Assistant United States Attorney at Little Rock, Ark. conferred with; Applied to
[illegible]
[illegible]

Memorandum for Mr. Tolson, Agent L. B. DeLoach, Memphis, April 25, 1950.

Re: [illegible] Assistant United States Attorney in [illegible] and [illegible] advised against prosecution, stating he is of the opinion that the evidence does not substantiate the charge, especially as the arresting officers are unable to assist in tracing the car or to give any definite information relative to driver.

It will be noted in Memorandum of Special Agent J. R. [illegible] at Kansas City under date of March 20, 1950, that the investigation of Ottaviano, Kansas, failed to show that the Studebaker Sedan had been stolen, but reflected that it was the property of Subject Terwill. The report of Special Agent DeLoach, above referred to, discloses that Subject Texas had title to the aforementioned Studebaker Sedan owned at Hot Springs, Arkansas.

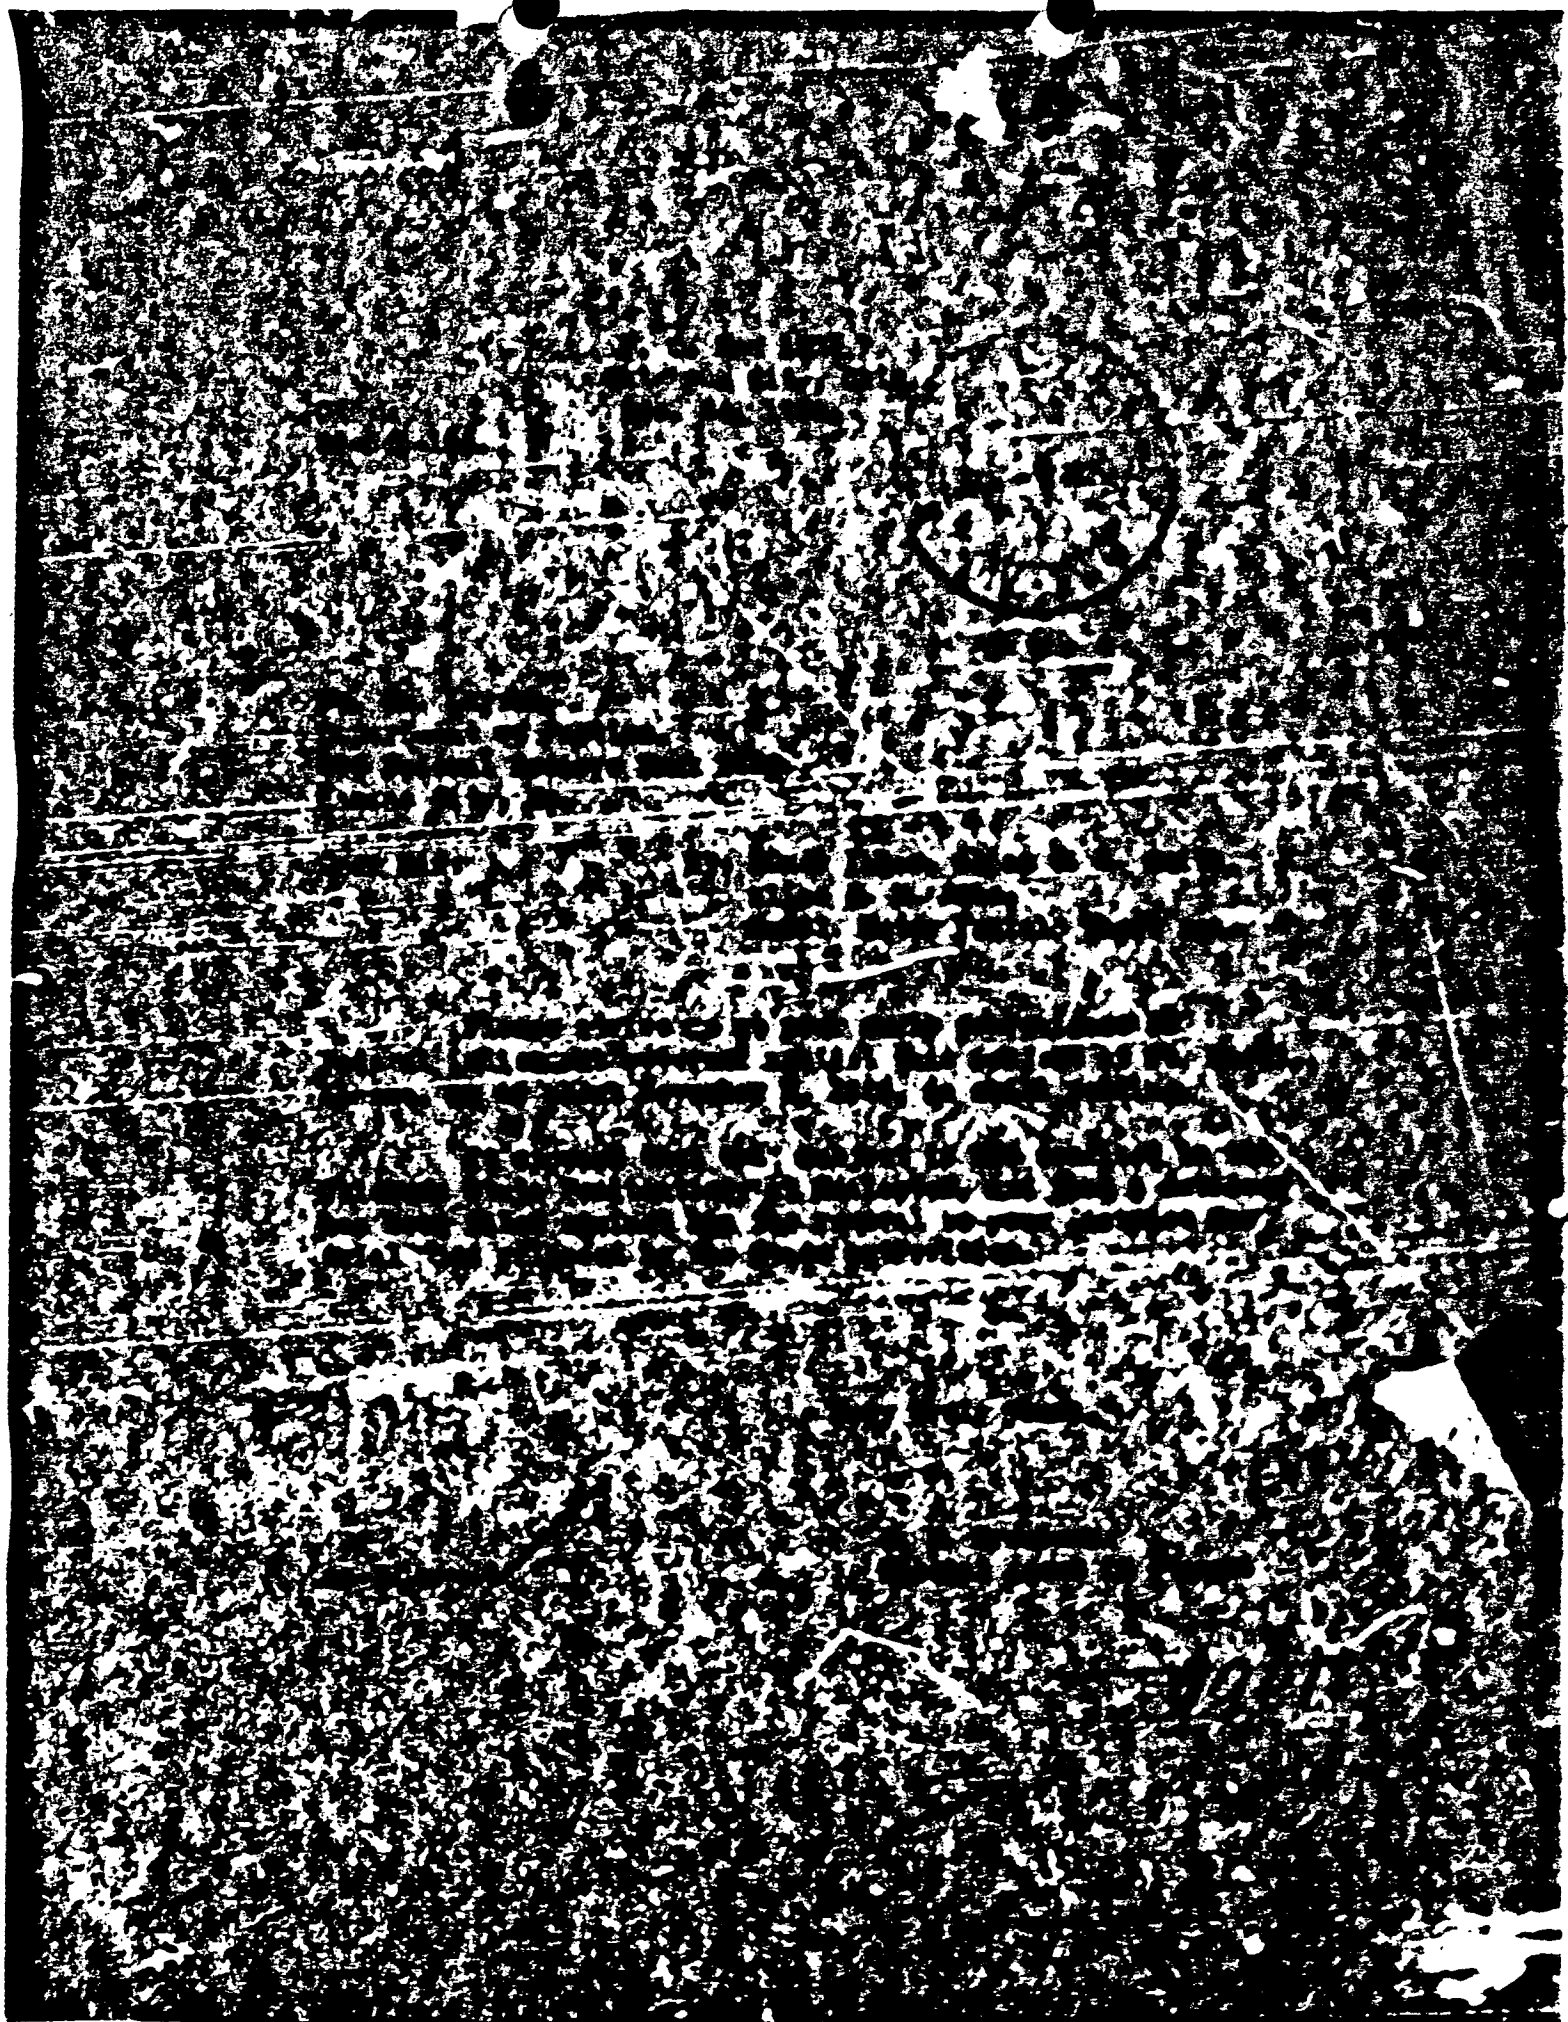

In view of the facts that Subject [illegible] will not be prosecuted and the investigation of [illegible] is in question, and that investigation fails to show the Studebaker Sedan to have been stolen, the case is closed.

Dear Sir:

Re: ELMER A. LEMAY,
N.S.P. Act

The above captioned subject was indicted on November 9, 1926 at Ft. Scott, Kansas for theft and interstate transportation of an automobile from Fairfax, Oklahoma to Ft. Scott, Kansas. Special to The Commercial Appeal
HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 25.—

After an exciting chase during which officers fired two shots at him, Ray Terrill, 27, partner of Mathew Kimes, notorious Oklahoma outlaw, now serving a life sentence, late this afternoon was arrested. With him also was captured A. J. Pittman. The wife of the man, who previously been apprehended at their rented cottage here.

Terrill readily admitted his guilt when questioned. He demanded, however, to state anything concerning his activity since June, 1925, when the Oklahoma Bankers Association issued a circular containing a reward of $2,000 for his arrest.

"I admit I engaged in an attempt to kidnap Terrill, but when it was for you to find out. I am not talking, and I'll not give you any information. It is now up to you to find out where I am wanted. There are a number of papers out against me but I'm not guilty of one half the number jobs I am charged with."

Pittman declared he had had no conversation with Terrill in any of his operations, and only met Terrill in this city about 10 days ago. He said he knows Terrill before coming to Hot Springs, and when he met Terrill here the latter Pittman said he had met Pittman and he was very friendly to him. He said he had met him at the cottage where he was arrested.

"I am a partner in the bank robbery," declared Pittman, "and I have already been arrested at the name of Danfield."

Auto Leads to Arrest.

The arrest of Terrill came when Chief of Police Joe Wakelin and Detective Herbert Akers went to the cottage on Pleasant Street to investigate the ownership of a Studebaker automobile bearing a Kansas license, which the local officers had been asked to look out for. Neither Terrill nor Pittman were home when the officers arrived, and while the officers were questioning Mrs. Terrill and Mrs. Pittman the officers found a leather portmanteau, which contained a full and complete set of burglar tools. The women were promptly placed under arrest. Before they could be taken to headquarters, Terrill and Pittman dove up to the rear of the house. Mrs. Terrill, looking to the back door and gave the alarm. The men leaped from the car. Pittman going toward Grand Avenue, but shot against him by the police. Terrill kept on running and two shots fired at him struck in their mark.

Terrill, who is the rear of a negro's home, nearby, entered through the bathroom and went upstairs where he was fortuitous in finding a suit of cloth that fit him. He changed clothes and even removed a small mustache he had worn. The negro woman heard a man walking upstairs and informed Constable John Young, who with county officers, had received a report of the shooting on Pleasant Street. Constable Young entered the house and found Terrill, who had come downstairs and gone to the rear, standing in the kitchen. His revolver in his hand, Constable Young got the "drop" on Terrill, ordered him to throw his gun on the floor, which the latter did.

