ENCLOSURE

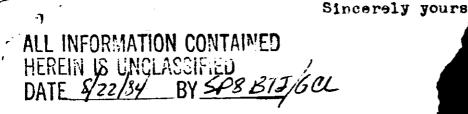

The "National Committee To Uphold Constitutional Government" has informed me they intend to take such action. I wrote to Summer Gerand, a well known lawyer, and he placed the letter in the above Committee's hands. Former Rep. Pettengill is a member. The most important thing is to contact as many people and patriotic groups, and place the issue before them.

Surely, the 22,000,000, Americans who voted against war and National Socialism, will respond ence they know about it. But, how to centact them. How can one obtain the publicity? Every one is so fearful of their business and life, they keep silent. A handful of patriots saved America before, and there are enough patriots to save it again.

Americans must fight if they value their literty and the security of the Constitution. Right now, we are planning a march on Washington to halt the trend towards war. But, it is work to contact groups in each State. We are in a position now where we are forced to gight. Certainly I will do what I can to save my courtry.

people, and ence they know it is a conspiracy aganist the U.S., they will act. Many think impeachment is too drastic and a disgrace. You could never make Congress take such action. I have written hundreds of letters along with others, to Congress, and all replies are the same, Not with a New Deal Congress.

Let me know what you think of the issue.

Dear Member:

Cliver Wendell Holmes once said, "It is faith in something and enthusiasm for some thing, that makes a life worth looking at." Therefore, your faith in the Catholic Daughters and the amount of enthusiasm and assistance you give to its activities will surely reflect to your own welfare and to the good of our fine Court. I feel I can depend upon you in the carrying out of the rather heavy program planned for the Fall and Winter months.

Radio Hour Party, Friday, September 30, 1938, 8:00 P.M., Immaculate Conception Hall, Eighth and N Sts., Northwest

Our program starts with a benefit party for a very good cause i.e., to assist our Worthy Chaplain, Doctor Cartwright, to carry on his radio hour — so important in Catholic Action work in this vicinity. The party will consist of bingo and cards and these will be played in different rooms so you will be able to really concentrate if you prefer playing cards to bingo. The games will start at 8 o'clock at Immaculate Conception Hall, 8th and N Streets, Northwest, Friday, September 30, and the price is only 50 cents. There will also be some special features including fortune telling by "Madame Pulmoneyski and Company, Inc." And you have heard about the C.D.A. expert cake makers. Well, 15 cakes have been promised so far. The prizes are very pretty and there is a wonderful door prize. The Chairman of this party, Miss Augusta E. Uhl, and her committee promise a most enjoyable evening.

October 1, 1938 - Opening Date of Membership Drive

I am pleased to state that Miss Mary 2. Weide has been appointed Chairman of Membership for our new class. The reception is to be held on November 20, 1938, at the Willard Hotel. The team captains will be announced at the business meeting of October 4. Miss Weide will at that time explain why you should interest a Catholic woman in joining our organization. Applications will be available and for your guidance please remember the following important points:

- 1. Practical Roman Catholic Women only shall be eligible to and entitled to continue membership in the order. Applicants must be 18 years of age and in sound bodily health.
- 2. Persons becoming members between the ages of 18 and 50 are eligible for $100 mortuary benefit; between the ages of 50 and 60 for $50 mortuary benefit;

over sixty years of age, they are not entitled to any northery benefit.

- 3. The initiation fee for new members, or for former members who resigned and will therefore come in as new members, is $3.00, one dollar of which goes to the Mortuary Fund. Applicants more than 60 years of age pay $2.00 initiation fee. The fee for reinstated members former members who were dropped from membership for non-payment of dues is $5.00, $1.00 of which goes to the Mortuary Fund if applicant is under 60 years of age.

 One-half of fee is payable with presenting of application, and balance is to be paid on or before day of reception.
- 4. The dues are $6.00 per year, payable quarterly or monthly, in advance.

Business Meeting, Tuesday, October 4, 1938, Willard Hotel, -8:00 P.M. work

For the benefit of those members who were not present at our business meeting of September 6, I advise that the Court by vote allowed a donation of $100 to the Welfare Committee to carry on its work among the poor had the needy. This does away, of course, with the holding of small parties to defray expenses of this noble work. Also, at the business meeting of September 20 the Court granted, by vote, a sum of $50 for a scholarship to an outstanding Junior Catholic Daughter who is found to merit the award. Father Gedra, the Chaplain of the Juniors, paid us a nice visit at the meeting and made a good plea for Senior Counselors for the Junior work.

The travelogue conducted by Miss Dorothea Barrett, our Worthy Vice-Grand Regent, as the social part of the evening was both interesting and entertaining. Miss Agnes Quinn transported us via magic carpet to Puerto Rico, Miss Madeline Mc-Grath to Glacier National Park, and Miss May Barrett to Nova Scotia.

On Tuesday evening, October 4, at 8 o'clock, many interesting topics will be reported and discussed. Please try to be present. The new password for the quarterly period beginning October 1 will also be given.

Important Message Concerning the Convert League Program.

Various members of the Hierarchy are scheduled to address the Convert League during the coming year. Very significant is the fact that the first speaker will be the Rt. Rev. D. G. Hint. D.D., Bishop of Salt Lake City, Utah, a sonvert himself, who will address the Convert League meeting at the Willard Hotel, Friday, October 14, 1938, 8:15 P.M. As a qualified speaker for the Convert League, not only is Mishop Hunt a convert, but for the past eleven years he has specialized in addressing non-Catholic audiences. He is known as the best radio speaker West of the Mississippi. Most of our program will be given to his address, because his style as well as his subject never tires, and is always so effective. We are not merely interested in a crowded hall, but we hope, through your cooperation, to have a splendid group of converts and non-Catholics present. They will be delighted with his address and benefit greatly by it. Here is an opportunity for real missionary work on your part.

Miss Florence Winter, the Chairman of this Committee, will be pleased to receive the names of any converts. Please give the enclosed Convert League invitation to a friend.

Matthew F. McGuire, Esq., The Assistant to the Attorney General, Department of Justice, Washington, D.C.

Deer Mr. McGuire:

I refer to your letter of April 10, 1941.

