccan law . . . have been refused that right'' since they lack written proof of expulsion, she said. The British and Canadian governments did hand over such notes, she added.

Perhaps Kaplan had other priorities. ''A few weeks ago,'' Cloud testified, ''the American embassy in Rabat brought Moroccans to Washington, D.C., and fed them and housed them to help them brainstorm on how to build businesses in the Muslim world.''

That would make sense. According to the embassy website, Kaplan's goal as ambassador is ''to help fulfill President Obama's vision of a new beginning for U.S. relations with the Muslim world based on mutual respect and . . . mutual interest.''

In April, Kaplan responded to critics. He told the Star Tribune he had released a statement saying that the embassy was ''distressed'' by the expulsions. ''We hope to see meaningful improvements in the application of due process,'' he wrote.

What's Kaplan doing to alleviate distress and promote due process?

A top priority seems to be to impress the Moroccan media, which complained that his statement had ''stepped over the diplomatic line,'' according to the Star Tribune. ''When your press has been almost unanimously positive for 5½ months, the change is something that is different,'' Kaplan explained.

Cozy relations with the Moroccan monarchy are another priority. According to the Star Tribune, ''Kaplan noted that King Mohammed has spoken about judicial reform in the past.''

''We're not speaking out in contrast to what the government has said,'' Kaplan told the paper. ''We're simply joining with His Majesty and saying if we can be helpful, we'd like to do that.''

Wolf rejects this. ''An American embassy should be an island of freedom'' in the country where it's located, vigorously advocating for its citizens, he says. ''Every ambassador has to decide whether to represent Americans' interests in the country they're in or whether to represent the country they're in to America.''

Looks like Kaplan has made his choice.

[From Freedom House]

FREEDOM IN THE WORLD—WESTERN SAHARA (2010)

Talks between the Moroccan government and the pro-independence Polisario Front continued in 2009, but the two sides remained at odds over whether to allow a referendum on independence. Pro-independence activists continued to be detained and harassed, and the conditions on the ground for most Sahrawis remained poor.

Western Sahara was ruled by Spain for nearly a century until Spanish troops withdrew in 1976, following a bloody guerrilla conflict with the pro-independence Popular Front for the Liberation of Saguia el-Hamra and Rio de Oro (Polisario Front). Mauritania and Morocco both ignored Sahrawi aspirations and claimed the resource-rich region for themselves, agreeing to a partition in which Morocco received the northern two-thirds. However, the Polisario Front proclaimed an independent Sahrawi Arab Democratic Republic and continued its guerrilla campaign. Mauritania renounced its claim to the region in 1979, and Morocco filled the vacuum by annexing the entire territory.

Moroccan and Polisario forces engaged in a low-intensity armed conflict until the United Nations brokered a ceasefire in 1991. The agreement called for residents of Western Sahara to vote in a referendum on independence the following year, to be supervised by the newly established UN Mission for a Referendum in Western Sahara (MINURSO). However, the vote never took place, with the two sides failing to agree on voter eligibility.

Morocco tried to bolster its annexation by offering financial incentives for Moroccans to move to Western Sahara and for Sahrawis to move to Morocco. Morocco also used more coercive measures to assert its control, engaging in forced resettlements of Sahrawis and long-term detention and ''disappearances'' of pro-independence activists.

In 2004, the Polisario Front accepted the UN Security Council's Baker II plan (named after former UN special envoy and U.S. secretary of state James Baker), which called for up to five years of autonomy followed by a referendum on the territory's status. However, Morocco rejected the plan, as it could lead to independence, and in 2007 offered its own autonomy plan.

Because the Polisario Front remained committed to an eventual referendum on independence, the two sides failed to make meaningful progress in several rounds of talks that started in 2007 and continued through 2009. Also in 2009, some UN Security Council members expressed concern about the human rights situation and proposed that the council consider expanding MINURSO's mandate.

POLITICAL RIGHTS AND CIVIL LIBERTIES

As the occupying force in Western Sahara, Morocco controls local elections and works to ensure that independence-minded leaders are excluded from both the local political process and the Moroccan Parliament.

Western Sahara is not listed separately on Transparency International's Corruption Perceptions Index, but corruption is believed to be at least as much of a problem as it is in Morocco.

According to the Moroccan constitution, the press is free, but this is not the case in practice. There is little in the way of independent Sahrawi media. Moroccan authorities are sensitive to any reporting that is not in line with the state's official position on Western Sahara, and they continue to expel or detain Sahrawi, Moroccan, and foreign reporters who write critically on the issue. Human Rights Watch (HRW) reported that In October 2009, plainclothes police told two Morocco-based Spanish journalists to leave the El-Aaiun home of Sidi Mohamed Dadach, who heads the Committee to Support Self-Determination in Western Sahara (CODAPSO). Online media and independent satellite broadcasts are largely unavailable to the impoverished population.

Nearly all Sahrawis are Sunni Muslims, as are most Moroccans, and Moroccan authorities generally do not interfere with their freedom of worship. There are no major universities or institutions of higher learning in Western Sahara.

Sahrawis are not permitted to form independent political or nongovernmental organizations, and their freedom of assembly is severely restricted. As in previous years, activists supporting independence and their suspected foreign sympathizers were subject to harassment in 2009. HRW, which has documented several violations, reported that Moroccan authorities referred seven Sahrawi activists to a military court in October after charging them with harming state security; there were no verdicts at year's end. Moroccan officials appear to be particularly wary of Sahrawis who travel abroad to highlight the plight of their people and argue for independence. According to HRW, police in October 2009 began breaking up visits by foreign reporters and human rights activists to the homes of Sahrawi activists, rather than simply monitoring them; the police said the visits required clearance from Moroccan authorities.

Among Sahrawi activists themselves, HRW documented the case of Naama Asfari of the Paris-based Committee for the Respect of Freedoms and Human Rights In Western Sahara (CORELSO), who has been detained and harassed on numerous occasions over the years. In August 2009, he was sentenced to four months in jail after an argument with a police officer over the Sahrawi flag that Asfari had on his keychain. Asfari's cousin, who was with him during the encounter, was also sentenced to jail time. In another high-profile case, activist Aminatou Haidar, head of the Collective of Sahrawi Human Rights Defenders (CODESA), returned in November to Western Sahara from the United States, where she had received a human rights award. She indicated on her reentry paperwork that she lived in Western Sahara, and when she refused to change the document to indicate Morocco, she was detained and eventually deported without a passport to Spain's Canary Islands. Haidar was able to return home in December 2009 after a month-long hunger strike and considerable diplomatic pressure, but the authorities continued to monitor her and restrict her movements.

Sahrawis are technically subject to Moroccan labor laws, but there is little organized labor activity in the resource-rich but poverty-stricken territory.

International human rights groups have criticized Morocco's record in Western Sahara for decades. A highly critical September 2006 report by the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights—intended to be distributed only to Algeria, Morocco, and the Polisario Front—was leaked to the press that October. The human rights situation in the territory tends to worsen during periods of increased demonstrations against Moroccan rule. The Polisario Front has also been accused of disregarding human rights.

Morocco and the Polisario Front both restrict free movement in potential conflict areas. Morocco has been accused of using force and financial incentives to alter the composition of Western Sahara's population.

Sahrawi women face much of the same cultural and legal discrimination as Moroccan women. Conditions are generally worse for women living in rural areas, where poverty and illiteracy rates are higher.

OF LOUISIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. CAO. Madam Speaker, August 29th of this year will mark five years since the day Hurricane Katrina made landfall along the Gulf Coast. Tragically, 1,822 lives were lost in the states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Florida, Georgia, and Alabama.

As a result of what was one of the greatest disasters this nation has ever seen, more than 1.2 million people were under some type of evacuation order, 3 million were left without electricity for weeks, and hundreds of thousands were left jobless.

Yesterday, with the support of the members from the Louisiana delegation, I introduced a resolution observing the fifth anniversary of Hurricane Katrina's landfall.

This resolution honors and remembers the lives lost on that fateful day. It also salutes the dedication of those who responded in our darkest hour and those who have stood by our sides during our recovering and rebuilding. We simply could not have done it without the thousands who answered the call and recognized our need. Our rebuilding continues and we take each new challenge one day at a time. We are strong, and we will recover.

On behalf of my constituents in Orleans and Jefferson Parishes and all those across Louisiana and the Gulf Coast, I thank the American people for their generosity and support.

HONORING THE 90TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE 19TH AMENDMENT

HON. MARIO DIAZ-BALART

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. MARIO DIAZ-BALART of Florida. Madam Speaker, next month the United States celebrates the 90th anniversary of women's suffrage. On August 26, 1920, the 19th Amendment gave women in the United States the right to vote, and for 90 years, women have been actively participating in the democratic process.

The battle for women's suffrage was not an easy one. It took the courage and steadfast leadership of trailblazers like Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucretia Mott, and all the women who gathered at Seneca Falls so many decades ago and began advocating for the right to express their views and let their voices be heard at the ballot box.

As we celebrate this important anniversary, I urge women across our great nation to continue taking an active role in the democratic process and politics, and to exercise their right to vote, as they have for so many years.

