DETAILS:

This case is predicated upon information developed regarding the subject during the course of investigation of the case entitled "Young Communist League; Voorhis Act." (New York file 102-9).

The files of the American Legion, Indianapolis, Indiana, under the heading New York, reflected that CLAUDIA JONES was a Young Communist League member, Daily Worker, April 30, 1937, page six, and September 15, 1937, page five.

According to the Young Communist League Review, October 1938, page six, column two, subject was Chairman, New York County, Young Communist League and member of the National Council. The Review June 24, 1940, page five, column two, indicated CLAUDIA JONES was a leading member of the New York State Young Communist League. The Review, December 9, 1940, page eight, column one, mentioned her as Young Communist League Educational Director for New York. She was elected a member of the National Council at the last session of a special convention of the Young Communist League at New York City on December 21 and 22, 1940, according to the Review, January 20, 1941, page eleven, column four.

Subject was mentioned in the Daily Worker January 4, 1941, page four, column three as Educational Director, New York State. A photograph of Miss JONES appeared in the Review January 6, 1941, page five, column three, showing her a negress.

In the Daily Worker January 15, 1941, page five, she was noted as having spoken at a meeting of 20,000 persons marking the Lenin Anniversary at Madison Square Garden, New York City on January 13, 1941.

As member of the National Committee of the Young Communist League she attended a mass meeting at Mecca Temple, New York City, February 4, 1941, protesting the United States Supreme Court's decision upholding EARL BROWDER'S sentence according to the Daily Worker, February 6, 1941, page five; column five.

The Review, March 3, 1941, page four, column one, carried her as Educational Director, New York State, Young Communist League.

Miss JONES was mentioned in the Daily Worker, July 21, 1941, page two, column three, as being National Educational Director. She was likewise mentioned as being National Educational Director in an article in the Review, August 4, 1941, page seven, column four.

In the "Review," dated December 9, 1940, page eight, column one, Miss JONES was listed as the Young Communist League Educational Director for New York. She writes a weekly column called "Quiz," in the "Weekly Review," wherein she answers questions from a Communist's point of view on current political topics. (See "Weekly Review," October 14, 1941 and November 4, 1941).

At the Registrar's Office, Hunter College, 695 Park Avenue, New York City, no record could be found of a CLAUDIA JONES ever having attended Hunter College at either the morning, evening or summer sessions.

b7c Inquiry at 411 West 14th Street, New York City, failed to reveal that CLAUDIA JONES lived at this address. Mail Carrier [redacted] of the Hamilton Grange Station, United States Post Office, 523 West 146th Street, stated that he did not recall ever having delivered any mail to a CLAUDIA JONES at 411 West 14th Street.

[REDACTED] Deputy Clerk of Courts, Brunswick County, Lawrenceville, Virginia was interviewed February 21, 1942 and stated that they did not have the records of births in Lawrenceville and Brunswick County on file any place in the county as the records had been turned over to the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Richmond, Virginia. She further advised that Dr. [REDACTED] Physician and Registrar for the City and County may possibly have records on above subject. She also stated that she did not know anyone by the name of CLAUDIA JONES.

"Dr. [REDACTED] Physician and Registrar for Brunswick County, Lawrenceville, Virginia was interviewed February 21, 1942 and stated that prior to 1919 the records of birth in that city and county were kept at Brunswick County Clerk's Office and he had no record of CLAUDIA JONES and further that he did not know her.

[REDACTED] (col.) Registrar for St. Paul's Polytechnic Institute, Lawrenceville, Virginia was interviewed February 21, 1942 and stated that he had the records of all colored students that attended the elementary schools of Lawrenceville, Virginia and upon a search of his records he was unable to find any record of CLAUDIA JONES having ever attended school in that city. He advised further that he did not know her and had never heard of her.

"Investigator was unable to contact anyone who had ever heard of CLAUDIA JONES in Lawrenceville, Virginia. A further check was made by the writer at the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Richmond, Virginia and they advised that they were unable to locate a Birth Certificate in their files for CLAUDIA JONES. They also advised that they could not give an accurate check of their records without one of the parents names. If it is possible to furnish either name of Mother or Father it may be possible to secure the information desired."

