Dear [REDACTED]

Your letter dated March 29, 1962, has been received.

The FBI does not have any publications available for distribution concerning Al Capone; however, you may wish to refer to "The FBI Story," a book written by Mr. Don Whitehead, which contains some data relative to him. You will probably be able to obtain a copy of it at your local library.

O I am writing a term paper on what factors of Al Capone's first eighteen years may or may not have decided on his later career as one of the United States worst criminals. I have tried to limit the topic because I know if I ask for information on too broad of a subject you won't send me anything. Would you please send me information on the following: How long did Al Capone live in New York? What were his parents occupation? Did his parents ever separate? Did he have any brothers and sisters? If so, how many? What were their ages compared to his? How well off was his family financially? What kind of a family life did he have? How far in school did he get? What were his favorite subjects? Generally, how did he do in school? Did he have many friends? Did he have girlfriends? How old was he when he committed his first crime? Could you briefly describe how many and what kind, if any, of crimes he committed up to the time he was eighteen?

Dear Sir:

Mr. James E. McShon here in Atlanta did not have the information I requested and I thought perhaps your files would.

I read two books recently and each book had a different story about Mr. Frank "The Enforcer" Nitti of the Capone gang.

One book said that he was the "Brother-in-law" of Al Capone and the other book said he was the "cousin" of Al Capone. The books mentioned above are: THE DRY AND HUMID YEARS by Judge Lyle and CEPMAK OF CHICAGO.

I would appreciate it if someone in your employ could find out the information that I need. I would like to know what relation Mr. Nitti was to Mr. Capone. I do not know which book to take as truth on this matter.

With kindest regards I am

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I am writing to you for some information on the famous gangster, Al Capone.

The reason that I am writing on this subject is because I am taking speech in high school and I am to give a speech to the rest of the class on this subject. This speech is to move my audience and to let them know how I feel about crime and what this man had to do with it.

The reason that I have chose this subject is because of the things that I have heard of the man, and his work. Many of this came from my parents whom lived in Chicago, and from TV and newspapers.

Our teacher asked us to use visual aids and I do not see what I could use on this subject. I was wondering if you could possibly send me some information on this man, some of the things that he did and some pictures that would help me in this speech.

I would need this information by Tuesday the 21 or the 22, of November.

Thank you very much.

J. M. [unclear]

ALPHONSE CAPONE

BORN: January 17, 1899 in Naples, Italy.

NATIONALITY: Italian.

NICKNAMES: Big Al, Scarface.

His name can also be spelled Alphonse.

The name Alphonse came from the french.

BROTHERS: Ralph "Bottles" Capone

Matt Capone

Mimi Capone

Sister: Mrs. Mafalda (Capone) Mariote

Cousin: Rocco Fischetti

Capone started his career as a Brooklyn saloon bouncer.

He learned the bootlegging trade from Frankie Yale.

When Torrio took over "Big Jim" Colomiso's spot, Torrio imported Capone (who was 23 yrs. old at that time) from New York's Five Point gang as his body guard. A little while later, Torrio picked Capone as his chief enforcer.

In 1923, Capone received a franchise for the industrial suburb of Cicero from Johnny Torrio.

Between 1925 & 1929, 4 major attempts were made on Capone's life.

Early in 1925, Hymie Weiss, Schemer Drucci, & George L. "Bugs" Moran were the 1st men to plot against Capone, while he was allied with the then powerful Johnny Torrio. Capone was fired upon while driving from his south side home in his famous armored car. The bullets splattered on the side of the car & splintered on the bullet proof windows, but left Capone unhurt.

When Torrio retired & left for Italy in 1925, Capone bought Torrio's business. He had "Greasy Thumb" Guzik as his paymaster & business adviser. His stalwarts were Frank Nitti, Paul (alias Paul Ricca) "The Waiter" DeLucia, Louis "Little New York" Campagna. For body guards (lieutenants) were the Fischetti brothers. Fred "The Brain" Goetz led Capone's execution squad.

Capone used Cicero as a rest & recreation center for all the Chicago underworld. His own men walked about openly armed. Cicero's mayor, City Council & police force did Capone's bidding.

Once when mad, Capone kicked the Mayor of Cicero down the steps of the City Hall & kicked him when he tried to rise. On another occasion, Capone had a recalcitrant councilman bludgeoned in the midst of a council meeting.

Late in 1925, the same group of men attempted a 2nd time on Capone's life, but fortunately Capone was not in the car & the chauffeur met his doom.

A short time later, Moran sent 11 cars of gunmen over to Capone's headquarters (the Lexington Hotel) with machine guns. They fired but no-one was hurt. Once Weiss also sent men over to Capone's headquarters but they were surprised by Capone's guards & fled without firing a shot.

The 4th attempt on Capone's life came from within his own ranks. Louis "Mops" Volpi called a meeting of 7 other Capone guards & told them Capone was spending their money. The plot was to put Ralph Sheldon in the kings chair, but Capone's more loyal friends heard of it & Volpi was turned out of office & driven out of town. Capone was making $1,250,000 yearly & his aids only recieved $300. to $500. per week.

