While in New York City, I presented a hypothetical question to Mr. Adams, United States Attorney involving the purchase of a brewery with gangster funds by a dummy owner. Mr. Adams, without having all of the details, was informally of the opinion that no law violation would be involved unless perhaps the United States might in some manner have been defrauded under the Income Tax Laws although we have nothing specific [REDACTED] allegations to indicate that such was the case. b7c

As you know investigation was made by the New York Office at the request of Mr. Martin Conboy who was handling the prosecution of "Dutch" Schultz, the investigation being predicated on an anonymous letter received by the New York Office alleging [REDACTED] had harbored "Dutch" Schultz throughout the period he was a fugitive from justice.

This investigation has been completed and fails to reflect any evidence [REDACTED] harbored Schultz or was acquainted with him. [REDACTED] said to have a good reputation in New York City [REDACTED]

He permitted an examination of his records which failed to reveal the name or any of the aliases of Schultz. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] in adjoining office in the same suite with [REDACTED] were interviewed and neither had seen Schultz or knew him or any of his associates.

The investigation has now been closed.

Respectfully,