Regarding the statement in the Daily News of April 2, 1941, which you quote in your letter, I have ascertained that no Assistant of mine made any such statement to any member of the press.

At the time of Pehse's arreignment and sentence, in pursuance of your request that the proceedings be conducted with a minimum of publicity, my Assistant who is hendling the case conferred privately with the Court and advised the Court of the need for secrecy. The Court, however, did address certain remarks to the defendant within the hearing of mewspapermen which amplified somewhat the nature of the charge against the defendant. I do not recall that the Court stated anything on that occasion respecting the possible involvement of other persons.

It seems to me clearly that the excerpt which you quote in your letter constitutes a speculation on the part of the pertioular newspaperman, which is the natural result of the fact that the indictment was a conspiracy indictment and also of the general mystery surrounding the proceedings. I believe in our telephone conversation I pointed out to you that in my opinion the unusual handling of this matter which you requested would result in considerable such speculation on the Truly 19.61 part of the newspapers.

A short time ago we suspected the reason for the grounding of the liner Manhattan, sabotage. That was pooh poohed in some newspapers... Last week the FBI collared a Nazi spy who admitted his guilt and was sent to prison within three hours. The spy's name is Paul Fehse, who had been working as a cook on the Manhattan! There have been many reports of Nazis and Communists holding key positions in our merchant marine. Yet some unions have been doing everything possible to protect them... But the jalling of this spy is another step the FBI has taken to smash an espionage ring divulging maritime information to he Nazis... It seems the nation now has another reason to be thankful for the FBI, whose initials are as important to the safety of democracy as RAF!

Dear Mr. President:

Walter Winchell, selfstyled journalist, recently closed a radio breadcast with this remark:

"Ene selectee is worth A whole handful of GOLF FLAYING OLD GENERALS." (referring to General Ben Lear.)

The freedom of the press is recognized, but such a remark as this incites disrespect amongst yo ung men entering the Army for superior officers and discipline, and it is recognized in America by new that one of the cardinal principles of Nazi propaganda is to create disrespect for authority in an "enemy" country, and it is taken that inasmuch as Winchell is, or claims to be, an officer in the armed forces of the United States (Naval Reserves) such remarks coming from him are highly comforting to the (Nazi) enemy, and it is sincerely hoped by the general public that said Winchell will receive a public reprimand for these and other apparently disloyal activities against the best interests of the United States in the emergency.

On July 12 there appeared in a local newspaper a column by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen, columnists, Washington, lauding J. Edgar Hesver, in part as follows:

" x x x nor will he (Hoover). investigate A NEWSPAPER MAN unless he has WRITTEN ORDERS FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL HIMSELF."

From time to time press items appear in local and national newspapers, inserted by local and national effices of the F.B.I. requesting citizens to report anything of a suspicious nature, without regard to race, creed or color, OCCUPATION, OR STATION.

The general public would therefore find it hard to understand why NEWSPAPER MEN (as such) would be exempted from suspicion, and if the Attorney General would clarify this point and cause it to be more clearly annunciated through the medium of the press, it would be of help in the National Emergency.

BIVISION OF RECURDS
FED. BU. OF INV.

The President of the United States, Washington.

Dear Mr. President:

During the se-called "hysteria" of the American public in 1939-1940, which developed that it was not hysteria at all, but merely a tryout of the Nazi-centrolled press in America, when it became known that Fifth columnists were active in this country, Walter Winchell took a lead in denouncing the American public for its interest and upsurge of patriotism in that respect, referring to them (us) as "witch-hunters, alarmists, super-patriots, amateur detectives" and other "softening efforts."

Subsequently he came on the radio and hysterically announced he had "called up ? Man Hoover at 2 AM to ask whether or not the BOMB SIGHT had been stolen and stated G Man Hoover told him he "knew nothing about it."

No other columnist or commentator nor newspaper writer mentioned this matter.

He subsequently stated that he knew the whereabouts of the Princess Hehenlee the three months previous to her capture, but he asked Why did G. Man Heever wait so long to find her. He failed to state why he "Winchell" had not informed the FBI himself, knowing her whereabouts.

He recently stirred up a centreversy IN HIS COLUMN about whether or not he had been asked to resign from the navy, and stated that the Secretary of the Navy had applegized to him for permitting this misinformation to get out.

Winchell new says he (Winchell) is going to sand his vacation in August "working around the Navy Yards."

In his breadcast tenight he said: G Man Heever is going to fly to Hawaii ON HIS VACATION. WHY IS HE TAKING SO MANY HANDCUTTS?

It is considered this kind of activity on the part of Winchell in degging the tracks of the F.B.I. and making announcements in advance of their movements is lending aid to the enemy.

I respectfully request the President to give consideration to the matter of keeping this man out of the navy yards at this time.

ANTE AMENDAGE, ADMINIST REE

Walter Winshell same to journalism pop-syed with wanderwart. In was, and will is, possessed of an almost maniscal surjectly. This actonishingly alors, electrically across little man has become, in the space of a few years, the most discussed, and in some respects the most important, newspaper man in New York. Then he started his column on permary professions old MAPRIC the wise man said he had invented a fad which couldn't possibly last more than two or three years; now his income is comparable to Arthur prichase's, and at breakfast his comments are read, by many, with the same tagerness with which others, tertured by the dreary afflictions of human society, reach for Walter Lippmann.

The secret of Winchell is that he is interested more in people than in ideas. As a newspaper formula this is far from new; indeed, it always has been the basis of the society "Personal" column and the jottings of the wool hat correspondent from Frog Boliev. Winchell applied the formula to New York, and more especially to that fabled, sinful street, procedury.

Finchell did much for journalism, for which journalism has been alou to thank him. We halped to change the dreary, pendarous impersonality which was pervading the whole press. So newspapers today print twice, or ten times, as many items about people - what they are like, what their crotchets are, what they eat and drink and wear - as they did ten years ago? Some of the credit belongs to Finchell. The man also fathered a crop of inferior tattlers.

