FOREWORD

Statistical publications like Hate Crime Statistics are designed to be factual presentations of data. Their purpose is not to evoke emotion, make pleas, or sway opinion. The neat columns and rows of numbers in this book cannot convey the suffering experienced by victims of crime—particularly when those crimes are motivated by bias against a particular race, religion, disability, ethnicity, or sexual orientation. Nor can these statistics depict the turmoil that a hate crime can bring to a community. The facts and figures can only marginally demonstrate the dedication and growing commitment of the law enforcement community to recognizing and documenting crimes that are prompted by hate.

Without the courage of the victims who come forward and the diligence of the agencies that contribute to this program, the statistics presented here could not be assembled. Through these findings, law enforcement and government agencies, researchers, academics, and the public at large can gain awareness of the nature and frequency of hate crime. Accordingly, only through awareness can communities further their plans to deal with this toxin of our society.

INTRODUCTION

In response to the passage of the Hate Crime Statistics Act of 1990, the Attorney General designated the FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program to develop and implement a data collection system for its voluntary law enforcement agency participants, numbering nearly 17,000. With the cooperation and assistance of several local and state law enforcement agencies already experienced in the investigation of hate crimes and the collection of related information, comprehensive guidelines for the compilation of hate crime data were established.

The Hate Crime Statistics Act was amended by the Violent Crime and Law Enforcement Act of 1994 to include those crimes motivated by a bias against persons with disabilities. In order to comply with this amendment, the FBI began collecting data on disability bias-motivated crimes on January 1, 1997. Also, the Church Arson Prevention Act, signed into law in July 1996, amended the Hate Crime Statistics Act by permanently extending the data collection mandate. The removal of the sunset clause from the original statute reinforces the FBI's commitment to making hate crime data collection a permanent part of the UCR Program.

Collection Design

The data collection effort is designed to capture information about the type of bias serving as the motivating factor, the nature of the offense, and the characteristics of the victims and offenders. When developing a reporting program, planners considered many factors. For example, they recognized that hate crimes are not separate, distinct crimes but rather traditional offenses motivated by the offender's bias. An offender, for example, may commit an assault because of his/her bias against the victim's race, religion, sexual orientation, ethnicity/national origin, or disability. It was, therefore, not necessary to create new crime categories. To the contrary, hate crime data could be obtained by collecting additional information about crimes currently being reported to the UCR Program. The bias motivations reported would be those specifically addressed by the Hate Crime Statistics Act as amended, i.e., prejudice against a race, religion, sexual orientation, ethnicity/national origin, or disability. Because of the difficulty in determining an offender's subjective motivation in the commission of a crime, bias would be reported only after law enforcement investigation revealed sufficient evidence that the offender's actions were motivated, in whole or in part, by bias.

The Hate Crime Data Collection Program has been endorsed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, the National Sheriffs' Association, the former UCR Data Providers' Advisory Policy Board (now part of the Criminal Justice Information Services Advisory Policy Board), the International Association of Directors of Law Enforcement Standards and Training, and the Association of State Uniform Crime Reporting Programs. These endorsements were crucial to the successful implementation of the program, for without law enforcement's voluntary data collection and support, any effort would be futile.

Training

Since the development of the Hate Crime Data Collection Program, UCR staff have provided training to law enforcement personnel in 50 states, the District of Columbia, and U.S. Territories. Personnel from state-level UCR Programs also conduct training in their respective states. Periodic training sessions continue to focus on the standard methodology used to investigate, recognize, and report hate crime.

Participation

In 1998, a total of 10,730 law enforcement agencies in 46 states and the District of Columbia participated in the Hate Crime Data Collection Program. Summary and incident-based data are sent to the FBI either through state-level UCR Programs (see Appendix) or directly from individual agencies in states without Programs. It is important to note that the agencies participating in the Hate Crime Data Collection Program in 1998 represented over 216 million United States inhabitants or 80 percent of the population. While not all agencies are participating in the Hate Crime Program, reports from those that are offer perspectives on the general nature of hate crime occurrence.

The collection of hate crime statistics at the national level will increase awareness and understanding of bias-motivated crimes. This effort will enable law enforcement agencies to better quantify their needs and allocate resources to the areas in which they are most essential. Law enforcement agencies have historically demonstrated progressive, professional competence in approaching criminal problems. Their response to the hate crime legislation is no exception, and participating law enforcement agencies are to be commended for their efforts in addressing this issue.

METHODOLOGY

Tables and narrative comments addressing the volume and types of bias-motivated criminal incidents reported to the FBI in 1998 are presented throughout this publication. The bias categories listed in the Hate Crime Statistics Act are race, religion, disability, sexual orientation, and ethnicity/national origin.

Criminal incidents can involve more than one offense, victim, or offender. For counting purposes, one offense is counted for each victim of a crime against person. One offense is counted for each distinct incident of crime against property and crime against society, regardless of the number of victims. The total number of victims in a given incident is the sum of victims associated with each offense that took place within the incident.

Hate crime data are collected for 11 traditional offense categories. Murder and nonnegligent manslaughter, forcible rape, aggravated assault, simple assault, and intimidation are classified as crimes against persons, and robbery, burglary, larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, arson, and destruction/damage/vandalism of property are classified as crimes against property.

In the National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS), the enhanced UCR Program, the hate crime data element applies to all 46 Group "A" Offenses, which include the 11 traditional offense categories. The sum of the 35 Group "A" Offenses not listed are combined and reported in this document as other or as crimes against society, whichever is appropriate.