In March, the House celebrated Women's History Month and remembered the accomplishments of women in our nation and around the world. August 26th allows us yet another opportunity to celebrate the history of American women and their accomplishments. Today women everywhere are breaking barriers and reaching new heights not only in the political arena, but also the business world, the fields of medicine and journalism, and in advocacy and human rights. Their contributions shape our society and make a difference every day.

It is unfortunate that in some areas of the world, women continue to struggle for equality and for their right to vote. It is my hope that the lives and work of American women can serve as inspiration to those who continue their struggle for basic rights around the world.

Madam Speaker, I ask that you join me in celebrating the 90th anniversary of the 19th Amendment, and thanking women across the United States for their activism and commitment to keeping the democratic process alive.

COURAGE COMES SFC RICHARD G. McDOUGLE 901ST MINIMAL CARE DETACHMENT COMBAT MEDIC OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY

HON. MARK S. CRITZ

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. CRITZ. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor a real American Hero, SFC Richard McDougle from Connellsville Pennsylvania, of the 901st Minimal Care Detachment Combat Medic of the United States Army. Richard has served in the Army for over 16 years, he is a Medic, a Angel On The Battlefield. Over in Iraq he contracted renal cell cancer, and even though it is in 4th stage, he fights on! With the aid of his wonderful wife Donna, a former Medic herself, he continues his battle each day. Who knows, what child may come from someone he has saved fields of honor. . . . who might one day save the world! His quiet courage and unrelenting faith is an inspiration to us all, and especially to his brothers in arms over at Walter Reed Medical Hospital. We can all learn something from Richard, as he never surrenders! Our prayers are with him and his family. I ask that this poem penned in honor of him and his family, by Albert Caswell, be placed in the RECORD.

COURAGE COMES

Amen!
Courage Comes. . . .
Comes in all shapes and sizes. . . .
All in our fine men and women in uniform, who death defies this. . . .
Who go off to war, as no one denies this. . . . who all in the midst of hell, upon each other so relies this. . . .
All for Brothers In Arms, for them will die this. . . . For there are all kinds of courage, so why this?
How does such Strength In Honor, one find this? From deep inside of ones heart, arises!
From Angels on The Battlefield, are so high this!
Arises, such splendid splendor. . . .
To such hearts of faith so rendered!
As Mac, you are such splendor. . . .
For you went so bravely off to war. . . .
All for your Country Tis of Thee, bore. . . .
And now that you've come home. . . .
As a new battle, a new fight you must own. . . .
All part of the cost of war. . . .
As now Richard, your courageous fight must begin. . . .
Step by Step, Day by Day. . . as your brave heart will not give in. . . .
Will not give way. . . . as for such fine heroes we all now so pray. . . .
All in your quiet courage, your heart so cries out let this war begin!
For a heart of faith and courage, can against all odds so victory so win!
With head held high, as Mac you so wiped all of those tears from your brilliant eyes. . . .
With the kind of courage, that up in Heaven so makes even The Angels sing and cry!
Fight on America's Heroic Son, as we watch in great awe. . . all to what heights your heart can run. . . .
As you us touch with your splendid grace, as your heart of courage brings us to tears and smiles upon our face!
For Heaven so holds a place, for such ones!
When, Courage Comes!
Amen!

MS. KAZIAH HANCOCK AND PROJECT COMPASSION

HON. JASON CHAFFETZ

OF UTAH

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. CHAFFETZ. Madam Speaker, I rise today to thank and to honor Ms. Kaziah Flancock, a true American patriot serving her country in a very unique and special way.

America's heroes come from all walks of life. Many of them, perhaps most, remain unsung heroes as they go quietly about, offering their service out of love for their country and countrymen with little or no fanfare or recognition.

One such hero is Ms. Hancock. From the bedroom studio of her little goat ranch at the base of Utah's mountains she expresses, through her love of painting, her love and respect for the men and women who have given their lives while serving in uniform. She refers to this effort as Project Compassion.

''It is our view that every fallen hero deserves to be honored and remembered and we will make every effort to that end,'' Ms. Hancock says on Project Compassion's Web site, heropaintings.com. She and her volunteer team of artists have sent over 1,750 painted portraits of fallen service members to grieving parents and families who live in nearly every state. They're currently seeking to complete at least 3,000 more.

Ms. Hancock asks no price for this touching gift, and won't accept payments offered. She considers her time, time which might have been spent on other paintings she could sell for thousands of dollars, a small sacrifice compared to the sacrifice made by these service members and their families. For those who have already paid the ultimate price, she feels it is the least she can offer. ''There is nothing that I'll ever paint, that will be more appreciated than that,'' she says.

The American Legion Auxiliary, the largest patriotic women's service organization in the world with over 900,000 members, noted in awarding Project Compassion its 2007 Public Service Award: ''Project Compassion struck a chord with us: healing through art.''

Ms. Kaziah Hancock has struck a chord with me as well. I am honored to have her as a constituent in Utah's Third District, and grateful to join with her in expressing our love and support for the men and women serving in the United States Armed Forces.

HONORING FLORIDA SOUTHERN COLLEGE

HON. ADAM H. PUTNAM

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. PUTNAM. Madam Speaker, today I rise to honor Florida Southern College for celebrating its 125th anniversary. Florida Southern is rapidly rising among the Nation's best private colleges under the leadership of its 17th president, Dr. Anne Kerr.

The Lakeland College enrolls 1832 full-time residential undergraduate students from 44 states and 31 countries. To further its focus on engaged learning, it guarantees every student an internship and study abroad experience. The college also has distinguished graduate programs in business, nursing, and education. Ninety-four percent of students report landing a job in their respective field or furthering their studies at another institution within 3 months of graduation.

The Princeton Review has given Florida Southern its ''Best Southeastern College'' and ''Best Value College'' awards in addition to including it on its ''Best 366 Colleges'' list.

Rounding out its pedigree, the Florida Southern Moccasins have brought home 26 NCAA Division II championships, including 11 in men's golf, 4 in women's golf, and 9 in baseball. The golf program has been successfully turned several players into members of the PGA Tour, including Rocco Mediate, Lee Janzen, and Jeff Klauk.

Florida Southern has overcome many a hardship to keep its educational dream alive. Since its inception in 1852 when it was founded by the Methodist Conference at the Florida Seminary in Micanopy, Florida Southern has moved four more times before settling into its present location in Lakeland, Florida.

Florida Southern won its charter after moving to Leesburg and awarding its first college degree. At the time, the university went under the name of the Florida Conference College and moved from Leesburg to Sutherland to Clearwater and finally to Lakeland due to devastating freezes hurricanes, a fire and a flu epidemic.

The campus itself is an international treasure, having been designated as a National Historic District due to having the largest collection of Frank Lloyd Wright architecture in the world. Wright's relationship with the college began when Florida Southern's 1938 president Dr. Ludd Spivey invited the internationally-renowned architect to design ''a great education temple in Florida.'' Wright designed 18 structures for the campus, 12 coming into fruition.

In his over 500 completed works, Wright promoted a style he called organic architecture—which aimed to harmonize the building with the natural world around it. In first tour of the Lakeland area, he reportedly envisioned buildings rising ''out of the ground, into the light and into the sun.'' These beautiful and unique buildings have helped make Florida Southern College a top destination for education.

On behalf of Florida's 12th Congressional District, I wish to congratulate President Kerr and the Board of Trustees for leading Florida Southern to such tremendous success. Florida Southern College is well on its way to another stellar 125 years.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. JOHN A. YARMUTH

OF KENTUCKY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. YARMUTH. Madam Speaker, I was unable to cast the recorded votes for rollcall 488, 489, and 490. Had I been present, I would have voted ''no'' for these measures: H.R. 5850, on agreeing to the Boehner Amendment; H.R. 5850, on agreeing to the Latham Amendment; and H.R. 5850, on agreeing to the Culberson Amendment.

NATIONAL CRIMINAL JUSTICE COMMISSION ACT OF 2010

SPEECH OF

HON. HENRY C. ''HANK'' JOHNSON, JR.

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, July 27, 2010

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my support for H.R. 5143, the National Criminal Justice Commission Act of 2010. I want to commend Representative DELAHUNT for his leadership on this legislation and dedication to our nation's criminal justice system.

H.R. 5143 establishes the National Criminal Justice Commission and directs that commission to review all areas of the criminal justice system, including costs, practices, and policies. It also directs the commission to make findings upon their review and recommendations for changes to prevent, deter, and reduce crime and violence, reduce recidivism, improve cost-effectiveness, and ensure interests of justice at every step of the criminal justice system.

As an attorney and former judge, I can say with confidence that I believe our criminal justice system is flawed. It is an expensive system that is in many ways ineffective. It is important that this commission be established and put to work immediately. We can no longer be satisfied with allowing crime to fester and spread throughout the nation, especially among our youth. Real solutions to deter crime are possible if we only take the time to invest in them. It's time we identify the problems in our criminal justice system and make tangible efforts to ameliorate the system.

In our efforts to create ''a more perfect union'', we have to take a closer look at our nation and work to make our nation better for our children and the generations to follow. H.R. 5143 gives us an opportunity to do that.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support and pass H.R. 5143, the National Criminal Justice Commission Act of 2010.