Capone slept in a room with the windows & doors protected by bars & metal sheeting. In front of his room there were 2 other smaller rooms for his body guards, 2 guards to each room. Capone kept 2 pistols under his pillow. When he ate, his food was carefully testes & tasted by his faithful brother, Mimi Capone, who was a good chef. Mimi prepared all of Capone's meals & nothing reached AL's lips without first being tested by Mimi. Capone was as wary of poison as of bullets.

Capone sat in the front seat of his car, it was a 7 ton, armored bullet proof, Cadillac limozene. It was equipped with gun racks & 2 bodyguards, usually Louis Campagni & Willie Zenie. 2 other cars carrying bodyguards accompanied Capone, 1 ahead & the other behind. Capone had 200 gangsters in his organization.

Capone's power extended from the Municipal Government in the city & most of it's suburbs, to the Municipal & state courts.

During the horse racing season in 1925, Capone lost $12,000 on the horses.

In 1926, Capone shot & killed Attorney William H. McSwiggin & 2 of his companions with a machine gun while on a raid in Cicero.

In 1927, Capone's gang collected $60,000,000 from bootlegging.

Capone's biggest competitor was George L. "Bugs" Moran.

On February 14, 1929, Capone imported gunmen from Detroit & had them kill 6 of Moran's men by the use of machine guns & sawed off shotguns. It was so bloody that they called it the "St. Valentine's Day Massacre". Capone was in Miami, Florida, at the time of the massacre. He recieved a long distance phone call from Chicago 20 minutes after the massacre. Who made the call is still unknown.

On February 16, 1929, George Moran told police & local news reporters, 'Quote: "Only Capone's men could have done a job like that, aided by the Cicero police".

On May 19, 1929, Frank Costello called a meeting at Atlantic City where he knocked together the Meads of Capone & his rivals & told them to behave or else.

On May 21, 1929, returning from this meeting, Capone was arrested & held under $35,000 bail for carrying a concealed weapon in Philadelphia. Edward Carney was the judge. Capone pleaded guilty & was sentenced to 1 year in prison. This was the 1st time Capone had gone to jail.

His stay in Pennsylvania's Eastern Penitentiary was comfortable. He had a cell with 2 easy chairs, a radio, a bookcase, a rug on the floor & other items.

On June 15, 1929, Capone offered $50,000 to any lawyer or group of lawyer's who could gain his release from Holmesburg County Prison before his 1 year sentence was over.

On October 15, 1929, Frank Biege (1 of Capone's bodyguards) was arrested by Chicago police on a charge of extortion.

On October 16, 1929, Pat Roche (chief investigator for the States Attorney, Swanson) paid Mrs. Frank Biege $25. to tell what she knew. She stated that her husband sho & killed Ben Newmark (a Chicago patrolman) on Capone's orders. She also told facts about Capone's organization.

Capone served only 10 months of the sentence & left in the prison in the warden's car.

His return performance in Chicago didn't last long, he was hounded by publicity.

Every year, Capone's gang smuggled 4,000,000 gallons of alcohol to Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota & South Dakota.

On May 1, 1931, a drive for Capone's capture, in Chicago, led by detective Pat Roche, was ordered by the Mayor of Chicago, Anton Cermak. They raided the Lexington Hotel (Capone's headquarters) & confiscated $30,000 worth of fixtures, but could not find Capone. They wanted to arrest him for the murder of Mike de Pike Heilter.

On May 4, 1931, Michael Ahern, Capone's attorney said Capone would surrender for questioning on the condition that he be released if absolved of complicity in the Heilter case. Pat Roche refused the offer.

Capone was running a $200,000,000 bootlegging empire.

On June 4, 1931, Attorney General Mitchell from Washington, D.C. said Capone would be brought in for income tax evasion. 15 accountants & lawyer's of the treasury's income tax force were put to work to locate Capone's bank account. The aim of the Federal officers was to get Capone behind bars for 2 or 3 years, hoping this would be a means of breaking up his gang.

On June 5, 1931, Capone was indicted by the Federal Grand Jury on income tax evasion. William F. Waugh, 1 of Capone's attorney's said he would ask Capone to surrender & to plead guilty. Half an hour after the charges were read, Capone surrendered & pleaded guilty. From 1929 to 1931, government agents had conducted a secret 2 year investigation on Capone's financial affairs from coast to coast, questioning 1,000 persons who had dealings with him. The indictment charged that Capone took $915,552.95 in underworld profits in the years 1925, 26, 27, 28 & 29, & that he owed the government $182,591.24 in taxes. The indictment charged 6 separate felonies & 2 misdemeanors against Capone in a total of 23 counts.

This is when Frank Nitti took over as leader of the mob for Capone.

On June 9, 1931, it was announced that Capone made $2,038,654 between 1924 & 1929. United States District Attorney, George Johnson, gathered the information.