Hate crime data are submitted to the UCR Program by city, county, and state law enforcement agencies in various ways. For example, data are received on a hard copy Quarterly Hate Crime Report which consists of a quarterly summary and an incident report for each bias incident. Individual agencies or state UCR Programs using personal computers for data collection and storage may submit hate crime data on floppy disks. Agencies participating in NIBRS are able to include the hate crime data element in their submissions via magnetic tape.

Section I contains tables showing the totals for the 10,730 law enforcement agencies participating in 1998. These agencies represented over 216 million United States inhabitants, and reported a total of 7,755 hate crime incidents to the FBI in 1998. These reported incidents involved a total of 9,235 offenses, 9,722 victims, and 7,489 known offenders. The table on the following page shows the number of agencies represented within each population group and the extent of population coverage.

Number of Agencies

[1] Includes universities and colleges to which no population is attributed.
[2] Includes state police agencies to which no population is attributed.

Section II contains tables showing the levels of state participation, the population represented, the number of agencies submitting incident reports, and the total number of incidents reported. (See Table 12.) This Section also lists the counts of hate crime incidents reported by each of the individual law enforcement agencies that participated in the Program in 1998. (See Tables 13-18.) To be included in these tables, law enforcement agencies must have submitted data for at least one quarter of calendar year 1998. These figures, therefore, do not represent complete 12-month totals for every agency listed. Caution should be exercised in attempting direct comparisons of hate crime totals among agencies due to the many variables affecting the volume and type of crime from place to place.

SECTION I

Hate Crime Statistics, 1998

During 1998, a total of 7,755 bias-motivated criminal incidents were reported to the FBI by 10,730 law enforcement agencies in 46 states and the District of Columbia. Of the 7,755 incidents, 4,321 were motivated by racial bias; 1,390 by religious bias; 1,260 by sexual-orientation bias; 754 by ethnicity/national origin bias; 25 by disability bias; and 5 by multiple biases.

The 7,755 incidents involved 9,235 separate offenses, 9,722 victims, and 7,489 known offenders. (See Table 1.) Seventy percent of the incidents involved only one individual (person) victim, while 97 percent involved a single offense type.

Offenses

Crimes against persons composed 68 percent of the 9,235 offenses reported. Of all offenses measured, intimidation was the most frequently reported hate crime, accounting for 38 percent of the total. Destruction/damage/vandalism of property accounted for 28 percent of all offenses, and simple assault and aggravated assault accounted for 18 percent and 12 percent, respectively. (See Table 3.)

Thirteen persons were murdered in 1998 in hate-motivated incidents. Racial bias motivated 8 of the murders; sexual-orientation bias, 4; and ethnicity/national origin bias the remaining 1. (See Table 4.)

When examining offenses associated with racially-motivated incidents, 2,084 of the 3,573 anti-black offenses involved white offenders, while 567 of the 989 anti-white offenses involved black offenders. (See Table 5.)

Victims

Eight of every 10 of the 9,722 reported hate crime victims were individuals (people); the remaining were businesses, religious organizations, or various other targets.

Sixty-five percent of the 9,722 victims in 1998 were targets of crimes against persons. (See Table 3.) Nearly six of every 10 victims were attacked because of their race, with bias against blacks accounting for 38 percent of the total. (See Table 1.) Sixty-seven percent of the 1,720 total victims of religious bias crimes in 1998 were targets of crimes against property. (See Table 9.)

Offenders

Law enforcement agencies reported 7,489 known offenders to be associated with the 7,755 incidents recorded in 1998. Of the known offenders, 66 percent were white and 17 percent were black. (See Table 11.)

Unlike victims and/or witnesses of crimes against property, those who witness or are victimized by crimes against persons are frequently able to assist law enforcement with the identification of offenders. Offenders were unknown for 3,686 or 48 percent of the incidents. Thirty-five percent of the 7,489 known offenders in 1998 were reported in connection with the offense of intimidation.

Offenders involved in religious-bias crimes are difficult to identify because most of the crimes they commit are against property. Clearance rates are historically low for these types of crimes. Law enforcement identified only 536 offenders in connection with 1,390 religious-bias incidents in 1998. (See Table 1.)

Locations

In 1998, the majority of reported hate crime incidents, 31 percent, occurred in/on residential properties. Incidents perpetrated on highways/roads/alleys/streets accounted for 20 percent, and 9 percent occurred at schools/colleges. The remaining incidents were widely distributed among various locations. (See Table 2.)

[2] The term known offender does not imply that the identity of the suspect is known, but only that an attribute of the suspect is identified which distinguishes him/her from an unknown offender.

[3] There were five multiple-bias incidents. Within these incidents, there were 15 offenses, 17 victims, and 14 known offenders.

SECTION II
Jurisdictional Hate Crime Statistics, 1998

A total of 10,730 participating law enforcement agencies provided 1 to 12 months of hate crime reports during 1998 to the FBI's UCR Program. The number of participating agencies by state, along with the corresponding population coverage, is shown in Table 12. The number of agencies recording hate crimes during 1998 is also indicated, as is the number of incidents reported by those jurisdictions.

The individual jurisdictional figures are presented in six tables delineating cities, rural counties, suburban counties, universities and colleges, state law enforcement agencies, and other agencies. The tables give the number of reported crimes motivated by bias against race, religion, sexual orientation, ethnicity/national origin, and disability. Seventeen percent of the agencies that participated in the Hate Crime Program reported that at least one hate crime occurred in their jurisdiction; the other 83 percent reported that none occurred.

Due to the many factors affecting the nature and volume of crime, care must be exercised in making any comparisons among agencies, even where agencies reported for similar timeframes. All factors must be considered before valid comparisons can be achieved.