HONORING THE CHILDREN'S MUSEUM IN OAK LAWN

HON. DANIEL LIPINSKI

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. LIPINSKI. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the Children's Museum in Oak Lawn, as its staff and volunteers celebrate the first-year anniversary of the Museum's expansion to a new building.

Since it was first established in 2003, the Museum has become a well-known and much-loved institution in my District. Drawing 10,000 visitors when it first opened its doors, the Museum attracted over 85,000 visitors from over 36 states in the first year at its new location. The Museum gives children and their families an important place for fun and relaxation, while also actively immersing children in the joyful world of learning. The Museum's staff has taken care to align the exhibits with the Illinois Learning Standards required of schools. As a result, over 150 schools have reached out to the Museum to enrich their curricula and take their students on field trips. At a time when evidence increasingly demonstrates that learning environments and enrichment activities in early childhood profoundly affect later life outcomes, the importance of the Museum's work becomes increasingly clear.

From the Museum's beginnings in a small space of 900 square feet, it has grown into an institution that stands as a pillar of Oak Lawn, Illinois' 3rd District, and beyond. I look forward to continuing to work with the Museum's staff, volunteers, and supporters to strengthen the Museum for many years to come. I ask you to join me in congratulating the Children's Museum in Oak Lawn on its work and the first-year anniversary of its new facilities, as well as to wish it many more years of success.

INTRODUCTION OF THE MAKING HOME AFFORDABLE ACTS OF 2010

HON. JOHN P. SARBANES

OF MARYLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. SARBANES. Madam Speaker, I rise to introduce the Making Home Affordable Improvements Act of 2010. For the last eighteen months, the Obama Administration has tried very hard to make mortgage modifications available to struggling homeowners but the program has largely failed to have the impact we had hoped.

Average homeowners around the country are paying the price for an inflated housing market and a bursting real estate bubble—this is being felt acutely throughout Central Maryland. For every borrower who defaults, there are many others on the brink of default who are looking for a way forward.

And this isn't a problem that will go away quickly—an estimated 10 to 15 million Americans own homes that are worth less than they owe on their mortgages. These are homeowners with a strong financial incentive to default on their mortgages, irrespective of their ability to pay.

In a market in which the values of homes have fallen out of step with mortgage debt, I strongly believe that the best solution for homeowners is a structured bankruptcy process, including a judicial mortgage modification or ''cramdown.'' This is the process by which a bankruptcy judge reduces the value of a mortgage attached to a home, thereby reducing the monthly payment owed by the homeowner and allowing families to stay in their homes.

This would be only available to homeowners who elect to file bankruptcy, a lengthy and costly process with long-term consequences for individuals and their families—an avenue of last resort for struggling homeowners, not a new means for speculators to ''game the system.'' The House of Representatives passed legislation to provide bankruptcy judges with this authority, only to watch it die in the Senate. The political reality today is such that judicial mortgage modification may never become an available option for struggling homeowners, leading policy makers to search for an alternative.

Absent judicial modification, I believe that voluntary mortgage modification holds the promise of a better way forward for homeowners, but, as it stands today, it has failed to offer real relief to the millions of homeowners who are in desperate need of assistance. This can be attributed to a widespread unwillingness by banks to do right by their borrowers—the same borrowers who are acting against their financial self-interest by continuing to pay their mortgages each month.

The effort is also hampered, in part, by a bureaucratic and unwieldy modification process—one that is often overwhelming and unmanageable for the average homeowner. But working within the voluntary mortgage modification structure created by the White House as part of the Making Home Affordable Initiative, there are thousands of experts across the country who are counseling homeowners on how to navigate this process.

These expert counselors are too often the last line of defense between a struggling homeowner and a lender seeking to foreclose and cast families out of their homes. Sadly, they do not have the resources they need to help the staggering number homeowners in crisis—a number projected to rise significantly in the coming months.

That is why I am introducing the Making Home Affordable Improvements Act—legislation that will direct funding designated for the big banks, as part of the Home Affordable Modification Program (HAMP), to the National Foreclosure Mitigation Counseling Program.

Federal foreclosure mitigation funding has enabled housing and mortgage experts to work with homeowners to avoid foreclosure, offering counsel on budgeting and planning as well as offering assistance in negotiating mortgage modifications with servicers. With this new funding, comes more stringent demands on banks, financial servicers and counselors.

The Making Home Affordable Improvements Act seeks to achieve two goals. First, for counselors working with borrowers struggling to stay in their homes, this legislation provides a small, lump-sum payment for each temporary trial modification arranged. But the ultimate goal must be either a permanent modification of the terms of their mortgage or an orderly, foreclosure-free exit from their homes. Unfortunately, there has been a substantial disconnect between the number of temporary agreements made between borrowers and servicers and the number of homeowners that ultimately receive permanent relief. That is why this legislation places a priority on permanent modification by providing counselors with a greater incentive to see these borrowers through to the end.

Because we have struggled to get access to meaningful data on the mortgage modifications performed by financial servicers, this legislation also requires regular, public disclosures by participating servicers.

Madam Speaker, this is not a perfect solution and I hope we will continue to look for ways to restore the authority for judges to modify mortgages through the bankruptcy process. But, in the meantime, lenders and servicers can and must do more to help struggling homeowners stay in their homes. By providing additional resources for mortgage modification counselors, we can provide expert assistance to struggling homeowners who are seeking an equitable agreement with their lender.

CONGRATULATING THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA'S MAJORETTES ON WINNING THE 2010 NATIONAL COLLEGIATE CHAMPIONSHIP

HON. PAUL C. BROUN

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. BROUN of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I, along with Congressman JACK KINGSTON rise today to congratulate the Majorettes from our Alma Mater, the University of Georgia on winning the 2010 National Collegiate Championship.

It is often stated in Athens that "there is nothing finer in the land, than the Georgia Redcoat Marching Band" and the fact that our Majorettes have brought home yet another championship make that statement all the more true.

At every football game, whether home or away, these thirteen young women perform alongside the band, contributing to the pride and spirit of everyone who wears the Red and Black. They can also be seen at community events, pep rallies, and various sporting venues.

Their commitment to excellence and success is indicative of what the University as a whole strives for, to provide an avenue for young people to reach their fullest potential. We, along with the rest of the BullDawg Nation, commend these young ladies on their achievement and wish them well in all their future endeavors.

Go Dawgs!

HONORING THE 120TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE FEDERAL DEPOSITORY LIBRARY AT THE HOYT LIBRARY

HON. DALE E. KILDEE

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. KILDEE. Madam Speaker, on August 12th the Hoyt Library in Saginaw Michigan will celebrate their 120th anniversary as a Federal Depository Library. One of the oldest Federal Depository Libraries in the United States, the Hoyt Library is the only Federal Depository Library in Saginaw County and one of three Depository Libraries in Michigan's 5th Congressional District. The Hoyt Library is one of five branches in the Saginaw Public Library system.

Saginaw native, Congressman Aaron T. Bliss, initiated the designation and the first publications started to arrive from the Government Printing Office during the summer in anticipation of the Library's opening on November 1, 1890. Congressman Bliss's correspondence regarding the designation is available for viewing at the Library. Harriet Ames was the first Head Librarian and the first Government Documents Librarian. A representative of the Government Printing Office will attend the open house to celebrate their 120 year partnership.

The Library has copies of documents from all three branches of government: the legislative, the executive and the judicial. Copies of the Congressional Record, federal statutes, federal court decisions, Department publications and the documents of independent agencies can be found at the Library. For the past 120 years, the Hoyt Library has provided the public with the opportunity to view and read historical documents. The Hoyt Library contains some of the oldest documents available at a Federal Depository Library.

Madam Speaker, Hoyt Library has continuously provided service to the residents of Saginaw since 1890. Under the leadership of current Head Librarian, Trish Burns, and Anne Birkam, Depository Librarian, library patrons are able to read about the proceedings of Congress, and Supreme Court decisions, and obtain information, and forms for government programs. The Federal Depository at the Hoyt Library is a valuable community asset and I ask the House of Representatives to join me in applauding their work of the past 120 years.

HONORING JAMES W. CONSIDINE, JR.

HON. THADDEUS G. McCOTTER

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. McCOTTER. Madam Speaker, today I rise to honor James W. Considine, Jr., a devoted husband, father, grandfather, son, brother and uncle and to mourn him upon his passing at the age of 72.

Born on May 3, 1938, James Considine, Jr. spent his life in Michigan residing in Detroit and West Bloomfield before making his home in Milford. James lived a devoutly faithful life and genuinely loved serving the Lord and the Catholic church.

On July 29, 2010, James Considine, Jr. passed from this earthly world to his eternal reward. James will be deeply missed by his wife of 49 years, Frances "Claire". He will long be remembered as a father devoted to his beloved daughters, Lisa and Linda and his treasured son James III. James was a wonderful man, kind to all he encountered. He will be truly and sorrowfully missed.

Madam Speaker, during his lifetime, James Considine, Jr. enriched the lives of everyone around him. There is no doubt that James was a beacon of joy, hope and inspiration to those who knew him. As we bid farewell to this exceptional man, I ask my colleagues to join me in mourning his passing and honoring his life.