There were other great solumns, out on a different pattern. The late hert instead Taylor, Franklin P. Idens, Bon Marquin, Christopher Morley, H. I. Phillips — all these, with aphorisms, puns, postry, urbans comment on the mwn and occasional philosophic disquisitions, were in the accepted tradition. It took Winshell to prove suce more that people are interested in people and that facts, even trivial facts, have an irresistible fascination. Monastic follows, most of the old line columnists, and for all their sherm and cradition they weren't reporters. Vinchell, put to the task of writing about Brandway, went out every hight to see what proadway was like.

This little non (he is a springy, smooth, good-looking chap, not yet forty, with presenturely gray hair) has been demed from the mattery to the Golden Sate. Here beasted that if they ever say him they would punch him in the smoot, but few ever did. His slang was denounced as yulgar, as corrupting the speech. He was called agotistical, and his doings were set down as being in very bad taste. He has been accused of prying, of retailing low goody, of printing information which might just as well have been kept hidden. To all this he selden, if ever, made may defense.

gis cole, such as it is, is simple enough - he tries to get the nows first, he protects his sources, and he never knowingly prints empthing that might wreak a happily married home life. This last is to say that Winchell heeps quiet then he observes a married man or weman dallying with a person of the opposite sex in a night club, when he has reason to believe that the publication of such het news might source trouble at home.

winshell writes of all sorts of people - bankers, politicians and playboys, but principally his news ownerse the heroes and the villains of the theater, the metion picture, the radio and the night clube. For of these people resent invasions of that eld-fashioned folio might call their privacy; even his announcements that a baby (or, as control in one instance at least, twins) was to be expected have solden caused the persons involved more than temporary underrassment. Indeed, it has been winshell's experience that the majority are delighted to appear in his column.

He gets his news from a million sources. He accepts invitations to entertainments, and sometimes the host is so grateful to Vinchell for coming that he tells Vinchell a piece of news, much only a paragraph to him, which in a few days will be all over the front pages. People buttomhole him on the street, waylay him in night clubs and restaurants, cell him on the telephone frantically, to supply him with the stuff, some of it utterly inconsequential but interesting, thick makes up his columns.

why do they do it? Not always because they are friends of his, though he is generally well liked on Breadway. Usually the notive is rooted in exhibitionisms the man who supplies Winohell with an item is warmed to his fingertips when he sees the item in print a day or two later. It makes him a number of the inner circle of gossips, a wise guy in the know, and increases his feeling of self-impertance.

will his vegme last? Of source it will - it or smoothing very much like it - as long as there are people who are interested in the eruelties and kindmesses and follies of their neighbors.

Finshell brought to his job the perfect againment - great energy, an eager desire to know what was going on, a lack of commentional breeding and experience, a mind delightfully free of book learning, and an unquanchable desire to be a newspaper man. If his background had been different, he would have been so befulfied by canone of what some people call good tasts that he would have revolted at some of his best stuff. If he had been better educated the never get beyond the sixth grade) he might have been dull. As it was, everything he can was more to him, a circumstance which accounts for his column, which runs about once a week, emittled: "Things I have take Till Nov."

It was a gain for journalism that Vinshell, when he started writing, didn't know the difference between "who" and "whom", a distinction which is not always shear even at this late day. To had been writing for years before he learned who Aristophanes was.

go was always stage-struck and still is. So know Midie Contor and querge Juscel when they were children tegether. He quit school to be a singing under in a motion picture bosse in Barlon, keeping crewis out of the sinker, collecting late checks and countines singing songe during interprisations. In 1910 he joined one Minard's Foreboys' Sextette, traveling all ever the country. Leter he was manager of a company of eight, all elder than himself, and then he had his own cong and dense not with a partner. Suring the war he enlisted in the Envy and was for a time confidential occurrency to an admiral.

After the war he went back into vanieville. He was a fair sems and dance men, but he had a terrifle args to be a newspaper non. He got out the DAILY MERS SHEEF, consisting of several wheels of typewritten paper, which he would task up beside the mail-box in every theater in which he appeared. It contained intimate information about other actors on the bill and personalities connected with the theater. It became popular; managers liked it and local newspapers quoted from it. Uncasionally he would send a random solven to DILLBOARD, which was headed "Stage chispers". As far back as 1920 there appeared much items as these, in which the germ of the later Financial style may be shearly disserted:

"Moverting to another trade paper, Mr. and Mrs. Envey Junious were blessed with a boy on January 25, at Portland, Ms. on mother page Mr. and Mrs. J. were blessed with a boy January 25, at Portland, ore. Some leap. And those airplans 414 the proud parents use? Nother and sail4 are doing fine. Congratulations:

"Most actors are married, and live sarappily ever after."

"pid you ever notice the little brans tablet on the door in the room of your hotel which reads: 'Stop! have you left mything?' Aprepes of the E. C. of L. it should read: 'Stop! have you enything laft?'"

"Goes outside of Cluveland movie theater: 'Goraldine Farrar supported for the first time by her knoband.'"

"In Now York recently the most tied up traffic severely. A gang hired to remove same struck at the eracial moment, carrying because which read: "You took anay our seer, now take away the quest."

"A certain actress was left a fortune for being kind to a neverper non-Meral: Be size to column writers."

Gless Condon, then editor of the MFV TORK VAMPSVILLE MMS, was seen of Vinebell's early stuff and liked it. Vinebell had seved $1,500 from his $100-a-week salary as a hoofer, and he went to work for Condon at $25 a week for a trial period of six months. At the end of six months he was justing $50 a week; he was allowed $00 per cent on advertising, and soon his total impose was greater than Condon's. Finabell credits Condon's tolerance and patience with being responsible for starting him on the way. In 1984 Fulton Cursher was organizing the GRAPHE, an afternoon tabloid, for Macfaddan, and Vinebell asked his friend, Norman Presents, the knew Cursher, we speak for him, with the result that Vinebell got the Job as Breadway columnist.

For all his pasty mamar, Visaball during those first for nonthe suffered from stage fright. Is had mover been a "regular" muspayer man, his paper was hardly what night be called a pillar of respectability and dignity, and he worked with a wild fromy. He had your to the MAPRIC for $100 a week, and four years later his salary was $500 a week. Then he want to the MIRROR, a new norming table(4, the CRAPMIC seem died, and on the new paper Vindell became femous. His contrast with the MIRROR calls for a flat salary of $1,000 a week. His profits from symblention of his column (papers all over the country take it despite the fact that it deals principally with people about whom for out-of-town readers have ever heard) wary from $250 to $400 a week. When hump, he is care of at least $6,000 a week from the ratio. He makes a motion picture short came a mouth for which he gets $6,500. The MIRROR contrast runs until October, 1935.