On June 15, 1931, Capone went before Federal Judge James Wilkerson to answer 2 indictment charges. 1 charge was evasion of income tax on millions of dollars. The other charge was violations of the National Prohibition laws over a 10 year period. Both of the indictments were backed by mountains of evidence.

On June 18, 1931, the Federal agents began to mop up the rest of Capone's gang (68 gangsters).

On June 19, 1931, Capone went to the Federal Building in Chicago where he pleaded guilty to defrauding the government of $200,000 in income tax evasion & conspiring in a $200,000,000 beer syndicate violating the liquor laws.

On July 31, 1931, Federal judge James H. Wilkerson permitted the attorney's of Capone to withdraw Capone's plea of guilty in the income tax case, but he reserved decision on the prohibition conspiracy until September 8, 1931. The liquor conspiracy case, charging 5,000 violations, was ordered re-submitted to the Federal Grand Jury for return of indictments, providing a higher penalty than that provided on a conspiracy charge. The grand jurors were then charged to investigate the Capone liquor conspiracy.

On October 14, 1931, Milton Held (a race track bookmaker) testified that Capone placed 4 or 5 bets with him each day, & lost on almost every race. Held said Capone's losses in 1925 amounted to $12,000 on the horses. At the close of that court session, Philip D'Andrea (1 of Capone's bodyguards) was arrested & held without bond in a Chicago jail for having a concealed weapon in court.

On October 24, 1931, Capone was finally sentenced. Capone was chewing gum at the time. When the final sentence was read by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, Capone's jaw dropped, his eyes widened & he hustled importantly to the side of his attorney's.

On October 26, 1931, Capone's trip to Leavenworth was ordered delayed by the circuit court of appeals. On this day Capone was to start for prison by train to began his 11 year sentence & was fined $50,000.

On October 27, 1931, the defense attorney's seeked a supersedeas for Capone.

On July 20, 1932, Col. Zack Miller, the owner of the 101 Ranch, left Ponca City, Oklahoma, bound for St. Louis, Missouri. There he met Louis Alterie, reputed henchman of Capone. From St. Louis they went to Atlanta where Capone was serving time. Capone wanted to buy the vast ranch to organize an Italian colony to promote grape culture & to continue the ranch as a show place of the southwest. Capone did not buy the land for some unknown reason.

On November 16, 1932, Capone, under the heaviest guard of United States Marshals, was taken to the Federal Building an hour before the hearing opened. Corridors of the building were swept clean of loiterers. Spectators were admitted shortly before court opened, everyone forced to find a seat & then the doors were closed. Assistant Attorney General A.G.-Loungquist, who appeared from Washington, D.C. to fight Capone's attempt to freedom, opened the proceedings before Judge E. Marvin Underwood with to dismiss the action for lack of legal sufficiency. The court gave council 1 week in which to file a brief answer to the governments

With Capone out of the way, George Moran held the power in Chicago.

On January 25, 1933, Judge E. Marvin Underwood granted the government's motion to dismiss Capone's plea for a Writ of Habeas Corpus. Capone's attorney's sought his release on the grounds that his 11 year sentence to prison was excessive & that the income tax law evasions for which he was convicted were covered by the Statute of Limitations. Capone did not appear in court.

On August 15, 1933, State Attorney Courtney of Chicago asked the Department of Justice to allow Capone to stand another trial in Chicago on racketeering charges because they were serious. The request was made to Assistant Attorney General Pat Maloy. The Attorney General, Cummings was on vacation & wasn't due back until August 16, 1933, that's when Maloy would talk to the Attorney General.

On August 20, 1934, Capone & 42 other prisoners were transferred from Atlanta, Georgia, enroute to San Francisco Bay by train (the south pacific railroad) to go to Alcatraz. They used 2 railroad cars, heavily guarded, that were attached to a special train made up in New Orleans.

On October 15, 1934, the Supreme Court in Washington, refused to consider a petition for a Writ of Habeas Corpus. A petition for a re-hearing could be accepted when he became eligible for parole.

Capone served 3 years at Atlanta, Georgia.

On January 10, 1939, Capone was secretly transferred from Alcatraz Penitentiary at San Francisco Bay, where he served 4 years 5 months, to San Pedro's Terminal Island Prison, California.

Capone spent 9 days at Terminal Island Penitentiary.

On January 19, 1939, after spending 7½ in prison, Capone was released from Terminal Island & was quite ill. He had been ill for more than 15 years, a victim of paresis. After being released, he retired to his Palm Island estate & spent most of his time under the careful watch of physicians. He was never seen on the streets & spent his time only with his mother, wife & son.

On Tuesday, January 21, 1947 (8 years after being released from prison) Capone had a apoplectic stroke which weakened his heart more.

On Saturday, January 25, 1947, Capone's heart failed, pneumonia resulting from the stroke Tuesday, January 21, 1947, finally brought death. Capone died at his Palm Island Estate at Miami Beach, Florida, at the age of 48 years, 8 days.