RECOGNIZING EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR NEEL PARIKH AS THE RECIPIENT OF THE AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOCIATION'S 2010 SULLIVAN AWARD

HON. ADAM SMITH

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the contributions of Pierce County Library System Executive Director Neel Parikh, who the American Library Association has named the recipient of the 2010 Sullivan Award. I ask that my colleagues join me in honoring Ms. Parikh.

The American Library Association's Sullivan Award for Public Library Administrators Supporting Services to Children is presented annually to an individual who demonstrates an extraordinary capacity to support and enrich children through public library services. The Award highlights individuals who demonstrate exceptional understanding and support of public library service for children and produce the best projects and partnerships that help public libraries provide for young learners.

It is a privilege to commend Neel Parikh, Executive Director of the Pierce County Library System, as the recipient of the 2010 Sullivan Award. Ms. Parikh originally studied to become a South Asia specialist, while simultaneously working as a children's librarian at the Berkeley Public Library in Berkeley, California. However, after finding her true passion with the public library, Ms. Parikh changed her educational focus to library science and has since been serving as a librarian and administrator in Pierce County.

Ms. Parikh has become a leader in providing early learning, training, and support for families, childcare providers, and library staff both locally and across the state. While Parikh believes that early learning is a critical service for all public libraries, she maintains that teen services are equally important. She supported Pierce County Library System in becoming one of the first Libraries of Promise, which seeks to encourage people to build the character and competence of children by providing them access to additional educational outlets.

Ms. Parikh's leadership as a strong community collaborator is a testament to her success for advancing early learning forward throughout Pierce County. She has collaborated with social service organizations, schools, and community leaders to build services for young learners.

Ms. Parikh is a founding member and chair of the Early Learning Public Library Partnership, a consortium created with the vision that public libraries are full, essential partners in the early learning movement in Washington State. The consortium puts public libraries at the table with other early learning organizations. Under her leadership, the partnership has grown to include 27 public libraries across the state.

In addition to her library responsibilities, Ms. Parikh has been active in the Association for Library Service to Children, served on the Public Library Association Board of Directors, and held a seat on the Executive Committee of the Washington Library Association.

Parikh is the seventh winner of this award, provided by former American Library Association President Peggy Sullivan.

Madam Speaker, I congratulate Neel Parikh on this impressive achievement, and celebrate her commitment to furthering children's education through positive library experiences.

DOD AND DEBT/DEFICIT

HON. MIKE QUIGLEY

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. QUIGLEY. Madam Speaker, I rise today because we can no longer afford to ignore defense spending as our deficit rises.

The unprecedented federal stimulus package and two wars in Iraq and Afghanistan have put the FY 2009 federal deficit at 10 percent of GDP, its highest level since 1945.

As the federal deficit grows and we look for places to cut, we must be able to scrutinize every part of the federal budget—including defense spending.

Defense spending has more than doubled since September 11, 2001, and at $719 billion, the current defense budget, is the highest it has been since World War II.

Our discretionary spending has also grown by $583 billion since 2001, and defense spending accounts for 65 percent of that growth.

Accounting for close to 20 percent of the federal budget, defense spending simply cannot be ignored as we look for places to cut.

For too long we have followed policies that assume more spending automatically means more safety and more power.

But new critics of this unquestioned defense spending argue cuts to the defense budget can and should be made; and these cuts can be done without comprising our safety.

A new report by the Sustainable Defense Task Force, comprising security experts from across the country, finds that we could save up to $960 billion over the next ten years, without jeopardizing our national security.

The report outlines a whole menu of reform options ranging from reducing our oversized nuclear stockpiles to cutting our bloated force structure in Europe and Asia—all of which are possible due to the U.S.'s current security posture: We no longer face the traditional opponents we once did.

We still operate as if we are at war with an opponent as powerful as the former Soviet Union; but today the U.S. does not face a threat that even remotely compares to the Soviet Union.

Not even China, which spends barely one-fifth as much on military as the U.S., can compete.

The U.S. spends more on research and development than Russia does on its whole military.

Today, the U.S. spends more than two and half times as much on its military as the group of potential opponents, including Russia and China.

In other words, the U.S. could cut its defense spending in half and we would still be spending more than our current and potential adversaries.

As the Task Force points out in its report, our military strength far out-weighs any threat from our adversaries, and can easily be reduced while still maintaining our military superiority.

However, while we are building up our capacity to fight traditional opponents, such as China, we are failing to build a defense force capable of combating nontraditional opponents such as Al Qaeda.

We have spent $1 trillion and lost 5,500 American lives on large-scale military operations in Iraq and Afghanistan with little progress to show for it.

As Benjamin Friedman, of the Cato Institute, points out, our principal enemy Al Qaeda ''has no army, no air force and no navy.''

And the military assets most useful for counterterrorism are relatively inexpensive such as surveillance technologies, special operations forces and drones.

As the threats to America evolve, so too must our military structure.

But over the years, rather than realigning our military to meet current threats, we have simply added more requirements to our military, growing our defense budget by 9 percent on average every year.

There has never been a better time to reinvent our defense budget.

We are facing a growing deficit, forcing us to make cuts, and we have a defense budget ripe for reform.

Now all we need is the political will to make tough choices.

With limited resources we must choose, because the real ramification of overspending on defense is not simply that we will have too many unnecessary ships, aircrafts or missiles—but that we won't have enough resources to support vital domestic investments such as health care, education, and infrastructure needed to remain a superpower.

Military power is not simply about spending more than our adversaries.

Real military power, argues Kori Schake, a top foreign policy advisor for John McCain, is ''fundamentally premised on the solvency of the American government and the vibrancy of the U.S. economy.''

But in order to maintain that vibrancy we must get our fiscal house in order, and in doing so reexamine our defense spending and make cuts and reforms where necessary.

Secretary Gates said it best while paraphrasing President Eisenhower, ''The United States should spend as much as necessary on national defense, but not one penny more.''

Let's hold him to his word. Let's reinvent the defense budget.

CELEBRATING NATIONAL DANCE DAY ON JULY 31

HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON

OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Ms. NORTON. Madam Speaker, I rise today to ask the House of Representatives to join me in celebrating National Dance Day on July 31.

National Dance Day, in the Nation's Capital and throughout the United States, will celebrate dance as an artistic form and will promote the health benefits of dance. Here in the Nation's Capital, I will be joined by ''So You Think You Can Dance'' co-creator, executive producer, and judge Nigel Lythgoe, by Dominique Dawes, the well-known U.S. Olympic gymnast and a member of the President's Council on Fitness, Sports & Nutrition, and by the Dizzy Feet Foundation to promote dance as an avenue for physical fitness. Our partners, in addition to the President's Council, and Dizzy Feet, include the Kennedy Center, the Smithsonian Institution, the National Endowment for the Arts, the National Dance Association, and the National Council of Negro Women.

In addition to being an art form, dance can be an aerobic activity that helps to improve heart health, strengthen muscles, increase flexibility, and burn calories. Our country has a national adult and childhood overweight and obesity epidemic. Keeping with the spirit of the First Lady's ''Let's Move!'' initiative to combat childhood obesity and the work of the President's Council on Fitness, Sports & Nutrition, we will promote physical activity among children and adults, and have fun dancing, the exercise that many of us most enjoy!

On July 31, we will gather on the National Mall from 3 to 7 p.m. to watch, learn and dance, and to recognize dance expression, with ''Flash Dance'' instructors, Fluria Flamenco, Step Afrika, Beat Ya Feet Kings, Capitol Movement Project, DCypher, Banneker Ball Room Dancing Club, and many more. We will encourage physically active lifestyles by promoting all forms of dance for physical fitness.

Madam Speaker, I ask the House of Representatives to join me in celebrating National Dance Day on July 31.

INTRODUCTION OF H.R. 5987, THE SENIORS PROTECTION ACT OF 2010

HON. EARL POMEROY

OF NORTH DAKOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. POMEROY. Madam Speaker, I rise to introduce the Seniors Protection Act of 2010, H.R.5987. I am honored to be joined by many of my colleagues who have heard from senior citizens back home about the pressing need for Congress to provide this relief in light of the widely held expectation that there will be no increase in Social Security benefits for a second year in a row. The legislation would ensure that seniors, veterans and people with disabilities who receive Social Security and similar federal benefits receive a one-time $250 payment in the event that no cost-of-living-adjustment (COLA) is announced this fall.

Seniors did not cause the near meltdown of the economy that occurred in the last days of the prior Administration, yet too many are still feeling the brunt of its fallout. This bill would help seniors across the country who face the likely possibility that on October 15th, the Social Security Administration will announce for the first time ever—as a result of a long-standing statutory formula—that there will not be a COLA in Social Security benefits in back-to-back years.

The failed economic policies of the prior Administration left the nation in such a deep recession that, for the first time since automatic COLAs began in 1975, recipients of Social Security, Supplemental Security Income, Veterans Administration Pension and Disability Compensation, and Railroad Retirement benefits did not receive a COLA in January of this year.