Winshell's headquarters are Therever he wants to make them. In New York he has an apartment at the Park Central Hotel. Senations he goes to Florida and Hollywood. He was in miant Beach the night that Rangura attempted to kill president Franclin B. Hossevelt, and by luck, speed and ingunsity he was the first newspaper man to interview the assessin - a feat which caused Danon Bunyon, the veteran reporter, to write a column in preise of Vinchell, of which he is increinately proud.

He stays up all night, and from sundern until dawn he my visit as many as a dozen places - theaters, restaurants, night alubs, private homes. He has been called tad muses - scandalmonger, Little Boy Peep, the mas at the keyhole, and the Peeping fon of Journalism - but he is ulways a values guest and he probably has a more diverse acquaintance than my man in How York.

Wherever he goes there is an undercurrent of this paring. Disors in a restaurant may raise their hands here and there when a notable like Al Smith, Jack Dempsey, Prime Carmers or Jimmy Waller comes in, but the counction aroused by the presence of these great sen is a mare ripple compared with the sly pointings and head-moddings that fill the place that Timbell strides to his table. Boes he like this attention? It is catmip, of course; vandevilla actors, as well as other people, crave attention even if they are dedicring at the grave. Timbell's manuar is that of the stage reporter.

The man has made a few mistalms. He has printed erronous information, and many minor incomratics have erept into his accounts, but usually he is right, uncamply right. His informate solice lie to him. One merning, or, rather, during the evening before when the naveleys were solling the first edition of the MIRROR, there came a test of his accuracy. His solumn contained this statement:

These who read the early papers thought that sounced reasonable enough, although probably exaggrated, for it was well known that Coll, known as the MAA Bog, was in extremely bad else with that faction of the underworld which fromost upon unnecessary victories. And Coll, a born killer and commitmal kidneyer, had not been tened.

At one evalues that Johnnery morning Vincent Sell appeared from newhere, we keet into a dragatore in the Chelona district and entered a telephone booth. He was having some difficulty with his cell; indeed, it is easi that, suspicious of the dalay, he shouted to someone on the other and of the wire, "What the hell are you trying to do? But me on the spot?" He didn't have much longer to wait. He automobile drew up to the ourb and some men get out. (He of them walked straight to the telephone booth and sprayed it, up and down and seroes, with mechino-gumbullets. Cell toppled out, daed, and the killers west away from there.

The police, secretly, and most of the people of New York regarded the manmer of the passing of Vincom Coll as natural and proper, and were not disposed to ask questions. But the District Atterney took Finabell before the Grand Jury, where the young man lost a lot of weight, but, apparently, he protected the source of his information, whatever that source might have been. There was talk of threats by letter and telephone for disclosing underworld secrets, and for a time Winabell went around with a bedyguard. The older, fundamentalist element among the rackstoure believes, and with considerable good judgment, that it is bad policy for the plans of the gumma and other feudiets to be bandled about as if they were so many impending blessed events. Winabell always has hed many good undarworld sources of information; nost of the mage like him, they feel that they can trust his judgment on that not to print, and they admire him for making such as approves success of what seems to them just another racket. And Winabell would rather be seen talking to a racketeer than to a bishop.

many an aging newspaper reporter, who wanters about with dragging feet and drooping shoulders, possesses a wealth of just such information as Wimshell has printed about the police, politicians and the underworld. The difference is that the ordinary reporter regards it as something to forget - certainly nothing to write about.

This brash historian of our life and times probably has deserved many a rebuke, but only once, so far as the records show, was he bawled out before a lot of sice people. That was on the night in Danuary, 1952, when Wimhell attended a party at the Central Park Casino given by A. G. Blumssihal, the theater owner and producer, and his wife, Miss Paggy Pears. A fair alice of the wit and beauty were there, and Winchell was sitting at Mayor Walker's table with Pola Begri and Billie Dove.

Among those present was Barl Carroll, about whom Finshell had kept silent, refusing to say empthing against Carroll years before at the time of the producer's trial for perjury which resulted in his being sent to Atlanta prison as an outgrowth of the famous bathtub party. Timehell, however, had been reasting Carroll's showe for years. July a few days before the scene at the Casino he had printed in his column a quip credited to George S. Englan and Groucho Marz. England said to Marz: "That do you think of Earl Carroll's Vanities?" and Marz replied: "I had rather not say. I saw it under had conditions - the curtain was up."

And so, on this great night at the Casino, Carrell arose and, locking at Winchell, said: "Walter, I wonder if you can take it? We've been taking it from you for a long time." Minchell noticed and said: "We also It's 0. K." Carrell went on: "I want to tell you that you are not fit to associate with descrit people. You don't belong!"

It was all very embarrassing. There was a bash of at least five minutes. Carroll bowd himself out of the Onsino. Since that night, according to the best information on procedury, several friends have tried to recommile Carroll and Vinchell, but nothing has come of it. Of the implicant Vinchell says: "Carroll cartainly was entitled to his scolding of ms. I had treated him pretty mean for many years."

As touchy as any actor, Finchell can be bitter and unforgiving when he bulieves that he is being put upon. His two pet dislikes in New York are Bails deserves, managing editor of the MIRBOR, to whom he hasn't spokes for now that a year, and O. O. Mointyre, who also conducts a column. These veniettes, their friends predict, will flourish for years; to be sure, it is not of world-wide importance.

Vinshell had one short brush with the law, in 1928, when he was corved in padient proceedings brought by the inited States Government against the Artists' Social Democratic Club in Yest Porty-circh street. The Government alleged that Winchell was one of the "board of directors". It had taken the Pederal agants eight years to find the place and to discover that it was, like thousands of other much places, a speak-easy. Years before he had been in the joint and nigned his mans to a register which, the agents contended, listed him as a director and therefore liable for the conduct of the place. Actually Winchell had no more to do with the operation of the establishment than Bishop Munning did, except that Finshell went there occasionally and the Bishop cidn't. Finshell new a lawyer and had his mans stricken from the complaint.