No further investigation is being conducted in this matter, and it is referred upon completion to the office of origin.

Street, were sued on May 25, 1940 by P. LEAVITT, attorney, 342 Madison Avenue, New York City, in behalf of 139 West 125th Street, Inc., for $150.05.

It is to be observed that Club Ashford was named for the late James Ashford, who, until his death several years ago, was the organizer of the Young Communist League in Harlem. James Ashford is one of the "martyrs" of the Young Communist League.

PHILIP LEAVITT, attorney, 342 Madison Avenue, on interview stated he filed suit for back rent on behalf of 139 West 125th Street, Inc., against CLAUDIA JONES and PHILLIP ARRINDELL, but to date had not been able to serve papers on either of these two individuals inasmuch as he was unable to locate them. He stated he believed ARRINDELL lived in Apartment No. 9, 226 West 141 Street, and was once employed on a Federal Theater Project of the WPA. He stated that CLAUDIA JONES was at one time employed by the Amsterdam News, 2340 Eighth Avenue, residence unknown.

LEAVITT checked his files and ascertained that at that time CLAUDIA JONES gave her residence as care of GRANT, 321 West 118 Street, and her business address as Crusader News Agency, 443 Lenox Avenue. However, previous investigation by LEAVITT disclosed that at the Crusader News Agency it was learned that she had become affiliated with the National Negro Congress, 7th Avenue and 136th Street.

Inquiry at 321 West 118 Street disclosed that CLAUDIA JONES or an individual named GRANT were unknown at that address, nor had they ever lived there, to the recollection of the superintendent.

At Station I, United States Post Office, 232 West 116 Street, it was ascertained there was no forwarding address for either CLAUDIA JONES or one GRANT.

CLAUDIA JONES was observed by Special Agent [REDACTED] to be sitting on the speakers' platform at a mass meeting sponsored by the Communist Party and the Young Communist League held in Union Square, New York City, between 5:00 to 7:30 p.m. on September 24, 1942. This meeting was for the purpose of demanding that a second front be opened in Europe immediately. CLAUDIA JONES, however, did not speak during this meeting.

BACKGROUND, ACTIVITIES, AFFILIATIONS AND LOYALTY TO THE UNITED STATES:

In a biographical sketch appearing in "Weekly Review" for February 3, 1942, page 5, column 1, CLAUDIA JONES was mentioned as having been born about 1915. She joined the Young Communist League about 1935. At one time she was head of a youth paper of the Federated Youth Club of Harlem, and was a writer for a youth column for a New York Negro youth paper. She was mentioned as having been a past Harlem Section Organizer, New York County Chairman and New York State Editorial Director of the YCL. This article said she was then a member of the National Council of the YCL.

CLAUDIA JONES was one of 29 individuals who were introduced as members of the "Daily Worker" staff in an article by JOSEPH NORTH, now editor of "New Masses", which appeared in the "Daily Worker" for May 1, 1935, page 10, column 1. Her photograph accompanied this article.

She was listed as a member of the Young Communist League in the "Daily Worker" for April 30, 1937, page 6 and September 15, 1937, page 5.

According to the Young Communist League Review for October 1938, page 6, column 2, subject was chairman of the New York County YCL and a member of the National Council YCL.

A report of the [REDACTED] New York City, reflected that CLAUDIA JONES and PHILIP ARONSON, doing business as the Club Ashford, 139 West 125th Street, New York City, were sued on May 25, 1940 by PHILIP LEAVITT, Attorney, 342 Madison Avenue, New York City in behalf of 139 West 125th Street, Inc., for $150.05.

It is to be observed that Club Ashford was named for the late JAMES ASHFORD who, until his death several years ago, was the Organizer and leader of the Young Communist League in Harlem. ASHFORD, a negro, is one of the martyrs of the Young Communist League and his name is used frequently in connection with negro activities of the YCL.