Social Security benefit levels are quite modest—only $14,000 a year for the average retiree. Yet, the median income for senior households is a mere $24,000, reflecting just how much Social Security means to most elderly Americans. Six in ten seniors rely on Social Security for more than half of their income. About a third of retirees have little other than Social Security to live on.

Although economy-wide measures of inflation have shown no net increase since the last COLA, which reflected price levels in the third quarter of 2008, Medicare premiums and health care costs have continued to rise. Moreover, seniors' other sources of income have weakened as a result of the economic downturn: the financial collapse reduced the value of their IRAs; interest rates are low, reducing income from seniors' savings; and the housing crash reduced seniors' home equity. The one-time $250 payment for retirees and other beneficiaries would represent less than two percent of the average annual Social Security benefit.

Seniors who depend on their very modest Social Security benefits worry about meeting their basic day-to-day expenses. I have heard these concerns from seniors in my district and from Members of Congress who are hearing these same worries from their seniors. I am pleased those Members are joining me in introducing the Seniors Protection Act of 2010. Democrats are honoring America's commitment to protect the purchasing power of seniors' Social Security benefits.

For 75 years, and through 13 recessions, Social Security has been a steady and reliable source of income—never a day late nor a dollar short. And since 1975, when Congress implemented automatic COLAs, recipients of Social Security have been able to maintain purchasing power over time. Social Security is often the only source of retirement income that is fully protected against the corrosive effects of inflation.

This bill is responsive to seniors and responsible to taxpayers. My colleagues and I are committed to fiscal responsibility and will ensure that the Seniors Protection Act of 2010 shall not cause an increase in the federal deficit. When the bill comes to the House floor it will include the necessary offsets to comply with the PAYGO law.

The legislation is supported by seniors. With regard to this legislation, our former colleague Barbara Kennelly, President of the National Committee to Protect Social Security and Medicare said:

For the millions of seniors who rely upon Social Security as their only source of income, and millions more who rely upon it for at least half of their income, a one-time payment to make up for the lack of a COLA is not a luxury, it's a necessity. I applaud the Members of the Congress who understand that helping seniors maintain their purchasing power for necessities like health care, fuel and food, not only improves their quality of life but also helps the local economy.

AARP Senior Vice President Drew Nannis offered the following statement:

For over three decades, millions of Americans have counted on annual increases in their Social Security checks to help make ends meet. This year, 41 million older Americans did not receive a Social Security COLA, the first time since automatic Social Security adjustments went into effect in 1975.

This relief will put money in the pockets of millions of older Americans struggling to make ends meet—money likely to be injected directly into our fragile economy.

Edward F. Coyle, Executive Director of the Alliance for Retired Americans said:

Seniors are struggling to get by. $250 may not seem like much on Wall Street, but to retirees on Main Street it could be what allows them to pay their electric bill or buy groceries. We must make sure Social Security meets today's basic needs.

I urge my colleagues to stand up for seniors and support the Senior Protection Act of 2010.

MS. BARBARA YARBOUGH'S 50TH YEAR OF SERVICE AT MIDLAND INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

HON. K. MICHAEL CONAWAY

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. CONAWAY. Madam Speaker, I always enjoy being able to share stories about the great people of District 11 with my colleagues. Today, I would like to share the story of Barbara Yarbrough, a treasured citizen of Midland, Texas, who I am privileged to represent in this House.

Barbara grew up in what many of us would consider difficult circumstances. Orphaned at the age of eight, she and her younger brother spent four years homeless until an Aunt took them in. Her Aunt encouraged her to go to college, telling her that If she graduated, she could do anything.

I do not know if Barbara's Aunt knew then how right she would be, but I am proud to say that Barbara has accomplished everything one individual could hope to in a life devoted to serving the communities she has called home.

In Midland, Barbara is a living legend. For almost forty years, she taught two generations of Midlanders, serving as an advisor, a confidant, a cheerleader, a mentor, and a friend to every student who sat in her classroom. After retiring from teaching, Barbara tackled new challenges, and now works as a parent liaison in the Midland school district. Through this office, she works with parents and families, offering counseling, advice, parenting classes, health information, and support for parents when they have needed it the most.

I expect that most every community has someone like Barbara; someone who works nearly as hard or touches almost as many lives. I imagine that every member of Congress I serve with can think of someone that might compare. But, I know that I represent the one and only Barbara Yarbough. She Is a singular individual, a truly unique soul, who my community is blessed to be able to call our own. She is also a near and dear friend to me, who I am honored to be able to brag on here today.

This August, Barbara celebrates 50 years of serving the students, parents, and employees of the Midland Independent School District, I would like to offer my humblest gratitude to her for her five decades of service and her genuine, unwavering, and unflinching concern for the people of Midland. She has been and will continue to be a friend to many and a servant to all.

May God bless her as she has blessed us.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULEMAKING REGARDING ''GAINFUL EMPLOYMENT''

HON. ALCEE L. HASTINGS

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. HASTINGS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to express serious concerns regarding the Department of Education's recent Notice of Proposed Rulemaking regarding ''gainful employment.''

As it is currently proposed, the Department's approach will lead to serious educational capacity cutbacks in critically important fields such as nursing and education and will disproportionately affect low-income and minority students.

Today, 2.8 million students attend career colleges. Seventy-six percent of these students live independently, without parental support. Sixty-three percent are 24 years old or older. Fifty-four percent delayed postsecondary education after high school. Forty-seven percent have dependent children, and almost one-third of these students are single parents.

The Department's suggested approach will disproportionately harm these nontraditional and lower-income students who have no choice but to rely on student loans to pursue a postsecondary education and need the flexibility career colleges provide.

On May 18, I along with thirteen of my colleagues were assured during a meeting with Secretary Duncan that our concerns would be taken into account, but thus far, I have difficulty believing that that was anything more than a facade. The proposal does not reflect our previously stated concerns and recent discussions indicate that rather than a productive dialogue with the administration, Members will receive little more than a formal response once the rule is set in stone.

The ''gainful employment'' provision has been in statute since 1965, why is there this sudden rush to get this done by a drop, dead certain date? We all agree that both tax payer funds and students' best interests should be protected, but rushing into a blanket approach that will limit student access to higher education and fails to adequately address problem institutions, is irresponsible.

Throughout this process, I have been trying to gain a better understanding of what exactly it is that the Department wants to address.

If it is unreasonable amounts of student debt, well, I agree that is a concern. Let's then have a frank conversation on student debt, but it is not only the institutions that are responsible. Students, lenders, policy makers, as well as institutions must be part of this process and must be held accountable.

However, what student debt has to do with ''gainful employment'' is beyond me. Let's not kid ourselves; there is no connection between debt and future income and ''gainful employment.'' As any young Capitol Hill staffer will tell you, salary is no indication of the quality of their job.

I agree with the existing statute and the Department of Education that certificate and vocational programs should lead students to better employment. It is therefore shocking that there is no mention of job placement, professional certification passing rates, employer verification, or anything else job-related in determining an institution's effectiveness.

Madam Speaker, I encourage Secretary Duncan and the individuals in the Department of Education who are writing these regulations to visit some of the schools in my District to see for themselves the commendable job they are doing at providing professional opportunities to students who would otherwise not have them.

Higher education needs more competition and more capacity to expand access, improve quality, and prepare the 21st century workforce, not less. The Department's suggested approach detracts from the ability of deserving Americans to compete in the global economy.

I strongly urge the Department of Education to abandon this foolish proposal and go back to the drawing board. Members of Congress such as myself are ready and willing to work with the Department and other interested parties to ensure that we better protect our students and improve the quality and accessibility of educational opportunities across all sectors of our educational system.

HONORING THE 60TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE KOREAN WAR

HON. BETTY McCOLLUM

OF MINNESOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Ms. MCCOLLUM. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize America's Korean War Veterans and their service to the United States on the 60th anniversary of the Korean War.

On June 24th, 2010 the Department of Defense marked the beginning of a three year observance period for the 60th anniversary of the Korean War. I commend the Secretary of Defense for choosing to honor the sacrifices of our Korean War veterans. The American men and women who served in the Korean Theater sacrificed at great cost to protect our national security by preventing the expansion of communism on the Korean Peninsula. The legacy of their efforts is the democratic freedom enjoyed by the people of South Korea. The collective cost to the United States was terribly high, including more than 36,000 killed, 92,000 wounded, 7,000 taken prisoner of war, and 8,000 missing in action.

Our country owes all veterans of this conflict a great debt for their service.

H.R. 5962, THE AMERICAN BUSINESS COMPETITIVENESS ACT

HON. DANIEL B. MAFFEI

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. MAFFEI. Madam Speaker, no one likes to pay taxes. The people in my district and all throughout our country work hard to make a living, and especially in tough economic times, it is difficult to give up a portion of that hard-earned money. But, most citizens also appreciate that our taxes allow us to have the country we do—our taxes allow us to send our children to school, to keep our country safe, to provide Social Security, and to maintain our way of life.

In the words of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, ''Taxes, after all, are dues that we pay for the privileges of membership in an organized society.''

Yet, while many of our hard-working citizens understand this fact, they do not understand why our current tax code is riddled with loopholes. They don't like that certain people and certain industries—especially those with high-paid lobbyists and heavy influence in Washington—get special breaks. They do not understand why some people and some companies get out of paying their fair share of taxes, or why we reward companies with tax breaks for sending jobs overseas.