In 1987 Finchell had a tiff with the buthers Simbert, Lee and Jam, but anyons is likely to have a row with the Simberts. They barred him from their theaters became he consistently criticised their productions. Then Lee Shubert mat Winshell's shildren in Minni Beach, liked them, and said: "Well, I'm glad to have there are some nice people in the Winshell femily." The actual rejustatement of Finshell as part of the regular first night audience in the Shubert homes came, according to Winshell, when Al Jolson refused to go on at the opening of "Winderbar" unless the producers let the flip critic in. This is the same Mr. Jolson who in July, 1955, rese one evening in Hollywood and knocked finchell down twice because, he said, word had reached him that Finchell's motion picture scenario, which he had Just sold for $85,000 ("Broadway Through a Keyhole") dealt with the career of Mrs. Jolson (Buby Reeler). Winchell said he regarded the imident as good publicity.

A frensied worker, his health always has been good, even if he did fall when the aging Johon hit him. He is mither profligate, boosy nor debauched. Here after the killing of Vincent Coll he announced that he had had a breakdown, and took seems time off. How serious this breakdown was remains a natter between Winchell, the medical profession and God. He went to California. Hances reached him that stories were being spread that he was dying, that he was paralyzed in the left side, that he had been run out of New York by gaugeters, and so on. It get under his skin and he runhed back to Hew York.

gis rice has been steady, and he has had a good time. The only real tragedy in his life was the death in Recember, 1982, of his nine-year-ald daughter, plots. In has a younger daughter, Talds. In had referred to them many times in his column, and his friends know of his great devotion to his family. Indeed, one of the thousands of criticisms leveled at Winshall at one time or mother has been that he mantioned his family too frequently. Therever a few people are gathered together, they argue about whether Winshall transgresses good taste, and on Broadway no one has ever drawn up a comprehensive sode to define good taste.

In the summer of 1935 Venthrook Paglor in the New York NYMING POST rea a column which he called "A Sport Writer Interviews Elsself", done in the number of Misshell's familiar "Portrait of a Man Salking to Elsself". It combined, more meanly than anything also, all the objections which have been raised against Minchell's personality, taste and attitude. It was reprinted in VARIMTY, which had been carrying on a devaltory quarrel with Vinchell. VARIMTY preferred the column with this country:

"In Walter Vinchell's implie cont posint, carelessly held in a care case, is a nice collection of soft coap spilled over Vinchell in the very nice way of Demon Runyon. If Vinchell can halt a hystander long enough, the victim is made to read the Runyon stuff on Vinchell. Wimhell enjoys it so such that he often asks the hystander to read it aloud, becomes Vinchell can't balleye his eyes.

"Mostbrook Pagler has a mise way of writing, two. Shousands and thousands of newspaper resders have learned to think very highly of the Chicago TRIMES syndicated writing acc.

The Perfect one day a few days ago wrote one of his daily contract. The Perfect column was about columnists. Perfect called it a sport writer talking to himself, but you have difficulty in recognizing any eport writer it fits. The first hasty communication in that the Perfect interview seems rather to fit a Broadway columnist, maybe any proadway columnist.

oper fear Talter, me boy, failed to see Mr. Pagler's emstribulion it is here submitted, as it's quite wall known in the night clubs of New York where atoms assemble that Minchell's first erack fuesday merning is:

"I waster that that loose TARIETY has in this week shout me."

"With Minchell inviting soms of the hystoniars to read the Euryon energy over in person there's a chance in will also be informed just when Mr. Jugler had in mind."

Deler's selum:

Greal business, and calculated to make Firmhell's face red, but greating in not an everpolite place, and Winehell himself, for all his escapional acts of kindmess to persons the have been treated unjustly, or the are out of work, has written many a line that sewed pain - if not pain, then surely soute unbarrassummt.

Tinchell is the perfect flower of Breaduny, the product of his period as surely as prohibition and the night clubs and the temp-gens. Be is gay, and when he speaks the words came tumbling out as if he were thinking at the top of his voice and was barely able to contain his pent-up excitement. Be is not feeled by Breaduny any more than any other was person is feeled by it. But he plays it for all it is worth, and the each rolls in. Be laid the ground for a horde of initators, some good and some terrible, who are using his formula to depict the pageant of the great men, the beauties and the mountebanks of Bow York. A few of them do it expertly, but there is only one blown-in-the-bottle Einchell.

There are two schools of thought about his contribution to the parist; one holds that he is important because he is a matchless reporter of human trivia; the other contends that he deserves fam becomes of his additions to the language. Sometimes, is his offerts to surpass himself, he make and twists the English language to the straining-point, and even his best friends, whose cars are prutty well attuned to his meanes, don't know what he meane.

He first and most popular phrase convered in the oft-repeated ammonsumathet Mr. and Mrs. So-and-So "assisipate a blessed event". Finally this because an outcome clicke, and Timbell and his indictors would write that the couple are "proparing a bestinet", "getting steried" or emitting "a blessed expanse". For couples who are not getting along so well, or preparing to separate, he has many descriptions. Sometimes they are "the the terge" and sometimes they are "straining at the handraffe". Those who are to get diverces will "tell it to the judge" or be "geno-vated". Then people do things quietly they do it "sette vote". Sometimes people are "capiding out loud", or they are "blasing again", or "on fire", or movely "that may". People drank "gingle water" and "make theopee".

Collectors of Vinchellians are inclined to agree that his best line was "Those who live in tim houses shouldn't throw can-openers."

Vinehell is Jevish, and he knows an eternal truth, discovered years ago by Mustagus Class, that Jeve like jokes on Jove. He is, indeed, on safer ground there than when he leans to the serious side of Jevish problems. Quee, after he had flored up at some clar against the race, a premiumt Jev said to him: "Floace don't disgress up by a defense, because you admit you are not a good Jev - because you haven't been in a synagogue sime your monfirmation - so, obviously, you know nothing about Jevry and you night be misunderstood."