The "Review" for June 24, 1940, page 4, column 2, mentioned CLAUDIA JONES as a leading member of the New York State YCL.

NY File

The "Review" for December 9, 1940, page 8, column 1, stated she was educational director of the New York State YCL.

Subject was elected a member of the National Council of the YCL at the last session of a special convention held at New York City on December 21 and 22, 1940, according to the "Review" for January 20, 1941, page 11, column 4.

██████████ stated that in 1941 subject listed her employers as the Young Communist League and New Age Publishers, Inc., both of 35 East 12th Street, New York City.

Subject was mentioned in the "Daily Worker" for January 4, 1941, page 4, column 3, as educational director of the New York State YCL.

In the "Daily Worker" for January 15, 1941, page 5, she was noted as having spoken at a meeting of 20,000 persons marking the LENIN anniversary at Madison Square Garden, New York City on January 13, 1941.

As a member of the National Committee of the YCL she attended a mass meeting at Mecca Temple, New York City on February 4, 1941, protesting the United States Supreme Court's decision upholding EARL BROWDER's sentence, according to the "Daily Worker" for February 6, 1941, page 5, column 5.

Subject was mentioned in the "Daily Worker" for July 21, 1941, page 2, column 3 and in the "Review" for August 4, 1941, page 7, column 4, as being National Educational Director of the YCL.

Special Agents ██████████ and ██████████ attended a Young Communist League Rally at the Royal Windsor Auditorium, 66 West 66th Street, New York on September 19, 1941, at which time subject was introduced as Educational Secretary of the New York State YCL.

Subject wrote a weekly column called "Quiz" which appeared in the "Weekly Review" for October 14, 1941 and November 4, 1941, wherein she answered questions on current political topics from a Communist point of view.

b7d

██████████ stated that as of January 1, 1942 subject was listed as an employee of the Young Communist League and also the New Age Publishers, both of 35 East 12th Street, New York City.

Subject was heard by Special Agent [REDACTED] and Special Agent [REDACTED] to be introduced as Associate Editor of "Weekly Review" by MICHAEL SAUNDERS, Executive Secretary of the New York State YCL at the "Win the War Rally" in celebration of the 20th anniversary of the Young Communist League, U.S.A. held at Manhattan Center, 34th Street and Eighth Avenue, New York City, the evening of April 20, 1942.

CLAUDIA JONES became Editor of "Weekly Review" of June 1, 1942 replacing JOSEPH CLARK (real name JOSEPH CULIEN) former Editor who was inducted into the United States Army, according to "Weekly Review" for June 16, 1942, page 7.

Subject was the author of a pamphlet entitled "Lift Every Voice for Victory" which was published by New Age Publishers, Inc., New York in June 1942.

Subject was observed by Special Agent [REDACTED] to be sitting on the speakers platform at a mass meeting sponsored by the Communist Party and the Young Communist League held in Union Square, New York City, between 5 and 7:30 P.M., on September 24, 1942. This meeting was for the purpose of demanding that a second front be opened in Europe immediately. CLAUDIA JONES, however, did not speak during this meeting. b7c

Subject was elected a member of the National Council of the YCL at the National War Service conference held in New York City on January 9 and 10, 1943, according to the "Weekly Review" for January 26, 1943, page 7, column 4. This same issue of "Weekly Review", page 7, column 3, reflected that she was elected to the National War Service Council.

[REDACTED] b7d

Records of the Marriage License Bureaus in both Manhattan and the Bronx were checked from 1930 to 1942 with no record relative to a marriage on the part of CLAUDIA JONES.

At 1451 Pacific Street, Brooklyn, New York, which is located in a negro section of Brooklyn, the reporting Agent interviewed the negro apartment superintendent. He stated that one SCHOLNICK, a Jew, and CLAUDIA JONES, a negress, were said to be married, lived in this apartment house for two years, until they moved out late in November, 1943, saying they were moving to a farm in upstate New York. They were reported to be quiet tenants with no children.