The worst of these special breaks allow companies to take advantage of U.S. tax deductions on income they make overseas. It actually rewards companies for taking business—and jobs—out of our country and sending them to China or India or elsewhere. Under current law, corporations can defer taxes on business income they earn through foreign companies while they take deductions related to that income when they pay U.S. taxes. In effect, we are encouraging corporations to ship jobs overseas—and then telling the American taxpayer to give them a special tax break! Not only is this provision unfair to taxpayers, it is unfair to companies that keep their operations in the U.S. and try to preserve American jobs.

Those are the businesses that employ our hard-working citizens and keep our economy afloat. Those businesses look at our complicated tax code and cannot understand why their competitors that ship jobs overseas are favored with special breaks. And they don't understand why the United States has a higher corporate tax rate than most other industrialized nations—which brings me to my second point. At the same time we're creating loopholes for some, we're putting our entire business community at a competitive disadvantage in the worldwide market.

China's corporate tax rate is 25%.

The United Kingdom's corporate tax rate is 28%.

Japan's corporate tax rate is 30%.

The United States' top marginal corporate tax rate? 35%.

The bill I'm proposing today aims to fix both of these problems. First, it will eliminate the irresponsible tax loopholes that only benefit certain sectors of certain industries. One loophole my bill closes, for instance, currently allows foreign corporations to avoid paying taxes on income they earn in the United States by funneling the money through different countries where we have tax treaties. This misuse must stop. We must strive to make our tax system fairer.

And secondly, I do not believe that the revenue raised by closing these loopholes should just be thrown back into the federal budget. Instead, I think we should use this revenue to help boost the competitiveness of our entire business community, by sharply reducing our corporate tax rate, to 23%. This is a major tax cut that would allow companies from upstate New York and around the country to better compete in the global economy—and it would ensure that all companies benefit, not just those with good lobbyists. Between revenue raised by closing these egregious tax loopholes and added economic stimulus of lower corporate tax rates, this legislation provides a good balance.

This competitive tax rate will give us back an edge—an edge over China and other countries whose tax laws have attracted corporations to move American jobs overseas in the first place. Our taxpayers, our businesses and our country deserve better, and this bill is a crucial first step toward making our tax system fairer for everyone.

A BILL TO ENSURE BETTER ECONOMIC DATA IS COLLECTED FOR THE TERRITORIES AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

HON. MADELEINE Z. BORDALLO

OF GUAM

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Ms. BORDALLO. Madam Speaker, today I have introduced a bill to require the Director of the Bureau of Economic Analysis of the Department of Commerce to publish certain economic data regarding territories and freely associated States, and for other purposes. This bill is timely and important to the economic growth of our insular areas. I want to thank the ranking member of my subcommittee, Mr. BROWN of South Carolina, for being an original co-sponsor. Additionally, I would like to thank my colleagues Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA of American Samoa, Mrs. CHRISTENSEN of the U.S. Virgin Islands, Mr. PIERLUISI of Puerto Rico, Mr. HONDA of California, Mr. SERRANO of New York, Mr. AL GREEN of Texas, and Ms. HIRONO of Hawaii have joined on as original co-sponsors.

The first section of this bill requires the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA) to publish annual reports on the gross domestic product (GDP) for the U.S. Territories of American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands (CNMI), Guam, and the United States Virgin Islands (USVI), as well as for the three Freely Associated States (FAS) for which the United States has entered into a Compact of Free Association. The three FAS are the Federated States of Micronesia (FSM), the Republic of the Marshall Islands (RMI), and the Republic of Palau (ROP). The economic data that the BEA promulgates and publishes are important for states and our country. These statistics are used by federal, state, and local governments for budget development and projections; by the Federal Reserve for monetary policy; by the private sector for planning and investment; and by the American public to follow and understand the performance of the national economy.

Historically, the BEA has not encompassed the U.S. Territories in its Regional Economic Accounts or as part of its annual State GDP reports. Until last year, a formalized, uniform and federal framework for estimating the GDP in the U.S. Territories did not exist. In March 2009, the BEA and the Office of Insular Affairs (OIA) at the U.S. Department of the Interior entered into a formal agreement to develop such a framework and federally assist the U.S. territories in developing and producing annual (GDP) statistics for their respective jurisdictions. The agreement established these efforts as the ''Statistical Improvement Program'' (SIP) and OIA financed it under its discretionary budget at $1.6 million over a period of 18 months (March 2009–September 2010). The results were unveiled this year, and the bill I have introduced today would direct BEA to permanently continue its efforts in estimating the GDP for these jurisdictions as part of its existing program and resources so that this important work continues.

The second section of this bill amends the Consolidated Natural Resources Act of 2008 (CNRA), Public Law 110–229, for the purpose of implementation of the new Guam-CNMI Visa Waiver Program and other provisions. The interim final rule issued by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security last year limited the full administration of the new Guam-CNMI Visa Waiver program and it did not fulfill the Congressional intent, established under the law. Secretary Napolitano used her discretionary parole authority to allow travel of certain visitors only to the CNMI. While this was an important action to preserve the CNMI economy, it did not fulfill the intent of a new joint visa waiver program.

Given that the U.S. Department of Homeland Security is in the process of issuing a final rule regarding the joint Guam-Visa Waiver Program, this bill is timely and essential in preserving the regional economy of Guam and the CNMI. Most importantly the bill requires the Secretary of DHS to ''provide for an alternative procedure'' to achieve the benefits that formal inclusion of countries determined to have had significant economic benefit in the CNMI would otherwise bring under the Guam-Northern Mariana Islands Visa Waiver Program. The bill does not specify or give definition to a scope of possible ''alternative procedures;'' it leaves it to the discretion of the Secretary of DHS. This is important to the economy of the Western Pacific, as tourism remains our largest industry.

I look forward to working with my colleagues as this bill moves forward in the legislative process.

HONORING THE WORK OF THE NISQUALLY LAND TRUST

HON. ADAM SMITH

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the Nisqually Land Trust and their exceptional efforts to address the Northwest's continuously challenging coastal issues.

The Coastal America Partnership awarded the Nisqually Land Trust and its Red Salmon Restoration Team partners with the 13th Annual 2010 Coastal America Spirit Award. This national award was given in recognition of the Red Salmon Restoration Team's restoration of salmon and migratory bird habitat located in the Land Trust's Red Salmon Creek Management Unit in the Nisqually River Delta.

In partnership with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Nisqually Tribe, Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife, Veterans Conservation Corps, Nisqually Stream Stewards, Pierce County Stream Team, Intel Corporation, and various school groups, the Nisqually Land Trust has provided superior leadership in protecting, preserving, and restoring the region's coastal resources and ecosystems.

Established in 1992, the Coastal America Partnership is a coalition of Federal agencies, State and local governments, and private organizations that work to protect, preserve, and restore the nation's coasts. Coastal America regional teams have initiated more than 700 restoration protection projects in 26 states, restoring thousands of acres of wetlands and protecting critical habitats.

Continuing the tradition of preserving the region's coasts and wetlands, the Nisqually Land Trust manages and protects over 2700 acres of land and habitat within the Nisqually Watershed. In addition, the Land Trust and its partners have been successful in permanently protecting 71 percent of the river's salmon-producing shoreline. As these efforts have helped to ensure the continued health and sustainable population of the Pacific Northwest Native Wild Salmon, it is clear why Coastal America selected this effort for its Spirit Award.

Madam Speaker, I congratulate the Nisqually Land Trust on its excellent work to protect and manage the critical wildlife and habitat areas of the Nisqually River Delta.

RECOGNIZING SCHERTZ TALES MAGAZINE

HON. HENRY CUELLAR

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. CUELLAR. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Schertz Tales Magazine, the monthly publication of the City of Schertz, which was recently honored with four international 'Awards of Distinction' at the 2010 Communicator Awards announced by the International Academy of the Visual Arts in New York City, New York.

Schertz's award-winning entries consisted of the July 2008 Magazine Cover; billboard design for the 2008 Festival of Angels event; poster ad for Artz '09; and overall design for the Artz exhibit.

Schertz' newsletter, founded in the mid-1980's, has evolved over the years into the popular monthly Schertz Tales Magazine format. Patterned after successful travel magazines and Texas-centric human interest publications, Schertz Tales Magazine's design reflects its namesake city's acclaimed quality-of-life and can-do spirit. Publisher Brad E. Bailey and his team have shaped the publication to offer important city news and business information while sharing interesting character profiles and local stories.

Schertz Tales Magazine serves a vibrant, fast-growing community that does not have the tradition of a local newspaper, radio station or other source of news and, yet, fills that void effectively. In fact, Schertz Tales Magazine's transformation from newsletter to an internationally acclaimed metropolitan magazine mirrors the emergence of Schertz from a small town founded by German immigrants to one of the premier communities in the State of Texas. Backed by the creative genius of Graphic Designer Alexis Souza, the magazine continues to evolve and grow.