From the hears a new Jevish joke that he thinks is worth repeating he prints it. Here is a sample of his jokes on the "dialecticians", as he calls then (when he doesn't say "herring-tearers"):

For the tenth time the room clark, with admoids and an expression as though he were smalling comething objectionable, and sted to Mr. Goldfarb that there were no rooms available at his ritay hotel and that there was a uniting list shoul of him up to fifty pears hence. And for the tenth time Mr. Goldfarb soratched the agg from his west and insisted upon knowing the rates per day.

"'Thy', why'd the stiff elerk, 'de you insist on knowing?'

"'Borns', said the disloctivies, 'furr caves ment's I'm paying here do rent for my baby-doll and I t'ink I'm being geop'd hom do rates!"

Mr. Colifert solion appears. Totally the hero of his Jovich stories is a splendid composite character whom Minchell calls Mafoofsky.

Better than any of his goesiping contemporaries, Minchell, the ex-hoofer, caught the tempo of the New York of the tounties and the early thirties. That tempo was brittle, cheep, gariek, loud, and full of wild disconances. And he didn't really have to peop through a keyhole to find out what was going on. He couldn't have missed it blindfolded.

"We reprint the last amounce published in Watter Winchell's column in the New York Mirror of last Friday:

"Wooderful Herry Dalton, an Irish Catholic lad, who helps sesse the stink of the town—by going around levaking Nasi nonea."

For Mr. Winchell's benefit, let us my that seither the Cathelic Church nor the Irish see anything wanderful in a sen who Presks the lew and constitin essault and battery. Man who go about brasking Razi moses or any other noses should be put in juil instead of being lauded by Walter Winchell.

"If Mr. Winchell would only mind his own business, something his column indicates is constitutionally difficult for him, he would not be so much of a nuisance in the opinion of so many law-abiding Americans. These Americans believe in law and order and fair play.

"Catholics, including firsh Catholics, believe in law and order as ardently as they hete Pesping Toms and persons who put their metaphorical sars at metaphorical laryholes as that they may publish the incarmost secrets of others to the world.

"There are same who believe that not raily is Walter Winchelf not control to from sorour to the living, but they know he does not even respect the memory of the dead.

"It will be recalled that when the members of the Christian Front were arrested, Mr. Winchell assumed to presume the mean guilty before they were even tried. If Mr. Winchell were to try any such things cithin the jurisdictions of the courts in Baltimore he would be held for contempt of osers. We he does not believe an, just let him undertake to prenounce opinions in this locality before the courts undertake to pronounce a men innocest or guilty. He will find that courts in Baltimore are different from courts in Greater New York, Flemington, M. J., and some other places.

"Members of the m-called Christian Front udous Mr. Winchell assumed to projudge guilty were released. But ovidently they had no means of outpring sait against Mr. Winchell and gutting satisfaction for his attacks on them.

"Such a situation was bed enough, but one of the men whem Mr. Winchell projedged committed sticids. The poor wafortunate had no job to go back to, his people were poor and were hard gut to mine mousey for his defense. The man became distraught and in such a condition shot and killed hisseelf, even before he was cross-examinad; even, we believe, hefore he testified.

"Did Mr. Winchell have any sympathy for the man or for his parents? He did not. He wrote: "The right man shot himself." If you know anything more brutal, more

"We were talking to one of our Jewish friends the other day about Mr. Winchell's last sentence in his last Fridey's column in the New York Mirror. This Jewish friend expressed the opinion that Mr. Winchell by his writings, was doing more to ambarrass mambers of the Jewish race these the most hardened anti-Semite in this country.

"Thus it appears that is insulting Catholics and the Irish and the others, Walter Winchell is doing a disfarror to members of his own race. We have said this before to members of his race who do not think as he does and who from upon his tactics.

Composer Pedro Flores?...The initials of the America First Comm. are the same as "America's Fifth Column."

New York Novelette: Sammy Williams is a one-armed shine-boy on Sixth Ave. Although Colored, he has known good things—that's why he sings as he works...His voice, he still hopes, will lift him out of the mire of poverty...Six years ago he had his big chance. He induced the late Chick Webb and Webb's manager to hear him sing in an amateur contest at the Harlem Opera House. Manager Gale and Chick were in the front row that night, and Sammy wasn't worried about clicking...So confident was he—that he agreed to go on last...But Webb and Gale never heard him... For halfway through the performance, a shy, skinny, 15-year-old girl came on and chanted so enchantingly that the pair rushed back stage with a contract...The "discovery" was Ella Fitzgerald.

New Yorchids: Pete Smith's amusing short at the Palace on how to dance the rhumba...Douglas Miller's must-reading: "You Can't Do Business With Hitler"...Les Brown's waxing of "The Anvil Chorus"...Jimmy Dorsey's "I Understand" platter...Ames and Arno at the Strand...Yvette's "You and I"...Bob Montgomery's exciting playing in "Here Comes Mr. Jordan"...A new digest. "The Country Book"—especially for citified folks now country squres... Garson Kanin's "Tom, Dick and Harry"—the talk of the town at Radio City Music Hall. "4½ Orchids.—Winchell, Mirror."

Sounds in the Night: On the Starlight Roof: "She didn't marry him for better or worse—but for more or less"... At the Versailles: "Boy, was I mad? I saw Red—White and Blue!"... At the Hickory House: "Who's the Southern Drawl with the Northern Drool?"... At Claremont Inn: "She may not be making the rounds lately, but her reputation certainly is"... At Leon & Eddie's: "If you don't think sie's two-faced—you should see her with a hangover"... At Club 18; "He walks as though he might be the head smeller at Chanel'; Whoopssss!"... At Enduro: "She has a way of making you stay up and take notice—like crackers in bed"... In the Stork: "Okay, I'm through. All I know is that I lost a wonderful sweetheart—and you lost a pretty good friend!"... At Reuben's: "His is a typical Broadway success story—from Rags to Vicious!"

Bigtown Smalltalk: That East 57th Street antique dealer possibly doesn't know that the picture in his window showing tortures in the Chinese Hell contains the risgayest scene ever publicly displayed outside India and Pompeii...For Blackout Protection: A small dege of strychnine sharpens your eyesight and lets you see blue street lamps better...Navy recruiting took a spurt this week over at tile 90 Church Street naval station...Senator Wheeler, who now refuses the request of our Army to improve the defenses (by extending the year for selectees) said this on July 4th: "We must make our democracy impregnable within and without, we will build mightier and mightier our defense forces"...But that was on July 4th—when it is the style to be patriotic...The next thing on the tobacco market will be a self-extinguishing cigarette! Before it makes an ash of itself, one presumes...Liz Whitney asked G. J. Nathan: "Do you believe everything Winchell says?"..."I only believe," was the Old Timer's reply, "the things he denies about himself."