A search of the cottage the quartet occupied revealed a large assortment of material in the back porch brought to headquarters. After inspecting of all the exhibits, however, was the collection of firearms, which were four revolvers, two pistols, two pump guns and a six-d-off shotgun, and every one of the weapons were loaded. The list of burglar tools also, officers said, is the finest they have ever confiscated. These are the large bag almost entirely filled with ammunition.

Two trunks full of cash and two bags of jewelry taken, together with a large assortment of other items, were packed up, which will be taken to the state penitentiary at Joplin.

Made During Preparation.

After Terrill had been briefly questioned, he offered that which the detective Akers $2,000 if they would permit him to flee from the city. Story window to the glass before, the officers said.

Little information was given by the women. In answer to questions, Mrs. Pittman said: "You men have had my husband for a. He does all the talking for our family and I am not telling you anything."

Mrs. Terrill, however, took her husband's arrest to heart and burst into tears. She said she had married Terrill two years ago in Alamogordo, New Mexico, and was very devoted to him.

The men had over $1,000 in cash on them when searched, and cash of the amount of $170, together with about 10 diamond rings, also were taken from the women.

Terrill, it was learned, once was a prisoner in the Arkansas penitentiary. He made his escape while serving a sentence for burglary. Later he turned up in Lawrence County, Ohio, where he was convicted for robbing the First State Bank of Maramec, and sentenced to serve 30 years. While out on an appeal bond he again was arrested for burglary in Ardmore, imprisoned and charged in January, 1925. Later he was arrested in Joplin, Mo., in connection with the robbery of the Bank of Joplin and while being transferred to the penitentiary at McAlester, where he that town, jumped from an automobile and has been at large since his capture today.

Late tonight the man who gave his name as A. J. Pittman, after viewing a picture of a circular sent out by Sheriff George A. Correll of Pine Bluff, Lawrence County, Wyo., admitted that he was Elmer A. Roman.

The circular asked for Roman's arrest on the charge of having shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Arthur E. Osborne, the shooting taking place on the afternoon of Aug. 1, this year, 45 miles east of Cheyenne.

"That's me, all right; only you men are just a little late. You did want me for that job, but that crime has been cleared up and I've got wanted out there any more," was Roman's statement.

Word from officials in Columbus, Ohio, indicated officers from that place would come to Hot Springs in an effort to obtain possession of Terrill. Rewards amounting to $2,000, the Shawnee officers stated, probably would be paid for Terrill's capture. Terrill, it also was noted, was wanted for a diamond robbery in Kansas and Texas which probably he to have him for an armed bank robbery. In other local robberies were involved, a man was held.

In an effort to ascertain how RAY TERRILL and IDEAN obtained possession of the Studebaker Sedan, motor #28819 found in possession of IDEAN, Agent ascertained from the Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Missouri, that 1927 Missouri license number 483587 was issued to A. J. Pittman, Mountain Grove, Missouri, for Studebaker Sedan, motor 28819. Agent wrote A. J. Pittman under date of December 30, but no answer was received and the letter was returned January 13, whereupon Agent wrote Postmaster Elvin Lee, Mountain Grove, Missouri, who advised that no person by the name of A. J. PITTMAN has ever been served by his office and careful inquiry there failed to locate anyone by that name. The Postmaster states that IDEAN was raised in that community and might have used the name PITTMAN. The Postmaster further advises that the State Highway Department issues license plates at Willow Springs, and Springfield, Missouri.

1927 Missouri License No. 483587 was obtained at the License Bureau, Springfield, Missouri. Subject not known to have been in or around Mountain Grove, Missouri, with Studebaker Sedan as Subject was confined in Oklahoma State Penitentiary for seven years, State Charge. U. S. REFERENCE: Report of Agent Miller, Dallas, Texas, dated 1-20-28.

DETAILS: - at Mountain Grove and Springfield, Mo. -

Agent interviewed Postmaster Elvin Lee, Deputy Sheriff Charles Erwin, and C. J. Hinkle, Marshal, of Mountain Grove, who stated that Subject had not been in or around that city in a Studebaker Sedan or any other car. Postmaster Lee was of the impression that he had seen Subject at a Carnival and reported same to Marshal Hinkle who investigated same and found that the party thought to be Subject by Mr. Lee was not Subject.

Subject was reared in this community and was known by almost everyone and it is almost impossible for him to have been at Mountain Grove without his presence having been reported to the local officers.

Agent called on A. S. Zellweger, in charge of the Sub-license Bureau, Springfield, Mo., who stated that 1927 Missouri License No. 483587 was issued by him during the month of August, 1927 for Studebaker Sedan to A. J. Pittman. This is the car that Subject had in possession when arrested at Hot Springs, Ark., bearing above license number and it is believed that A. J. Pittman is the name given by Subject at the time he procured above license plate.