With thousands of entries received from across the U.S. and around the world, the Communicator Awards program is the largest and most competitive awards event honoring creative excellence for communications professionals. Current International Academy of the Visual Arts membership represents a ''Who's Who'' of acclaimed media, advertising, and marketing firms.

Current and past staff members involved in the award-winning Schertz Tales Magazine include: Leslie Hernandez, Advertising Sales Manager; Mary A. Spence, Business Manager; Jessica Robinson, Event Coordinator; Chuck McCollough, Editor and Writer; and Chris Matzenbacher, Advertising Sales Director. City of Schertz City Manager Don Taylor, Assistant City Managers David J. Harris and John Bierschwale and the entire City Staff can be proud of the recognition bestowed through the IAVA.

Madam Speaker, I am honored to have had this time to recognize the Schertz Tales Magazine, a valued and recently awarded news source.

LOCAL COLLEGE TAKES NATIONAL BOWLING CHAMPIONSHIP

HON. ADAM H. PUTNAM

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. PUTNAM. Madam Speaker, today I rise to honor the women's bowling team of a college located in my district, Webber International University. In their inaugural year as a team, the Lady Warriors took home the 2010 United States Bowling Congress Intercollegiate Bowling National Championship.

The United States Bowling Congress Intercollegiate Bowling National Championship was held this year in El Paso, Texas on April 15 through April 17. The tournament pitted together teams from NCAA Division I, II, III, and NAIA colleges.

I want to acknowledge what an accomplishment it is for the Lady Warriors to bring home the championship title on their first year in competition. This feat has not been done since 1975. To reach this, the Webber team first defeated a team from Robert Morris College twice in the semifinals. Advancing from there, the Lady Warriors claimed the championship over the team from McKendree University. The final round ended in a 2–1 victory in a best out of three series.

The team's anchor, Hayley Beavis, was later named the National Tournament MVP. This victory is extra sweet for her because she sprained her ankle a week before the tournament in training and was unsure if she was even going to compete. Teammate Ashley Galante was named as a National Collegiate Bowling Coaches Association Honorable Mention All-American for the season. They were both backed by the strong contributions from fellow teammates Yoselin Leon Garcia, Stephanie Martins, Jessica Santiago, Katie Thoronton, and Brittney Mari. The team was coached by Head Coach Randy Stoughton and assistant coaches Joe Slowinski and Del Warren.

The same team later received the Polk County Female Collegiate Team of the Year Award. This is the first team from Webber International University to receive such an award. The Polk County All Sports Award is meant to honor the areas best high school, college, and professional athletes.

Established in 1927, Webber International University hosts just over 600 undergraduate and postgraduate students. Supported by 45 faculty members, this Babson Park institution not only achieves excellence in sport, but their long tradition of superb education.

On behalf of Florida's 12th Congressional District, I wish to congratulate Hayley Beavis, Ashley Galante, and the whole Lady Warriors team.

HONORING MICHELLE STAUFFER

HON. GEORGE RADANOVICH

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. RADANOVICH. Madam Speaker, I rise today to commend and congratulate Michelle Stauffer upon her retirement from Wawona School.

Mrs. Michelle Stauffer has spent the past 29 years serving as a teaching principal at Wawona School; a kindergarten through sixth grade, one-room elementary school in Yosemite National Park. Wawona School has been serving the children that live in the park since the late 1800's. Park rangers, firefighters and other National Park Service employees rely on this community school, and Mrs. Stauffer, to educate and nurture their children. During its existence, the school has educated the children of many Yosemite pioneer families, including the Washburn, Bruce and Gordon families.

Mrs. Stauffer is dedicated to providing a solid education for the students. Field trips to Washington D.C., museums, live theater and the San Francisco Opera are part of the curriculum at Wawona School. Mrs. Stauffer believes these field trips are an important part of exposing her students to life outside of the park.

Mrs. Stauffer is an extraordinary person and educator. She is dedicated to the Yosemite community and especially to her students. She is committed to providing her students with the very best education in the most nurturing environment possible.

Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Michelle Stauffer for her dedicated service to the student of Wawona School. I invite my colleagues to join me in wishing Mrs. Stauffer many years of continued success.

PREVENTING SOCIAL SECURITY FRAUD ACT OF 2010

HON. LINDA T. SÁNCHEZ

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Ms. LINDA T. SÁNCHEZ of California. Madam Speaker, I rise today to introduce the ''Preventing Social Security Fraud Act of 2010.'' This bill will reduce the Social Security Disability backlog by punishing insurance companies that force policyholders to fraudulently apply for disability benefits.

The initial application backlog for Social Security Disability will be more than 1 million applicants by October. The disability hearing backlog sits at an average of 446 days with 718,000 people waiting for a hearing.

Despite these staggering numbers, a handful of bad actors in the insurance industry force individuals who are capable of working to apply for disability benefits, and when denied, forces them to appeal the decision again and again.

These companies do this because it benefits them financially. Each application in the disability process lower's the company's cash reserve requirement. The companies also know that if one of their policyholders happens to hit the jackpot and receive Social Security benefits, then the insurer can lower its monthly payout to the policyholder by that amount.

Nevermind that these individual policyholders must certify under threat of fine or imprisonment when applying for benefits that their claim is legitimate. The policyholder is forced to take all the risk, while the insurer wins either way.

The legislation I am introducing today requires insurers to certify to the Social Security Administration that a claim is legitimate when it forces a policyholder to apply for Social Security Disability. It is important that we protect the right of all Americans to apply for these benefits and appeal legitimate claims.

This bill in no way threatens that system. For those who apply for disability on their own, nothing changes. For those who are forced by their insurers, I merely ask that the insurer take the same oath required of their policyholder and stand by the claim.

I urge my colleagues to support this important legislation.

SUPPORT FOR THE REUNIFICATION OF CYPRUS

HON. BRAD SHERMAN

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. SHERMAN. Madam Speaker, I wish to speak today about an injustice that has been taking place in Cyprus for the last 36 years.

In 1974, when hostilities broke out on the small island, Turkey began its military occupation of more than one-third of Cypriot land.

Nearly ten years later, the Turks declared this land to be the ''Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus''. To this day, the only country to recognize this declaration is Turkey, which still illegally occupies the northern part of Cyprus.

Currently there are about 36,000 Turkish troops occupying the North of Cyprus. They stand as a physical manifestation of the barrier Turkey is putting up against Cypriot reunification.

Turkey has made other efforts to discourage reunification. According to the Council of Europe Parliamentary Assembly, Turkey has deliberately and continuously modified the demographics of the island, and they have enacted a system of ''naturalization'' that encourages mainland Turks to move to Cyprus.

This occupation is made all the more tragic by its needlessness. Thirteen million Turkish-Cypriots and Greek-Cypriots have crossed into each others communities without incident. They seek to live together as neighbors in countries to which they have emigrated. There is no reason for these peoples to be divided.

We have reason to be hopeful—Turkish and Greek Cypriot leaders have been engaged in UN-sponsored negotiations since September 2008 to reunify the island.

The United States has an important role to play in the reunification of Cyprus. We must ensure that we are doing all we can to make the island unified once more by working with the European Union, Turkey, and all citizens of Cyprus toward a peaceful and fair resolution of this decades-old conflict.

HONORING ERICA CHALKLEY

HON. GREG WALDEN

OF OREGON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. WALDEN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute and express gratitude to Erica Chalkley, who dedicated herself in my Washington, D.C. office to serving the people of Oregon's Second Congressional District for nearly three years. In that time, she distinguished herself as a talented young woman who dedicates herself unswervingly to her career, colleagues, and family.

Madam Speaker, it's tough enough to lose the only other Duck in my Washington, D.C. office. But much more than that, Erica brought an enthusiasm and positive attitude every day that will be sorely missed. Countless Oregonians have walked through the doors of my Washington, D.C. office and been greeted first by Erica, who made them feel at home during their visit. I received many exuberant ''thank you'' notes over the past few years that specifically mentioned how grateful they were for Erica's hospitality and charm.

In a sense, what they were really saying is that Erica made their experience in our nation's capital even better. That's no small feat. In a city with so many memorable museums, landmarks, and attractions, it says quite a bit that her service left such a lasting impression during what for many is a very special and personally fulfilling trip to Washington, D.C.

My colleagues on the Energy and Commerce Committee would certainly appreciate this example of Erica's hard work and dedication to the team. When the health care bill was brought up for a markup in the committee last summer, my senior policy advisor on health care issues was out of the office on maternity leave. So Erica stepped in to pinch hit for, essentially, her first Major League at-bat.

Madam Speaker, that marathon markup on the 2,032-page bill was Erica's very first hands-on experience in the committee process. Without missing a beat, she dove headfirst into the complicated new policy implications of this massive piece of legislation. Put in a similar position, many others might have been intimidated by the pressure and greatly elevated stakes. She held more than her own, even helping me successfully attach several amendments important to rural Oregon to the committee version of the bill.

As I'm sure you can imagine, Madam Speaker, it is bittersweet to lose a member of the team like Erica. On the one hand, it is never easy to replace someone who brings to the table an outgoing personality, strong work ethic, and commitment to public service. But on the other hand, it's impossible not to be happy for her as she enters what will no doubt be a very exciting stage of her life.