Midtown Vignette: Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth's best ad in The Big City, relayed it last night... About the man who paused at an auction and found himself bidding for a parrot... One dollar, two, three, four!... Seven, eight, nine, ten—until he got it for $14... It all happined so hurriedly—and there he was in the subway carrying the darnell thing... "Imagine paying $14 for a parrot," he mused. "Maybe it don't even talk!"... "Whaddaya mean, can't even talk?" daked the parrot, "whothehel do you think was bidding against you?"

New York Newsreel

The pickets outside the Palace Theatre where Walt Disney's new film "The Reluctant Dragon" is starring. Their signs read: "Don't Rat on Mickey Mouse!"...The hobby shop on downtown Broadway with the sign in the window: "Trade in your old autographs"...Joe DiMaggio and his pretty bride being bombarded by autographters at 48th and the Main Stem...Nutzi, the 46th Street cab pilot. After winning a noisy argument between taxi military experts (on the best way to stop a blitz) Nutzi was bawled out by the traffic cop with: "Whaddaya think yer drivin"—a tank?"... Shubert Alley between Broadway and 8th Avenue (44th to 45th Streets)—it was made in order to provide an escape for theatregoers in case of fire...It also provides an escape for bored critics.

The wardrobe mistress backstage at the Eltinge Theatre, who is three-quarters Indian, one-quarter Irish...The straw fan in the paw of Robert Burns' statue in Central Park. Some prankster's idea of a good hot spell gag...The femme haberdashery on Broadway which advertises: "A Pretty Girdle Is Like a Melody"...The 86th Street newsdealer who displays several front pages dated 1917—side by side with today's headlines...The little old man with the long black beard who scavenges the Broadway waste barrels. The legend is that he once was a prominent cafe owner until he met a blonde blitz.

The hinterlanders taking over Times Square for the weekend. Broadway on Sunday is Scranton, Pa., on Monday...The Columbus Circle soap-boxer, talking to an audience of one—a bored color... Safety sign seen near the Lido Beach Club: "Drive Slowly. Don't Be a Hearse's Neck!"...The down-and-outer near the City Hall fountain washing his face and drying it with a dirtler kerchief...The chorus girl whose shoe came off at 48th Street and the Main Drag—and the two gallants who bumped heads in their haste to retrieve it for her...The chalked lettering on Tombs Prison—"Cooler Inside."

Some of the trees still standing in Washington Square which once served as gallows. The Square once was a potter's field... Macy's, which was founded by a whaling captain... The Negro Community in the West 60s called San Juan Hill—a tribute to the heroism of Negro troops in the Spanish-American War... The scars on buildings at 25th Street and 8th Avenue—bullet marks. The result of a riot in 1871... Gramercy Park—the most exclusive park in town—once a swamp... That granite hitching post near Rutherford Place. It once stood in front of William Penn's home in Phila... The private park for swanky Tudor City residents. It once was a gangsters' hideout... On the wall of a meat packing plant on First Avenue and Forty-sixth Street is a tablet denoting the spot where Nathan Hale was executed.

The snow scene in the I. J. Fox window (furs) which is turned on only when the temperature hits 90... The Madison Avenue florist's window card: "Our flowers are good to the last droop"... That fortress-like warehouse on DePeyster Street was built more than 100 years ago by a few East Indian merchants... The town's class restaurant is located on Cedar Street and caters only to men... The Commodore Hotel, 28 stories high, which has five additional stories underground to strengthen its foundation... Near Grant's Tomb there's a rare gingko tree, whatever that is... Six hundred and fifty the foundation columns support Pennsylvania Station... Feel safer?

Maiden Lane which was so named because it was a footpath used by lovers along a rippling brook... The Center Theatre which has a special ventilating system to carry off the heat produced by the 400 bulbs in the chandelier... The fellow at 34th Street who runs a het dog stand and plays classical recordings on his phonograph between sales... The beauty parlor's warning to patrons: "Lailes should be seen and not hard"... The antique shop on 3rd Avenue with a sensayuma. It displays jokebooks in the window—most of which you can hear on the radio every night... The doors of the vaults at the Federal Reserve Bank which weigh 90 tons... Imagine a nickel getting all that protection.

The gently-worded ad in the window of a 72nd Street laundry: "Clothes Bathed"...The composure of a kitten navigating the eighth story ledge of a hotel—and the apprehension of the spectators below.. Rudolph Valentino's monument in New York: The cafe on Second Avenue that bears his name...The girl in a midtown night club if a lace evening frock and an Admiral's hat...The drunk on 52nd Street introducing all women passersby—as his wife...The girl whose hair-do features tiny American flags...The line of giggling women waiting outside a burlesk theatre to buy tickets... One of the most beautiful creatures in the world—the Chinese girl behind the Chinese Bazaar on the Coney boardwalk... The eye-filling chorines giving the boys on the corner a swell show with their skimpy Summer toggery.

The Irving Trust at One Wall Street which isn't planning an air-raid shelter as colyumed...Well, don't say we didn't warn them ...Brazil's affable Consul General, Oscar Correia—cementing good-will with some New Yorkers—after one of those silly misunderstandings that sometimes can do such damage...The British sailors and marines taking pictures of themselves (in those dime photo machines in the 42nd Street arcades) to send back home...The flickering of lighted matches in the darkened Lewisohn Stadium. Like thousands of fireflies...The gorgeous equestrians who enchant Central Parkers early Sundays...Beauts and Saddles...The drugstore on Fifth Ave. which offers: "Free Dog Books—Just Puplished"...The Broadway reducing salon which charges: "$i for each item"...Huh?