At Station B, United States Post Office, 1205 Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, New York, it was ascertained that on November 29, 1943, Mrs. CLAUDIA SCHOLNICK and family left the forwarding address of Gavine Farms, Chelsea-on-Hudson, New York.

An examination of the Postal Guide, and a New York State map fails to disclose any town called Chelsea-on-Hudson. However, there is a town called Chelsea located in Dutchess County, New York. Telephonic inquiry of the Main Post Office, New York City, disclosed that there was no known post office by the name of Chelsea-on-Hudson.

It is not believed that CLAUDIA JONES is residing in this locality since it appears to be too far from New York City for her to commute daily. However, if a man named SCHOLNICK is located at Gavins Farms, a [REDACTED] should be placed on him for the purpose of ascertaining CLAUDIA JONES' New York City residence. Dear Rev. Powell:

This is to confirm our telephone conversation and to reiterate our hearty thanks to you for consenting to do an article on Jim Crow the Services which we intend to feature in our April issue.

Generally, the idea is that your article (800 words) will be the main message of a picture feature which we intend to do using illustrations from the commendable War Department Film--"The Negro Soldier." We request that your article be a personal testimony on your trip to the Lakes Naval Base (PV keeps us posted on your widespread activities for victory and a better world) perhaps with anecdotes of your talks with the men there, with your son, and, of course, raising the whole question of how the nation's aims and policies for victory, democracy and a better post war world.

As a national sponsor of AYD, I am sure you will, in your article, indicate what youth can do to support AYD's campaign which has already been launched which will culminate in a national delegation to Washington at the end of April.

In order to familiarize you with our readers, who we know will welcome your article, they are mainly youth in their teens and early twenties. Our circulation is about 8000 and we are the only magazine of American Youth in our magazines here.

I am sure you will find Jim Crow, which is the National Council on Training Base a very interesting and important--we will send you a copy of the magazine to stand the typeset.

To Trade Union Banquet Celebrating
William Z. Foster's
63rd Birthday

Happy Birthday to you Comrade
Foster.

We, Negro and White youth meeting today in conference, to strengthen our work in the field of unity of labor and the Negro people, greet you on your 63rd Birthday, and wish you a long life of continued service as National Chairman of the Communist Party and an outstanding American labor leader.

Your pioneer work in the joint organization of Negro and White as far back as 1919, cleared the road for today's first organized generation of Negro and White young workers, backbone of this people's war.

Your 63 years have provided our generation of youth a prime example of staunchness, modesty and devotion to labor, which has already helped produce young heroes like Bob Thompson.

Youth of today look to organized labor for leadership, in Foster's spirit, in learning
the traditions and principles of the American labor movement, in uniting the negro liberation movement with labor; in breaking down what barriers against negroes still exist in industry;
in abolishing the Poll Tax and imperialist wars - like Army

Details: Subject is considered a Key Figure in the New York Field Division. (u)

An article in PEOPLE'S VOICE for December 30, 1944, a Communist-controlled negro weekly, and SPOTLIGHT, official A. Y. D. monthly organ, for February, 1945, reflected that SPOTLIGHT in one year's time had reached a circulation over 20, 000. The articles said that the magazine began in late 1943 with a staff of two, CLAUDIA JONES as editor, and her staff aide, a young white man, and that they set up the publication and laid down its policy of fighting for equal rights for all young people, regardless of race, color or creed. The articles said that consistently SPOTLIGHT's articles, features and fiction presented the activities and interests of negro youth along with all other youth. (u)

According to the articles, Subject recently resigned from the magazine editorship to become a member of the national staff of the A. Y. D. and thus devote herself to the educational, inter-racial and inter-faith work of the A. Y. D. in addition to participating in the formation of general policy. The articles indicated that she would retain an advisory leadership to the SPOTLIGHT (u)

The PEOPLE'S VOICE article stated that late in December, 1944, she went to Detroit, Michigan where she taught for a short term at the Leadership Training School for AYD. The January, 1945 issue of SPOTLIGHT lists LEO COOPER as editor in place of CLAUDIA JONES. COOPER was previously managing editor of SPOTLIGHT. (u)