While Erica is leaving Capitol Hill, she is entering a private professional organization where she will continue to remain deeply involved in public policy work, something that I know is a priority for Erica.

Beyond her professional growth, Erica recently became engaged to Danny Fernandez, a fellow Oregonian and former staffer for Senator Gordon Smith. They plan to marry next year, and I couldn't be any happier for the both of them—even if Danny hails from the wrong side of Oregon's Civil War. In all seriousness, they are two wonderfully talented individuals, and I wish them the very best as they go down the very exciting path before them.

Erica also became an aunt for the first time just a couple of short weeks ago. It must have been near torture for Erica to wait a week before heading down to Georgia to see the new addition to her family, but her pride in her sister and baby Seth has been evident ever since she announced the happy news.

Madam Speaker, I've already noted how constituents have showered praise upon Erica for her work. Just as importantly, I'd wager that if you polled my staff and the professionals who regularly come and go through my office, they would tell you that having the privilege to interact with Erica makes every day that much better. The world could always use a few more people like that. I can't think of many higher compliments.

SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2010

SPEECH OF

HON. JOHN J. HALL

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, July 27, 2010

Mr. HALL of New York. Madam Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 4899, although I have strong reservations about the situation in Afghanistan.

I am glad that President Obama has remained committed to the draw-down of U.S. forces from Iraq. In August, another 20,000 American troops will return home from Iraq, leaving only 50,000 deployed there. We are on schedule to have all combat troops home by the end of 2011. H.R. 4899 funds this process, providing supplies, ammunition, and fuel for the ships and planes bringing our troops home.

I am also supportive of the disaster aid included in this bill, which allows FEMA to help communities rebuild after recent disastrous weather events and gives aid to Haiti. Further, the bill contains important funding for health care for veterans suffering from diseases related to Agent Orange, including b-cell leukemia, Parkinson's, and ischemic heart disease.

Regarding Afghanistan, I am still convinced that the presence of the Taliban and al Qaeda there and in Pakistan poses a serious threat to U.S. and Global security. Our troops are needed to continue the fight against enemies who have shown themselves committed to, and capable of, killing American citizens here and abroad.

However, after more than 10 years of war, the situation in Afghanistan is still deeply concerning. A spate of bad news in recent months has served to deepen public mistrust over the previous administration's conduct of the war, and raises questions about how to move forward. We have reliable and repeated reports that the Pakistani Intelligence Service, the ISI, is collaborating with the Taliban, and that the rampant corruption in the Afghani Government of Hamid Karzai jeopardizes our mission and the lives of our troops. It is time for the United States to engage in a thoughtful, national conversation about the direction of this war.

Just last December, President Obama laid out his plan to refocus the conflict in Afghanistan and clearly articulate what we are trying to achieve and when we plan to bring our troops home to their families. Our commitment to Afghanistan is not open-ended, a point that must be reinforced to both the American and Afghan people.

Although we must continually re-examine our involvement in Afghanistan and Pakistan, it is important to remember our goals in Afghanistan are still worthy. Our troops are denying the Taliban the profits of the drug trade, promoting education for girls and women, providing power and clean water to villages lacking it, and working to build a functioning and stable government.

Ultimately, unless we make significant progress fighting the insurgency it is hard to envision the U.S. achieving these goals in any lasting way. Our allies need to show similar progress: The Karzai government must rein in corruption and Pakistan must purge its intelligence service of Taliban supporters. Without these developments, I do not believe it is worth additional sacrifice of American lives or resources.

In summary, despite these strong reservations, I plan to support this bill. The President announced his new strategy for Afghanistan only eight months ago, and General Petraeus has been in command for only a month. It is too early to pass judgment on their leadership, especially given the clear failure of the previous administration to pursue those who attacked us from Afghanistan while they diverted military and other resources to Iraq. I would strongly urge, however, that this be the last supplemental used to fund these conflicts. It is hard to envision how a war that has lasted more than 10 years can not be funded as part of the normal defense appropriation process.

HONORING THE LIFE OF MR. ARDILL WRIGHT, JR.

HON. ADAM SMITH

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, July 30, 2010

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Pearl Harbor survivor and influential community member, Ardill Wright, Jr., for his life of service to his community and country.

Mr. Wright enlisted in the U.S. Navy in Wichita Falls, Texas on February 14, 1940. On the morning of December 7, 1941, while stationed in Hawaii, Ardill Wright's peaceful morning was suddenly disrupted by the Japanese surprise attack on Pearl Harbor. While on the deck of the USS Raleigh, Mr. Wright narrowly survived a Japanese attack on his ship. Overcoming the chaos and disaster of that morning, Mr. Wright valiantly and courageously saved several of his fellow service members, most notably rescuing multiple sailors trapped in the USS Utah by cutting a hole in the ship's keel. Following the attack, Mr. Wright resumed his service aboard the Raleigh until the conclusion of World War II.

Following his discharge from the Navy in 1946, Mr. Wright moved to Washington State and became a member of the American Legion, Kent Post 15. Consistent with the American Legion's objectives to benefit and serve the community through the organization of local programs for veterans and their families, Mr. Wright co-founded the highly successful Kent American Legion baseball program in 1961. Additionally, Mr. Wright contributed to the Kent community by serving as team manager well into the 1990s, and ran concessions at Kent Memorial Park until 2004.

In honor of his tireless service to his community, the main diamond at Kent Memorial Park was renamed Art Wright Field in 2003. Additionally, that same year, Mr. Wright was presented with the Kent Kiwanis Citizen of the Year award.

Ardill Wright, Jr. passed away on May 25, 2010, in his Kent home. Mr. Wright is survived by his three sons: Joe, Ardill III, and Shannon, as well as his grandchildren and great-grandchildren. His life profoundly reflected selfless commitment to others, and his admirable citizenship and character continue to live on in the Kent community today.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring Ardill Wright, Jr., for his selfless commitment to others, his military service and heroism, and his dedication to his community and country.

RECOGNIZING 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE AND THE NATIONAL SIT-IN MOVEMENT

SPEECH OF

HON. HENRY C. "HANK" JOHNSON, JR.

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 29, 2010

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H. Res. 1566, which commemorates the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and the National Sit-In Movement. I want to give a special thank you to my fellow Georgian and the Dean of the Georgia delegation, Representative JOHN LEWIS for introducing this bill and for his own personal courage in participating in the Civil Rights Movement. Congressman LEWIS is an American hero whose bravery has improved the quality of life for millions now and in the future.

The sit-in movement was started by the extraordinary bravery of four young men in Greensboro, North Carolina. In February of 1960, these brave men started a movement that grew to more than 30 communities in seven different states in only one month's time. Even more impressive is how one and a half years after the inception of the sit-ins, the movement had attracted over 70,000 participants and a sit-in had occurred in every Southern state. The sit-in movement was truly a grassroots movement that showed the power of the cause and of the method. By choosing non-violent action, the sit-in movement was able to win hearts and minds across the country and led to the integration of restaurants, bus lines and public facilities all over the nation.

The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee is another extraordinary and influential group that played a major role in the civil rights movement. Founded in April, 1960, in Raleigh, North Carolina, the SNUG grew into a large organization that operated across the south. The group was inspired by the Greensboro sit-ins and began with an $800 grant from the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), founded in my home State of Georgia, for a conference where student activists could share experiences and coordinate activities. The conference was a success and was attended by 126 students in 12 states. Julian Bond and Representative JOHN LEWIS, both from my home State of Georgia, were among the attendees at the April 1960 conference. Congressman JOHN LEWIS went on to be the 3rd Chairman of the SNCC.

The SNCC grew to prominence, and put themselves at great personal risk, by organizing "freedom rides" across the deep south. At least 436 people took part in these Freedom Rides during the spring and summer of 1961. The SNCC grew into an organization of organizers dedicated to building community-based political organizations of the rural poor. After the Freedom Rides, the SNCC worked primarily on voter registration, along with local protests about segregated public facilities. As a final, monumental step, the group took the leading role in the 1963 March on Washington where more than 200,000 people marched peacefully to the Lincoln Memorial to demand equal justice for all citizens under the law. The next year, this group merged with Congress on Racial Equality and the National Advancement of Colored People with the primary goal of creating a desegregated political climate necessary to pass legislation to expand civil rights and voting rights for all citizens. I agree with Julian Bond when he said that "a final SNCC legacy is the destruction of the psychological shackles which had kept black southerners in physical and mental peonage; SNCC helped break those chains forever. It demonstrated that ordinary women and men, young and old, could perform extraordinary tasks."

The civil rights movement changed the fabric of America. The movement led to the passage of The Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voting Rights Act of 1965, which put an end to legal discrimination and segregation in this country. That battle for full equality is not yet over, however. As we move forward, we must remember the past and the resounding success of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and the National Sit-In Movement.

As a member of the Congressional Black Caucus, I am honored to address the House of Representatives on the fiftieth anniversary of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and the National Sit-In Movement. I walk in the footsteps of JOHN LEWIS and Julian Bond, great civil rights leaders from Georgia, whose heroism and bravery improved the lives of all Americans. Fifty years later, we all owe a debt of gratitude to the civil rights movement and I urge my colleagues to support this resolution.