The grotesque shapes of some of our citizens in their gabardine apparel...Ice cream cones in children's hands...The shapely lass tugging at her you-know-what—and passing smart Alexanders asking: "Need any help, Toots?"...The exasperated drunk at 48th and 8th carefully removing his bridgework as he challenges a heckler to fight it out...The thrill looking at Radio City lit up by dozens of spotlights, and the Chicago gal who grunted: "We got the same thing in the Wrigley Building!"...Izzatso?...The one cab driver in town that the other drivers can be proud of—John Clynes, 73. Has been hacking since 1907. Usually hacks near the Majestic Apts. Has the steadlest nerves, despite his years, of any backman in town...The Stock Exchange which is owned by 1,375 members and the chorines know nearly all of them.

Notes of a New Yorker

After all of George Jean Nathan's work and struggle for recognition, his home burg. Fort Wayne, Indiana, erected a plaque to a movie gal named Jane Peters (Carole Lombard)...Gary Cooper stands a fine chance of copping the Academy Award this time for his tip-top performance in "Sgt. York"...When Gary was a student at Grinell College, Iows, he applied for membership in the dramatic society there and was spurned because, they said, he couldn't act.... Overheard at a preview: "Hello, tall, dark and hands off!"... Bubbles Schinasi calls that Yoo-Hoo General "King Lear"...Back from vacationing in the Catskills, a Broadwayite enthused about the rural sector... "So peaceful!" he raved. "Every night you're hilled to sleep by the chirping of crickets, the croaking of frogs, and the ripple of the borscht!"... New York is like this: In the office building at 515 Madison Avenue the tenants include the America First Committee and the R.A.F. Benevolent Society.

Sinclair Lewis is playing the John Barrymore role in "Dear Children" in the sticks... The other performance one of the gags fell flat... It was this: "I raise pigs." Answer: "That's a fitting profession for an actor"... Later Sinclair was groaning about its flop... "It didn't go so well," he explained, "because these dopes up here never heard of the word 'ham."

To which a critic replied: "They soon will."

Louis Fischer in his book recalls one of Goebbels' quotes which is probably choking Berlin's lyingest midget by now: "Whoever treats with Bolshevism will end by being devoured by it"... The gag in Rumania, they tell you, goes this way: "Ever since we joined the Axis we are getting food like Germany's—earthquakes like Japan's, and an army like Italy's!"... Publisher John Farrar took a wallop at Dorothy Parker, who rapped his favorite author, Katharine Rrush... It is quite a local war... One of the innocent bystanders can't figger out why they are making such a blaze out of a little Brush-Farrar.

Comforting Thought for the Drafted: The Commander in Chief wants them to stay in an army camp for another year so that their families will never be shoved into a concentration camp forever.

Items that arrest my orbs: One of the girl cashiers at the Automat, on 57th near 6th, wears a different dress daily...Observers claim she's changed frocks every day for many months...Her name is Nancy Mellon...Beverly Roberts, weary of night club chanteusis Nancy Mellon...Beverly Roberts, weary of night club chanteusis, is again playing leads. This time in the Hepburn role in "Phila. Story" at Glen Rock, N. J... Piping Rock at Saratoga is where the Copaçabana beauties appear—and producer M. Proser has rented a mansion where they all dwell. The press agent, Jacques Diamond, is the only male boarder—"to keep the wolves from the door"... Immy Dorsey's B'way Confucius contrib: "On B'way it isn't as hard for you to become a success as it B for success to become you."

Of all things! Stripper Margie Hart has purchased two $200 frocks for stage work. Boston sports writers are feuding heavily—a battle royal, according to foreigners from that place. It all started over Babe Dahlgren recently...Dixie Davis has given up his Palm Springs fruit stand. He's now a salesman and is living as quietly as he can with his wife, Hope Dare—having had their of woe being New Yorkers...Don Julian and Marjori, the dancers, had been at the Rainbow Grill eight months. Manager Roy decided they'd been there long enough. So now they are dancing at the Rainbow Room-across the hall...During the trial of Enoch Johnson, Atlantic City politician, the newspapers couldn't agree whether his nickname was "Nucky" or "Nocky"...The judge ended the debate by fixing to have him referred to by number.

Ray Clapper, the columnist, exhibited some of the abusive and stupid letters he gets from Lindberghers...Clapper pointed out that abuse has replaced reason in the minds of those people... All of which is a new way of spelling crackpots...But get this irony. The jack-asstriches who submit vile letters are the ones who yelp that their heroes are being smeared...Hitler claims he is fighting a religious war against the Russians "who do not recognize any church"...That's a cinch to debunk...Every time Hitler's air force recognized a church in England—they bombed it.

Then the White House sent some of the secretarial staff in a While House car to the funeral of Louis Howe's sec'y at Asheville, , the car was barred from the procession because it did not have a union driver... How B'way wars start: Lenore Lemmon, who opens at the Hurricane tomorrow night, says she'll do a Honeychile Wilder "in white face"!...The funeral will be Thursday..."Any three-card-Monte player will tell you," Howard Whitman declares in Coronet, 'that good, simple, honest people make the best suckers"...Smarter crooks will tell you different...The ripest sucker is a chump with a taint of larceny, and he's invariably hooked trying to get something for nothing-illegally... Most embarrassed guy in town is the detective who took his girl (a show gal) to a movie where her purse was swiped!

The recent Yoo-hoo incident between Lieut.-General Lear and troops training in Tennessee has aroused national controversy. Many take the side of the General, claiming that discipline is more important than the soldiers' sore feet (from marching 15 miles in a 97 degree heat as punishment for flirting with some girl golfers)...On the other hand, many think the punishment too severe... The following story is offered to show that not all officers are starchy.

On a dark, rainy night, out from the front lines of Verdun a water-soaked, mud-caked group of American doughboys trudged in the French mud...At ease for a moment, one of them approached an officer in the darkness..."Excuse me, Sir, have you a cigarette?" ."Certainly, son," was the answer... As the doughboy lit up his cigarette the match revealed the face of General Pershing.

'General Pershing!" said the soldier. "Yes, son," replied the Géneral, "you took an awful chance. I might have been a second lieutenant!"

A London arrival (via clipper) brought a half dozen lemons which is practically the same as a million dollars right now. . The boys at the Savoy were smacking their lips over the thought of lemon in their cocktails, when they discovered that Kathleen Harripan, daughter of Averill, had used the precious lemons for a rinse!
